

Colby

Colby Magazine

Volume 98
Issue 2 Summer 2009

Article 10

July 2009

Alumni @ Large

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.colby.edu/colbymagazine>

Recommended Citation

(2009) "Alumni @ Large," Colby Magazine: Vol. 98 : Iss. 2 , Article 10.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.colby.edu/colbymagazine/vol98/iss2/10>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by the Colby College Archives at Digital Commons @ Colby. It has been accepted for inclusion in Colby Magazine by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ Colby.

1920s-30s

Meg Bernier Boyd

Colby College

Office of Alumni Relations

Waterville, ME 04901

1940

Ernest C. Marriner Jr.

classnews1940@alum.colby.edu

1941

Meg Bernier Boyd

classnews1941@alum.colby.edu

1942

Meg Bernier Boyd

classnews1942@alum.colby.edu

Margaret Campbell Timberlake keeps active by line dancing every week and going on occasional trips. • Walter Emery has travel plans of his own. In early fall he hopes to motor to New Brunswick to visit relatives, and, later in the year, he heads for Chapel Hill, N.C., to celebrate Thanksgiving with his niece and nephew.

1944

Josephine Pitts McAlary

classnews1944@alum.colby.edu

We have made it to our 65th reunion! No small accomplishment. As I write this I have no idea how many of the Class of 1944 will make it to the June reunion. • Nancy Curtis Lawrence lives with her daughter, grandson, and granddaughter in Sequim, Wash. Nancy did not come east as there was a family reunion at that time. She is gardening and still swims at least twice a week. This summer she'll take the 11-year-old to the hot springs about 100 miles away. • Naj and Harold Joseph took a trip to visit their daughter, Tenley Joseph Baxter '79, in Laguna Beach, Calif. Tenley married a golf pro, Kris Baxter. Harold attended the Pro Senior Tournament with Kris at the Valencia Country Club, where Kris's buddy, Dan Forsman, won on the last hole with a birdie. Very exciting. • Edith Sturtevant Cunningham called me from Oakland, Maine. I was delighted. She attended Colby only her freshman year and lived at home, so felt she never really got to know many of us. She and Gene Struckhoff attended Colburn Classical the same year. She has two grandsons that graduated for Maine Maritime Academy. She originally retired in 1979 but has gone back to doing the books for the Rome school system. • In May I'm going on a 19-day trip with a group; none of them have I met previously. We'll fly 18 hours from Washington, D.C., to Johannesburg, South Africa! We have all sorts of activities programmed, including two safaris as well as a visit to Victoria Falls. I'll report on that next time. (I do plan to return!)

1947

Meg Bernier Boyd

classnews1947@alum.colby.edu

Dorothy Cleaves Jordan regrets that a recent hospital visit for a bout of pneumonia prevented her from attending reunion this year. She hopes she will make it back to campus next June.

1948

David and Dorothy Marson

classnews1948@alum.colby.edu

We received a letter Feb. 7 from Elizabeth Coombs Corke Myers. She wrote just before she departed for Sanibel, Fla., for two months. She was sorry to miss our 60th reunion but was happy to have a meeting with Alice March Miller and Nancy Semonian Newlove '49. Elizabeth's granddaughter, Lauren Corke '10, spent the past semester in Botswana. Elizabeth reports that it was the coldest, snowiest winter in Pittsburgh in years, but what a Super Bowl. "How about our Steelers!" • In March we had a reunion at a Palm Beach restaurant with Jordan Kaplan, Aaron Sandler (he drove from Sarasota and stayed with us in Jupiter), and Burt Silberstein '49 and wives and significant others. We really had a good time and the Colby bonds are strong. We plan to do it again next winter. • Janet Gay Hawkins wrote, "I will be moving April 15 to Peconic Landing in Greenport, N.Y. It is a continuing-care retirement community overlooking Long Island Sound. I will be in a cottage overlooking the water—so all is not lost. All things considered, this is a wise choice for me. I have lots of friends there (some from early childhood) and there is so much one can do if one wants to. And all I have to do is pick up a phone if something goes wrong! No more house hassle." • Mike and Kay Weisman Jaffe had a wonderful trip to Russia in October. That meant they spent the cold and snowy winter in the Berkshires. In early April they visited with family in New Jersey and North Carolina and their Pennsylvania "contingent" was with them for a mid-April weekend. Their great-grandchildren count is now up to five (three boys and two girls). What's the highest our class can boast? With a grandson's wedding coming up Memorial Day weekend, they look forward to more in a year or so. Kay writes that they are both well (with all the usual aches) and hope '48ers are healthy, too, with minimum soreness. She sent regards to us and all our class! • We hope the brevity of this news will motivate classmates to write so that in the future the column will have more news.

1949

Anne Hagar Eustis

classnews1949@alum.colby.edu

Unfortunately, I received no news for this column. I certainly hope that there will be lots of 60th reunion news in the next issue!

1950

Betsy (Dudie) Jennings Maley

classnews1950@alum.colby.edu

Charlie '49 and Ginny Davis Pearce were in Naples, Fla., for a short time this winter visiting friends. They also managed to see a Red Sox game. Their grandson, Ben, who goes to Penn State, was in a gymnastics meet at James Madison University and they drove up from their home in Pittsboro, N.C., to see him perform. In April they went to Belgium and Holland, spending three days in Bruges, then were on a river boat for the rest of their trip. ♦ Harriet (Sargent '48) and George Wiswell spent two weeks in May traveling, first to Baku, Azerbaijan, to visit their son Sandy and to see the country and the hotel he has rebuilt. Baku is directly on the Caspian Sea, which is BP's largest petroleum reserve. Then to Moscow to spend a few days with son Tim and his fiancée, Natasha. Tim was just promoted by Deutsch Bank to head of equity trading in Russia! Home via Prague, where they visited friends. Once home they'll attend grandson David's graduation from Columbia. Their son Geof and his wife, Karen, live in E. Haddam, Conn., but will be in Toronto temporarily because Geof works for S.A.P. as a computer programmer on assignment for IBM.

Reunion at Reunion

PHOTO BY JIM EVANS

Janet Deering Bruen '79, left, and Betsy Powley Wallingford '54 embrace during the parade of classes at Reunion 2009, June 4-7. A reunion photo gallery is online at www.colby.edu/reunion.

1951

Chet Harrington

classnews1951@alum.colby.edu

Ernie Fortin turned 80 on Valentine's Day. His wife, Patti, planned a surprise party that included his children from Massachusetts and friends from Florida. Ernie was so surprised he was speechless. On March 27 Ernie was one of about 50 alumni who attended an alumni event at the Ringling Museum of Art in Sarasota, Fla. Colby Professor of Art Veronique Plesch and Alexandra Libby '03, assistant curator of European art at the Ringling Museum, narrated a tour of some of the museum's art collection. Also in March, after serving for six years with The Meadows Community Association (MCA) board in Sarasota, Ernie stepped down due to term limits. An 18-year resident of the Meadows residential community, Ernie has served multiple roles with the MCA and was a driving force behind a sidewalk widening project. Ernie hopes to volunteer next at the Memorial Hospital in his community.

1952

Jan "Sandy" Pearson Anderson

classnews1952@alum.colby.edu

Greetings '52 classmates. Spring is definitely in the air here on Cape Cod, and it's time again for the next issue of our column for Colby. ♦ Dave Morse e-mailed right after receiving the request for news. Many thanks, Dave! Dave wrote, "Many of you have seen our Boothbay Harbor home and enjoyed the view and boating activity in front. We have decided that the time has come to downsize, the term currently in vogue. We will move into a condo in Wells, Maine, hopefully this fall. We look forward to fewer responsibilities and all the amenities that area offers." Much luck to Dave and Joan, and welcome to the retirement community kind of life. It's really quite enjoyable. ♦ On April 25, at the Coonamesett Inn in Falmouth, Mass., Sheila and Don Hailer celebrated three milestones: their 45th wedding anniversary, Don's 80th birthday, and Sheila's 75th birthday. Celebrating with them were Judy and Herb Nagle, Carl and Audrey Morgan Leaf, and George "Lum" Lebherz. The Hailer children did a splendid job with the details, in particular keeping the occasion a surprise right up to the opening bell. ♦ As for yours truly, after a hiatus of a year and a half I'm once again rehearsing a play here on the Cape. It's lots of fun doing it, but oh, it's a lot harder learning those lines than it used to be! Best wishes and good health to you all until next time.

