The examinations for admission will be held on Thursday and Friday preceding Commencement. Candidates will assemble at 8 A.M., Thursday, June 21, at Champlin Hall. As the examinations are conducted chiefly in writing, each applicant must bring the text-books required in the languages. Examinations for admission are also held at the opening of the first term, beginning Wednesday, September 19, at the same place and hour.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are required to be prepared for examination in the following subjects and books:

Greek.—Xenophon’s Anabasis, Books I—III; Homer’s Iliad, Books I-II; Harkness’s First Greek Book, or an equivalent; Jones’s Greek Prose Composition, twenty exercises or an equivalent; Greek Grammar.

Latin.—1. Caesar’s Gallic War, Books I–IV; or Books I–III, and Sallust’s Catiline; or an equivalent from Cornelius Nepos. 2. Cicero, seven Orations; or the Orations against Catiline, and the Oration for Archias, and two thousand lines of Ovid’s Metamorphoses. 3. Vergil’s Aeneid, Books I–VI; or Eclogues and Aeneid, Books I–IV. 4. Translation, at sight, of ordinary passages from Caesar, Cicero’s Orations, Vergil’s Aeneid, and Ovid’s Metamorphoses. 5. Parts I and II of Harkness’s Latin Composition, or an equivalent. It is recommended that pupils be accustomed from the beginning of their preparatory course, to translate into Latin, both orally and in writing, passages prepared by the teacher on the basis of the author read.

Instructors in preparatory schools are urged to insist upon the use of simple and idiomatic English in the translation of Greek and Latin.

Mathematics.—Arithmetic, Common and Decimal Fractions, Percentage and Square Root; Algebra, Equations of the First and of the Second Degree, Exponents and Radicals; Geometry, the whole of Plane Geometry. Candidates must be prepared on Definitions, Demonstrations, Constructions and Proportion.

English.—English Grammar, with criticism of incorrect English;
Essays upon subjects announced at the time of examination, to be taken from two or three of the books named in the list prescribed for the year. The essay will be expected to show a general familiarity with the works mentioned, and will be examined with respect to accuracy in grammar, spelling and punctuation. The lists for the next two years are:

1894.—Shakespeare’s Merchant of Venice and Richard III, Burns’ Cotter’s Saturday Night, Longfellow’s Evangeline, Scott’s Ivanhoe, Hawthorne’s Marble Faun, Bunyan’s Pilgrim’s Progress, Macaulay’s Essay on Lord Clive.

History.—History of Greece, to the death of Alexander; Pennell’s or Meyer’s preferred. History of Rome, to the death of Marcus Aurelius; Pennell’s or Allen’s preferred. Outline of the History of the United States; Johnson’s or Montgomery’s. Geography, ancient and modern.

Applicants for admission must furnish to the President satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

Candidates for advanced standing are examined in the preparatory studies, and in the various studies to which the class they desire to enter have attended. Those who are admitted from other colleges must present certificates of regular dismissal.

Individuals of suitable age and attainments will, after examination, be allowed to take a Partial Course for any length of time not less than one year, selecting such studies as they may desire to pursue. They will be required to recite with the regular college classes at least twice a day, and to continue through the term any study commenced.

Graduates of the four academies constituting the Preparatory Department of the University will be admitted without further examination, on the certificate of the Principal that they have completed the course and attained an average scholarship of at least 70 per cent in each study; provided that the said certificate shall be granted with approval of the Faculty of the college. All students so admitted are to be considered as on probation, with reference to scholarship, during the first term of the Freshman year. A similar arrangement has been and may be made with other approved fitting schools.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

Colby University was incorporated with collegiate powers, by the first Legislature of Maine in 1820, under the name of Waterville College. It had received from Massachusetts in 1814, a charter as a Literary and Theological Institution, and went into operation as such in 1818. The original corporators were all Baptists of the District of Maine. The first President of the corporation was Rev. Jeremiah Chaplin, D.D., who served the college in that position until 1833. Prior to 1864 the college had no endowment. By the generous gift at that time of $50,000 from Mr. Gardner Colby of Boston, the friends of the institution and the denomination in the State were prompted to establish an endowment fund of $200,000. This fund has been increased by several gifts and legacies, including a bequest of $120,000 from Mr. Colby. The present name of the institution was adopted by vote of the Board of Trustees and ratified by the Legislature in 1867.

