THE OLD MAN'S PLOT. Translated from the French of Marie Aycaad.

It was a little after midnight, when M. de Langeais entered his wife's apartment. 'You here! at this hour!' exclaimed Madame de Langeais, with astonishment mingled with terror; 'are you ill, sir?' 'I have never felt better,' replied M. de Langeais. 'Have you received any unpleasant news, then?' said the young dame.

'No, madam, fortunately I have no ill news; besides, you know that if I had, my affection for you would induce me to conceal it.'

As he spoke, M. de Langeais seated himself in an arm-chair, and directed his wife's waitingand sprightly, intelligent and kind; his small was with a shade of irony, quite common with him, that he said to his wife-

You are twenty-six years of age, madam,' he added, 'and I might easily be your grandfather; my marriage with you, ridiculous in the eyes of the world, is not so in the opinions of those who are aquainted with the motives which led to it; and you know them better than any one else, Clemence.'

Your father felt that he was near his end, and in giving you to me, he left this world without anxiety for his only child ; you loved me and you were happy in a marriage which would have alarmed any other things more calmly and more reasonably than maiden, even less beautiful and less young than you then were. I looked upon you with selves and to others, which is scarcely the case an emotion which would have terrified me, if with the young and passionate. M. de Langeais turned his eyes towards the clock, and then pulled the cord of the bell .-

SINGULAR FORTUNES. - Francis Frescobald, a Florentine merchant, had a plentiful fortune, of which he was liberal to all in necessity. One day, a young stranger applied to him for charity. Frescobald asked him who he was, and of what country. 'I am,' he answered, 'a native of England; my name is Thomas Cromwell, and my father-in-law is a poor shee-may. I left my country to seek my fortune; came with the French army that was routed at Gatylian, where I was a page to a foot officer, and carried his pike and burgonet.' Frescobald, commisserating his necessities, clothed him genteelly; took him into his house till he recovered strength by better diet; and at his taking leave, mounted him on a good horse with 16 ducats of gold in his pocket.-Cromwell returned to England, where he got into the service of Cardinal Woolsey; and, after his death, he worked himself so effectually into the favor of Henry VIII. that he made him a Baron, Viscount, Earl of Essex, and at last Lord High Chancellor.

Meantime Frescobald, by repeated losses was reduced to poverty; and, some English merchants being indebted to him in the sum of 15,000 ducats, he came to London to procure payment. In pursuance of this affair, he fortunately met with the Lord Chancellor as he was riding to court; who immediately alighted. embraced him, and asked if he was not Francis Frescobald. 'Yes, sir,' said he, 'and your most humble servant.' 'My servant!' said the Chancellor, 'no, you are my special friend that relieved me in my wants, laid the foundation of my greatness, and as such I receive you; and since the affairs of my sovereign will not permit a longer conference, I beg you will oblige me this day with your company at my house to in the vehicle. dine with me.' Frescobald was astonished who this great man should be that acknowledged such obligations; but recollecting his voice, his mien, and carriage, he concluded it to be Cromwell; and, therefore, went to his house. His lordship came soon after, and taking his friend by the hand, turns to the lord high admiral and other noblemen, saying, 'This is the gentleman who first contributed to my advancement.' He then told them the whole story; led them into the dining-room, and placed him next to himself at table. The company being gone, the Chancellor asked him what affairs had brought him to England. Frescobald gave him the true state of his circumstances; to which Cromwell replied, 'I am sorry for your misfortunes, and I will make them as easy to you as I can; but as men ought to be just beore they are kind, it is fit I should repay the debt I owe you.' . Then leading him into his closet, he first took out 16 ducats, and, delivering them to Frescobald, he said, 'My friend, here is the money you lent me at Florence, with ten pieces you laid out for my apparel but as you might have made advantage of this money in trade, take these four bags, in each of which are 400 ducats.' He next caused him to give him the names of his debtors, and the sums they owed; which he transmitted to one of his servants, with a charge to find them out, and oblige them to pay him within a certain day, under the penalty of his displeasure, which accordingly was paid. All this time Seignior Frescobald was entertained in the Chancellor's house, who proposed to him to continue in England; and offered him the loan of 60,000 ducats, for four years, if he would trade there; but he desired to return to Florence; which he did, with extrordinary favors from Cromwell.