1953

Barbara Easterbrooks Mailey

classnews1953@alum.colby.edu

Ginnie Falkenbury Aronson has most of her summer planned. Around June 1 she hopes to get together with three other Colby friends. During July she will entertain two or three of her grandchildren, separately, for a week in Richmond. In August she will attend a family reunion in upstate New York, which will be the first time she and her sisters will be together in nine years. Moving on to September she plans to attend her 60th high school reunion and see at least three friends from the '40s. ♦ This reminds me that I, too, will be attending the Swampscott (Mass.) High School reunion in July. I love receiving e-mail from Colby friends. I keep busy now with my two old cats and the two golden retrievers. One is almost 17, the other just about a year and a half. ♦ Tommi Thompson Staples has been a local hospice volunteer for 13 years. She's been asked to co-facilitate a support group on utilizing writing as a healthy tool. Hospice will submit this curriculum to demonstrate it to national professional groups. This summer Tommi plans to travel again with each granddaughter: with the younger one on a cruise to Bermuda and, for the older one, to shows in New York City. ♦ Flo Fisher Krejci and her husband are still traveling. Their latest trip took them to Budapest by river with a few days in Prague. Last fall they traveled to California and Gold Country. By mid-March they found themselves in an Elderhostel in interior Alaska. Her two eldest grandsons have graduated from Pomona College and Villanova; the Villanova grad went on to London School of Economics. Flo noted that the deceased Mary Ellen Betts Harrison's husband now lives in Concord, N.H. This was incorrectly reported in a past column. ♦ Chase and Nan Murray Lasbury plan to summer in Camden and then take a three-week trip to Croatia with a group from Colby and other colleges. ♦ Ben and Carolyn Doe Woznick will spend a couple of weeks in Italy. They'll have a few days alone in Rome then rejoin the British-based tour group in Mantua and Ravenna, where they hope to view mosaics. ♦ Loretta "Rex" Mearns Setter sent me a friendly "hello" note. She said she is glad she spent the winter in San Diego and missed the bad weather in the Northeast.

1954

Art Eddy

classnews1954@alum.colby.edu

By the time you read this column, our 55th reunion will have passed, so I hope to have seen you all there. ♦ Mary and Vic Scalise celebrated their 51st anniversary Dec. 28, 2008, with a trip to Maui, where they've vacationed for the past 26 years. They spend summers in their cottage in Ocean Park, Maine, where there is an open invitation to "drop by." Vic has served for the past year and a half as pastor of the Somerville, Mass., Community Baptist Church. ♦ Merrilyn Healey Decker is president of her area American Association of University Women, and Karl presented more of his work for Vermont Life magazine's ongoing series on small towns at our 55th reunion. ♦ Ned Shenton informed me that Stan Doughty has been elected to the Maine Baseball Hall of Fame.

1955

Ann Burnham Deering

classnews1955@alum.colby.edu

Thanks to all who phoned, wrote, or e-mailed! Dorothy Couillard Carlson recently spent a week hiking and enjoying the wildlife in Occaneechee State Park in Virginia. She reports there's great bass fishing and new cabins since 2007. The lake is 40 miles long and extends into North Carolina. ♦ Ginny Coggins Eilertson is back from sunny Florida after spending the month of March there. She looks forward to summer and her volunteer job as a docent at the Rufus Porter Museum in Bridgton, Maine, where she will teach a stenciling class during Cultural Heritage Week in early July. I hope to visit, Ginny. I also spent the month of March in sunny Florida, leaving Jack (Deering) at home to shovel and keep the home fires burning. Our children spoiled him, but I had three of our granddaughters visit during their spring breaks. What a joy! ♦ Kathy Flynn Carrigan visited with Dottie Dunn Northcott, Bud and Carol Dauphinee Keene, and Jo Bailey Campbell. Kathy noted that while a student at Colby she and Mary Ellen Mc Goldrick McGowan were asked to help President and Mrs. Bixler entertain Robert Frost when he came to speak. Before the speech, he requested a glass of tomato juice with a raw egg dropped in it. Wide-eyed they watched as he gulped it down and then said, "Now I'm ready!" Wonder if he did the same before the JFK inaugural? ♦ The Lou Zambello's traveled to the Outer Banks and stopped en route to visit Polly (Seely '58) and Bill Rosen. (My apologies to the Rosens as I left them off the attendee list at Lou's A.T.O. reunion party last summer). After a delightful visit, Lou and Kathy met the next day with Evie and Bob Bruns '56 for a fun breakfast and then continued to N.C., where they had a great visit with Betty and Gil Alfano. Recently Dick Bartlett visited upon their return. Lou says, "Our cup runneth over!" ♦ John Dutton, Ruth McDonald Roberts, and Barbara "Sistie" Restall Home have all had recent surgeries. You are very much in our thoughts and prayers as you recover.

30s/40s NEWSMAKERS

Deaths: Marjorie Hooper Lawler '32, May 11, 2009, in Amesbury, Mass., at 98. ♦ Lucile Blanchard French McMullen '32, March 6, 2009, in Waterville, Maine, at 97. ♦ Christo T. Nasse '32, April 5, 2009, in Ormond Beach, Fla., at 102. ♦ George T. Pugsley '34, March 28, 2009, in Peabody, Mass., at 97. ♦ Frederick A. Schreiber '34, Jan. 10, 2009, in Beverly Hills, Calif., at 95. ♦ Arthur W. Stetson Jr. '34, Nov. 8, 2008, in Mechanicsburg, Pa., at 97. ♦ Howard C. Pritham '36, April 30, 2009, in Orono, Maine, at 94. ♦ Margaret Libbey Darlow '37, April 17, 2009, in Westborough, Mass., at 93. ♦ Robert H. Neumer '38, April 25, 2009, in St. Louis Park, Minn., at 91. ♦ Brewster A. Branz '40, April 5, 2009, in Portland, Maine, at 90. ♦ Ruth Levensalor Crowley '40, March 22, 2009, in Farmingdale, Maine, at 91. ♦ Roger M. Stebbins '40, May 22, 2009, in Sequim, Wash., at 91. ♦ Barbara Partridge Dyer '41, March 15, 2009, in Yarmouth, Maine, at 89. ♦ Claire Tilley Henderson '41, March 24, 2009, in Beverly Hills, Fla., at 89. ♦ Helen Henry Merritt '42, May 12, 2009, in DeKalb, Ill., at 88. ♦ Jean C. Lesaar '43, March 15, 2009, in Winter Springs, Fla., at 87. ♦ Elias R. Nawfel '44, March 31, 2009, in Waterville, Maine, at 86. ♦ Lottie Wanagel Roy '44, March 29, 2009, in Manchester, Conn., at 86. ♦ Elizabeth Lohnes Grudin '45, April 9, 2009, in State College, Pa., at 87. ♦ Elizabeth Richmond Anthony '47, Jan. 12, 2009, in Houston, Texas, at 83. ♦ Beverly Bailey Beaulieu '48, April 23, 2008, in Lewiston, Maine, at 82. ♦ Gordon T. Miller '48, March 9, 2009, in Briarwood, Mass., at 86. ♦ Gilbert Y. Taverner '48, April 22, 2009, in Concord, Mass., at 88. ♦ William G. Hurley '49, Oct. 19, 2008, in Spring, Texas, at 84.

ALUMNI AT LARGE

Berry Wellersdieck Piper's husband, Eric, underwent a successful heart transplant at the end of 2008. BRAVO! ♦ We shall miss Ellie Larned Petrik, Barbara Kleinman Lainere, and Barbara Ayers Haslam, who were staunch members of our class. Ellie was a close neighbor of ours when we lived in Cape Elizabeth, Maine, in the '60s. We loved her wonderful sense of humor, and she also endeared herself to our son, Rich '86. She taught reading at Birch Rock Camp, where Rich was a camper, counselor, and now a director. Ellie was there several years and was beloved by the campers and staff. ♦ I hope many of you will attend our 55th reunion in June 2010. We plan to hold our own class reunion even though we are 50-plus alumni. Watch for more information to come. Cheers to all!

1956

Joan Williams Marshall

classnews1956@alum.colby.edu

Hello again from the mobile Marshalls, who managed to mingle with many of you over the last few months. How's that, Professor Carey? We enjoyed brief overnights both going and coming with Sherry and Don Rice. At a Colby dinner on Dataw Island with Warren '57 and Barbara Faltings Kinsman, Naomi and Hugh Anderson, Pam and Karl Honsberger, they reported that all goes well with the South Carolina contingency. Don's son, Tim '81, won the club championship at Oldfield, by the way. All of those Rice Oil charity tournaments paid off! ♦ From Janet Nordgren Meryweather, "This winter Steen and I traveled up to 'Wewa' or Wewahitchka near Panama City to visit Otto and Nancy Hubbard Greene. They have a grandson graduating from Maine Maritime Academy who is getting married the next day. We attended the Colby gathering in Sarasota, a guided tour of the Ringling Museum, followed by a social hour. The only contemporaries there were Norman '58 and Charlotte Clifton Lee '61 and Lois Munson Morrill '58. Bob Raymond married the Morrills 21 years ago! On our way home from Florida in April, we saw Christine Layer Larson in Media, Pa. ♦ How can I describe the Kodak moment as we stood on the decrepit wooden deck of an outdoor bar overlooking the inland waterway while David Sortor dialed John Jubinsky in Hawaii? Together we all sang "Happy Birthday, Dear Jube" and chatted briefly. Jube sounded great. He, of course, reiterated his open invitation to all classmates to visit him. After arriving home Rosie (Crouthamel Sorter) wrote, "What a grand day we had with you in Vero! I have to tell you about getting my beach plum jelly home on the plane. I packed it in my carryon, not wanting jelly all over my clothes, knowing it wouldn't pass inspection. Sure enough the agent said I couldn't take it. My pleading went in vain, but Dave spoke up with a 'Surely, the jar is less than three ounces.' The agent concurred and we are enjoying your homemade beach plum as I write." We plan to see the Sortors soon with Lou '55 and Kathy McConaughy Zambello and Tom '54 and Susan Miller Hunt. ♦ We fully understand that all of us are preoccupied with health and family issues, but we beg you to stay connected. Let us hear from you. It is, in fact, a way of keeping young! Both John and I bid fond wishes to each of you.

