A booklet, Colby, with illustrative material, has been prepared for prospective students and may be obtained from the dean of admissions.

Colby College is accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. Membership in the association indicates that the institution has been carefully evaluated and found to meet standards agreed upon by qualified educators.

Colby College is a private, coeducational liberal arts college that admits students and makes personnel decisions on the basis of the individual's qualifications to contribute to Colby's educational objectives and institutional needs. The principle of not discriminating on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, religion, age, parental or marital status, national or ethnic origin, political beliefs, or disability unrelated to job or course of study requirements is consistent with the mission of a liberal arts college and the law. Colby is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and operates in accordance with federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination.

The College reserves the right in its sole judgment to make changes of any nature in its program, calendar, academic schedule, fees, deposits, or any other matters in this catalogue.

Colby

Chartered by the General Court of Massachusetts in 1813, seven years before Maine became a state, Colby is the 12th-oldest independent liberal arts college in the nation. In 1871 it became the first previously all-male college in New England to admit women. Before World War II, trustees voted to move the College from its crowded original site in downtown Waterville to the handsome Mayflower Hill campus of more than 700 acres, where 46 buildings have been constructed since 1937.

Today, Colby's 1,700 students—evenly divided between men and women—come from virtually every state and more than 43 foreign countries. Alumni, numbering more than 20,000, are represented in all 50 states and in some 65 foreign countries. Students may choose from nearly 500 courses in 40 major fields and have wide flexibility in designing independent study programs, electing special majors, and participating in internships and exchange programs. More than half of all Colby students will study abroad at some time during their undergraduate experience.

Colby is committed to the belief that the best preparation for life, and especially for the professions that require specialized study, is a broad acquaintance with human knowledge. A hallmark of the Colby experience is the close relationship between students and faculty, which serves to nurture the excitement that accompanies the discovery of ideas and values.

The Colby Plan (see p. 29) is a series of 10 educational precepts that reflect the principal elements of a liberal education and serve as a guide for making reflective course choices, for measuring educational growth, and for planning education beyond college. Students are urged to pursue these objectives not only in their course work but also through educational and cultural events, campus organizations and activities, and service to others both on campus and in the broader community.

To these ends, the Colby academic and residential program is designed to free each student to find and fulfill her or his unique potential. It is hoped that students will become critical and imaginative thinkers who are: welcoming of diversity and compassionate toward others; capable of distinguishing fact from opinion; intellectually curious and aesthetically aware; adept at synthesis as well as analysis; broadly educated with depth in some areas; proficient in writing and speaking; familiar with one or more scientific disciplines; knowledgeable about America and other cultures; able to create and enjoy opportunities for lifelong learning willing to assume leadership roles as students and citizens; prepared to respond flexibly to the changing demands of the world of work; useful to society and happy with themselves.

Colby stands for diversity, without which we become parochial; for respect for various lifestyles and beliefs, without which we become mean-spirited; and for the protection of every individual against discrimination. In the classroom and outside, there is freedom to study, to think, to speak, and to learn in an environment that insists upon the free and open exchange of ideas and views.

Colby Values and the Commons Plan

Historically, Colby has valued understanding of and concern for others, diversity of thought and culture, open access to campus groups and organizations, and personal and academic honesty. In order to embrace and support these values, members of the College community bear a special responsibility, in all of their words and actions, to honor and protect the rights and feelings of others.

The Commons Plan was designed to reinforce and amplify these values. Integral to the plan was the decision to withdraw recognition from Colby’s several fraternities. The trustees determined that these groups had become dissonant with Colby’s values because they tended to narrow the opportunities and experiences of students rather than expand them, because they were discriminatory against women and were exclusionary by nature, and because fraternity members often engaged in disruptive and undesirable activities such as hazing and pressuring students to join.

The Commons Plan offers a number of advantages to students. There are four distinct small communities or “commons,” each with its own dining facilities and governing units. Housing of all kinds throughout the campus is available on an equal basis to all students, and students play a greater role in the control and governance of the public spaces within the Commons, including the dining halls. Out-of-class faculty-student interaction is enhanced, and opportunities for the development and expression of individual student leadership come from involvement with the governing bodies and from organizing intellectual and social activities within the Commons.

Students may reside within the same residence hall and Commons for more than one year, so that friendships can more easily be formed and sustained throughout the college years and afterward.

The Student Union serves as a focus for the Commons Plan and as a forum for campus-wide social and cultural activities.

Lovejoy Commons is named for Elijah Parish Lovejoy, a graduate of the Class of 1826, who became America’s first martyr for the free press when he was killed by a pro-slavery mob in Alton, Illinois, in 1837. Lovejoy Commons includes Dana Hall and the residence halls of the Hillside Complex and The Heights.

Chaplin Commons, named for Jeremiah Chaplin, Colby’s founder and first president, who served from 1818 to 1833, is composed of Averill Hall, West Quad, and Grossman, Treworgy, Pierce, and Perkins-Wilson residence halls.

Johnson Commons is named for Franklin Winslow Johnson, Colby’s 15th president (1929-42), who inspired the College’s move to the Mayflower Hill campus. This Commons includes Johnson Hall, East Quad, and the residence halls of Piper, Drummond, and Goddard-Hodgkins.

Mary Low Commons is named in honor of Colby’s first woman graduate, Class of 1875. Included in this Commons are the residence halls of Foss, Woodman, Coburn, and Mary Low.
Campus Life

Access Policy  As a matter of College policy, all campus organizations and College-sponsored events are open to the full participation of all members of the Colby community without regard to race, color, sex, sexual orientation, religion, age, parental or marital status, national or ethnic origin, political beliefs, or disability unrelated to job or course of study requirements. Exceptions to this policy may be granted, for compelling reasons only, by mutual agreement of the dean of faculty and the Educational Policy Committee, or, in the case of student-sponsored events, by mutual agreement of the dean of faculty, the dean of students, and the Student Affairs Committee.

Art  The Bixler Art and Music Center is the focal point for the College’s art program. Continuous exhibitions of works selected from the permanent collection, as well as original and traveling shows, are to be seen in the Jette Galleries, opened in 1973, and the Davis Gallery, opened in 1991, of the Colby College Museum of Art. The permanent collection features American and European painting, sculpture, and graphic art. Special collections are the American Heritage Collection and the American Painters of the Impressionist Period Collection of Edith Kemper Jette and Ellerton Marcel Jette, the Helen Warren and Willard Howe Cummings Collection of American Art, the John Marin Collection, the Adelaide Pearson Collection, and the Bernat Collection of Oriental Ceramics and Bronzes. Since 1991 the museum has had on loan for one semester every two years The Joan Whitney Payson Collection of Impressionist and Post-Impressionist Art.

The Colby Museum of Art Board of Governors was founded in 1993 to oversee and make recommendations concerning the operations of the museum, the purchase of new works for the collection (including the use of the Jere Abbott and the Edith and Ellerton Jette Endowment Funds), and the organization of the Jere Abbott Emerging Artist Prize Competition. The board meets twice a year and assists the College in acquiring donated works of art and in securing additional financial support for the museum.

The Art Department offers a wide variety of courses in both art history and studio areas. Additionally, the Office of Student Activities maintains a ceramics workshop and photography darkrooms for general student use.

Intercollegiate Athletics  Athletics for men include varsity teams in football, soccer, basketball, hockey, skiing, lacrosse, golf, baseball, tennis, cross country, indoor and outdoor track, crew, swimming, and squash. There are reserve varsity teams for men in soccer and lacrosse. Golf is a coed varsity team sport. Rugby is a club sport for men and women. Men’s volleyball is a club sport. Water polo, woodsmen, bicycling, fencing, sailing, and ultimate frisbee are coed club teams.

Varsity teams for women include field hockey, tennis, cross country, soccer, swimming, ice hockey, basketball, skiing, squash, softball, lacrosse, volleyball, indoor and outdoor track, and crew. Women’s reserve varsity teams compete in lacrosse.

The rules that govern intercollegiate sports are those adopted by the athletic conferences in which Colby holds membership. Colby is a member of the New England Small College Athletic Conference, which also includes Amherst, Bates, Bowdoin, Connecticut College, Hamilton, Middlebury, Trinity, Tufts, Wesleyan, and Williams. The College is also a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the Eastern College Athletic Conference, and the Maine Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women. Like others in these conferences, Colby deplores the use of illegal drugs, including steroids. Violators will be subject to disciplinary action including but not limited to suspension from athletic teams or from the College.

Intramurals/I PLAY  I-PLAY (Intramural Participation Leads to an Active You) is a program developed by Colby students for the entire Colby community. The I-PLAY system offers competition with varied league set-ups. A residence hall league offers coed competition within the Commons system structure. An open league is formed for anyone who is interested in competing on a campus-wide basis. Activities offered include soccer, volleyball, touch football, basketball, ice hockey, field hockey, and softball. Other activities are provided depending on student interest and input. Participation by all members of the College community is encouraged.

Lectures Throughout the year, outstanding scholars, musicians, and artists visit the campus. The Winthrop H. Smith Visiting Scholars Program invites a speaker for two days to lecture, talk in classes, and meet with students and faculty. Through a grant from IBM in 1983, the opportunity is provided to the Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, and Administrative Science departments, on a rotating basis, to present a lecture of related interest annually. The Clara M. Southworth Lecture examines subjects in environmental design. The Samuel and Esther Lipman Lectureship is devoted to Jewish studies and contemporary Jewish thought. The Ralph J. Bunche Lecture Symposium brings minority speakers to campus to address majority- and minority-related issues. The annual lecture by the Grossman Professor of Economics delves into current economic issues of significance. The Christian A. Johnson Lectures bring to Colby distinguished economists each year. The Lovejoy Convocation annually honors a member of the newspaper profession "who has contributed to the nation's journalistic achievement." The Colby Visiting Writers Series, which includes the annual Edwin J. Kenney, Jr., Memorial Reading, brings distinguished writers of poetry, fiction, and nonfiction to the campus throughout the year. The Kingsley H. Birge Memorial Lecture, established in 1982, seeks to bring to Colby distinguished persons to speak on the human experience, human potential, or humane treatment of human beings. The Spencer Family Fund provides for an annual or biennial lecture on world unity. The Guy P. Gannett Lectures focus on general subject areas not covered by other established lectures at the College. The Phi Beta Kappa Visiting Scholar Program makes available a distinguished scholar for two days to meet informally with students and faculty, take part in classroom discussions, and give a public lecture. In addition to these established lectures, speakers are invited to the campus by the Friends of Art at Colby, student organizations, academic departments, and learned societies.

Music Musical activities converge in the Bixler Art and Music Center, which contains rehearsal and practice rooms as well as the 400-seat Given Auditorium and an electronic music center fully equipped for the production of computer-generated sound. Facilities for musical theater and opera are provided in the Performing Arts Center of Runnals Union, and Lorimer Chapel serves as a concert hall for large-scale choral and orchestral concerts. The Gould Music Shell, placed in a natural bowl on the northeast corner of the campus, is available for outdoor concerts.

Students are invited to participate (with or without academic credit) in the Colby Symphony Orchestra, the Colby College Chorale, Wind Ensemble, Jazz Band, and Collegium Musicum (early music group), all under faculty and staff direction.

In addition to numerous concerts by department ensembles each year, concerts by visiting artists of international stature are presented by the Music at Colby series supported by patrons and sponsors and by the Student Association. Members of the Portland String Quartet, who hold appointments as artists-in-residence at Colby, also give concerts each semester and offer a course in chamber music for general students as well as workshops for advanced string players.

Performing Arts Colby offers an interdisciplinary major in performing arts, enriched with courses offered by the departments of Art, Classics, English, Music, and the several modern foreign languages. In addition, Colby offers a minor and provides courses for nonmajors and opportunities for practical experience in all the areas of theatrical production, dance, and music.

The Strider Theater, the Dunn Dance Studio, a small cellar theater, art studios, and many spaces for musical performance serve as laboratories for the arts and as performance centers. The Strider Theater has a flexible stage, shop, makeup rooms, and rehearsal space. Light and sound booths over the balcony command a full view of the stage.
Radio Colby  WMHB 90.5 FM is a student-operated station with a Class A noncommercial license from the Federal Communications Commission. From studios in Roberts Union, the station broadcasts throughout the day and evening 365 days a year.

Religion at Colby  Although the Baptist religion was central to Colby life throughout the College's first century, its founders had insisted—and the 1813 charter required—that there be no religious test for either faculty or students. The College supports and respects the religious beliefs of all students and, at the same time, honors the heritage of the College.

The original campus in downtown Waterville had no free-standing chapel. A small chapel room on the first floor of Recitation Hall was built in 1836. Colby did not have a chapel until 1947, ironically, the year that compulsory chapel attendance ceased. The post-World War II period brought increasing numbers of students of many other faiths, and by the 1990s steps toward the widely shared goal of improving Colby's diversity have brought an even broader representation.

While often used for religious services, Lorimer Chapel was never consecrated as a church and has always been a multi-purpose facility frequently used for secular events. In fact, it was always intended as a building to be used by all faiths.

In the early 1980s, the College expanded its chaplains program with Catholic and Jewish chaplains joining the ongoing Protestant chaplain as co-equal faith leaders for students and others. The tripartite chaplaincy publishes an academic-year calendar highlighting the special holidays of the world's most common religions. A room also has been made available for Muslim students to pray.

Student Organizations  More than 70 student organizations are chartered by the College. Academic societies are Alpha Kappa Delta (sociology), Delta Phi Alpha (German), Omicron Delta Upsilon (economics), Phi Beta Kappa, Pi Sigma Alpha (political science), Psi Chi (psychology), Sigma Delta Pi (Spanish), Sigma Pi Sigma (physics), and Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society. Student publications include The Colby Echo, Flypaper, New Moon Rising, The Oracle, and Pequod.

Service organizations are The Bridge (Bisexual, Gay, and Lesbian Society), Colby Emergency Response, Colby Friends (Big Brother, Big Sister), and the Colby Volunteer Center.

Religious organizations are B'nai B'rith Hillel, Colby Christian Fellowship, Muslim Youth Association, and Newman Club.

Other clubs and societies are described under appropriate catalogue headings. In addition, each class acts as an organization, with elected officers, as do the Commons Councils. Organizations and most activities, including film, lecture, and concert series, are funded through the Student Association. Also, students are appointed by the Student Association to serve on College committees.
The Library

The Colby libraries provide attractive surroundings for study and research at three campus locations. Miller Library, the often-photographed building with the clock tower in the center of campus, houses the humanities and social science collections, the College archives, Special Collections, and the library's administrative and technical staff. A recently renovated and expanded branch library for art and music is in the Bixler Art and Music Center and features a state-of-the-art listening center and a rapidly growing slide collection. The Allyn-Smith Science Library, currently in the Keyes Science Building, will move to a greatly expanded facility in the new F.W. Olin Science Center in the summer of 1996 and will include network access at every study space. The Colby libraries are open from early morning until late at night throughout the academic year and during daytime hours in the summer. Some study areas and a computer cluster are open 24 hours a day.

An open-stack system allows easy access to a collection of more than 778,000 items, and the on-line catalog and many of the library's electronic indexes and Internet files are available on library workstations and computers campus-wide. Electronic materials on CD-ROM and those received across the Internet are an exciting and rapidly expanding element of the library collections. The collection strongly supports all curriculum areas and contains more than 2,700 currently received periodicals, many long runs of retrospective periodicals of historical and scholarly value, and daily newspapers from this country and abroad. Miller Library is a depository for U.S. and Maine state documents and subscribes to the United Nations depository collection on microfiche.

An active consortium with Bates and Bowdoin has resulted in mutual on-line access to our catalogs and to rapid turnaround time on lending of materials among the three institutions. Reference librarians and interlibrary loan staff help researchers identify and obtain resources beyond those in the CBB collections.

Instruction in the use of the library and its research materials is offered throughout the curriculum, from an introduction in beginning English classes to in-depth subject searching using sophisticated tools in upper-level classes. Students, faculty, and other researchers seeking individual assistance are welcome at the reference desk in Miller Library.

Special collections of first editions and manuscripts in Miller Library have achieved international recognition. The Edwin Arlington Robinson Memorial Room, named for the famous Pulitzer Prize-winning Maine poet, contains his books, manuscripts, letters, and memorabilia. The Thomas Hardy Collection is one of the most extensive in the country. Other authors represented in the Robinson Room include A.E. Housman, Sarah Orne Jewett, Kenneth Roberts, Henry James, Willa Cather, John Masefield, William Dean Howells, and Thomas Mann.

The John and Catherine Healy Memorial Room contains the James Augustine Healy Collection of Modern Irish Literature, with numerous inscribed copies, manuscripts, and holograph letters of William Butler Yeats, Sean O'Casey, James Joyce, George Bernard Shaw, and many others. The Healy Collection has 7,000 primary and critical sources representing the Irish Literary Renaissance, 1880-1940.

The Alfred King Chapman Room houses the College archives, which hold more than 4,000 manuscript files pertaining to Colby alumni, faculty, and staff dating from 1813 to the present. Also included is an extensive collection of books by Colby graduates and faculty.

For detailed information about Colby's library collections and services, browse the library's pages on the Colby World Wide Web site (http://www.colby.edu/) via the Internet.
Information Technology Services

A wide range of information technology resources and support is available at Colby. Computers are recognized as valuable tools for scholars in all disciplines. They are used by faculty members and students in all disciplines, and the College is committed to making appropriate computing resources available. In the majority of courses, faculty use computers in some way; in addition to student writing assignments most often done on computers, most students will encounter course assignments that require computer use.

Apple Macintosh computers, adopted by the College as the microcomputer standard in 1985, are available in the MacLab (Lovejoy 400), along with a substantial software library. Additional Macs are located in the Science cluster (Mudd 415) and the Library cluster (Miller 16). Specialized computing facilities dedicated to particular departments are located in Biology, Chemistry, Economics, Geology, Language Lab, Music, Physics, and Psychology. Macs are also available for sale at a significant discount through the bookstore to students, faculty, and staff. About 75 percent of all students own a Mac.

Central (time-sharing) computing systems include a Hewlett Packard E25 for academic use and a MicroVAX 3600 running the library automation system, including an on-line catalog. A Colby account is set up automatically for each student; passwords may be entered at the Information Technology Services Office in Lovejoy 105 to activate a personal account. A second HP E25 provides integrated electronic mail, and a campus World Wide Web server runs on a Sun workstation. These computers can be accessed from Macs in all public clusters and from student rooms.

Colby's data communications network, built around a high-speed Ethernet backbone through the academic buildings, is available in all student computer clusters and in every faculty office and classrooms. About half the students in the residence halls (those in Mary Low, Coburn, Foss, Woodman, Averill, Johnson, West Quad [Robins, Chaplin, Pepper], and East Quad [Small, Champlin, Butler]) have direct Ethernet access to the network; networking of all residence halls is expected to be completed by fall 1996. The College is a member of the New England Academic and Research Network (NEARnet), which provides access to regional, national, and international computing resources, including electronic mail, Web service, file transfer, and remote login. Hundreds of major U.S. library catalogs are available on the Internet, in addition to supercomputers, specialized data sources, and conferencing systems.

Assistance can be obtained from the student consultants in the MacLab, the residence computer consultants, and the staff of Information Technology Services. Workshops are scheduled throughout the year to introduce the computer and network systems and to provide advanced information on specific topics. A newsletter is published to inform users of workshop schedules, provide helpful tips, and discuss policy issues.

The Media Services group of ITS, located in the Audiovisual Center in Miller Library, provides support for audiovisual resources in classrooms and elsewhere on campus. In addition to offering the traditional equipment delivery and loan services, the group also produces educational materials and provides instruction in many media-related areas. A full complement of equipment, from overhead projectors and computer projection systems to portable video recorders and video editing stations for student and faculty use, is maintained. Through its satellite downlink facilities, Media Services provides multilingual and special-interest programming to the campus via cable TV. Lectures, discussions, and other campus events are broadcast over “MooseNet,” the College’s own cable TV channel.

The Information Technology Committee, made up of faculty, staff, and students, acts in an advisory capacity to Information Technology Services. All meetings are open, and those interested in computing issues are encouraged to attend and participate in discussions.

Information about Colby’s current events, publications, and academic programs is available on the World Wide Web at the following address on the Internet: http://www.colby.edu/
Special Programs

Recognizing that diverse interests exist in every community and that even the most professionally trained individuals have a need to continue their education, Colby maintains an Office of Special Programs with a full-time director.

Each summer, approximately 6,000 individuals from throughout the nation and other countries are on campus for courses, conferences, seminars, and institutes in areas of medicine and public and professional services and for youth programs and sports camps.

The major focus of the summer program is continuing medical education (CME)—Colby is the only undergraduate college in the country approved by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to sponsor CME for physicians. About 12 CME offerings each year in a variety of specialty and family-practice programs are attended by health care professionals.

A coordinating council of Colby administrators and physicians from Waterville’s Mid-Maine Medical Center advises and helps to manage this educational component.

Approximately 80 doctors enroll each summer in the seven-week Lancaster Course in Ophthalmology, and two- to four-day seminars are held in anesthesiology, child abuse, emergency medicine, family practice, forensic medicine, ophthalmology, pediatrics, urology, and wilderness medicine. The Maine Orthopaedic Review is a two-week course. In addition to CME accreditation, American Academy of Family Practice credit is generally available for courses designed for primary care physicians.

Public and professional service programs include the Church Music Institute, Great Books, and Piano Institute. The Portland String Quartet is in residence for two weeks. Youth camps for cheerleading, soccer, football, basketball, baseball, swimming, cross country, etc., are available. The Summer Arts at Colby is a month-long intensive experience in the visual and performing arts for creative high-school students.

During the academic year, the office arranges such annual conferences as the Colby Institute for Leadership. Noncredit courses for which the continuing education unit may be earned are also structured and evaluated through Special Programs. In addition, Special Programs works with the Office of Scheduling and Facilities to coordinate arrangements for conferences during the academic year.

Information may be obtained by writing to the director.
Career Services

Colby’s commitment to the liberal arts embraces the firm belief that the breadth and quality of a Colby education should be extended to include an equally broad choice of meaningful and rewarding career opportunities. Located in the Eustis Administration Building, the Office of Career Services strives to acquaint students with career options, offers insight into various professions, and assists in preparation for the actual career search. Students, parents, and alumni are invited to visit the office to discuss career concerns, offer suggestions, and avail themselves of the resources.

The staff works with academic advisers and other members of the faculty and staff to assist undergraduates in the selection of courses and experiential options that best meet each student’s individual interests and needs. Students considering careers in medicine, veterinary medicine, and dentistry are advised to meet with a member of the Health Professions Professional Preparation Committee for these areas as early as possible in the first year, and those interested in law and business should see the pre-law or pre-business advisers.

The Career Services library includes extensive information on career fields, job-search techniques, current employment openings for permanent and summer positions, internships, and graduate-degree programs. Computers and typewriters also are available for student use. Both facilities are open weekdays, including evenings, and Sunday afternoons.

Students are encouraged to make an appointment to experiment with CHOICES, a computer program that provides interest testing and value determination as well as information about hundreds of professions. Workshops and individual counseling on career exploration, résumé writing, and interviewing techniques can be as helpful to the underclass student seeking a summer job or January internship as to the senior seeking a permanent career opening. In addition, a lifetime reference file may be opened at any time, and a newsletter is distributed throughout the campus on a regular basis, listing current activities and programs as well as career-related opportunities.

Specific programs for seniors include a recruitment program that brings representatives from graduate and professional schools to the campus in the fall and from corporations and government-service organizations in the spring. Consortium programs with other institutions allow for the opportunity to interview with a variety of additional firms and organizations at single locations in Portland, Boston, and New York City. Information and applications for the Graduate Record Examinations, Graduate Management Admission Test, Law School Admission Test, Medical College Admissions Test, National Teachers Examination, and the Foreign Service Examination can be obtained by seniors in the office, and all but the last two are administered at Colby at least once each year.

With the generous support of Colby graduates and parents of current students, a broad network of persons in various professions and widespread geographical locations has been established to assist students and alumni in career exploration. Parents and alumni have agreed to conduct informational interviews, be hosts for on-site visits, sponsor internships for January and the summer, and provide housing for interns and job seekers in their areas. Information on these opportunities can be obtained from the Office of Career Services. More specific information on January internships and other field experience options is available in the Office of Off-Campus Study.
Admission

Colby College admits students as candidates for the degree of bachelor of arts. Admission is highly selective, and evaluation is based on data concerning academic achievement and ability, as well as qualities of intellectual promise, interest and excitement in learning, character, and maturity.

The College actively seeks applicants who have special qualities or talents to contribute to the Colby community, as well as those who represent diverse geographical, racial, religious, and economic backgrounds. Such candidates are expected to be within acceptable ranges of academic ability and preparation.

The quality of a candidate’s preparation is judged by the academic record, references from school administrators and teachers, and results of tests administered by The College Board or by the American College Testing Program.

To ensure a common educational base, a minimum of 16 academic preparatory units is strongly recommended, including four years of English, at least three of a single foreign language, three of college preparatory mathematics, two of history or social studies, two of laboratory science, and two years of other college preparatory electives.

Colby College supports the efforts of secondary school officials and governing bodies to have their schools achieve regional accredited status, in order to provide reliable assurance of the quality of the educational preparation of its applicants for admission.

Eighty-one and four-tenths percent of the members of the Class of 1995 graduated in four years. The six-year graduation rate of the Class of 1993 was 88.6 percent.

Application Schedule

November 15: Deadline for filing applications for fall option early decision admission and financial aid. Notification: December 15.
December 1: Deadline for filing applications for midyear transfer admission. Notification: December 31.
January 15: Deadline for filing applications for regular admission and financial aid.
March 1: Deadline for filing transfer applications and financial aid requests. Notification: May 15.
April 1: Notification of action by admissions committee and of financial aid awards to the applicants for first-year student admission who did not apply early decision.
May 1: Admitted regular applicants confirm intention to attend Colby by payment of $200 advance tuition deposit.

Interviews Interviews, though not required, are recommended and are available on campus from May 1 to January 15. Appointments may be scheduled between 8:45 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. on weekdays and on most Saturday mornings in the fall.

Interviews with alumni can be arranged for students who are unable to visit the campus and who would like additional personal contact and information about the College.

Campus Visits A visit to Colby is encouraged. Guides are normally available at the Admissions Office on weekdays, and tours may be arranged on many Saturday mornings. A list of motels near the campus is available from the Admissions Office.

High-school seniors who wish to spend a night on campus may do so through the Colby Host Program. The program operates five days a week (Sunday through Thursday) throughout the academic year, with the exception of examination and vacation periods. Requests for accommodations through the host program should be directed to the Admissions Office at least two weeks prior to the visits. Accommodations are limited to one night.

For those driving, Colby is located near exit 33 of I-95. Waterville also may be reached by bus, by air to nearby Augusta, or by airport limousine from the Portland Jetport or the Bangor International Airport.
Admission

Tests  Colby requires either the College Board SAT-I Reasoning Test or the ACT tests. Submission of the College Board SAT-II Subject Tests is optional, but a foreign language Subject Test is recommended for students seeking to fulfill the College's language requirement by scoring 60 or better. All required tests must be taken no later than January of the senior year. Early decision candidates must take these tests earlier in their senior year or in their junior year. Applicants must request that test results be sent to Colby directly from the appropriate testing agency. Students taking the College Board tests should contact The College Board ATP, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey 08540 (or P.O. Box 1025, Berkeley, California 94701, for those living in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, or points farther west). Students taking ACT tests should make requests to P.O. Box 414, Iowa City, Iowa 52243.

Advanced Standing  Colby participates in the Advanced Placement Program of The College Board, providing academic credit for students qualified for advanced standing. Those interested take the College Board advanced placement tests and have the results submitted to Colby for evaluation. Students scoring 4 or 5 receive credit from the College. Scores of 3 and below are evaluated by the appropriate academic department. Students who earn between 15 and 29 hours of advanced placement credit may, upon application, use that credit to count toward one semester of the eight-semester residency requirement. Students who earn 30 hours or more may, upon application, count those credits toward two semesters of the eight-semester residency requirement.

Colby also recognizes the International Baccalaureate and offers advanced placement and credit based on individual Higher Level examination results as well as performance on the full IB Diploma program. At the discretion of individual academic departments, advanced placement and credit may be earned for scores of 5, 6, and 7 on Higher Level examinations. Students may earn up to a full semester of standing in this manner. A full year of credit may be earned for an IB Diploma point total of 34 or better, assuming all examination scores are 4 or better and no Higher Level examination score is below 5.

Finally, students who receive an A or B (superior level) on A-levels or comparable scores on the Leaving Certificate (Ireland), the Arbitur (Germany), or the Baccalaureate (France) may be eligible for credit and advanced placement. Credits will be granted in consultation with the appropriate department and only after the student has shown satisfactory progress during his or her first semester at Colby.

Early Admission  A small number of students are admitted without completing the senior year of secondary school. This is done only with the recommendation of the secondary school. Considerations of academic and personal maturity are important to the candidate and to the College in earlier-than-usual admission.

Midyear Admission  Each year more sophomore and junior Colby students study off campus during the second semester than during the fall, and 35 to 40 spaces for incoming students usually become available at the beginning of the January term. A student who applied for admission in the fall semester may be offered admission for midyear. For these students Colby offers three fall-semester-abroad options, which are described on pages 37-39. A student who participates in one of the College's fall-semester-abroad programs enters Colby with a group of friends acquired through the program and with enough credits to progress toward the degree at the same pace as his or her classmates.

Transfer Students and Veterans  First consideration in admission is for first-year students, but some transfer students are accepted each year. Admission by transfer is open to those with strong academic and personal records from accredited colleges or universities. Transfer application forms may be obtained from the Admissions Office.

Credits from accredited institutions are generally accepted for courses comparable to those offered at Colby in which grades of C or better are received. No more than 60 transferable semester credit hours may be applied toward a Colby degree.
Veterans may request advanced standing consideration for completion of service schools in advance of matriculation. Credit is not granted for military service or College Level Educational Program tests.

Health Certificate  No student will be allowed to register, attend classes, or participate in any campus activities, including COOT (Colby Outdoor Orientation Trips), until a health certificate has been received and approved by the College Health Services. Verification of a physical examination and of a TB skin test is required, as well as immunization for polio, tetanus, and diphtheria. Verification of proof for two immunizations for mumps, rubella, and rubella is also required. In compliance with Maine state law, Colby requires such proof of immunization as photocopies of standard immunization cards and/or pages from a physician’s medical record, which must be signed or stamped by the health care provider who administered the immunization. Photocopies of lab slips of titters proving previous disease may be submitted if applicable. All of this information must be received by July 15.

Nonmatriculated Students  Application to enroll as a nonmatriculated student must be made to the dean of admissions, who has the responsibility for the admission of all students. Registration in individual courses requires the approval of the course instructor and may be limited; matriculated students have priority in admission to courses with limited enrollments.

All persons seeking to take courses for credit must present evidence that they are qualified to pursue the intended courses and must pay the established fee. A limited number of gifted Waterville-area secondary school students may be recommended by their schools to take a course. Adults from the immediate Waterville area who are not degree candidates may qualify to take courses at one half the usual fee or may audit courses at no charge.

Persons wishing to enroll as auditing students must also apply to the dean of admissions and are referred to the section “Auditing Courses” elsewhere in this catalogue.

International Students  Colby has traditionally encouraged the enrollment of students from other countries and is actively engaged in programs of international cooperation and exchange.

Applicants to Colby must be able to understand and be understood in English. Oral and writing skills are essential for successful work at Colby. Colby requires the SAT-I Reasoning Test or the American College Test (ACT), if either of these tests is offered in a student’s home country. In addition, applicants whose native language is not English and who have attended a school in which the medium of instruction is not English are required to take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). Submission of the results from College Board SAT-II Subject Tests is optional. Arrangements may be made to take these examinations in various centers throughout the world by writing to The College Board ATP, P.O. Box 6155, Princeton, New Jersey 08541-6155, U.S.A. To ensure that the results are sent promptly to Colby, please use the Colby College Examination Code No. 3280. United States embassies and consular offices can provide pertinent information about these examinations. These offices often have booklets describing the tests and may have practice tests for applicants’ use.

Financial aid for international students is available in limited amounts. Applicants for financial aid should complete the Foreign Student’s Financial Aid Application and Declaration Form, which, upon request, is sent with Colby admissions materials. All applications are due in the Admissions Office, with supporting documents, by January 15.

An associate dean of students is responsible for intercultural activities and serves as a special adviser to international students. Intensive English language study is also available during the fall semester.
Orientation

From the time of admission until they arrive on campus, new students are invited to make use of a “hot line” to the College to get answers to any questions they may have. An on-campus orientation program for first-year and other new students is held just before the beginning of each new semester. The program includes an introduction to the intellectual and social life of the College, meetings with academic advisers, and placement examinations. Prior to the orientation, first-year students may participate in COOT (Colby Outdoor Orientation Trips), conducted by upperclass students, alumni, faculty, and staff members.

Placement in Mathematics  A mathematics placement questionnaire must be completed prior to registration by all students who intend to take Mathematics 101, 121, 122, or 123. The purpose of this questionnaire is to indicate the course most appropriate for the individual student. Final decision on placement rests with the chair of the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science.

First-year students who intend to register for a “no prerequisite course” (Mathematics 111 or 112) need not complete this questionnaire.

First-year students who intend to register for Mathematics 231, 253, 262, or 274 should consult with their advisers and with the chair of the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science.

Placement in Foreign Languages  The College language requirement is met at entrance by a score of 60 or more on the College Board language achievement test.

Students wishing to continue the study of a foreign language at Colby are encouraged to take The College Board achievement test in that language. The results are used to place the student at the appropriate level. If a student has not taken The College Board test and wishes to continue studying a language, he or she will be placed on the basis of a required placement exam given during orientation for new students only. Students whose College Board scores are more than a year old at the time of registration are also required to take the Colby placement exam.

Students who have had two or more years of language study may enroll in the first semester of the elementary course of that language only if the appropriate department determines, on the basis of the College Board test or Colby’s placement test, that their preparation is not adequate for a more advanced level.

Placement for students who have scored 60 or above on The College Board language achievement test is done by consultation with the department.

*Payment of the annual charges for the full-year Colby in Cork, Colby in Oxford, and Colby in Salamanca programs is required by August 1. See specific brochures for applicable charges, deposit amounts, and deadlines or call the Office of Off-Campus Study.

Deposits

Admission Deposit for All New Students: A nonrefundable deposit of $200 is due on or before the date of confirmation of intention to attend. This deposit is credited against the charges for the student’s initial semester of enrollment and will be forfeited if the student does not enroll.

Attendance Deposits: Returning students are required to pay a $200 attendance deposit prior to the fall semester. This deposit is due April 1 and is nonrefundable after July 1. Student account balances must be paid in full before the attendance deposit can be applied as such. If the account is paid in full, the attendance deposit will be credited against the charges for the following year. For a student who does not enroll, the deposit will be held as a credit for one year, after which it will be forfeited. A student who does not pay an attendance deposit by the due date may not be permitted to select housing or preregister for courses for the coming semester. The admission deposit satisfies this requirement for new students.

Basic Charges

Tuition: All matriculating students are required to enroll for at least nine credit hours each semester at the basic tuition rate of $10,035 per semester. Exceptions are made by the dean of admissions in the case of nontraditional students and by the dean of students in certain cases of regular students with extenuating circumstances that prohibit them from carrying a normal course load. In these exceptional cases, students may be charged on a credit hour basis at the rate of $770 per credit hour.

With permission of the dean of students, seniors needing fewer than nine hours in their final semester may take only that number of credit hours necessary to meet their graduation requirement. In such cases, however, the full basic tuition of $10,035 per semester will be charged.
Board: The College offers a board plan of 21 meals per week, required of all students living on campus; the plan also is available to off-campus students. Off-campus students may also purchase five lunches a week on a semester basis at a cost of $350 per semester.

Room: Students are expected to occupy College housing facilities to the full extent of their availability. Other arrangements may be made only with specific approval of the dean of students. Residence hall reservations are made through the Office of the Dean of Students.

General Fee: The general fee of $460 per semester is charged to all matriculating students except those in the non-residential degree program. Included in the general fee is an allocation for the Student Association and funding of College health services. There are no additional fees for staff services in the student health center or for the student health insurance plan that the College provides as part of its health services package to all students who pay the general fee.

Off-Campus Study Charges
Two types of off-campus study programs are available at Colby: approved non-Colby off-campus study and Colby off-campus programs.

Students who are engaged in approved non-Colby off-campus foreign or domestic study programs pay all fees directly to the host institution. For Colby programs abroad and domestic exchanges, a comprehensive fee including tuition, room, board, and travel applies. Financial aid is available to students enrolled in the approved off-campus programs as well as to those enrolled in the Colby abroad programs. All Colby abroad programs require a $500 attendance deposit. Fees for the 1995-96 Colby abroad programs are as follows:

Beginning in the fall of 1995, any student enrolling at Colby for the first time who wishes to transfer credit to Colby from an approved international or domestic non-Colby program will pay an additional fee of $1,000 per semester to Colby. This fee, payable in advance of departure, will be charged on the Colby tuition bill.

Information regarding application deadlines and other program details may be obtained from the Off-Campus Study Office.

Miscellaneous Charges

Applied Music: A student receiving musical instruction under the applied-music program is charged a fee for a one-credit course and for a two-credit course. Music majors will be permitted to enroll in one course per semester at no charge but will be charged for a second course.

January Program: A January Program that requires extensive travel, special materials, or highly specialized outside instruction carries a fee calculated to reflect the costs of the individual program. Such fees are published annually in the January Program brochure.

Orientation: A student who participates in one of the Colby Outdoor Orientation Trips (COOT) will be charged a fee.

Medications: A student will be charged for the cost of prescription and non-prescription medicines prescribed by the Health Services staff.

Fines: Fines are charged for: failure to register automobiles, parking violations, late return of library books, checks returned as uncollectible, and for disciplinary actions.
Damage to or Loss of College Property: Liability for damage or loss of College property located within individual residence hall rooms lies with the resident(s) of the room. When damage or loss of College property occurs in residence hall common areas (e.g., lounges, hallways, lobbies, bathrooms), Residential Life will make every effort to identify the individuals responsible and to bill them. In cases in which Residential Life determines that responsibility lies with the residents of a specific section of a residence hall, those students will be billed. When the individuals responsible for damage or loss of College property cannot be identified, the cost of repair or replacement is accumulated by the residence hall. At the end of each semester, Residential Life, in cooperation with the Physical Plant Department, determines the cost of all unidentified damage and loss of College property and bills the residents of each residence hall on a pro rata basis. Any conflicts regarding assignment of responsibility may be directed to the Judicial Board.

Payment of Bills Statements for basic charges are normally mailed two to four weeks before they are due. Additional statements are furnished monthly for accounts with outstanding balances due and may be mailed to students as deemed necessary by the College.

Before students are permitted to register, accounts must be paid or satisfactory arrangements made with the Business Office. If the balance on the account is to be paid by an outside scholarship, a 30-day late fee waiver will be granted only if the student notifies the Business Office of this information prior to registration. It is the student’s responsibility to ensure that all financial matters are resolved prior to registration. Payments are applied against charges in the order in which the charges appear on the student’s account.

Students having unfulfilled financial obligations of $500 or more will not be allowed to transfer credits to other institutions or obtain transcripts or grades. Exceptions will be made for seniors wishing to obtain transcripts for graduate school enrollment.

Late Payment Fees A late payment fee of 1.5 percent of an unpaid balance of $500 or more will be assessed at the first of each month for as long as such a balance remains unpaid. A balance must be 30 days old to be assessed a fee. Assessment dates for September and February will coincide with registration dates rather than with the first of those months. In order to avoid late payment assessments, please allow ample time for mail delivery to Colby’s Boston bank as Colby is not responsible for delays caused by mail delivery.

Loan and Payment Plans The College makes available a number of loan and payment plans. Those interested in such plans may contact the Financial Aid Office.

Refunds In cases of voluntary withdrawal during the period for which a student has been billed, a student may be eligible for a refund of basic charges as follows (except as outlined below):

- First 10% of the enrollment period ............... 90%
- Next 15% of the enrollment period ............... 50%
- Next 25% of the enrollment period ............... 25%
- Thereafter ........................................ 0%

Pro rata refunds of the basic charges will be made for students who withdraw upon advice from the College physician during the fall and spring semesters. (Refunds of basic charges are not granted to full-time students withdrawing during the January Program.) This refund policy applies to the regular academic program on campus and to all Colby off-campus programs.

The College offers an optional tuition refund insurance designed to reduce the financial loss caused by a medical withdrawal. Brochures are mailed in July to the billing address.

No refund will be made until the withdrawal/leave process established by the dean of students is completed.

Federal regulations determine the amount and the order in which federal loans and scholarships are to be refunded.

A refund of raw food costs for the period of the January Program is made to a student who has completed the first semester with a full 21-meal board contract and who does not live or eat on campus during the January Program. A request for this refund must be made in the Business Office by the end of the first semester. The refund will be credited to the student's account at the beginning of the second semester. No other refunds are made for students who elect not to do an on-campus January Program.

Future Tuition and Fees The College projects that Colby costs will likely increase 1½ percent to 3 percent per year above inflation in order to: maintain the real growth in salaries comparable to professionals outside of higher education; to continue a financial aid grant program for about one third of all of our students; to maintain and update our physical plant and our sophisticated equipment; and to retain flexibility for currently unforeseen but essential investments that we will need to make to keep Colby in the forefront of innovation and excellence in national liberal arts colleges.

General Information The College Business Office is located on the first floor of the Garrison-Foster Building. Staff members are available on weekdays between 8:30 and 4:30 to answer questions about student accounts and College financial policies. Questions concerning student and parent loan applications, financial aid, and other financing options should be directed to the Office of Financial Aid.
Financial Aid

Colby offers financial aid to admitted students who demonstrate eligibility. In order to ensure equal access and opportunity for students from all economic backgrounds, Colby awards approximately $10.5 million annually in grants, loans, and campus employment to approximately 1,100 full-time students, or 65 percent of the enrollment.

The average aid package awarded to 709 students in 1994-95 was $14,770. In addition to Colby's own programs, these awards include the full range of federal and state financial aid programs, including Federal Pell Grants, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG), Federal Perkins Loans, Federal College Work-Study, and Federal Direct Ford/Stafford Loans.

Colby requires all aid applicants to submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to the federal processor before February 1. On the basis of the FAFSA, parents' and students' tax returns, and Colby supplemental information forms, the College determines eligibility within the context of Colby policy and federal regulations. Students who do not apply for financial aid prior to admission will not be considered for Colby grant assistance until their junior year, unless their family financial circumstances change unexpectedly.

Early decision applicants for financial aid must file the early decision financial aid application before November 15 for Round 1 Early Decision candidates and before January 1 for Round 2 Early Decision candidates.

To provide flexibility, Colby also accepts two outside payment plans and a number of parent loan programs. Students who seek more detailed information may write for the pamphlets "Financial Aid and Financing Options at Colby College" and "Financing a Colby Education" or contact the director of financial aid.

Aid is also available for programs of study abroad and domestic programs of study away that are approved by the Office of Off-Campus Study. The only domestic programs for which federal or Colby aid may be used are: Colby in Washington, the Washington Semester at American University, Woods Hole Sea Semester (currently under review), Williams College/Mystic Seaport Semester, and Colby's official Claremont and Howard exchange programs.

Aid for programs of study off campus is based on the actual cost of the program up to a maximum of Colby's cost. Student loans may enable financial aid recipients to replace term-time earnings, which are not available on foreign campuses.

Parents and students may review information in the Financial Aid and Career Services offices concerning scholarships offered by non-Colby organizations, including VA programs for dependents of veterans.

As stated more fully in the section on "Academic Procedures" in this catalogue, the Committee on Academic Standing reviews the records of all students at the end of each semester to determine if each is maintaining satisfactory academic progress. Decisions of this committee govern eligibility for financial aid in accordance with federal regulations and Colby policy.

Committee decisions of dismissal may be appealed. When students have been readmitted after academic dismissal, federal Title IV assistance (to a maximum of 10 semesters) will be awarded on a cumulative basis according to Colby's published funding priorities for financial aid. All standards are in accordance with federal laws with respect to satisfactory progress.

Persons wishing to file a complaint must show evidence that they have first attempted to resolve the issues by utilizing the Colby complaint procedure prior to contacting the State Program Review Entity. To be considered by the State Program Review Entity, a complaint must be filed no later than 60 days after the completion of the Colby complaint procedure.
General Regulations

All students are responsible for knowledge of the regulations in the Student Handbook and in the annual catalogue. The handbook covers academic, administrative, and social regulations.

The College reserves the right to dismiss any student whose presence its officers believe to be detrimental to its general welfare.

Although authority regarding discipline is the ultimate responsibility of the dean of students, most cases requiring discipline of students are turned over by the dean to a judicial board composed of students and faculty. The regulations of the board and the rights of students appearing before the board are described in the Student Handbook.

Behavior The administrative officers of the College have a responsibility for maintaining and encouraging an atmosphere on campus consonant with the College's function as a community of students and teachers.

The trustees have delegated to various sectors of the College, including the Student Association and the Commons, extensive autonomy in the conduct of student affairs. Students retain the right to organize their own personal lives and behavior within the standards agreed upon by the College community, so long as they do not interfere with the rights of others or with the educational process.

The right of free speech and the open exchange of ideas and views is essential, especially in a learning environment, and Colby vigorously upholds these freedoms. Similarly, the College is committed to maintaining a community in which persons of all ethnic groups, religious affiliations, and nationalities are welcome. The College will not tolerate racism, harassment, including sexual harassment, or intimidation of any kind; any student found guilty of such actions or of interfering with these goals will be subject to civil prosecution as well as suspension or expulsion from Colby.

The College prohibits social fraternities and sororities. Students who pledge, who invite pledging, who haze, or who perpetuate any fraternity or sorority will be suspended for at least one year and may be subject to additional penalties that could include expulsion.

The College has always encouraged responsibility in the use of alcoholic beverages. Moreover, federal and state laws concerning alcohol and drugs must be observed. State of Maine laws forbid possession of alcohol by underage persons. Any student found using or supplying illegal drugs, including steroids, or in possession of drug paraphernalia is subject to disciplinary action, including suspension or expulsion. The College wishes to help those who have substance abuse problems, and confidential counseling is available to those who will discuss treatment and participate in a treatment program.

Health Policy Health professionals in the Colby College Health Services treat students on the same basis as community professionals treat the patients under their care.

The College feels that the best interests of students are served by having full medical and psychological counseling and treatment from professionals thoroughly informed about personal and family history.

The College respects the rights of these professionals to use their judgment in meeting the health needs of students.

Upon recommendation of the medical director or director of counseling services, the College reserves the right to require a student to withdraw for medical or psychological reasons. If, in the opinion of either the counseling service or medical director, a student becomes unable to carry on normal student functions, or when his/her presence is or may become a hazard to that student or others, withdrawal will be required. Following any medical or psychological withdrawal, a recommendation from the student's physician or psychologist to the appropriate professional is required before the student is readmitted to the College.
The officers, faculty, and medical and counseling staff of the College reserve the right to refuse to divulge information regarding a student's psychological or psychiatric condition or matters of an intimate nature without the student's written authorization.

Housing and Student Living  Students are housed in four residential Commons, accommodating between 300 and 500 students each. Individual residence hall sizes range from 30 to 200 students per building. All class years are housed in each building.

Except for some area students who may live at home with the permission of the College, all first-year students are required to live in College housing as assigned by the Dean of Students Office. Resident students are required to subscribe to the on-campus board plan. The College has charge of the maintenance and security of its buildings.

As a residential college, Colby requires most students to live in campus residence halls. Special permission to live off the campus is given each year to a limited number of upperclass students, chosen in a spring lottery administered by the Dean of Students Office, with preference given to those who will be seniors.

Student Records  Colby complies with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, which establishes the right of students to inspect and review their education records and provides guidelines for the correction of inaccurate or misleading data. Complete guidelines used by the College for compliance with the act are printed in the Student Handbook and may be obtained at the Dean of Students Office.

The Colby Name  The Colby name and various logotypes are federally registered service marks, and with the exception of the several regular student publications approved by the College and the Student Association, the College exercises editorial control in the matter of content, taste, and style of its own publications, advertisements, and other products. This protection, including the right to delete or remove, extends to all other materials, commercial goods, posters, and other advertising produced by others that imply College endorsements.

The Colby Plan

In 1989, the faculty adopted a series of precepts, endorsing basic educational principles already well established at Colby, as the latest step in ongoing curriculum reform at the College. These precepts reflect the College's sense of the principal elements of a liberal education and serve as a guide for making reflective course choices and for measuring educational growth. In keeping with a commitment to lifelong learning, it is expected that they also will provide a broad framework for education beyond college.