CO-ORDINATE COLLEGES.

At their annual meeting in 1890, the Trustees of Colby University, after extended discussion, adopted the following recommendations of the President’s report:—

[a] That the Board adopt the purpose of organizing within the University a college for young men, and a second co-ordinate college for young women.

[b] That the conditions of scholarship for entrance to Colby be absolutely identical in the two colleges.

[c] That as soon as the income of the University will permit, instruction in different branches pursued in common by the young men and the young women be given to the students in each college separately, except in the case of lectures, which would be given to the students of both colleges simultaneously, and excepting also laboratory work, in which pupils are engaged upon individual problems.
[d] That in the further development of the elective system due attention be paid to the expansion of courses likely to be of special attractiveness to members of the one college or the other. I refer, on the one hand, to courses in natural and political sciences; and, on the other hand, to courses in language, literature, aesthetics and history.

[e] That in case the students in one of the colleges should in any study not be numerous enough to form a separate division, they be admitted to recitation with the corresponding division in the other college.

[f] That in class organization, rank, prize contests, appointments, and honors, the members of the two colleges be treated as independently as though they were in distinct institutions.

[g] That the Faculty be authorized to begin this re-organization with the class that shall enter in 1890, provided it can be done without additional expense.

The report which urged these changes contained the following comment:

"These proposals spring from a desire to so organize co-education at Colby that all the lingering objections to the higher education of women in the University will be removed. The Faculty believe that an organization is possible which will enable Colby to offer more favorable conditions for the liberal education of both young men and young women than can be afforded to either by the exclusive institutions. They wish to be more free than they have felt thus far to urge upon young women the advantages of the University."

In accordance with the above action, the University now contains two Senior, two Junior, two Sophomore and two Freshman classes. In each case the young men and the young women are pursuing identical courses, under the same instructors. The plan has thus far more than realized the predictions of its authors. No unforeseen difficulties have arisen, and the progress of the classes has been in accordance with the expectations which prompted the re-organization. It is believed that the plan of co-education to which Colby is now committed will prove, in practice, to be a more important extension of the usefulness of the University than was the admission of young women, in 1871, to classes composed chiefly of young men.

LOCATION.

The University is located at Waterville, on the Kennebec river, nineteen miles above the State capital. The college buildings occupy an extensive campus in the northern part of the city, between College avenue and the river. Directly opposite is the station of the Maine Central Railroad, two of whose principal branches intersect here, making Waterville easily accessible by rail.

THE BUILDINGS.

Chaplin Hall, so named in memory of the venerated first President, Rev. Jeremiah Chaplin, D.D., and South College furnish the dormitories for the students. Chaplin Hall is heated throughout with steam. Chaplin Hall, so named in recognition of the distinguished services of the late President, Rev. J. T. Champlin, D.D., LL.D., supplies the large, well-ventilated and cheerful recitation rooms.

Colburn Hall, so named in acknowledgement of benefactions from one of the most liberal friends of the college, Hon. Abner Coburn, is entirely devoted to the Departments of Chemistry and Natural Science. The building is of rough quarry stone, with granite trimmings, the walls being 56x48 feet, and 41 feet high. On the first floor are the Chemical Laboratories, and Apparatus and Lecture rooms. On the second and third floors are the Collections, Laboratories, and Lecture, Work and Store rooms of the Departments of Mineralogy and Geology.

Memorial Hall, so named in honor of the alumni of the college who fell in the service of their country during the late civil war, is built of stone and surmounted by a tower 80 feet in height. The eastern wing of the building contains the University Library, 44 feet by 54, and 20 feet high, furnished with double alcoves and shelves for 35,000 volumes. The western wing contains on the first floor the college Chapel, 40x58 in dimensions. Above this is the Hall of the Alumni, in which is the Memorial Tablet, surmounted by a copy, in marble, of Thorwaldsen's Lion of Lucerne.

