Annual Report of the N. P. W. P. A.

We Yankees are born fishermen. We bait everything, and "bate" on everything, from a horse to a horse-mackerel; and we try to haul in everything—but our horns, which the liquor law compels us to "lop off"—in a measure.

Our community was much pained last Saturday, to learn of the sudden decease of Mr. Eugene Waters, of the firm of Moffitt and Waters, who was found dead in his room on the morning of that day.

In all the above respects this is a great year for fishing. Lawyers "angle" more than usual; clergymen unbend from the arduous duties of fishing for men, and fish for fish.

The great "North Pond White Perch Association," which was first organized about the year eighteen hundred and something, has this year demonstrated all the above facts.

It is not so much the "amen" as the "amen" that is the great element of power in domestic life; and as Christianity appeals powerfully to the affections of our nature, there is in it a mighty force to excite and purify, to strengthen and exalt them.

The family is the source of all moral power in the world. Without such an agency religion could never have gained a place in it.

It was that first gave religion root in our fallen nature, which secured the covenant of promise, on which rests the whole fabric of God's kingdom on earth.

to be essentially based on the tastes and maxims which prevail in society; it must be fashionable rather than Christian, genteel more than solid and good.

The family is the social constitution of the race, divinely appointed, and involves the whole machinery of society; reaching, pervading and controlling every form of government and law.

Its operations are as harmonious as all the laws of nature, and alike productive of benevolent ends. In the relative position of husband and wife there are apparent contradictions, and yet so accurate and nice are all the adjustments, all the well defined offices of each, that in actual experiment what seemed once discordant is wonderfully harmonious.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON. To set the tables.—Ira H. Low, Chs. H. Alden, W. H. Hatch, G. H. Boardman—the same having each enjoyed extra plates and bowls on this occasion.

What then is the duty of every community? Plainly to cherish and ennoble the family institution,—make much of it,—baptize it with the highest and most sacred obligations,—mellow it with the blessed influences of the gospel,—bind it with chords that will hold the family together, however widely separated;—do everything to make it what God designed it should be, the origin and source of every noble impulse, and heavenly discipline for man.

WINSLOW CORRESPONDENCE.

MESSRS. EDITORS: An event of considerable interest occurred in our town recently, which we think worthy of some notice. The children of Mr. William Church Bassett, who are gone from home and settled in life, learning that their father had sold his farm and contemplated removing to another State, proposed to have a family gathering at the old homestead before the parents should leave.

The text, the preacher said, was prophetic, and had reference to the mission of John the Baptist, preparatory to the coming of Christ. It plainly taught that the gospel seeks to accomplish its mission of life by the power of family religion.—by purifying and invigorating the bonds of domestic affection and life; and if it fails to do this it fails of its end.

She gave a general view of the character and spirit of the rebel leaders, as regards their long cherished purpose to dissolve the Union and establish a nationality under which their lust for dominion should be gratified; cited instances of the barbarous working of the slave system; described the encfebled resources of the South as compared with the gigantic powers of the North — only the surplus of which has yet been put forth;—and closed with a solemn and eloquent appeal to all Union loving men and women to sustain our brave and already victorious soldiers in giving a death blow to the rebellion.

While in her composition and manner she combined the delicate tenderness of the female heart with the bold strokes of a masculine hand, she seemed to lack that compass of voice which is essential to give completeness of effect to her beautiful words and patriotic thoughts. Her testimony adds largely to the weight of evidence with which history is rife, that slavery is hostile to the prosperity and life of republican institutions.

TROT AT SKOWHEGAN.—On Thursday last there was a spirited horse contest at Skowhegan, for purses of fifty, thirty and twenty dollars. For the first, A. S. Hinds entered Lady Dixfield, and A. M. Savage entered What-is-it. Time 2:43, 2:44 and 2:39. Won by Lady Dixfield; What-is-it trotting the last heat in 2:40 which was considered very fast for a young mare—pleasing her friends, even if she did not win the race.