The precepts, which the College believes are at the heart of a liberal arts education, are:

• to develop one's capability for critical thinking, to learn to articulate ideas both orally and in writing, to develop a capacity for independent work, and to exercise the imagination through direct, disciplined involvement in the creative process;

• to become knowledgeable about American culture and the current and historical interrelationships among peoples and nations;

• to become acquainted with other cultures by learning a foreign language and by living and studying in another country or by closely examining a culture other than one's own;

• to learn how people different from oneself have contributed to the richness and diversity of society, how prejudice limits such personal and cultural enrichment, and how each individual can confront intolerance;

• to understand and reflect searchingly upon one's own values and the values of others;

• to become familiar with the art and literature of a wide range of cultures and historical periods;

• to explore in some detail one or more scientific disciplines, including experimental methods, and to examine the interconnections between developments in science and technology and the quality of human life;

• to study the ways in which natural and social phenomena can be portrayed in quantitative terms and to understand the effects and limits of the use of quantitative data in forming policies and making decisions;

• to study one discipline in depth, to gain an understanding of that discipline's methodologies and modes of thought, areas of application, and relationship to other areas of knowledge;

• to explore the relationships between academic work and one's responsibility to contribute to the world beyond the campus.

Students are urged to embark on a course of lifelong learning by pursuing these objectives in their course work and through educational and cultural events, campus organizations, and service to others, both on campus and in the broader community.
Academic Requirements

Graduation Requirements  To qualify for the degree of bachelor of arts, a candidate must meet specific requirements in residence, quantity, quality, distribution, major, and January Program. Only those seniors who have met all graduation requirements are eligible to participate in the commencement exercises. Students who, because of extreme extenuating circumstances, find themselves unable to graduate with their class, may appeal to the Administrative Committee of the College to allow them to march with their class and receive an empty diploma cover.

The following statements define the graduation requirements.

Residence Requirement  Candidates for the degree must earn in residence at least 60 credit hours. They must be resident students at Colby for at least four semesters, including the senior year. A resident student is defined as a full-time student taking at least 12 credit hours and paying tuition charges at the semester rate.

Credits earned at another institution while a student is registered concurrently at Colby may not be applied toward graduation requirements.

Quantity Requirement (Credits)  A minimum of 120 credit hours earned in at least eight semesters of full-time college-level study. Among the 120 credit hours, up to 15 may be earned in courses taken on a satisfactory/unsatisfactory basis, and up to 15 may be applied from field experience credits.

Quality Requirement  At least a 2.00 cumulative grade point average. For each credit hour, a mark of:

- A earns four points.
- B earns three points.
- C earns two points.
- D earns one point.

Each plus mark earned is: .3 quality point per credit hour added.
Each minus mark is: .3 quality point per credit hour deducted.

English Composition: English 115.

Foreign Language: This requirement may be met in one of four ways:
(1) By attaining before entrance a score of 60 in a College Board foreign language SAT-II test or in the Colby language placement test taken during orientation, or a score of 4 or 5 in Advanced Placement language or literature. A placement examination in Chinese or Japanese may be arranged through the Department of East Asian Studies.
(2) By successfully completing Colby's intensive language program in Cuernavaca, Mexico, or Dijon, France. Open to first-year students, these programs are offered in the fall semester.
(3) By successfully completing a sequence of modern or classical language courses terminating with a course numbered above 126 in a modern language or Greek 131 or Latin 131. Students will be placed in the sequence according to ability.
(4) By completing a previously approved intermediate-level language course at an approved college or university (see "Transferred Credits").

Students who have studied a foreign language not taught at Colby may fulfill the requirement by presenting evidence of having completed at an accredited institution the intermediate level of that language.

For students whose native language is not English, knowledge of that language will be recognized as fulfilling the requirement. For a language taught at Colby, confirmation from the chair of the appropriate department must be filed with the Office of the Registrar. For languages not taught at Colby, confirmation must be attained from International Student Services in the Dean of Students Office. Testing may be required.

Areas: Students are required to take one three- or four-credit-hour course in each of Areas I, II, III, IV, and VI, and two courses in Area V. Normally, students will be expected to complete these requirements during their first three years. Course descriptions in the catalogue include a key to the appropriate area(s) met by specific courses.

Area I ARTS: Courses in the history, theory, and/or practice of the creative arts.

Area II HISTORICAL STUDIES: Courses that investigate human experience by focusing on the development of cultures and societies as they evolve through time.

Area III LITERATURE: Courses that focus on literary works of the imagination, and/or written texts in which ideas and creative or esthetic considerations play a crucial role.

Area IV QUANTITATIVE REASONING: Courses that focus on quantitative or analytic reasoning about formally defined abstract structures.

Area V NATURAL SCIENCES: Courses that focus on the understanding of natural phenomena through observation, systematic study, and/or theoretical analysis. At least one course taken to satisfy Area V must contain a substantial laboratory component.

Area VI SOCIAL SCIENCES: Courses that focus on theoretically and methodologically directed inquiry into various aspects of human behavior and interaction.

Diversity: Students are required to take one course centrally concerned with how diversities among peoples have contributed to the richness of human experience. Courses that may be taken to fulfill the requirement are those that (a) focus on history, perspectives, or culture of non-Western peoples or a culture whose origins lie outside of the European traditions; (b) focus on issues and/or theories of ethnicity, gender, or class as these may be found anywhere in the world; or (c) examine the nature, history, and workings of prejudice as experienced by any group. Courses meeting this requirement are identified in catalogue descriptions.

Wellness: The former requirement in physical education has been revised. The objective of the new Wellness Program is to assist in and encourage the development of self-responsibility for one's lifestyle. The program will emphasize mental, emotional, social, and spiritual fitness as well. The required four credits can be earned in wellness seminars, fitness classes, varsity athletics, activities classes, and club sports. More specific information concerning the wellness requirement is provided in the section “Physical Education.”

Major Requirement  Each student must satisfy requirements of a major. Near the end of the first year, students are asked to make a declaration of intent regarding a major, either by electing a specific major or by filing an “Undeclared” statement. A major may be chosen in a single subject, in one of a number of designated combinations, or in an individually designed independent major. Students are encouraged to re-examine their choices of major during the sophomore year and are required to elect a major prior to electing courses for their junior year. The respective academic departments and programs specify the courses constituting a major; requirements are detailed in the section “Courses of Study.”

With the consent of the departments or programs concerned, a student may change majors. Forms for officially effecting such change can be obtained from the Registrar’s Office. A student may change majors at the end of the junior year if the equivalent of at least 12 credit hours, with a 2.00 average, has been earned in the new major. If, in the senior year, the average in courses completed toward the major falls below 2.00, the major requirement is not fulfilled, and the degree cannot be awarded.

Any student whose major average falls below 2.00 has lost the right to continue with that major. A student who has lost the major may, with the written consent of the department or program concerned, be accepted or retained for one semester as a probationary major. Juniors and seniors may not continue at the College without good standing in a major. Each department or program designates the courses to be calculated toward retaining the major.
Majors Offered Students may elect majors in the following disciplines:

- Administrative Science
- African-American/American Studies
- American Studies
- Anthropology
- Art
- Biology
- Chemistry
- Chemistry: Biochemistry
- Classical Civilization
- Classical Civilization-English
- Classics
- Classics-English
- Computer Science
- East Asian Studies
- Economics
- Economics-Mathematics
- English
- Environmental Policy
- French Literature
- French Studies
- Geology

Options Specific options are available within above majors as follows:

- Art: Art History
- Art: Studio Art
- Biology: Cell and Molecular Biology/Biochemistry
- Biology: Environmental Science
- Chemistry: A.C.S.
- Chemistry: Cell and Molecular Biology/Biochemistry
- Chemistry: Environmental Science
- Economics: Financial Markets
- Geology: Earth Science
- Geology: Environmental Science

Minors In addition to a major, students may also elect a minor. A minor normally consists of five to seven courses and involves a coherent progression of courses including both introductory exposure to a field of knowledge and advanced work. A minor must include at least four courses taken in addition to courses taken to satisfy requirements for any major or other minor. Students must maintain a 2.00 average in the minor. Current minors are:

- Administrative Science
- African-American Studies
- Anthropology
- Art
- Chemistry
- Chinese
- Classical Civilization
- Classics
- Computer Science
- Creative Writing
- East Asian Studies
- Economics
- Education
- Education: Professional Certification
- Environmental Studies
- Geology
- German
- Human Development
- Japanese
- Mathematics
- Music
- Performing Arts
- Philosophy
- Physics
- Psychology
- Religious Studies
- Russian Language and Literature
- Science and Technology Studies
- Sociology
- Women’s Studies
Major/Minor Limits  A student may declare up to two majors and one minor or one major and two minors. All declarations must be properly approved and filed with the Registrar's Office. Requirements for majors, minors, and options are outlined in the section "Courses of Study."

Independent Majors  A student may design an independent major by a detailed written proposal, prepared with the support of an adviser who agrees to assume responsibility for the program throughout its course. Normally there will be at least one other adviser who will help to shape and direct the program. The program must include integrated course work representing from one quarter to one third of the total credit hours required for graduation and an independent study in the senior year. Implementation requires the written approval of the independent major board, a subcommittee of the Independent Study Committee. An annual report is required from each independent major and adviser and will include any minor changes in the program; substantial changes, or a change of adviser, must be referred to the board. Inquiries about independent majors should be directed to the chair, Associate Professor Fernando Gouveia.

January Program Requirement  The January Program, introduced in 1961-62, grew from a desire to extend to students a greater measure of academic responsibility. January is a period during which topics may be pursued single-mindedly, free from the competing demands of an orthodox curriculum. Selected courses, designated with "j," are offered during January; a student may elect one course in lieu of independent study. January courses are offered for two or three credit hours. No more than three credit hours may be earned in any January.

To be eligible for graduation, each student must complete three January Programs if in residence for seven or more semesters, or two if in residence for six or fewer semesters. First-year students are required to take January courses offered by the College and are given preference in 100-level programs. Upperclass students have the option of courses, independent study, or field experience.

Because the January Program assures most students considerable flexibility in the use of their time, it permits them to participate more fully in extracurricular activities in athletics, drama, music, and other fields. While students are encouraged to attend the lectures, seminars, concerts, and art exhibitions scheduled by the College, they are expected to spend 30 to 40 hours a week on their January Program topics.

January Program options are:

1. Courses Offered for Credit. Some are created specifically for January; others, originally designed to be offered during semesters, may be modified for January. Such courses are graded in the same manner as semester courses, except that nongraded January courses will be marked credit or fail.

2. Independent Study. This involves an academic project under the direct supervision of a Colby faculty member. Projects ordinarily involve the preparation of an extensive paper or other suitable indication of the student's independent research or artistic efforts. Two options exist for selecting January independent study: (a) for course credit that can be applied toward graduation requirements, to be graded as in (1) above; and (b) for January Program credit only, to be graded honors, pass, or fail.

3. Field Experience and/or Internships. These projects, open to upperclass students, are usually carried out away from the campus. Though students doing such projects do not work under the direct supervision of a faculty member, their programs require a faculty sponsor. Credits earned through field experience or internship are nongraded and may be applied toward the graduation requirements. Field experience and internships may be elected for January Program credit only, to be graded honors, pass, or fail.

4. Noncredit Courses. These courses fulfill the January Program requirement, but students do not earn course credit that can be applied toward the credit hours required for graduation. These courses may be offered by experts in fields not included in the regular curriculum and will be graded honors, pass, or fail.

Other than the grades indicated above, marks of Abs (absent from final examination) or Inc (work otherwise incomplete) may be given only in cases in which the student has made an acceptable arrangement with the instructor. Grades of Abs and Inc must be made up within limits set by the instructor and not later than the second day following spring recess.

A full description of January courses is issued in October, and students elect for January at that time. Changes in preregistration may be filed subsequently; however, students failing to register by the third day of the January Program will be considered to have failed the program for that year, with the failure to be noted on official transcripts. A student choosing not to do a January Program in any year must signify this decision on the registration form. Except under unusual circumstances, no more than one January Program may be taken each year. January Program options in field experience and internships must also be approved in advance by the field experience coordinator in the Office of Off-Campus Studies. Appropriate deadlines for the satisfactory/unsatisfactory option in January and for requesting approval for field experience or internship credit are established each year.

Requirement for Returning Students A student returning to college after an absence must meet any new requirements for graduation if fewer than 61 Colby credit hours had been earned prior to the absence. If more than 60 credits had been earned, the student may elect to meet either the new requirements or those in effect at the time of initial enrollment.

Transferred Credits Courses taken at other institutions, in which grades of C or higher have been earned, may be credited toward the Colby degree under the conditions and circumstances listed below and those specified in the sections on “Residence Requirement” and “Quantity Requirement” in this catalogue.
(1) When students are admitted by transfer, their records are tentatively evaluated by the registrar to determine the transferable equivalent in Colby courses. These courses are credited subject to confirmation through satisfactory progress at Colby.
(2) College-level courses taken on college campuses by students prior to matriculation as first-year students are evaluated on the same basis as courses presented by new transfer students.
(3) Credits earned through the Advanced Placement Program of The College Board may be applied toward the Colby degree (refer to “Advanced Standing” in the section titled “Admission” in this catalogue).
(4) Students seeking to study abroad or participate in any of Colby’s exchange programs must file application forms with the Office of Off-Campus Study and gain approval in advance. Note specific deadlines listed under “Other Junior-Year Abroad Programs” in this catalogue.
(5) Regularly graded credits earned on the home campus of a regionally accredited college or university may be transferred toward a Colby degree by matriculated students, including students dismissed for academic reasons by the Committee on Standing, if approved in advance by the appropriate College authorities. Forms on which to seek approval can be obtained from the Office of the Registrar.
(6) All credits presented for transfer toward a Colby degree must be supported by official transcripts issued by the college or university where the credits were earned.
(7) No student may receive transfer credit for more than 14 credit hours taken in summer school for the purpose of making up deficiencies incurred at Colby.

Repeated Courses Students with a need to earn a higher grade may repeat a course previously passed; both the first and subsequent enrollments and grades will be permanent entries on the academic record and transcript, and both grades will be used in computing the grade point average. No additional credit will be granted for the repeated course. Exceptions: Some courses build skills or change content in ways that make them repeatable regardless of grades given. Catalogue descriptions for such courses include the statement “May be repeated for additional credit.” More specific information about repeatable courses may be obtained from the chair of the department concerned.
Exemption by Examination When appropriate, distribution requirements, as well as certain requirements for the major, may be absolved by examination without course enrollment, at the discretion of the department concerned. Regularly enrolled underclass students may earn credit by examination in 100- or 200-level courses to a maximum of 12 hours. Departmental examinations or external examinations approved by the department may be used, with credit given for the equivalent of at least C- level work. The cost of each examination is borne by the student. The College will exempt students from the language requirement for attaining before entrance a score of 60 in a College Board foreign language achievement test or for attaining a score of 60 in Colby’s placement test during first-year orientation; in either case, no academic credit will be granted.

Student’s Responsibility Each student must be aware constantly of progress in meeting requirements for graduation. If there is any question about an individual record, the Registrar’s Office should be consulted. Each student must also be aware of deadlines set within each academic year that pertain to academic actions; these are distributed at each registration as “Critical Dates and Deadlines.”

Academic Honesty Plagiarism, cheating, and other forms of academic dishonesty are serious offenses. For the first offense, the instructor may dismiss the offender from the course with a mark of F (which is a permanent entry on the student’s academic record) and will report the case to the department chair and the dean of students, who may impose other or additional penalties including suspension or expulsion. This report becomes part of the student’s confidential file and is destroyed upon graduation. A second offense automatically leads to suspension or expulsion. Students may not withdraw passing from a course in which they have been found guilty of academic dishonesty. A student is entitled to appeal charges of academic dishonesty to the Appeals Board. The decision of the board shall be final and binding unless overruled by the president of the College, who has final authority and responsibility.

Without the explicit, written approval of the instructors involved, registration for two or more courses scheduled to meet concurrently is a form of academic dishonesty.

Attendance Although students are expected to attend classes regularly, each student is permitted two absences from each course in any given semester. Work missed by such absence is the student’s responsibility. If the instructor deems it necessary, persistent student absence from class will be reported to the dean of students, and dismissal from the course with a mark of WF may result.
Academic Honors

Phi Beta Kappa  In American colleges, it is generally considered that the highest honor an undergraduate can receive is election to Phi Beta Kappa. This society, founded in 1776, restricts its chapters to leading colleges and universities and maintains high scholastic standards. The Beta Chapter of Maine was organized at Colby in 1895. Phi Beta Kappa certificates may be awarded to members of the three lower classes for distinction in scholarship.

Latin Honors  The degree of bachelor of arts with honors is awarded in three grades: summa cum laude to those who attain a 3.75 grade point average; magna cum laude to those with a 3.50 grade point average; cum laude to those with a 3.25 grade point average.

Honors in [Major]  Honors programs are offered in American studies, anthropology, chemistry, computer science, East Asian studies, economics, English, French, government, history, international studies, Latin American studies, mathematics, philosophy, physics, psychology, religious studies, sociology, and Spanish. Successful completion of an honors program, as determined by the department, will enable a student to graduate "With Honors in [major]."

Distinction in the Major  This category of honors may be awarded to a student on the specific recommendation of the department. To be considered for the award, the student must have an average of 3.25 in the major; some departments stipulate a higher average in the major.

Senior Scholars  An honors program that permits a limited number of seniors to devote six credit hours per semester to a project approved by the Senior Scholars Committee and pursued under the guidance of a faculty member. A final report is judged by three faculty readers and, upon successful completion, the senior scholar's report is deposited in the College library. Application must be made during the student's junior year. Inquiries should be directed to the chair, Associate Professor Fernando Gouvea.

Named Scholarships  Academic excellence is recognized at a convocation each fall for the Julius Seelye Bixler and Charles A. Dana scholars. Bixler Scholars are the top-ranking students as determined by the cumulative academic record at the end of the preceding year. Dana Scholars are selected on the basis of strong academic performance and potential leadership.

The Dean's List  Recognition by the Dean's List requires an average of all marks in the previous semester of at least 3.20 for upperclassmen (3.00 for first-year students) in the minimum of 12 credits, exclusive of satisfactory/unsatisfactory credits. A student with any mark of incomplete (except in the case of illness or critical emergency) is not eligible.

Other Honors  Academic departments may recognize students' achievements, according to departmental guidelines, with certificates or other awards.

The names of students who graduate with Latin honors, honors or distinction in major, Senior Scholar status, election to Phi Beta Kappa, or as Bixler or Dana scholars are printed in the annual commencement program.
Academic Programs

Divisions, Departments, and Programs  Colby College academic departments and programs are classified in the following divisions:

Division of Humanities, Professor Susan Kenney, chair, includes the departments of Art, Classics, East Asian Studies, English, French, German and Russian, Music, Philosophy, Religious Studies, Spanish.

Division of Social Sciences, Professor Randy Nelson, chair, includes the departments of Administrative Science, Economics, Government, History, Psychology, Sociology and Anthropology.

Division of Natural Sciences, Associate Professor Jay Labov, chair, includes the departments of Biology, Chemistry, Geology, Mathematics and Computer Sciences, Physics and Astronomy.

Division of Interdisciplinary Studies, Associate Professor Patrice Franko, chair, includes the departments of Education and Human Development, Performing Arts, and Physical Education and the programs of African-American Studies, American Studies, Creative Writing, Environmental Studies, International Studies, Latin American Studies, Science and Technology Studies, Women's Studies.

Foreign-Language Semesters Abroad  Colby offers an opportunity for students to satisfy the College's language requirement (and earn a semester's credit) by living abroad and studying the language intensively. One-semester programs, open to entering first-year students, are:

Colby in Cuernavaca: This program provides the opportunity for students to learn Spanish at the Center for Bilingual Multicultural Studies in Cuernavaca, Mexico. Students reside with families, attend intensive language courses, and have a full schedule of excursions to enrich their knowledge of Mexican life and culture. The program is under the supervision of a resident Colby professor and is offered in the fall semester. Students must have completed Spanish 125 or at least two years of high-school Spanish.

Colby in Dijon: This program offers students the opportunity to study French language and culture in Dijon, France, in the International Center for French Studies, a branch of the Universite de Bourgogne. Cultural activities and excursions are included. Students live with French families. To qualify, students normally should have completed one full year of French at Colby or three years of high-school French with emphasis on oral skills. The program is offered in the fall semester.

Additional information on these foreign-language semesters may be obtained from the Admissions Office (for entering first-year students) or the Office of Off-Campus Study. Grades for these programs appear on students' transcripts as Colby credits.

Colby Junior-Year-Abroad Programs  While courses needed for most liberal arts majors are offered at the College, many students are attracted by the opportunity to study abroad for a comparative examination of their major field or a different perspective on their studies. Such programs are generally undertaken during part or all of the junior year. Colby offers junior-year-abroad programs in Spain, Ireland, and England.

Colby in London: Through the Colby in London program, students have a choice of studying at University College London (for either semester or for a full academic year) or the London School of Economics (for a full academic year only). Students live in university residences. The College maintains a London Center near University College with a resident director and administrative staff. Students who opt to study in London during the fall semester take a specially arranged orientation course for three weeks prior to the start of regular university courses. Group activities, including excursions and theater tickets, are part of the program.

Colby in Salamanca: This program offers complete integration into the Universidad de Salamanca, where students can take courses in any division alongside Spanish students. Students with any major may be accepted, but they must have taken at least Spanish 231 and one reading course. Participants choose to live with Spanish families or in apartments with Spanish students and agree to speak only Spanish for the duration of the program.

Colby in Cork: This is a program for students with any major, in the natural sciences, social sciences, and humanities. Students live in flats and take regular university courses at University College Cork, where a Colby professor, the resident director of the program, teaches in his or her discipline. There are frequent group activities and excursions. Students may apply for either semester or the entire academic year.

In all three of these junior-year-abroad programs, grades are assigned by the resident director in consultation with the faculty of each university and in accordance with the Colby grading system. For Colby in Salamanca, only grades earned in “core” courses count toward students’ grade point averages. For Colby in Cork and Colby in London, grades for all courses count toward students’ grade point averages. Further information may be obtained from the Office of Off-Campus Study.

Other Colby Abroad Programs
Responding to the increasing student interest in diversity of educational programs, the College offers, often as a member of a special consortium, several programs abroad.

Colby in London Theater Program: This program, offered in the spring semester 1996, provides students an opportunity to study professional theater with a performing arts core of required courses and some other options. The program includes attendance at a variety of theatrical productions and is designed to accommodate both beginning and more advanced students. A Colby professor serves as resident director. Information is available from the Performing Arts Program and the Office of Off-Campus Study.

I.S.L.E. Sri Lanka Program: Colby is a member of the Intercollegiate Sri Lanka Education consortium. Students may study in Sri Lanka during the fall semester on a program that combines study of Sinhala as well as courses in the philosophy and culture of the country. Students live with families, and the program is supervised by a resident director from one of the consortium colleges. More information is available from the Off-Campus Study Office.

Colby in St. Petersburg (Russia): This program, offered either semester, is available to students who have had at least two years of college Russian. It is small (maximum five students) and includes a set program of instruction in Russian language (grammar, phonetics, conversation, and composition), literature, and history (readings in Russian and English). Teaching is done by qualified instructors and takes place at the St. Petersburg Classical Gymnasium, where United States students teach two classes in English to Russian high-school students. Students live with Russian families, and there is a full cultural program, including excursions. Other opportunities for study in Russia include participation in the American Collegiate Consortium for East-West Educational Exchange as well as approved non-Colby programs. Further information may be obtained from the Department of German and Russian or from the Office of Off-Campus Study.

Environmental Studies in Costa Rica: Colby is a member of a consortium sponsoring the Center for Sustainable Development Studies. Sustainable development is studied in conjunction with conservation biology of tropical ecosystems, political and social systems of Costa Rica, and directed research. Work is done in a variety of locations, including cloud forests, rain forests, agricultural areas, small villages, and urban areas. Information and applications may be obtained through the Department of Biology.

Associated Kyoto Program: This is a junior-year-abroad program associated with Doshisha University in the ancient capital of Kyoto, Japan. Colby is one of 12 liberal arts colleges that jointly oversee the program. Study of the Japanese language is required. Students may study Japanese culture, history, literature, economics, politics, and religion. Students live with a Japanese family for the first semester and are encouraged to participate in university cultural and/or athletic activities. All credits are transferable to Colby. Information is available from the Office of Off-Campus Study and the Department of East Asian Studies.

Chinese Language Studies Away: Students with a minimum of one year of college-level Chinese may participate in the year-long Colby exchange with Peoples’ University in Beijing.
In addition to this program, East Asian studies majors and nonmajors alike avail themselves of opportunities to study on Taiwan, at other schools in China and Southeast Asia, and at intensive summer programs stateside. More information about all of these programs is available from the chair of the East Asian Studies Department.

Other Junior-Year-Abroad Programs For programs not sponsored by Colby, the College requires that students obtain approval for their course of study before they leave; without such prior approval, credit will not be transferred back to Colby. Approval forms and a handbook of approved programs are available from the Office of Off-Campus Study. For study abroad for the academic year 1996-97, the deadline is March 15, 1996. Students on financial aid continue to receive that aid if they attend a Colby-approved program. Particular areas of study include:

Study in English-Speaking Countries: In addition to Colby’s programs in London and Cork, the College has a relationship with Manchester College, Oxford, in which three highly qualified students may study for a year and live in the Oxford environment. Students also may study at the universities of Edinburgh, Glasgow, and Warwick in the United Kingdom, at a variety of universities in Australia and New Zealand, and at a special program in South Africa.

Study in Non-English-Speaking Countries: Colby maintains close relations with Hamilton College’s and Wesleyan University’s programs in Paris, which offer students with an advanced level of French the opportunity to study (for an academic year or semester) alongside French students in courses in the humanities or social sciences. Similar programs are available in Chile and Ecuador. With the exception of language-acquisition programs, students who wish to study in a country whose language is taught at Colby must have taken the equivalent of at least four semesters of the language before departure (some programs require more advanced preparation). In other countries, students are required to take courses in the host-country language for the duration of their program. In addition to study in Europe, opportunities are available in Latin America, Africa, Southeast Asia, and the Middle East.

Students are encouraged to consult their major and minor advisers, as well as the off-campus faculty liaison in their major or minor department, before making plans for study abroad. Information and counseling are available from the Office of Off-Campus Study.

Foreign Exchange Colby has an exchange program with the École Normale Supérieure in Fontenay/St. Cloud, France. Each year, a student of this school comes to Colby as the French assistant, and Colby sends a student (normally a recently graduated French major) to France, where he or she may take courses or serve as an English-language assistant in a French high school.

An exchange agreement with the University of St. Petersburg (Russia) allows a Russian student to spend a year or semester at Colby and provides for Colby students to study at the University of St. Petersburg.

Agreements with the Universidad de Salamanca and University College Cork, in conjunction with Colby’s junior-year-abroad programs at these universities, allow Spanish and Irish students to spend a year at Colby.

Domestic Exchange Colby participates in student exchange programs with Howard University in Washington, D.C., and Pitzer, Pomona, Scripps, and Claremont McKenna colleges in California. Ordinarily, exchanges are arranged for a single semester of the junior year. Each student pays tuition, board, and room charges at the home institution; travel is at the student’s expense. Students may obtain information about exchange programs from the Office of Off-Campus Study.

A course exchange program is in effect with Bates, Bowdoin, and Thomas colleges. Students may obtain information from the registrar.

Other Domestic Programs Several programs available to Colby students are sponsored by the College or by other United States institutions. The appropriate approval forms must be filed prior to enrollment in off-campus programs.
Colby in Washington: This semester program is designed to provide an academically rigorous and pedagogically diversified intellectual and cultural experience for Colby students. It is administered in cooperation with The Washington Center, with direct oversight by a Colby faculty member. Students with a variety of majors take advantage of the program, which is open to a maximum of 15 students from the junior and sophomore classes. Information is available from the Government Department.

Williams College-Mystic Seaport Program in American Maritime Studies: Colby is one of several institutions participating in this one-semester program offering courses in American maritime history and literature, marine policy, oceanography, and marine ecology. Twelve days are spent at sea on a sailing vessel. In addition to formal course work, students develop maritime skills (e.g., celestial navigation, boat building, small-boat handling) under professional instruction. The program is accredited through Williams College. Information is available from the Office of Off-Campus Study.

Sea Semester: A limited number of students earn transferable credit through participation in this program of academic instruction and practical experience focusing on the oceanic environment. The program consists of both shore and sea components and is sponsored by the Sea Education Association (Woods Hole, Massachusetts) in cooperation with Boston University. Information is available through the Office of Off-Campus Study.

Washington Semester Programs: An opportunity is available for a limited number of Colby sophomores and juniors to participate in the various Washington Semester programs organized by the American University in Washington, D.C. Students can obtain firsthand knowledge of the national government as it deals with the crucial problems of foreign policy, economic policy, criminal justice, environmental issues, and urban affairs. Information is available through the Office of Off-Campus Study.

Engineering Programs: Colby College has coordinated programs with Dartmouth College, the University of Rochester, and Case Western Reserve University as an alternative to graduate work in engineering. Both a bachelor of arts and a bachelor of science in engineering can be earned upon successful completion of three years at Colby and two years in engineering at one of the above institutions. Students graduating in this program are exempt from Colby's senior year in residence requirement, but all other graduation requirements must be met. Information is available through the Department of Physics.

Field Experience/Internships: Qualified students may earn academic credit by undertaking off-campus field experiences or internships as participants in approved programs or by obtaining faculty sponsorship of an individual project or course of study. Refer to the section “Field Experience” under “Courses of Study.” Information on a wide variety of field experience opportunities as well as application forms for obtaining credit for field experience and internships are available in the Office of Off-Campus Study. Students planning to participate in field experience must be aware of deadlines for filing applications.

ROTC: Colby students may participate in Reserve Officer Training programs offered at other Maine sites. Information about these programs is available in the Dean of Students Office.

Professional Preparation Many Colby graduates go on to study for advanced degrees in specialized areas of concentration. Specific committees of the College are available for professional preparation advice in the following areas:

Law and Government Service: The prelaw adviser counsels students preparing for careers in these areas. Prelaw students may major in any field, but they will profit from early consultation with the prelaw adviser on courses that provide the strongest possible liberal arts background for the study of law.

Medicine and Dentistry: Medical schools do not require a particular major but do require high academic standing and the inclusion of biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics, and English in the student’s college program. The Health Professions Preparation Committee provides formal advising and other support to assist students throughout their years at Colby.
Theology: Members of the Department of Religious Studies, in cooperation with the College chaplains, serve as advisers to students who plan to enter seminaries.

Writers' Center The Colby Writers' Center is available as a resource for all Colby students, faculty, and staff. The center is staffed by trained peer tutors and operates with the philosophy that writing is not a discrete skill but an important part of thinking and learning. The Writers' Center can help writers at all levels of development at any point during their writing process, from fuzzy notion to final draft. The tutors are trained to work with various forms of writing—lab reports, case studies, application essays, and response writing, for example—as well as the standard academic essay, since writing occurs in courses across the curriculum at Colby. In addition to using the center from time to time on particular pieces of work, students can enter into an extended tutorial and meet regularly with any one of the tutors in order to work more intensively on their writing. The Writers' Center is not perceived as remedial but can help students with particular difficulties, including students for whom English is a second language and students with learning disabilities. The schedule includes both daytime and evening hours, and a Macintosh is available for students at the center, which is located in Miller Library, Room 9.
Academic Procedures

Student's Program  The student at Colby normally takes from 12 to 18 credit hours in each semester and one offering during the January term.

Each first-year student has a faculty adviser to assist in planning the academic program. A new faculty adviser is assigned when the student has selected a major. Approval of the faculty adviser(s) is required for all procedures affecting a student's academic program.

Prospective students frequently ask what subjects they will study—especially in the first year. It would be misleading to present any specific pattern of courses for either of the first two years. The programs of individual students may vary widely because there is considerable latitude within the requirements. To prepare for their lives in an increasingly complex society, students are encouraged to learn quantitative skills, to learn to write well, and to take courses that expose them to cultures other than their own.

To assure distribution among the divisions, first-year students must include English composition, a foreign language (unless exempted by examination), and courses to meet area requirements. Students are urged to complete all distribution requirements by the end of their sophomore year. Students are encouraged to elect subject areas that are new to them and are advised to avoid overconcentration in any department or division.

Students considering a scientific career or the study of medicine should begin electing scientific subjects at once. Many major departments in both the natural and social sciences recommend mathematics in the first year. The student and assigned adviser should discuss a prospective program, noting carefully the recommendations and requirements in areas of major study. The initial selection of a major is by no means final; students are encouraged to explore alternatives throughout their sophomore year.

Academic Standing  A student's class standing is determined by the number of credit hours passed and residence semesters completed.

First-year standing: fewer than 24 credit hours or less than two semesters.

Sophomore standing: 24 to 53 credit hours and two or three semesters.

Junior standing: 54 to 83 credit hours and four or five semesters.

Senior standing: 84 or more credit hours and six or seven semesters.

Class standing is not automatically changed to a higher level upon the posting of additional credits; students who believe themselves eligible for a change of class year should consult the registrar.

Registration  Registration each semester takes place on a date specified in the College calendar. Except in exceptional circumstances specified in advance in writing by the dean of students, a student will not be permitted to register later than the seventh class day of each semester.

It is important that students understand the distinction between payment of fees and registration. Prior to registration, each student must complete payment of fees as specified by the treasurer, who is not authorized to defer such payment.

New students must also provide the required health certificate prior to registration (see section in “Admission” in this catalogue).

Election of Courses  Each semester students elect programs of study for the following semester; these elections, with approved revisions, are confirmed during the registration period at the beginning of each semester. These elections and subsequent changes must have the adviser's approval and be filed with the registrar before credit will be granted for any course taken.

Deadlines for voluntary changes, which include adding or dropping a course, changing sections within a course, declaring or revoking the satisfactory/unsatisfactory option, augmenting or decreasing credit in courses offered for variable credit, and withdrawing from courses (applicable for upperclass students only) appear in “Critical Dates and Deadlines,” published annually by the registrar.
Full time standing during a semester requires a minimum of 12 credit hours.

No student may register for more than 18 credit hours in any semester unless one of the following stipulations is satisfied: (1) at least a 3.00 overall grade point average in two or more Colby semesters, (2) at least a 3.25 grade point average during the previous two semesters (cumulative), or (3) special permission from the faculty adviser(s) and the dean of students.

Ordinarily, a student can neither repeat a course for additional credit nor register for two courses scheduled to meet concurrently.

Marks A student may obtain marks from instructors, but the only official College record is that maintained in the Registrar's Office. Grade reports are issued to the student at the end of each term; the College does not normally furnish parents with reports. Grade reports may be withheld at the direction of the Business Office for students whose financial obligations to the College have not been met.

In regularly graded courses: Marks are ordinarily posted as A, B, C, D, and F, with + or - appended to grades A through D. A mark below D- means failure.

In nongraded courses: For semester courses, Cr indicates credit is earned; NC is recorded if credit is not earned. For January courses, Cr indicates credit for program; F is recorded if no credit is earned.

Abs signifies absent from final exam.

Inc signifies incomplete: a course not finished for some reason besides failure to take the final exam. A mark of Inc is valid only if appropriate arrangements have been made by the student with the instructor by the last class day of the semester.

Grades of Abs or Inc must be made up within limits set by the instructor but not later than January 15 for the first semester or July 1 for the second semester. After these dates, any remaining mark of Abs or Inc will be changed to F unless the student has applied for, and circumstances warrant, an extension by the dean of students. For the completion of work without penalty, extensions are considered for exceptional circumstances only.

Marks of W and WF indicate withdrawal from a course and represent the student's standing at the time of withdrawal. WF indicates that the student was failing or was dropped from a course by the instructor for unsatisfactory attendance. W indicates either passing or no basis for judgment. These marks are excluded from computation of all averages.

F indicates failure or abandonment of a course without formal withdrawal.

Academic Review The Committee on Academic Standing reviews all current student records at the end of each semester to determine that all enrolled students are making satisfactory progress toward the degree. Students who earn fewer than 12 credits or less than a 2.00 grade point average in any semester, exclusive of the January Program, are subject to being placed on probation or dismissed from the College by the committee. Only when there are compelling extenuating circumstances (e.g., illness, unusual personal problems) is it advisable for a student to carry fewer than 12 credits; such a reduced program must be approved by the dean of students.

A student who is on probation must earn 12 credits and a C (2.00) average in the subsequent semester. The January term will be considered as part of the full year's performance in evaluations made by the committee at the end of the second semester.

Students who have been dismissed may, after one year, apply to the committee for reinstatement; during the required interview the student must be prepared to demonstrate an improved commitment to scholarship. A second dismissal is final.

Any student on academic probation is required to consult with his/her adviser and with any extracurricular adviser, such as a coach, to discuss whether the student should continue participation in extracurricular activities. A student on academic probation for a second or subsequent semester will be declared ineligible to participate in any College-sponsored extracurricular activities unless, in consultation with the academic and extracurricular advisers and with the approval of the associate dean of students, the student develops a plan for allocating time to course work and extracurricular activities.
Upon their return to the College, the records of students on study programs elsewhere are subject to review and action by the Committee on Academic Standing.

Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory Students may elect a limited number of courses on a satisfactory/unsatisfactory basis; these cannot include distribution requirements. Most departments specify that major courses must be taken on a conventionally graded basis.

Forms for declaring satisfactory/unsatisfactory options can be obtained at the Registrar's Office. The form must be completed and returned by the end of the change of course (add/drop) period in the term in which the course is taken. A satisfactory/unsatisfactory election may be voluntarily revoked by a deadline established for each term. Letter grades submitted by instructors will be converted to $S$ (for grades $A$ through $C-$) or $U$ before being posted on permanent records; any grade below $C-$ is unsatisfactory and will be recorded as a $U$ on the grade record. The Registrar's Office cannot release more specific information on the quality of the $S$, even upon request of the student who earned it.

Auditing Courses Adults who are not matriculated Colby students may register to audit courses at the College. Application to audit must be made with the dean of admissions; if approval is granted, forms for registering to audit specific courses must be filed with the Registrar's Office. Permission to audit will be withheld if the class is already too large and if auditing applications for it are numerous.

An auditor is not permitted to submit papers or perform any other function for which course credit is usually given. For this reason, auditing is seldom permitted in courses where the method of instruction involves significant individual attention and criticism. Under no circumstances can academic credit be given an auditor, nor can an audited course later be converted into an accredited course merely by paying the regular course fee. The decision whether the course is to be audited or taken for credit must be made at entry.

A matriculated Colby student may arrange to audit courses with consent of the instructor and approval of the adviser. No credit is earned, and the audit is not recorded on the student's permanent record.

Hour Exams and Quizzes Hour exams will be scheduled with at least one week's notice. Short quizzes may be given without notice.

Semester Exams Six days are set aside at the close of each semester for two-hour final exams. The Registrar’s Office schedules the time and place of semester exams in all courses except those that are specifically exempted by the appropriate department chair.

An excused absence for a semester exam is granted if:

1. The instructor gives permission because of illness or grave emergency.
2. The registrar has been notified of a valid conflict on the appropriate form, e.g., three exams on one day, four in consecutive order, or two courses with the same exam number (the last must be resolved at the time of registration).

A student with three exams scheduled in one day or four exams in sequence may choose the exam to be postponed.

A postponed exam may be taken on the designated make-up day or at another time subsequent to the scheduled exam agreeable to both the student and the instructor. There is no make-up for failed exams.

The mark for the exam may constitute up to half of the total course mark.

Religious Holidays In order that no students at Colby suffer academic penalty because of the conscientious observance of a major religious holiday, it is important that faculty members follow a uniform policy regarding such observance.

It is reasonable to consider major religious holidays for the Colby student body as a whole to be the following: Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, the first day of Passover, Good Friday, and Easter. Quizzes or exams will not be scheduled and papers in courses will not be due on any of these holidays. In addition, no student will be required to participate in major College events such as athletic contests, major lectures, or concerts on these holidays.

Students whose conscientious religious observance requires their absence on days other than or in addition to those named above can make use of the following procedure prior to the holiday. If written notification is delivered to the course instructor at least one week before the holiday, the student’s absence on the holiday will be regarded as an authorized one, and the student will be excused from quizzes and exams for that day. Under these circumstances the student will be permitted to take the exam or a make-up exam without penalty. A similar option exists with respect to papers: if proper notification is delivered to the course instructor before the holiday, the student will be excused from submitting a paper due on that holiday.

Warnings Throughout the semester, at the discretion of the professor, warnings are sent to students. A major warning means that a student’s average is below passing; a minor warning means that a student’s average is barely passing. Warnings may also be sent for excessive absence or late or incomplete assignments. Attention is called to the statement on attendance in the “Academic Requirements” section of this catalogue.

Withdrawal, Leave of Absence Students who leave Colby while a semester is in progress are required to withdraw formally, as are students who leave at the end of a semester with no definite plans for return. Students who withdraw are not permitted to return without approval of the dean of students. Students who withdraw for medical reasons must have the permission of the College physician in order to apply for readmission. Eligibility for initial or continued financial assistance from the College will be subject to review and action by the Financial Aid Office.

Students taking a leave of absence must notify the College by the date that course preregistrations are due for the following term.

Students who leave to participate in College-approved student programs elsewhere, or who leave at the end of a semester for a specified period, may take a leave of absence and are not required to obtain special permission in order to return.

Withdrawals and leaves of absence must be officially effected by filing a form obtained from and signed by the dean of students. The proper exit procedure, which includes the surrendering of residence hall and post office keys, must be followed to be eligible for any refunds that may be due (see “Refunds” in “Student Fees”). A student who leaves without official notification is not eligible for refunds, which are calculated from the date the withdrawal is approved by the dean of students.

Transcripts Students and alumni may have official transcripts mailed to other institutions, prospective employers, or other designated recipients only by requesting them in writing; a transcript request form is available at the Registrar's Office. The fee for this service is $1 per transcript after the first. Only courses taken at Colby are listed. Transcripts will not be issued for anyone whose financial obligations to the College have not been met.
Courses of Study

Course Designations  Each course is identified by a title, subject, and number: e.g., English Composition is English 115 and would appear on the printed curriculum as EN115. The first digit indicates the class or classes eligible to take the course:

000: noncredit January programs; priority to first-year students unless otherwise noted
100: priority to first-year students
200: ordinarily open to sophomores and classes above
300: ordinarily open only to juniors and seniors
400: ordinarily restricted to seniors

Course designations include specific prerequisites when these are required by instructors. Priorities for admission to some courses are set by departments, and such information is included in the printed curriculum from which courses are elected.

Departments have the option to decide whether particular courses are offered in either one or both semesters and/or in January. Catalogue descriptions provide this information with bold-faced letters immediately following course numbers:

f: course is offered in fall semester
j: course is offered in January term s: course is offered in spring semester
[ ]: course is not offered in current year

Catalogue descriptions of courses that fulfill Area requirements include a bold-faced capital letter following the number of credit hours:

A: Arts
H: Historical Studies
L: Literature
N: Natural Science
Q: Quantitative Reasoning
S: Social Sciences
V: Variable; some interdisciplinary courses may be taught by more than one instructor, so the “area” may vary according to the department of the instructor.

Courses that fulfill the requirement in Diversity are designated by a bold-faced D.

Credit hours are per semester and are indicated in each course description as well as in the printed curriculum. Some courses, listed for variable credit, provide an opportunity for students to earn augmented credit by completing extra work as agreed upon with the instructor by a specified deadline and registered for appropriately.

With the exception of “topics” courses and seminars in which subject matter varies, courses may not be repeated for additional credit.

Courses listed in the catalogue as well as the curriculum are subject to withdrawal at the discretion of the College administration. Departments reserve the right to limit enrollment in any course and to establish priorities for courses that might be overenrolled.

The curriculum for each semester, available at the Registrar’s Office, provides information about the time and place of classes as well as their final examination group numbers.

“Critical Dates and Deadlines,” a schedule for each academic year, is issued by the registrar and includes deadlines for adding, dropping, and withdrawing from courses and for declaration and revocation of the satisfactory/unsatisfactory option or augmented credit option.
Administrative Science

Chair, professor Randy Nelson

Professors Nelson¹ and Leonard Reich; Assistant Professor Batya Friedman²; Visiting Professor George Miaoulis³, Visiting Assistant Professors William Lee⁴, Elizabeth Turesky⁵, and Barry Farber⁵

The programs in administrative science are devoted to the study of organizations in American society. In today's climate of intense competition and social activism it is important to approach organizational problems wisely, with ethical responsibility, historical perspective, and imagination. Students wishing to explore the history, philosophy, and practice of management in a variety of organizational settings may choose the administrative science major or minor. (Note: The major in administrative science will not be offered after the 1997-98 academic year; the major is thus unavailable to students matriculating after the 1994-95 academic year. The minor in administrative science will continue to be offered and is available to all students.)

Requirements for the Major in Administrative Science

Administrative Science 212, 221, 279, 311, 336, 371, 493; Economics 133, 134; Mathematics 231, or 381 and 382; History 132 or Economics 274. Also three courses chosen from Government 318, Economics 331, Sociology 332, or other courses in administrative science.

No administrative science course may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory. No other course used to satisfy major requirements may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory. The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses used to satisfy major requirements.

Requirements for the Minor in Administrative Science

Administrative Science 212, 221, 311; Economics 133, 134; and two courses chosen from Economics 331, Government 318, Mathematics 112 or 231, Sociology 332, or other courses in administrative science.

Successful completion of the minor requires a 2.0 average for all requirements above. None of the required courses may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

¹Joint appointment in administrative science and economics.
²Joint appointment in administrative science and mathematics.
³Part time, first semester only.
⁴Part time, second semester only.
⁵Part time.

212f Issues in Management  A broad perspective on the field of administrative science is provided through consideration of the ethical, financial, interpersonal, structural, economic, and legal issues that managers face. Emphasis is placed on quality and competitiveness. Based on readings, lectures, and case studies, the course curriculum will draw on the expertise of department faculty and several outside speakers. Three credit hours. S. MR. REICH

221fs Financial Accounting  The underlying theory and analytical aspects of the measurement, recording, and reporting of a firm's financial information to external users. Emphasis is on the conceptual and communication aspects of the financial accounting model in modern society—its relationship to law, economics, and social policy. Three credit hours. MR. FARBER

[231] Technology, Corporate Strategy, and Competition  An examination of the interactions between scientific progress, technological opportunities, competitive pressures, corporate strategy, and public policy toward science and technology. Consideration is given to social and organizational influences on corporate research, development, and innovation. Prerequisite: Economics 133. Three or four credit hours.

251s Industry, Technology, and Society in the 20th Century  An examination of the processes by which rapid technological developments took place in America, including the stimuli and constraints on inventors, engineers, entrepreneurs, and corporations; the hesitant and often ineffective attempts by government to control technology; and the impact that evolving technology and industry have had on social values and the environment. Also listed as Science and Technology Studies 251. Prerequisite: History 132. Three or four credit hours. Mr. Reich

279f Organizational and Group Dynamics  Introduction to research, theories, and their practical applications in understanding human behavior at work; the individual, the group, and the organization. The course integrates readings, lectures, case studies, and experiential learning methodology. Three credit hours. S. Ms. Turesky

311f Managerial Finance I  An introduction to financial markets, institutions, and instruments. The tools needed for discounted cash flow analysis, asset valuation, and capital budgeting are developed. The effects of risk on financial decision making are also considered. Three credit hours. Mr. Nelson

322s Managerial Finance II  An examination of the impact of diversification on risk and the relationship between risk and return. Considers issues related to long-term financing, the cost of capital, and capital structure. Risk management, including the use of options, is also discussed. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 311. Three credit hours. Mr. Nelson

333f Marketing in America  Development of the broad concept of marketing as a pervasive organizational function. Emphasis is on the processes by which organizations make product, service, and social marketing decisions, and on the societal consequences of those decisions. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 212. Three or four credit hours. S. Mr. Miaoulis

336s Business Ethics and Strategy  Relationships between the private sector and the changing American political economy. Issues include business/professional ethics; obligations of organizations to workers, stockholders, and communities; and the relationship of ethics to effective corporate strategies. The last issue is emphasized. Prerequisite: Economics 133, 134, Administrative Science 212. Three or four credit hours. Mr. Reich

354s Law in American Society  The course is designed to provide an understanding of the law and its application to individuals, groups, and organizations. The origin and purpose of law, legal research, contracts, criminal law, torts, and administrative law; emphasis on class participation through discussions, debate, and mock trials. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 212. Four credit hours. S. Mr. Lee

371f The Computer and Decision Making  How does computer technology support, hinder, and transform human activity? At the core of this analysis is an understanding of human and computational decision making. Consideration of diverse situations that involve computer technology: management and work, communication, crime prevention, banking and credit, air traffic control, medicine, and national defense. Also listed as Computer Science 371. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 212. Four credit hours. Ms. Friedman

[373] Operations Research  Listed as Mathematics 373 (q.v.). Prerequisite: A previous course in statistics and linear algebra or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. S.