1957

Guy and Eleanor Ewing Vigue

classnews1957@alum.colby.edu

Ah, spring in Maine! A fine oxymoron, if there ever was one. As we say up here in God's country, our winters make us enjoy summer that much more! Although, as I write these notes, we have had a long stretch of sunshine to warm our winter-weary bones. ♦ Congratulations are in order! Breathing a big sigh of relief, Pat Martin Maloney will be graduating from the Hartt School of Music at the University of Hartford with another bachelor's degree, this time in music history, with organ as her instrument. In the course of more than four years, Pat's studies included a semester in Germany taking German courses and literally checking out 16th- and 17th-century Baroque organs in the central and northern parts of the country. Pat will enjoy a much-deserved and relaxing summer in southern New Hampshire and will play locally for churches in her area. ♦ Larry Roy sends word from Brigham's Cove that he is very busy with his family therapy practice in South Portland, as well as caring for his wife, Kathy (Niles '59), who was diagnosed with Alzheimer's 15 years ago. Larry also has a fascinating hobby of polishing gem stones and making jewelry in his cellar studio. He finds bicycling to be a great stress reducer and plans to bike in Tuscany this summer with his younger brother. After a bicycling trip in Austria soon after our 50th reunion, those hills in Tuscany will come as no great surprise! ♦ Kyp Piqueres Greenwood sends us sad news: her partner and best friend, Howard, died unexpectedly last December. Still reeling from her loss, Kyp feels fortunate to be living in a place that she thoroughly enjoys (Sun City in Las Vegas), where she has found fulfilling volunteer work as an educational surrogate parent appointed by the court to a family in need of guidance. It must be a challenge and a very worthwhile one. ♦ Last fall Mac Blanchard's travels took him to New Hampshire, and while driving along Mac remembered that Bob Erb '56 lived nearby. Taking a chance that Bob might be home, Mac drove right up the driveway and the two reconnected with a great visit after not seeing one another since 1956!

50S NEWSMAKERS

David Lavin '53

The following is a correction to the 50s Newsmakers item in Colby's spring 2009 issue featuring David Lavin '53. A sociologist at the City University of New York Graduate Center, Lavin was named co-recipient of the 2009 Grawemeyer Award for Education. The award is given by the University of Louisville. ♦ The Maine Baseball Hall of Fame will induct 12 new members in July 2009, including Stanley Doughty '54 and Neil Stinneford '57. Doughty starred at Colby in the 1950s and coached varsity baseball at Lisbon (Maine) High School for more than 20 years. Stinneford was named an All-American in 1956 while playing centerfield for Colby.

MILESTONES

Deaths: Dorothy Goodridge Donovan '50, Jan. 14, 2009, in Vienna, Va., at 79. ♦ Donald R. Field '50, Oct. 5, 2002, in Lakefield, Fla., at 77. ♦ Robert E. Wilkins Jr. '51, Feb. 5, 2009, in New York, N.Y., at 79. ♦ Philip S. Haslam '58, Dec. 12, 2008, in Shrewsbury, Mass., at 73. ♦ Margaret Brown Christie '52, March 18, 2009, in Hartford, Conn., at 78. ♦ Jeanne Strickland Larcher '53, May 1, 2009, in Perdido, Fla., at 77. ♦ Richard H. Berns '54, March 17, 2009, in Hilton Head, S.C., at 76. ♦ Joel Farbish '54, Dec. 18, 2008, in Worthington, Ohio, at 75. ♦ Constance Rhodenz Knight '54, Dec. 30, 2008, in Laconia, N.H., at 76. ♦ Donald F. Miller '55, April 11, 2009, in Pompano Beach, Fla., at 76. ♦ Robert R. Russo '57, April 9, 2009, in Pensacola, Fla., at 74.

Mac's message to us all: how rewarding it is to catch up to an old Colby friend! ♦ Ron Rasmussen sends a bittersweet e-mail from California that his brother, Carl, died recently on Cape Cod, Mass. If it were not for Carl, Ron would not have been able to attend our 50th reunion. On a happier note, Ron's son, Scott, and wife expected their first child (boy) in May, and his daughter, at age 16, will enter the University of California, Santa Barbara, this fall. You will thoroughly enjoy the role of grandfather—maybe not so much the college tuition! ♦ That's it for now. Hope everyone has a nice summer!

1958

Mary Ellen Chase Bridge

classnews1958@alum.colby.edu

Each month Jim Bishop gathers folks for a storytelling session at one of the local wineries, a bookstore, or other meeting place in Sedona, Ariz. He establishes a theme like "yes we can," water awareness, or gifts from the earth, and the tellers spin their tales. All agree that storytelling is the oldest profession: "stories have been bouncing off red rock canyon walls for at least 10,000 years." ♦ After 50 years Nancy Derderian Bagdasarian and Robin Hunter Clutz reconnected over coffee at Starbucks in Salt Lake City. Both have daughters who live in that area. Nancy says, "We had no trouble recognizing each other!" ♦ Tony Kalloch recently headed for a reunion of the class of '49 at a school in Switzerland, then to Italy for a visit to Naples, Capri, and Amalfi. He also has adopted a Chiweenie, a cross between a Chihuahua and a dachshund. "Life is good." ♦ Brad and Helen Payson Seager are proud grandparents of their sixth (and last) grandchild. Their daughter, who survived Hodgkins disease in 2000, observed her fifth anniversary following treatment and has been given a clean bill of health. "It is not too late for us to send Peter Ré a belated 90th birthday card." ♦ In July Bruce Blanchard and John Edes will play in their annual golf tournament to benefit "Special Friends." Bruce says he will, "as usual, provide them with a presentable score!" ♦ Sara Stewart Johnson is a volunteer for the Children's Vision Foundation, founded in Bend, Ore., in 2001. Their work has caught the attention of state legislators, and they hope to see a vision-testing program mandated for the entire state. Ten volunteers spend a day in each elementary school, administering seven tests to each second and fourth grader. Anyone interested may learn more online. "This is one of the most rewarding volunteer projects I've found so far!" ♦ Archie Twitchell keeps busy teaching classes, making spaghetti and rhubarb pie for the grandkids' weekly dinner visit, and cleaning up branches after an ice storm. He recently talked with Don Dinwoodie '57, who was in real estate and now lives in Colorado Springs on seven acres with horses, which his grandkids love. ♦ Class president Brad Sherman (already looking forward to June 2013) still teaches at the local high school. "What a joy to have some students show a real interest in economics and to depart from prepared lesson plans and talk about the real world, using examples from papers and news magazines." He was also getting ready to open his hot dog cart on Memorial Day weekend and wondering how his little corner of the business world will be affected by the economic downturn. ♦ Dean and Phyllis Hardy Peterson spend summers on Long Pond in Belgrade and love being at Colby to visit the museum and fitness center and watch early football games. They are proud of the efforts and hard work of son Michael, musical director of the Waterville Opera House, who has directed at least 10 big musical shows recently. "He and director Debra Souci have put the Opera House 'back on the map'!" He has also worked for Colby as the guest director of Fantastics. Michael is keeping the Peterson's connection to Waterville and Colby alive and well.

1959

Joanne K. Woods

classnews1959@alum.colby.edu

Ed Tomey spent several days in March with his son, Josh, at his place in Miami. The trip included going over to Ft. Myers for an overnight and a Red Sox-Phillies spring training game. He also spent parts of two days with Josh at his workplace on Fisher Island, just off Miami Beach, consulting with him and his colleagues on a business venture. After 40-plus years as a consultant, Ed says, "This felt like the ultimate acceptance of what I do—as well as a highlight of bonding experiences over the years. I'm sure many of you know what I mean." ♦ Fran and Boyd Sands left in April for a cruise to and a stay in Barcelona, Spain. ♦ The ninth edition of Art Goldschmidt's textbook, A Concise History of the Middle East, is now coauthored by Lawrence Davidson. ♦ My next column will feature news of the 50th reunion, but also please keep your own news coming.