The Gymnasium is conveniently located on the college grounds, and is admirably adapted to the purpose for which it was designed. It is well furnished with apparatus for gymnastic exercises and physical training, in which instruction is given by a competent Professor of Gymnastics. The Gymnasium has been enlarged during the last year, and provided with baths, practice rooms, and steam heating apparatus.

Ladies' Hall, situated on College avenue, near the University buildings, affords a pleasant and convenient home for the young ladies. Two other houses on College avenue are also devoted in part to the accommodation of the young women:—viz., the house formerly used as a residence by the President of the University, and the home of the late Dr. Palmer, corner of College avenue and Getchell street. A family occupies a portion of each of these buildings, the remainder being reserved for the young women.

The Shannon Observatory and Physical Laboratory, the gift of Hon. Richard C. Shannon, class of 1862, affords superior advantages for instruction and practical work in Astronomy and Physics.

PHYSICAL LABORATORY.

The supply of apparatus permits of a great variety of experiments for illustrating and establishing physical laws. The collection includes, among other apparatus, a Kew unifilar magnetometer, Barrows' circle, Holtz's electrical machine, plate frictional machine, batteries, Rahmkorff's induction coils, Clark's magneto-electric machine, a large collection of Crookes' tubes, electrometer, spectroscope, compound microscope, oxyhydrogen lantern, camera obscura, camera lucida, porte lumiere, a fine set of apparatus for illustrating polarized light, Lissajous' forks, sonometer, Koenig's apparatus for comparison of vibrations by manometric flames, and a great variety of apparatus illustrating wave motion.

GEOLOGICAL LABORATORY.

The Geological Laboratory is provided with the most important instruments for the study of Mineralogy, including a Fues Universal Apparatus, a Nachet microscope, two student's petrographical microscopes, and with collections to illustrate the lectures in Mineralogy, Geology, Palæontology and Physical Geography. The Mineral collection embraces over 3000 specimens, including many that are well crystallized. The most of these are arranged so as to be readily accessible to students. The palæontological collection includes a suite of the most characteristic American fossils, and casts of some of the foreign ones. In the geological cabinet is the State Geological Collection, intrusted to the care of the University by the Maine Legislature, a series of New York rocks, Rosenbusch's set of 490 massive rocks and 100 European crystalline schists, 300 thin sections of typical rocks, relief maps of volcanoes, apparatus for the preparation of rock sections, and a Thompson's Dissolving Boston Ideal Stereopticon. The number of lantern slides at present in use for the illustration of the geological lectures is only 200, but the collection is being added to by purchase. A set of 175 crystal models affords opportunity for the study of crystallography. There are usually also in the possession of the department about three or four hundred thin sections of crystalline rocks, the property of the United States Geological Survey, which are available for the study of special points in the Geology of the Lake Superior region.

In the Physical Geography Collection is a set of Prof. Davis's paper models, a series of masks of Pacific Islanders, and a suite of 325 geological photographs.

ART COLLECTION.

Through the liberality of the trustees, alumni, and private friends of the University, a collection of works of art has been made and located for the present in Memorial Hall. This collection consists of portraits of distinguished benefactors and friends of the college, casts of noted pieces of sculpture and sets of photographs and representations, for the illustration of the lectures on the History of Art. Additions are made from year to year and are published with the name of the donors in the annual catalogue. During the year past has been received:

A plaster cast of the Sophocles of the Lateran, presented by the class of 1894.

THE LIBRARY.

The Library of the University contains 29,000 volumes and about 10,000 pamphlets. It is open daily for consultation and delivery of books from 9 A.M., to 12.30 P.M., and from 2.30 till 5.30 P.M. Members of all the classes have free access to the alcoves under the usual rules. A card catalogue has been prepared. Personal assistance is given to those desiring to investigate special topics.