391fs Analytic Research Paper  Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to three credit hours. Faculty

491f, 492s Independent Study  Individual projects devoted to organizational issues in which the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours. Faculty
493fs Senior Seminar Specific topics will change yearly and will be announced in advance. Prerequisite: Senior standing as an administrative science major. Four credit hours. FACULTY

African-American Studies

Director, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR CHERYL TOWNSEND GILKES

ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors Charles Bassett (American Studies and English), Catherine Besteman (Anthropology), Patrick Brancaccio (English and Performing Arts), Cedric Bryant (English), William Cotter (Government), Henry Gemery (Economics), Gilkes (Sociology and African-American Studies), Thomas Longstaff (Religious Studies), David Lubin (American Studies and Art), Paul Machlin (Music), Phyllis Mannocchi (English), David Nugent (Anthropology), John Sweney (English), Robert Weisbrot (History), and Sarah Willie1 (African-American Studies, Sociology, and Women's Studies); also Frances Parker (associate director, library), Geraldine Roseboro (associate dean of students for intercultural affairs), and two student representatives

The African-American Studies Program is an interdisciplinary program of courses organized to provide an overview and introduction to the experiences of African Americans in the United States and to connect those experiences to the literatures, histories, and cultures of Africa and of Latin America and the Caribbean. Core courses in the program expose students to classical and contemporary literature, to issues of public policy, to critical debates in history and social science, and to main currents of historical and contemporary cultural expression. Students may elect a major in African-American/ American studies or they may elect a minor in African-American studies built upon courses in anthropology, history, literature, economics, government, music, religious studies, and sociology. The program exposes students to the history and culture of Africans and people of African descent throughout the Americas. However, the primary focus of the program is on the literature, history, and culture of African Americans in the United States.

Requirements for the Major in African-American/American Studies

Fifteen courses selected from American studies, literature, social science, and music, including American Studies 276 or African-American Studies 276, African-American Studies 312, American Studies 271, 493, English 355, 356, 343, History 131, 132, and 247; either English 426, 427, or 428; either Music 232, 234, American Studies 272, or 297; either History 342 or 442; either Anthropology 217, Sociology 214, 252, 254, 355, 356, 357, Government 319, Education 297, or Women's Studies 221; and one course focused on Africa, preferably Anthropology 237, History 360, 361, 363, or 364, but including Economics 293 and Government 358.

Requirements for the Minor in African-American Studies

Seven courses including African-American/American Studies 276; African-American Studies 312; English 343; History 247; Music 232, 234, American Studies 272, or 297; at least one course focused on Africa; and either Anthropology 217, Education 297, Government 319, Sociology 214, 252, 254, 355, 356, 357, or Women's Studies 221. Course substitutions and exchanges may be made in consultation with adviser.

Interested students may consider an independent major in African-American studies.

1On leave full year.

276s African-American Culture in the United States An interdisciplinary examination of black cultural expression from the slave era to the present—including folk tales, blues, gospel music, work songs, jazz, sermons, dance, literature, and social institutions—tracing the stages of development of a distinctive black culture in America, its relationship to the historical, social, and political realities of African Americans, and its role in the cultural formation of the United States. Also listed as American Studies 276. Four credit hours. S, D. MS. GILKES
20th-Century Black Political Thought

An examination of the political thought of African Americans across the disciplines of history, literature, sociology, anthropology, and theology beginning at the turn of the 20th century. The course will analyze thinkers' justifications for the existence of self and their understandings of and responsibility to the community. Genres under consideration will include scholarship, sermons, political treatises, speeches, poems, hymns, and short stories. Prerequisite: Sociology 131. Four credit hours. S, D.

MS. WILLIE

Independent Study

Individual study of special problems in African-American studies in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor and of the program director. One to four credit hours.

Director, PROFESSOR CHARLES BASSETT

ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors Terry Arendell (Sociology), Bassett (American Studies and English), Martin Berger (American Studies and Art), Christine Bowditch (Sociology), Patrick Brancaccio (English and Performing Arts), Cedric Bryant (English), Debra Campbell (Religious Studies), Anthony Corrado (Government), James Fleming (Science and Technology Studies), Henry Gemery (Economics), Cheryl Townsend Gilkes (African-American Studies and Sociology), Natalie Harris (English), Peter Harris (English), Yeager Hudson (Philosophy), Elizabeth Leonard (History), Jason Loviglio (American Studies), David Lubin (American Studies and Art), Paul Machlin (Music), Sandy Maisel (Government), Phyllis Mannocchi (English), Michael Marlais (Art), Richard Moss (History), Patricia Onion (English), Leonard Reich (Administrative Science and History), John Sweney (English), Robert Weisbrot (History); Adjunct Instructor Linda Goldstein; and five students majoring in American studies

A student majoring in American studies at Colby is taught—in single courses and through a combination of courses—the subject matter of America’s past and present, with special effort devoted to the integration and knowledge of more than one academic discipline. Built around a core of courses in American studies, American history, and American literature, the American Studies Program strives for genuinely interdisciplinary insights into the complexities of American thought and culture.

Requirements for the Major in American Studies

American Studies 271* and 493; English 355* and 356*; History 131* and 132*; two additional English courses in American literature; two additional courses in American history; and four additional courses other than American history or American literature (see lists below) with some interdisciplinary focus on American culture—coordinated with the approval of the major adviser according to chronology, theme, or method—to bring the total to a minimum of 14 courses. (Note: courses marked with * are expected to be completed before the junior year.)

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses offered toward the major. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory. No more than five courses taken abroad may be counted toward the major.

Honors Program

Students majoring in American studies may apply during their junior year for admission to the honors program. Permission is required; guidelines are established by the department. Successful completion of the work of the honors project, and of the major, will enable the student to graduate “With Honors in American Studies.”

Attention is called to the major in African-American/American studies; requirements are listed under African-American/American studies.

213j Medicine in 19th- and 20th-Century America: Women as Pioneer Healers  An investigation of medical education and practices in America before the introduction of the scientific model, including regular medicine; “irregular” approaches such as hydropathy, homeopathy, and botanics; and quackery. Primary sources and secondary readings used to explore women’s participation as healers and professional doctors during this era. Contrast and comparison will be made with current trends and the status of women who now choose medical careers. Practicing physicians will be invited to participate, and field trips to medical facilities will be considered. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. D. MS. GOLDSTEIN

[251] American Culture in the 1950s  Interdisciplinary study of the United States during the Truman and Eisenhower administrations, with emphasis on social and cultural issues as evidenced by popular film, fiction, music, television, sports, sociology, and other forms of public representation. Weekly lectures, discussions, and required outside film viewings. Four credit hours.

271f Introduction to American Studies: Culture and Counter-Culture. Introduction to methods and themes in American studies as an interdisciplinary examination of past and present United States culture. This year the focus will be on the United States in the 1960s. Lectures, close readings, and discussions of novels, paintings, poems, films, and essays of the period. Four credit hours. V. MR. BERGER AND MR. BASSETT

273j Introduction to American Material Culture: The Interpretation of Objects. Exploration of the ways in which objects can be employed to illuminate the culture of the society in which they were produced. Objects such as photographs, tools, silver, clothing, and buildings examined in light of an intersecting sequence of methodologies including close formal analysis, iconography, structuralism, semiotics, feminism, and Marxist criticism. Four credit hours; three credit hours in January. MR. BERGER

276s African-American Culture in the United States. An interdisciplinary examination of black cultural expression from the slave era to the present—including folk tales, blues, gospel music, work songs, jazz, sermons, dance, literature, and social institutions—tracing the stages of development of a distinctive black culture in America, its relationship to the historical, social, and political realities of African Americans, and its role in the cultural formation of the United States. Also listed as African-American Studies 276. Four credit hours. S, D. MS. GILKES

[277], 278s American Visual Arts. Listed as Art 277, 278 (q.v.). Three credit hours. MR. BERGER

[279] The American Gothic. Examination of the pervasive influence of the Gothic (and related genres such as Horror and the Grotesque) on American culture through a diverse range of “texts,” including films, pop art, material objects, and fiction. The Gothic has been, in one form or another, an influential part of the American cultural landscape from the Puritans’ fascination with evil to what Melville identified in Hawthorne as the “power of blackness ten times black”; to the Neo-Gothic revival in architecture in the 19th and 20th centuries; to satanic cults and popular rituals like Halloween; to the fiction of Edgar Allan Poe, H.P. Lovecraft, and Stephen King; and to cult films like The Night of the Living Dead and The Haunting of Hill House. Exploration of how our collective “frame of mind” about class, nuclear holocaust, race, nationalism, technology, and gender is constructed in American gothicism. Four credit hours.

297j Our National Pastime: Baseball and American Society. What could be more natural than to study our national pastime following the year of the great baseball strike? The contributions of baseball to various aspects of American culture and society. Issues include race relations, economic implications, and the game as symbol. Movies, e.g., Pride of the Yankees, League of Their Own; books, e.g., The Natural, Men At Work, Only the Ball Was White, Summer of ’49, and October 1964. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two or three credit hours. MR. MAISEL

297f American Popular Culture: Meaning, Memory, Noise. Popular culture (television, music, film, etc.) as a matrix of public meanings whose production, reception, and circulation are crucial to understanding how social, political, and historical relationships are talked about and understood in the United States. The terrain of popular culture that seems most resistant to traditional academic inquiry: pleasure, desire, chaos, escape. Four credit hours. MR. LOVIGLIO

331s Brooklyn: Fact and Symbol. Brooklyn is more than one of the five boroughs of New York City. In the 19th century it was a city in its own right, and historically it has assumed a
With its diverse ethnic population, its lively popular culture, its rich architectural heritage as the "borough of churches," and the Brooklyn Bridge, Brooklyn has also been the home and birthplace of distinguished Americans such as writers Walt Whitman, Hart Crane, Marianne Moore, Thomas Wolfe, Henry Miller, Gloria Naylor, and Alfred Kazin. An exploration of this rich heritage from the point of view of literature, history, urban and ethnic studies, architecture, and popular culture. Four credit hours.

378s American Dreams Houston Baker, Jr., has written: "During the past quarter century . . . we who have been othered have awakened." That awakening reflected in the range of cultural identities that compose America. Using the lens of popular culture, we will develop a multicultural perspective on the American experience through autobiography, fiction, photography, television, and films that reflect, among others, African Americans, Asian Americans, American Indians, Latino(a)s, Chicano(a)s, and Italian Americans. As the myth of the melting pot gives way before the new imaging of difference, theories of multiculturalism explored through ongoing dialogues among identities. Four credit hours.

483f, 484s Senior Honors Project Research conducted under the guidance of a faculty member and focused on an approved interdisciplinary topic leading to the writing of a thesis. Prerequisite: A 3.25 major average and permission of the director of the program. Three credit hours.

491f, 492s Independent Study Individual study of special problems in American studies in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor and the program director. One to four credit hours.

493fs Seminar in American Studies An interdisciplinary seminar incorporating theoretical approaches to the study of American thought and culture. Topics will vary. In 1995-96 seminars include Mediated Voices, Grotesque Desires, and the Disembodied Politic: The Crisis of Public Discourse in Postmodern America (fall) and American Realism in American Literature from the Civil War to World War II (spring). Prerequisite: Senior standing as American studies major. Four credit hours.

Anthropology

In the Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Associate Professor Arendell; Assistant Professors David Nugent, Mary Beth Mills¹, and Catherine Besteman; Visiting Assistant Professor Constantine Hriskos
Anthropology is the exploration of human diversity. Through the subdisciplines of cultural, linguistic, archaeological, and physical anthropology, it investigates the broad range of differences and similarities of humankind in both space and time. The program at Colby offers an introduction to the discipline and in-depth exposure to the variety of lifestyles in cross-cultural, comparative perspective. Students receive training in anthropological theory and field methodology; firsthand experiences and participation in field programs investigating cultural diversity are encouraged.

Requirements for the Major in Anthropology
Ten courses, including Anthropology 112, 313, 333, and 494; either Anthropology 113 or Religion 118; one culture area course selected from Anthropology 211, 233, 235, or 239; one topics course selected from Anthropology 214, 252, 253, 256; and three courses chosen in consultation with the adviser with a view toward diversifying the program of study. A maximum of two courses selected from the list of electives (following anthropology course descriptions) may be counted toward the major.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses offered toward the major. No courses for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Honors in Anthropology
Seniors majoring in anthropology may apply for the honors program during the first two weeks of the fall semester. In addition to department approval and a faculty sponsor, the student must have a 3.25 overall grade point average and a 3.60 grade point average in the major. The program involves independent research conducted in Anthropology 483.

Requirements for the Minor in Anthropology
Six courses, including Anthropology 112; either Anthropology 113 or Religion 118; one culture area course selected from Anthropology 211, 233, 235, or 239; one topical course selected from Anthropology 214, 217, 252, 253; and two additional courses in anthropology (300 or 400 level) or selected from the list of electives.

The point scale for retention of the minor applies to all courses offered toward the minor. No courses for the minor may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

On leave full year.

Note: all three- or four-credit hour courses in anthropology fulfill the area requirement in social sciences (S). Those that also fulfill the diversity requirement include the D designation.

112fs Cultural Anthropology An intensive introduction to the study of different societies and cultures in the world, using a cross-cultural perspective on human behavior. Explores the diversity of human cultures from hunter-gatherers to industrialized city dwellers. Considers the implications of economic, social, political, symbolic, and religious systems for the lives of men and women. Topics include enculturation and transmitting values; group coherence and continuity; impact of material, technological, and social change; effects and culture contact. By emphasizing non-Western cultures, the course critically explores our accepted notions about human nature, society, and ideologies. Four credit hours. D. FACULTY

[113] Nature of Language Language is the principal means by which humans communicate. The course explores the nature of language, the unique biological characteristics of humans that make language possible, and the significance of language for human culture. Anthropological techniques to analyze languages around the world will be applied to the study of students' own speech community. Four credit hours. D.

118f Introduction to Archaeology Listed as Religious Studies 118 (q.v.). Three or four credit hours. MR. LONGSTAFF

174s Philosophical Anthropology: The Philosophy of Human Nature Listed as Philosophy 174 (q.v.). Four credit hours. MR. HUDSON
[211] Indigenous Peoples and Cultures of North America  An ethnographic survey of the sociocultural systems developed by indigenous Americans north of Mexico. Examines relationships between ecological factors, subsistence practices, social organizations, and belief systems, along with contemporary issues of change, contact, and cultural survival. Four credit hours. D.

214f Religion, Magic, and Witchcraft  Religion, magic, witchcraft? Science and the scientific method seem to have banished these beliefs to the domain of the irrational, the irrelevant. Is it true that these ideas and practices are no longer relevant to us, no longer influence us? A cross-cultural study of the nature and function of religious ideas, beliefs, and practices will be used to explain their universal significance and persistence. Four credit hours. D. MR. HRISKOS

215j Visual Anthropology  The course will explore the ways in which still photography, film, and museum exhibits shape our understanding of the world's people and cultures. Instruction is designed to broaden the student's visual literacy, making the student use visual imagery as a source of cultural information. Discussions concerning objectivity, ethics, and ethnographic accuracy, in addition to readings, photographs, photography, and other media. Formerly listed as Anthropology 115. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. D. MS. BESTEMAN

[216j] Imagining the “Other”  19th-century anthropologists proposed theories of cultural evolution that presented peoples outside European traditions as savage, exotic, primitive, and deficient in the benefits of Western civilization. In the 20th century, anthropology rejected these reductionist images of different cultures, but their influence can still be seen in aspects of contemporary social practice and popular imagination. How the “other” was depicted in late-19th-century anthropological thought and how similar images and ideas are perpetuated in museums, exhibitions, art collecting, films, tourism, and the popular press of the 20th-century West. Prerequisite: Anthropology 112 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. D. MR. UGENT

217j Race and Ethnicity: Cross-Cultural Perspectives  An introduction to the main theories that attempt to explain race and ethnicity, including the notion that both are social and not biological entities. Case studies from around the New World that reflect the ways different socioeconomic, political, and historical structuring contexts encourage varying forms of racial and ethnic identification. Application of the principles derived from this study to understanding racial and ethnic interaction and tensions in the contemporary United States. Three credit hours. D. MR. NUGENT

[218j] Place, Space, and Identity: The Ethnography of Travelers, Migrants, and Refugees  Anthropologists have conventionally identified human cultures as located in particular places, countries, or communities. What happens to cultural beliefs and identity in an age of widespread population mobility and global travel? Exploring processes of cultural change and continuity when people are moving both within countries and across national borders. Cases examined range from forced displacement to labor migration to tourism. Three credit hours. D.

[219j] The Anthropology of Utopias; the Use and Abuse of the Primitive  All Utopian literature involves anthropological reflection about primitive and pre-civilized societies; a historical dialogue with humanity's past that is used to compare and contrast the “civilized” state. Some notion of the primitive (as primary human nature) is always implicit in the works of Utopian writers. Using this primitive/civilized paradigm, the course examines classic utopic and dystopic literature of the West from Plato to the present. Three credit hours. D.

233s Anthropology of a Region: China  A sociocultural analysis of a selected geographic area (China). An investigation of the institutions and social life that was China in the past and their transformation in the present, with focus on the relation of the state to local-level society. Ethnographic works, historical documents, and literature make a picture of life in China come alive. Four credit hours. D. \textit{MR. HRISKOS}

\textbf{235s} \textbf{Latin American Culture and Society} An examination of the culture and political economy of rural Latin American societies, assessing the extent to which a historical approach that focuses on systems of values and institutions promoting social integration best explains these societies. Four credit hours. D. \textit{MR. NUGENT}

\textbf{237f} \textbf{Ethnographies of Africa} An introduction to the continent of Africa, its peoples, and its many social worlds, beginning with a survey of the place (geography) and the ways in which Africa's inhabitants have been defined (classifications of language, race, and culture). Social and cultural diversity within the continent is examined through ethnographic case studies. Issues include experiences of economic change, political conflict, the creation of new identities and cultural forms in contemporary African societies, and perceptions of Africa in Western thought and history. \textit{Prerequisite: Anthropology 112 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. D. MS. BESTMAN}

\textbf{239} \textbf{Southeast Asian Cultures and Societies} Southeast Asia is a region of great diversity and has long been a focus of anthropological interest; in recent years dramatic political and economic changes have often made the region a focus of international as well as scholarly attention. An examination of the diverse social and cultural contexts that make up the region, exploring both historical roots and contemporary experiences of Southeast Asian peoples. The impact of European colonial regimes on indigenous societies, religious and ethnic diversity, peasant social organization and political resistance, and the effects of economic change and industrialization. Enrollment limited. \textit{Prerequisite: Anthropology 112 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. D.}

\textbf{252s} \textbf{Hunger, Poverty, and Population: The Anthropology of Development} Examining theoretical approaches to problems of development in addition to anthropological studies of different forms of non-Western economies, and an attempt to understand why the majority of aid and development programs provided by industrialized nations toward solving the problems of Third World poverty have failed. A focus on evaluating the consequences of the kind of development advocated by different approaches to development and on assessing the potential contribution of anthropological knowledge to solving recurrent problems in development analysis. Enrollment limited. \textit{Four credit hours. D. MR. NUGENT}

\textbf{253f} \textbf{Anthropology of Gender} Beginning in the 1970s, feminist anthropologists challenged the discipline's general neglect of women as significant social and cultural actors. The past two decades have done much to correct this "male bias" in the ethnographic record. Although early feminist critiques of traditional anthropology sought to add women's "missing voice" to the discipline, more recent work has focused on gender as a basic category of human social and cultural experience. A wide variety of scholarship now seeks to understand how gender is historically and culturally constructed. These developments are examined in both their theoretical and ethnographic dimensions. Enrollment limited. \textit{Prerequisite: Anthropology 112 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. D. INSTRUCTOR}

\textbf{256} \textbf{Land, Food, Culture, and Power} An examination of cultural and political aspects of land and other resource use in contexts of culture contact and/or social change, drawing from a variety of ethnographic examples in different parts of the world. A focus on two primary subsistence systems: wet rice agriculture as practiced in South and Southeast Asia and hunting-gathering as experienced by native North Americans. How local systems of subsistence production have been incorporated into and threatened by national and global economic relations and structures through processes of colonization and the growth of transnational capitalism. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Anthropology 112 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. D.

313f Researching Cultural Diversity  Anthropologists are renowned for their research with exotic peoples in their natural settings. Topics include the development of fieldwork as a means to investigate cultural diversity, both abroad and at home; the goals and ethics of anthropological research; the nature of the fieldwork experience; the interaction with informants and the production of knowledge and how we “write culture.” How the search for “other” also helps us to understand “self.” Students will apply fieldwork concepts and methods to their own study of American culture. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: One course in anthropology or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MR. NUGENT

332f Ancestors, Descendants, and Legacies—Anthropology and Its Histories  Anthropology emerged as a separate discipline in the 1800s, the first systematic attempt to study human social and cultural diversity. While early anthropologists often operated under assumptions that have no place in today’s discipline, many of the questions that intrigued these ancestors continue to fascinate their intellectual descendants in the 20th century. The personalities, social currents, and ideas that have shaped the development of anthropology. Diaries, films, biographies, literature, and original ethnographies link the contributions of individual anthropologists both to their particular social contexts and to their legacies for contemporary anthropological thought and practice. Prerequisite: One course in anthropology or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MR. HRISKOS

[398] Revelation and Revolution  What is the cultural basis of Prophetic movements that lead to religious rebellions? Are they merely economic and political epiphenomena? Are religious rebellions always due to domination and exploitation from the outside? Or is that only part of the answer? An excursion into various charismatic movements to provide insights for a general theory of the Revelation experience of the prophet-revolutionary; examples of religious rebellions drawn from America, Oceania, Africa, and China. Four credit hours.  D.

483j Honors in Anthropology  Prerequisite: Senior standing, admission to the honors program, and permission of the supervising faculty member. Two to four credit hours.  FACULTY

491f, 492s Independent Study  Individual topics in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours.  FACULTY

494f Senior Seminar  The meaning and development of anthropological perspectives. Individual projects developed from group discussion and consultation with instructor. Prerequisite: Anthropology 333 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MS. BESTEMAN

Chair, PROFESSOR DAVID SIMON
Professors Harriet Matthews, David Lubin, Simon, and Michael Marlais; Associate Professors Abbott Meader and Sonia Simon; Assistant Professors Nancy Goetz and Kenneth Ganza; Visiting Assistant Professors Scott Reed, Véronique Plesch, and Martin Berger; Adjunct Instructors Samuel Atmore, Jere DeWaters, Ludger Duplessis, and Nancy Meader

The Colby Art Department includes practicing artists and art historians. With special studios for design, drawing, printmaking, and sculpture, the department features a curriculum that allows students not only to explore the intrinsic nature of materials and techniques but also to develop their own expressive abilities. Art history offerings are designed with the recognition that the artistic products of any period are related to the social, political, and cultural concerns of that period. Students at Colby are able to approach art from both a practical and historical perspective and thus are better able to understand the total experience of art.

Requirements for the Major in Art
Art 111, 112, 131, 173, and one course in any three of the following four groups:
(1) Art 311, 312, 313, 314
(2) Art 331, 332, 334, 335
(3) Art 351, 352, 353
(4) Art 273, 274, 376
and three additional graded art courses, which may be art history or studio courses in any proportion, making a total of 10 courses.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to courses taken in the department. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Students planning to continue the study of art or art history in graduate school should confer with their advisers to be sure that they have planned a substantial and adequate course of study. Art history graduate programs generally require reading proficiency in two foreign languages.

Attention is called to the interdisciplinary major in American studies.
Requirements for the Concentration in Studio Art
For students who are fulfilling the major in art, the studio concentration is offered to provide a broadly founded studio sequence that will assist in the development of skills and strengthen portfolios for any anticipated graduate studio work. Additional requirements are: Art 221 and 222, or equivalent. The studio concentration must include at least a four-course sequence in either painting, printmaking, or sculpture among the requirements for the major, for a total of 13 courses. Students should make every effort to complete the drawing requirement as early as possible, thus allowing their advanced studio work to build upon that experience.

Requirements for the Concentration in Art History
For students who are fulfilling the major in art, the art history concentration is offered to prepare the student for graduate work in the field. In addition to the standard requirements for the major, art history concentrators must take two additional art history courses, making sure to have at least one in each of the four distribution areas listed under requirements for the major. Art history concentrators are required to take an art history seminar at the 300 level or above, for a total of 12 courses.

Requirements for the Minor in Art
An art minor is available and should be constructed according to the student’s interests and on the advice of an Art Department faculty member. The art minor requires at least seven art courses, including Art 131 (or 161 and 162), two of the following: 111, 112, 173; and four additional courses at the 200 level or above.

111f, 112s Survey of Western Art A survey of the history of painting, sculpture, and architecture. First semester: Egyptian pyramids through Gothic cathedrals. Second semester: Renaissance Italy through contemporary America. Four credit hours. A. MR. SIMON, MRS. SIMON, AND MS. PLESCH

113j Photography Enrollment limited. Nongraded. Two credit hours. MR. DEWATERS

114j Pottery Enrollment limited. Nongraded. Two credit hours. MS. MEADER

115j Advanced Photography Nongraded. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two credit hours. MR. ATMORE

[116j] A Short History of Film How to “read” a film, viewing a variety of foreign and American films, including some of the earliest images recorded for the cinema. Film as social commentary; the relationship between film and art. Three credit hours.

118j Postmodern Apocalyptic Film From The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse to Blade Runner, from Dr. Strangelove to Repoman, and from Taxi Driver to the Mad Max trilogy, apocalyptic film has gripped filmmakers and the viewing public alike. Emphasis on determining whether these films serve merely as cinematic nihilistic Doomsday rhetoric or as prophetic revelation for the approaching millennium. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. A. MR. DUPLESSIS

131fs Foundations in Studio Art A rigorous introduction to the major materials and media of studio art through projects involving design, drawing, and painting. A range of aesthetic possibilities is presented, and the student is encouraged to explore a variety of approaches. Out-of-class work is essential. No prior experience is required. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. A. FACULTY
161f Sculpture I  An introduction to basic sculpture concepts, techniques, and materials. Out-of-class work is essential. Three credit hours. A.  MS. MATTHEWS

162s Sculpture II  Further exploration of the materials, techniques, and concepts developed in Sculpture I, with the addition of carving in wood and stone. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 161. Three credit hours.  MS. MATTHEWS

173f Survey of Asian Art  An introduction to the history of sculpture, painting, and architecture of India, Southeast Asia, China, Korea, and Japan, with emphasis on the distinctive cultural contexts in which the art forms of the different regions developed. Three credit hours.  A, D.  MR. GANZA

221f Drawing I  Fundamentals of drawing and use of graphic materials. Concern for drawing as a means of developing visual and perceptual awareness. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 131. Three credit hours.  MS. MATTHEWS

234fs Printmaking I  Introduction to methods of generating images from printing surfaces. Concentration on relief printmaking. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 131. Three credit hours.  MR. REED

235s Printmaking II  Further exploration of the materials, techniques, and ideas developed in Printmaking I. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 234. Three credit hours.  MR. REED

241f Painting I  Oil painting from a variety of traditional and nontraditional sources. The aim is to develop breadth of vocabulary and formal understanding. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 131. Three credit hours.  INSTRUCTOR

242s Painting II  Further exploration of the materials, techniques, and ideas developed in Painting I. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 241. Three credit hours.  INSTRUCTOR

261f Sculpture III  Further exploration of sculptural techniques and concepts with the optional addition of welded steel as a medium. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 162. Three credit hours.  MS. MATTHEWS

262s Sculpture IV  Further exploration of sculptural techniques and concepts. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 261. Three credit hours.  MS. MATTHEWS

273s The Arts of China  A historical introduction to the major art forms of China—painting, sculpture, bronze, and ceramics—from their beginnings in the Neolithic to the latter part of the traditional period in the 18th century, c. A.D. 1750. Three or four credit hours.  A, D.  MR. GANZA

[274] The Arts of Japan  A historical introduction to the major art forms of Japan—painting, sculpture, ceramics, architecture, and prints—from their beginnings in the pre-Buddhist age to the beginning of the modern era in the 19th century. Three or four credit hours.  D.

[275] Classics of the Sound Cinema  Selected masterpieces of world cinema (1930-1960). Particular emphasis on developing skills for viewing films as a form of visual art. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours.  A.
276j  Field Experience in China  Field study in different aspects of Chinese art history at important cultural sites within the People's Republic of China, the Republic of China on Taiwan, or Hong Kong. Three credit hours.  D. MR. GANZA

277s  American Visual Arts I  American art and culture starting in the Colonial period, concentrating on the 17th, 18th, and 19th centuries, in terms of changing aesthetic standards as well as social and historical developments. Areas of study include the fine arts, folk art, material culture, and mass media. Three credit hours.  A. MR. BERGER

297Af  American Architecture in the 19th Century  Survey of the development of architecture and urbanism in the United States from the late 18th through the early 20th centuries. Major themes include the relationship of American to European architectures, and the varied symbolic functions of architecture in American political, social, and cultural history. Three credit hours.  A. MR. BERGER

297Bf  Five Centuries of French Art  French art from the 14th century through the French Revolution. Painting, sculpture, and architecture studied, as well as such other pictorial media as manuscript illumination, prints, tapestry, and enamel. Links with literary and intellectual movements explored. Some reading in French required for French/French studies majors. Three credit hours.  A. MS. PLESCH

297j  Van Gogh  The life and work of the Dutch painter, and the public myth, popular caricature, and commercial phenomenon that he has become. Selections from Vincent's letters to his brother Theo, excerpts from biographical studies, a look at his artwork in light of the 19th-century ambiance in which he lived as well as from a contemporary perspective, and discussion of several films purporting to present the life of Van Gogh. Three credit hours. Enrollment limited.  A. MR. MEADER

[297j]  Rome in the American Imagination  Three-week study trip to Rome and other locations in central Italy, examining historical, architectural, and geographic sites that inspired American artists and writers from the late 18th century to the present. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  A.

[311]  Art of the Aegean and Greece  Architecture, sculpture, and painting from the development of the Minoan civilization through the Hellenistic period. Prerequisite: Art 111 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

[312]  Etruscan and Roman Art  Architecture, sculpture, and painting from the founding of Rome in the 8th century B.C. through its Christianization in the 4th century A.D. Prerequisite: Art 111 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

313f  Art of the Early Middle Ages  Painting, sculpture, and architecture from A.D. 315 to 1000, from the Christianization of Rome through the development of Byzantine civilization in the East and through the Ottonian Empire in the West. Prerequisite: Art 111. Three or four credit hours.  MR. SIMON

314s  Art of the High Middle Ages  Romanesque and Gothic painting, sculpture, and architecture in Western Europe, from the re-emergence of monumental stone sculpture through the exuberance of the Gothic cathedral. Influences of monastery, pilgrimage, and court on art from A.D. 1000 to 1400. Prerequisite: Art 111. Three or four credit hours.

MR. SIMON

[331] Art of the Renaissance in Northern Europe
The art of France, Germany, and the Lowlands in the 15th and 16th centuries, with emphasis on the major painters from Van Eyck to Brueghel. Prerequisite: Art 111 or 112, or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

[332] Art of the Renaissance in Italy
The art of the 14th, 15th, and early 16th centuries in Italy, with emphasis on the major architects, sculptors, and painters. Prerequisite: Art 111 or 112, or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

[333s] Mannerism and Baroque Art in Southern Europe Painting, sculpture, and architecture from the late works of Michelangelo in the 16th century through the early 18th century in Italy and Spain. Prerequisite: Art 112 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

A. MS. PLESCH

[334] Baroque and Rococo Art in Northern Europe
Painting, sculpture, and architecture of the 17th and 18th centuries in France, Flanders, Holland, England, Germany, and Austria. Prerequisite: Art 112 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

[341f] Painting III
Further exploration of the materials, techniques, and ideas developed in Painting II. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 221 (may be taken concurrently), 242, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

INSTRUCTOR

[342s] Painting IV
Further exploration of the materials, techniques, and ideas developed in Painting III. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 341. Three credit hours.

[351] European Art, 1780-1880
Emphasis on European art of the Neoclassic, Romantic, Realist, and Impressionist movements. Prerequisite: Art 112. Three or four credit hours.

[352] Modern Art, 1880-1914
History of avant-garde movements from Postimpressionism through German Expressionism. Prerequisite: Art 112. Three or four credit hours.

[353] Contemporary Art, 1914 to the Present
History of art from Dada and Surrealism to our own time. Emphasis on issues of art criticism as well as on current practices. Prerequisite: Art 112. Three or four credit hours.

[361f] Sculpture V
Further exploration of sculptural techniques and concepts. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 262. Three credit hours.

MS. MATTHEWS

[362s] Sculpture VI
Further exploration of sculptural techniques and concepts. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 361. Three credit hours.

MS. MATTHEWS

[373] Edges and Bridges
Against a backdrop of our crucial situation on the planet, and avoiding the necessity of traditional studio skills, the course will develop an interaction of nontraditional studio projects, readings, film screenings, and discussions in order to focus awareness on some of the forms, purposes, meanings, and values that have at one time or another been attributed to or designated as "visual art." Formerly listed as Art 397. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours.

A.
391f, 392s Independent Study: Studio  Individual upper-level work in studio areas, intended to build upon course work or to explore new areas in studio. Not meant to take the place of existing courses. Prerequisite: A year of studio course work and permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

394s Architecture  A seminar investigation into a variety of topics that are designed to question the nature of architecture, the role of the architect, and the analysis of specific buildings. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  A. MR. SIMON

441f Painting V  Further exploration of materials, techniques, and ideas developed in Painting IV. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 342. Three credit hours.  INSTRUCTOR

442s Painting VI  Further exploration of materials, techniques, and ideas developed in Painting V. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 441. Three credit hours.  INSTRUCTOR

461f Sculpture VII  Further exploration of sculptural techniques and ideas. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 362. Three credit hours.  MS. MATTHEWS

462s Sculpture VIII  Further exploration of sculptural techniques and ideas. Out-of-class work is essential. Prerequisite: Art 461. Three credit hours.  MS. MATTHEWS

491f, 492s Independent Study  Individual study of special problems in the history or theory of the visual arts. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

493f Seminar in Devotional Art  In the late Middle Ages a revolution took place in art with the development of individual piety and the quest for a direct and personal relationship with God. The forms and functions of the art meant as devotional tools; works produced from 1300 to 1600 throughout Europe and in a variety of media—panel painting, sculpture, manuscript illumination, ivory—as well as their relationship with such devotional exercises as prayer and meditation. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.  MS. PLESCH

Astronomy

Professor Murray Campbell

151f Stars and Stellar Systems  An introductory survey of modern solar, stellar, galactic, and extragalactic astronomy for students of both science and nonscience backgrounds. Basic astronomical concepts and recent discoveries will be treated from an astrophysical point of view. Lecture only. Three credit hours.  N. MR. CAMPBELL

151Lf Stars and Stellar Systems Laboratory  Theory and use of telescopes, and astronomical measurements. Students must be available Monday through Thursday evenings for telescope observing as weather permits. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in Astronomy 151 and permission of the instructor. One credit hour.  MR. CAMPBELL
231j Introduction to Astrophysics  A study of the great laws of physics as they are applied to observational astronomy using the Collins Observatory. Theoretical topics include structure and energy generation for the sun and normal stars, and the structure of white dwarfs, neutron stars, and black holes. Observational topics include acquisition of images with a CCD electronic camera, image analysis, spectroscopy, and broad-band CCD photometry. Prerequisite: High-school chemistry, algebra, and trigonometry. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. N. MR. CAMPBELL

Associate Chair, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR BRUCE E. FOWLES
Professors Arthur Champlin1, Cole, and David Firmage2; Associate Professors Fowles, Jay Labov, Frank Fekete, Paul Greenwood, and W. Herbert Wilson2; Assistant Professors Raymond Phillips1 and Barbara Best; Senior Teaching Associate Elizabeth Champlin; Teaching Associates Timothy Christensen and Lindsey Colby; Teaching Assistants Scott Guay and Holly Carmichael; Research Associate Betsy Brown; Animal Care Technician Austin Segel

The Department of Biology provides its students with a background in, and an appreciation for, important aspects of classical and modern biology. To provide a broad and comprehensive investigation of the biological sciences, the departmental curriculum emphasizes the study of the biology of plants, animals, and microorganisms at the cellular and molecular, organismal, and population levels of organization. Special facilities include the Perkins Arboretum, the Colby-Marston Bog, a scanning and transmission electron microscope suite, several laboratory microcomputer clusters, an isotope laboratory, a greenhouse, and animal rooms.

Department graduates enroll in graduate programs in biology and in medical schools, dental schools, and veterinary colleges. Others are employed as research assistants, as teachers at the secondary level, and by private firms and government agencies.

The concentration in environmental science is designed to provide students with a background to work in the environmental field or to continue on to graduate study in environmental science or in one of the other biological disciplines. In recent years, graduates have enrolled in graduate programs in ecology, marine biology, natural resource management, public policy, and environmental health. Others are employed by federal and state agencies, private and public organizations, and consulting firms.

The concentration in cell and molecular biology/biochemistry focuses biology majors on the interdisciplinary field that lies at the interface between biology and chemistry and also prepares students for graduate study or employment in the biomedical fields. Recent graduates have pursued interests in gene therapy, genetic counseling, and biomedical research.

Students interested in teaching are urged to read the “Education” section of the catalogue and to contact a member of the Education Department. Students preparing for dental, medical, or veterinary schools must take a year of organic chemistry and a year of introductory college physics with laboratory; students preparing for graduate study in the biological sciences also should elect these courses.

Colby is a member of a consortium sponsoring the Center for Sustainable Development Studies, through which qualified students are provided the opportunity for a semester of study in Costa Rica. Studies combine biology and social/political issues to address sustainable development problems. See description under “Other Colby Abroad Programs.”

Students are encouraged to take courses at summer laboratories; with prior approval, such courses may be credited toward the major requirement.

General Requirements for all Major Programs
For all major programs offered by the department, the point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses required for the major and all elected biology courses. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory. At least six biology courses must have a laboratory component and at least two courses must be at the 300 level or above. A maximum of six credit hours of independent study or field experience and two credit hours of seminar may be counted toward the major. No more than eight credit hours in a semester or 12 credit hours in total from off-campus programs can be counted toward the major.

Requirements for the Basic Major in Biology

In biology, 31 hours of course work (excluding Advanced Placement credit), including Biology 161, 162, and at least one additional course with laboratory in population and evolutionary biology (Biology 211, 212 [no laboratory required], 258, 271, 298A, 298B, 354, or 358), in organismal biology (Biology 213, 214, 234, 235, 254, 312, 357, 373, 375, or 381), and in cell and molecular biology (Biology 232, 238, 277, 279, 351, 367, 372, or 374). Seniors must enroll in Biology 490 in both semesters. In addition, Chemistry 141, 142, Mathematics 121 or 123 or equivalent, and one additional mathematics course numbered 112 or higher (excluding seminars).

Requirements for the Concentration in Environmental Science

In biology, 31 hours of course work (excluding Advanced Placement credit), including Biology 161, 162, 271, 352, 493, and at least one additional course with laboratory in organismal biology (Biology 213, 214, 234, 235, 237, 254, 312, 357, 373, 375, or 381) and in cell and molecular biology (Biology 232, 238, 277, 279, 351, 367, 372, or 374). Seniors must enroll in Biology 490 in both semesters. In addition, Chemistry 141, 142; Economics 133, 231; Mathematics 112 (or 231), 121 or 123 or equivalent; and two courses selected from the following: Chemistry 217, 241, 242, Environmental Studies 118, Geology 141, 142, 171. Students are encouraged to take at least one field-oriented course such as Biology 258, 354, 358, a School for Field Studies semester program, or similar approved programs.

Requirements for the Concentration in Cell and Molecular Biology/Biochemistry

In biology, 31 hours of course work (excluding Advanced Placement credit), including Biology 161, 162, 279 (with laboratory), 367, 368, 376, one additional course with laboratory in organismal biology (Biology 213, 214, 234, 235, 254, 312, 357, 373, 375, or 381), and an additional course in population or evolutionary biology (Biology 211, 212 [no laboratory required], 258, 271, 298A, 298B, 354, or 358). Seniors must enroll in Biology 490 in both semesters. In addition, Chemistry 141, 142, 241, 242; Mathematics 121 or 123 or equivalent and one additional mathematics course numbered 112 or higher (excluding seminars); and either Physics 141, 142 or one course with laboratory chosen from Biology 232, 238, 277, 374, Chemistry 331. In addition, each concentrator must complete an independent study project equivalent to two (or preferably three) credit hours. This requirement can be satisfied through independent study, January Program, or a summer research project.

1 Acting director of academic affairs and off-campus study.
2 On leave full year.
3 Director of information technology services.

[115j] Biology of Women An introduction to the biology of the human female throughout her life span. Topics include reproductive anatomy, the menstrual cycle and its hormonal control, aspects of sexual function and dysfunction, contraception, pregnancy, childbirth, and lactation. Lecture only. Satisfies the non-laboratory science distribution requirement. Cannot be counted toward the biology major. Offered in alternate years. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. N.

133f Microorganisms and Society An introduction to the importance of microorganisms to human health and the functioning of planet Earth. The diversity of the microbial world presented with relevant examples of how microorganisms affect our daily lives. Discussions and lectures based on the roles microorganisms and viruses play in disease, the food industry, ecological relationships, and biotechnology. Cannot be counted toward the biology major. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours. N. MR. FEKETE
161 f Introduction to Biology: Organismal Biology  Consideration of biological processes common to all organisms. Topics include organismal diversity; the acquisition, transformation, and utilization of energy, nutrients, and gases; production and removal of waste products; integration and transmission of information within and among organisms; and reproduction. Examples drawn from plants, animals, and microorganisms. Nature and effects of viruses on organisms. Lecture and laboratory. Four credit hours.  N.  MR. FEKETE, MS. BEST, AND MS. RUDOLPH

162 s Introduction to Biology: Genetics and Cell Biology  An examination of inheritance and cellular function, with emphasis on experimental findings. Laboratory emphasizes an experimental approach. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161 or permission of the instructors. Four credit hours.  N.  MR. FOWLES AND MR. GREENWOOD

[177] Plants and People  An introduction to unique and special aspects of plant biology; the important physiological and ecological connections between plants and animals, especially humans. The ways in which humans depend upon, use, and manipulate plants, including nutritious, medicinal, poisonous, and hallucinogenic species; discussion of plant biotechnology. Basic principles of plant biology applied to issues such as deforestation and global warming. Enrollment limited. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours.  N.

[197] Architecture of Animals and Plants  Humans usually build structures out of dry, rigid materials such as brick, concrete, lumber, or steel. In contrast, animals and plants are wet and dynamic and usually consist of flexible, plant materials such as chitin, collagen, cellulose, skin, and bone. How are organisms built to cope with crashing waves, rushing rivers, hurricane-like winds, or gentle breezes? An exploration of the shapes and sizes of organisms, the materials they use, and the environmental forces they encounter. Examples include contrasting “designs” of palm trees and skyscrapers, birds and airplanes, dolphins and submarines, sea anemones and radial tires. Demonstrations and hands-on exercises introduce general design principles. Cannot be counted toward the biology major. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours.

211 f Taxonomy of Flowering Plants  An introduction to the study of variation, evolution, classification, and nomenclature of biological organisms and the techniques used by systematists in establishing phylogenetic relationships, with particular emphasis on flowering plants. Recognition of major families of flowering plants and identification of specimens represented in the local flora are stressed. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MR. PHILLIPS

212 f Evolution  An introduction to the concepts of population genetics and evolution. Lecture only. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. FOWLES

[213] Biology of the Lower Plants  Comparative studies of the morphology, development, physiology, and significance of algae, fungi, bryophytes, and ferns. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

214 s Plant Physiology  The essential mechanisms of plant functions at the organismal, cellular, and molecular levels. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162, Chemistry 141, 142, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MR. FOWLES to the challenges of protecting, maintaining, and restoring biological diversity. Offered in alternate years. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

232s Developmental Biology A study of development, with emphasis on the experimental findings that have led to present ideas of the morphological and chemical processes underlying the development and growth of organisms. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours. Mr. Champlin

[234] Ornithology An introduction to the biology of birds. Topics include evolution and diversity, feeding and flight adaptations, the physiology of migration, communication, mating systems and reproduction, population dynamics, and conservation of threatened species. Field trips to local habitats; occasional Saturday field trips. Lecture and laboratory. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

[235] Horticulture Basic principles in the areas of plant structure and function will be considered and related to plant cultivation. Practical application of these principles discussed in areas such as lighting, propagation, pruning, and floriculture. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Biology 161 or permission of the instructor. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours. N.

238s Bacteriology and Immunology An introduction to pathogenic bacteriology and immunology. Mechanisms of the mammalian immune response against infectious agents of disease; development of general knowledge in these areas and practical experience in laboratory techniques. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162, Chemistry 141, 142, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. Mr. Fekete

[254] Marine Invertebrate Zoology The morphology, functional anatomy, and classification of the invertebrates. An optional weekend trip to the Maine coast. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

[257j] Winter Ecology An introduction to the ecological and physiological adaptations of plants and animals to the winter environment in central Maine; an extensive field component. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Biology 161 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[258j] Ecological Field Study Intensive study in a south temperate area. Students must cover expenses. Limited scholarship funds are available. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Biology 161 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. N.

271f Introduction to Ecology Introduction to ecological principles, structure and function of ecosystems, patterns of distribution, energy flow, nutrient cycling, population dynamics, and adaptations of organisms to their physical environment. Application of these principles to current environmental problems. Field trips to sites representative of local terrestrial, freshwater, and marine ecosystems. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructors. Four credit hours. Mr. Cole and Ms. Rudolph of mammals and how it permits them to solve problems such as movement, acquisition and utilization of food and fluids, transfer and integration of information, and reproduction. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor.

277f Animal Cells, Tissues, and Organs Studies of the organization of cells into tissues and organs in animals. Emphasis on the relationship between cellular morphology and tissue and organ function. Laboratories emphasize the microanatomy of mammalian tissues and tissue culture techniques and experimentation. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. Mr. Greenwood

279s Genetics The mechanisms of inheritance, with emphasis on experimental findings. The physical and chemical bases for the behavior of genes, and applications of genetic principles to society. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours. MR. CHAMPLIN

298As Plant-Animal Interactions A broad array of interactions between plants and animals explored from ecological, evolutionary, and social perspectives. Topics include herbivory, pollination, seed dispersal, ethnobotany, agriculture, pest management, habitat choice, and landscape design. The utility of basic biological literacy in considering a wide range of current issues and problems. Laboratory includes field trips and individual or group research projects. Prerequisite: Biology 161 or permission of the instructor. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours. MR. LABOV

298Bs Introduction to Marine Biology A study of marine organisms and their environment with emphasis on coastal systems. Marine organisms, their environment, and the quantitative methods used to study them. Occasional weekend field trips to the coast. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. N. MS. RUOOLPH

312f Vertebrate Zoology A study of the vertebrates with emphasis on functional anatomy, natural history, and evolutionary relationships. The adaptive strategies of vertebrates to interactions with their environment. Species common to New England are emphasized. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162, 271 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MS. O'REILLY

351s Environmental Microbiology The ecology of microorganisms associated with plants and animals, as well as terrestrial and aquatic microorganisms and their general role in the environment. Laboratories include both field- and laboratory-based components. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162, 238, Chemistry 141, 142, or permission of the instructor. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours. MR. FEKETE

352s Ecological Theory The theoretical aspects of population and community ecology, emphasizing population regulation, demography, trophic relationships, community structure and organization, and succession. Coevolutionary interactions between plants and animals. Relevance of ecological theory to the solution of environmental problems. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162, 271, or permission of the instructors. Four credit hours. MR. COLE AND MS. RUOOLPH

[354] Marine Biology A study of marine organisms and their environment with emphasis on coastal systems. Laboratory exercises provide quantitative methods for studying organisms. Occasional weekend field trips to the coast. Lecture and laboratory. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162, junior or senior standing, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

[357] Physiological Ecology An examination of the physiological and behavioral adaptations of organisms to environmental conditions and consideration of how such adaptations affect the interactions of organisms. Examples drawn from terrestrial, marine, and freshwater plants and animals. An independent field project is component of the laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162, 271, or permission of the instructor. Lecture: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours.
358j  Ecological Field Study  Intensive study in a tropical area. Students must cover expenses. Limited scholarship funds are available. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162 or permission of the instructors. Three credit hours.  [FACULTY]

[372]  Cellular Dynamics  Investigations of major active and passive processes of eukaryotic cells. Various aspects of cellular phenomena including motility, cellular communication, and second-messenger systems. Laboratory exercises investigate many processes discussed in lecture. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162. Four credit hours.