THAT FIRE-ENGINE.—Some years ago, the worthy citizens of the town of W—, in the State of Maine, voted in their united wisdom to purchase a fire-engine. Thereupon an order was transmitted to Hunneman for one of his crack tubs, and a company was formed to take charge of it upon its reception. But the most dflicult matter in relation to the affair, was to select a proper foreman. -However after mature deliberation, their choice was fixed upon ed a mark of favor which he could not very Esq. Around the city stretches a public garden or Boulevard, and outside of this, a wall of turf 80 or 40 feet in height. Three hundred church es, each with five or six domes, are scattered throughout the city. The domes are pearl sloped, and are surmounted by a spire and a cross, with a crescent beneath it. They are painted sometimes brown, and often a bright blue color, with large spangles of gold.—

A PRACTICAL JOKE .- One of the richest jokes of the season was practiced on the Rev Dr. Peck, the new president of Dickerson College-one which will vie with the most rechercher of Smollett, and might well sustain itself amongst the records of Trinity, by Charles O'Malley. The doctor, it appears, was making his first visit to the Baltimore Conference, held this year in Staunton, Va .--Meantime, some reprobate student sat himself down and wrote a letter to the physician of the hospital at that place, giving him a description of some individual who had left Carlisle, the seat of Dickerson College, in a state of mental derangement; and stating furthermore, that it was more than probable that the said individual had betaken himself to Staunton, inasmuch as it was a sort of monomania with him to regard himself as the president of the institution. and accordingly he imagined that he had to make the customary report to the conference, on the state of the college. The letter was signed in the name of President Peck himself, and requested the manager to take charge of the lunatic. It is needless to add, that the des cription of the insane person coincided precisely the appearance of the Rev. Doctor himself -and that-it required the reiterated identifications of the ministers of the conference around to save him from confinement !-- Richmond

NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERIES .- The Newfoundland Chamber of Commerce has address ed a strong memorial to the Home Government, complaining of the encroachments of the French and United States fishermen. 'At present,' says the memorial, . not one British banker anchors or fishes on the great banks of the Island, whilst hundreds of vessels belonging to the republican governments of France and America draw from them the vast treasures of those seas for their own countries, (which formerly enriched British subjects and their country,) having been able, by the assistance of crown, folio, and sometimes appeared on a their government bounties, to drive British fishermen from them, and confine them to the shore fishery; and thus the very valuable and hands of our rivals, and affords them one of val power of Great Britain.' Slave Pens .- A Washington correspondent of the Evening Post, noticing the remarkable speech of a Southern Senator, last winter, denying the existence of what are called slave pens in Washington, gives the following recent instance of this outrageous traffic which is per-mitted to continue under the very nose of Con-

"This morning this worthy champion of the rights of the slave trader (the Senator in question) might have witnessed a spectacle at our railroad depot which would at least have awakened suspicions in his innocent mind. For stowed away in a small car by themselves were about fifty colored women, lads and small children, whom by an intuitive perception each observer knew to be slaves collected in various parts of the State of Maryland, and brought here, as to a grand servile emporium, to be herded and penned until arranged in gangs. which will be driven to Georgia, Louisiana and Texas, and if the wretches who wield the lash shall dare, to New Mexico and California .-The poor victims were not, as used formerly to be the practice, chained in coffles, and marched through the streets to the pens just under the eaves of the Smithsonian Institution. BONE DUST .-- An experiment, tried by Mr. Mortimer, of Silverton, furnishes a remarkable proof of the efficacy of this manure. Mr. Mortimer manured a piece of land, one part with bone, another with Peruvian guano, and a third portion with farm-yard dung, leaving a small strip without any dressing. The whole was planted with turnips, and we are assured by an agriculturist who has seen them, that while on the boned ground there are turnips larger than his hat, the part left unmanured has not one so large as his finger. The guane crop is finer than the dung turnips, but by no means equal for the size, though far superior in thickness and rapidity of growth, to that grown where bone manure was used.