1961

Diane Scrafton Ferreira

classnews1961@alum.colby.edu

Raymond Paris and wife Alberta moved to Cypress Landing, a community in Chocowinity, N.C., in 2000. Ray reports, "Best move we ever made!" The 500 families in CL are about 75 percent retired. They enjoy a "beautiful" golf course, a 250-slip marina, and a "great" fitness center. "I've discovered a whole new life in retirement: Alberta and I traveled often, primarily with our timeshare. Now I found my retirement niche as tour director of our community, arranging small group (16-24) travel to New Zealand, Greece, and Ireland with Overseas Adventure Travel, Spain and Italy with Odyssey, and six cruises with Holland America. Not only has it been enjoyable for us, we opened up the world of travel to friends who, on their own, would not have taken these trips. The side benefit has been the group savings, which I split evenly among the group." Ray's next trip is a July riverboat cruise on the Rhine and Danube with five other couples. ♦ Gail Holtz Golden Hartstein's brother, Jerry Holtz '52, who served on the Colby Board of Trustees, died in January and is greatly missed. Gale recently authored a book published by Routledge: In the Grip of Desire: A Therapist at Work with Sexual Secrets. "Life is good here in Burlington, Vt., and I have twin grandchildren 15 months old: a boy, Xander and a girl, Clara." ♦ Penny Dietz Sullivan, a former class correspondent, has accepted a temporary job working on the 2010 census. She is very busy with Fairfield Harbour "fun" activities. "In addition to socializing, I play golf, dominoes, bridge, and canasta. This is the life." ♦ Jeanette Benn Anderson writes from Fort Myers, Fla. "The fabulous food down here never changes." ♦ Keep in touch and let us know what you're doing for fun!

1962

Patricia Farnham Russell

Nancy MacKenzie Keating

classnews1962@alum.colby.edu

Irina and Ceylon Barclay visited with Penny (Wheeler '64) and Ralph Bradshaw in San Francisco, where Irina delivered a paper at an academic conference. They spent time at the Bradshaw's in-town condo and at their mountain retreat in the big redwoods embracing Sea Ranch, "both lovely, tres cher homes." Irina went to Moscow and St. Petersburg in May with some of her students, and the Barclays planned to see the U.S.A. this summer. ♦ Bob and Brenda Philipps Gibbons are involved in starting up the Little Washington Sailing Club, which hopes to get young sailors, 10-18, out on the water. For 15 years Bob and Brenda sailed from Marion, Mass., to the Vineyard and the Elizabeth Islands, and they now sail on Pamlico Sound in Little Washington, N.C. ♦ David Jacobson still works at Brandeis University. During a sabbatical this fall he plans to finish a book about how people behave online—Framing Online Interaction: Context and Meaning in Cyberspace—and visit kids and grandkids in Hawaii, San Francisco, Santa Fe, and Denver. As is their custom, Dave and his wife will visit national parks near his kids' homes. ♦ Traveling for Harry and Judy Hoagland Bristol has slowed due to the economy, but they plan to visit Boyd and Mary "Muff" Symonds Leavitt for a week at the Santa Fe Opera this summer. They discovered a mutual interest in opera during a pre-reunion visit in Cape Elizabeth several years ago. Judy is still campaigning for a get together in midcoast Maine before our 50th! ♦ John Chapman is the first recipient of the Alumni Service Award presented by Lincoln Academy in Newcastle, Maine, at the class of 1958's 50th reunion. He's been a member of the board of trustees of the school for 28 years, with a term as president. As summertime neighbors, Michael (McCabe) and I (Nancy MacKenzie Keating) see John and his wife, Allison, frequently, along with Debby Price and Allen and Jean Hamilton Workman. ♦ Diane Allen Bassett wrote in for the first time. We're so happy to hear from you, Diane. She lives in Brattleboro, Vt., where she was born and raised and to which she returned after a hiatus of more than 20 years. She works in the legal field, calling herself "the oldest paralegal in the state of Vermont," and plays golf with a passion and the hope that her "handicap will kick back to what it was when I was 13 years old." ♦ Jean Gaffney Furuyama sends greetings from France, where she is on vacation visiting her sister, who has lived there almost 40 years. Jean will most likely retire next year and she's looking forward to more travel and fun. ♦ Graham Barkham, tongue firmly in cheek, writes: "My life is pretty boring. If you had made a videotape of my life over the past 12 months, and then edited it down to the most thrilling 30 minutes, it would put you right to sleep." Well, Graham, I remember a lovely wedding in Santa Barbara where I saw you for the first time in many years—and, I confess, I thought you were pretty exciting. But that's just me. ♦ Michael (McCabe) and I are back in Harpswell, Maine, for the summer after winter travels and major home repairs. We spent two wonderful weeks in Santa Fe, N.M., and then traveled to see friends in Beaufort, S.C., and family in Fort Myers, Fla. The home repairs—not worth mentioning. We look forward to a summer of sailing and fishing and putting the finishing touches on our house. Michael spends a lot of time at Colby in his position as class agent and member of the Alumni Council. Plans are already afoot for our 50th reunion. The College is a beautiful, active place, and the food is good—it's worth a trip in 2012 to see!

1963

Paule French

classnews1963@alum.colby.edu

Judy Allen Austin sent a photo of William '65 and Shirley Kelley Tychem '66 along with Judy and husband Noel. Shirley and Bill visited Judy and Noel at their home in New Mexico and they met at what sounds like a great restaurant in Santa Fe: Pasquas. They had a wonderful time reconnecting. Judy says the weather in NM is terrific and that she and Nat Gates Lawton went on a hike and get together often. ♦ Writing from St. Augustine, Fla., Linda and Al Carville were enjoying a couple weeks respite from Maine weather. Since Al is a modest man, I thought the class should know about the 300-pound tuna he caught singlehandedly. He made the Florida papers and they all mentioned that he had learned how to fish when he was at Colby. Linda was kept busy for quite some time with a variety of fish recipes. ♦ Bill '62 and Barb Haines Chase traveled for five weeks in Tanzania. They spent the first three weeks working with Global Volunteers in the southern highlands in Pommern (a small village 12 hours west of Dar es Salaam). Bill worked in the small clinic, sometimes with Barb's EMT assistance. Barb taught in a poor kindergarten for over a week—60 kids, one teacher, and no one spoke English. Barb's fluency in Swahili is nil. They both did some construction on a new kitchen for the secondary school of 750 students. "Pommern is lovely, very rural, no electricity, no running water, no cars—very peaceful. We loved it," writes Barb. "Then onward to the northern part of Tanzania on a 10-day safari, visiting four national parks, including the Serengeti. This was much more of the tourist mode, but certainly was interesting and beautiful." ♦ Karen Forslund Falb wonders how many of us are involved with our high school 50th reunions. She's busy with hers at Northfield Mount Hermon and says, "What a year to head up a reunion gift committee!" She was looking forward to a tour of gardens in Provence and the Cote d'Azur and then to her reunion in June. ♦ Ruth Pratley Madell left the wintry Midwest for a week in Florida, where she visited David and Anne (Booty) Bruno Hocking and their cute dog in Naples. Booty is a fantastic quilter. They talked and laughed through six years of news, toured new and old Naples, and lunched on the water. Ruth then visited her Chicago Chi O friends in Old Naples for more talking, laughing, eating and shopping, especially at sales. In May she went to San Francisco for her semiannual nana fix to see her daughter's twins, who'll enter kindergarten this fall. ♦ Tom Thomas is going to Monteverde in Costa Rica for two weeks of immersion in Spanish. Learning Spanish has been a longtime goal and is now his number-one retirement project. He'll be living with a Spanish-speaking family and taking four and a half hours of classes each day. ♦ The last time I spoke with Jim Westgate, I could barely hear him over the noise of cashews being shelled in an old washing machine, which someone brought him from Sarajevo to Bangkok! He's coming to the States this summer and I'm looking forward to seeing him. ♦ Have a wonderful summer and be sure to write or call with your news. And send photos, too. I'll save them for a slide show at our 50th!

ALUMNI AT LARGE

1964

Sara Shaw Rhoades

classnews1964@alum.colby.edu

Bless you all! I got lots of feedback from my recent mailing. I have too much for one column, so there will be more coming later. * Last summer Montana Public Radio broadcast Dick Friary reading The Fastest Hound Dog in the State of Maine. He writes, "It took 26 or 27 minutes to read, and I rehearsed aloud for hours before recording the tale, until the cat and the dog covered their ears. The story was compiled decades ago by the late Maine humorist John Gould. I orated in Down East dialect, adding and subtracting r's like a word processor gone awry: hoss collah, soder watah, and haad likkah. The reception may have been favorable, to judge from the sample of e-mails sent me by listeners. Neither message was a death threat." * Marcia Phillips Sheldon is retired from teaching and writes, "My most recent evening of entertainment? I served on a "blue-ribbon panel" of microbrew beer tasters for the New Jersey newspaper The Star Ledger. It was a hoot!" * Martha Farrington Mayo writes, "I'm still riding high after producing a community variety show to benefit our local Chocolate Church Arts Center. This was our fifth Hot Chocolate Jubilee, and the theme was 'Around the World in 80 Ways.' There were more than 150 people ages 12 to 82 on stage and behind the scenes. It's a lot of work but well worth it!" (I can add that the tambourine line that Martha seemed to be leading was fabulous!) * From Beth Ham Kunz, "We are always looking for the next big project, but in the meantime are still 100-percent involved, me with my law practice and nonprofit connections, presently as chairman of the Southcoast Hospital Group trustees. We ski every weekend, golf, spend lots of time on local waters, and cruise to Maine every summer. I've always grown vegetables and fruits and have been harvesting 12 months of the year in Massachusetts, all organic. I buy very little. When my daughters were small, they referred to my garden as "Mom's shrink."