For the second premium A. M. Savage entered Triphammer, and A. Garland entered Pollywog. 1st heat won by Pollywog in 2:43 and 2d and 3d by Triphammer in 2:42 and 2:44. Mile and repeat. Won by Triphammer.

For the 3d premium Penniman entered Chesnut stallions.—Caswell entered sorrel mare, —Gilmore entered 'Chas. Murphy.' Won by Penniman. Time 2:55 and 2:56.

The several races were well contested, and all seemed well pleased, both with the trotting and the management.

WHEE DONE! Charles M. Morse, superintendent of the Me. Central Railroad; Joshua Nye, treasurer of the same, and Edward C. Low, master of transportation, have each sent a representative soldier to the army. Neither of these gentlemen is liable to draft, and the last named has a son now in the service, and is not himself a naturalized citizen, by legal form. Here is an example worthy to be followed by dozens of others equally well able to give their country a soldier.

Rebel officers tell their soldiers, to hold out until McClellan is elected, when they will have peace and independence.

McClellan accepts his nomination, but ignores the platform. Somebody has been elected.

THE PREMIUM AND COMMITTEE LIST OF THE North Kennebec Agricultural Society will be found in our paper this week. Look it over and then cast about you for contributions to its various departments. Above all, come forward cheerfully to take a membership ticket, and thus do your share towards freeing the Society from debt.

A list of the members will be published in our paper after the Fair; and we trust it will number at least four hundred, and that every business man in our village will see to it that his name will be found in it. This is one of the institutions that contribute to make our village a centre of business and influence, and it ought not to be suffered to languish.

Tickets can be had of the treasurer, Mr. Ira H. Low, but do not wait for him to call upon you. Walk in, unbidden, and enrol yourself a member of the Society for 1864. It will do you good, and aid a worthy enterprise.

THE BENEFIT TROT, in aid of the North Kennebec Agricultural Society, of which we made mention last week, will take place at the Society's Grounds on the afternoon of Wednesday, Sept. 21st. Ninety dollars are offered in premiums, and it is understood that some fast horses will be present to compete for the prizes. We trust that all interested will see the importance of giving the Society a good benefit.

"NO ACCOUNTING FOR TASTE."—Owing to a plurality of appetites among the "peace men" of Waterville, the ovation designed for Gen. McClellan was devoted to a more worthy hero, "Gen. Knox." It was thought safer to give to one who never lost, than to one who never won—and never will. There was no opposition, and the "Young Napoleon" yielded his epaulettes to "Gen. Knox." A mark of equal regard is in reserve for McClellan after his election!

WATERVILLE COLLEGE.—The monotony that follows the rush of Commencement week is pleasantly broken by the sweet tones of the Chapel bell and the presence of the students in our streets—the Fall term having commenced on Wednesday. The attendance of the upper classes is rather thin, but the Freshman class, which now numbers over twenty, it is expected will be increased to twenty-five.

MORE GOOD STOCK FOR MAINE.—T. S. Lang, Esq., purchased a bull calf and a heifer calf, at the Springfield Fair, for which he paid $1,000. They are out of choice Dutch stock, imported by W. W. Cheney, of Belmont, a gentleman well known for his enterprise in this direction. The animals are pure black and white, and attracted much attention. We hope to see them at our Show, with other stock of Mr. Lang's.

THE REBEL PRIVATEER Georgia has been seized off Lisbon, by the Union regate Niagara, her crew landed at Dover, and the vessel sent to this country. The Georgia was flying the British flag at the time and though there is a question as to the legality of her capture, the British press takes the matter very coolly.

"GEN. KNOX" THE VICTOR!—In the great match at Springfield, between Mr. Lang's horse and "Draco," Gen. Knox won in three straight heats, in 2:31 1-2, 2:37 and 2:34 1-2. This puts him ahead of any horse in this country, if not in the world. Report says that Mr. Lang has since been offered $20,000 for him.

We learn that Aaron Hooley, Esq. of New York, in his youth a resident of this town, has subscribed $1000 towards the $150,000 fund for Waterville College.