LIME AS MANURE. - Lime is extensively used, and in most cases may be used by agriculturists to advantage, but the reasons why i produces good results are misstated.

Lime is not a manure of itself, and forms s small an integrant in the composition of most plants, that very few localities need its addition

FIRST NEWSPAPER.—The first newspaper was issued (in manuscript) at Venice, in 1583, and was called the 'Gazetta.'

The first printed newspaper was puplished in England, in 1588, called The English Mercury, imprinted by her Majesty's Printer.'
This paper was not regularly published.

In 1624, the 'Public Intelligencer and London Gazette' was established. Soon afterwards various papers had 'their entrances and exits' in London, among which were 'The Scot's Dove,' 'The Parliament Kite,' 'The Secret Owl,' &c.

'The Spectator' was the first purely literary periodical. It appeared in 1711. This publi-cation, as is known, owes its immortality to Addison.

'The Tattler,' conducted by Sir Richard Steele, though published a short time previous, was not exclusively literary.

The first French newspaper was established at Paris, 1631, by Ronandot, a physician.

The first 'Literary Journal and Review' ever published, was 'The Journal des Sca-vans,' commenced in 1665, in France. There are now published in France 750 Journals, of which 310 are political. The first American newspaper was 'The DON'T TATTLE .- What need it concern you if John Snooks is courting Keturah Thompson? They are undoubtedly rational beings, and can conduct their love affairs in a becoming manner, without any of your interference. What if Deb North has got a new dress? It is probably paid for and cost you nothing; Therefore, why need you interest yourself so deeply about it? What if the principal mer chant in the village has become insolvent? You are not among his creditors, and for heaven's sake why can't you let the man have a little enjoyment? What if Dorcas Doolittle does go to a dancing school? It costs you nothing, and as she has a frail constitution, a little exercise of this kind will benefit her general health .--This intermeddling with the affairs of others, to the utter neglect of your own, is becoming a great deal too prevalent with a certain class n small villages. There are none of us who escape misfortune, or are free from error; but to be made the butt and by word of a set of gossipping, intermeddling simpletons, merely on account of inevitable misfortune, or a single error committed, is far from being agreeable If this class of beings have any business of their own, we hope that out of shame for themselves, and for the credit of their relatives, they will attend to it.

STORES BUILT OF IRON .- The uses to which iron is put are becoming more numerous every day. New stores, built entirely of cast iron, have been put up in New York, at the corner of Washington and Murray streets. They are five stories high, and each twenty by fifty-six feet, and were commenced on the 25th of February last, and constructed in the brief period of about two months. They are the only buildings of the kind in the world, the New York Post says.

These buildings will sustain a much greater weight, and are put up with less inconvenience than brick buildings, being cast and fitted so that each piece may be put up as fast as it is brought on the ground. They may be taken down, removed and put up again in a short time, like any other casting. In their mode of construction nearly three feet of room is gained over buildings put up with brick. They admit more light, for the iron columns will sustain the weight that would require a wide brick wall in ordinary buildings. They combine beauty with strength, for the panels can be filled with figures to any extent.

In the construction each story is supported by rows of fluted pilasters, the cornices be-tween which are compactly bolted. The walls are, in fact, one compact mass, and capable of sustaining inconceivable weight. The iron used weighs about 150 tons. The columns on the first story were cast at the West Point Foundry; those on the second and fourth at Burdon's in Brooklyn, and the third and fifth at the Novelty Works. The entire cost of the five stories is about $20,000.