373f  Animal Behavior  An examination of animal behavior from a biological perspective. Topics include the control, development, function, and evolution of behavior. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162, junior or senior standing, or permission of the instructor. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours.  [MR. LABOV]

375s  Comparative Animal Physiology  A comparative study and broad overview of physiological systems and adaptations among animals from morphological, biochemical, and mechanical perspectives. General physiological principles illustrated by examining variation in musculoskeletal, cardiovascular, respiratory, digestive, and osmoregulatory systems. Laboratory emphasizes an experimental approach to the measurement of physiological processes. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162, Chemistry 141, 142, or permission of the instructor. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours.  [MS. BEST]

381f  Biomechanics  An analysis of organismal design—in terms of shape, size, functional morphology, and material properties—and its relationship to the physical environment. The influence of physical forces on organismal design emphasized by examining structure and function in terms of basic mechanical design principles. The dependence of mechanical behavior on the structure of molecules, tissues, structural elements, whole organisms, and habitats. Prerequisite: Biology 161, 162, and either 254, 271, 312, 354, or 375, or permission of the instructor. Previous exposure to physics will be helpful. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours. MS. BEST

490fs  Senior Colloquium  Attendance at selected departmental colloquia during the fall and spring semesters; written evaluations to be submitted. Required of all senior biology majors. Noncredit. FACULTY

491f, 492s  Independent Study  Prerequisite: Permission of a faculty sponsor. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

493f  Problems in Environmental Science  Causes of and solutions to selected environmental problems studied through lectures, discussions, and guest presentations. A group project is conducted to teach methods used by private firms and governmental agencies to investigate environmental problems. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Senior standing in the environmental science concentration or permission of the instructors. Four credit hours. MR. COLE AND MS. O'REILLY

[494]  Topics in Biology  Reading and discussion about contemporary topics in biology. Prerequisite: Senior standing as a biology major or permission of the instructor. One credit hour. FACULTY

Students in the Chemistry Department are provided a firm foundation in the fundamental principles of the discipline. The student major has access to a wide range of instruments for course work and research projects under supervision of a faculty that includes teaching specialists in analytical, environmental, inorganic, organic, and physical chemistry, biochemistry, and molecular biology. Many students go on to graduate school in chemistry or biochemistry or to careers in medicine, dentistry, health-related fields, and industrial research. Other career choices in recent years have included patent law, chemical engineering, environmental studies, computer sciences, and molecular biology.

The department offers several programs: (1) the chemistry major, (2) the chemistry-ACS major (accredited by the American Chemical Society), (3) the chemistry major with a concentration in cell and molecular biology/biochemistry, (4) the chemistry-biochemistry major, (5) the chemistry-environmental sciences concentration, and (6) the chemistry minor. Of the majors, the ACS major is focused most sharply toward graduate work in chemistry. It should be noted that chemistry majors who intend to apply for admission to medical, dental, or veterinary schools must take a biology course with laboratory. For maximum flexibility, students are encouraged to take Chemistry 141 and 142 in their first year. All prospective majors should meet with the chair of the department as early as possible to plan their full chemistry programs.

Attention is called to the interdepartmental geology-chemistry major.

Students interested in teaching, private and public, are urged to read the “Education” section of the catalogue and to contact a member of the Education Department.

Requirements for the Major in Chemistry
Chemistry 141, 142, 241, 242, 331, 341, 342, 493, 494; Mathematics 121, 122 or 123, 124; Physics 141, 142.

Requirements for the Major in Chemistry-ACS
All courses required for the basic major, plus Chemistry 332, 411, 413, and six additional credit hours selected from 367, 368 or any 400-level course. Up to three credits of senior-level research or independent study may be included in the six credits. Substitution of upper-level courses from other departments in the science division is often possible.

Requirements for the Major in Chemistry with a Concentration in Cell and Molecular Biology/Biochemistry
Chemistry 141, 142, 241, 242, 341, 367, 368, 376, 493, 494; Biology 161, 162, 279 (with laboratory), and one additional biology course numbered 200 or higher; Mathematics 121, 122 or 123, 124; Physics 141, 142.

Requirements for the Major in Chemistry-Biochemistry
Chemistry 141, 142, 241, 242, 341, 367, 368, 493, 494; Mathematics 121, 122 or 123, 124; Physics 141, 142; Biology 161, 162; either Chemistry 376 or one additional biology course numbered 200 or higher; and one course from Chemistry 331, 342, or 411.

Requirements for the Concentration in Chemistry-Environmental Sciences
All courses required for the chemistry major; Chemistry 217 and 481 or 482; Economics 133, 231; Biology 161, 162 or Geology 141, 142.

Additional Requirements for All Majors in Chemistry Department
Each major must complete a chemistry-related independent study project equivalent to two (or preferably three) credit hours. This requirement can be satisfied through independent study, January Program, or summer research project and forms the basis of the seminar presentation in Chemistry 494. In certain cases, January Program courses may be substituted.

Seminars are held on Tuesday evenings; all chemistry majors are expected to attend, and seniors are required to participate.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all required courses and all elected chemistry courses. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Honors Project in Chemistry
Majors in chemistry are encouraged to elect an honors research project with approval of a faculty sponsor in the department. Successful completion of the work of the honors research project, and of the major, will enable the student to graduate "With Honors in Chemistry." Attention is also called to the Senior Scholars Program.

Requirements for the Minor in Chemistry
Chemistry 141, 142, 241, and at least 10 credit hours in three courses selected from the following: Chemistry 217, 242, 331, 332, 341, 342, 367, 368, 376, 411, 431, 432, or 434. Students are strongly advised to consult with a member of the chemistry faculty to select a logical grouping of courses for the minor. Chemistry/Biology 367, 368, and 376 cannot be used to fulfill the requirements for both a major and the chemistry minor.

112s Chemistry for Citizens Basic chemical principles and their application to topics of current concern, such as environmental problems, energy, nuclear reactions, recycling, health, and consumerism. Intended as a course for nonscience majors. Students with prior credit for Chemistry 141 may not receive credit for Chemistry 112. Enrollment in laboratory is limited. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory (satisfies the laboratory science distribution requirement): four credit hours. N. MR. SMITH
[115] Chemicals and Society  Discussion will focus on the original elements (fire, water, earth, air) as an introduction to modern chemical principles and their connection to current problems such as energy sources, mineral resources, and pollution. A recurring theme is that of technological traps. Intended as a nonlaboratory course for nonscience majors. Three credit hours.

[118] Biotechnology  Various aspects of biotechnology are explored, including the science behind this field; practical applications are considered as well as the future impact of biotechnology. Intended as a course for nonscience majors, it is not appropriate for students majoring in chemistry or biology. Enrollment in laboratory is limited. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory (satisfies the laboratory science distribution requirement): four credit hours.  N.

331f Chemical Methods of Analysis  A study of fundamentals of analytical chemistry. Lectures are devoted to principles underlying chemical analysis; acid/base, redox, and complex equilibria; and quantitative treatment of data. Prerequisite: Chemistry 142. Four credit hours.  MR. KING

332s Instrumental Methods of Analysis  Instruction in instrumental methods, including modern electroanalytical methods, absorption spectroscopy, fluorescence, nuclear magnetic resonance, mass spectrometry, and chromatography. Prerequisite: Chemistry 331, 342 (may be taken concurrently), or permission of instructor. Four credit hours.  MR. KING

376s  Molecular Genetics  Studies of the molecular biology of prokaryotic and eukaryotic organisms, emphasizing genetics, biochemistry, and physiology. The structure and synthesis of DNA and RNA, protein synthesis, mechanisms of gene expression, and genetic engineering. Also listed as Biology 376. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 279 and Chemistry 242 (may be taken concurrently), or permission of the instructors. Four credit hours.  MR. BOURGAIZE

394fs  Topics in Cell and Molecular Biochemistry  Discussion of advanced topics of current interest based on the primary literature. May be repeated for credit. Also listed as Biology 394. Prerequisite: junior standing or permission of the instructor. One credit hour.  MR. BOURGAIZE

411f  Inorganic Chemistry  Current models and concepts in inorganic chemistry, with emphasis on both structural and reaction aspects. Topics include bonding and structure, periodic properties, acid-base theories, nonaqueous solvents, applications of thermodynamics, coordination compounds, and selected areas of descriptive chemistry of current interest. Lecture only. Prerequisite: Chemistry 342. Four credit hours.  MR. SMITH

413f  Inorganic Laboratory Studies  Synthesis and characterization of inorganic and organometallic compounds of both the representative and transition elements. Discussion and laboratory. Corequisite: Chemistry 411. Two credit hours.  MR. SMITH

431f  Physical Organic Chemistry  Computational methods for examining organic reaction mechanisms are explored. Molecular orbital theory is used to study the effects of orbital symmetry on the course of pericyclic reactions. Lecture only. Prerequisite: Chemistry 242. Three credit hours.  MR. MUNDY, MR. POON, AND MR. SHATTUCK

432s  Advanced Organic Chemistry  The logic and methods of organic synthesis are explored. The elementary organic reactions studied in Chemistry 241, 242 are augmented and used in the synthesis of biologically and chemically important molecules. Lecture only. Prerequisite: Chemistry 242 or equivalent. Three credit hours.  MR. MUNDY

481f, 482s  Special Topics in Environmental Chemistry  Primarily a laboratory course with emphasis on independent studies of environmentally related topics. A paper and oral presentation are required. Prerequisite: Chemistry 217 and permission of the department. One to three credit hours.  FACULTY

in an honors thesis. Prerequisite: Permission of the department and recommendation of the faculty sponsor. 483: two or three credit hours; 483j: three credit hours; 484: one to three credit hours. FACULTY

491f, 492s Independent Study  Laboratory work of a research nature may be arranged with the instructor. Three to nine hours per week. One to three credit hours. FACULTY

493f, 494s Seminar  Discussion of topics of current interest in all areas of the chemical literature. One credit hour. FACULTY

In the Department of East Asian Studies.

A minor in Chinese is offered for students who have a substantial interest in Chinese language and culture.

Requirements for the Minor in Chinese
Five language courses, normally Chinese 126, 127, 128, 321, and 322 and one Chinese literature course at the 200 level or higher. Literature courses are listed in the "East Asian Studies" section of this catalogue.

125f, 126s Elementary Chinese  Introduction to spoken and written Mandarin Chinese, to provide a thorough grounding in all the language skills: speaking, listening, reading, and writing. Prerequisite: Chinese 125 is prerequisite for 126. Five credit hours. MS. ZHANG

127f, 128s Intermediate Chinese  A continuation of Chinese 126, with greater emphasis on written Chinese. Prerequisite: Chinese 126; Chinese 127 is prerequisite for 128. Four credit hours. MS. CAI

321f, 322s Third-Year Chinese  Advanced Chinese language, concentrating on reading, writing, and speaking. Prerequisite: Chinese 128 or permission of the instructor; Chinese 321 is prerequisite for 322. Two to four credit hours. MS. CAI

[421, 422] Fourth-Year Chinese  Further readings and writing in Chinese. Prerequisite: Chinese 322. Chinese 421 is prerequisite for 422. Three or four credit hours.

491f, 492s Independent Study  Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours. FACULTY

Courses offered by the Classics Department include "Classics," "Greek," and "Latin." Also offered are courses in "Ancient History," which are listed under "Ancient History."

Acting Chair, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR KERILL O'NEILL
Professors Peter Westervelt¹, Peyton R. Helm¹, Hanna Roisman¹, and Joseph Roisman¹; Assistant Professor O'Neill; Visiting Assistant Professor James C. Barrett; Visiting Instructor Darryl A. Phillips
The Department of Classics encourages the study of the civilizations of Greece and Rome. The study of classics and classical civilization is an interdisciplinary endeavor based on courses in languages, literature, history, archaeology, philosophy, political science, religion, and art. The pursuit of classics and classical civilization allows the acquiring of a liberal education by examining humanistic values of the ancient world and their impact on the pre-modern and the modern ages. Most students find the study of the classics beneficial in developing methodological and analytical thinking and most advantageous in pursuing careers in higher education, law, management, medicine, government, art, teaching, and other fields.

The department offers majors and minors in classics and classical civilization, as well as majors in classics-English and classical civilization-English.

Students majoring in classics may concentrate in one of the following: Greek literature, Latin literature, a combination of both, or classical civilization. There is also the opportunity to study in Greece or Italy in programs especially for American students, as well as occasion for experiencing field archaeology through arrangement with other institutions.

Requirements for the Major in Classics
Even though a student majoring in classics may concentrate in either Greek or Latin, it is recommended that students planning to pursue the study of classics in graduate school study both Greek and Latin, electing a schedule of courses approved by the department.

Three courses numbered 200 or higher in Greek or Latin.

Four additional courses selected from at least two of the following categories:
(a) Additional courses in either language.
(b) Two courses in ancient history.
(c) Two courses elected from courses in translation offered by the Classics and other departments: Classics 133, 135, 137, 139, 151, 197, 232, 236, 258; Ancient History 154, 158, 356, 393, 398; Art 311, 312; Philosophy 231 or the equivalent.

Requirements for the Major in Classical Civilization
(No knowledge of Latin or Greek is required.)
The major in classical civilization consists of at least 10 courses as follows:
(a) Three courses selected from the following: Classics 133, 137, 232, 236.
(b) Ancient History 154, 158.
(c) One course numbered 300 or higher in classics or ancient history.
(d) Four additional courses selected from the following: Classics 135, 139, 151, 197, 258; Ancient History 356, 393, 398; Greek 111, 112, 131; Latin 111, 112, 131; Art 311, 312; Government 217; Philosophy 212, 231, 392; Religious Studies 203, 204; or equivalent courses selected in consultation with the major adviser.

Requirements for the Major in Classics-English
In classics: six semester courses of Greek or Latin, three of which are numbered 200 or higher. In English: six semester courses approved by the departments.

Requirements for the Major in Classical Civilization-English
In classics: six semester courses approved by the departments.
In English: six semester courses approved by the departments.

The point scale for retention of each of the above majors applies to all courses that may be credited toward the major. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Requirements for the Minor in Classics
The minor (concentrating in Greek, Latin, or combination of both) consists of six courses: Greek 111, 112, 131, or Latin 111, 112, 131; two courses in Greek or Latin numbered 200 or higher (in the case of a combination of both languages, courses in the other ancient language will be counted towards the requirement); one course selected from the following categories:
(a) Additional course numbered 200 or higher in either language.
(b) One course in ancient history.
(c) One course numbered 200 or higher in the other ancient language.
(d) One course selected from courses in translation offered by the Classics Department.
The courses are selected in consultation with the adviser.
Requirements for the Minor in Classical Civilization

(No knowledge of Latin or Greek is required.)

(a) Classics 133 or 137.
(b) Classics 232 or 236.
(c) Ancient History 154 or 158.
(d) One 300-level course or higher in classics or ancient history.
(e) Three additional courses selected from the following: Greek 111, 112, 131; Latin 111, 112, 131; Classics 133, 135, 137, 139, 151, 197, 232, 236; Ancient History 154, 158; Art 311, 312; Government 217; Philosophy 212, 231, 392; Religious Studies 203, 204; or equivalent courses selected in consultation with the adviser of the minor.

The point scale for retention of each of the above minors applies to all courses that may be credited toward the minor. No requirement for a minor may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

'On leave full year.
'Vice president for development and alumni relations.
'Joint appointment in classics and history.

Courses Offered in Classics

[133] Greek Myth and Literature  A survey of the Greek myths, with emphasis on their content and significance in both ancient and modern society; the creation of myths; and the use of myths for our understanding of classical literature and moral and political concepts. Three or four credit hours. L.

135f History and the Homeric Epics  An exploration of the Homeric epics, their historical context, and the extent to which they can be used as historical source material. Readings include the Iliad and the Odyssey as well as secondary scholarship on Homeric poetry and Greek history. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. H. MR. HELM

137f Literature of Greece and Rome  An introduction to the literature and thought of ancient Greece and Rome. Readings in translation will include epic and lyric poetry, tragedy and comedy, and historical, political, and philosophical writings. Discussion will include a consideration of the impact of classical literature on Western civilization. Three or four credit hours. L. MR. BARRETT

139j Athens, Rome, and Jerusalem  The Greek, Roman, and Jewish civilizations came into direct contact and also conflict with each other. How did they first make contact? What impact did they have on one another? What were their views of each other? Were their values, beliefs, and ambitions irreconcilable or amenable to peaceful coexistence? The periods when Greeks, Romans, and Jews fought yet also lived together in peace. Readings in translation include Plutarch, Josephus, and the New Testament. Two credit hours.

[151] Anatomy of Bioscientific Terminology  The Greek and Latin word elements that combine to form most of the specialized terms in biological sciences. The student who learns the meanings of these elements and the rules of word formation will usually recognize the basic meaning of any unfamiliar word in this field. Attention also to misinformation, common errors, and words still in use that reflect scientific theories since rejected. Three credit hours.

[177, 178] Topics in Classics  Two or three credit hours.

197j Life and Death in Ancient Rome  A social history of Rome focusing on daily life of people in the ancient city. Topics include marriage, prostitution, sports and entertainment, slavery, Roman religion, and funeral practices. A variety of ancient literary and legal texts in translation as well as archaeological evidence. Supplementary readings of modern scholarship present different avenues of approach to studying ancient Roman society. Three credit hours.

H.

[232] Greek Tragedy  The tragedies of Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides. Study of the themes of tragic drama, its form and meaning in the fifth century B.C. and today; discussion of possible stagings, significance of variations in the treatment of myth, and political background. Special attention to critical writings on methods, spirit, and purpose of tragedy. All readings in translation. Two or three credit hours.

L.

236s Roman Legends and Literature  Through reading the works of selected Roman authors in translation, an examination of major concepts in mythology: cosmogony, the hero, the interplay of legend and history, etc. Four credit hours.

MR. O’NEILL

[258] Romans and Jews: History, Religion, and Archaeology  Drawing upon both literary and archaeological evidence, the course deals with the relationship between the Romans and the Jews in the early centuries of the common era, a period important for the development of religious and cultural forms that greatly affect nearly all subsequent history. Focus is especially, but not entirely, on cultural conflict and its resolution. Roman culture, Jewish culture, and early Christianity will be seen in juxtaposition. Topics considered include the demise of the Hasmonean dynasty, the Jewish War, Masada, Qumran, and the Dead Sea Scrolls; considerable attention to writings of the first-century Jewish historian Flavius Josephus. Two credit hours.

Courses Offered in Greek

Students are strongly encouraged to take Greek 111, 112, and 131 in consecutive semesters.

111s, [111j] Introductory Greek  Introduction of Ancient Greek grammar and syntax. Four credit hours (three in January).

112s Intermediate Greek  Greek grammar and syntax. Selected readings. Prerequisite: Greek 111. Four credit hours.

MR. BARRETT

131f Introduction to Greek Literature  Successful completion of this course fulfills the College language requirement. Prerequisite: Greek 112. Four credit hours.

L.

L.

[233] Plato: Symposium  Four credit hours.

L.

MR. BARRETT

[237] Theophrastus: Characters  Four credit hours.

[352] Euripides: Hippolytos  Four credit hours.

FACULTY
[356] Homer: Iliad  Four credit hours.

[358] Sophocles: Electra  Four credit hours.  L.

360s Sophocles: Oedipus the King  Four credit hours.  L.  MR. BARRETT

491f, 492s Independent Study  Reading in a field of the student’s interest, with essays and conferences.  Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

Courses Offered in Latin

Placement of first-year students in Latin courses is determined by an examination given by the department during orientation week in the fall semester only. Students are strongly encouraged to take Latin 111, 112, and 131 in consecutive semesters.

111f Introductory Latin  An introductory course in Latin grammar and syntax.  Four credit hours.  MR. O’NEILL

131f Introduction to Latin Literature  Selected readings. Successful completion of this course fulfills the College language requirement.  Prerequisite: Latin 111, 112. Four credit hours.  L.  MR. O’NEILL

[231] Tibullus and Propertius  Four credit hours.  L.

[233] Ovid: The Remedies of Love  Four credit hours.

[235] Virgil: Aeneid  Four credit hours.

239f Cicero and Sallust  Four credit hours.  L.  MR. O’NEILL

[354] Roman Elegy and Lyrics  Four credit hours.

358s Tacitus: Agricola  Four credit hours.  L.  MR. O’NEILL

[362] Virgil: Eclogues  Four credit hours.  L.

491f, 492s Independent Study  Reading in a field of the student’s interest, with essays and conferences.  Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

[494] Seminar  Selected topics.  Four credit hours.

In the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science.

Associate Professor Dale Skrien; Assistant Professor Batya Friedman; Visiting Assistant Professor Krishna Kumar

The department offers a major and a minor in computer science. The computer science major can be taken with honors.

Colby computer science majors in recent years have entered graduate school to do advanced work. They also have used the major as a solid foundation for careers in industry.

Requirements for the Major in Computer Science

Computer Science 115, 231, 232, 333, 352, 371, 375; Mathematics 121 or 123, 122 or 124, 274; three courses chosen from Computer Science 353, 355, 357, 378, 491, 492, Mathematics 253, 332, 372 (where 491 or 492 must be taken for at least three credits).

Requirements for the Honors Program in Computer Science

See the Requirements for the Honors Program listed under “Mathematics.”

Requirements for the Minor in Computer Science

Computer Science 115, 231, 232; Mathematics 274 or Philosophy 152; two additional courses in Computer Science numbered 200 or above (where 491 or 492 must be taken for at least three credits).

The point scale for retention of the major/minor applies to all courses in the major/minor. No requirement for the major/minor may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

[011] An Introduction to TeX

The TeX typesetting system has been described as a system for creating beautiful books, especially books containing large amounts of mathematics or other technical material. It can be used on many different kinds of computers, is extremely flexible, has powerful font-handling capabilities, and is fast becoming the standard in many fields, from mathematics to theoretical linguistics. The course provides a hands-on introduction to TeX on the Macintosh. Noncredit.

113fs Great Ideas in Computer Science

An introduction to computer science that provides an overview of the important ideas in the field. Topics may include history, programming, human-computer interaction, hardware, theory of computation, artificial intelligence, and social issues. A weekly laboratory session provides hands-on computer experience. No previous computer experience required. Four credit hours. Q. MS. FRIEDMAN

115s Structured Programming and Elementary Algorithms

Problem solving and programming in a high-level language such as Pascal. Topics include algorithm development, control structures, data structures, and their implementation. Four credit hours. Q. MR. KUMAR

[213j] Collaborative Software Development

A team approach to design and implement a moderate-size software project, typically in the C programming language. Emphasis is on collaborative programming skills, such as portability, elimination of side effects, testing, and communication. Prerequisite: Computer Science 231. Four credit hours.

231f Data Structures and Algorithms

An introduction to the primary data structures and the algorithms that operate on them. Data structures to be studied include arrays, graphs, trees, stacks, and queues. The algorithms include searching, sorting, insertion, deletion, and traversal. Prerequisite: Computer Science 115. Four credit hours. MR. SKRIE

232] Computer Organization

An introduction to computer organization: memory, processors, input/output, virtual machines, and assembly language. Prerequisite: Computer Science 115 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.
332 Introductory Numerical Analysis  Listed as Mathematics 332 (q.v.). Prerequisite: Some programming experience, Mathematics 122 or 124, 253, 274. Four credit hours.

333fs Programming Languages  A survey of programming languages and programming language paradigms, including the history, design, and formal definitions of different languages. Includes study of imperative (e.g., C, Pascal, Ada, Fortran), logic (e.g., Prolog), functional (e.g., ML, Lisp, Scheme), and object-oriented (e.g., Object Pascal, Smalltalk, CLOS, C++, Eiffel) programming languages. Languages are compared to see how well they achieve the goals of solving various types of problems in an efficient and readable manner. Programming projects in some of the languages will be an integral part of the course. Prerequisite: Computer Science 115, 231. Four credit hours.  MR. KUMAR

352 Information System Design  A theoretical and practical examination of the design process as it applies to information systems. Techniques for assessing the need for technology, specifying the system design, and involving users in the design process are explored. Design methods include future scenarios, mock-ups, rapid prototyping, field testing, and formative evaluation. Includes a significant semester-long design project. Offered in alternate years. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Computer Science 231. Four credit hours.

353f Artificial Intelligence  A broad, technical introduction to the central concepts of artificial intelligence and the design of advanced computing systems, together with discussion of the philosophical and ethical issues that surround the subject. Technical topics may include knowledge representation, deduction, systems design, expert systems, learning, natural language understanding, planning, robotics, search, vision, CSCW, connectionism. Offered in alternate years. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Computer Science 231, Mathematics 274. Four credit hours.  MR. KUMAR

355s Human-Computer Interaction  Human-computer interaction spans the spectrum from interface design to envisioning social interactions in cyberspace. An introduction to theories of human-computer interaction, representations of information, and interface design. Advanced topics may include multimedia, computer agents, computer-supported cooperative work (CSCW), virtual reality, and electronic meeting rooms (e.g., MUDs). Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Computer Science 231. Four credit hours.  MS. FRIEDMAN

357 Systems Programming  An introduction to systems programming concepts with an emphasis on timeshare systems and networking. Topics may include storage and memory management, scheduling, I/O, communication, and security. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Computer Science 231. Four credit hours.

371f The Computer and Decision Making  How does computer technology support, hinder, and transform human activity? At the core of this analysis is an understanding of human and computational decision making. Consideration of diverse situations that involve computer technology: management and work, communication, crime prevention, banking and credit, air traffic control, medicine, and national defense. Also listed as Administrative Science 371 (q.v.). Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Administrative Science 212. Four credit hours.  MS. FRIEDMAN

375 Analysis of Algorithms  Analysis of the space and time efficiency of algorithms. Graph, genetic, parallel, and mathematical algorithms as well as algorithms used in cryptography may be explored. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Computer Science 231 and Mathematics 274. Four credit hours.

378 Introduction to the Theory of Computation  Listed as Mathematics 378 (q.v.). Four credit hours.
393fs  Computer Science Reading Seminar  A wide-ranging seminar in computer science on topics of interest organized and participated in by both students and faculty. The format typically entails discussions based on readings from current literature in computer science selected by the seminar participants. Intended to acquaint students with current research and issues in various fields of computer science. Nongraded. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. One credit hour.  MS. FRIEDMAN

491f, 492s  Independent Study  Independent study in an area of computer science of particular interest to the student. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

494fs  Honors Independent Study  The independent study component of the honors program in computer science. Cannot be counted toward the major or minor. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor and admission to the honors program. Three or four credit hours.  FACULTY

Creative Writing

Director, PROFESSOR PETER HARRIS
ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors Harris, Susan Kenney, Richard Russo, and Ira Sadoff; Assistant Professor James Boylan and Visiting Assistant Professor Debra Spark (all of the English Department faculty)
A minor in creative writing may be elected by students majoring in any department of the College. The minor is designed to enhance existing major programs, to add structure and a sense of purpose to those students already committed to creative writing, and to encourage the consideration of serious writing graduate programs.

Requirements for the Minor in Creative Writing
The minor consists of a sequence of one introductory, one intermediate, and one advanced writing course in either fiction or poetry, plus a fourth requirement, either a repetition of the advanced workshop, an independent study in writing, a Senior Scholar project, or an introductory workshop in another genre (poetry, fiction). In addition, the creative writing minor also requires the student, in consultation with the minor adviser, to complete three courses above the 200 level in English or American literature, for a total of seven courses. For example, a fiction writer might take the American Short Story, the Modern American Novel, the 18th Century I, Victorian Literature, African-American Literature, or Contemporary Fiction; a poetry writer might elect Chaucer, The Romantics, the 17th Century, Modern American Poetry, or the Harlem Renaissance.

Admission to intermediate and advanced writing courses is by manuscript submission only.
No requirement for the minor may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

A creative writing concentration within and in addition to the English major is offered as another option in development of skills in creative writing. The requirements for the concentration are specified in the “English” section of this catalogue.

East Asian Studies

Chair, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR KENNETH GANZA
Professor Lee Feigon (History and East Asian Studies); Associate Professors Tamae Prindle (Japanese) and Nikky Singh (Religious Studies); Assistant Professors Ganza (Art and East Asian Studies), Kimberly Ann Besio (Chinese), and Suisheng Zhao (Government); Visiting Assistant Professors Constantine Hriskos (Anthropology) and Robert LaFleur (History); Visiting Instructors Rong Cai
The East Asian studies major contributes a new dimension to the traditional liberal arts curriculum by exposing the student to rich cultures outside the scope of Western civilization. Study abroad during the junior year is strongly encouraged; see “Other Colby Abroad Programs” for information about the Associated Kyoto Program in Japan and various programs in China.

Requirements for the Major in East Asian Studies

A minimum of five semesters of training in Chinese or Japanese language and 21 additional credit hours to include East Asian 151, 152, one course in Chinese or Japanese literature, at least one seminar or independent study devoted to East Asia, and any other course dealing with East Asian studies from the departments of Anthropology, Art, Government, History, Literature, Philosophy, or Religious Studies.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses offered towards the major. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Honors in East Asian Studies

An honors program is available for senior majors who have earned a 3.25 major average and who apply for the program prior to the end of their junior year. Some aspect of the culture of East Asia will be studied as the honors project in East Asian Studies 483 and 484.

Attention is called to the minor in Chinese and the minor in Japanese. Requirements for these minors are listed under “Chinese” and “Japanese.”

Requirements for the Minor in East Asian Studies

The East Asian studies minor consists of seven courses: East Asian Studies 151, 152, Chinese 125, 126 or Japanese 125, 126, and three additional non-language courses, two of which must be elected from the 200 or higher level and at least one of which must be at the 300 or higher level among those courses approved for the major in East Asian studies. None of these non-language courses may be double-counted towards the Chinese or Japanese minor. When electing the three additional non-language courses, students are not required to concentrate their studies solely on Chinese or Japanese.

151f, 152s Self, State, and Society in East Asia An introduction to the society and culture of East Asia, focusing on the elite and popular culture of the region as personified by the great historical personalities of China and Japan. Topics in the history, philosophy, religion, language, literature, and government of the area. Four credit hours. H, D. MR. LAFLEUR AND MR. GANZA

[231] The Chinese Novel: Vignettes of Life in Imperial China A critical examination of the development of classical Chinese literature of various genres such as poetry, popular songs, philosophical discourse, historical narrative, prose, fiction, tales of the supernatural and the fantastic, romance, and drama. All readings are in English translation. Four credit hours. L, D.

[251] Imaging Chinese Women: Ideas and Ideals in China An examination of woman as trope in Chinese literature over the last two millennia. How “woman” became a cultural construct and how that construct has defined gender role and femininity; how women were portrayed in male-written texts and how women perceived themselves in female-written texts. Knowledge of Chinese language is not required. Three or four credit hours. L, D.

[271] Women in Japanese Cinema and Literature While the visual medium portrays Japanese women in the context of Japanese culture, short stories and novels identify them from a literary perspective. The period covered by this course extends from the Heian period (794-1192) to contemporary Japan. Western and Japanese feminists add ideological frameworks to discussions. Knowledge of Japanese language is not required. Four credit hours. L, D.

457s Seminar on Japanese Culture: The Invention of Japan Japanese culture is a hybrid of heterogeneous discourses. The course examines how tradition is invented at each moment in history. Focusing on issues surrounding World War II, minorities, women, language, law, and citizens’ movements, and approaching topics through a variety of routes, from official and academic histories to the products of popular culture such as television, comic books, and movies. Four credit hours. D. MS. KODAMA

483f, 484s Honors Project An interdisciplinary analysis of an aspect of East Asian culture employing diverse sources and methods. Independent study, extensive readings, consultations, and a thesis. Successful completion of the honors project and of the major will result in the degree being awarded “With Honors in East Asian Studies.” Prerequisite: Senior standing, a 3.25 major average, and permission of a faculty mentor. Three credit hours. FACULTY

491f, 492s Independent Study Individual study of special problems in East Asian civilization, offered in the departments that participate in the program. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

Chair, PROFESSOR CLIFFORD REID
Professors Jan Hogendorn, Henry Gemery, James Meehan, Thomas Tietenberg, Reid, and Randy Nelson1; Associate Professors David Findlay, Patrice Franko2, and Debra Barbezat3; Assistant Professors Michael Donihue and Saranna Thornton

In addition to dealing with the study of market behavior, consumers, inflation, and unemployment, economic tools find increasing use in other social sciences, with the skills of the economist central to studies of gender and race discrimination, poverty, energy, technology, international relations, government behavior, the environment, the population explosion, crime, and other issues of public and private life. The Economics Department provides a wide selection of courses that analyze problems arising in these areas. The major provides an undergraduate an excellent background for employment and graduate work in numerous fields, including economics, business, law, government, and education.

Requirements for the Major in Economics

Economics 133, 134, 223*, 224*, 391; Mathematics 121 or 123; either Mathematics 231 or the two-course sequence 381, 382; one of the senior seminars numbered Economics 431, 472, 493; three additional courses (totaling at least nine credit hours) in economics, of which two must be numbered 300 or above (at least one of the 300-level courses must be taken at Colby). The comprehensive examination administered during the senior year must be passed. Administrative Science 311 may be used to satisfy the non-300-level elective requirement. Although potential majors are strongly encouraged to take Economics 133 and 134 in their first year, completion of the major is possible even if begun during the second year.

Requirements for the Major in Economics with a Concentration in Financial Markets

Economics 133, 134, 223*, 224*, 391, 393, 493 (either Economic Forecasting or Economics of Organizations), and either 277 or 338; Administrative Science 211, 311 and 322; Mathematics 121 or 123; either Mathematics 231 or the two-course sequence 381, 382. Two additional elective economics courses, at least one of which must be at the 300 level. The comprehensive examination administered during the senior year must be passed.

*Note: To continue in either major, students must receive a grade of C- or better in Economics 223 and 224. All economic theory courses (223, 224) counting toward the major, Economics 391, and the senior seminar must be taken at Colby. Any student who has tried and failed to satisfy an intermediate theory requirement at Colby (i.e., received a grade of D+ or below for the major or F for the minor) may elect to take the same course elsewhere by securing the approval of the department chair on the standard credit transfer approval form. For other students seeking to fulfill the intermediate theory requirement with a course taken elsewhere, approval for the standard credit transfer form can be secured only by petitioning the Economics Department and having the petition approved by majority vote of the Economics Department faculty.

Students who wish to do graduate work in economics are urged to elect Economics 336, 393, and 431 and additional courses in mathematics, e.g., Mathematics 311, 338, 372.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to courses in economics, to all courses in administrative science used to fulfill major requirements, and to Mathematics 121 or 123 and 231. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Honors Program in Economics

Students majoring in economics may apply during the second semester of their junior year for admission to the honors program. Permission is required; guidelines are established by the department. Successful completion of the work of the honors project and of the major will enable the student to graduate "With Honors in Economics."

Requirements for the Major in Economics-Mathematics

Economics 133, 134, 223, 224, 336, 393, 472; one additional elective economics course numbered 300 or above (excluding Economics 493); Mathematics 122 or 124, 253, 381, 382; two additional elective mathematics courses from Mathematics 274, 311, 313, 331, 332, 338, 352, and 372. The comprehensive examination administered during the senior year must be passed. The point scale for retention of the economics-mathematics major applies to all courses offered toward the major. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Honors Program in Economics-Mathematics

Students majoring in economics-mathematics may apply during the second semester of their junior year for admission to the honors program. Permission is required; guidelines are established by the department. Successful completion of the work of the honors project and of the major will enable the student to graduate "With Honors in Economics-Mathematics."

Requirements for the Minor in Economics

Economics 133, 134, 223, 224, and two elective courses in economics totaling at least six credit hours, of which at least three credit hours must be at the 300 level or higher. Independent studies cannot be used to fulfill the 300-level course requirement. No requirement for the minor may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

1Joint appointment in administrative science and economics.
3On leave first semester.

133fs Principles of Microeconomics Principles of microeconomics and their applications to price determination, industrial structure, environmental protection, poverty and discrimination, international trade, and public policy. Four credit hours. S. FACULTY

134fs Principles of Macroeconomics Principles of macroeconomics and their applications: national product and income accounting, monetary and fiscal policy, inflation, international finance, unemployment, and growth. Four credit hours. S. FACULTY

213j The Brazilian Economy: An Economic Laboratory Experience The course will examine on site the range of economic problems facing Brazil: inequality, trade, labor, macroeconomics, and the environment. Fees for the trip to be announced. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two credit hours. MS. FRANKO

217j Issues in Macroeconomic Policy Uses economic analysis to examine critical current issues in U.S. macroeconomic policy. Topics include the budget, deficit and national debt, desirability of a balanced budget amendment; secrecy vs. openness in the formulation of discretionary monetary policy; and discretion vs. rules in the conduct of monetary policy. Prerequisite: Economics 134. Two credit hours. MS. THORNTON

218j Seminar on the Economics of Technical Change An introduction to the nature of technological change and innovation as they bear on economic structure and growth. Examines technical change in both its theoretical and historical context. Prerequisite: Economics 133, 134 or permission of the instructor. Two or three credit hours. MR. GEMERY

223fs Microeconomic Theory The theory of the pricing, distribution, and allocation of resources in a market economy. Emphasis will be placed on the various meanings of economic efficiency. Prerequisite: Economics 133, 134. Four credit hours. MR. MEEHAN AND MR. REID

224fs Macroeconomic Theory Analysis of the theories of national income determination, the factors affecting employment, and the price level. Emphasis is placed on the choice of fiscal and monetary policies and current issues in the conduct of stabilization policy. Prerequisite: Economics 223. Four credit hours. MR. FINDLAY AND MR. DONIHUE
Environmental and Natural Resource Economics
An introductory survey course using economic analysis to explain the underlying behavioral causes of environmental and natural resource problems and to evaluate the policy responses to them. Topics covered include air and water pollution, toxic substances, the allocation of renewable and exhaustible resources, and sustainable development. Prerequisite: Economics 133. Three or four credit hours.

Seminar in Economic History: 20th-Century Western Europe
European growth in this century has been marked by two world wars, by depression, by major participation in international trade and finance, by decolonization, and by moves toward integration. An examination, beginning with World War I and its economic repercussions, of the economic experience of the Western European countries through the present European community. Prerequisite: Economics 133, 134. Two credit hours.

The Economics of Women, Men, and Work
An examination of the past, present, and future economic status of women. Topics include the implications of changing economic and social roles of women for the division of labor in the family; the allocation of time of husband and wife between the household and the labor market; the impact of rising female labor force participation on marriage, childbearing, and divorce; and economic explanations of gender differences in earnings and occupation, including the role of labor market discrimination in observed gender differences in market outcomes. Prerequisite: Economics 133. Three or four credit hours.

European Economic History
The framework of economic analysis applied to European historical patterns and trends. Aspects of industrialization, capital accumulation, technological change, trade and migration, and effects of entrepreneurial and governmental decisions. Prerequisite: Economics 133, 134. Three credit hours.

American Economic History
The framework of economic analysis applied to American historical patterns and trends. Aspects of industrialization, capital accumulation, technological change, trade and migration, and effects of entrepreneurial and governmental decisions. Prerequisite: Economics 133, 134. Three or four credit hours.

International Finance
An analysis of international monetary relations. Topics include foreign exchange markets, the history of foreign exchange regimes, capital flows, the balance of payments, adjustment to balance of payments disequilibrium, national income determination in an open economy, international monetary organizations, monetary reform, and macroeconomic policy coordination. Prerequisite: Economics 133, 134. Four credit hours.

International Trade
An analysis of international trade. Topics include theories of international trade, the gains from trade, the impact upon factor incomes, commercial policy, commodity agreements and cartels, and international trade organizations. Prerequisite: Economics 133, 134. Three or four credit hours.

Economic Development of the Third World
The less-developed countries and their prospects for economic betterment. Analysis of the techniques involved and the problems to be encountered in the growth process. Prerequisite: Economics 133, 134. Three or four credit hours.

Topics in Law and Economics
A seminar examining the common law and the legal system from the point of view of economic analysis. The focus is on the effect of the legal system on allocation of resources, both as a substitute for and a complement to the market system. Specific topics include the definition and allocation of property rights, the assignment of liability for accidents and defective products, and the role of damage remedies for breach of contract. Research paper required; may be done for fourth credit or as Economics 391. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Economics 223. Three or four credit hours. MR. TIETENBERG

331f Industrial Organization and Antitrust Economics An examination of the structure, conduct, and performance of American industries to determine if the market process efficiently allocates resources to meet consumer demand. An economic analysis of the antitrust laws and an evaluation of their performances. Reference will be made to specific industries and cases. Prerequisite: Economics 223. Three or four credit hours. MR. MEEHAN

332s Regulated Industries An examination of specific regulated markets and the rationale for regulation in each. The economic effects of regulation on price, cost of production, and quality of product or service will be explored. The success of regulation will be evaluated relative to the market outcome that would be expected in the absence of regulation. Prerequisite: Economics 223. Three or four credit hours. MR. MEEHAN

338f Money, Banking, and Monetary Policy An examination of the monetary system of the United States. Topics include the determination and role of interest rates, the organization and operation of the banking firm, innovations and regulations of the banking industry, and the implementation and evaluation of monetary policies. Particular emphasis will be placed on the importance of financial markets in determining interest rates, influencing bank behavior and affecting monetary policy. Research paper required. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Economics 224 and Mathematics 231. Four credit hours. MR. FINDLAY

[351] Public Finance The economic role of government in the United States economy. The course has three parts: an analysis of market failure, an examination of government social insurance and welfare programs, and an investigation of the federal tax system. Prerequisite: Economics 223. Three or four credit hours.

[355] Labor Market Economics Wage determination and allocation of human resources in union and nonunion labor markets. Theories of labor supply, labor demand, and human capital investment; related public policy issues such as minimum wage laws, income maintenance, and discrimination. The operation of labor markets in the macroeconomy, with particular emphasis on the role of implicit and explicit labor contracts in explaining aggregate wage stickiness, inflation, and unemployment. Prerequisite: Economics 223. Three or four credit hours.

373f Open-Economy Macroeconomics An examination of price level and income determination in an open economy, the choice of exchange rate regime and its impacts on macroeconomic stability, constraints on the formulation and implementation of monetary and fiscal policy in an open economy, and the debate over the desirability of international coordination of macroeconomic policies. Emphasis will be on application of theoretical concepts to analyze historical and current events. Prerequisite: Economics 224. Three or four credit hours. MS. THORNTON
391fs Analytical Research Paper in Economics An analytical, not descriptive, research paper in economics, to be coordinated with an elective economics course numbered above 231 in which the student is concurrently, or previously has been, enrolled. Required of all economics majors. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two credit hours. FACULTY

483f, 484s Independent Honors Project A year-long honors project for senior majors in economics and economics-mathematics; the completed research to be presented in both written and oral format. Prerequisite: Permission of the department. Three credit hours. FACULTY

493fs Senior Seminar Topics in public policy analysis, interdisciplinary issues, or research. Topics will change each semester. In 1995-96: Economic Forecasting, The Economics of Organization, and Advanced Topics in Environmental Economics. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Senior standing as an economics major or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. DONIHUE, MR. MEEHAN, AND MR. TIETENBERG

Education and Human Development

Co-Directors, ASSISTANT PROFESSORS LYN BROWN AND MARK TAPPAN

Associate Professor Jean Sanborn (English); Assistant Professors Christine Bowditch (Sociology), Brown (Education), Tarja Raag (Psychology), and Tappan (Education); Visiting Assistant Professor Karen Kusiak (Education); Instructor Sandy Grande (Education); and Adjunct Instructor Jan Arminio (Associate Dean of Students)

The Program in Education and Human Development explicitly links the study of education and the study of human development, based on the assumption that the primary aim of education should be to promote individual development intellectually, emotionally, socially, and morally. Thus, a consideration of the ways in which human beings grow and develop over the course of the life cycle must inform the theory and practice of education.

The program enables students to study, from a variety of disciplinary perspectives, the ways children and adolescents learn and develop; the dynamics of the teaching-learning process; and the psychological, philosophical, historical, social, and cultural dimensions of human development and education. It also provides students with the opportunity to reflect on their own educational experiences and to think critically and creatively about the process of education and its place in society. In addition, students in the program participate in field experiences and practica, working with children and adolescents in various school and community settings.

The program provides the opportunity for able and motivated students to prepare for employment in public and private schools. Colby believes that the best preparation for a teaching career is two-fold: (a) a strong background in the liberal arts, including intensive study of the subject to be taught; and (b) appropriate course work and practica in education and human development.

Three minors are offered under the auspices of the program:

The education minor encourages a wide-ranging liberal arts exploration of educational theories, issues, and practices. Students focus primarily on the psychological, social, philosophical, and historical foundations of education and gain practical experience working with children and/or adolescents in a variety of classroom contexts. It provides preparation for graduate study in early childhood, elementary, secondary, or special education, as well as for careers in private-school teaching.

The professional certification minor is approved by the Maine State Board of Education. It enables students to earn secondary certification (grades 7-12) in English language arts, foreign language, mathematics, life science, physical science, and social studies. This certification is valid in Maine or in one of the 23 other states with which Maine has agreements of reciprocity. Students interested in professional certification should apply to the program faculty in the spring of their junior year. Candidates must have at least a 3.0 average in their major subject area and have completed the appropriate prerequisites for the student teaching sequence. In addition, candidates for the Maine secondary certificate must perform with satisfaction on the “core battery” of the National Teacher Examinations and complete a teaching portfolio.

The human development minor encourages an interdisciplinary approach to understanding human growth and development. Students consider a variety of perspectives on the study of human development; examine the relationship between individuals and the social, cultural, and historical context in which they live; and gain practical experience working in an institution or agency devoted to fostering human development and improving human lives. It provides initial preparation for careers in education, human services, and/or social policy, as well as for careers in professional certification.

Additional information is available from the department. Early consultation with program faculty and careful planning of the student's course of studies is essential for a successful completion of the minor. This is especially important for students studying abroad for a semester or a year.

Requirements for the Minor in Education
Education 231, one practicum (351j, 353, or 355j), 434, and four electives in education and/or human development.

Requirements for the Minor in Professional Certification
(1) A major, and at least a 3.0 average, in the subject to be taught. Requirements vary by endorsement area; additional courses may be required for certification other than those required for the major. Early consultation with program faculty is essential.
(2) Education 231, 257, 374, 399, one practicum (351, 353, or 355), the Senior Student Teaching Sequence (433, 435, 493), and the equivalent of a second practicum, to be arranged in consultation with program faculty.

Requirements for the Minor in Human Development
Human Development 215, 318, 332, 434, one practicum (351 or 353), and two electives from other departments, to be approved by the co-chairs.

Courses Offered in Education
231fs The Craft of Teaching A critical exploration of the dynamics of teaching and learning, with a particular focus on the relationship among students, teachers, and the curriculum.
Issues and topics considered include: the ethical dimensions of teaching; difference and diversity in the classroom; learning styles and teaching styles; grading and evaluation; and school reform and restructuring. The course also will consider general principles of curriculum planning and instruction, including the use of instructional technologies. Enrollment limited. Four credit hours.

238s The School in American Society  Listed as Sociology 238 (q.v.). Prerequisite: Sociology 131. Four credit hours.

[271] Environmental Science and Values Education  Human activity has led to harmful and potentially devastating environmental problems, locally and globally. As educators, how should we respond? Theory and current research are used to help us frame and defend our educational objectives and to generate environmental science curricula that also enhance children’s care for, and intimacy with, the natural world. Four credit hours.

297f Race, Racism, and Education  An exploration of the social construction of race, how race is experienced by individuals and groups in the United States, and racial identity development will be the springboard to examine the complex issues surrounding anti-racist pedagogy (i.e., philosophical notions of learning, the environment in which we learn, and what we learn). Group discussions, personal reflection, and practical application of theory. Four credit hours.