* Jack Ross's life has been interesting since Colby. "I lived in Damariscotta, Maine, for 15 years where I owned a small group of ladies apparel shops called House of Ross until 1989. After selling the business, my wife, Jean, and I moved out West. I subsequently became a poker dealer in several Las Vegas casinos. In 1994 Jean and I relocated to San Bernardino, Calif., where Jean went back to college. A new Indian casino called San Manuel was just being built and a former boss from Las Vegas was the new number-one man at the casino. I started out as a dealer of poker and blackjack and now, 15 years later, hold a management position there." Jack and Jean are in good health and get to Maine at least once a year. Their daughter lives in Arlington, Va., with her husband and three beautiful daughters, and their son is happily married and living in Salt Lake City.

* Jack Gow writes: "For me Colby was the perfect college, in size, philosophy, faculty, and atmosphere. Had I then my present wisdom, I would only change that experience by increasing my level of participation in social activities. At that time, and continuing to this day, my then-girlfriend, now wife, preoccupied my non-academic attention. Nonetheless, I acquired a fantastic education at Colby, not only from the biology department but from various inspiring faculty and classes. Moreover, my junior year Jan Plan, followed by first year of employment, placed me under the consummate researcher and 1980 Nobel Prize recipient, George Snell. What an unbelievable foundation for my 31 year career in science teaching."

1965

Dick Bankart

classnews1965@alum.colby.edu

SPRING BREAK * Low Krinsky and Ellen hosted 14 Colby students over the March spring break. They were in Houston to perform community service helping to restore homes damaged during Hurricane Ike last September. "These young people were exemplary in their service and magnificent representatives of Colby. We took them to Space Center Houston and later to an authentic Mexican restaurant for a big festive dinner. The Colby students we have hosted over the years have, to a person, been outstanding young people and a joy to be with. We look forward to hosting more of them." [At insideColby.com, search for "Texas" to see a story by Lauren Pongan '09.] * Marty Dodge is still swinging his axe for Finger Lakes Community College. The April meet was at Dartmouth with a variety of activities: singles canoeing, log rolling, splitting, axe throw, single buck, fly casting, etc. Marty's FLCC men's team came in a close second overall. His Jack-and-Jill team placed 11th. AAAAAAND. Colby placed seventh with the Colby Jack and Jills placing 13th. Marty led his 2009 spring break group to Grand Canyon National Park and to Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument to help control invasive weeds and enjoy the desert. * Dave Hatch continues to pretend that he is "going to retire within a year." This is the same Dave Hatch who retired and then went back to teaching, etc. He has been taking the newly restored '91 Mazda RX7 north to Venice, Fla., to see Dale "Peanut" Rottner Haas. "Be well and prosper" he advises. * David Fearon is taking the other road. "Here's an Alice in Wonderland touch. I am starting my un-retirement from university teaching. At 66, I could not retire even if I want to (which I don't). 'Market meltdown,' said the caterpillar. 'Oh no!' said David" * Duane Record packed it in two years ago after 30 years of medical practice. Duane and Sharon enjoy traveling. He enjoys woodworking and is restoring a 20-year-old, 28-foot sailboat. His two daughters are both Colby grads. "Retirement after a long and very busy career is wonderful and I highly recommend it." * Jim Foritano is a staff writer for Artscope magazine in Boston and reads his poetry at various Boston area venues. * Pam Pierson Parziale continues with Sycamore Pottery & Heirloom Baskets in Kearneysville, W.Va. She and husband Ren had an "open studios" event last May. Pam wrote "We do get to Maine each summer and see longtime friends Jim '66 and Donna Brown Salisbury, Ellen Mitchell Lehto, Callie Holmes Marsh, Pat Campbell, Pam Harris Holden, and Chip and Nancy Newell Burnham. We are lucky enough to have a lovely cottage on the coast [Saco area] that we rent to family and friends." Pam's quintessential Maine cottage is available to rent. Check out Bayberry Cottage at www.eiderdowncottage.com/bayberry. * Hail, Colby, Hail.

1966

Meg Fallon Wheeler

classnews1966@alum.colby.edu

Bill Koster, former CEO of a Connecticut biotech company, retired early in 2008 and moved with wife Ginger to Boston. Bill brought his 32-foot Nordic Tug to Boston in a nor'easter for a summer of cruising Boston Harbor and Cape Cod to Long Island Sound with Ginger and daughter Katie, "living in a Jimmy Buffett song wandering from one harbor to the next." Cold weather and reality returned. Bill now has a pharmaceutical consulting business and is managing director of Loree Newmyer Sulkowicz, LLC, a unique executive recruiting firm that focuses on the psychology of the search. * Congratulations to Linda (Brooks '68) and John Perkins, who completed 40-year teaching careers at Kent School in Connecticut. Son Dan's wedding in Hawaii, daughter Rena's gift of a first granddaughter, and an anticipated move to southern Maine complete their good news. * Bad news from Karen Riendeau Pacheco, as her February hip replacement went wrong and had to be redone. She and Joe looked forward to going to Portugal and the Azores in early May, however. * Floridian Gary McKinstry attended a Colby alumni gathering at the Ringling Museum in Sarasota where Alexandra Libby '03 is the assistant curator of European art. * Class President Stan Marchut writes: "We are on the down slope, two years out from June 2011, our 45th reunion. It's not too early to touch base with old friends and start making plans. The reunion committee from our 40th continues to party on, most recently at the Wayside Inn in Sudbury, Mass. We're always looking for new recruits, so if you want to work on our 45th drop me an e-mail: StanM1304@comcast.net." In April Stan saw Paula Mc Namara at a new photo gallery featuring a collection of New England portraits and places by Paula's husband, Jack McConnell. Paula and Jack have completed three photo murals for the newly renovated Hartford Public Library, and Stan says they are spectacular. * Doris Chalmers Bedinger and her partner, Pete, travel to Honduras, Nigeria, and Peru to assist NGOs with amateur radios, computers, generators, water pumps, etc. Pete's the engineer and Doris is the logistics person and a licensed ham. They helped build the first ham radio station in Nigeria for use by the blind, among other projects. That work, plus a new grandson, keep Doris young and thankful. * The Mt. Washington Valley is still home to Bayard Kennett and family. Wife Theresa is project manager for the publicly funded rural county bus system. Bayard still enjoys the commercial real estate business despite too much time between successes these days. Son Chip, of Alexandria, Va., is a legislative assistant to Maine Senator Susan Collins. Son Tanner is a recent college grad and bartender in the Mt. Washington Valley area. * Gayle Jobson Poinsette and Garfield Barnes checked in from Arizona to report on their winter travel to Florida, Panama, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, and Utah. Home to Vermont for summer and fall. * Woodworker Carl Floyd doesn't play violin but likes the challenge of building one in his retirement. Both daughters are married and live nearby in Connecticut. Carl's parents, ages 99 and 92, still live in Farmington, Maine. * Anne Ruggles Gere is the new director of the University of Michigan Center for Writing, enjoying being an academic administrator. She's also a Brownie scout leader for daughter Denali's troop. * Continuing work on Sue Turner's rammed-earth house in Maine means they will spend this summer traveling to see relatives in Wisconsin, Montana, the Boundary Waters Canoe Area, kayaking in the Apostle Islands, and visiting some Canadian national parks. * Babe Ruth Softball has initiated a program to honor a state volunteer of the year. Russ Monbleau is New Hampshire's first recipient, and the award will be henceforth known as the NH Russ Monbleau Volunteer of the Year Award. * Mike Brodinsky is sliding into retirement and has a couple of projects to wrap up before he's done with his law practice. He's still active in Connecticut politics as chairman of the town council in Wallingford. * For lots more class news online, including Ted Houghton's book list, please go to www.colby.edu/mag.

60s NEWSMAKERS

Doris Kearns Goodwin '64

Doris Kearns Goodwin '64 received the 2009 Common Wealth Award for Mass Communications. The Common Wealth Awards for Distinguished Service were established by Delaware philanthropist Ralph Hayes to inspire greatness by rewarding excellence in eight fields. Recipients in other fields this year included astronaut Buzz Aldrin, novelist Don DeLillo, and actor Kevin Spacey. Goodwin also received Vanderbilt University's Nichols-Chancellor's Medal May 7. ♦ Robert J. Master '64, founder of Commonwealth Care Alliance, a non-profit care delivery system for vulnerable populations, was honored by the National Committee for Quality Assurance for proving "that the quality of medical care can be raised and costs can be better managed through effective and compassionate primary care," said Senator Edward Kennedy. The NCQA honored Master along with Peter Orszag, director of the Office of Management and Budget. ♦ Attorney Peter Jost '68 was elected president of the New Jersey Institute of Local Government Attorneys, an organization of attorneys who represent local government boards, including municipalities and counties. Jost serves as municipal counsel for several municipalities in New Jersey.

MILESTONES

Deaths: John W. Parkes '64, March 29, 2009, in Clifton Park, N.Y., at 86. ♦ Elinor Moran Regan '64, Dec. 16, 2007, in Biddeford, Maine, at 65. ♦ Ann Drinker Retherford '66, May 21, 2009, in Mystic, Conn., at 65. ♦ Jonathan B. Welch '68, March 16, 2009, in Boston, Mass., at 66.