The Cecil Whig gives an interesting outline of the case, from which we learn that the Court decided that as Eliza was admitted at one time to be a slave, and there was no record of her being freed by any process known to the law, she was a slave until the time of her death, not withstanding she was allowed to live away from her master. Various other minor points were raised by the counsel for the prisoner. The Jury retired about 8 o'clock on Thursday night and remained out until about 11 o'clock on Friday morning, when they sent down a petition to the Court praying to be released, as they could not possibly agree. On Wednesday, several gentlemen of the city united in writing a note to Mr. Macready, regreting the late occurrence, and requesting im to appear again and conclude his engage ment, which was to be his last in this country. To this note Mr. Macready replied that he

In the neantime rumors prevailed throughout the city, that the opposition to Mr. Macready's appear ance would be persisted in, and that arrange nents had been made to carry this determination into effect. The municipal authorities made heir arrangements likewise and it became evident throughout the day that there would be a serious collision between the rioters and the authorities, in the event of the former attemping to earry their threat into execution.

As early as half past six o'clock, person began to assemble round the theatre; and, at about seven, crowds were seen wending their way to the theatre from all parts of the city .--By half-past seven, there were several hundreds in the steets, in front of the Opera House, and the rush to get admittance was tremendous.-Meantime, the crowd outside was increasing every minute. The house itself was filled to the dome. A great portion of the assemblage in the theatre consisted of policemen, who had been distributed all over the house in detached parties .-There was not any appearance of an orginized party of rioters in the house. When the curtain rose, there was an outburst of hisses, on Monday night. When the police men opened the door, the place was full of smoke, but the officers speedily extinguished the fire. The prisoners who had attempted this atorcious crime were immediately put in irons.

At this moment a shower of stones assailed the windows of the theatre. News came in from the street, through Captain Tilly, of the 13th ward, that a man known to be Edward Z C. Judson, was heading the mob outside' and calling upon them to stone the building. The Chief of Police immediately ordered his arrest, which was promptly effected. In the meantime the assault upon the doors and windows continued.

ROOT CROPS .- A writer in the Wool Grower makes the following sensible remarks upon this subject:-

I grow beets, carrots, ruta bagas, and parpense of cultivation of either. I find that the sugar beet produces the most milk, and the carrot and ruta bagas are best for fatting.

But the ruta baga is far the best for that purpose, and I am surprised that so valuable a root is not more generally grown in this country. I have fed a farrow cow on ruta bagas and ordinary hay, for two months this winter, and she made good beef, although I milked her a great part of the time; and I have fed a breeding sow on them, and them only, for the last two months, and my neighbors say that she is to fat, for breeding. But I consider that the parsnip is a most valuable root for cattle; and the hogs prefer them to any other root, and we hear the carrot extolled, but no one grows the parsnip, and yet they are easier to raise, and certainly more valuable. But I am aware that they are a hard root to get up-a general complaint against them. But you can leave them n the ground all winter, and dig them in the spring, and save housing them, which is no mall consideration; and they come in well be. tween hay and grass—the very time that they

The Boston Traveller remarks as follows upon the French movement to send an armed force into Italy:

"The Government conceals its intentions, whatever they may be; but with all its reserve it succeeded in obtaining, by a very decisive vote, the sanction and support of the Assembly. Ledru Rollin alone spoke for the opposition. His speech was spirited and bold, and may be regarded as drawing aside the veil and exposing the true design of the Cabinet of France, namely, the re-establishment of the temporal power of the Pope of Rome, if need be against the will of the Roman people. In this design we see the real character of France -that it is a republic only in name, and far more subservient to the Papacy than was ever charged upon the proscribed government of Louis Phillippe. M. Odillon Barrot is a better servant than master. As a leader of the moderate opposition to the former government, he exerted a healthful influence, and rendered some service to his country. As director of the government, he exhibits a striking illustration of the French adage, that 'les honneurs changent les mœurs.' He never was a republican; and the result of his agency in the revolution of February was not more surprising to any one than to himself. But it was too late for him to retrace his steps, and he was compelled to reach his former position of legitmacy by the circuitous route of republicanism. He has gone beyond that position, and is inseparably allied to the anti-republican coalition which now darkens the political horizon of France. He avows in the name of the Government, that republican France has no natural sympathies with republicanism in Rome: and whether this or that form of government prevail, the Pope must be reinstated in temporal power. The church of Rome must rise, though liberty fall; and popery and freedom, as M. Odilon Barrot well knows, cannot coexist. The present humiliating position of the Pope is the result of an experiment, on his part, to commingle these mutually repulsive el-