336s American Education: Historical Perspectives on Modern Issues  The sociocultural and historical evolution of the American public schools will be examined as a reflection of the evolution of American society. Students will study the nature, function, and consequences of the schooling process and reflect upon how schools have reacted to the changing sociocultural and political demands of American society. Designed to generate a broad, analytic framework through which to investigate the root assumptions of modern education; students provide their own informed responses to the questions of educational and societal reform. Prerequisite: Education 231 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

355j Urban/Multicultural Practicum  Students will serve as assistant teachers in an elementary or middle school in an inner-city environment or in an alternative school program. Each student will tutor and later present several lesson plans to the whole class; four critical essays comparing assigned readings with classroom experiences are required. Nongraded. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

374s Teaching Students With Special Needs in Regular Classrooms  Approximately 10-15 percent of students in public schools in the United States qualify for special education services. Many of these students receive most, if not all, of their instruction in regular class settings. Exploring the skills and attitudes necessary for teaching students with special needs in regular settings and examining the roles and responsibilities regular educators have for teaching students who qualify for special education. Consideration given to the psychological, philosophical, historical, and legal foundations of special education. Prerequisite: Education 231, 257, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MS. KUSIAK

399f  Curriculum and Methods An advanced consideration of theoretical and applied issues related to effective classroom teaching. Consideration of general methods of curriculum design, teaching, and program evaluation, to inform the practice of teaching in specific fields. Substantial focus on the curriculum and teaching methods in the discipline the student expects to teach. Disciplines considered include English language arts, foreign languages, mathematics, life science, physical science, and social studies. Nongraded. Required of, and normally limited to, candidates for the minor in professional certification. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. MS. GRANDE

433f  Student Teaching Practicum Students will serve as student teachers in a local secondary school, working under the supervision of a cooperating teacher. Emphasis on curriculum planning and instruction. Nongraded. Prerequisite: Education 231, 351 or 353 or 355, and permission of the program and the instructor; 3.0 (or better) average in the major, which must be a commonly taught secondary-school subject in which Colby offers certification. Concurrent enrollment in 493 is required and enrollment in 435 is expected. Enrollment limited. Four credit hours. MS. KUSIAK

434s  Senior Seminar: Critical Perspectives on Education A critical examination of selected topics and issues in the contemporary study of education and human development. Topics and issues will vary from year to year but will typically entail an in-depth consideration of the psychological, philosophical, social, cultural, and/or historical dimensions of education and human development. Individual projects and/or presentations developed from readings and group discussions. Open only to senior minors in education or human development. Four credit hours. MR. TAPPAN

435j  Student Teaching Practicum Students will serve as student teachers in a secondary school, helping adolescents to learn and working with cooperating teacher(s) and support personnel. The student teacher is expected to assume full responsibility for full-time teaching, including planning and presenting unit and daily lesson plans and evaluating student performance. Nongraded. Prerequisite: Education 231, 433, 493, and permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MS. KUSIAK

491f, 492s  Independent Study Independent study of advanced topics and areas of individual interest. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

493f  Student Teaching Seminar A focused seminar designed to accompany the student teaching practicum. Deals with practical issues such as lesson plan preparation, communication and discipline in the classroom, special class projects, and student evaluation. Analysis of, and reflection on, teaching through a daily journal and readings. Enrollment limited. Nongraded. Corequisite: Enrollment in Education 433. Two credit hours. MS. KUSIAK

Courses Offered in Human Development

[215]  Children and Adolescents in Schools and Society A focus on understanding the experiences of children and adolescents, using case materials, literature, film, and autobiographical reflection to capture the voices of contemporary youth. The ways in which theories and approaches from various disciplines help in interpreting the phenomena of childhood and adolescence. Consideration of gender, racial, class, and cultural differences. Enrollment limited. Four credit hours. S, D.

318s  Moral Development and Education How do moral understanding and ethical sensibility develop over the course of the life span? What is the relationship between human values and educational practice? What role should the process of education play in fostering and facilitating moral development in children, adolescents, and adults? These questions are explored by considering various classical and contemporary theories of moral development, their philosophical, psychological, and sociocultural premises, and their implications for education.

Prerequisite: Human Development 215, Education 231, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. TAPPAN 332s Women, Girls, and the Culture of Education Beginning with the developmental needs and desires of girls, the course provides the groundwork for a gender-sensitive approach to education, linking girls’ intellectual, emotional, and identity development to recurrent themes and problems in the education of girls and women: issues of voice, relationship, authority, and power. The relationship of women and men educators to the next generation of women, considering questions of class, race, and ethnicity. Readings include the work of Carol Gilligan, Jane Roland Martin, Madeline Grumet, bell hooks, Adrienne Rich, and others.

Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S, D. MS. BROWN

351j, 353f Practicum in Human Development Students will gain practical experience working in an institutional, clinical, or community setting. Placement may also occur in an educational setting (usually an elementary, middle, or junior-high school), where the student will serve as an assistant teacher. Each student will prepare appropriate plans for work during the practicum and write critical essays relating assigned readings to the practicum experience. Meeting weekly in seminar with College supervisor. Nongraded.

Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours: three credit hours in January. MS. GRANDE

434s Senior Seminar: Critical Perspectives on Human Development A critical examination of selected topics and issues in the contemporary study of education and human development. Topics and issues will vary from year to year but will typically entail an in-depth consideration of the psychological, philosophical, social, cultural, and/or historical dimensions of education and human development. Individual projects and/or presentations developed from readings and group discussions. Open only to senior minors in education or human development. Four credit hours. MR. TAPPAN

491f, 492s Independent Study Independent study of advanced topics and areas of individual interest.

Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

The English Department offers literature courses in all periods, genres, and major authors, as well as seminars in particular topics and in broad literary and historical issues. The major in English builds upon the close reading and detailed analysis of literary texts; the investigation of the central political, cultural, and ideological issues occasioned by those texts, particularly issues of race, gender, and class; and the consideration of various critical approaches, methods of inquiry, and strategies of interpretation. There is a creative writing program in both fiction and poetry at the introductory, intermediate, and advanced levels. The department also offers special-topic courses and supervises about 50 independent-study projects each year. Committed to interdisciplinary studies, the department encourages team-taught courses with colleagues in other departments. English is one of the most useful majors for those who want to attend professional schools of law, medicine, and business, as well as for those seeking jobs in commerce, industry, and government. Some majors become college or school teachers; some go into related work, such as journalism, library science, or publishing. Students interested in teaching, private and public, are urged to read the “Education” section of the catalogue and to contact a member of the Education Department.

Requirements for the Major in Literature Written in English

English 172, to be taken during the first year, and 271, 272, to be taken sophomore year; four period and genre courses; two studies in special subjects; two additional courses, which may be chosen from advanced courses in English or American literature, creative writing, or literature in other languages or in translation; one senior seminar (493). At least three of these courses above the 271, 272 level must be courses in which the major focus is upon literature written in English before 1800 and at least three upon literature written after 1800. All choices of advanced courses should be carefully planned, and the major adviser must approve them. English 278, 279, 399, and 474 do not count toward the major.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all English courses that may be used to fulfill major requirements. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Honors in English

Students who meet the prerequisite, define a project, and secure the support of a tutor may elect to take English 483, 484, the Honors Thesis, and, upon successful completion, graduate “With Honors in English.”

Students planning to continue the study of English in graduate school should confer with their advisers to be sure that they have planned a substantial and adequate curriculum. They should be proficient in at least one foreign language. Most universities require two languages, and some require a classical language as well. Work in classical or foreign literature, history, philosophy, art, music, and some of the social sciences reinforces preparation in the major and enhances one’s chances for success in graduate study.

Requirements for the Concentration in Creative Writing

In addition to the requirements for the literature major, (1) a sequence of three workshops in one of the two genres offered (fiction—278, 378, 478, or poetry—279, 379, 479) and (2) the completion of a fourth requirement. This fourth requirement may be met in one of the following ways: a Senior Scholar project in creative writing, an independent project such as an honors thesis (483, 484), an independent study (English 491, 492), or one additional course, either a repetition of the advanced workshop or a workshop in another genre not in the chosen sequence. The sequence can be completed beginning either in the sophomore or junior year, but because of limited enrollments in the workshops, serious, committed students should elect the concentration as soon as possible, as early as the spring of their first year. Admission to upperclass workshops is by manuscript submission only.

Attention is called to the creative writing minor, open to all majors, under a separate heading in this catalogue.

The department also encourages interdepartmental and interdisciplinary studies and supports the programs in American Studies, African-American Studies, Women’s Studies, and Performing Arts.

112f Expository Writing Workshop  For any student who wants extra work in writing. Taken in conjunction with English 115 or with a writing-emphasis course in another department at any level. Meets as individual tutorial in the Writers' Center. Nongraded. One credit hour. MS. SANBORN AND WRITERS' CENTER TUTORS

115fjs English Composition  Frequent practice in expository writing to foster clarity of organization and expression in the development of ideas. The assigned reading will vary from section to section, but all sections will discuss student writing. Required for first-year students. Students with an Advanced Placement score of 4 or 5 are exempted. Four credit hours; three credit hours in January. FACULTY

152js Reading and Writing about Literature  Topics, texts, and genres will vary from section to section, but all sections will emphasize close reading, detailed analysis of imaginative literature from different times and cultures, and careful critical writing. Prerequisite: English 115 or exemption. Four credit hours; three credit hours in January. L. FACULTY

172fs Literary Studies  "What is literature?" or "When is it literature?" A focus on the students' encounter with the text, the words on the page. Examples of poetry, prose, and drama written in English, from different times and cultures; and work toward developing a basic critical vocabulary for understanding and discussing these different forms of literature. Frequent practice in careful critical writing. Required for English majors; should be taken during the first year. Does not count toward the College-wide literature requirement. Four credit hours; three credit hours in January. L, D. FACULTY

214 Tutoring Writing  Discussion of readings on the process of writing and methods of tutoring. Theory combined with practice in peer review of student papers, mock tutorials, and actual supervised tutorials. Students completing the course will have the opportunity to apply for work-study positions in the Writers' Center. Course is offered as needed. Enrollment limited. Nongraded. Prerequisite: Sign up with the instructor in the Writers' Center. Two credit hours. MS. SANBORN

[311] The Middle Ages: Dialogue and Debate in Medieval Literature  Just what are the “Middle Ages”? Are we in some sense, as Umberto Eco has said, “living in the New Middle Ages”? This course will explore the multiple cultural histories of Europe and North Africa during the time from the fourth to the 15th centuries, using a broad variety of texts ranging from medieval women mystics (Hedwigh, Hildegard, Margery Kempe) to the Kabbalah, from witchcraft trials to troubadour lyrics. The contemporary historical and theoretical work of writers such as Umberto Eco, Caroline Walker Bynum, and Jacques leGoff. Recent films that have produced (and continue to produce) our imaginary conceptions of the Middle Ages. Four credit hours. L.

[317] The 18th Century I  Selected works by writers of the first half of the century, including Daniel Defoe, Alexander Pope, Jonathan Swift, Anne Finch, Lady Mary Wortley Montague, and Henry Fielding. Four credit hours. L.

318s The 18th Century II  Selected works by writers of the second half of the century, including James Boswell, Samuel Johnson, Hannah More, Tobias Smollett, Laurence Sterne, Jane Austen, Matthew Lewis, William Blake, and Anna Laetitia Barbauld. Four credit hours. L. MR. SWENEY

321s The Romantic Period I: The Major Writers  Close readings, stressing intellectual and social history, of representative texts by Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Mary and Percy Shelley, Keats, and Austen. Four credit hours. L. MR. MIZNER

323f Victorian Literature I  The development of the idea of “culture” in the mid-Victorian period and the social pressures of class, religion, gender, and race that formed and transformed it. Readings include Victorian predecessors such as Walter Scott before the course moves to novels by Dickens, Emily Bronté, and George Eliot, prose by Thomas Carlyle, J.S. Mill, and Matthew Arnold, and poems by Tennyson and the Rossettis. Novels, essays, and poems considered as participants in Victorian debates that created “culture” as a political category and helped shape modern literary and cultural criticism. Four credit hours. L. MR. SUCHOFF

324s Victorian Literature II  A course examining the conflict between elite and an emerging mass culture in later-19th-century British society and culture and how issues raised by colonialism, commodity culture, and emergent socialist and feminist movements shaped that divide. Narrative texts that related the crisis in high-cultural Victorian values to questions of racial and ethnic “otherness,” including works by Oscar Wilde, H.G. Wells, George Gissing, Bram Stoker, George Eliot, Rudyard Kipling, William Morris, and others. Four credit hours. L. MR. SUCHOFF

325f Modern British Fiction  As an introduction to early modern British fiction, this course frames the works of Hardy, Joyce, Woolf, Conrad, Forster, and Lawrence within the context of the aesthetic tenets and practices of what is called “literary modernism.” To what extent does the literature embody the ideas of “spatialization,” “dehumanization,” and “introversion” as well as the accompanying narrative and representational modes associated with this movement? What continuities and paradoxes are implicit in the modernist notions of “subjectivity,” “tradition,” “time,” “history,” and “identity,” and how can they be explained within the larger historical and social developments of the era—post-agrarian, industrial capitalism, colonialism, and European transculturalism? Readings include novels and critical essays by early modernists (writers and critics), post-war scholars who attempted to map the movement, and contemporary poststructural critics. Four credit hours. L.  MR. ROY

327f The Development of Dramatic Art I  Listed as Performing Arts 327 (q.v.). Four credit hours. L.  MR. SEWELL

328s The Development of Dramatic Art II  Listed as Performing Arts 328 (q.v.). Four credit hours. L.  MS. WING

[331] Studies in Pre-Modern Drama  The issue of how men and women are created on a stage where all the roles are played by men. By exploring the relationships that Renaissance dramatists imagine between men and women, the course examines how the plays work to characterize and distinguish the gender of the character using such mechanisms as heroism, sexual vulnerability, and social status. Four credit hours. L.

332f Studies in Modern Drama: Contemporary Women Playwrights  An examination of the plays and staging techniques of women writing since 1970, including works by Caryl Churchill, Ntozake Shange, and Wendy Wasserstein. Emphasis on current feminist theory in order to investigate the implications of gender roles, stereotypes, and associated assumptions and conventions in theatrical performance. Four credit hours. L.  MS. WING

[333] Modern American Drama, 1920-1970  A survey of American dramatic literature during the modern period with special emphasis on the major playwrights such as O'Neill, O'edets, Hellman, Miller, Williams, Albee, Hansberry, and Baraka. Four credit hours. L.

[334] Contemporary American Drama  Beginning with the experimental theater groups and texts of the mid-'60s, the course features a careful consideration of the range of perspectives currently available in the American theater. Close analysis of the theatrical as well as the dramatic techniques of playwrights such as Maria Irene Fornes, David Mamet, Tina Howe, Sam Shepard, David Henry Hwang, and Suzan-Lori Parks. Four credit hours. L.

338s The American Renaissance I: Poe, Hawthorne, and Melville  A close study of the works of these writers in the context of their times. Particular attention to such movements as anti-slavery and women's rights. Four credit hours. L.  MR. BRANCACCIO

[339] The American Renaissance II  A close reading of the major works of Emerson, Thoreau, Margaret Fuller, Walt Whitman, and Emily Dickinson with emphasis on the transcendentalists' search for heightened consciousness and the connections between poetic and scientific truth. Four credit hours. L.

341f American Realism and Naturalism  Major works by Twain, Howells, James, Crane, Dreiser, and others in the context of American and European traditions of the novel and critical theories of the art and purpose of fiction in American culture. Four credit hours. L.  MR. BRANCACCIO
342f Continuity of American Indian Literature The decades since the '60s have seen a vigorous outpouring of literature from American Indian writers, many of whom merge oral tradition with Western literary forms to create a distinctively native voice. The course examines contemporary writers (Silko, McNickles, Erdrich, Seals, Wright, Ortiz, and others) who continue and renew native values and imaginative forms, as well as the tribal mythologies in which their work is grounded. Four credit hours. L, D. MS. ONION

343s African-American Literature Particular attention to the much-neglected contributions of African-American women writers such as Jessie Fauset, Nella Larson, and Zora Neale Hurston. The aim of the course, more broadly, is a critical understanding of the ways African-American writers in the 19th and 20th centuries have responded artistically to problems inherent in American democracy concerning race, identity, marginality, gender, and class. The interpretive methods that will inform readings by James Baldwin, Toni Morrison, Paul Lawrence Dunbar, and Chester Himes include formalism, historicism, feminist criticism, and myth criticism. Four credit hours. L, D. MR. BRYANT

344s 19th-Century American Poetry A detailed study of the works of Whitman and Dickinson: poems, correspondence, and prose, with an emphasis on the tensions between body and spirit, the social world and the individual, the sublime, and questions of gender and power. Some theoretical material will serve as context to the literary works. Four credit hours. L. MR. SADOFF

345s Modern American Fiction A noncanonical, pluralistic approach to modern American fiction that emphasizes the cultural and ethnic heterogeneity of the American literary experience in the 20th century—rather than the patriarchal view of it as a “main stream.” Topics, issues, and writers of primary concern include explorations of the interrelationships between the “Lost Generation” writers and the Harlem Renaissance artists working during the same time; progressivism; existentialism; modernism; and writers including Fitzgerald, Brooks, Faulkner, Hurston, O'Connor, Wright, Wolfe, Fauset, Eliot, Anderson, and Baldwin. Four credit hours. L. MR. SADOFF

[347] Modern American Poetry Engagement with poems, and the worlds and consciousnesses they create, by first- and second-generation modern American poets. Poets to be considered in literary, historical, and cultural context will be chosen from among Robert Frost, T.S. Eliot, H.D., Marianne Moore, Wallace Stevens, William Carlos Williams, Elizabeth Bishop, and Robert Lowell. Four credit hours. L.

351j Contemporary American Poetry A study of some of the major and emerging figures and poetic movements in American poetry, emphasizing close readings and cultural contexts of work written primarily after 1970. Poets include Elizabeth Bishop, C.K. Williams, Charles Simic, Adrienne Rich, James Wright, John Ashbery, and Rita Dove. Three credit hours. L. MR. SADOFF

353f The American Short Story A study of the genre that many analysts consider the most consistently successful in American literature—the short story. Distinguished and popular writers of short narratives will make up the syllabus, from Washington Irving to Ann Beattie, with extended emphasis on such geniuses as Poe, Hawthorne, James, Hemingway, Wright, and O'Connor. Four credit hours. L. MR. BASSETT

355s, 356js Studies in American Literary History Not a survey, these courses look toward establishing relationships among the historical American contexts in which literary works were produced, examining these works as imaginative artifacts, tracing the impact of these works on the social and cultural elements of the America of their time, and seeking the significance of the works for readers in later and different worlds. 355: Puritans to the Civil War; 356: Civil War to the Present. Enrollment limited; preference will be given to American studies majors. Four credit hours; three credit hours in January. L. MR. HARRIS, MS. HARRIS, AND MR. BASSETT

[362] Art and Oppression: Lesbian and Gay Literature and Modern Society How does a minority respond artistically to societal oppression that ranges from silencing and invisibility to censorship and persecution? An examination of the literary response/resistance of lesbian and gay people and their process of literary self-definition, in the face of what Adrienne Rich has defined as society’s “compulsory heterosexuality.” Opening with a study of the lives and works of Oscar Wilde and Radclyffe Hall, the course moves to discussion of selected writing by H.D., E.M. Forster, Willa Cather, Gertrude Stein, Virginia Woolf, James Baldwin, John Rechy, Rita Mae Brown, Audre Lorde, Monique Wittig, Edmund White, Gloria Anzuldua, Jeannette Winterson, and others. Images of the lesbian and gay experience in painting, photography, film, and television will be studied. Topics include sexuality and the transformation of literary convention, the artistic vision of the “double minority,” the expression of a radical lesbian and gay political voice, and the emergence into mainstream society of lesbian and gay culture. Four credit hours. L, D.

378fs Intermediate Fiction Workshop Practice in the writing of short stories, with major emphasis on student manuscripts. Prerequisite: English 278. Enrollment is limited; admission is by manuscript submission only. See instructor for deadlines and format for manuscript submission. Manuscripts are used as a basis for determining enrollment. Four credit hours. MS. KENNEY AND MR. BOYLAN

379f Intermediate Poetry Workshop Practice in the writing of poetry, with major emphasis on student manuscripts. Prerequisite: English 279. Enrollment is limited; admission is by manuscript submission only. See instructor for deadlines and format for manuscript submission. Manuscripts are used as a basis for determining enrollment. Four credit hours. MR. HARRIS

397Af Early Modern Poetry By Women A critical study of lyric, narrative, and dramatic poems by English women of the late 16th and 17th centuries. The focus will be the poems themselves—their distinct voices, their uses of traditionally male genres and conventions, and their constructions of human dignity. Some of the canonical poetry written contemporaneously by men and the role of poetry in the lives of men and women in England in these periods. Readings in Whitney, Sidney, Elizabeth I, Lanier, Speght, Cary, Wroth, Behn, Philips, and others. Four credit hours. L. MS. SAGASER

397Bf The Irish Literary Revival An introduction to the major figures of the literary renaissance that took place in Ireland at the turn of the century—Yeats, Joyce, Synge, and O’Casey—using a range of texts—including Yeats’s poetry, Joyce’s Portrait of the Artist As a Young Man, Synge’s Playboy of the Western World, and O’Casey’s Juno and the Paycock—to illustrate the nature and scope of their achievements. Four credit hours. L. MR. KEARNEY

397Cf Essay Writers; Essay Writing Study of the essay as a genre, with consideration of the historical position of this literary form as professional and personal writing from Montaigne to our contemporaries. What are essays? Who writes them? How are the personal and the academic related? The course will include both writing critical analysis and writing an essay. Open to all students, not only English majors. Four credit hours. L. MS. SANBORN

398As Literature of the Holocaust The course considers the special demands the Holocaust makes on narrative and confessional forms and the ways in which the Holocaust as event calls into question received literary categories. Personal responses to be studied include selections from fiction (Wiesel, Appelfeld, Schwartz-Bart, Steiner, Begley, Borowski); drama (Frisch, Hochhuth); poetry (Celan, Sachs); and autobiography, diaries, and memoirs (Levi, Kaplan, Ringelblum, Amery, Zuckerman, Hillesum). Four credit hours. L. MR. MIZNER

398Bs Creative Nonfiction Creative nonfiction includes renderings of personal experience, presentations of opinion and passion, profiles of people, and evocations of time and place. Based upon "fact," it uses elements of fiction. A writing workshop with weekly assignments designed to help students find their best material and their strongest voices. Also, reading and discussion of the work of published essayists. Prerequisite: English 115 (or exemption). Four credit hours. A, L. MS. HARRIS

411j Shakespeare I: The Melancholy Dane This course will address both the three Renaissance texts of Hamlet and later adaptations for film and stage, including Tom Stoppard's Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead and several film productions. Counts for pre-1800 requirement. Three credit hours. L. MS. OSBORNE

413fs Authors Courses Course focusing on the works of one author. Fall: Virginia Woolf and T.S. Eliot. Spring: Milton. Four credit hours. L. MR. YASINSKI AND MS. SAGASER

[415] The Political History of the English Language The course links an examination of changes in the form and vocabulary of English with a history of nationalism, gender, class, and power relations in general, using both historical and philological evidence, beginning with Old English texts, moving through the centuries, and concluding with English as a language of colonization in Africa, Asia, and the Americas. Questions of orality, literacy, and the current explosion of language in talk shows, rap music, and electronic communications. Four credit hours. L.

[419] African Prose Fiction and autobiography dealing with such themes as African traditional culture and the coming of colonialism, the struggles of colonialism, and the problems of development. A survey of literature from the varied regions of the continent with special emphasis on sub-Saharan Africa. Four credit hours. L, D.

[421] The Literature of Existentialism Though emphasizing novels and plays of Sartre and Camus, the course also includes works by Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Melville, Conrad, Beckett, Ionesco, Genet, Durrenmatt, and Abe. Students are encouraged to participate in the production of a play. Four credit hours. L.

[425] Modern Women's Literature Classics of modern women's literature, written in English between the turn-of-the-century and the 1960s. Among the works to be studied are short stories, novels, poetry, essays, a play, and an autobiography by women writers from England, the United States, Africa, India, and Australia. Excerpts from classics in feminist literary theory and psychobiography are included to establish a frame of reference for the readings, and analysis will incorporate differences of race, class, culture, and sexuality. Four credit hours. L, D.
426f Tilling the Garden: African-American Women Writers at Work  A focus on the unique and still largely marginalized literary contributions of African-American women novelists, poets, essayists, and playwrights during the 19th and 20th centuries. Writers will be discussed in context of the issues central to their work, including magical realism, race, (re)membering the female body, (black) feminism and literary production, and reconstructing black womanhood. Four credit hours. L, D.  MR. BRYANT

[427] The Harlem Renaissance  An examination of historicism and reader-response models of reading as ways of exploring three genres—poetry, short fiction, and the novel—which African-American writers exploited in unprecedented ways during the 1920s. Four credit hours. L, D.

429f Passionate Expression: Love, Sex, and Sexuality in Western Literature  A study of the Western tradition in love literature focusing on representative masterworks both from "mainstream" culture and from counter-cultures through the ages; topics begin with the Bible, Greek drama, and medieval lyric and conclude with classic Hollywood versions of love stories and the fiction of contemporary liberation movements. Four credit hours. L, D.  MS. MANNOCCI

478f Advanced Fiction Workshop  Practice in the writing of short stories and longer fiction, with major emphasis on student manuscripts. May be repeated once for additional credit. Enrollment is limited; admission is by manuscript submission only. See instructor for deadlines and format for manuscript submission. Manuscripts are used as a basis for determining enrollment. Prerequisite: English 378. Four credit hours.  MS. SPARK

479s Advanced Poetry Workshop  Practice in the writing of poetry, with major emphasis on student manuscripts. May be repeated once for additional credit. Enrollment is limited; admission is by manuscript submission only. See instructor for deadlines and format for manuscript submission. Manuscripts are used as a basis for determining enrollment. Prerequisite: English 379. Four credit hours.  MR. SADOFF

491f, 492s Independent Study  Individual projects exploring topics for which the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of a project adviser and the chair of the department. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

493fs Seminars  Topics for 1995-96 include Film Theory: Feminism Meets Psychoanalysis, Holocaust: History and Film, Reading Joyce, Queer Culture, Empire and Its Others: Colonial and Postcolonial Literatures. Four credit hours; three credit hours in January.  L.  MS. OSBORNE, MR. MIZNER AND MR. SUCHOFF, MR. KEARNEY, MS. MANNOCCI, MR. ROY

Director, PROFESSOR THOMAS TIETENBERG

ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors F. Russell Cole and David Firmage (Biology), Elizabeth DeSombre (Environmental Studies and Government), James Fleming (Science and Technology Studies), Whitney King (Chemistry), Paul Doss (Geology), and Tietenberg (Economics)

The environmental studies programs are designed to provide a broad-based course of study. They are intended to prepare students to be well-versed in both policy and science issues as related to the environment and to be able to pursue graduate study or entry-level work in fields such as natural resource management, land-use planning, urban/rural planning, technology and policy, and environmental and public policy.

Requirements for the Major in Environmental Policy

I. All of the following courses
Environmental Studies 118, 235, 334, and either 491, 492 (minimum two credits) or 493; Economics 131, 231; Government 131; Mathematics 121 or 123, and 112 or 231.

II. Five of the following courses

- Biology
  - 161 Introduction to Biology: Organismal Biology
  - 162 Introduction to Biology: Genetics and Cell Biology
  - 219 Conservation Biology
  - 271 Introduction to Ecology

- Chemistry
  - 141 General Chemistry
  - 142 General Chemistry
  - 217 Environmental Chemistry

- Geology
  - 131 Introduction to Environmental Geology or
  - 141 Introduction to Physical Geology

- Physics
  - 141 Foundations of Physics
  - 142 Foundations of Physics

- Science and Technology Studies
  - 215 Atmospheric Science

III. Completion of either the domestic or international emphasis

Domestic Emphasis:
Government 111 Introduction to American Government and two courses from two different departments in the following list:

- Administrative Science
  - 251 Industry, Technology, and Society in the 20th Century

- Economics
  - 274 American Economic History
  - 312 Topics in Law and Economics
  - 332 Regulated Industries
  - 351 Public Finance

- Government
  - 211 The American Presidency
  - 212 The American Congress
  - 311 The Judicial Process
  - 317 The Policy Making Process

International Emphasis:
Three courses from the following group:

- Anthropology
  - 252 Hunger, Poverty, and Population: The Anthropology of Development
  - 256 Land, Food, Culture, and Power

- Economics
  - 278 International Trade
  - 293 Economic Development

- History
  - 364 Economic Change in 20th-Century Africa

- Science and Technology Studies
  - 281 Global Environmental Change: History and Science
The environmental studies minor is designed to introduce students to environmental issues and their ramifications in the context of both the social and natural sciences. Course requirements provide for flexibility, allowing students to study in areas of most interest to them.

Requirements for the Minor in Environmental Studies

(1) Environmental Studies 118 and 493.
(2) Either Economics 133 and 231 or Anthropology 112 and either 252 or 256.
(3) Either Biology 161 and 162 or Geology 141 and 142 or Chemistry 141 and 142 (Chemistry 217 is recommended for students electing the latter option).
(4) One course selected from:

- Administrative Science 251 Industry, Technology, and Society
- Anthropology 211 Indigenous Peoples and Cultures of North America
- Biology 258 Ecological Field Study
  271 Introduction to Ecology
  354 Marine Biology
  358 Ecological Field Study
- Chemistry 217 Environmental Chemistry
- Economics 293 Development Economics
- Education 217 Environmental Science and Values Education
- Geology 352 Principles of Geomorphology
  353 Groundwater Hydrology
  494 Advanced Environmental Geology
- History 276 Major Trends in World History
  364 Economic Change in 20th-Century Africa
- Philosophy 211 Moral Philosophy
- Science and Technology Studies 215 Atmospheric Science

No requirement for the minor may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Also available are environmental science concentrations in the biology and chemistry majors and an environmental science option in the geology major. These are interdisciplinary programs intended to prepare students for entry-level positions in firms or government agencies concerned with environmental issues, for graduate study, or for roles as educated citizens in a world increasingly confronted with environmental problems. Students are encouraged to participate in relevant field study or internships to complement their academic work. Requirements are listed in the appropriate departmental section.

A student cannot elect both the environmental studies minor and an environmental science concentration or option.

118s Environment and Society An interdisciplinary course focusing on the human relationship with and impact on the environment. A look at some of the environmental problems that have arisen as a result of the growth of society in various areas of the world. The causes of each problem, methods for investigating the problem, and possible solutions will be investigated from a scientific and a public policy perspective. Lecture and discussion. Four credit hours. FACULTY

[215] Atmospheric Science Listed as Science and Technology Studies 215 (q.v.). Four credit hours. N. MR. FLEMING

217s Environmental Chemistry Listed as Chemistry 217 (q.v.). Prerequisite: Chemistry 142. Lecture only: three credit hours; lecture and laboratory: four credit hours. MS. BOUCHER
231f Environmental and Natural Resource Economics  Listed as Economics 231 (q.v.). Prerequisite: Economics 133. Three or four credit hours.  MR. TIETENBERG

235j Sustainable Development  An examination of the tension between the need for economic development by less developed countries and the necessity to protect and preserve the global environment. The course will explore both the domestic issues facing developing countries as they attempt to address their economic and environmental problems and the relationship between developing countries and the rest of the international community in confronting environmental issues. Also listed as Government 235. Three credit hours.  MS. DESOMBRE

334f International Environmental Law  An examination of the basic instruments of international law and its historical development in addressing international environmental issues in order to ascertain its role in addressing current environmental problems. Under what conditions have states been able to cooperate to improve the global environment? The course also will look at negotiation of, compliance with, and effectiveness of international environmental law. Also listed as Government 334. Prerequisite: Government 131 and Environmental Studies 118, or permission of instructor. Four credit hours.  MS. DESOMBRE

493s Environmental Policy Colloquium  Focused upon student-defined, small-group, environmental research projects, this seminar will involve periodic oral presentations by all participants and a major, original, written research report from each group. Discussions and guest presentations will emphasize interdisciplinary solutions to environmental problems. Prerequisite: Senior standing in the environmental policy major or environmental studies minor or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MS. DESOMBRE

Field Experience, Internship

-95, -95j, -96 Field Experience or Internship  Noncurricular experience with direct, demonstrated relationship to the student's curricular program. Credits earned in field experience or internship may be applied toward requirements for a major only with explicit approval of the chair of the major department or program. Nongraded, credit, or no entry. Credit may not exceed three hours in any semester, January, or summer session without advance approval by the Academic Affairs Committee, except for approved programs such as Colby in Washington. Prerequisite: A formal proposal filed with the field experience coordinator in the Off-Campus Study Office prior to beginning of the project. Proposals for January Program credit must be submitted by December 1. Proposals for summer credit must be submitted by May 1. One to three credit hours (zero to three credit hours in January).

French

Professors Guy Filosof, Jonathan Weiss¹², Jane Moss, and Arthur Greenspan¹; Visiting Professor
Both the French Literature and French Studies majors are grounded in continued study and pursuit of mastery of the French language. Students in either major will be expected to demonstrate advanced language skills and proficiency in the French language. A major in French literature focuses on the literature and culture primarily of France, whereas the major in French studies requires the student to choose a concentration on France, Quebec, or Francophone Africa. The choice between the two majors will be determined by the student’s interests and goals.

In the senior year, students in the two majors will take the same required senior seminar, which will serve as an integrating and capstone experience.

The department strongly recommends that all majors spend one academic year studying in a French-speaking country at the junior level. It requires a minimum of one semester’s study abroad at the junior level or the equivalent. A minimum grade point average of 2.7 is required for admission to study abroad. All study-abroad plans must be approved in advance by the Department of French.

Requirements for the Major in French Literature
The major in literature promotes the acquisition of superior language skills and explores the richness of French literature while developing the critical and analytical skills that enhance the appreciation of literature.

A minimum of nine courses in French is required. Students choosing this option are normally required to take French 231, 252, and the senior seminar, plus at least six additional courses at the 200 and above level, four of which must be in literature at the 300 or above level.

The student is encouraged to study the literature of all periods and genres and to complement the language and literary studies with appropriate courses in the culture and history of France. It is recommended that students plan their programs so that they can also take advantage of the upper-level courses in language.

Potential majors in French literature should consult with the department during orientation to determine the appropriate sequence of courses.

Requirements for the Major in French Studies
The French studies major combines solid training in the language and culture of France with the option of further study in the culture of other Francophone countries. Upon declaring the major in French studies, the student will choose to concentrate on France, Quebec, or French-speaking Africa and will study abroad in the area of the chosen concentration.

Students who select this major must plan their program of studies in consultation with the chair of the department, whose approval for all courses taken outside the department is required.

The major requires nine courses, beginning at the 200 level. Within the Department of French, students will normally be required to take 231, 232, 233, the senior seminar, plus five other courses, which (depending on the area concentration) may include three courses selected from: Art 334, 335, 352, Government 354, History 211, 219, 233, or equivalent courses taken abroad and approved by the department.

The following statements also apply to both majors:

1. The point scale for retention of the major is based on all French courses numbered above 127.
2. No major requirements may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.
3. No more than the equivalent of four semester courses of transfer credit may be counted toward the major.
4. All majors in the department must take at least one course in the major approved by the major adviser each semester until graduation. For students returning from foreign study, these courses must be numbered 300 or higher.
(5) No more than one French literature course given in English may be counted toward the French literature major. Majors must take at least one course given in French each semester.

(6) An exemption or waiver from a required course must always be confirmed in writing, but in no event does the waived course reduce the number of required courses for the major; neither does it carry any hour credit toward either the major or graduation requirements.

Honors in French

Students majoring in French literature or French studies may apply during the junior year for admission to the honors program. Permission is required; guidelines are established by the department. Successful completion of the work of the honors thesis and of the major will enable the student to graduate “With Honors in French Literature” or “With Honors in French Studies.”

1Director of off-campus study and academic affairs.

125fs, 126fs  French I, II  Using the French in Action program, which combines video, audio, and print materials, students learn to speak, write, and understand French through a total immersion experience with the language and culture. Use of taped materials in the language laboratory is an integral part of the class work, and laboratory attendance is required. Students are placed in the appropriate level by their score on the College Board French SAT-II test, a placement exam during fall orientation, or through consultation with a member of the faculty in French. Four credit hours.  FACULTY

127fjs  French III  An intermediate course including a structured grammar review emphasizing writing and reading while continuing to promote conversational skills. Four credit hours; three credit hours in January.  FACULTY

128fs  French IV: Reading in Cultural Contexts  A course that aims to build reading skills and to broaden cultural background through a wide variety of readings in French. The emphasis is on the texts and contexts of culture, whether in France, Quebec, or other Francophone areas such as those in Africa and the Caribbean. Continuing work in improving oral and written skills. Prerequisite: French 127. Four credit hours.  MR. FILOSOF AND MS. MOSS

131s  Conversation and Composition  A course designed specifically for students wishing to develop oral skills and acquire an extensive modern vocabulary, with additional practice in writing short weekly compositions. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: French 128 or permission of the department. Four credit hours.  MR. FILOSOF

228fs  Readings in Modern French Literature  An introduction to modern literature, including novels, poetry, or drama, within a particular historical context or thematic focus, such as love, war, experiments in narrative, and other approaches. The course will include an appropriate writing component such as journal writing, commentaries, précis. Prerequisite: French 128 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  L. MR. FILOSOF AND MS. MOSS

231f  Advanced Grammar and Composition  An advanced language course required of both majors and open to others wishing to improve their written expression in French. Intensive grammar review and frequent practice in writing French. Prerequisite: French 128 or 131 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MS. PALIYENKO

232f  French Cultural Studies  Examination of the major events and movements in the cultural history of France in a historical, thematic, or subject-oriented framework. Continuing practice in improving oral and written language skills. Required for French studies majors. Also recommended for international studies students. Prerequisite: French 128 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MS. DIACONOFF
233s Contemporary France  France since 1968, with emphasis on the institutions, events, and culture that shape the country today. The sociopolitical fabric of contemporary France, including the class structure, the educational system, politics, popular culture and the media, the problems of ethnicity and racism, and the role of France in the European community and in the world. Required for French studies majors. Recommended for international studies students. Prerequisite: French 128 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MS. MACPHERSON

252s Literary Analysis  Using selected masterpieces, this course aims to develop the tools and techniques of literary analysis and to enhance appreciation of literature as art. Students will study all genres and develop their critical skills through reading, discussion, and a substantial writing component. Prerequisite: French 128 or appropriate College Board scores. Required of the major in French literature. Four credit hours. MS. PAILYENKOW

[311] Literature of the Ancien Régime  Critical inquiry into early French literature, from the Middle Ages through the Revolution, through the agency of a theme, genre, or problem. Topics may include “The Romance,” “The Hero,” “Women’s Narratives.” Non-French majors may choose to write papers in English. Four credit hours. L.

341f Advanced Spoken and Written Language  This course concentrates on the development of language skills and their use in the media. Using a variety of journal and periodical articles, plus foreign television broadcasts, students will practice and perfect both oral and written skills in French through a variety of exercises such as interviewing, panel discussions, debates, and written reports and scripts. Prerequisite: French 231. Four credit hours. L.

[350] Francophone Literature  Readings of major texts by writers from the Maghreb, West Africa, the French Caribbean, Quebec, and other French-speaking areas. The course will give students an understanding of French colonialism and the post-colonial situation of La Francophonie in order to facilitate close textual analysis. Prose, poetry, drama, and films. Issues of gender, race, religion, politics, traditions, and modernization. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Four credit hours. L, D.

355fs Poetic Scenes and Their Margins  The evolving poetic tradition in 19th-century France through detailed analysis of major male poets and the creative strategies of women poets writing from the margins. Topics include the construction of canon, the anxiety of influence, and gender-specific poetic writing. Selected texts of the Romantics and Post-Romantics (Decadent-Symbolists) from Lamartine, Desbordes-Valmore, Merson, Hugo, Musset, Gautier, Ackermann, Baudelaire, Rimbaud, Siefert, Krysinska, and Mallarmé. Non-French majors may elect to write papers and examinations in English. Four credit hours. L. MS. PAILYENKOW

[358] 19th-Century Narratives  Study of the novels or short stories of writers such as Balzac, Stendhal, Flaubert, Maupassant, and Zola and the literary movements of Romanticism, Realism, and Naturalism. Recent topic: “Embodying the Self: Real and Fantastic Visions.” Non-French majors may write papers and examinations in English. Four credit hours. L.

[374] French Fiction and Film  Comparative studies of works of fiction (novels or drama) and the films that these works have inspired. Specific approaches may concentrate on problems of representation, adaptation, myth, or image. Recent topics have included “World War II in French Novels and Films,” “Encounters Between Word and Image.” Non-French majors may write papers and examinations in English. Four credit hours. L.
[377] French Literature of the 20th Century  Study of novels and/or theater; writers may include Vian, Robbe-Grillet, Wiesel, Lagorce, and Rezvani and others associated with the theater of existentialism, the theater of the absurd, and contemporary trends. Non-French majors may choose to write papers and examinations in English. Four credit hours. L.

397f Money and Society in French Literature  Various forms of exchange in literature and in society. Specifically, oaths, money, and gifts, as they are used in literature to reveal a society and its ideology. Moving from the oaths of fealty in the Middle Ages to a consideration of the impact of a real monetary system in and on literature and the exploitation of capital as a metaphor for moral and social decline. Authors include Chrétien de Troyes, Molière, Prévost, Balzac, Zola. Non-French majors may write papers and examinations in English. Four credit hours. L.  MS. DIACONOFF

412s Stylistics  Exercise in the translation, both from English to French and from French to English, of literary texts of varying styles. Stylistic analysis of some of the more marked prose styles in French literature, which students will reproduce in compositions of their own. Prerequisite: French 321 or permission of instructor. Four credit hours. MR. FILOSOF

483f, 483j, 484s Senior Honors Thesis  The senior honors thesis will be undertaken in addition to all required courses for the major; it does not replace any part of the major. The thesis, which will be written in French, is to be a substantial study of a carefully defined literary topic supported by critical sources. Prerequisite: A 3.5 or higher major average at the end of the junior year and permission of the department. Two credit hours. FACULTY

491f, 492s Independent Study  Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours. FACULTY

493f Senior Seminar  An integrating experience for senior majors both of French studies and of French literature. Through the choice of a particular theme, students will synthesize and coordinate both their academic work in the major and their experiences in French-speaking countries. Readings and discussions, independent work on individually designed projects, a substantial piece of written work, and a formal oral presentation required of both majors. Theme for 1995-1996: “Mémoire, Histoire, et Littérature.” Four credit hours. MS. MOSS

Chair, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR ROBERT E. NELSON
Professors Donald Allen and Harold Pestana; Associate Professor Nelson; Assistant Professor Paul Doss; Senior Teaching Associate Bruce Rueger

If one is interested in our planet—how it developed its present characteristics and what may happen to it in the future, where life originated and what supports us on the planet, the physical and hydrologic framework for the environment, and our resources and their use—geology is a central area of study.

The Department of Geology possesses extensive rock, mineral, and fossil collections for study, an excellent small-college library, various geophysical instruments, a state-of-the-art powder x-ray diffractometer for determining mineral identities, and access to the College’s transmission and two scanning electron microscopes, one of which is housed in the department laboratories. The setting of the College also provides an intriguing area for field study. Students are encouraged to work on independent projects and to develop ways of actively examining and interpreting observational data.
Fieldwork is an integral part of many courses and introduces students to many aspects of local and regional geology. Multi-day off-campus trips are also regularly scheduled to localities and areas of particular geologic interest, such as the Hartford Basin of Connecticut, the Mohawk Valley of New York, or Campobello Island in New Brunswick.

The department offers four major programs and a minor for students with different interests. The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken in the major; no requirement may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Students should know that for most professional geological careers, graduate school training will be necessary. Those anticipating entering graduate school immediately upon graduation should strongly consider completing as many major course requirements as possible by the end of their junior year to be prepared to take the Graduate Record Exam in geology in the fall of their senior year; geology-biology and geology-environmental science majors may be underprepared for some parts of the exam.

Requirements for the Major in Geology

Geology 141, 142, 225, 226, 251, 331, 332, 352 or 353, 376, and at least three hours of 491 or 492; Mathematics 121, 122, and either Mathematics 112 or Computer Science 115; Chemistry 141, 142, Physics 141, 142.

The earth science option is offered for students planning to teach in the secondary schools; the requirements are: Geology 141, 142, 225, 226, 251, 312 (or 314), 352, and at least three hours of 491 or 492; Chemistry 141; Science and Technology 215. (Students who elect this major option and then decide to enter graduate school in geology will need to complete the remainder of the courses required for the basic geology major to be prepared adequately.)

The environmental science option is designed to provide students with a core of geology courses supplemented by environmentally related courses from other departments; it is intended for those students who are particularly interested in the geological aspects of environmental science. The requirements are: Geology 141, 142, 225, 312, 353, and 494; Biology 161, 162, 271; Chemistry 141, 142, 217 (or any of the following: 241, 242, 331, 332); Mathematics 121, 231; Physics 141; Economics 133, 231. Related courses include: Biology 211, 219, 254, 352, 354, 358; Geology 131, 171, 177, 331, 352; Mathematics 122, 382; Physics 142; Economics 293, 493 (when topic is appropriate).

Requirements for the Major in Geology-Biology, designed for those students whose interests bridge the two disciplines or who are particularly interested in paleontology, are: Geology 141, 142, 225, 251, 312 (or 314), 371, and at least three hours of 491 or 492; Biology 161, 162, 271, and one other course chosen from 211, 212, 213, 237, 254, 279, 312, 352, 354; Chemistry 141, 142; Mathematics 121 and one course chosen from Mathematics 122, 231, 381. The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in geology and biology.

Requirements for a Minor in Geology

A minor in geology is available to students majoring in other disciplines who also desire an introductory understanding of earth science. Minor programs will be tailored to the needs of individual students; course selection should be done only after consultation with the minor adviser. Requirements are Geology 141, 142, and five courses selected from Chemistry 141, Physics 141, and geology courses numbered 225 and above.

The Bermuda semester. Majors may earn 13 credit hours in field study of coral reefs and carbonate environments. Geology 251, 314, 316, and 318 are occasionally offered by Colby faculty using the facilities of the Bermuda Biological Station.

131f Introduction to Environmental Geology An examination of both the controls of human activities by geology and the impact of humans on natural geologic processes; a survey of fundamental geologic processes and associated hazards (earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, floods, etc.); the exploitation of geologic resources (energy, minerals, water, soils); and topics such as pollution, waste disposal, and land-use planning. An opportunity to discuss, from a geologic perspective, the ramifications of and potential solutions to problems associated with Earth's resources. Not open to students who have already completed Geology 141. Three credit hours. N. MR. DOSS

141fs Introduction to Physical Geology The study of the Earth as a physical environment. Includes study of the composition of earth materials and the processes that have produced and continue to modify the modern Earth, from plate tectonics and volcanoes to streams and glaciation. Lecture and laboratory; laboratories include mandatory field trips, including an all-day weekend trip to the Maine coast. Enrollment limited; when preregistration exceeds capacity, priority for enrollment will be according to class standing: first-year students have highest priority, seniors lowest. Four credit hours. N. MR. NELSON AND MR. DOSS

142s Introduction to Historical Geology The study of the physical and biological evolution of the Earth, from its earliest beginnings to the modern day, with emphasis on the tectonic and paleontologic history of North America. Includes introduction to techniques for determining paleoenvironments based on what can be seen in the geologic record and for determining accurate numerical ages of rock units. Lecture and laboratory; laboratory includes a two-week field mapping project at the end of the semester. Prerequisite: Geology 141. Four credit hours. N. MR. NELSON

[161j] Paleontology for Nonmajors An introduction to the principles of paleontology, the scientific study of fossils. Lecture and laboratory; laboratory work concentrates on environmental interpretation through the use of fossils. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. N.

171f Oceanography A descriptive introduction to physical, geological, and biological oceanography. Topics include the structure and composition of the ocean and its floor; tides, currents, and other important dynamic features; the nature of ocean life. The value of the oceans for food and physical resources will be discussed. Lecture. Three credit hours. N. MR. PESTANA

[177j] Wetlands and Wetland Science Wetlands are ecosystems that have come under intense scientific, social, economic, and political focus in recent years. The course will examine the diversity of wetland types found in the world (while focusing on wetlands in the United States) and the role of wetlands in natural ecosystem function. Physical as well as organic-based processes examined with particular emphasis placed on a multi-disciplinary scope of investigation. The cause and effect of wetland destruction and degradation in the United States will be considered within social, economic, and regulatory frameworks. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: One or more of the following: Biology 161, Chemistry 112 or 141, Geology 131 or 141. Two credit hours. MR. DOSS

225f Mineralogy Physical properties and chemical structure of minerals leading to investigation of the chemical composition and optical properties of minerals. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 141, Chemistry 141 (may be taken concurrently), or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. ALLEN
226s Optical Mineralogy
A continuation of the study of minerals utilizing their optical properties, as studied by petrographic microscope analysis of thin sections and x-ray powder diffraction techniques. Prerequisite: Geology 225. Four credit hours.
MR. ALLEN

251f Invertebrate Paleontology
Morphology of invertebrates and general principles, including nomenclature, taxonomy, paleoecology, evolution, and techniques of identification. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 142 or one year of biology. Four credit hours.
MR. PESTANA

252 Micropalaeontology
An independent study laboratory course covering one or more of the major microfossil groups. Emphasis will be on identification, age determination, and environmental interpretation; offered on demand. Prerequisite: Geology 251 or permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.
MR. PESTANA

254 Advanced Invertebrate Paleontology
An independent study laboratory course involving a detailed investigation of one or more invertebrate groups. Emphasis will be on identification, age determination, and environmental interpretation; offered on demand. Prerequisite: Geology 251 or permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.
MR. PESTANA

[258] Field Geology
A course of studies to be conducted off campus in a region whose climate permits field study of geologic features. Emphasis will be placed on development of fundamental concepts, analysis of field data, field identification of lithotypes, basic mapping techniques, and recognition of geomorphic features and their genetic significance. Grades will be based on field notes, reports, and maps submitted following independent projects, which will be conducted periodically over the duration of the course. Prerequisite: Geology 141 and permission of the instructor. Two or three credit hours.