Additions are made from the income of a small Library fund, supplemented by annual appropriations.

Donations to the Library funds, and gifts of books or pamphlets, are earnestly solicited from the alumni and from other friends.

During the past year the Library has been increased by the addition of 480 volumes. In addition to 42 volumes added by binding, the current publications of the United States Government and of the State of Maine have been received. Gifts have also been received from:

James B. Ayer, M.D., Rev. W. O. Ayer, 2, Stephen Berry, F. Billings, Geo. K. Boutelle, 36, Rev. H. S. Burrage, D.D., 2, Mrs. H. E. Carpenter, Hon. Dwight Chester, Mrs. Alex. Cochrane, J. A. Coles,

STUDENTS' PUBLICATIONS.

The Colby Echo is published fortnightly by the students during the college year, and is now in its sixteenth volume. A. H. Evans is Chief Editor for 1893–94.

The Oracle is an annual volume published by the students during the third term. Freeland Howe, Jr. is Managing Editor for 1894.

READING-ROOM.

A Reading-Room, supplied with daily and weekly newspapers and with the leading monthly magazines, is maintained by an association of the students.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

A religious service of singing, reading of the Scriptures, and prayer, is held in the College Chapel every morning at nine o'clock, and all the students are required to be present.

All undergraduates are required to observe reverently the Sabbath and to attend public worship. Where they shall attend shall be determined by the election of each one, if of age; if under age, by the election of parent or guardian.
THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The Association is organized on the same plan with those in most other colleges of the country and is affiliated with them. It has for its members the Christian students of the college and is designed to help them to Christian growth and manhood and to furnish them with facilities for helping others. It conducts a weekly prayer and conference meeting, which once a month takes the form of a Missionary Concert, holds a special conference meeting the first Sabbath morning of each month, provides for occasional sermons from eminent preachers, and seeks and uses opportunities for Christian work, both in college and in the neighboring communities. It thus, in important respects, takes the place of a living church. The President of the college co-operates heartily with the Association, and the weekly Conference of which he has charge is practically its meeting.

The Young Women's Christian Association maintains regular meetings for prayer and conference, and affords to the young ladies the advantages of united effort and Christian sympathy.

PROFESSORSHIP OF BIBLICAL LITERATURE.

The Department of Biblical Literature has now a place in the college. During the first term of this year its Professor gives in his own department a course of lectures to the Freshman Class and has charge also of the class in logic. For the second term there is offered to the Senior Class an elective, embracing Introduction to the Scriptures, a comprehensive survey of their contents as a whole, and special study of certain books in the Old and New Testaments. In the third term the Professor will have the Senior Class in Christian Evidences (required), and will offer to the same class electives in the Greek New Testament and Elements of the Hebrew Language. The purpose is to offer more courses and extend the work of the Department in future years.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Annual Commencement occurs on the Wednesday next preceding the Fourth of July. There are three terms in each year. The Fall term begins thirteen weeks before the Wednesday next preceding Christmas, and continues—with recess of one day at Thanksgiving—thirteen weeks.

The Christmas recess is two weeks in length.

The Winter term begins two weeks after the Wednesday next preceding Christmas, and continues ten weeks.

The Spring recess is two weeks in length.
The Spring term begins thirteen weeks before the Wednesday next preceding the Fourth of July, and continues thirteen weeks.

The first college exercise of each term is the Chapel service on Thursday morning.

No student is allowed to be absent a term or leave town during term time, involving absence from a college exercise, without permission from the President. Special attention is called to the fact that no student can be absent from the regular college exercises, even for a few days, without serious loss.

Students, upon application to the President, are permitted to be absent for the purpose of teaching during the second term (ten weeks), and, in consideration of the intellectual discipline thus gained, are credited with attendance as if in college. They are, however, required to make up the work gone over in their absence, by their respective classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

There is a public written examination of the classes at the close of each term. The final examination of the Senior class ends three weeks before Commencement.