1967

Bob Gracia

Judy Gerrie Heine

classnews1967@alum.colby.edu

Ron Boothby looks forward to the lovely Maine summer so he can break out his golf clubs and play the course near his summer home in Prouts Neck. If any of you want to join Ron on the links, look him up. ♦ From a climate as different from Maine as one could find, Lystra Wilson Gaskin writes from Trinidad and Tobago that she enjoyed reconnecting with college friends last year. After arriving in Boston, Lystra traveled to Cape Cod with Georgia Bizios, Judith Freeman, Jane Morrison Bubar '68, Janet Semonian Czarnetzki, and Dorothee Rothenbach. Lystra remembers that she, Georgia, and Dorothee felt a special bond being foreign students, and that connection has remained vital over the years. After visiting in the Boston area, Lystra and Georgia headed toward campus, taking their time to relish the beauty of southern Maine. The campus looked lovely but different from her memory, Lystra writes. She says that to this day she is grateful for the liberal arts education she received while on Mayflower Hill. After leaving campus Lystra and Georgia made one more stop, in North Carolina, where they visited Laila Walji Alidina and renewed more college connections. We wish Lystra the best as she waves the Colby banner in Trinidad and Tobago. ♦ Sandy Miller has a story from the "what goes around comes around" file. While visiting her son she found that he collects a certain type of jigsaw puzzle. The puzzles were designed by Sandy some 42 years ago! Even though she has attained 'collectable' status, Sandy has not retreated from the world of design as she continues to create silks for her store. Sandy shares a humorous moment with her 8-year-old granddaughter, who was reading her mother's drivers license. She looked at her mother, aghast, and said "You failed sex?!" upon reading Sex-F. Sandy's daughter assured her (once she could stop laughing), she was actually a female. There were many people who failed sex back in the old days. ♦ Jim Helmer's son lives in Santiago, Chile, where he works for a company that places students in South American businesses. Jim's daughter has relocated to North Carolina, where she works for a company with headquarters in Portland, Maine. While Jim and Nancy spend a lot of time hiking and biking in Colorado, they still bounce back to New England now and then. The attended their daughter's graduation from BU's business school this spring.

1968

Peter Jost

classnews1968@alum.colby.edu

Ed Quinto writes, "I retired from my law practice last year. I'm following in Marc Edelstein's footsteps. I'm now teaching at the University of Mary Washington in Fredericksburg, Va. The students remind me of myself and my life 40 years ago. There is a drastic difference in technology, but the classes themselves haven't changed much. They still have to do the work, read, study, and take tests. I teach a prelaw course to mostly seniors in the hope of giving them a head start when they go to law school, a very satisfying change from practicing law."

♦ Betty Carvellas writes, "I retired in June 2007 after 39 years of teaching. I miss the kids, but I'm trying to stay busy. I work part time as an educational consultant for a group at the National Academy of Sciences, and I've taught college courses that take me and my students to Costa Rica and Andros Island, Bahamas. John '66 is retired from teaching economics at St. Michael's College (but he plans to return in the fall as an adjunct.) We've spent time in St. Augustine, Fla., the past two years because we're both tired of Vermont winters. In June 2008 all 10 of us who lived on second floor Sturtevant senior year spent the weekend in NH, and we're planning to repeat our reunion again this year. We are Judy Dionne Scoville, Margie Reed McLaughlin, Jolan Force Ippolito, Susan Davidson Lombard, Marty Holmes Nickerson, Jane Brown Kriege, Maxine Allison Anderson, Dianne Radune Poland, and Nancy Schweitzer O'Malley. Since 2002, I've worked with an Arctic researcher in the Bering Sea and Arctic Ocean. We've been out on U.S. and Canadian icebreakers, but this September I'll head back to the Arctic on a Russian ship." ♦ Steve Ford writes "We welcomed our first grandchild in March. I expect that I will have some resistance to pointing Hannah Katherine Rauch towards attending Colby when she is of that age because both her parents are Brown (undergraduate) and Yale (graduate) alumni. However, I am confident Colby and I will be up to the challenge." ♦ Judith de Luce advises that after 35 years of teaching at Miami (Ohio), she will be retiring next January. "I have thoroughly enjoyed my career here, but it is time to go out and do other things. I'm especially eager to do more community service than I can manage while teaching full time. This summer I'm finally going to Eastern Europe. In fact, I have just had total knee replacement in anticipation in going in fine fettle for the trip. I've spent so much time in the Mediterranean that I have recently been traveling to non-Greco Roman places to make up for my narrow vision of destinations." ♦ Anne and Ken Young plan to visit their daughter Sarah, a Peace Corps volunteer in Zambia. Sarah is teaching boys and girls and "living in a two-room mud hut with a grass roof and appears to be thriving." Anne is retiring from her job as a third grade teacher and Ken is enjoying his eighth year at KVCOG, the regional planning and economic development council serving Colby's hometown and surrounding areas. ♦ Thanks for the news. Be sure to send an e-mail to your class correspondent!

1969

Ray Gerbi

classnews1969@alum.colby.edu

It's now midsummer and our 40th reunion has come and gone. I hope everyone who attended had a wonderful time renewing friendships and catching up. For this issue of Colby I received more responses than I could include in detail, so a class letter has gone out with all the information submitted. If you would like a copy please contact me or the Alumni Office. ♦ John Burnham is an internal medicine physician and teaches medical students and residents at UMass. John had a visit last summer from Debby (Williams '70) and Steve Anderson and Peter and Mary Holden Brown. ♦ Robert '67 and Susan Newbert Goodrich recently built and moved into their retirement home in East Boothbay, Maine. ♦ Craig Stevens is finishing his 21st year as professor of photography at the Savannah College of Art and Design in Savannah, Ga., and this summer will be photographing on the Maine coast. ♦ Laurie Killoch Wiggins lives in Fairhope, Ala., where she retired at 50 and keeps busy directing curriculum for the lifelong learning school and singing in a church choir. ♦ Jay and Emily Kreinick Gallagher married two weeks after graduation. They live in Albany, N.Y., where Jay is newspaper reporter and Emily has a psychotherapy practice. They planned to join Jeff Clunie, John Kusiak, and their spouses at reunion. ♦ Brad Kelly lives in Dana Point, Calif., and is one of four partners in Spur Capital Partners. ♦ Cheryl (Moriarty '70) and Bud Higgins live in the Portland, Maine, area where Bud has had an active career in emergency medicine at Maine Medical Center and has held a variety of medical staff and administrative posts. ♦ Mickey Jako has been working with special needs people for the past 27 years, and has authored a book on what is true or untrue about different religions (Confronting Believers). ♦ After retiring from 30 years as a high school English teacher and English department chair at Camden-Rockport High School in Camden, Maine, Penny Post Crockett started a second career with her husband, Charlie, as videographer and producer of television travel documentaries and sports events. ♦ Warren Heller has been an attorney in Milford, Mass., since 1974. ♦ Karen (Knapp '70) and Bill Lyons spent the spring months teaching at the University of Leiden in the Netherlands; Bill will teach law at the University of Miami this fall. ♦ Anne York Samson, a clinical psychologist for Kaiser-Permanente in Denver, Colo., is manager of the geriatric psychiatry service, a program she started last July. * Tom '72 and Rosemary Shu Cleaves moved from West Hartford, Conn., to Arroyo Grande, Calif., in 2007. Rosemary is involved with A Hand Up, Inc., a charitable organization she and three other women started in 2005 to help transition the homeless into their first independent living apartments. * In 1998, after 15 years as a cataloger in the library at Dartmouth College, Susan Diplock Constantineau headed to a similar position at the University of Florida in Gainesville. She lives in Archer, Fla., and welcomes any of classmates visiting north central Florida to contact her through the UF library. * Kate Batten Oppedisano is now retired after working as a math teacher and high school principal. She enjoys living in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., where she cares for her 91-year-old mom, teaches skiing for students with disabilities, plays golf, and fits in some traveling and volunteering with the city of Saratoga Springs and the Academy for Lifelong Learning. * Tom McBrierty and wife Jen live in Freeport, Maine, where Tom is a business consultant and also keeps busy as the vice president of Maine Moose Junior Hockey, a college development program. * Judy Moeckel is retired and living in Conn., where she volunteers as a lay chaplain at Middlesex Hospital in Middletown. She also keeps busy teaching music and singing in a chamber choir. Her ongoing Colby contacts include Debby van Hoek Abraham and Linda Patton.

1970

Deborah Fitton Mansfield
classnews1970@alum.colby.edu

Skip Wood sent word that Peter Gilfoy, of Sherborn and Nantucket, died of melanoma/cancer April 3. Peter was very happily married to Peggy Wiehl '71. Our condolences go out to Peggy and the rest of Peter's family. He will be missed. * All is well with Skip. He's lived in Duxbury, Mass., for the last eight years and has never been happier. He often sees and talks with his three children, who are at UMass, Williams, and Columbia. * A medical mission last May found Roman Dashawetz providing anesthesia for world-famous pediatric plastic surgeon, Dr. Pavy. Pavy is descended from a long line of Parisian surgeons. Roman writes that he has "a super life with another humanitarian whom I have known for 44 years, who loves to see adults and children get advanced specialty surgery in their own country, with their families nearby." Roman and his wife are new grandparents and recently visited their grandson in L.A. After five years they left Down East Maine to move back to Westwood, in the Boston area. Roman loves being near their children and being nearer to Boston's sports teams. * Kit Wells Poland's son, Aaron, a Navy officer, was married in Hawaii

ON SCIENCE, MUSSELS, AND MILK | CARRIE JOHNS '75

Want to know how environmental science has evolved over the past 30 years? The career of Carrie Johns '75 provides some examples.