312s Sedimentation
Processes of sedimentation, methods of analysis of sediments, the description and interpretation of environments of deposition, and the classification and description of sedimentary rocks. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 142 and 225. Four credit hours.
MR. PESTANA

[314] Sedimentation and Carbonate Sediments
Sedimentary processes, environments of deposition, and the classification and description of sedimentary rocks. Emphasis will be on carbonate sediments and the biological aspects of sedimentation. Taught at the Bermuda Biological Station. Students cannot receive credit for both Geology 312 and 314. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 142 and 225. Four credit hours.

[316] Field Study in Bermuda
Field and laboratory study of selected topics dealing with coral reefs, carbonate sediments, or other aspects of the Bermuda environment. Corequisite: Geology 251 and 314. Three credit hours.

[318] Natural and Social History of Bermuda
Selected topics in the natural and social history of Bermuda, taught at the Bermuda Biological Station. Course consists of lectures and field trips by the Colby Bermuda Program director(s) and additional lectures by the biostation staff, Bermuda residents, and visiting Colby staff. Two credit hours.

331f Structural Geology
Processes and results of deformation of rocks, including stress and strain, faults, folds, joints, and rock fabrics. Prerequisite: Geology 142. Four credit hours.
MR. ALLEN

332s Igneous and Metamorphic Petrology
Structured as a continuation of Geology 331. Hand-specimen and thin-section examination of igneous and metamorphic rocks to determine structure, composition, and origin. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 226. Four credit hours. MR. ALLEN

352s Principles of Geomorphology The origin, history, and classification of landforms and the processes that shape the Earth's surface. Emphasis on study of physical processes. Lecture and laboratory; laboratory focus is on aerial photograph and topographic map interpretation, ability to recognize geologic significance of particular landforms. At least one all-day field trip required. Prerequisite: Geology 141, 142 or 331 or permission of the instructor; students completing only Geology 141 with a grade of B or better will be admitted but should consult with instructor prior to registration. (This course will move to the fall semester in the 1996-97 academic year.) Four credit hours. MR. NELSON

353f Groundwater Hydrology A survey of the hydrologic cycle, with specific attention to those components of the cycle related to the sources and occurrence of groundwater resources; the factors that govern the movement of groundwater through aquifers, and the physical and chemical changes that result from passage through the hydrologic cycle. An introduction to techniques used in groundwater quantity and quality investigations. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisites: Geology 141, 142 and Mathematics 121 or 123 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. DOSS

[355] Glacial and Quaternary Geology The origin and development of glaciers and their influence on the landscape, both as erosive forces and as transporters of earth materials. Geological and biological evolution of the landscape during the Quaternary, the most recent of the geological periods. Lecture and laboratory with field trips (including two required all-day Saturday trips). Normally offered in odd-numbered years. (This course will move to the spring semester in the 1996-97 academic year.) Prerequisite: Geology 142. Four credit hours. MR. NELSON

[358] Geological Field Study A spring recess field trip to a selected area. Students must cover expenses. Prerequisite: At least concurrent registration in Geology 142 and permission of the instructor. One credit hour.

371f Quaternary Paleoecology Reconstruction of biological environments on land for the recent geologic past, based on the fossil remains of plants and animals preserved in sediments. Emphasis will be on the use of pollen in reconstructing past vegetation types, but other groups of organisms and what they can tell about past environments will be included. Extrapolation of past climatic parameters from the biological data. Lecture and laboratory. Normally offered in even-numbered years. (This course will move to the spring semester in the 1997-98 academic year but will require an all-day field trip the first Saturday of the fall semester.) Prerequisite: Geology 142 and Chemistry 141; Geology 251 or Biology 271 is recommended. Four credit hours. MR. NELSON

[374] Ore Deposits An investigation of the genesis and localization of ore deposits. Topics may include the history of mineral deposits, materials, and formation of ore deposits, supergene sulfide enrichment, paragenesis and zoning, epigenetic versus syngenetic deposits, magmatic segregation deposits, and mineral deposits related to regional tectonic environments. Some Saturday field trips may be required. Prerequisite: Geology 225 and Chemistry 141. Three credit hours.

376s Stratigraphy Principles of stratigraphy. Includes a study of the relationships and correlation of sedimentary rocks. Laboratories include work with index fossils and a detailed analysis and correlation of well samples. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Geology 251. Four credit hours. MR. PESTANA 491f, 492s Independent Study  Field and laboratory problems in geology or environmental geology, with regular reports and a final written report. Students should consult with major advisers in the spring of their junior years. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

494s Advanced Environmental Geology  Selected topics dealing with environmental quality. Extensive individual investigation. Prerequisite: Geology 141 and 353 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.  MR. DOSS

German

In the Department of German and Russian.
Unless otherwise specified, all courses are conducted in German.

Associate Professors Hubert Kueter, James McIntyre, and Ursula Reidel-Schrewe; Language Assistant
Dominik Bender
The German program focuses on the establishment of a firm foundation in the language as the basis for further study in the literature and culture of the German-speaking countries. While the emphasis may vary after the intermediate level, continued practice and improvement in the four language skills (speaking, listening, reading, and writing) are inherent goals of instruction throughout the curriculum. Upper-level courses also seek to develop ability in literary and cultural analysis and understanding.

Students are urged from the outset to enhance their language skills and cultural awareness through study abroad, attendance at the German table, and participation in extracurricular activities. The January Program in Konstanz gives intermediate-level students an early opportunity to experience life in Germany while living with a German family and attending classes at a local gymnasium. Majors are expected, and minors are strongly encouraged, to spend at least one semester on an approved program abroad. The German faculty welcomes inquiries from all students regarding the choice and timing of foreign-study options in the German-speaking countries.

Achievement Test: If a student offers a foreign language for entrance credit and wishes to continue it in college, that student must either have taken the College Board SAT-II test in the language or take the placement test during orientation.

Requirements for the Major in German
Nine semester courses numbered above German 127, including German 128, 131, 135, 231, 232 or 234, at least two courses numbered 300 or above, and German 493 or 494.

Requirements for the Minor in German
Five semester courses numbered above German 127, including German 128, 131, 135, 232 or 234, and one literature course at the 300 level.

German majors and minors are encouraged to explore German culture and history through related courses in other departments, such as Art 314, 331, 351, 352, Government 257, 356, History 223, 224, 318, 320, 321, 322, 323, Music 115, Philosophy 359.

German majors are expected to spend at least one semester in Germany or Austria on a program approved by the Off-Campus Study Office and the department.

The following statements also apply:
(1) The point scale for retention of the major is based on all German courses beyond German 127.
(2) No major or minor requirements may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.
(3) No more than the equivalent of four semester courses of foreign study or transfer credit may be counted toward the major or minor.
All majors in the department must take at least one course in the major approved by the major adviser each semester until graduation.

Major would normally take courses offered for variable credit for four credits.

Teacher Certification: Students desiring certification for teaching German should consult the Department of German and Russian and the Education Department.

[119] Introduction to Intermediate German  Practice in speaking and listening skills and review of basic grammar. Intended for students electing German 127 in Konstanz. Does not fulfill the language requirement. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: German 126 or appropriate score on the College Board German SAT-II test. One credit hour.

125fj, 126s Elementary German  Basic comprehensive course for students with little or no previous knowledge of German. Development of all four skills: listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Introduction to contemporary life in the German-speaking countries. Audio and video material accompanies textbook instruction; exercises in the language lab may be part of daily preparation. Four credit hours (German 125 is three credit hours in January). FACULTY

127f Intermediate German  Continued practice in speaking and listening skills; grammar review; readings and conversation based on topics from German literature; emphasis on the practical use of the language. Prerequisite: German 126 or appropriate score on the College Board German SAT-II test. Four credit hours.  FACULTY

[127j] Intermediate German  Intensive practice in conversational and writing skills in Konstanz, Germany; emphasis on the practical use of the language. Prerequisite: German 119 and permission of the program director. Three credit hours.

128s Mittelstufe II  Written and oral exercises will focus on the formation of correct, idiomatic structures. Increased emphasis on listening as a corollary of speaking. Readings of increasing length will be used as the basis for discussion and writing assignments. Prerequisite: German 127 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. MCINTYRE

130s Deutsch zum Spaß  Intended for students who would like merely to retain and reinforce their skills in the language, the course will use a variety of written and visual materials to stimulate conversation and review practical vocabulary. Does not count toward the language requirement or the major/minor in German. Prerequisite: German 127 or permission of the instructor. One credit hour; credit/no credit.  MR. KUETER

[131] Conversation and Composition  Emphasis on oral expression and facility in writing. Vocabulary building through reading and discussion of short texts. Prerequisite: German 128 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

132j Introduction to German History and Culture  Taught only in conjunction with a study-abroad program in Konstanz, Germany. Readings and discussions in German. Field trips to museums and architectural monuments. Prerequisite: German 127 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.  MR. MCINTYRE

135f Introduction to German Literature  Readings in all three genres: drama, prose, and poetry. Designed to develop skills in literary analysis and close reading of texts and to introduce writings of major authors representative of their periods. Continued practice in conversation. Prerequisite: German 131 or equivalent. Three credit hours.  L. MS. REIDEL
231f Advanced German Comprehensive review of all aspects of German grammar with attention to specific grammatical problems and usage of a more specific vocabulary. Close reading of short texts; practice in free composition and writing on directed themes. Prerequisite: German 131 or 135. Four credit hours. MR. KUETER

232s Survey of German Culture From the Middle Ages to the Weimar Republic, the course deals chronologically with the major trends in German history and culture as reflected in literature, art, music, and philosophy. Reading of German expository prose, accompanied by documentary texts and short films. Students contribute through reports and improvised dialogues. Prerequisite: German 135 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MS. REIDEL

[234] Introduction to Contemporary German Culture From the Nazi era to the present. Discussion of major trends in the development of Germany (East and West) after World War II. Topics include the role of women, youth and popular music, environmental problems, the media, and foreign workers. Extensive use of current literary and cultural materials, including films. Continued practice in conversation and composition. Prerequisite: German 135 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours.

[331] Business German Introduction to the terminology necessary to understand the socioeconomic structure of German society. Information about the banking system, the structure of corporations, social protection, the media, and the code of behavior in the German business world. Discussion of the contrasts between German and American business policies as factors of cultural difference. Prerequisite: German 231 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[353] 18th-Century German Literature From the Enlightenment to the Classical period. Close reading and interpretation of works by Lessing, Kant, Herder, Goethe, and Schiller. Three or four credit hours. L.

355f 19th-Century German Literature From Romanticism to Realism. Comparative reading of works by Novalis, Eichendorff, Kleist, E.T.A. Hoffmann, Stifter, Keller, and Büchner. Analysis will focus on the changing conception of nature and the individual. Three or four credit hours. L. MS. REIDEL

[358] 20th-Century German Literature Reading and discussion of representative works of fiction, drama, and lyric poetry. Authors include Thomas Mann, Rilke, Kafka, Brecht, Max Frisch, Christa Wolff, Volker Braun, Peter Handke. Three or four credit hours. L.

491f, 492s Independent Study Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours. FACULTY

493s Seminar in German Literature Topics may cover an author, a genre, a literary theme or movement. Four credit hours. MS. REIDEL

[494 ] Senior Project Seminar Conclusion of the study in the field of German with a research paper on a literary work or a study of a specific cultural phenomenon depending on the interest of the participating senior. In the seminar session students explain their individual topics, discuss the different aspects of their project, report on the progress of their research, and receive suggestions from instructor and students on sorting, organizing, introducing, and discussing material and on articulating and defending an argument. Seniors are encouraged to explore in more detail and depth a topic of their choice based on prior course work. Four credit hours.
German and Russian

Courses offered by the department are listed separately under "German" and "Russian Language and Culture."

Chair, Associate Professor James McIntyre
The Department of German and Russian offers courses in the languages, literatures, and cultures of two of the major European countries, leading to a major or minor in German language and literature, a major in Russian language and culture, or a minor in Russian language and literature.

Both the German and Russian programs are dedicated to the idea that foreign countries and peoples are impossible to understand without a thorough knowledge of the national language and literary and cultural traditions. The study of foreign languages and literatures also inevitably increases awareness of one’s own culture. Majors in both German and Russian are expected to supplement their on-campus courses with study programs in the target language in the German-speaking countries and Russia. In addition to the January Program in Konstanz, German students participate in several semester and full-year study programs in Germany and Austria. Of particular note among the variety of options for study in Russia is the Colby in St. Petersburg Program, which emphasizes individualized study of Russian language, literature, and history and also includes the opportunity to teach English in a private high school.

Requirements for the majors and minors in German and Russian are listed in the appropriate sections: "German" and "Russian Language and Culture."

Government

Chair, Professor L. Sandy Maisel
Professors William Cotter¹, Maisel, and G. Calvin Mackenzie; Visiting Professor Morton Brody¹; Associate Professors Kenneth Rodman, Jane Curry³, and Anthony Corrado; Assistant Professors Guilain Denoeux, Deborah Norden, Suisheng Zhao, Paul Ellenbogen, and Elizabeth DeSombre
The Department of Government offers a wide range of courses in American government and politics, comparative government and politics, international politics, political theory, and research methods and quantitative analysis. The departmental goals include exposing students to a variety of forms of governments and intergovernmental activities and to the means for studying these governments and their actions.

Requirements for the Major in Government

Ten semester courses in government, including Government 111, 131, 151, and 171, at least one 400-level course, and successful completion of a significant writing project. Government majors should complete all four of the 100-level courses by the end of their sophomore year.

All requirements for the major must be taken at Colby. Courses transferred from other institutions and/or field experience courses can count (up to a maximum of two) in the 10-course requirement, but they may not be substituted for the introductory or 400-level requirements. Students taking government courses abroad must secure provisional approval for each course prior to leaving; upon return to Colby, brief descriptions of work completed must be submitted to the department for final approval. No government major may take any government course satisfactory/unsatisfactory. No requirement for the government major may be waived—for completion of an Advanced Placement course or examination or any other reason—without written permission of the department chair.

Requirements for the major were changed effective September 1, 1995. Students enrolled as government majors before that time may complete the major under the old or the new requirements. Members of the Class of 1998 are expected to follow the new requirements listed here. The old requirements were nine courses in government, including Introduction to American Government (now Government 111) and Introduction to Comparative Government (now Government 151), one 200- or 300-level course each in American government, international relations, comparative government, and political theory, and at least one 400-level course in government. Government majors in classes prior to 1998 who choose to complete the major under the old requirements should note that 200- and 300-level courses with a middle digit in the course number of 1 or 2 are American government courses; those with a middle digit of 3 or 4 are international relations courses; those with a middle digit of 5 or 6 are comparative government courses; and those with a middle digit of 7 or 8 are political theory courses.

Honors in Government

For those students who intend to pursue the study of government in more depth, the department offers an honors program that emphasizes substantial independent research under the close guidance of one or two members of the faculty. Students majoring in government may apply during their junior year for admission to the honors program. Permission is required; guidelines are established by the department. Successful completion of this program and of the major will result in the degree being awarded “With Honors in Government.”

Government 200-level courses are normally limited to 60 students; 300-level courses are normally limited to 35 students, 400-level courses to 15 students.

Internships are encouraged so that students can experience the practical as well as the more theoretical aspects of the field. Attention is called especially to Colby’s Washington Semester Program.

1President of the College.
2Part time, second semester only.
3On leave first semester.

111fs Introduction to American Government and Politics  How does the American government work? An examination of the relationships among American values, politics, government institutions, and public policy. Priority to first-year students; open to others majoring in government with permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  S.  MR. MACKENZIE AND MR. MAISEL

131fs Introduction to International Relations  An introduction to the major issues within the field of international relations and the theoretical approaches that have been developed to understand these issues. Formerly listed as Government 215. Four credit hours.  S.  FACULTY

151fs Comparative Politics: An Introduction to Politics Outside the United States  A comparative analysis of politics in advanced liberal democracies, communist and post-communist political systems, and developing countries. Important concepts in the field of comparative politics will be introduced. The issue of governmental accountability and the challenges of democratization. Formerly listed as Government 112. Four credit hours.  S, D.  FACULTY

171fs Introduction to Political Theory  A discussion of the basic terms, concepts and principles of modern political science. The basic themes of modern liberalism, including popular sovereignty, civil liberty, equality under the law, liberty, and progress; the relation between politics and economics, including writings on capitalism and socialism; theories of revolution and conservatism, as well as totalitarianism. Readings include major works by authors such as Locke, Mill, Smith, Marx, and Arendt, short stories, and novels. Four credit hours.  S.  MR. ELLENBOGEN AND MR. CORRADO

[211] The American Presidency  The organization, powers, and actions of the executive branch of the American government examined in historical and contemporary perspective. Special emphasis on case analysis. Enrollment limited. Formerly listed as Government 276. Prerequisite: Government 111 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

212s The American Congress  The Congress is the “first branch” of the American national government, but most of us know little about it. The history of the Congress and a study of the politics and policy making of the Congress in the mid-1990s. Formerly listed as Government 273.
Prerequisite: Government 111 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.
Mr. Maisel

[213j] United States Senate Simulation A month-long simulation of how the United States Senate, particularly its committee system, functions. Students will be assigned the role of actual senators as they deal with contemporary policy issues. Formerly listed as Government 175. Open to all classes. Prerequisite: Government 111 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[214] Parties and the Electoral Process An analysis of partisan politics and elections in the United States, emphasizing the role of parties and dealing with candidates, their staffs, the electorate, and the media. Formerly listed as Government 356. Prerequisite: Government 111 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

231f United States Foreign Policy I: The Cold War An analysis of the major events facing the United States during the Cold War and the controversies surrounding them. Academic and policy debates over national security doctrines, the proper place of ideology in foreign policy, the role of economic factors, and domestic political institutions. Topics include the origin of the Cold War, nuclear weapons strategy, the Vietnam War, containment and detente, and the end of the Cold War. Formerly listed as Government 252. Prerequisite: Government 131 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

232f United States Foreign Policy II: After the Cold War Foreign policy issues confronting the United States in the post-Cold War environment. The impact of the end of the Cold War on American definitions of national security and the prospects for international cooperation. Prerequisite: Government 131 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

235j Sustainable Development Listed as Environmental Studies 235 (q.v.). Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

251j Israelis and Palestinians: Conflict and Accommodation The roots and the evolution of the conflict between Israelis and Palestinians. Themes include the origins of Zionism and Arab nationalism; the British mandate over Palestine; the creation of Israel and the birth of the Palestinian refugee problem; the Arab-Israeli wars; stereotyping and prejudices; and the intifada and its impact on the conflict. The origins, content, and significance of the September
1993 agreement between PLO leader Yasir Arafat and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, and the efforts to implement this historic compromise. Scholarly analyses and firsthand accounts, essays, and documentaries depicting the attitudes and emotions that have sustained the conflict between Arabs and Jews in the Palestine-Israel region throughout the 20th century. Formerly listed as Government 258. Three credit hours. S, D. MR. DENOEUX

252s Politics of the Middle East An introduction to the internal politics of Middle Eastern countries, centering on the two main forces that currently play themselves out in this region: the intertwining of religion and politics, and the growing tension between the authoritarian nature of Arab regimes and increasing popular pressures for democratization. The origins of modern Arab states, the challenges of modernization and political development, leadership styles, strategies of political control, and the politics of economic liberalization. Formerly listed as Government 259. Prerequisite: Government 151 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S, D. MR. DENOEUX

253s Latin American Political Systems An overview of Latin American politics, focusing on issues such as political stability, regime types (forms of democracy and authoritarianism), and political change. Formerly listed as Government 251. Prerequisite: Government 151 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S, D. MS. NORDEN

255s Introduction to Chinese Politics The political system of China since 1949, including political institutions, the policy making process, political culture, and the relationship between state and society. The main focus is on the post-Mao era reforms beginning in 1978. Formerly listed as Government 237. Prerequisite: Government 151 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S. MR. ZHAO

256j The Pacific Challenge Combining lectures, discussions, and a 10-hour film series, "Pacific Century," to examine the various challenges—economic, political, and cultural—that Asia-Pacific, the most dynamic region in the world, poses for the United States. Formerly listed as Government 265. Three credit hours. S. MR. ZHAO

258f The Politics of Post-Communist Countries The changes that swept across Eastern Europe in 1989 and the Soviet Union after that. Because what came after communism has been overlaid with the legacies of decades of communist rule, topics include the communist heritage, the dynamics of the transformation, and the systems that are emerging. Not only the changes in the system of politics but also the experiences of leaders and individuals. Formerly listed as Government 253. Prerequisite: Government 151 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S. INSTRUCTOR

259j Marx, the New Left, and the Post-Communist Left From Karl Marx’s writings, a whole spectrum of “leftist” thought has emerged. An examination of the variations on Marxism fostered not only by the rulers of the Soviet Union but also by those who have tried to adapt Marx to democratic sharing of power through competitive political parties in Western Europe and the new post-communist parties in the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe—a look at what they promise and how they try to achieve it to answer the question, can Marx work? Prerequisite: Government 151 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S.

260j 1968: Czechoslovakia, France 1968 was the year when Europe and America were rocked by new kinds of movements for change: Prague Spring, the Peace Movement and Hippie Movement in the United States, and the May Days in France. Who made these “revolutions” (largely of young people) and why the new politics and social structures failed to bring real change. Films, memoirs, and materials from that period. Prerequisite: Government 151 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S. INSTRUCTOR

[261] Introduction to Japanese Politics An introduction to Japanese politics. The political base of postwar Japan's economic development, the strengths and weaknesses of Japanese government institutions, and Japan's emerging global role. Formerly listed as Government 238. Prerequisite: Government 151 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. ZHAO

Courses offered in Greek are listed in the "Classics" section of the catalogue. Also described under "Classics" are the majors and minors for which courses in Greek may be applied.

History

Chair, Professor Robert Weisbrot

Professors Lee Feigon¹, Richard Moss, Weisbrot, and Joseph Rosman²; Associate Professor James Webb; Assistant Professors Elizabeth Leonard, Julie Kay Mueller³, Larissa Taylor, Raffael Scheck, and Mariano Plotkin

History provides the opportunity to understand the human experience through the study of one's own and other cultures and societies as they have evolved over time. It is also a rigorous intellectual discipline involving research techniques, problem solving, and the critical evaluation of evidence. The department offers a wide variety of learning experiences, including lectures, individual tutorials, discussion groups, and research seminars. Students are encouraged to take courses in many areas of history and in interdisciplinary programs and related fields. Although a number of distinguished academic historians began their training at Colby, most majors find that history is excellent preparation for careers in business, law, and other professions. In recent years, media research, preservation, and museums have offered new opportunities for persons trained in history.

Requirements for the Major in History

Twelve semester courses in history: at least two courses in two of the following three areas: United States, European, and non-Western history; at least one course in the third area; History 200. When a student presents two courses in a selected area, at least one must be at the 200 level or higher; one of the courses must be in "early" history, the other in "modern" history, as designated by the department. Two of the 12 courses counting toward the major may be selected from courses in related fields subject to approval by the department.

All majors must take a designated senior seminar (which may also count toward fulfilling an area requirement).

Details on the division of courses among the fields and on the senior seminar requirement are available at the department office.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in history. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Honors in History

Majors in history may apply during their junior year for selection for admission to the department honors program. On successful completion of the work of the honors program and of the major, their graduation from the College will be noted as being "With Honors in History."

¹Joint appointment in East Asian studies; on leave full year.
²Joint appointment in classics; on leave full year.
³On leave full year.

Note: all three- or four-credit hour courses offered by the History Department fulfill the area requirement in historical studies (H). Those that also fulfill the diversity requirement include the D designation.

International Studies

Director, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR PATRICE FRANKO

ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors Catherine Besteman (Anthropology), Guilain Denoeux (Government), Guy Filosof (French), Franko (Economics and International Studies), Mary Beth Mills (Anthropology), Julie Kay Mueller (History), Deborah Norden (Government), David Nugent (Anthropology), Tamae Prindle (East Asian Studies), Ursula Reidel-Schrewe (German and Russian), Kenneth Rodman (Government), Betty Sasaki (Spanish), Raffael Scheck (History), Saranna Thornton (Economics), James Webb (History), and Suisheng Zhao (East Asian Politics)

Requirements for the Major in International Studies
A total of 13 courses (14 beginning with the Class of 1998), including five courses from the core curriculum; three courses in area studies; three courses from policy studies; one senior seminar or appropriate independent study (International Studies 494). Majors must also satisfy a language requirement: the equivalent of one course beyond the 127 level in a modern foreign language for students through the Class of 1997, and two courses beyond the 127 level beginning with the Class of 1998. To the extent to which it is practicable, students are encouraged to develop language skills relevant to their regional specialization. At least one semester of foreign study is required; students with significant overseas experience can petition the director and the advisory committee to be exempted. Beginning with the Class of 1998, a student must receive a grade of C- or better for the course to count toward the major. As of the Class of 1999, no courses listed for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Note: Students must have at least a 2.7 grade point average by the end of the sophomore year to be eligible for foreign study. Students who have not studied abroad and who do not meet this minimum requirement must either enroll in a summer foreign study program for at least nine credits or change majors.

Note to junior transfer students: The College requires that all students spend at least four semesters in residence at Colby. Therefore, to satisfy the semester abroad requirement for the major, junior transfer students must either stay for a fifth semester or enroll in a summer study abroad program for at least nine credits if the study abroad requirement has not been met in some other way.

Courses Composing the Core Curriculum:
Anthropology 112, Economics 133 and 134, Government 131, and History 276.

Courses Approved to Fulfill the Area Studies Component:
Note that (a) at least two courses must be drawn from the same region and one course from a different region, and (b) courses must be drawn from at least two disciplines.

221 Europe in Conflict, 1914-1945
229 Shaping Minds: Persuasion and Propaganda in the 20th Century
255 America and Asia: Attitudes and Relationships
276 Major Trends in World History (if not used to satisfy the core curriculum)
321 The Era of the First World War
322 The Era of the Second World War
347 America in Vietnam
364 Economic Change in 20th-Century Africa
447 Seminar: The Cold War
481 Ecological Change in World History

Psychology
171 Psychology of Fascism

Science and Technology
393 Technology, War, and Society

Courses Approved to Fulfill the Seminar Requirement:

East Asian Studies
457 Seminar on Japanese Culture: The Invention of Japan

Economics
493 Senior Seminar (if topic is appropriate)

Environmental Studies
493 Environmental Studies Colloquium (if topic is appropriate)

Government
431 Ethics and Realpolitik: Dilemmas of Justice and Power in International Relations
432 United States Foreign Policy Seminar
451 Political Violence, Revolutions, and Ethnic Conflict
452 Chinese Foreign Policy
453 Militaries and Politics
454 The Fate of the Left in Europe
455 Capitalism and Democracy: Traumas of Transition

History
423 Seminar on European Socialism
447 Seminar: The Cold War
458 Seminar in Modern Chinese History
481 Ecological Change in World History

Note: Students can petition the director of the program to count a seminar-style 200- or 300-level course toward the seminar requirement. In such cases, students will be expected to enroll in the course and to sign up for two additional credits of independent study (International Studies 494) to compose an original research paper. Approval of this option is at the discretion of the instructor and the advisory committee.

Note: Some courses are listed under two or three categories; no single course can be used to satisfy more than one requirement. Students may petition to include other courses if the course has a substantial international component and is approved by the director and advisory committee.

Honors Program
An honors program is available in which the student can pursue a year-long independent research project that also fulfills the seminar requirement; successful completion of this project may entitle the student to graduate “With Honors in International Studies.” To be eligible, a student must have a grade point average of 3.25 or better and should petition the program for permission to pursue honors by May 1 of the junior year.

Requirements for Concentrations
Students who wish to develop a greater degree of specialization in their elective courses may choose a concentration with either a regional or a policy focus. Students electing to do a concentration should work out a proposed curriculum plan with a relevant adviser in the International Studies Program. Forms can be obtained from the director of the program.

Regional Concentrations:
A regional concentration requires completion of the following:
- four courses dealing with a specific region. Courses appropriate to each region are listed above under the area studies concentrations. At least two of those courses should be taken at Colby.
- a coordination of area specialization with study abroad.
- a coordination of the language requirement with foreign study where Colby offers an appropriate program.
- a seminar project or independent study in the senior year that addresses issues in the chosen area.

Policy or Functional Concentrations:
Five tracks have been established for policy concentrations; the requirements for each are the following:
- Foreign Policy/National Security Studies
- International Economic Policy
- Development Studies
- Environment and Technology Policy
- Social and Cultural Diversity

Each track requires at least four courses designated as relevant to the respective field plus a seminar or an independent senior project relevant to the chosen specialization. Note that some of the courses appropriate for these concentrations are not designated as international studies courses. While they are relevant to their respective specializations, they do not count toward the requirements for the major or the grade point average in the major. These courses are designated by an asterisk (*).

Foreign Policy/National Security Studies:
Students must take four courses listed below, two of which should be taken from the Government Department:

Economics
277 International Finance
278 International Trade

Government
231 United States Foreign Policy
234 Model United Nations
331 Business and American Foreign Policy
332 International Organization
337 United States Policy Toward the Middle East
431 Ethics and Realpolitik
452 Chinese Foreign Policy

History
221 Europe in Conflict, 1914-1945
255 America and Asia: Attitudes and Relationships
321 The Era of the First World War
322 The Era of the Second World War
347 America in Vietnam
447 Seminar: The Cold War

Science and Technology Studies
393 Technology, War, and Society

International Economic Policy:
Students must take four of the courses listed below, two of which are drawn from a core of Economics 277 (International Finance), 278 (International Trade), 293 (Economic Development of the Third World), or 373 (Open-Economy Macroeconomics):

Anthropology
252 Hunger, Poverty, and Population
256 Land, Food, Culture, and Power

Economics
214 Economic Policy and Performance in Contemporary Latin America
239 Seminar in Economic History: 20th-Century Western Europe
272 European Economic History
277 International Finance
278 International Trade
293 Economic Development of the Third World
373 Open-Economy Macroeconomics

Government
256 The Pacific Challenge
331 Business and American Foreign Policy
332 International Organization

History
364 Economic Change in 20th-Century Africa

Development Studies:
Students must take four courses listed below, two of which are drawn from a core of Anthropology 252 (Hunger, Poverty, and Population), 256 (Land, Food, Culture, and Power), or Economics 293 (Economic Development of the Third World):

Anthropology
256 Land, Food, Culture, and Power
213 The Brazilian Economy

Economics
214 Economic Policy and Performance in Contemporary Latin America
277 International Finance
278 International Trade
293 Economic Development of the Third World

Government
252 Politics of the Middle East
253 Latin American Political Systems
256 The Pacific Challenge
354 The Comparative Politics of North Africa
451 Political Violence, Revolutions, and Ethnic Conflict
453 Militaries and Politics

History
276 Major Trends in World History
364 Economic Change in 20th-Century Africa
481 Ecological Change in World History

Environment and Technology Policy:
Students are required to take Economics 231* (Environment and Natural Resource Economics) and Environmental Studies 118 (Environment and Society), as well as two other courses listed below:

Anthropology
256 Land, Food, Culture, and Power

Economics
213 The Brazilian Economy
293 Economic Development of the Third World
493 Senior Seminar (if topic is appropriate)

Environmental Studies
235 Sustainable Development
493 (Environmental Economics Seminar only)

Government
256 The Pacific Challenge
Students are required to take four courses from those listed below, two of which are drawn from a core of: Anthropology 217 (Race and Ethnicity), 253 (Anthropology of Gender), or 256 (Land, Food, Culture, and Power):

Anthropology
- 216* Imagining the “Other”
- 217* Race and Ethnicity
- 233 Anthropology of a Region: China
- 235 Latin American Culture and Society
- 237 Ethnographies of Africa
- 239 Southeast Asian Cultures and Societies
- 252 Hunger, Poverty, and Population
- 253 Anthropology of Gender
- 256 Land, Food, Culture, and Power

Art
- 273* The Arts of China
- 274* The Arts of Japan
- 352 Modern Art, 1880-1914
- 353* Contemporary Art, 1914 to the Present

East Asian Studies
- 251 Imaging Chinese Women: Ideas and Ideals in China
- 271 Women in Japanese Cinema and Literature

English
- 493 Seminar (The Holocaust)

Government
- 352 Race, Religion, and Gender in Latin America
- 451 Political Violence, Revolutions, and Ethnic Conflict

History
- 225 America and Asia: Attitudes and Relationships
- 361 African Voices/African History
- 412* Body and Soul: Early Modern Europe
- 414* Seminar: Deviance in Medieval/Early Modern History

Music
- 252 Introduction to World Music

Religious Studies
- 117 Passage to India: India and the Western Imagination
- 211 Religions of India
- 212 Religions of China and Japan
- 215* Christianity: An Introduction
- 254 Islam and the Middle East
- 259* The Catholic Church in the Modern World
- 312 South Asian Women at the Crossroads: Tradition and Modernity
- 315 Zen Buddhism
- 317 Sikhism: Scripture, Sacred Music, and Art

Russian
- 233 Russian Women’s Writings

Sociology
- 252* Race, Ethnicity, and Society

Spanish
- 493 Senior Seminar (if topic is appropriate)

*Courses that do not count toward the requirements for the major or the grade point average in the major.

483f, 484s Honors in International Studies  A year-long research project for senior majors, resulting in a written thesis to be publicly presented and defended. Prerequisite: A 3.25 grade point average and permission of the advisory committee. Four credit hours.  FACULTY

491f, 492s Independent Study  An independent study project devoted to a topic chosen by the student with the approval of an adviser. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

494fs Senior Project  An independent study taken in the senior year that can be substituted for the senior seminar requirement. It can either be taken freestanding for four credits or in association with a seminar-style 200- or 300-level class for two credits. The former option requires prior course work in the chosen field and the approval of an appropriate supervisor. Permission to take the latter option is at the discretion of the instructor and the program director. Two or four credits.

January Program

Selected courses, offered in January, may be used to fulfill the January Program requirement, which is described under “Academic Requirements.” A complete list of offerings is published in the January Program Course List, issued in October when students elect a course for the January term. Enrollment is limited to 30 or fewer students in nearly all courses. First-year students have priority in all 100-level courses unless otherwise indicated in the course list.

Most courses to be offered in January are described in this catalogue with the regular semester offerings of each department or program (a “j” following the course number indicates a January Program course). Some courses, however, are independent of any specific department and are described below.

002j Emergency Medical Technician Training  Intensive training in basic techniques practiced in emergency medicine. Theory and practical exercises given in conjunction with Kennebec Valley Technical College. Course includes the basic 100-hour EMT program plus certification in basic CPR and requires at least 10 additional hours of clinical observation in a hospital emergency department. Upon completion of the course, which includes examinations, it is possible to be certified as a State of Maine and/or National Registry EMT. Enrollment limited. Priority to students who agree to participate in at least two semesters of on-call experience with Colby Emergency Response. A fee to cover materials and licensing exam is required.
Prerequisite: Permission of the faculty sponsor. Noncredit.

MS. THOMPSON

006j Woodworking  Personal development in the field of crafts as part of a well-rounded education. The habits, skills, and carpentry developed during such a program can be carried on throughout the student’s lifetime. With emphasis on shop safety and knowledge of the use and care of hand tools, students will create useful furniture and small items made of wood. Volunteer instructors will share particular skills. Enrollment limited. A fee to cover materials and supplies is required.
Prerequisite: Permission of the faculty sponsor. Noncredit.

MR. HUME

007j Metalworking  Personal development in the field of metalcraft as part of a well-rounded education. Students will work on individual or joint projects under the supervision of a trained blacksmith in a well-equipped forge. Enrollment limited. A fee to cover materials and supplies is required.
Prerequisite: Permission of the faculty sponsor. Noncredit.

MR. HUME

291j Individual Projects  Each department and interdisciplinary major sponsors a number of individual January Program projects, primarily for majors, to be offered under the appropriate subject heading. At the time of registration the student and sponsor will determine if the project is to be graded or nongraded and if it is to be for credit or noncredit.
Prerequisite: Permission of the sponsor. Two or three credit hours or noncredit.

Japanese

In the Department of East Asian Studies.

A minor in Japanese is offered for students who have a substantial interest in Japanese language and culture.
Requirements for the Minor in Japanese

Five language courses, normally Japanese 125, 126, 127, 128, 321, and one course in Japanese studies exclusive of language.

125fj, 126s  Elementary Japanese  Introduction to the spoken and written language, to provide a thorough grounding in all the language skills: speaking, listening, reading, and writing. Prerequisite: Japanese 125 is prerequisite for 126. Five credit hours; three credit hours in January. INSTRUCTOR

127f, 128s  Intermediate Japanese  A continuation of the methods and goals used in elementary Japanese. Prerequisite: Japanese 126; Japanese 127 is prerequisite for 128. Four credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

297f, 298s  Conversational Japanese  In a small group setting, students practice speaking. This course must be taken concurrently with Japanese 127 or 128. One credit hour. INSTRUCTOR

321f, 322s  Third-Year Japanese  Advanced reading, audiovisual comprehension, and writing practices in Japanese. Designed primarily for those students who have had substantial experience in a Japanese-speaking setting. Prerequisite: Japanese 128 or permission of the instructor; Japanese 321 is prerequisite for 322. Four credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

421f, 422s  Fourth-Year Japanese  Further reading, writing, listening, and speaking in Japanese, using current newspaper articles, short stories, and audiovisual materials. Prerequisite: Japanese 322 or permission of the instructor; Japanese 421 is prerequisite for 422. Four credit hours. INSTRUCTOR

491f, 492s  Independent Study  Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two to four credit hours. FACULTY

Latin

In the Department of Classics.

Courses offered in Latin are listed in the "Classics" section of the catalogue.

Also described under "Classics" are the majors and minors for which courses in Latin may be applied.

Latin American Studies

Director, PROFESSOR JORGE OLIVERAS

ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors Priscilla Doel (Spanish and Portuguese) and Olivares (Spanish); Associate Professor Patrice Franko (Economics and International Studies); Assistant Professors Deborah Norden (Government), David Nugent (Anthropology), and Mariano Plotkin (History); Instructor Ivette Hernández-Torres (Spanish)

Requirements for the Major in Latin American Studies

A total of 10 courses, including Latin America Through Its Classic Texts (Latin American Studies 271), Advanced Spanish Grammar (Spanish 231), two Latin American literature courses at the 200 level or above, one Latin American history survey course (History 171 or 172), four additional courses on Latin America at the 200 level or above from at least three disciplines other than literature, and one senior seminar or senior project.

Students must receive a grade of C- or better for a course to count toward the major. No major requirements may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory. The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken to fulfill the major.

Majors are required to spend at least one semester in Latin America matriculated in a program that offers university-level courses (not in a language acquisition program); all course work abroad must be conducted in either Spanish or Portuguese. All study-abroad plans must be approved by the director of the Latin American Studies Program. No more than the equivalent of four semester courses of foreign study or transfer credit may be counted toward the major. A minimum grade point average of 2.7 is required for admission to study abroad.

Note: Students wishing to fulfill the advanced grammar requirement in Portuguese must enroll, after securing the approval of the director of the Latin American Studies Program, in either a one-semester language program abroad (which will not replace the study abroad requirement) or in an intensive summer language program that certifies advanced proficiency.

Honors in Latin American Studies
Students majoring in Latin American studies with a 3.4 major average or better at the end of their sixth semester (including course work done abroad) may apply for admission to the honors program by May 1 of their junior year. Permission is required. It involves a year-long independent research project that replaces the senior seminar requirement. Successful completion of the work of the honors thesis and of the major will enable the student to graduate “With Honors in Latin American Studies.”

271 Latin America Through Its Classic Texts
An examination of the development of Latin American culture and identity through the analysis of selected “foundational” texts. Authors include, among others, Domingo Faustino Sarmiento, José Enrique Rodó, José Carlos Mariátegui, and Gabriel García Márquez. Four credit hours. MR. PLOTKIN

483f, 483j, 484s Senior Honors Thesis
A year-long research project for senior majors, resulting in a written thesis to be publicly presented and defended. Students may register either for two credits in the fall, January, and spring terms or for three credits in the fall and spring terms. Prerequisite: a 3.4 or higher major average at the end of the junior year and permission of the Latin American Studies Advisory Committee. Two or three credit hours. FACULTY

491f, 492s Independent Study
An independent study project devoted to a topic chosen by the student with the approval of an adviser. Only independent studies taken with a Colby faculty member and approved by the director of the Latin American Studies Program may count toward fulfilling major requirements. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

494fs Senior Project
An independent study taken in the senior year that can be substituted for the senior seminar requirement. It can either be taken freestanding for four credits or in association with a seminar-style 200- or 300-level class for two credits. The former option requires prior course work in the chosen field and the approval of an appropriate supervisor. Permission to take the latter option is at the discretion of the instructor and the program director. Two or four credit hours. FACULTY

Courses Approved to Fulfill the Seminar Requirement

400-level courses listed as seminars and approved by the director of the Latin American Studies Program. Approved seminars offered in 1995-96:

Government

456 Militaries and Politics

Students may petition the director of the program to count a seminar-style 200- or 300-level course toward the seminar requirement. In such cases, students must also sign up for two additional credits of independent research (Latin American Studies 494) to compose an original and substantial research paper. Approved courses in this category offered in 1995-96:

Anthropology

252 Hunger, Poverty, and Population: The Anthropology of Development

Economics

214 Economic Policy and Performance in Contemporary Latin America

History

272 Argentine History

334 Women in Hispanic Texts

Note: No single course can be used to satisfy more than one requirement.

Literature in Translation

Offered by the departments of Classics, East Asian Studies, French, German and Russian, and Spanish

Note: All courses listed in this section fulfill the area requirement in Literature (L). Course descriptions and indications of other area designations are included in the sections of the various departments. From time to time, literature courses in translation are offered by departments with no current offerings in this designation.

Classics

133 Greek Myth and Literature

136 Roman Legends and Literature

137 Literature of Greece and Rome

177, 178 Topics in Classics

233 Russian Women’s Writing

237 19th-Century Russian Literature

238 20th-Century Russian Literature
Mathematics

In the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science. Courses in Computer Science are listed under “Computer Science.”

Chair, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR DALE SKRIEN

Professors Homer Hayslett and Thomas Berger; Associate Professors Fernando Gouvêa and Skrien¹; Assistant Professors Batya Friedman¹, Leo Livshits, Benjamin Mathes, and Dexter Whittinghill; Visiting Assistant Professors Amy Boyd², Krishna Kumar¹, and George Welch²

The Department of Mathematics and Computer Science offers courses in mathematics, statistics, and computer science for students who: (1) plan a career in an area of pure or applied mathematics or computer science; (2) need mathematics as support for their chosen major; or (3) elect to take mathematics or computer science as part of their liberal arts education or to fulfill the area requirement in quantitative reasoning.

There are five programs: a major in mathematics, a major in mathematics-mathematical sciences, a minor in computer science, and a minor in computer science. Details concerning the major and minor in computer science are listed under “Computer Science.” It is not possible to take the mathematics-mathematical sciences major and a minor in computer science. The mathematics major, mathematics-mathematical sciences major, and computer science major can be taken with honors.

In addition, there are interdepartmental joint majors in economics-mathematics and philosophy-mathematics.

Colby mathematics and computer science majors in recent years have entered graduate school to do advanced work in mathematics, statistics, computer science, biomathematics, and physics. They also have used the major as a solid foundation for careers in teaching, law, banking, insurance, management, the computer industry, and other areas.

All students who intend to enroll in one of the 100-level calculus courses are required to complete the mathematics placement questionnaire prior to registration.

Requirements for the Major in Mathematics

Completion of one year of calculus, Mathematics 253, 274, 333, 338, plus five additional courses chosen from Mathematics 262 and all three- or four-credit mathematics courses numbered 300 or above, at least one of which must be a 400-level course (excluding Mathematics 483).

Requirements for the Major in Mathematics-Mathematical Sciences

Completion of one year of calculus, Mathematics 253, 274, Computer Science 115, 231, one course chosen from Mathematics 262, 333, 338, 352; one course chosen from Mathematics 272, 311, 336, 373, 381; one course chosen from Mathematics 332, 372, Computer Science 352, 371; two additional three- or four-credit mathematics courses numbered 300 or above.

Requirements for the Honors Program in Mathematics and in Computer Science

An honors program is available for students majoring in mathematics, mathematics-mathematical sciences, and computer science who have a grade point average of at least 3.25 in all mathematics and computer science courses numbered 200 or higher and who complete an additional, pre-approved program of independent study in the major (Mathematics 483) culminating in both a written paper and a colloquium presentation. Students who successfully complete the requirements and who receive recommendation of the department will graduate “With Honors in Mathematics,” “With Honors in Mathematics-Mathematical Sciences,” or “With Honors in Computer Science.”

Requirements for the Minor in Mathematics

Six mathematics courses, including completion of one year of calculus, Mathematics 253, and at least one three- or four-credit mathematics course at the 300 level.

The point scale for retention of the majors/minors applies to all courses in the majors/minors. No requirement for the majors/minors may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

²Part time.
101f Calculus with Precalculus I  Designed for students who enter Colby with insufficient precalculus background for the standard calculus sequence. Offered only in the fall semester, the course would normally be followed by Mathematics 102 in the following January. The combination of 101 and 102 covers the same calculus material as Mathematics 121. Completion of 101 alone does not constitute completion of a College calculus course for any purpose; in particular, it does not qualify a student to take 122. Placement in 101 is by recommendation of the Mathematics Department only, based on the results of the calculus placement procedure. Two credit hours.  MR. WELCH

102j Calculus with Precalculus II  A continuation of Mathematics 101. Successful completion of both Mathematics 101 and 102 is equivalent to completion of Mathematics 121. Prerequisite: Successful completion of Mathematics 101. Two credit hours.  Q.  MR. WELCH

122fs Calculus II  Further study of differential and integral calculus of one variable; infinite series; vectors and analytic geometry in two and three dimensions; vector calculus; multivariable calculus; infinite series. Prerequisite: Mathematics 121 (or 102). Four credit hours.  Q.  FACULTY

123f Honors Calculus I  Differential calculus of one and several variables: functions, limits, continuity, differentiation. May not be taken for credit if the student has earned credit for Mathematics 121. Students must have had substantial calculus in high school. Students electing this course must complete the mathematics placement questionnaire prior to registration. Four credit hours.  Q.  MR. MATHE S

124s Honors Calculus II  A continuation of Mathematics 123. Integral calculus of one and several variables; infinite series. May not be taken for credit if the student has earned credit for Mathematics 122. Prerequisite: Mathematics 123. Four credit hours.  MR. MATHE S

193f Mathematics Seminar I  An introduction to some of the basic ideas of mathematics (conjectures, refutations, proofs, etc.); discussions of issues of current interest to mathematicians. Topics vary, but the intention is to cover material not in any of the regular mathematics courses. Recent mathematical discoveries may be discussed. May be repeated for additional credit. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Nongraded. One credit hour.  MR. LIVSHITS

194s Mathematics Seminar II  The same format as Mathematics 193. Covers topics different from those in 193 (in any one year). May be repeated for additional credit. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Nongraded. One credit hour.  MR. LIVSHITS
197f Calculus Workshop  An introduction to the formal development of calculus emphasizing the central theorems and their proofs. No previous exposure to calculus is assumed. May be taken concurrently with Mathematics 121 or 122. Three credit hours.  MR. MATHES

231fs Elementary Statistics and Regression Analysis  Elementary probability theory, special discrete and continuous distributions, descriptive statistics, sampling theory, confidence intervals, tests of hypotheses, correlation, linear regression, and multiple linear regression. Examples and applications slanted toward economics. Credit is not given for both Mathematics 112 and 231. Prerequisite: Mathematics 102, 121, or 123. Four credit hours. Q.  MR. HAYSLETT AND MS. BOYD

253fs Linear Algebra  Solutions of linear systems of equations, matrix algebra, determinants. Introduction to abstract vector spaces and linear transformations, eigenvalues, and eigenvectors. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124. Four credit hours.  MR. LIVSHITS

262s Advanced Calculus  An advanced calculus course. Vectors, lines, and planes; limits, continuity, derivatives, and integrals of vector-valued functions; polar, spherical, and cylindrical coordinates; partial and directional derivatives; multiple integrals; line and surface integrals; Green's Theorem; Stokes's Theorem; Fourier series; applications. Typically involves the use of a large computer mathematics package such as Mathematica or Maple. Prerequisite: Mathematics 253. Four credit hours.  MR. BERGER

[272] Introduction to Mathematical Modeling  Deterministic, probabilistic, and simulation modeling of situations and phenomena—such as arms races, spread of epidemics, cultural stability, population growth, political coalitions—from a variety of subject areas. Prerequisite: Mathematics 121 or 123. Three credit hours.