Any student intending to be examined on deficiencies, whether he has been engaged in teaching or not, shall report in writing to the Librarian, on or before the first Thursday of any term, the studies on which he is prepared. Examinations will occur on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the opening of the term, by the several officers in the order posted in the Library.

EXPENSES.

The cost of education in our large colleges is every year becoming more burdensome, and in the case of many is a positive interdict to the benefits which they offer. The charges at Colby for tuition, room rent, and incidentals are but little higher than they were in the early years of the college, notwithstanding the increase in the number of the officers of instruction, and in the general expenses of conducting its affairs.

The expenditure per annum of a student may be less, it is believed, than in any other college of equal grade in New England. The following is an estimate of some of the more prominent items:

- Tuition.
- Room-rent, one-half of a room, average,
- Term expenses,
- Books,

per annum: $60 00

- $22 50
- $19 50
- $12 00
Fuel,                                15 00
Light,                               2 50
Board (37 weeks at $3.00 in clubs), 111 00
Washing,                             12 00
Furniture (cost averaged upon four years), 14 00
Sundry other expenses,               6 50

$275 00

When two persons occupy one room, the charge for room-rent is from $12 to $18 per term according to the location of the room. Room-rent for a single occupant is from $10 to $16 per term.

TERM BILLS.

An account is kept of each student's absence from all exercises upon which his attendance is required; also, of his general conduct and scholarship. This account, in connection with the regular term bill, is sent to the student's parent or guardian at the close of each term. Term bills are due at the beginning of the succeeding term. Persons admitted to advanced standing, if not from another college, are required to pay back tuition; but no matriculation fee is exacted in any case.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

The University has at its disposal seventy endowed scholarships amounting to $80,000. The income of these scholarships, varying from $36 to $90 per annum, is devoted to the assistance of worthy students needing aid, under the following conditions, established by the Board of Trustees:

1. The student shall satisfy the Committee on Scholarships that he is in need of assistance.
2. The student shall be in constant attendance upon college work, unless prevented by reasons satisfactory to the Faculty.
3. The student shall be obedient to college laws and duties, and aid will be withdrawn for any and all terms when he is under discipline.
4. No aid shall be granted to any student who uses tobacco or intoxicating liquors, or frequents billiard saloons.

When aid is granted, save in exceptional cases, the amounts in the four successive years are thirty-six, forty-five, fifty-seven and sixty dollars, respectively. The average is thus nearly equivalent to the charge for tuition.
The following prizes are offered during the present year:

A first prize of ten dollars and a second prize of five dollars for excellence in the course in German.

Junior Class. A first prize of fifteen dollars and a second prize of ten dollars for excellence in declamation and composition.

A prize of fifteen dollars is offered to the side which excels in the Junior Prize Debate.

Sophomore Class. To the young men: a first prize of ten dollars and a second prize of five dollars, for excellence in declamation.

To the young ladies: the Hamlin prizes for the same amounts, for excellence in reading.

Freshman Class. The Hamlin Prizes. To the young men: a first prize of ten dollars and a second prize of five dollars for excellence in reading.

To the young ladies: one first prize of ten dollars and one second prize of five dollars for excellence in reading.

Entrance Prizes. For superior excellence in preparation for admission to college: a prize of fifty dollars, and a second prize of twenty-five dollars.

Prize Scholarships.

In addition to the regular prizes mentioned above, two prizes of one hundred dollars each were offered last year by Ex-President A. W. Small, Ph.D., under the following conditions, viz:

1. The prizes shall be known as the University of Chicago Prize Scholarships.
2. One of the prizes shall be assigned to the class of '93, and the other to the class of '94.
3. In each case the prize shall be awarded to the young man whose rank is highest in Psychology, Ethics and Sociology.
4. The prizes shall be payable at the close of the first quarter of graduate study in any of the departments of the University of Chicago.
5. Should the young man highest in rank in the above studies fail to meet the fourth condition, the title to the prize shall pass to the second in rank, and so on to the fourth.
THE FUTURE OF COLBY.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees in 1891, a committee was appointed with power to take such steps as seemed wise, to provide for the most pressing wants of the University. This committee unanimously agreed that the following additions to the resources of Colby must be considered as immediate necessities:

- To cover average deficit for current expenses and endow chair of Biology, $100,000
- To build dormitory for young women, 50,000
- To build a chemical laboratory, 25,000
- To redeem pledge to Higgins Classical Institute, 25,000
- To form nucleus of Academy Aid Fund, 25,000
- To increase number of recitation rooms, 15,000
- To improve gymnasium, 3,000
- To build gymnasium for young women, 10,000
- To purchase telescope, 5,000

Total, $258,000

The Committee voted to inform the friends of the college that these needs are not idealistic and visionary. By gradual and healthy development Colby University has outgrown its present equipment, and has shown itself worthy to administer larger trusts. The ideals which the college has professed during the last twenty years have become, in a great measure, the accredited characteristics of Colby. The quality of the work which the college does for its students has won gratifying recognition. The accomplished purposes of the college now reinforce its promises. Provision for the wants above specified will, therefore, insure more rapid extension of the influence of the University than could be expected from any earlier portion of its endowment.

The urgency of these immediate needs does not eschew repetition of other wants which will become more importunate until they are satisfied.
LIBRARY ENDOWMENT.

The development of specialized knowledge makes it essential that college instructors should have access to a constantly increasing number of books. In many departments it is impossible to do good work unless books in large numbers, and often many duplicates, are in the hands of the students for reference, or for thesis material. The periodical literature of each learned specialty is so voluminous that no professor's salary permits him to subscribe for the journals which he needs to consult; and it is essential that the libraries of colleges shall be provided with means to secure these expensive publications. The library should have an independent endowment, that appropriations for its support might not vary with the demands of other departments. Gifts are desirable for general library purposes: and funds might also well be established for the purchase of books upon the special group of subjects which each officer represents.

SCIENTIFIC APPARATUS.

As the scope of instruction in the Sciences widens, and particularly as special students apply for instruction in various departments, demand for new and duplicate apparatus arises.

The geological department is so recent an addition to the University, that sufficient time has not yet elapsed since its introduction to allow of the collection of the instruments and models, which are necessary to enable the instructor in mineralogy and geology to present his subjects in the manner desired.

At present the needs that are most pressing are: polarizing microscopes for the students; maps and models for the exhibition and explanation of geological phenomena: additions to the collections of minerals, more particularly of the Maine minerals, and suites of gems and precious stones, more especially of those native to the State of Maine.

There is also great need of the foundation of a geological and mineralogical library. At present the books to which students are referred most frequently are not to be obtained. Many books required for reference are now bought by the instructor, and are loaned by him to the students. Sets of the German, French and English journals are absolutely necessary before advanced work of any kind can be instituted. At present copies of these journals, when needed, must be borrowed from other institutions, read and returned, oftentimes before the user has had time to fully digest their contents.

In this connection, maps and engravings of all sorts, illustrating historical events, may be mentioned as among the most valuable aids that can be given to instruction both in political and literary history.

ART GALLERY.

Circumstances have made it necessary that subjects of inferior intrinsic importance should receive earlier attention, but if the work of today were to create the University rather than to plan for its development, these elements of education for which a Museum of Art affords the means would certainly not be left to the chances of afterthought. The department of Æsthetics is not an ornamental attachment of a modern college. Instruction in the history of painting, sculpture, and architecture is as essential an element of truly liberal education as training in literature or social history. Literary and historical knowledge is, moreover, as defective, without knowledge of Æsthetic history, as information about Chemistry would be, without a knowledge of Physics. Appropriations by the Trustees and gifts by various friends, among which several undergraduate classes should be mentioned, have formed the nucleus of a valuable collection illustrating art history. This collection cannot be greatly enlarged without additional space. An art gallery is needed, which should itself be an architectural monument. It should also contain a lecture room which could be darkened for the use of the stereopticon.