> ATTEND TO THE POULTRY .- We find the following in the N. England Farmer. These simple remedies may easily be tried, and doubtless will be by those who have been vexed by the loss of choice fowls. Without a knowledge of these remedies, there is no profit in raising turkeys or ducks, which are exceedingly liable to disease when very young.

to preclude their young from the range of barn or stable yards. 6. Should any of the chickens have the gapes, mix up small portions of assafætida, rhubarb, and pepper, in fresh butter, and give each chicken as much of the mixture as will lie upon one half the bowl of a small teaspoon. 7. For the pip, the following treatment is udicious . Take off the indurated covering on the point of the tongue, and give, twice a day, for two or three days, a piece of garlic the size of a pea. If garlic cannot be obtained, onion, shallot, or shives will answer; and if neither of these be convenient, two grains of black pepper, to be given in fresh butter, will answer.

8. For the snuffles, the same remedies as for the gapes will be found highly curative; but in addition to them, it will be necessary to melt a little assafætida in fresh butter, and rub the chicken about the nostril-, taking care to clean

MONEY.-Better days are coming, and symptoms are strong and conclusive that they are only a decided improvement, but money is comparatively plenty. The Traveller of Thursday says :-"We have no special change to notice in the

The Banks, having been strengthened by the recent arrivals of specie, have been able to discount more liberally, and the wants of the mercantile community have been mostly supplied from them. There are, however, many expensive projects on foot, which will continue to absorb large sums, and prevent any glut in the market for some time.'

Summary

The following is a judgment in the Recorder's Court of St. Louis, recently rendered :-Geo. Crysup, a free negro, for being in the State without license, was fined 10 dollars, failing to pay which, he was sent to the County Jail to be dealt with as the law directs.'

The Seventeen Year Locusts, which are to appear this year in the western part of Pennylvania, have been turned up with the plow, in Beaver County, by the hundred. The hogs eat them with avidity.

E. H. Howard, late postmaster at Sheboygan, Wisconsin, has started for California in a boat wagon of his own construction. The box of the wagon is a boat on steel springs, the whole of which is covered with oilcloth, making a very comfortable house. The establishment is so arranged that, upon reaching a river, the running gear of the wagon can be unshipped in a few minutes, and taken aboard the boat while crossing the stream.

The Ohio papers speak very favorably of the fruit and wheat crops of the coming season. The late frost has not affected either, and the product of the latter promises to be very large. The same report, with regard to grain and fruit, is given at Rochester, N. Y., where the late rains have materially improved the prospect of the wheat harvest.

ROBBERY.—On Tuesday night, Mr. H. Grif-fin, railroad contractor, had 1400 dollars stolen from him at Vernon, C., by a man named William O. Barbour, of Providence, who obtained it by getting into the window of Griffin's room and taking it from under his pillow while he was asleep. Barbour was pursued to Springfield, and arrested just as he was taking passage for Boston. About 1000 dollars of the money was found upon him. He was taken to Hartford and committed for trial.

A clerk in the Bank of Troy, named Bradley, has been arrested on the charge of forging the name of the Cashier to a draft for $6,800. He is only seventeen years of age, and had overrun his account very largely by the purchase of lottery tickets to the amount of $2200 and by other extravagances. His father, who is a retired merchant, became ball for his son, took him home, and locked him up.

the N. Y. Express states that at Binghamton on arising from his chair, his unknown visitor April 21st a horrible affair took place. A Mr. got behind him—seized him by the collar, and Houghtailing, of very intemperate habits, was ploughing in company with a young son, only eight years of age, and overcome by intoxication, unable to proceed with his work, laid himself down in the furrow, and went to sleep. The reason he assigns for the horrid deed is that his father is a worthless drunken scamp, and that the day previous he had chastised him when intoxicated