274fs Introduction to Abstract Mathematics  An introduction to fundamental mathematical techniques used in upper-level mathematics and computer science courses. The course presents the principles of mathematical logic and uses them to examine standard methods of direct and indirect proof, including mathematical induction. Topics include techniques from elementary combinatorics and graph theory, the set theoretic approach to functions and relations, and an axiomatic development of the theory of infinite sets. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  FACULTY

311s Introduction to Differential Equations  Theory and solution methods of first-order ordinary differential equations; linear differential equations; first-order linear systems; qualitative behavior of solutions; Laplace transforms; series solutions; existence and uniqueness of solutions; applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124, and 253. Four credit hours.  MR. BERGER

[313] Differential Geometry  An introduction to the differential geometry of curves and surfaces in three-dimensional space. Curves: tangent, normal, and binormal vectors, curvature and torsion, the moving frame. Surfaces: the first and second fundamental forms, the Theorema Egregium, sectional and gaussian curvature, and selected additional topics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124, 253, 274. Three credit hours.

[331] General Topology  Elementary set theory, functions, equivalence relations, topological spaces, basis for a topology, subspaces, concept of neighborhoods, open and closed sets, continuous functions, product topology, connectedness, separation axioms, coverings of spaces, compactness, paracompactness, metric spaces, and identification topology. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124, and 274. Four credit hours.
332 Introductory Numerical Analysis Solution by numerical methods of linear and nonlinear equations, systems of equations, and differential equations; numerical integration; polynomial approximation; matrix inversion; error analysis. Prerequisite: Some programming experience, Mathematics 122 or 124, 253, 274. Four credit hours.

333f Abstract Algebra Introduction to algebraic structures, such as groups, rings, integral domains, and fields. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124, and 274, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

336f Mathematical Economics Listed as Economics 336 (q.v.). Prerequisite: Economics 223, 224, and Mathematics 122 or 124. Three or four credit hours.
MR. DONIHUE

338s Real Analysis An introduction to real analysis. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124, and 274. Four credit hours.
MR. MATHES

352s Complex Variables The arithmetic and calculus of complex numbers and functions. The properties of analytic functions, including Cauchy's integral theorem and formula, representation by Laurent series, residues and poles, and the elementary functions. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124, and 274. Four credit hours.
MR. LIVSHITS

357f Elementary Number Theory An introduction to the theory of numbers. Factorization and primes: unique factorization, greatest common divisors, the sequence of primes, primality testing and factoring on the computer, connections with cryptography. Congruences: linear congruences, theorems of Fermat, Euler, and Wilson, Chinese remainder theorem, quadratic residues, quadratic reciprocity law. Further topics chosen by the instructor. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124. Four credit hours.
MR. GOUVÉA

372f Discrete Mathematics Selected topics in modern mathematics and operations research that have applications in current societal problems. The content will vary from year to year, but topics such as graph theory, combinatorics, game theory, linear programming, optimization techniques, and Markov chains may be considered. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124, and 274. Four credit hours.
MR. GOUVÉA

373f Operations Research Listed as Administrative Science 373 (q.v.). Three or four credit hours.

376f History of Mathematics A survey of the major historical events of mathematical history, from the dawn of civilization to the 20th century. Babylonian, Egyptian, Greek, and Arabic mathematical contributions examined in the context of their cultures. Modern mathematics viewed in the light of various trends that emerged after the beginnings of calculus. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.
H.

381f, 382s Mathematical Statistics Random variables, special probability distributions, moment generating functions, maximum likelihood estimators, sampling distributions, regression, tests of hypotheses, confidence intervals, linear models, analysis of variance. Although applications are discussed, the emphasis is on theory. Prerequisite: Mathematics 122 or 124. Four credit hours.
MR. HAYSLETT
391f Problem Solving Seminar Practice with problem solving skills. Examples, special techniques, and strategies are presented and discussed. Helps to prepare students for participation in the national Putnam competition. May be repeated for additional credit. One credit hour. MR. WELCH

393f Mathematics/Computer Science Colloquium Presentations and discussion of current research in mathematics and computer science. May be repeated for additional credit. One credit hour. MR. GOUVÉA

434s Topics in Abstract Algebra A sequel to Mathematics 333. Topics may vary from year to year. Prerequisite: Mathematics 333. Four credit hours. MR. MATHEWS

439f Topics in Real Analysis A sequel to Mathematics 338. Content may vary from year to year, but topics such as topology, measure theory, functional analysis, or related areas may be considered. Prerequisite: Mathematics 338. Four credit hours. MR. GOUVÉA

483fs Honors Independent Study The independent study component of the honors program in mathematics. Cannot be counted toward the major or minor. Formerly listed as Mathematics 494. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor and admission to the honors program. Three or four credit hours. FACULTY

491f, 492s Independent Study Independent study in an area of mathematics of particular interest to the student. Prerequisite: Mathematics major and permission of the department. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

Music

Chair, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR EVA LINFIELD
Professor Paul Machlin'; Associate Professors Jonathan Hallstrom and Linfield; Assistant Professors Steven Saunders and Richard Argosh; Adjunct Instructor Patricia Helm'

The Colby Music Department includes music historians, composers, and theorists, all of whom are performing musicians. The curriculum for majors and non-majors is designed to provide the broadest possible range of academic studies in music at all levels while also allowing students the opportunity to develop their creative and expressive gifts as performers. The department's conviction that music is an art that bears an intimate relationship to the cultural and social matrix from which it springs is reflected in the diversity of course offerings.

Facilities include a 394-seat recital hall, two concert grand pianos and several smaller grands, an orchestra and band rehearsal room, a fully digital electronic music center with a variety of sound-producing and recording equipment, teaching studios, and practice rooms. Performances are scheduled in the recital hall and in Lorimer Chapel. The fine arts library contains a listening center, tapes and recordings, and resource materials for curricular and recreational needs.

Requirements for the Major in Music
Music 111, 181, 182, 184, 241, 242, 281, 282, 341, 493 or 494; one elective in music at the 200 level or higher; two semesters of lessons and two semesters of ensemble participation. The department requires majors to demonstrate, by means of a brief examination, a specified level of proficiency at the keyboard by the time they have completed Music 282. The specific elements of the exam are available from the department.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in music except Music 153. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.
Requirements for the Minor in Music
Music 111, 181, 182; two semesters of music history chosen from Music 241, 242, 341; one four-credit music elective at the 200 level or higher, and two semesters of applied music (both of which must be taken on the same instrument). The College does not subsidize the cost of lessons for minors. For additional information concerning applied music options, fees, scheduling, and related matters, refer to the applied music statement below.

Attention is also called to the interdisciplinary majors in American studies, performing arts, and women's studies.

Applied Music Private lessons in voice and a variety of instruments are available, with or without academic credit (see Music 191d). A student who has successfully completed for graded credit a theory of music course while enrolled in a college or university program away from campus approved for academic credit by Colby may petition the Department of Music to take an examination equivalent to the final examination of Music 153 or Music 181 (whichever is appropriate) one time only. Passing this examination can serve as a substitute for taking for graded credit and passing one of those two courses in order to fulfill the prerequisite for Music 191 and 193.

Fees for lessons, billed through the College business office, depend upon the number of credits elected; consult the Music Department for specific charges. Extracurricular instruction in applied music is also available in January and may satisfy a January requirement; no academic credit for applied music may be earned in January. Students electing Music 091 or 191 or taking extracurricular instruction must consult the applied music coordinator. Individual lessons/times are scheduled in consultation with the appropriate applied music associate. Note: By electing any applied music, the student incurs a responsibility for the appropriate fee.

Music majors, beginning in the first semester of their sophomore year, are eligible for six semesters of subsidized instruction in applied music (Music 191 for two credits) in the instrument of their choice. Majors are also eligible for an additional four semesters of subsidized instruction; however, for those students who require instruction in piano in order to fulfill the piano proficiency requirement, two and only two of these additional semesters of instruction must be used towards completion of that requirement. Majors who study with approved instructors who are not members of the Music Department's applied music staff are eligible for the same subsidy; consult the applied music coordinator for specific criteria. Music minors are not eligible for the applied music subsidy.

2Part time; assistant director of career services.

Note: all three- or four-credit hour courses offered by the Music Department, except 213, fulfill the area requirement in Arts (A). Those that also fulfill the Diversity requirement include the D designation.

091j Applied Music Individual instruction for students who wish to devote the month of January to the study of voice or an instrument. Two half-hour lessons weekly, supplemented by individual daily practice. Similar arrangements can be made for students studying off campus. For additional information concerning fees and related matters, see the applied music statement above. Interested students should consult the department before registering. Prerequisite: Permission of the department. Noncredit. STAFF

111f Introduction to Music Why does the music that we typically identify as "classical" produce such intense reactions in some listeners, while others find the music merely pleasant or even incomprehensible? Much of the answer lies in our awareness of what to expect as we listen to particular types of musical works. The course aims to heighten the experience of listening to Western art music through a survey of the major periods of music history (Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque, Classical, Romantic, and Contemporary). Emphasis is on listening to and thinking critically about individual compositions. No previous musical experience is assumed. Four credit hours.

115j History of Chamber Music A history of music for string quartet offered by the members of the Portland String Quartet, artists in residence at Colby. Representative works by Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, and others will be studied in their cultural and historical contexts. Three credit hours.

132s Topics in Music History Attention to a single significant problem or issue in the study of music. Past topics have included the madrigal, music in Renaissance culture, American popular song, and individual composers (e.g., Mozart). Four credit hours.

133f American Music A survey of American music from the time of the Pilgrims to the present, examining the cultivated traditions of art song, symphony, chamber music, and opera, as well as the vernacular heritage of hymnody, folk and popular song, African-American music (including the blues, ragtime, and jazz), Tin Pan Alley, Broadway musical, and rock. Includes close reading of selected works, study of selected composers (Billings, Ives, Joplin, Gershwin, and Ellington), consideration of relationships between music and cultural context. Four credit hours.

153f Introduction to Music Theory An introductory survey of the main aspects of music theory and practice, including rhythm, intervals, scales and keys, melody, harmony, and form. Some music reading, creative writing, and analytical studies in various styles and periods are included. Primarily for students not intending to major in music. May not be taken for credit in addition to Music 181. Four credit hours.

181f Music Theory I The first course in a sequence exploring the language of music. Just as learning a foreign language involves mastering a variety of skills (listening, speaking, reading, and writing), becoming conversant in music requires the ability to hear, notate, analyze, compose, and perform. The course introduces the elements and structure of music, including intervals, scales, chords, melody, harmony, and counterpoint. It investigates how great composers have organized their musical thoughts, allows students to compose in a variety of styles, and introduces ear training and sight singing. Primarily for students with some prior musical training (see also Music 153). Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

182s Music Theory II A continuation of Music Theory I; an introduction to four-part writing is included. Primarily for music majors and others with prior training in music. Prerequisite: Music 181 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

184s Musicianship A course aimed at focusing students' musical sensibilities in both listening and performing contexts. Emphasis will be placed on the development of aural skills, including recognition of increasingly complex musical patterns, sight-reading via both instrument and voice, and keyboard skills (including sight-reading of harmonic progressions and chorales, score-reading, figured-bass, and simple improvisation). Primarily for music majors; open to other qualified students with permission of the instructor. Prerequisite: Music 181 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

191fs Applied Music: Individual Study Instruction in voice and instruments for qualified students. Regular offerings include violin, viola, violoncello, piano, voice, flute, guitar (classical, American traditional, and jazz), organ, and selected brass and woodwind instruments. The student's performance in the course will be evaluated by faculty jury at the end of the semester. For additional information concerning fees, scheduling, and related matters, refer to the applied music statement above. May be repeated for additional credit. Prerequisite for graded credit:
Music 153 or 181 (may be taken concurrently) and permission of the department. One or two credit hours. STAFF

193fs Applied Music: Ensemble Credit for participation in musical ensembles sponsored by the Music Department. In addition to the large ensembles listed below, the department will undertake to form small ensemble groups as the need arises. Interested students should consult the department for additional information before registering. May be repeated for additional credit. Prerequisite: Music 153 or 181 for graded credit (may be taken concurrently) and permission of the department. One credit hour. STAFF

Chorale The largest choral ensemble, its repertoire includes unaccompanied works of the 18th through 20th centuries by European and American composers as well as major works for chorus and orchestra. Tours and exchange concerts are arranged. Enrollment, open to all students, is through auditions early in the fall semester. MR. SAUNDERS

Collegium Musicum A chamber ensemble, performing music from the Medieval, Renaissance, and Baroque periods, and consisting of a vocal group and an instrumental group (recorders, cornamuse, psaltery, Gothic harp, lute, harpsichord, and percussion). Students with little or no previous experience on early music instruments, but who play guitar, woodwinds, brass, or piano, are encouraged to enroll. MS. LINFIELD

Orchestra A symphony orchestra composed of students, local amateurs, and professionals performs four concerts per year of works spanning the entire range of major symphonic literature. Non-competitive auditions are held at the beginning of each semester. MR. HALLSTROM

Wind Ensemble and Jazz Band The Wind Ensemble presents a concert each semester of works drawn from the standard wind ensemble literature. The Jazz Band performs music from the Swing era to current rock tunes and Funk for various College functions. Open to all interested brass, wind, and percussion players without audition. MR. WHITE

213s Introduction to Computer Music An introduction to computer music materials and synthesis options with emphasis on their use in composition; the basics of MIDI (the Musical Instrument Digital Interface), various synthesis techniques, sampling, operation of studio hardware and software, etc. Students will create small composition etudes; the course will culminate in the creation of a larger, fully executed work. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Music 181 or 153 and permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. Q. MR. HALLSTROM

[232] Jazz History Jazz between 1900 and 1950: an examination of the music and the cultural and social forces that shaped it. Specific consideration to the development of various forms and styles (the blues, New Orleans jazz, stride piano, big band music, bop), analyses of the music of performers and composers (Louis Armstrong, Bessie Smith, Duke Ellington, Charlie Parker, Miles Davis), and a study of the relationship between the vocal and instrumental forces that make the music. Prerequisite: Music 111 or 133 or 153 or 181. Four credit hours. D.

[234] From Doo-Wop to Disco; Rock's First Era (1945-1975) A history of the music of rock and roll, with emphasis on an examination of (1) the music itself—its structure and clichés, (2) vocal techniques, (3) instrumentation, and (4) the lyrics. Although this examination focuses on analyses of the music of specific songs, other issues may be considered, including the development of certain genres (soul, Motown, protest rock, folk rock, acid rock); the role of women in rock; racism in rock; and the relationship between the music and the dances it inspired (e.g., the lindy, the twist, and the hustle). The work of certain composers/performers whose careers are central to the development of the music of this period (e.g., Ray Charles, Elvis Presley, the Beach Boys, the Beatles, Carole King, Stevie Wonder, Aretha Franklin) will be studied in some detail. Prerequisite: Music 111 or 133 or 153 or 181. Four credit hours. D.

[236] American Musical Theater in the 20th Century Listed as American Studies 236 (q.v.). A history of American musical theater in the 20th century, focusing on African-American shows of the pre-Broadway era and the jazz age; cabarets and revues; Broadway's golden years—the works of Berlin, Gershwin, Kern, and Porter; modernist trends, revivals, classics of the second golden age, and post-modernism on Broadway (Sondheim). Prerequisite: Music 111, 133, or 153.

241f Music History I: From the Middle Ages Through the Renaissance to the Early Baroque Period
The first in a three-semester sequence for majors acquainting students with the history and literature of Western art music. An investigation of compositional concepts and sociological contexts of the earliest notated music from the Middle Ages (c. 800) to polyphony of the Renaissance (c. 1400 to c. 1600) and the emergence of opera as well as the rise of autonomous instrumental music in the 17th century. Consideration of music within a broader cultural context with its relation, for example, to theology, literature, and the visual arts. Prerequisite: Music 111 and 181, or permission of the instructor. MS. LINFIELD

242s Music History II: From the High Baroque to the Dawn of Romanticism
The second in a three-course music history sequence for majors. The principal genres of the High Baroque, Classical, and Early Romantic periods (including opera, oratorio, cantata, song, sonata, string quartet, concerto, and symphony) as well as major composers (Bach, Handel, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, and Schubert). Attention to theoretical issues and cultural context; for example, music's relationship to literature and the visual arts, the nature of dramatic music, the rise of functional tonality, national styles, and aesthetics. Prerequisite: Music 111 or permission of the instructor. MR. SAUNDERS

252s Introduction to World Music
Cultures throughout the world have made their music in bewilderingly diverse ways. Listening to that diversity, students will develop and refine listening skills to enable them to approach world musics as a rich reserve of cultural knowledge; a particularly sonic way of knowing. Music cultures of Africa, India, indigenous America, Indonesia, and Japan are among those explored. Listening-lab, selected readings, and writing projects; no knowledge of musical notation necessary. Four credit hours.

[255] Music, Sexuality, Gender
A focus on Monteverdi, his late operas and his madrigali guerrieri et amorosi. Contemporary theoretical issues for a study of homoeroticism, construction of gender, and history of the castrati. Prerequisite: Some musical experience. Three or four credit hours. D. MR. ARGOSH

[257] Contemplating Music
Designed primarily for non-majors—issues such as the cultural limits of the concept of music, the interplay of cultivated and vernacular traditions, the isolation of the avant garde in the 20th century, and the formation of the musical canon. No knowledge of music notation required. Prerequisite: Music 111, 153, 181, or 252, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. D.

281f Music Theory III
Form and structure, harmony, and an introduction to chromatic harmony. Primarily for music majors. Prerequisite: Music 182. Four credit hours. MR. ARGOSH

282s Music Theory IV
Post-Romantic harmony and contemporary techniques, focusing on representative works of 20th-century composers. Primarily for music majors. Prerequisite: Music 281. Four credit hours. MR. ARGOSH

341f Music History III: Music of the 19th and 20th Centuries
The third in a three-course music history sequence for majors. A survey of the music of Western Europe and America beginning with Hector Berlioz and continuing up to the present. Issues include the evolution of symphonic, operatic, solo piano, and solo song styles during the mid- and late-19th century and the subsequent impact these genres had on the wide-ranging stylistic, philosophical, and technological directions music has taken since the early 20th century. Prerequisite: Music 111 and 182 or permission of the instructor. MR. HALLSTROM
Composition  Utilization of skills acquired through the study of theory, harmony, and musical analysis in the creation of small and large forms. Individual assignments will be made on the basis of each student's ability, training, and experience. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Music 182 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

491f, 492s  Independent Study  Individual topics in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Primarily for senior music majors. Prerequisite: Permission of the department. One to four credit hours.  FACULTY

493], 494s  Senior Seminar in Music  Topics will change each year; a complete description will be available before registration. Required for senior music majors. Prerequisite: Music 282 and permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  INSTRUCTOR

Adjunct Professor Tina Wentzel; Adjunct Associate Professor Richard Sewell; Associate Professor Wing; Adjunct Assistant Professor James Thurston; Technical Director John Ervin; Visiting Guest Director Cristina Iovita; Visiting Guest Costumer Pamela Scofield

The primary mission of the Performing Arts Program at Colby is to promote the historical, theoretical, and experiential study of performing arts as a viable and important area of inquiry for all liberal arts students. It is an interdisciplinary program that offers a major and minor in theater and dance. The program is founded on two premises: first, that performance is essential to a full understanding of the art form; second, that all the arts share significant modes of thought and expression and that a knowledge of one art form will contribute to an understanding of all the arts. In addition to traditional lecture/discussion courses, the program includes frequent opportunities for practical experience in the theater. It also seeks to educate the larger community through its rigorous production schedule of plays, concerts, touring artists, and residency workshops with guest artists.

The major in performing arts is a liberal arts, not a pre-professional, major. It is, however, a major that will adequately prepare particularly interested and talented students for graduate study and further involvement with performing groups. It is a structured major that ensures that all students have experience and training in technical theater as well as in acting and directing. It is an interdisciplinary major that relates the study of theater and dance to the study of art, music, and literature.

As part of its offerings, the Performing Arts Department has established the Colby in London program, an opportunity to experience and study the performing arts with British professionals. The program strongly encourages majors to elect this opportunity and provides for non-majors interested in performance a unique, richly rewarding semester or year abroad.

Requirements for the Major in Performing Arts

I. Performing Arts 131, 171, 327, 328, and four additional courses in art, music, and/or dramatic literature chosen with the approval of the major adviser.

II. Seven additional courses in performing arts chosen with the approval of the major adviser, including one course in acting, one course in dance, one course in design (231, 232, 233), one course in directing or choreography, and one culminating experience.

III. Significant participation in faculty-directed performance (design, directing, acting, dance) in three semesters, one of which must be in performance and one in design/technical theater.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses offered toward the major. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Requirements for the Minor in Performing Arts

Performing Arts 131, 171, either 327 or 328, and four elective courses chosen among three possible emphases: acting and directing; design and technical theater; dance; and significant participation in one faculty-directed performance (design, directing, acting, dance). Specific course elections must be made in consultation with a designated adviser in performing arts.

091j London Theater  See the January Program Course List. Noncredit.  FACULTY

093j Applied Performance  Significant participation in a production during January. Enrollment limited to members of the cast and crew. Prerequisite: Permission of the performing arts committee. Noncredit.  FACULTY

116 Modes of Interpretation and Creativity in the British Theater I  A study of dramatic texts for and performances of plays on stage in England. Offered in Colby in London. Four credit hours.  A.  FACULTY

131fs Theater Production  Go behind the scenes to reveal secrets about the “magic” of theater. In addition to learning the rudiments of scenery, props, lighting, and sound, students will be encouraged to explore advanced topics such as engineering the “flying” of an actor or painting realistic marble. The lab component offers students a hands-on opportunity to practice the crafts of theater in a relaxed setting while using first-rate equipment under the guidance of working professional instructors. Theater production is a wonderful opportunity to be a significant part of some of the many stellar productions staged by Colby’s Performing Arts Program. Four credit hours.  A.  MR. ERVIN AND MR. THURSTON

133j Stagecraft  Methods, materials, and machinery used in the scene shop and theater as they relate to a realized performing arts production. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours.  A.  FACULTY

155 Studio I, Foundations of Dance: Theory and Technique  Concentration on the basic principles of dance movement: body alignment, coordination, strength and flexibility, forms of locomotion. Three credit hours.  A.

156s Foundations of Voice and Movement  A foundations course that explores the physiological process of vocalization and its relationship to breathing and movement. The basic structures and functions of the vocal mechanism and the use of breath as support for vocalization and physical movement. Major focus will be on the student’s understanding of the interrelationships of these general principles and the student’s ability to apply these principles to performance. Three credit hours.  A.  MS. WENTZEL

171f Acting I: Improvisation  A team-taught overview of the techniques of stage performance, with a focus on invention and structured improvisational problems. Through the use of theater games and movement improvisation, performance skills will be approached from two perspectives: concentration and action. The process allows students to break through thinking and movement patterns that have limited them in the past by responding to each other’s imagination, energy, and style. Three credit hours.  A.  MS. WENTZEL AND MS. WING

175 Techniques of Performing in the British Theater I  Offered in Colby in London. Three credit hours.  A.  FACULTY

191j London Theater  See the January Program Course List. Three credit hours.  A.  FACULTY

212 Fundamentals of Stage Management and Direction  The basic techniques of staging drama—seeking out and projecting the ideas and passions in a script (or imposed upon it); the strategies for organizing and facilitating the creative process commonly used in current theater. One-day workshop with a guest professional stage manager required. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 171 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  A.
216 Modes of Interpretation and Creativity in the British Theater II  See Performing Arts 116. Offered in Colby in London. Four credit hours. A. FACULTY

218s Playwriting  Basic challenges of writing for the stage. Students write brief exercises in dramatic form to deal with compression, stage (as different from narrative) impact, and delineation of character, and then compose a dramatization, short original play, or sequence of scenes. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: One course in the literature of the performing arts, any performing arts course, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. A. MR. SEWELL

218f Scene Design  Exploration of stage space dynamics as they relate to the dramatic event with a concentration on the historical, theoretical, and practical aspects of scene design through lectures, discussions, and projects. Particular emphasis on viable conceptual solutions and the collaborative nature of theater and dance. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 131 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. A. MR. THURSTON

[232] Stage Lighting  The role of light in the dramatic event is explored through lectures, discussions, and projects concentrating on the artistic and scientific aspects of the medium. Particular emphasis on viable conceptual solutions and the collaborative nature of theater and dance. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 131 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. A.

[234] Mechanical Drawing and Graphic Presentation  Realizing conceptual design ideas is a primary goal of this course. Fundamental mechanical drawing principles will be covered in addition to linear perspective, rendering, and computer-aided drawing. Projects will be based on stage designs and/or architectural projects. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. A.

255fs Advanced Dance: Moving Through Human Anatomy  An overview of the major systems of the body (skeletal, organ, fluids, nervous, etc.) to show how the systems support and move the body in and through space. Personal awareness of these systems fosters understanding of their inter-relationships in self and others and helps to refine personal, technical clarity with regard to movement expressivity in performance. Course content will change each semester and may be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 155 and/or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. A. MS. WENTZEL

256 Voice and Movement in Acting  Offered in Colby in London. Three credit hours. A. FACULTY

259j Movement, Improvisation, and Theory I  Description and analysis of movement and its relation to basic elements of dance: time, space, weight, and flow; improvisation and choreographic studies will be the vehicles for exploring the student's creativity. Final projects will be considered for concert format for the spring. Prerequisite: Participation in movement class and permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. A. MS. WENTZEL

271s Acting II: Scene Study  Two- and three-person scenes from the modern repertory form the basis for acting study, principally in the Stanislavskian techniques of quest for objective, analysis of beats, sense memory, and development of character biography. Plays from which scenes are drawn will be read in their entirety. Enrollment limited. Formerly listed as Performing Arts 374. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 171 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. A. INSTRUCTOR
Drama in Performance  An intensive study that culminates in the production of a play. The play will be studied both in its cultural context and as a representative of its kind, emphasizing the interplay between an intellectual command of a text and the problem of presenting a unified idea in actual production. In the fall of 1995 there will be two separate courses: (1) Luigi Pirandello's Six Characters in Search of an Author, an eerie fantasy; performs in October. (2) Shakespeare's Hamlet—10-person cast does multiple roles in a tight, two-hour version of Shakespeare's classic; performs in November. In the spring, Christopher Durang's The Marriage of Bette and Boo, a horrific comedy about a college student coming to terms with his family; performs in April. Topics change each semester and may be repeated for credit. Enrollment limited according to the needs of each production. Prerequisite: Audition or permission of instructor. Four credit hours; three credit hours in January. A. FACULTY

Drama in Performance: Into the Woods  Fully mounted Sondheim musical. Performs in early February. Student enrols either as technician by interview with Mr. Thurston and Mr. Ervin or as performer by audition with Mr. Sewell and Mr. Machlin. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructors. Three credit hours. A. FACULTY

Techniques of Performing in the British Theater II  Offered in Colby in London. Three credit hours. A. FACULTY

Applied Performance  Optional credit for significant participation in productions, applied workshops, or performances staged in conjunction with classes in directing or choreography. May be repeated for additional credit. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: For actors, an acting course numbered 171 or higher (may be taken concurrently); for dancers, Performing Arts 255 (may be taken concurrently); for technicians, Performing Arts 131 (may be taken concurrently); all students must obtain permission of the performing arts chair. One credit hour. FACULTY

Topics in Stage Directing  Workshop exploring directing theory from the turn of the century to the present. In-depth readings, discussions, and experiments with the ideas of Stanislavsky, Meyerhold, Grotowski, Mnouchkine, and Akalanis, among others. Culminates in a personal manifesto of theatrical ideals. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 212 or 274. Four credit hours. A. MS. WING

The Development of Dramatic Art I  An examination of selected plays and theatrical traditions from Ancient Greece through the Restoration. Representative dramas. Also listed as English 327. Four credit hours. L. MR. SEWELL

The Development of Dramatic Art II  An examination of plays and the theatrical tradition from the Romantic period to contemporary drama. Emphasis is placed on historical context and staging techniques as well as on the dramatic text. Also listed as English 328. Four credit hours. L. MS. WING

Topics in Design and Technical Production  Advanced studies in design and technical production. Topics of study might include design theory, production design, technical theater, the production process and theater architecture. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 131 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. A. MR. THURSTON

Studies in Modern Drama: Contemporary Women Playwrights  Listed as English 332 (q.v.). Four credit hours. L. MS. WING

Scene Painting  The theories and techniques of painting for the stage. Historical and contemporary uses of the scenic artist's work in relation to stage design. Students will complete individually assigned projects in a lab setting dependent on their skill level. It is not necessary to have prior experience. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 131 or permission of the instructor. Two credit hours.

MR. THURSTON

[353] Dance Repertory
Advanced applied dance theory. Study and performance of faculty works, commissioned choreography, or period pieces reconstructed from lab annotation. Topics will change each semester. Course may be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 259 (may be taken concurrently), participation in a movement class, and permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

A.

356 Advanced Voice and Movement in Acting
Offered in Colby in London. Three credit hours.

FACULTY

359j Dance Composition and Theory II
Formal compositional fundamentals of dance and their application to group choreography; the relationship of dance to other arts disciplines. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 259 and permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

371s Acting III: Special Topics
The special challenges and demands of acting in particular kinds of plays and/or plays from particular periods or cultures. Spring '96: farce and high comedy, Frisch's Firebugs, Wilde's Importance of Being Earnest, Wilder's The Matchmaker. Formerly listed as Performing Arts 472. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 171 and permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

[394] Topics in the History of Theater and Dance
Advanced study of selected aspects of the theory and practice of staging. Topics will vary from semester to semester and will include such subjects as costume and custom, the development of dance as an art form, the history of stage design, and problems of staging in selected periods. May be repeated for additional credit. Prerequisite: Performing Arts 171 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

491f, 492s Independent Study
Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours.

FACULTY

Chair, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR DANIEL COHEN
Professors Yeager Hudson and Robert McArthur; Associate Professors Cohen and Cheshire Calhoun; Assistant Professor Jill Gordon

"Philosophy," as William James put it, "is an attempt to think without arbitrariness or dogmatism about the fundamental issues." One of the core disciplines of the liberal arts, philosophy provides a unique perspective on human and social problems. As a critical and an integrative discipline, it collects and analyzes the questions that arise from the basic principles of all areas of knowledge. Colby's program features a sequence of courses dealing with both Western and Eastern intellectual and philosophical history, as well as courses treating the major philosophical issues.

Requirements for the Major in Philosophy
Philosophy 152, 211, 231, 232, 453, and five additional courses in philosophy, at least four of which are above the 100 level, one of which may be 483, 484, 491, or 492.

Requirements for the Major in Philosophy-Mathematics
In philosophy: 152; 111 or 211; 231, 232, 258, and 453. In mathematics: 121 or 123; 122 or 124; 274, 333, and 338.

Physics 141, 142 is recommended for the major.
In addition, one of these—Mathematics 491, 492, Philosophy 491, 492 for at least three credit hours—must be taken in one of the semesters or January of the junior or senior year. Students completing the honors program are not required to take 491 or 492.

The point scale for retention of each of the above majors applies to all courses that count toward the major.

Honors in Philosophy

Students majoring in philosophy or philosophy-mathematics may apply during their junior year for admission to the honors program. Permission is required; guidelines are established by the department. Successful completion of the work of the honors program and of the major will enable the student to graduate "With Honors in Philosophy" or "With Honors in Philosophy-Mathematics."

Requirements for the Minor in Philosophy

Six courses in philosophy, totaling at least 18 semester hours, which must include (1) one introductory course selected from Philosophy 111, 114, 135, 152, 174, or 211; (2) either Philosophy 231 or 232; (3) one additional course in the history of Western philosophy selected from Philosophy 231, 232, 252, 359, 373, 374, 378, 453; and (4) three additional courses at or above the 200 level.

1 Dean of faculty.

111fs Central Philosophical Issues: Self and Society An introduction to philosophy by consideration of two of its central branches: social and political philosophy and ethics. Some of the issues addressed are: the nature of political power, individual rights, the good society, the nature of morality, and whether there are moral absolutes. These issues are approached through readings from several of the great philosophers of the West, such as Plato, Locke, Rousseau, and Mill. Four credit hours. S. Ms. Gordon

114f Central Philosophical Issues: Nature and God An introduction to philosophy through an examination of three themes of fundamental philosophical importance: knowledge, reality, and God. Examples of issues include: What is knowledge? How is it achieved? What are its limits? Does mind objectively reflect or subjectively construct its own vision of reality? Is proof of God’s existence or knowledge of God’s nature possible? What is evil, how does it come to be, and who is responsible, God or humans? Readings include Plato, Aquinas, Descartes, Berkeley, Hume, and Tillich. Four credit hours. L. Mr. Hudson

[116] Central Philosophical Issues: The Good Life An introduction to philosophy through an exploration of the themes of the meaning of life and the good life. Readings from philosophy, literature, and psychology. Authors include Plato, Aristotle, the Stoics, Mill, Marx, Nietzsche, Melville, Camus, Sartre, Dostoevsky, and others. Four credit hours. L.

118s Central Philosophical Issues: Philosophy of Law An introduction to philosophy by a consideration of the interrelations between law, philosophy, and logic. Topics will include the nature and foundation of legal systems, the relation of law to morality, the limits of law, punishment, justice, and legal reasoning. Four credit hours. S. Mr. McArthur

134j Philosophy of Sport A survey of several philosophical issues in sport: the nature of competition and friendship, peak experiences, sport as art, and ethical issues in sports. Areas of philosophy as mind-body dualism, social theory, aesthetics, ethical theory, and Eastern philosophy. Three credit hours.

135j Puzzles and Paradoxes An introduction to some of the central concepts, problems, and methods of contemporary philosophy by engaging with an assortment of perplexing problems that inevitably arise when thought turns in on itself. Dilemmas of decision theory and paradoxes of rationality will be among the topics covered. Two credit hours. Mr. Cohen
152fs Logic The techniques of formal reasoning in a symbolic context and their application in natural language. Three credit hours. Q. MR. COHEN

155f Feminist Philosophies A survey of feminist philosophies with special attention to the political theory and practice of liberal, socialist, psychoanalytic, and radical feminisms. Three credit hours. S, D. MS. CALHOUN

174s Philosophical Anthropology: The Philosophy of Human Nature An introduction to philosophy through a comparative study of theories about human nature and destiny. Readings from great philosophers, scientists, and literary figures such as Plato, Rousseau, Skinner, Freud, the Sociobiologists, Sartre, Camus, and Tillich. Also listed as Anthropology 174. Four credit hours. S, D. MR. HUDSON

211f Moral Philosophy An introduction to the three major philosophical approaches to ethics—utilitarianism, Kantian ethics, and virtue ethics. Lesser attention to special issues such as snobbery and moral luck. Three or four credit hours. S. MS. CALHOUN

231f History of Ancient Philosophy A survey of ancient thought that also examines the social and cultural contexts in which that thought arises. Study of the Greek world through the ideas of the pre-Socratics, the Sophists, Plato, Aristotle, Epicurus, the Skeptics, and the Stoics. Four credit hours. H. MS. GORDON

232s History of Early Modern Philosophy European philosophy of the 17th and 18th centuries, focusing on the contrast between rationalist and empiricist approaches to knowledge as developed in the works of Descartes, Locke, Berkeley, Hume, and Kant. Three or four credit hours. H. MS. CALHOUN

234 History of Science A survey of the growth of scientific theories from the Aristotelian-Ptolemaic world view through Newton's mechanical philosophy and Darwin's theory of evolution. Three credit hours. H.

236 Social and Political Philosophy Readings from traditional and non-traditional sources focusing on two questions: How does a thinker's view of human nature inform his or her view of social relations? And how have some groups in society been excluded from full social participation because of specific conceptions of human nature? Readings from Plato, Locke, Rousseau, Wollstonecraft, Mill, Marx, Du Bois, Malcolm X, Tutu, Jaggar, Hood, Davis, and others. Three credit hours. S.

239 Theory of Knowledge A study of the nature and limits of human knowledge. Concepts such as belief, knowledge, truth, and justification, and problems such as perception, induction, memory, and reason will be examined. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours.

252s American Thought A study of some of the major thinkers and movements in the American intellectual and philosophical tradition, with emphasis on the American Enlightenment, Transcendentalism, Pragmatism, and Social Darwinism, and on the contributions of black and women thinkers. Readings from such thinkers as Thomas Paine, Emerson, Thoreau, Margaret Fuller, William James, W.E.B. Du Bois, and John Dewey. Three credit hours. H. MR. HUDSON

256f Indian Thought The development of Indian philosophy and intellectual history from the beginning of the Indian Renaissance in the late 18th century to the present. Readings from such thinkers as Gandhi, Tagore, Ramakrishna, Vivekananda, and Radhakrishnan. Three credit hours. L, D. MR. HUDSON
[258] Intermediate Logic  The formal semantics of symbolic logic and its extensions, metatheoretic results such as soundness and completeness, the nature and limits of the axiomatic method, and philosophical problems concerning the nature of logical truth. Prerequisite: Philosophy 152 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

272s Applied Ethics  An examination of the moral and political dimensions of contemporary issues, such as affirmative action, homophobia, care of the environment, abortion, workfare, and surrogate motherhood. Three credit hours. S, D. MS. CALHOUN

[311] Contemporary Currents in Ethical Theory  An examination of contemporary theoretical controversies over the liberal conception of justice. Beginning with an examination of Kantian and Rawlsian constructivist approaches to justice, the course examines communitarian, discourse ethics, and feminist alternatives to Rawlsian liberalism. Prerequisite: Philosophy 211 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

[312] Philosophical Topics in Feminist Theory  An in-depth investigation of feminist ethics and feminist political theory, with special attention to the moral dimension of personal relationships, the distinction between public and private spheres, and the politics of difference. Prerequisite: Six credit hours in philosophy and/or women's studies. Four credit hours.

[317] Philosophy of Science  The collapse of the midcentury, largely positivist consensus among philosophers of science paved the way for revolutionary new conceptions concerning the status of scientific knowledge, the relations between theories and evidence, and the implicit metaphysics and epistemologies of the different sciences. Those changes and their impact on the wider scientific and philosophic communities are the subject matter of this course. Prerequisite: One course in philosophy or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[338] Philosophy of Language  Philosophy has taken a linguistic turn in the 20th century: philosophers have come to suppose that reflection on the nature of language and the linguistic representation can help solve long-standing philosophical problems. The development of the philosophy of language and its success, with special attention to the role of metaphor. Prerequisite: Two courses in philosophy, including Philosophy 152, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[359] 19th-Century Philosophy  Post-Kantian thinkers such as Hegel, Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, and others. Special attention to the revolt against reason, evolution, and alienation. Prerequisite: Philosophy 232 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

372s Philosophy of Religion  Some of the principal philosophical problems concerning the nature and justification of religious belief and experience, problems such as the nature of God, arguments for the existence of God, the problem of evil, mysticism, and the relation of faith and reason. Prerequisite: One course in philosophy or religious studies, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S. MR. HUDSON

[373] History of Medieval Philosophy  The evolution of philosophical debate in the Latin West from Augustine to Ockham, with particular focus on the problems of the reconciliation of faith and reason, of the metaphysics of universals, and of the sources and possibilities of human knowledge. Prerequisite: Philosophy 231 or permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. H.

374f Existentialism  An examination of such issues as absurdity and meaning, the individual, the nature of being, and choice in readings from Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Heidegger, Camus,
Sartre, Tillich, and Buber. Prerequisite: One course in philosophy or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. L. MS. GORDON

[378] Contemporary Continental Philosophy An examination of the main currents of contemporary European philosophy with special emphasis on its connections to the works of Marx and Freud. Possible readings include selections from Habermas, Foucault, Derrida, Deleuze and Guattari, Baudrillard, Lacan, Irigaray, and others. Three credit hours.

[391] Philosophy Seminar Seminars in selected areas of philosophy. Three or four credit hours.

392s Philosophy Seminar: Plato A close reading of several of Plato's dialogues, working toward a wholistic understanding of his philosophical project. The focus is primarily on the interpretive strategy that treats philosophically the dialogues' dramatic and literary elements. Prerequisite: Philosophy 231 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MS. GORDON

398s Cartesian Legacies The year 1996 marks the 400th anniversary of the birth of René Descartes. In that time, his philosophy has helped shape thought in physics, mathematics, philosophy, psychology, and many other areas of intellectual activity. This seminar is a multi-disciplinary examination of the lasting influence of Cartesian thought, both positive and negative, throughout the curriculum. Three credit hours. FACULTY

453s Seminar: Contemporary Analytic Philosophy Analytic philosophy in this century is the product of philosophical analysis and foundational empiricism. On occasion, they have appeared as complementary, but there is a deep tension between them as to the nature of philosophy itself. An exploration of the transformations of philosophy that have resulted. Formerly listed as Philosophy 453. Prerequisite: Philosophy 232 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. COHEN

483f, 484s Philosophy Honors Program Research conducted under the guidance of a faculty member and focused on an approved topic leading to the writing of a thesis. A 3.25 major average at the end of the senior year is a condition of successful completion of this program. Prerequisite: Senior standing, a 3.0 major average at the end of the junior year, and permission of the department. Three credit hours. FACULTY

491f, 492s Independent Study Individual projects in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

Physical Education

Chair, Adjunct Professor Richard Whitmore
Professor Richard McGee; Adjunct Professor Whitmore; Adjunct Associate Professors Tom Austin, James Wescott, and Deborah Aitken; Adjunct Assistant Professors Edward Mestieri, Gerald McDowell, Scott Borek, Thomas Dexter, Laura Halldorson, Heidi Godomsky, Jennifer Holsten, and Patricia O'Brien; Adjunct Instructor Raymond Gee; Staff Coaches Jefferson Goethals, John Illig, Donald Angus, David Zazzaro, Mark Godomsky, and Sean Devine

The Department of Physical Education and Athletics offers physical education classes, intramural sports, intercollegiate athletics (varsity and junior varsity), informal recreational activities, aerobics programs, and club sports. These programs, along with wellness seminars, may be used to fulfill the new wellness requirement for the Colby degree.

Physical Education Activities

A program of instruction in a variety of activities is offered on a coeducational basis; registration is made with the physical education department. Activities currently in the program are aquatics: swimming, scuba, lifeguard training; leisure-time sports: tennis, golf, squash, skating, figure skating, cross-country skiing, badminton, riding; dance: modern, ballet; team sports: volleyball; other activities: yoga, conditioning, hiking, aerobics, weight training, nautilus training, archery. Most activities last one season (one-half semester). Activity units may be taken toward fulfillment of the physical education requirement (pertinent for the classes of 1996 and 1997) or for the wellness program (required for graduation beginning with the Class of 1998) or as noncredit electives.

Wellness Program

The objective of the new Wellness Program is to assist in and encourage the development of self-responsibility for one's lifestyle, emphasizing mental, emotional, social, physical, and spiritual fitness. The Wellness Program is a requirement for the Colby degree, beginning with the Class of 1998; however, continuing students in earlier classes may choose to earn units in this program. Four units are required and may be earned in any of the following ways:

- Wellness Seminar Series—A series of 10 one-hour wellness lectures is offered each fall semester; topics may include alcohol, drugs, and sex; sexual victimization; time-stress management; nutrition, eating disorders and body image; spirituality and student life; and risks of student living. One unit may be earned by attending four lectures. A maximum of two units may be applied toward the Wellness Program requirement.

- Fitness Classes—Classes will promote aerobic, strength, and flexibility activities to improve fitness and provide educational tools to establish a lifelong fitness program. Five seven-week classes are offered twice each semester. Two units toward the Wellness Program may be earned for completion of each class.

- Varsity Athletics—Beginning with the Class of 1998, a maximum of two units may be earned by participating in one varsity athletic season; only one varsity sport may be counted toward the Wellness Program requirement.

- Activities Classes—A single unit may be earned for participation in one activity (see list above); a maximum of two units may be counted toward the Wellness Program requirement.

- Club Sports—A maximum of one unit may be earned for participation in a club sport.

Physical Education Requirement (Classes prior to the Class of 1998)

Students in classes prior to the Class of 1998 may continue to fulfill the graduation requirement of four units of physical education by participation in varsity athletics, activities classes, and/or club sports.

097j Basic Care and Prevention of Athletic Injuries  Modern principles and practices in prevention and care of common injuries associated with the athletic, school, or recreational setting. Use of proper personal and field equipment support methods, practical/functional examinations, and therapeutic aids. Noncredit.  MR. WESTON

213j Sport and Society  Sport is a phenomenon that has not been given equal time, in terms of study, with other institutions in our society. Many of the current issues in sport and in athletes' lives have made a major impact on our society. A focus on the relationship between sport and society, group behavior and interaction patterns within sport settings at all levels of involvement, cultural, sociostructural, and situational factors affecting the nature or dynamics of sport and sport experience. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two credit hours.  MR. MCGEE

Chair, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR ROBERT BLUHM
Professor Murray Campbell; Associate Professor James Fleming; Assistant Professors Robert Bluhm, Charles Conover, Duncan Tate, and Shelby Nelson

The department seeks to train students to think analytically in terms of the fundamental principles of physics. Subject matter in introductory courses is selected to illustrate basic laws with wide applicability and to help prepare students to enter professions such as medicine, law, teaching, and business. Advanced course offerings provide excellent background for graduate study in physics, astronomy, and engineering. Special emphasis is placed upon independent work and cooperative research with the faculty in atomic and molecular physics, semiconductor physics, theoretical physics, and infrared astronomy. Research projects make use of the department's laser and semiconductor laboratories, workstations, and supporting machine, electronic, and technical shops.

The Physics 141, 142 course sequence provides a solid basis for further work in physics as well as preparation for medical school and advanced study in the other physical sciences. Physics 141, 142, 241, and 242 form a full introduction to classical and 20th-century physics. Physics 254 provides training in electronics for scientific applications. For students with a previous background in physics and calculus from high school, Physics 197 may be taken instead of Physics 141.

Requirements for the Major in Physics
Physics 141 (or 197), 142, 241, 242, 254, 494, two additional courses in physics numbered at 300 or 400 levels, Mathematics 121, 122 (or 123, 124), 253, and 262. An internship, field experience, or independent project in physics or related field approved by the department chair is also required for graduation. The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken in physics and mathematics. No requirements for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

First-year students planning to major in physics should enroll in Physics 141 (or 197), 142 and Mathematics 121, 122 or 123, 124. The major can also be completed if the sequence of courses is begun in the sophomore year.

Students anticipating graduate work in physics, astronomy, engineering, or a related field should expect to elect Physics 311, 321, 332, 333, 431, at least two additional courses in mathematics including Mathematics 311, and a course in computer science. Students planning graduate work in physics, astronomy, or engineering should also consider the honors program described below. Students considering careers in pre-college-level teaching should consult the Education Program early in their academic career.

Honors Program
In the second semester of the junior year, physics majors may apply for admission to the honors program. A 3.15 grade point average in physics and mathematics courses is normally required. In addition to the major requirements, the honors program requires completion of Physics 311, 321, 332, 333, 431, an additional mathematics course numbered above the 100 level, and an experimental or theoretical thesis, to be defended in the last semester of the senior year. Successful completion of the honors program will result in the degree being awarded "With Honors in Physics." A thesis completed as part of the Senior Scholars Program may be substituted for the honors thesis.

Students seeking a career in engineering may consider exchange programs in which both a bachelor of arts and a bachelor of science in engineering can be earned upon successful completion of three years at Colby and two years at Dartmouth College, Case Western Reserve University, or the University of Rochester. Students should consult with the engineering adviser before selecting their first-semester courses.
Requirements for the Minor in Physics

Physics 141 (or 197), 142, 241, 242 (or a physics course numbered 300 or above), 494; Mathematics 121, 122 or 123, 124.

Joint appointment in science and technology studies.

[111] From Galileo to Einstein  What is the structure of the universe? How has our understanding of the physical universe evolved over the ages? These questions form the central theme of a physics course intended for nonscience majors. The physical theories of Galileo, Newton, and Einstein, including their revolutionary impact on our understanding of the universe, are examined. The focus is on the concepts of motion, space, time, matter, and energy. A working knowledge of high-school algebra is required. Lecture only. Three credit hours. N.

[112] Energy for Planet Earth  The technologies of energy generation, distribution, and utilization and their impacts on the environment and society. The course assumes a working knowledge of high-school algebra but no previous study of physics. Lecture only. Three credit hours. N.