Our armies are now being rapidly replenished with fresh men. Seven thousand seven hundred were put in on Thursday—the largest number for over a year. About thirty thousand have been sent to the army of the Potomac since Sept. 1st.

GLORIOUS LITTLE GREAT VERNON!—She gains nearly six thousand on her popular vote of last year, for the Union, and out of one hundred representatives elects only five democrats. Men of Maine, do you hear that?

NO DRAFT.—Enlistments have gone forward so briskly of late, that there will probably be no draft in Maine, except, perhaps, in certain districts notoriously delinquent.

Belfast, Ireland, has been the scene of protracted and bloody rioting, which grew out of the quarrels between the Orange-men and Catholics.

BEAUTIFUL.—Among the many fine pictures inspired by the war, nothing excels "Home on a Partridge," painted by Schumaker, and engraved on steel by Sartain. Mr. Clark, the agent for this vicinity, is now offering it to subscribers in this village. We dare not attempt a description, but commendation is easy. The returning soldier has surprised his family by coming across the field; and here at the back porch of the old farm home we witness the greeting—a greeting worthy a loyal soldier, and such as waits to warm the heart of many a soldier now in the field. Here are the wife and the baby—the boys, barefooted and boisterous—the old father and mother, and younger brothers and sisters—here are the neighbors, who hurried over to witness the joy and hear the news,—and last but not least in giving beauty and life to the picture, here are the horse and the dog, both seeming to rejoice in the return of an old friend. It must be seen—it ought to be seen in every house from which has gone out a soldier. All who can will buy it.

McClellan accepts his nomination, but ignores the platform. Somebody has been elected.

The following paragraph, detailing the circumstances attending the death of Mr. Eugene Waters, with a fitting notice of his character and position, we take from the Rockland Gazette.

Our community was much pained last Saturday, to learn of the sudden decease of Mr. Eugene Waters, of the firm of Moffitt and Waters, who was found dead in his room on the morning of that day.

War of Redemption.

We have full confirmation of the capture of Atlanta by Sherman. By moving to the south of the city, Hood's railroad communication was cut, and he was compelled to fight.

Wheeler, who was in Sherman's rear, has been compelled to leave in haste, and the damaged railroads have been repaired.

The noted rebel guerrilla chieftain John Morgan, was surprised at Greenville, Tennessee, on Sunday, by an attack from a Union force under General Alvan C. Gillem.

There is no news of importance from the army of the Potomac, but rumors are prevalent that Lee's army has been heavily reinforced by the return of Early from the Shenandoah.

Messrs. Editors: Observing in a late number of your paper an account of the death of G. G. Hanscom, Esq. I ask the privilege of correcting a mistake in the initials of his name, and adding a few facts in regard to the deceased.

Charles Greene Hanscom, son of the late Oliver Hanscom, of China, entered Waterville College at the age of 17, and graduated in the class of 1845.

He studied law in Portland, and subsequently presented the duties of his profession with success in Wisconsin, where he has been residing.

After his studies were completed he made a trip to South America, and since that time has also spent a year in Colorado.

During an expedition to Idaho, across the wilds of the far West. The company were well armed and provided, having many cattle, horses and mules.

Joining with other parties going in that direction, they numbered in July 80 men and from twenty to thirty women and children.

On the evening of the 14th of July, after a pleasant day's march, they camped for the night. They had advanced 50 miles into the territory of Idaho, and were on the Upper Platte.

They had travelled 300 miles since seeing any human habitation, except a few lodges of friendly Indians. They had taken their supper, and all was cheerful hilarity as they engaged in the various little duties common to camp life.

Mr. Hanscom had just gone over the hill a few rods to the river, for the purpose of watering three mules.

Some of the company heard the report of a gun and the stampeding of mules. Seizing their arms, they rushed to the river just in season to see the retreating forms of six of the Indians, who had made a rush upon Mr. Hanscom for the purpose of securing the mules.