CHAPEL AND Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

Those friends of the University, who are especially watchful of its religious influence, should be reminded that the college Young Men's Christian Association has no suitable room for its meetings, and that the necessary use of the college chapel for assemblies which are emphatically not devotional, surrounds the daily service of prayer with associations which seriously obstruct its usefulness. That buildings for so many other uses should stand upon the campus, while none is adapted and appropriated exclusively to religious purposes, is strangely inconsistent with the thought which called the college into being.

The fundamental motive of Colby ought to have visible expression in a building of impressive religious architecture, containing commodious rooms for the Y. M. C. A., and a chapel designed to furnish every possible external aid to worship. It would be most fitting that such a building should be a memorial of some person whose name might appropriately be commemorated by the University.
PRIZES.

In 1880, President Robins reiterated his recommendation of 1878 that there should be provided an extensive system of prizes, large enough to defray all necessary college expenses. The suggestion was unquestionably wise. Funds whose income should be appropriated as prizes for general scholarship, would not only enable worthy students to earn an education, they would exert a powerful influence on the classes of which the prize earner should be members. They would indirectly elevate the standard of scholarship both in preparatory school and college. Through the liberality of the late Hon. J. Warren Merrill, the University was for several years able to offer a number of prizes nearly as large as those proposed. The result confirmed these views. It is not necessary, therefore, to wait until this system can be tried on a large scale. It would be a grateful service to Colby if prizes of any amount should be added to those already offered.

LOAN FUNDS.

There are always deserving students in college, who ought not to accept gifts, but who would be encouraged and wisely aided by small loans at a nominal rate of interest until graduation, and at the bank rate from that time until payment. Several of the Colby Alumni have intimated their desire to assist in the creation of such funds, to be administered, under the direction of the founders, by the Faculty, or by such individuals as the founders should designate. It is to be hoped that this idea will be acted upon at an early day.

FELLOWSHIPS.

As Colby recognizes the duty of providing advanced instruction for specially gifted students, who ought to devote themselves to the teacher's profession, it becomes necessary to secure means to enable such talented young men to pursue higher courses of study without involving themselves in debt. Fellowships yielding $300 a year would be a sufficient inducement to secure residence and study at Colby by graduates who might prepare themselves for the highest order of work as teachers. Fellowships yielding $400 a year would enable such men, after one or two years of graduate work at Colby, to finish their special studies, under the most favorable circumstances, at the leading American Universities. Money devoted to this purpose would certainly fulfill a most useful mission.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION.

An opportunity is now given for classes to take up, at their own homes, certain branches of college work, under the direction of college teachers. The methods employed in University Extension work are:

1. Lectures, similar to those given in regular college courses, but shorter and popularized. Printed outlines are furnished and the entire lecture can be easily followed by those who desire to take notes. A course will generally consist of five lectures, delivered fortnightly. Several courses, however, consist of but three lectures, and the interval between lectures may be adjusted to suit the convenience of lecturer or class.

2. Optional Class Room Work. Every lecture will be followed by a session for discussion, questions, etc., similar to the college "quiz" or recitation. Attendance on this class is optional and entails no extra expense.

3. Reading and special study under the direction of the lecturer. Such work is always purely optional, though strongly recommended.

The Faculty of Colby are prepared to offer the following courses:

1. Aryan and Semitic Languages. Five lectures, by Prof. J. D. Taylor.
2. The History of Art. Five lectures, by Prof. L. E. Warren.
3. Astronomy. Five lectures, by Prof. William A. Rogers.
5. Mineralogy. Three lectures, by Prof. W. S. Bayley.
9. The Classical Periods of German Literature. Five lectures, by Dr. A. Marquardt.
10. The Art of Expression in its Relation to Literature and Life. Three lectures, by Mr. G. J. D. Currie.

In addition to these courses, single lectures of a somewhat more popular character are offered as follows:

Correspondence relating to University Extension work should be addressed to Prof. Shailer Mathews, Secretary of the Committee.