113j The Elements  A historical, cultural, and scientific discussion of the development of ideas concerning the structure of matter. We now believe that all matter is made up of a relatively few fundamental ingredients (quarks and leptons) and that these entities somehow arrange themselves into some 100 elements. This does not seem so different from the ancient belief that all things are made up from varying proportions of earth, air, water, and fire. Why do we regard our modern view to be superior? What convinces us that we are correct, and what are the social, political, and economic consequences of this knowledge? Intended as a course for non-science majors. Lecture and discussion. Three credit hours. N.  MR. TATE

115f The Shadow of the Bomb  Fifty years ago the United States tested and then used nuclear weapons. The bombs resulted from the leaps we made during the 20th century in understanding the laws of nature. The creation of nuclear weapons and the accompanying technology has shaped both the scientific and political world since that time. The physics of nuclear weapons and nuclear power, the creation of the first nuclear bomb during World War II, and the effects of its use: physical, moral, political, and environmental; the post-war, Cold War, and present eras, including a study of the development of hydrogen bombs and “third generation” nuclear weapons, nuclear power, nuclear waste, and the proliferation of nuclear weapons. A working knowledge of high-school algebra is required, but no previous study of physics is assumed. Three credit hours. N.  MR. CONOVER

141f, 142s Foundations of Physics  A calculus-based survey of mechanics of solids and fluids, momentum, work and energy, gravitation, waves, electromagnetism, and optics. Lecture, laboratory, and discussion. Prerequisite: A working knowledge of high-school or college calculus, or concurrent enrollment in Mathematics 121 or 123. Physics 141 is prerequisite for 142. Four credit hours. N.  MS. NELSON

197f Honors Physics  Motion, forces, conservation laws, waves, gravity, Einstein’s special relativity, quantum physics, nuclear and particle physics. A course for students who have had substantial physics and calculus courses in high school. May not be taken for credit if the student has earned credit for Physics 141. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. N.  MR. BLUHM
231j Introduction to Astrophysics  Listed as Astronomy 231 (q.v.). Prerequisite: High school chemistry. Three credit hours.  N.  MR. CAMPBELL

241f Modern Physics I  Special relativity, Planck blackbody radiation, the basis of quantum mechanics, and the Schrödinger equation. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Physics 142 and Mathematics 122 or 124. Four credit hours.  MR. CONOVER

242s Modern Physics II  An intermediate treatment of the quantum physics, including the hydrogen atom, atomic models, Schrödinger theory, atomic spectra, and electron spin. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Physics 241 and Mathematics 262 (may be taken concurrently), or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MS. NELSON

254s Essential Electronics  An introduction to modern scientific electronics, emphasizing laboratory work and including theory, problem solving, and circuit design. From simple, direct-current devices to digital integrated circuits, microcomputer instrumentation, and analog signal processing. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Physics 142. Four credit hours.  MR. CONOVER

291j Research and Seminar in Physics and Astronomy  Individual or small-group work in one of several areas: atomic spectroscopy, theoretical physics, condensed matter physics, development of laboratory apparatus, development of laboratory astronomical equipment, analysis of infrared astronomical data, or literature review of topics in physics or astronomy. Written report and seminar presentation required. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Two or three credit hours.  FACULTY

311f Classical Mechanics  Newton’s laws, oscillatory motion, noninertial reference systems, classical gravitation, motion of rigid bodies, and Lagrangian and Hamiltonian mechanics. Lecture and discussion. Prerequisite: Physics 141 and Mathematics 262 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MR. TATE

321f Electricity and Magnetism  A theoretical treatment of electrostatics and magnetostatics in vacuum and material media through Maxwell’s equations. Lecture and discussion. Prerequisite: Physics 142 and Mathematics 262 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MR. TATE

332s Thermodynamics  Concepts of temperature, energy, entropy, heat, and work and their thermodynamic relations as developed from a microscopic point of view. Single and multicomponent systems are discussed, using both classical and quantum statistics. Lecture and discussion. Prerequisite: Physics 241 and Mathematics 122 (or 124) or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.  MR. CAMPBELL

[333] Experimental Physics  Survey of major areas of modern experimental physics. Lecture and laboratory. Prerequisite: Physics 241, 254, or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[336] Solid-State Physics  An introduction to solid-state physics, beginning with a study of crystal forms and diffraction of x-rays. Thermal, optical, acoustical, and electrical properties of solids; the energy-band theory of semiconductors as applied to simple solid-state devices; superconductivity. Prerequisite: Physics 242, 321, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

338s Nuclear and Particle Physics  Nuclear physics, including nuclear reactions and nuclear models; followed by elementary particle physics, including the quark model, leptons, and the strong and weak interactions. Lecture and discussion. Prerequisite: Physics 242. Four credit hours.  MR. BLUHLM

431s Quantum Physics  Nonrelativistic quantum mechanics, including Schrödinger theory, operator algebra, angular momentum, and applications to simple atomic systems.
Lecture and discussion. Prerequisite: Physics 242 and Mathematics 311 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MR. BLUHM

[432] Advanced Quantum Physics  Quantum mechanics of atoms in external fields, including time-independent and time-dependent perturbation theory, treatment of identical particles, angular momentum addition, and a quantum description of light. Lecture and discussion. Prerequisite: Physics 322 and 431 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

483f, 483j, 484s Independent Honors Project  Research conducted under the guidance of a faculty member and focused on an approved topic leading to the writing of an honors thesis. One to three credit hours. FACULTY

491f, 492s Independent Study  Individual topics or research in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to five credit hours. FACULTY

494s Physics and Astronomy Seminar  Discussion of topics of current interest in physics and/or astronomy. One credit hour. FACULTY

Chair, PROFESSOR EDWARD YETERIAN

Professors Nicholas Rohrman, Diane Winn¹, and Yeterian; Associate Professor Dorin Zohner²; Assistant Professors William Klein, Bill Henry, and Tarja Raag; Teaching Assistant Colleen Burnham

The Psychology Department seeks to fulfill three objectives. First, to prepare students for graduate work in psychology and ultimately for professional careers as teachers, researchers, and practitioners. Second, to prepare students majoring in psychology to enter the business or professional community with a strong background in human behavior and its determinants. Third, to provide courses for students majoring in other fields for whom psychological knowledge may be useful. Laboratories are equipped to conduct a fairly wide range of studies in human sensory, perceptual, and memory phenomena and include animal facilities and surgery for physiological and comparative research. There are also laboratories for social, personality, and developmental research. The department maintains electronic and wood shops for the construction of unique apparatus. Several small research laboratories are dedicated for use by advanced students. The data center is equipped with micro-computers as well as mainframe access.

The department stresses the scientific approach to the study of human behavior and requires a fairly extensive set of quantitative and experimental courses for all majors. Each student conducts independent research as an integral part of the major. Colby psychology students have presented numerous papers at professional meetings and have been awarded prizes for undergraduate research excellence at various scientific meetings.

Requirements for the Major in Psychology

Psychology 121, 122, 214, 215, 477; at least one course from 251, 253, 255; at least one course from 229, 236, 239, 257, 274, 297; at least one course from 233, 234, 237; two additional psychology courses, one of which must be selected from 331, 354, 355, 356, 358, 361, 372, 374, 378.

One year of laboratory experience in the natural sciences is recommended.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses offered toward the major as prescribed above. All requirements for the major must be met in conventionally graded courses.

Honors in Psychology

Students seeking to participate in the honors program must make formal application to the department during the junior year. In addition to fulfilling the basic requirements for the psychology major, students must take one additional course in psychology numbered above 300.
and complete the honors research sequence (Psychology 483, 484). Upon vote of the department, the student will be awarded his or her degree "With Honors in Psychology."

Attention is also called to the Senior Scholars Program.

Requirements for the Minor in Psychology
Psychology 121, 122, 214; at least one course from 251, 253, 255; at least one course from 233, 272; at least one course from 229, 232, 234, 236, 237, 239, 257, 274, 297; at least one course from 331, 354, 355, 356, 358, 361, 372, 374, 378.

[239] States of Consciousness  The psychology of perceptual-cognitive experiences in states of consciousness such as sleep, hypnosis, meditation, and trance. May be taken for two credits by students who have earned credit for Psychology 211. Prerequisite: Psychology 121, 122 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

251f Theories of Personality  An examination of historical and current perspectives on the study of personality. Psychoanalytic, dispositional, sociocultural, and existential-humanistic theories of personality will be covered. In addition, issues relevant to the study of personality, such as personality assessment, the stability and continuity of personality traits, and disorders of personality, will be included. Prerequisite: Psychology 121, 122. Four credit hours.  MR. HENRY

253f Social Psychology  An examination of major topics and current issues and research in social psychology. Includes social perception, social cognition, attitudes, prejudice and discrimination, interpersonal attraction, social influence, prosocial behavior, aggression, social exchange, group interaction, and various special applied topics such as social psychology and human sexuality, health, and the legal system. Prerequisite: Psychology 121, 122. Four credit hours. MR. KLEIN

254s Abnormal Psychology An examination of major paradigms, current issues, and research in abnormal psychology. Includes definitions and conceptualizations of abnormality, diagnostic classification, epidemiology, etiology, and clinical intervention strategies as applied to the major categories of mental disorder. Special topics such as the cross-cultural study of psychopathology, the legal implications of diagnostic classifications, and the importance of co-morbidity in the study of psychopathology will be addressed. Prerequisite: Psychology 121, 122. Four credit hours. MR. HENRY

255f Child Development Principles of psychological development from conception through preadolescence, from a biological, sociocultural, and psychodynamic perspective. Prerequisite: Psychology 121, 122. Four credit hours. MS. RAAG

256s Adolescent and Adult Development Principles of psychological development from adolescence through senescence. Emphasis will be placed on the individual's typical attempts to cope with changes in physical structure, social roles, and personal identity. Emphasis will be placed on the application of theoretical concepts to research findings. Prerequisite: Psychology 255. Four credit hours. MS. RAAG

257f Educational Psychology Psychological principles applied to problems of education. Principles of developmental psychology, educational testing and measurement, child and adolescent problems, and pathology. For related practica courses, see the Program in Education and Human Development. Prerequisite: Psychology 121, 122 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours. MS. RAAG

[272] Sensation and Perception The major human senses (vision, audition, somesthesis, taste, smell) studied as physiological systems and as intermediaries between the physical and perceived environments. Prerequisite: Psychology 121, 122 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

274s Applied Psychology A survey of nonclinical applications of psychology, including as possibilities such content areas as consumer behavior, advertising, the impact of mass media on behavior, forensic, environmental, and medical psychology. Prerequisite: Psychology 121, 122. Four credit hours. MR. ROHRMAN

[297] Psychology of Gender An examination of gender similarities and differences in social behavior, personality, physical and cognitive functioning, biological processes, and psychological health. Emphasis is placed on stereotypes of femininity and masculinity, gender roles, gender identity, and the personal, social, and political implications of the male-female distinction. Current research and psychological theories will be applied to understanding various viewpoints that exist in the psychology of gender. Prerequisite: Psychology 121, 122. Four credit hours. MR. ROHRMAN

331f Interpersonal Perception How we judge and explain the behavior of others, and how factors such as goals, power, and cognitive resources affect these perceptions; discussion topics include stereotypes, first impressions, self-fulfilling prophesies, and accuracy in social perception. Focus on people's evaluation of themselves, such as how they view their abilities and potential; issues include whether people prefer accurate or self-enhancing feedback, how they negotiate their environment to achieve goals, and the resulting implications for academic achievement, health, and social relationships. Prerequisite: Psychology 253. Four credit hours. MR. KLEIN

355f Psychopathology Seminar: Schizophrenia and Related Disorders An examination of primary literature pertaining to schizophrenia and related disorders (e.g., schizoaffective disorder, schizotypal personality disorder, delusional disorder). Conceptual, empirical, and methodological issues will be explored. Topics may include the following: assessment and diagnosis of psychotic disorders; social, neurological, and genetic factors contributing to the disorders; associated patterns of cognitive and neuropsychological deficits; and approaches to management and treatment. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Psychology 254. Four credit hours.

[356] Social Psychology Seminar  Critical examination of various areas of research in social psychology, with an emphasis on current issues. Discussion topics may include attitude structure and change, cognitive dissonance, group dynamics, health beliefs and behavior, justice, reasoning, self-presentation, social cognition, and stereotypes. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Psychology 214, 253, and permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

[358] Personality Seminar: Current Issues in Personality  An examination of primary literature focusing on empirical, conceptual, and methodological issues and controversies in the field of personality psychology. Issues addressed will likely include the following: the validity and usefulness of current structural models of personality; the role of behavior genetics in the study of personality; the study of temperament and its relationship to personality; and the biological bases of personality. Emphasis will be placed not only on current issues facing the field but also on the modern personality theorists whose ideas and research are most influential in shaping the field. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Psychology 233. Four credit hours.

[361] Psychological Tests and Measurement  The theory and problems of psychological measurement, with special emphasis on the construction and application of psychological tests. Topics include the definition and assessment of the validity and reliability of measures, as well as measurement issues such as considerations of shared source and method variance, response bias, and assessment of differential deficits. Prerequisite: Psychology 121, 122, 214. Three credit hours.

[372] Neuroscience Seminar  In-depth examination of current issues in physiological psychology and human neuropsychology. Topics include hemispheric specialization, sex differences in the nervous system, neural substrates of learning and memory, physiological bases of behavior disorders, drugs and behavior, psychosurgery, and brain tissue transplants. Includes integration of animal experimental and human clinical data. Prerequisite: Psychology 233. Four credit hours.

[374] Human Neuropsychology  The neural bases of abnormal human behavior and cognition, with integration of data from clinical neuropsychology and behavioral neurology. Topics include brain imaging technologies; neuropsychological evaluation; brain dysfunction and mental illness; neurotransmitters and behavior; developmental disorders; dementias and memory disorders; degenerative diseases; infectious diseases; seizures; traumatic brain injury; disorders of communication; and emotional-motivational dysfunction. Emphasis is given to the way in which disorders of the nervous system aid in understanding normal psychological processes. Prerequisite: Psychology 233. Four credit hours.

[378] Seminar on Trance States  A survey of states of consciousness characterized by dissociation from external stimulation. Hypnotic trance will be a focus of the course; additional topics will depend on the interests of the participants but are likely to include meditative states, the shamanic journey, and mediumistic trance (or channeling). Other possible topics are daydreaming, hypnagogic states, automatic writing, near-death experiences, out-of-body experiences, and religious ecstasy. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Psychology 239 and permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

[477] History and Systems of Psychology  The historical background of modern psychology from the Greeks to Wundt and the development of systematic modern viewpoints such as structuralism, functionalism, behaviorism, Gestalt, and psychoanalysis. Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing as a psychology major. Three or four credit hours. MR. ROHRMAN

483f, 484s Honors Research Individual and group meetings of students and faculty participating in the psychology honors program. Under faculty supervision, students will prepare a proposal and will carry out an independent, empirical project. The research will culminate in the preparation of a paper of publishable quality and a formal presentation. A 3.25 major average at the end of the senior year is a condition of successful completion of this program. Prerequisite: A 3.0 major average at the end of the junior year, and permission of the department. Three credit hours. FACULTY

491f, 492s Independent Study Individual projects, under faculty supervision, in areas in which the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Cannot be counted toward the psychology major or minor. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

Professor Longstaff; Associate Professors Debra Campbell and Nikky Singh; Visiting Instructor Laurel Schneider

The study of religion in a college curriculum involves the historical and comparative scrutiny of the world’s religious traditions: Christianity, Judaism, Islam, Buddhism, Hinduism, Confucianism, Sikhism, and Shinto. Inevitably, the examination of basic questions about religion, such as the existence and nature of God, religious experience, and the role of religion in society, are central to the discipline.

Requirements for the Major in Religious Studies

A minimum of 10 courses is required for the major in religious studies. These must include at least three of the following courses that survey the major religions of the world, although all four courses are recommended: Religious Studies 211, 212; 233, 234; Religious Studies 215; Religious Studies 316 (or alternate course in contemporary religion approved by the department); and a culminating seminar, which must be taken in the second semester of the senior year in conjunction with (a) a course of independent study leading to a major essay, (b) an honors program in religious studies, or (c) a Senior Scholars Program in religious studies. The elective courses should be chosen in consultation with faculty advisers to achieve a broad cross-cultural survey of religion or a study of religion with a particular concentration or focus.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses that count toward the major.

Honors Program

Students majoring in religious studies who have a grade point average of 3.0 or higher in the major may apply during the junior year for admission to the honors program. On successful completion of the work for the honors program, including a thesis, their graduation from the College will be noted as being “With Honors in Religious Studies.”

Requirements for the Minor in Religious Studies

Seven courses in Religious Studies, totaling at least 22 credit hours, and including 211 or 212, 215, 233 or 234, 316, 494, and two additional courses, at least one of which must be at or above the 300 level. Students are also encouraged to take at least one course with a substantial writing component or a program of independent study.

1. On leave full year.
Western attitudes towards India and India's encounter with Western culture in return. Literature and film will be the medium of this course's journey; works include Salam Bombay, Wind-World, Siddhartha, The Razor's Edge, Heat and Dust, Baumgartner's Bombay, Mississippi Masala, and Four Quartets. Four credit hours. L, D. MS. SINGH

118f Introduction to Archaeology A first course in the principles and practice of field archaeology, examining the theories and methods of modern, scientific excavation, the importance of proper recording techniques, as well as the tools and technology that contribute to successful excavation. Reference to both classical (especially biblical) and new world archaeology will be made. Enrollment for four credits is limited and will involve excavation at a Colby site or other exercises designed to allow students to develop archaeological skills. Three or four credit hours. MR. LONGSTAFF

[151] Reflections on Evil: A Study of the Book of Job Beginning with Archibald MacLeish's well-known play J.B. and Rabbi Kushner's When Bad Things Happen to Good People, the course will move on to a close reading of the Book of Job as a vehicle for raising the question of whether "personal religion"—the view that human beings are the objects of divine creation, nurture, guidance, and protection—survives the challenge of the experience of persistent evils in the world. This central question in the biblical Book of Job, and one that has troubled men and women in every generation, is the focus of study of Job in its historical and religious context; exploration of wider themes, including the relationship of the book to other literature in which the “problem of evil” is considered. Four credit hours.

201f, 202s Biblical Hebrew Although biblical languages are not offered as regularly scheduled courses, it is possible for students to study biblical Hebrew. Completion of both semesters is required to earn academic credit. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MR. LONGSTAFF

203f, 204s New Testament Greek Although biblical languages are not offered as regularly scheduled courses, it is possible for students to study New Testament Greek. Completion of both semesters is required to earn academic credit. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three or four credit hours. MR. LONGSTAFF

211f Religions of India A study of Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism, and Sikhism with a focus upon their religious texts and the cultural context within which they developed. An examination of the relationship these religious traditions have to one another, their metaphysical understanding of reality, their theories of self, and their views of the social—as expressed in ritual, myth, and poetry. Four credit hours. S, D. MS. SINGH

212s Religions of China and Japan An examination of Confucianism, Taoism, and Shinto—the indigenous religions of China and Japan; tracing the entrance of Buddhism into China and Japan and the resulting transformation of this religion in its interaction with these civilizations. The political ideology of Confucianism, the mystical dimensions of Taoism, the mythological aspects of Shinto, and the meditative experiences of Buddhism (haiku, swordsmanship, and the tea ceremony, etc.) Four credit hours. S, D. MS. SINGH

214f Religion, Magic, and Witchcraft Listed as Anthropology 214 (q.v.). Four credit hours. S, D. MR. HRISKOS

215f Christianity: An Introduction The basic themes and historical controversies that have shaped the traditions of Christianity in the West. Examination of early tensions between Hebraic and Hellenistic thought, as well as major turning points, classic texts, and leading figures in Christian history with a focus on how theologians, mystics, and church people through the centuries have attempted to understand the world and their place in it. Discussion of the ways in which Christians have experienced and acted upon their religious convictions and the role these actions (rituals, legal reforms, political and popular Christian movements) have played in the development of Western culture. Four credit hours.

233f Biblical Literature I  An introduction to the Hebrew Bible and Old Testament in terms of their historical context, original meaning, and significance in the contemporary world. The narratives, prophecies, and other literary forms are studied against the background of the history of Israel in order to understand broadly the culture of the people for whom this literature became normative scripture. Four credit hours.

234s Biblical Literature II  Intended as a sequel to Religion 233; an introduction to the specifically Christian scriptures (the Old Testament Apocrypha and the New Testament). Beginning with the intertestamental period, an exploration of the literature that reflects the background and earliest stages of the Christian movement. Attention is given to the historical and cultural context of the literature and to the development of early Christian theology and its significance for the contemporary world. Four credit hours.

[251] Religion and Art  The different theories of the relation between religion and art as reflected by ancient, medieval, and modern philosophers of art and in the religious traditions of East and West. Selective works of Plato, Aquinas, Tolstoy, Clive Bell, Coomaraswamy, and al-Faruqi will be studied. Architecture, literature, symbols, arabesque, and iconography from the different religious traditions will be encountered aesthetically. Three credit hours.

[254] Islam and the Middle East  An introduction to Islam, beginning with Muhammad and the Qur’an and exploring the major beliefs, practices, and institutions of this religion. Consideration to the diversity within Islam (e.g., Sunni, Mu’tazilite, Sufi, Shi’ite, etc.) as well as to its general characteristics. Attention both to Islam in its formative period and to Islam as a dominant religion in the contemporary Middle East. Four credit hours.

[257] Women in American Religion  The changing role of women in American religious movements from the 17th century to the present, focusing on the experiences of “famous” women, e.g., Anne Hutchinson, the Salem witches, Mother Ann Lee, the Grimke sisters, Frances Willard, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Dorothy Day, and Mary Daly, as well as the experiences of “anonymous” women in Protestant, Roman Catholic, Jewish, and selected utopian communities. The ongoing struggle for women’s ordination and women’s equality within organized religion and the recent efflorescence of feminist theologies. Four credit hours.

[258] Romans and Jews: History, Religion, and Archaeology  Listed as Classics 258 (q.v.). Two credit hours.

[259] The Catholic Church in the Modern World  An examination of the Roman Catholic Church during the past century with special emphasis upon the ferment of the past quarter century; the documents of Vatican II, the emergence of Third World liberation theologies, and the evolution of Catholic teachings on sexuality, nuclear weapons, economic affairs, and the role of women in the church. Four credit hours.

275j Contemporary Wicca: Formalists, Feminists, and Free Spirits  Wicca is one of the fastest growing religions in North America. Often erroneously confused with Satanism, it is an earth-based religion centered around Goddess (and God) imagery that stresses the sacredness of each individual and all of life. The history, the historicity, and the practice of contemporary Wicca on this continent. Extensive readings and some videos will cover the thea/ology, rituals, practices, and political activism of Wiccans. Experiential components (which may include e-mail discussions with Wiccans, ritual design, participation in an open circle, or personal use of divination). Several questions will be explored: How does the centrality of feminine divine imagery affect the development, structures, and practices of this religion? To what extent has feminism shaped Wicca in the United States and Canada? Why are so many Wiccans also activists, and why is there so much public resistance to and discrimination against Wiccans?

Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. D. MS. PUKKILA

298s Native American Religious Traditions An introduction to the study of Native American religions, surveying the enormous diversity of religious practice, belief, and culture from pre-Columbian Native America through the massive impact of European contact into the contemporary age of synthesis and recovery. The problem of interpretation, sources, exploitation, and recovery of ritual practices, oral traditions, and continuing diversity of religious cultures among Indian nations, as well as the rich and dynamic production of new practices and of pan-Indian religious movements. Three or four credit hours. S, D. MS. SCHNEIDER

[312] South Asian Women at the Crossroads: Tradition and Modernity The departure of the British and the partition of the Indian subcontinent created a new world in which indigenous traditions, Western imperialism, and independence deeply affected women and the rise of the women's movement. The course provides a study of both South Asian women who live in the subcontinent and those who have made their homes abroad and focuses on issues of gender, race, and class. In the writings of the South Asian women, literary ideals, religious traditions, and societal issues overlap; caste and hierarchy, colonialism and its aftermath, sexuality, and the search for identity emerge vigorously in their speeches, novels, biographies, and poetry. Enrollment limited; priority to senior majors and minors in religious studies, international studies, and women's studies. Four credit hours. L, D.

[315] Zen Buddhism This Japanese school of Mahayana Buddhism is studied through the historical roots of Indian mysticism and Chinese naturalism, the establishment of Rinzai and Soto schools, the philosophical and psychological idea of “no-mindedness,” and the relationship of Zen with visual and aural arts. Three credit hours. S, D.

316s Seminar: Contemporary Western Theology The problem of interpreting religious convictions and experience in the contemporary world frames the questions in this course. Following a brief recapitulation of early-20th-century theology and the religious crisis of the world wars, an intensive study of the significant theological developments since mid-century, including the “death of God,” process, black, feminist, womanist, and liberation theologies, with discussion and analysis of the challenges posed to these theological movements by postmodern, evangelical, and post-liberal theological claims. Prerequisite: Religious Studies 215 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. MS. SCHNEIDER

317f Sikhism: Scripture, Sacred Music, and Art The Guru Granth Sahib, the Sikh bible, forms the focal point for the literature of the Sikhs as well as other aspects of their culture and values. The seminar will outline its artistic and metaphysical dimensions, including the reasons why it is considered a colossus in both Punjabi and world literature. Prerequisite: Religious Studies 211 or 212 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S, D. MS. SINGH

[318] Seminar: Mary Daly An examination of the theological, spiritual, and ideological development of the radical feminist Mary Daly evident in her major works from The Church and the Second Sex (1968) to the present day. Special attention to Daly's controversial use of language and the various ways in which theologians and feminists have reacted to and been influenced by her work during her eventful and highly publicized career. Prerequisite: Religious Studies 215 or 257 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

319f  Religion in North America  Religious beliefs, controversies, and movements are inseparable from an understanding of American culture and history. A survey of the interaction of religion and culture in America from pre-Columbian Native American traditions through the development and practices of Protestantism, Catholicism, Judaism, Asian religions, and new religions in North America. Discussion of major controversies and challenges facing religious institutions today, with particular attention to the realities and myths of religious freedom and religious symbolism in American identity. Prerequisite: Religious Studies 215 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S, MS. SCHNEIDER

[332]  Western Spirituality  In contrast to theology (formal discourse about God and divine-human relations), the field of spirituality focuses upon the specific efforts of individuals to achieve communion (or even union) with God. The variety of ways that “ordinary people” and famous mystics within the Judeo-Christian tradition have sought to nurture close relations with God, covering the period from the rise of Christianity through the present day. Prerequisite: Religious Studies 215 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

352s  The Theology of Paul  Early Christian theology was more often shaped by the heat of controversy than by the calm analysis of theological reflection. Paul’s letters, and the controversies that prompted them, will be studied as a basis for understanding Pauline theology, its relation to other elements of first-century religion, and its influence on later Western thought. Prerequisite: Religious Studies 234. Four credit hours. MR. LONGSTAFF

[353]  The Great Prophets of Israel  An intensive study of several of the Old Testament prophets, their lives, and their messages. The course will consider each prophet’s impact on his own times and will raise the question of the importance of prophecy in ancient and modern times. Prerequisite: Religious Studies 233. Four credit hours.

355s  The Goddess: A Hermeneutics in Theology  An exploration of some Eastern and Western visions of divinity through feminine imagery and symbolism. The hermeneutic process entails a discovering and reimagining of the Goddess’s multi-dimensionality in art and literature. The objective is to appreciate the variety and complexity of the sacred in figures such as Sarasvati, Durga, Inanna, Athena, Aphrodite, Mary, Kuan Yin, Amaterasu. What powers do these goddesses manifest individually? How do creative, nurturing, and destroying elements combine in them? What validations do they offer society? What new dimensions of feminine life do they release? How does theology differ from theology? Prerequisite: Religious Studies 211 or 212 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours. S, D, MS. SINGH

[356]  The African-American Religious Experience  Listed as Sociology 356 (q.v.). Prerequisite: An introductory sociology or anthropology course, or American Studies 276 or Religious Studies 217 or permission of the instructor. Three credit hours.

[358]  Jesus of Nazareth  An intensive study of the life and teachings of Jesus, employing the methods of gospel study developed in the 19th and 20th centuries. The canonical and extracanonical literature about Jesus, including recent studies of these materials. Attention to the importance of the “quest for the historical Jesus” for contemporary Christianity. Open to first-year students and sophomores with permission of the instructor. Prerequisite: Religious Studies 234. Four credit hours.

372s  Philosophy of Religion  Listed as Philosophy 372 (q.v.). Four credit hours. S, MR. HUDSON
Departmental Seminars Four credit hours. FACULTY

Seminar: Judaism, Ancient and Modern Using the widely acclaimed film series Heritage: Civilization and the Jews together with other readings and discussions, the course will explore the origin and development of Jewish beliefs and practices from the biblical period to the 20th century, concluding with an assessment of the issues that Judaism faces in the late 20th century. Four credit hours.

Russian Language and Culture

Associate Professor Sheila McCarthy; Assistant Professor Julie de Sherbinin; Visiting Instructor Andrei Strukov

The major emphasizes Russian language and literature as the foundation for study in other disciplines such as history and government in order that students develop a multi-disciplinary understanding of Russia in the past and the present. Students are encouraged to participate in extracurricular activities on the campus, including guest lectures and seminars, discussion group meetings, films, weekly Russian table dinners, and live Russian television broadcasts.

Students majoring in Russian language and culture are expected to study in Russia for at least one semester. Instructors advise beginning students carefully about the variety of high-quality summer and semester programs available in many Russian institutions. The Colby in St. Petersburg Program offers students highly individualized study of language, literature, and history, in addition to the opportunity to teach English in a private high school.

Requirements for the Major in Russian Language and Culture

(1) A minimum of seven courses (three or four credits) numbered above Russian 127 in the Department of German and Russian, including Russian 428, and at least one course each in 19th- and 20th-century literature (in English).

(2) History 227 and 228.

(3) A seminar in Russian literature or Russian history (Russian 426, 428, History 326, 328).

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses offered toward the major. No requirements for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.
Requirements for the Minor in Russian Language and Literature

(1) Four introductory Russian language courses: Russian 125, 126, 127, 128.
(2) Two courses in Russian literature in translation: one course in 19th-century literature and one course in 20th-century literature, to be chosen from Russian 231, 232, 237, or 238.
(3) One course in Russian literature in the original, chosen from Russian 325 or 326.

Russian majors and minors are strongly encouraged to broaden their study through related courses in other departments, particularly courses in the History Department, such as History 112, 227, 228, 323, 324, 325, 326, 328, 447, and in the Government Department, such as Government 131, 151, 257, 258, 272, 332, 432, 452.

125f, [125j], 126s Elementary Russian Students in this course will acquire an overall knowledge of the structure of the Russian language and will develop skills in spoken Russian, listening comprehension, and reading and writing basic Russian. In addition to the textbook and language laboratory, the course will make use of Russian television as an aid in understanding both the language and culture of Russia. Russian 125 is prerequisite for 126. Four credit hours; three credit hours in January. MS. DE SHERBININ AND MS. MCCARTHY

127f, 128s Intermediate Russian The course places increased emphasis on reading and writing skills while continuing to supplement texts with Russian television and other audiovisual aids to increase oral and listening skills. Prerequisite: Russian 126 or permission of the instructor; Russian 127 is prerequisite for 128. Four credit hours. MS. MCCARTHY AND MR. STRUKOV

[139j] January in Russia A three-week study tour of Russia. Topics, which vary from year to year, may include political and social affairs, Russian culture, art, and architecture. Three credit hours.

Science and Technology Studies

Director, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR JAMES FLEMING
ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Professors Charles Bassett (English and American Studies), Murray Campbell (Physics and Astronomy), F. Russell Cole (Biology), H.A. Gemery (Economics), Thomas Longstaff (Religious Studies), Robert McArthure (Philosophy); Associate Professors Frank Fekete (Biology), Jonathan Hallstrom (Music), Leonard Reich (Administrative Science), Dale Skrien (Mathematics and Computer Science), Fleming (Science and Technology Studies); Assistant Professor Batya Friedman (Mathematics and Computer Science)
Science and technology have become increasingly important components of our world, changing the ways we live, work, and think. The well-being of individuals, nations, and, ultimately, our Earth depends in part on technical developments that often transform both the social and natural environment.

By choosing from a variety of electives, students in the Science and Technology Studies Program are introduced to historical, philosophical, sociological, economic, political, and technical perspectives on the complex interactions of science, technology, and society. Students gain an understanding of the human and social dimensions of science and technology; they also become better-informed citizens of our high-tech society.

Students from all majors may elect the minor in science and technology studies. Students may also design an independent major in this field.

Requirements for the Minor in Science and Technology Studies
The minor comprises six courses. Two of them, Science, Technology and Society, and Senior Research Project, are required. Four other courses are chosen from the lists below, with the following restriction: nonlaboratory-science majors are required to take at least one course from the list stressing scientific and technological methodologies and at least one course from the list emphasizing historical and/or social issues. Laboratory-science majors are required to choose two courses from the latter list. At least two of the elective courses must be at the 200 level or higher. No more than one independent study or field experience may be included as an elective, and it must be taken for at least three credit hours. Students may petition to include elective courses not listed below. A two-credit hour course counts as one-half an elective.

In order to ensure that each student has taken a coherent program of courses, the minor must be declared and elected courses must be approved before the student has taken the third of four electives.

Courses that deal with scientific and technological methodologies:

Biology
- 177 Plants and People
- 219 Conservation Biology
- 271 Introduction to Ecology
- 493 Problems in Environmental Science

Chemistry
- 112 Chemistry for Citizens
- 115 Chemicals and Society
- 118 Biotechnology
- 217 Environmental Chemistry

Computer Science
- 113 Great Ideas in Computer Science

Selected Topics

Study of Selected Topics  Each department and interdisciplinary program may from time to time offer special courses not otherwise included in the current catalogue. When such a course is offered, it will be listed on the curriculum under the appropriate subject heading. The first digit of its number will depend on the level at which it is offered. Titles, descriptions, prerequisites, and number and type of credits are determined by the department or interdisciplinary major offering the course; information will be available at registration.

Sociology

Professor Thomas Morrione; Associate Professors Cheryl Townsend Gilkes and Arendell; Assistant Professors Adam Weisberger, Christine Bowditch, and Sarah Willie

The curriculum in sociology introduces students to the discipline, especially to the interplay of sociological theory and sociological research. Courses in the department foster appreciation of such sociological concerns as social inequality, social change, social control, deviance, conflict, and the formation of identity. By conducting research for course projects, students learn that sociology is an empirically based social science; they learn to do sociology as well as to read about how it is done. The major helps prepare students to deal with the world by providing them with a critical and humanistic perspective. For those considering graduate school, it offers a comprehensive background in theory and methods and their application in a variety of subject areas of the discipline. After developing their own sociological perspective, students complete an independent research project that integrates their course work, perspective, and research findings.

Requirements for the Major in Sociology
Sociology 131, 215, 271, 493; one 300-level sociology course to be taken in the senior year; and four additional sociology courses, totaling at least 15 hours (one course in anthropology at the 200 level or above may be substituted). Sociology 215 and 271 should be taken before the end of the sophomore year.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in anthropology and sociology. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Honors in Sociology
Seniors majoring in sociology may apply for the honors program during the first two weeks of the fall semester. In addition to department approval and a faculty sponsor, students must have a 3.25 overall grade point average and a 3.60 grade point average in the major. The program involves independent research conducted under the auspices of Sociology 483.

Requirements for the Minor in Sociology

Sociology courses above the 100 level have limited enrollments.

1On leave full year.

Note: All three- or four-credit hour courses offered by the Sociology Department fulfill the area requirement in social sciences (S). Those that also fulfill the diversity requirement include the D designation.
Visions of Social Control  An examination of deviance, dissent, and social control in utopian societies as depicted in selected novels, to illuminate social processes in contemporary societies. Police surveillance, propaganda, legal segregation, political repression, bureaucratic regulation, and biological or psychological manipulation as means of maintaining social order and controlling deviance. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours.  MS. BOWDITCH

Introduction to Yiddish Language and Culture  An intensive, multi-media approach to the world of Eastern European Jewry before the Nazi Holocaust; instruction in the Yiddish language; discussion of various aspects of Jewish culture using literature, music, art, and film. Three credit hours.  D.

Principles of Sociology  A social science analysis of society and human activity, focusing on the nature of institutions, the social construction of reality, and the meaning of freedom in the social world. Concerns include socialization, alienation and marginality, social change, and social issues of race, gender, power, authority, inequality, self, and identity. Four credit hours.  D.  FACULTY

Beyond the Canon: Sociology Through Women's Writing  Parting from tradition, the course will explore the works of extraordinary American and English contemporary female scholars who have not been trained as sociologists. The importance of perspective in labeling social "truths" and in deciphering social patterns. Close reading of texts for social significance, literary appreciation, and personal relevance. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours.  D.

African-American Elites and Middle Classes  Utilizing classical and contemporary sociological theories of stratification and race relations, the course explores the intersection of class and race-ethnicity in the social origins and historical roles of elites and middle classes in the African-American experience. Particular attention to the writings of Du Bois, Frazier, Cox, and Wilson. Biographical and autobiographical perspectives will provide rich description of socialization, family contexts, work, politics, ideologies, and the impacts of racism and social change. Three credit hours.  D.  MS. GILKES

History of Sociological Theory  The history of sociology, and a critical survey of the systems of thought about society, centered on major schools of sociological theory and their representatives. The place of theory in social research as presented in works of major social theorists. Prerequisite: Sociology 131. Four credit hours.  MR. WEISBERGER

Contemporary Social Problems  Analysis of selected controversial issues and public problems in the contemporary United States. General theoretical frameworks in the sociology of social problems used to analyze issues from one or more perspectives; areas include alienation, economic and political freedom, the politics of morality, poverty, women's roles, and social inequality. Four credit hours.  D.  MS. GILKES

Crime in American Society  The course explores the nature and causes of and solutions to crime in American society. Topics include the definition of crime; how police practices, official statistics, and media coverage influence the public's knowledge of and reaction to crime; the social, economic, and political contexts of criminal behavior; and criminal justice policies. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Sociology 131. Four credit hours.  MS. BOWDITCH

Sociology of Religion  A survey and overview of religion as a social phenomenon and an object of sociological analysis. Topics include theoretical perspectives, research strategies, the problem of meaning and moral order, and religion as a group phenomenon involving social conflict, social organization, social class, race-ethnicity, gender relations, politics, popular culture, and public problems such as pluralism, innovation, secularization, and religious economy. Prerequisite: Sociology 131 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

238s The School in American Society An examination of the structure, organization, and practices of schools in American society. Topics include the role of schools in relation to other social institutions and the opportunities and obstacles experienced by various populations of students. Enrollment limited. Readings and discussions will engage the debate over whether, or to what extent, schools enable social mobility or reproduce inequality in our society. Four credit hours. MS. BOWDITCH

[252f] Race, Ethnicity, and Society Comparative perspectives on topics that include the meanings of race and ethnicity in the United States, ethnic community experiences, racism, prejudice and discrimination, and preferential treatment in the shaping of ethnic identities as it has applied to immigration, citizenship, government programs, and educational opportunities. Prerequisite: Sociology 131. Four credit hours. MS. WILLIE

[254] Sociology Through African-American Women Writers: Indiscreet Variables The sociological significance of the current renaissance of African-American women's writing. The writings themselves—prose and poetry, fiction and nonfiction—will be used as models for reflexive sociology and as tools for sociological understanding of contemporary race, gender, and class relations. Four credit hours. D.

256f Health and Illness Application of sociological principles to the medical-care system, its institutions and its personnel, focusing on the hospital as a social and bureaucratic organization; recruitment and training of health care providers; practitioner-patient relationships; also social epidemiology, mental disorders, history of medicine and public health, death and dying. Four credit hours. MS. BOWDITCH

271s Introduction to Sociological Research Methods Introduction to a variety of research methods employed by sociologists. Topics include problem definition, the logic of inquiry, the relation between theory and research, research design, sampling, and techniques for data collection and analysis. Prerequisite: Sociology 131. Four credit hours. MS. ARENDELL

273f The Family Central issues in the sociological study of the American family in both historical and contemporary contexts. Two broad facets of sociological study of the family are emphasized: the family as a major social institution in relationship to other major social institutions, particularly the industrial/post-industrial capitalist economy and the liberal democratic polity; and the family as a primary social group and a unit of intense interpersonal relationships structured along gender and generational lines. Prerequisite: Sociology 131. Four credit hours. MS. ARENDELL

274s Social Inequality and Power Using a historical and sociological orientation, the course examines how structured inequalities are socially created and the social consequences of inequality. Four credit hours. D. MR. WEISBERGER

276f Sociology of Gender The behaviors expected of people because of their sex and differences in the status of men and women in society will be examined using a sociohistorical perspective. Theories accounting for gender differences will be analyzed, and the consequences of gender inequality in contemporary society will be explored. Four credit hours. MS. ARENDELL

D. MS. GILKES
Social Situations in Everyday Life
An introduction to issues, problems, and strategies relating to the observation and analysis of human interaction in natural social settings both on and off campus. A social-psychological perspective is developed through discussion of firsthand field experience and participant observation in a variety of settings. Research project and paper required. Prerequisite: Sociology 131 and 271. Four credit hours.

Divorce and Contemporary Society
The history of divorce in the United States, locating marital dissolution in the larger socio-historical and cultural ideological contexts: advancing industrialization, increased urbanization, and a changing economy; family demographic shifts; the individualistic ethic and changing gender norms and ideologies; developments in child psychology and parenting; and how the expansion of the social welfare state and challenges to public policy contribute to and affect the divorce rate and families’ and individuals’ experiences. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Sociology 131, Sociology 273 or 276, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

Gender and Public Policy
How images of gender, gender difference, and the social positions of women and men affect public policies concerning divorce, provisions for child care for families with working parents, poverty, and discrimination in employment. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Sociology 131, Sociology 273 or 276, or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

Freud
Focus on Freud and his sociological interpreters: a review of Freud's most important works and a survey of contemporary interpretations of psychoanalysis. Critical theory, Parsonian functionalism, and the feminist reconstructions of Nancy Chodorow and Jessica Benjamin. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: Sociology 131 or permission of the instructor. Four credit hours.

Honors Project
Prerequisite: Senior standing, admission to the honors program, and permission of the supervising faculty member. Two to four credit hours.

Independent Study
Individual topics in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Senior standing and permission of the department. Two to four credit hours.

Senior Seminar in Contemporary Sociological Theories
The course provides majors with a critical understanding of a variety of contemporary sociological theories and methodologies. A lengthy paper integrating the student's sociological perspective with a research topic and critical assessment of theories and methodologies covered is required and will guide the independent research project to be completed in Sociology 494. Prerequisite: Sociology 131, 215, 271, and senior standing as a major. Four credit hours.

Spanish
Spanish 135 or permission of the instructor is required for all courses numbered 200 or higher.

The Department of Spanish offers Spanish language and Spanish and Spanish-American literature courses in all periods, genres, and major authors as well as seminars in particular topics. The major in Spanish builds upon a close reading and detailed analysis of literary texts, taking into account ideological, cultural, and aesthetic issues. Students have the opportunity to participate in Colby’s language semester program in Cuernavaca, Mexico, and to spend their junior year abroad at Colby’s program in Salamanca, Spain, or at approved programs in other countries. Like most liberal arts majors, the study of foreign languages should be considered as a background leading to a wide variety of careers. Some students go on to pursue advanced degrees in languages and literatures. When languages are combined with course work in areas such as anthropology, history, government, economics, sociology, or the natural sciences, career possibilities in law, medicine, business, and government are enhanced.

Achievement Test: If a student offers a foreign language for entrance credit and wishes to continue it in college, that student must either have taken the College Board SAT-II test in the language or take the placement test during orientation.

Requirements for the Major in Spanish
Spanish 231 and at least seven additional semester Spanish courses numbered above 131, including two courses at the 200 level or above on literature written before 1800 and two on literature after 1800 (of these four courses, two must be in Spanish literature and two in Spanish-American literature). All seniors must take a literature course at the 300 or 400 level each semester. If taken during the senior year, Spanish 231 does not replace a literature course. Majors are strongly advised to spend one academic year studying abroad at the junior level. A minimum of one semester’s study abroad at the junior level, or the equivalent, is required of majors. Majors must matriculate in a study-abroad program that offers university-level courses (not in a language acquisition program); all course work abroad must be conducted in Spanish. A minimum grade point average of 2.7 is required for admission to study abroad. All study-abroad plans for students majoring in Spanish must be approved in advance by the chair of the Department of Spanish.

The following statements also apply:
(1) The point scale for retention of the major is based on all Spanish courses numbered above 131.
(2) No major requirements may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.
(3) Students must receive a grade of C or better for the course to count toward the major.
(4) No more than the equivalent of four semester courses of foreign study or transfer credit may be counted toward the major.
(5) All majors must take at least one course in Spanish approved by the major adviser each semester until graduation.

Honors in Spanish
Students majoring in Spanish may apply during the junior year for admission to the honors program. Permission is required; guidelines are established by the department. Successful completion of the work of the honors thesis and of the major will enable the student to graduate “With Honors in Spanish.”

To the extent that literature not only reflects but also participates in the production of social reality, the seminar will examine the marginal "other" with the following question in mind: To what extent do particular representations construct or deconstruct, reinforce or challenge, categories of difference designed by the dominant social order to contain and control those differences?  Four credit hours.  L.  MS. SASAKI

APPOINTMENTS IN WOMEN'S STUDIES: Visiting Assistant Professor Pamela Blake; Adjunct Instructors Marilyn Pukkila and Christine Merchant
The Women's Studies Program is devoted to analyzing the social, psychological, political, economic, historical, and artistic dimensions of women's experience, drawing on courses from a broad range of disciplines to reflect the complexities of women's lives. It encourages the development of new methods of analysis and the introduction of previously neglected fields of study with the goal of enriching the entire College curriculum.

Students may pursue a major or a minor in women's studies. Descriptions for courses cross-listed with women's studies are listed under the various departments.

Requirements for the Major in Women's Studies

Thirteen courses including Women's Studies 111 or 221 or 276; 311; 493; a three-course thematic concentration in an area of special interest that has evolved from broad work in the major (these may be women's studies courses or courses cross-listed under women's studies); and seven additional courses designated as women's studies or cross-listed under women's studies, at least two of which must be at the 300 or 400 level. Majors may petition the director to have a non-listed course counted toward the major. Because the connection between theory and practice is central to women's studies, majors are strongly encouraged to include an internship related to women's studies.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken toward fulfillment of the major. No requirement for the major may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Requirements for the Minor in Women's Studies

A minimum of 24 credit hours in at least two departments, to include an introductory course (either Women's Studies 111 or 221 or 276; 311; 493, and at least two additional courses at the 300 or 400 level. No more than three credit hours of field experience may be taken toward the minor.

2January Program only.

111j Introduction to Women's Studies Through lectures and discussion of readings, the course will examine the contributions of feminist scholarship to the understanding of selected topics in the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences. Social programs dealing with women's issues, and oral histories of women's lives. Enrollment limited. Three credit hours. S, D. MS. BLAKE

113f Introduction to Women's Literature and Feminist Criticism A course designed to introduce first- and second-year students to the practice of feminist criticism and to women's literature. After some preliminary readings on the impact of feminist criticism on literary studies, the class will read fiction, prose, and drama by women writers from various countries. Three credit hours. L, D. MS. MOSS

119j Sexuality: Myth and Reality What shapes our sexual behavior? How are our sexual identities formed? What roles do biology and culture play in these processes? An interdisciplinary exploration of the connections between our individual sexuality issues and our social, cultural, and familial contexts. Topics include the physiology of sex, sexual dysfunction, and reproduction; sexual imagery, pornography and erotica; gender issues and sexual preferences/identities; AIDS, STDs, and safe sex; and sexual violence from incest to date rape. Three credit hours. D. MS. MERCHANT

[211j] Women in Myth and Fairy Tale How are women portrayed in the myths and fairy tales of Western cultures? What is the impact of these images on our selves and our society? What are some alternatives to the images we are familiar with? Are there innate "women's ways of heroism" that have been denigrated or ignored by patriarchal systems, or is such a gender distinction purely a social construct? These questions are explored through close examination of ancient and contemporary versions of the stories of Psyche, Beauty, and Inanna. Native American stories and feminist fairy tales will provide alternative images for discussion, as will various video versions of the stories. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: English 115 or equivalent. Three credit hours. L, D.
[221] Gender, Race, and the Politics of Difference  An introductory-level course using lectures, videos, readings, and discussions to examine the contributions of feminist scholarship to the understanding of selected topics. From a cross-cultural and interdisciplinary perspective, an examination of the relationship among gender, race, and other forms of difference with a particular focus on women; questions how assertions and denials of difference have contributed to a new understanding of the definition "woman" and the priorities of the feminist movement. Three credit hours. D.

276 Sociology of Gender  Listed as Sociology 276 (q.v.). Four credit hours. MS. ARENDDEL

311s Seminar in Feminist Theory  An exploration of the major issues and methodologies in feminism through the writings of theorists. Particular attention to the ways that feminists create new theories and the ways in which theories such as poststructuralism are appropriated by feminists. Four credit hours. MS. BLAKE

491f, 492s Independent Study  Individual study of special problems in women's studies in areas where the student has demonstrated the interest and competence necessary for independent work. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor and program director. One to four credit hours. FACULTY

493s Women's Studies Senior Seminar  Independent research projects done under the supervision of the seminar leader with weekly seminar discussions. Development of common themes with readings, discussion of research projects, and presentations. Weekly discussions required. Four credit hours. D. FACULTY