After graduating from Colby with a degree in biology, Johns earned a Ph.D. in botany at the University of Montana and conducted postdoctoral studies in Montana and San Francisco. She moved on to teach environmental science at St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y., and was hired to fill the third tenure-track position in the developing department, where she has been ever since.

"The kinds of issues have evolved a lot in twenty years," she said. "We were just starting to talk about global warming in 1988 and, having been out west, I wasn't hugely [familiar] with acid-rain issues, which of course were very big in the Adirondacks. One of the really fun things was that I was in a position where I got to learn new things constantly, which kept me fresher about teaching."

St. Lawrence's environmental science program was designed to "link science and policy" by teaching the scientific aspects of the subject in concert with economic and political solutions. The department has expanded along with the academic field and now includes five tenure-track faculty members, an ES major, and 10 combined-major options.

Johns teaches courses in air pollution, forest environmental issues, and environmental sustainability in addition to introductory environmental science. This fall she will teach Sustainable Agricultural Systems and Water Pollution. She stresses an interactive classroom, avoiding long PowerPoint presentations, because "it's too passive. They get a little bored."

Instead Johns takes students into the field. For her water pollution class, she shows students her research sites in the St. Lawrence River. They find beds of zebra and quagga mussels, two introduced species that dominate Great Lakes ecosystems.

For her agriculture class Johns takes students to local farms and has them contrast small organic dairy farms with larger industrial farms. "They go into the big dairy expecting to see this awful place, but it's really quite nice," she said. "The animals look pretty comfortable and content—it's just that they stay inside a long time. At the organic dairy the animals also look pretty content, but they go in and out."

Students also consider operation of a sheep farm, a farmer's market, a local food cooperative, and the campus garden. "It's a way of enhancing critical thinking to get them to decide for themselves what's the best avenue to go," she said.

—Chad Sisson '96

last summer. In April she and husband Mike visited Aaron and Hiroyo in Japan. Kit looks forward to visiting Leslie Seaman Zema this summer. Kit hosted sustainable energy advocate Soren Hermansen and his wife last winter during their visits to five college campuses in central Maine, including Colby. * Sharon Eschenbeck Friedler spent two weeks in Ghana to continue her research on traditional and contemporary dances in that country and to visit colleagues and friends. Daughter Sorelle (a Ph.D. student in computer science) joined her parents on the trip. This summer Sharon, a professor and director of the dance program at Swarthmore, will add to her responsibilities by becoming faculty adviser for off-campus study. "As ever, my door is open to Colby friends," she writes. * Clare Bonelli's daughter, who recently graduated from her 88-student high school, celebrated her 18th birthday by skydiving! Clare is working on guidance counselor certification in Prescott College's master's program. "Student-directed learning is very different from what I'm used to," writes Clare, "and do you know, they don't use 3x5 cards when writing papers anymore!" Clare's family has increased the productivity of their southern Arizona garden—they were able to eat out of their garden all last winter despite temps into the teens. "I know, I get all kinds of pity from the north. Lettuce under glass—it's like pheasant only greener. The sustainability movement is gaining strength out here, and I'm hoping to gradually move our place toward permaculture." * Huey (AKA James Coleman) is developing a feature-length film. Go to www.portlandmonthly.com and click on "Anatomy of a Movie" to read an interview with Huey, Judd Nelson, and screenwriter Brian Daley. Portland Monthly calls Huey "the singular talent with the singular name." * Please respond to my next class news e-mail, especially if your name hasn't appeared in this space recently. We want to hear from you!

1971

Ann E. Miller
classnews1971@alum.colby.edu

As the temperatures rise above 80 here today, we are thankful that this long winter of 2008-2009 is over in the Northeast and that spring flowers are bursting forth with eager anticipation. * In January Jerome Layman went skiing with Paul and Jane Hight Edmunds at Loon Mountain. Jerome talked to Larrie Trippet over the Christmas holidays and reports that he is doing well. * As most of us head into this new decade of our lives, Fred Copithorn writes that he "feels the pain." Is this because more body parts are making themselves known with aches and pains? Or is it just Fred? * After having started work at 16, Jacques Hermant writes from Paris that he and his wife are preparing for his upcoming retirement. He began as a welder mechanic in 1963 for British Petroleum. Seven companies and 12 universities later he's decided it's time to enjoy his grandchildren and gardening. Again this year they hosted an Iraqi child who underwent major heart surgery. • Another classmate has survived a terrible accident: Richie Beaty on a motorcycle track in May. Fortunately he had no major injuries. He's been married 28 years and has three children, the eldest of whom is 18. He occasionally sees Chris Palmer '72 and would love to hear from anyone else. • After a lifetime of working for companies, Jon Stone enjoys his consulting work in Florida with assignments in Rhode Island and Wisconsin. He is expecting his second grandchild in June and the experience "is amazing!" • From chilly Wiscasset, Maine, Linda (Howard '72) and Ron Lupton had just paid a visit to Jim Faulkner in Concord, Mass. Ron reports that Jim keeps busy both with his two sons' school activities and at Sugarloaf, where he is on the ski patrol. Ron and Linda often see Dennis Pruneau at Sugarloaf during the ski season. Dennis is an engineer with Stryker Biomedical in N.H. Ken Bigelow's daughter graduated from UNH in May—Ron and Linda had visited Ken earlier this year. Ron and Linda's daughter graduated from Mt. Holyoke, where she was active on the crew team. Following her graduation, she will study abroad as a Fulbright Scholar in South America. Linda still works as a school counselor in Boothbay Harbor (Ron says: "counseling students, not the school") and Ron continues his work as a "humble public servant" as an assistant attorney general for the State of Maine. • As for me? I continue to keep myself busy with my a cappella vocal jazz group in the Boston area, with my yellow Lab, Clementine, who has been a gift from God to me, and with my many loyal friends who are there for me all the time. I hope this finds you all happy and fulfilled.

1972

Nancy Round Haley

classnews1972@alum.colby.edu

Nancy Brunnckow Marion is phasing out her part-time bookkeeping job. She plans to be retired by summer and see how she likes it. She hopes to continue playing lots of golf, get herself to the skating rink more often, paint, and take on a few volunteer jobs. Her son moved to Boulder, Colo., last summer and loves it. Her daughter is getting married in August, and her husband hopes to retire in 2010, depending on the economy. (Good luck to you, Nancy, on the upcoming wedding and retirement!) • Robin (Sweeney '74) and George Peabody live in The Hague, Netherlands, and are on a three- to five-year assignment. They arrived last August and are well settled in an apartment. "The Hague is a wonderful small cosmopolitan city on the North Sea. The Netherlands is the antithesis of Colorado: low, flat, and damp versus high, mountainous, and dry!" George is still in the water treatment business with Nalco and serves as technical director for the electric power market. He travels throughout Europe on business and welcomes the chance to take long weekends to soak up the varied European culture. He and Robin are planning a tour in Ireland in early June, taking Robin to her homeland for the first time. He is particularly enjoying the art museums. (Who would have thought—for a chemistry major, even!) • Joe Benson sent a nice Easter greeting: "Happy Easter. May your coming year be blessed with the beginnings of fresh, new, and wondrous moments." Joe is the broker/manager of Edina Realty, and we all hope that his Easter greeting comes true. (The greeting came with a great picture of Joe and he's as handsome as ever!) • Dan and Chris Belsky Russack are finally using their frequent flyer miles from at least the last 10 years to fly first-class round-trip to Hawaii! From Honolulu they'll take a seven-day cruise and hope the islands are all they've been made out to be. (They are, Chris! Aloha!) • Bill Alford's son, Justin, was elected last fall to the Maine State Senate representing Portland. (Congratulations!) His daughter, Kenden, lives in Geneva, Switzerland, working for the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis, and Malaria. His other son, Reis, lives in New York City working in private equity. (Your kids are doing wonderfully, but what are YOU doing, Bill?) • Best to all.