LARGE SALMON .- A salmon was taken at this place, on Monday morning, by Mr. Chas. Hume, which weighed 35 pounds. Mr. H., who is an old salmon-fisher, says this is the largest he has seen for thirty years. It was purchased by Mr. Robinson of the Augusta House, and served up yesterday, the first day  The Summer Term of the V of the present Legislative session. A salmon weighing 31 pounds was taken last week by-Mr. Hume; and one of 26 pounds by his took four on Monday night, three of which weighed about 24 lbs. each. Our Kennebec fishermen challenge the State to produce a larger salmon than the one first mentioned above.

The price obtained for them now is about 25 cents - Kennebec Journal.

The Albany Cultivator says: "There is scarcely a more useful implement of agriculture than the roller. The purposes effected by it are-1st, the breaking of clods and lumps on grounds, preparatory to sowing or planting; 2d, pressing the earth in some cases, around the newly sown seeds, and at the same time giving more compactness to too light soils; 3d, smoothing the surface of grass grounds, by which operation the stools of grass which may have been raised by the frosts are pressed into the earth, the growth of grass increased, and the surface better fitted for the scythe."

NEW BOAT .- The 'California' is the popular name of a new and handsome river boat which appeared at our wharves on Monday, built at Waterville by Messrs. W. & D. Moor. She is to receive her engine here, and then proceed to Lawrence, Mass., to take the place on that river of the steamer 'Lawrence,' built last year by the same enterprising firm, and taken to pieces this spring and sent to California .-Quite a business is done at Waterville in building these river boats, and great improvements have been made within a few years, at that place, in the beauty and efficiency of this class of boats.—[Kennebec Journal.]

We are informed, by two or three of our financial men, who have made an examination of the subject, that the profits of the Vermont Central Railroad, since the cars commenced running from White River to Northfield, have been nearly six per cent. on the whole outlay on the road, after deducting the expense of running the cars. There can be but little doubt that the completion of the road to Montpelier and Waterbury, now soon to be effected, will add two or three per cent. more to the present profits; while on its final completion and connection with the Ogdensburgh road, the stock must be among the best in the United States. -[Montpelier Freeman.

INQUEST .- Verdict found by the coroner's a wife and six children .- Boston Post.

A small vessel, apparently loaded with sand, was seized by the excise officers at Halifax; underneath the sand was found a large quantity of contraband spirits. Four hundred gallons of American brandy have been seized at Manawogash Island.

Congress, probably, 1 Whig and 14 Democrats. All the Districts, except the 14th, were ascertained some days since. In that, 13 counties gave Beale, Dem. 305 majority. Five counties are to be heard from, which last November gave Taylor 287 over Cass.

The people of Shelby county, Tennessee held a meeting some days since, and passed strong resolutions against the further introduction of slaves into that State from Kentucky. One of the resolutions brings the subject to the notice of the ensuing Legislature, and urges upon that body the passage of a law making it penal offence to introduce a slave into that State for the purpose of selling him.

The Leonardtown Beacon learns that the fishermen on the Potomac are beginning to cut out their nets. The shad fishery has been tolerably good the past season, but fewer herrings have been taken than for a number of years past. It appears that, from some cause or other, these last mentioned fish are rapidly deserting our waters.

WATERVILLE ACADEMY.

THE SPRING TERM of this Institution will begin on Monday, the 26th of February, under the direction of James H. Hanson, A. M., Principal, assisted by Miss Roxana F. Hanscom, Preceptress, and Miss Catharine A. Cox, Teacher of Music, and such other assistants as the interests of the school require.

Its prominent objects are the following:—To provide, at moderate expense, facilities for a thorough course of preparation for College; to furnish a course of instruction adapted to meet the wants of teachers of Common Schools, and to excite a deeper interest in the subject of education 1 25 1 33 and to excite a deeper interest in the subject of education and to exeite a deeper interest in the subject of education generally.

The course of study in the department preparatory to college, has been arranged with special reference to that pursued in Waterville College. It is not known that this arrangement exists in any other preparatory school in the State, and, as this is a very important advantage, the friends of the College and those who design to enter it, would do well to give this their serious consideration.

Teachers of Compon Schools and those who are in would do well to give this their serious consideration.

Teachers of Common Schools, and those who are in tending to occupy that high statuon, will find, in the Principal, one who, from long experience as a teacher of common schools, understands fully their wants, and will put forth every effort to supply them. The rapidly increasing patronage of the school affords sufficient evidence that an enlightened and discriminating public can and will appreciate the labors of faithful professional teachers.

BUCHAN'S Hungarian Balsam, the Great English emedy for Pectoral and Pulmonary diseases, still stands unrivalled and unsurpassed as the most elegant, and effectual curatiae of these formidable complaints, now known to the civilized world.

THE HUNGARIAN BALSAM.—While we repudiate all quackery, we are always pleased to give credit for that which is truly useful, and to give information which may benefit others. A few days ago, a brother of ours, from Norway, Me., came into our office, in comfortable health, whom we did not expect to see again on earth. We received a letter a few weeks since, from another brother, resident in the house with him saying that he was confined to his bed, and could not probably continue but a short time. Judge-then of our surprise when we saw him enter our office. He has a slight cough remaining, as it would be natural that he should have until he has had further time for acquiring strength of lungs.—But he is in comfortable circumstances. The following letter which he addressed to the General Agent for the medicine which has restored him so wonderfully, will show what medicine has been the instrument of the show what medicine has been the instrument of th

Boston, Feb. 16th, 1847.

Dr. D. F. Bradlee—Sir; I cannot refrain from saying a word to you in commendation of 'Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life.' Here is a plain statement of the facts in the case, and if they are of any service in inducing the sick to seek relief at the source from whence I ob tained it, I shall be thankful.

My residence is Norway, Me. Three years ago last fall, I took a violent cold, which left a cough of the most aggravated kind accompanied by a severe pain in the left side. Last June I had become so feeble that I was obliged to quit all work, and was confined to my house out of lour weeks since. During that time I received the best of medical attendance and tried nearly all the med icines which are recommended in such cases, but could find no relief, but grew worse and for the last three weeks was confined to my bed. Two of my physicians gave me up as past recovery. But as fortune would have it, I heard of the Balsam and immediately procured a bottle. This gave me immediate relief, and six bottles have entirely broken up my gough, and placed me in a situation to resume, with advancing health my usual occupation. Yours truly, CHURCHILL COBB

I was then advised by a friend to try Buchan's Hungarian Ealsam. I did so, and the result has been most extensibing. sam. I did so, and the result has been most astonishing. My daughter is entirely cured and is now attending to her accustomed duties. Below may be found a few certificates and references relative to the good effects of the medicines:—

1 hereby certify that a member of my family has been for upwards of 20 years, afflicted, frequently almest beyond endurance or description, with the worst forms of the Piles, and that, after trying many medicines which were recommended, and the medical treatment of many of the most celebrated physicians without success, a cure was effected in six weeks by the use of Pollard's Pile Medicines. I can say with the strictest truth that I be lieve the medicines prepared by A. W. Pollard will soon become the most celebrated for the cures of the complaints for which they are recommended, of any medicines yet discovered, and will cheerfully say more if called upon at my place of business, No. 88 Main-st., in this city.

SAMUEL B. ELLIS.

The following certificate is from a respectable mer chant, Exchange-st., Bangor.

A member of my family has used for a few weeks on ly Pollard's Compound Double Extract, No. 5, for a dreadful Scrofulous humor, which has for many years entirely covered her hands and wrists, frequently preventing her from using them to any advantage at all—The humor has for the first time entirely disappeared, and no doubts are entertained that a speedy and effectual cure will be the result of a few more applications of the medicine. Previous to using it, almost everything that was named and long courses of medical treatment had been resorted to with not the slightest perceptible good effects. The property is the property of the different works and the property is the property of the different works and the property is the property of the different works.