1973

Carol Chalker

classnews1973@alum.colby.edu

Greetings to everyone and thanks for news shared. While responses were not plentiful this time, I look forward to catching up with more of you next time. • John Krasnavage looked forward to the 10th Chopper Confab at Portsmouth Circle, which took place in April. I asked John to please give us the history of the term 'Chopper' as it has been used by Lambda Chi brother to describe one another since my time at Colby, at least. He's not sure but promises to check. If anyone knows the history of the word, let me know. John continues to work for the University of Maine, supervising practicum students, consulting for SAD 3, and enjoying himself. • Dave De Long returned to Colby recently where he gave a talk titled "They'll Miss Me When I'm Gone: Leaving a Legacy in Your Nonprofit Work" to students of Professor Tom Morrione '65 in a class on nonprofits. Dave reports that Colby is really committed to increasing civic engagement among the students, and he was addressing the challenges of building sustainable nonprofits. Dave said it was great to see Tom and hear about his experiences teaching at Colby for 38 years. Dave is doing some interesting research on the evolving baby boomer job market. He describes this as being particularly relevant since "many of us now are going to be working well into our 60s." Check out Dave's new Web site for more information: www.LostKnowledge.com. Linda Kagels Johnson keeps in touch with Dave and he reports that she "is prospering in Florida and enjoying the newfound time that comes with being an empty-nester." • Robin Barnes, a member of the department of history at Davidson College in North Carolina since 1980, has been awarded a fellowship by the American Council of Learned Societies to complete a book about astrology and religion in early modern Germany. Robin is in frequent contact with Rick Gawthrop, now professor of history at Franklin College in Indiana, who works in related scholarly fields. • Wells Pile writes: "After 15 years in the fund raising business, I decided it was time for a change. In September 2007 I enrolled in the marine systems course at The Landing School of Boatbuilding, in Arundel, Maine. Graduating last June, my wife, Marguerite, our poodle, Oscar, and I moved back to Rhode Island where I am employed by Goetz Custom Boats and also do work on the side. I'm having the time of my life. In one week I installed gear on a brand new Volvo open 70 (PUMA) and repaired the engine on a 105-year-old Friendship sloop. I am now working on a custom 82-foot boat that will be delivered in May 2010." Marguerite is an artist, and they live in a loft in a former mill building in the heart of the Pawtucket Arts District, enjoying life. • My forever Colby friend Lisa Kehler Bubar reminds us to please please please provide Colby with our current e-mail address. Go to www.colby.edu, click on alumni, and then CAN (Colby Alumni Network). There's so much information to miss out on, not the least of which is the opportunity to contribute to this column! • I will gather, once again, with all of my forever Colby buddies at the end of June at Mohonk Mountain House, where Jackie Nienaber Appeldorn has graciously arranged for Lisa, Chris Mattern Way, Debbie Mael Mandino, and me to have our regular Colby fix of nonstop talking and bridge playing. • Talk to you all soon. In the meantime, I wish you all good things.

1974

S. Ann Earon

classnews1974@alum.colby.edu

Michael McNamara has retired from the practice of law and is working full time as a Spanish teacher at the Marine Academy of Technology and Environmental Sciences in Manahawkin, N.J. His son John works as a financial analyst for Stifel Nicolaus in Baltimore and his son Andrew is a junior at Saint Joseph's University in Philadelphia. • Richard Vann is completing 20 years at Booz Allen, a management consulting firm in the D.C. area. His wife, who is originally from Armenia, manages the Armenian Language Service at the Voice of America. One daughter studies IT at Guilford in North Carolina and the other is in the piano program at Indiana University. • Michelle "Shelley" Ziff Hanson has become a seashell reader, wherein she takes a role as a seashell to teach others. She has authored a few books on the subject. She says she does a lot of public speaking and the shells have literally brought her out of her shell and made her less shy. Her latest joy is teaching on the Internet where every student has a front row seat. She believes her name has a lot to do with her success as a shell. • Susan "Diana" Stork is director of the Multi-Cultural Music Fellowship, a California nonprofit. She has performed and directed concerts of world-class harpists in major concert halls in the San Francisco Bay Area and throughout the U.S. Diana founded and directs a number of youth harp ensembles—some for underprivileged children—teaching them music from different countries on folk harps. Her vision is to bring the world together through the harp. • Cindy Vietor Kahle and her husband took a trip to Greece and Turkey in the fall and fly fished in Argentina in February. • Callie Dusty Leef works as a process improvement specialist for a defense contractor in San Diego. She volunteers for her church and her daughter's theater group. Callie and her husband, Budd, celebrated 25 years of marriage with a cruise to Alaska in May. Callie's oldest son, Jim, was married last fall and her daughter, Tina, has been accepted at the University of California Irvine as a junior. • Jackie Olivet and her lifelong partner, Jean, were married in Provincetown, Mass., Aug., 21, 2008. Jackie continues to teach government, economics, and law classes at a local high school and also teaches at a community college paralegal program. If that isn't enough, Jackie coaches the high school mock trial team and came very close to winning the national championship. In her spare time she kayaks, runs, skis, and has added dog agility competitions to her pursuits. • Mardi Moore Fish went back to school last fall and completed a CNA/HHA certificate. She works per diem for the Visiting Nurse Association. She recently attended the Enamel Guild/North East Annual Conference and is pursuing the exciting medium in which glass is fused to metal. • Cliff Brittain took a job at the St. Paul Public Library 10 years ago to just mark time until he found something permanent. He says the best part of working is it is just like Christmas with new books under the tree each day. He also built a 25-foot boat that is a replica of a 1920s coach's launch (to attend a rowing team). He is on the competitive team of the Minnesota Boat Club and states he is the oldest and slowest male member of the team. His older child graduated from Colorado College and his younger child entered the University of Denver. His wife directs the Nature Conservancy in Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota. ♦ I have spent the year traveling, with trips to North Carolina, Florida, France, and Canada. I also have started another business, doing voiceovers for commercials and reading books.

ALUMNI AT LARGE

1975

Dianne Billington Stronach

classnews1975@alum.colby.edu

Vinnie Cassone has begun a new job as chair of the biology department at the University of Kentucky. He is busy reforming the curriculum, building the department, and developing two new labs. The first will study the molecular biology of biological clocks and the second is a field station and wet lab for the study of behavioral ecology. ♦ Sue Staples Smith reports that, after 10 years as a software tester for The Echo Group in Conway, N.H., she started a new career path last September at the Memorial Hospital in North Conway. She is implementing a new computer system that uses a patient identification card with a securely encoded chip that contains demographic and insurance information to speed up registration at the small regional hospital. The Smart Card is well received by the public since it saves a lot of time. Sue and husband Richard, who turned 80 last March and was honored with a surprise party, live in the nearby village of Chocorua along with their two alpacas, Geraldo and Frederico, and their walker hound, Flo. ♦ Janet Hansen's son, Christopher, graduated from Worcester Polytech in May and has already accepted a job in Lexington, Mass. Her daughter, Sarah, a sophomore at Claremont McKenna College in Claremont, Calif., is studying in Buenos Aires for the semester. The family plans to visit during the Argentine winter. ♦ Joan De Salvo Mansour is returning to Plymouth, Mass., to spend the summer and work on her annual golf tournament to raise money for cancer research. She is also developing plans to build a new home in Flagler Beach, Fla. ♦ Edwin Walczak is the chief investment officer for U.S. equities at Vontobel Asset Management in New York. He was recently featured in a Business Week article, Inside Wall Street, talking about investing in the stock market after the current meltdown. He would like to work on developing a network for exchanging investment ideas between alumni who work on Wall Street and the Colby endowment team. Any interest? ♦ Please keep sending me news and let me know what is going on with you.

70S NEWSMAKERS

Kenneth Melvin '74

Jane Dutton '74, the University of Michigan's Robert L. Kahn Distinguished University Professor of Business Administration and Psychology, presented a Distinguished University Professorship lecture, "Beauty in Everyday Work: Seeing the Resourcefulness of University Staff," at the Ross School of Business. She earned a Ph.D. in organizational behavior from Northwestern University.

♦ Edwin Walczak '75, managing director and head of U.S. equities at Vontobel Asset Management in New York, was quoted by Inside Wall Street, a weekly column at www.businessweek.com/investor. In the article "A Taste for Food Stocks," Walczak shared his insight about an increase in possible buy candidates due to the market's falling stock prices. ♦ In April Virginia Governor Timothy M. Kaine appointed Kenneth Melvin '74 to become a judge on the Portsmouth Circuit Court. "I have known and admired Ken for the keen analytical abilities and reasoned judgment he brought to legislative debates," Kaine said. Melvin, an attorney and member of the Virginia House of Delegates, is a former commissioner of the Portsmouth Redevelopment and Housing Authority.

MILESTONES

Deaths: Peter G. Gilfoy '70, April 3, 2009, in Sherborn, Mass., at 61. ♦ Christine Schopp Kennedy '73, March 21, 2009, in Naples, Fla., at 57. ♦ Meredith Jewett Libby '73, March 30, 2009, in Buxton, Maine, at 59. ♦ Susan Reilly Szum '78, May 30, 2009, in East Walpole, Mass., at 52.

1976

Robert Weinstein

classnews1976@alum.colby.edu

Last fall Steven Shafarman published his fifth book, Peaceful Positive Revolution: Economic Security for Every American. The book updates ideas advocated by Martin Luther King Jr., George McGovern, and others. Sample chapters are at www.tendrillpress.com. As president of the Income Security Institute, Steve has presented at conferences around the U.S. and Europe. ♦ Melissa Waldron Raue went to Yale School of Medicine, became a PA, and has been happily working in dermatology for more than seven years. Husband Dave Raue now runs The Rock Club, a 40-foot-high rock climbing gym. Dave encourages middle-aged visitors with: "Of course you can do it! That's my wife ripping it up there and she's 55!" Their son Matt relocated from South Korea to Cat Ba Island in Vietnam to be a rock climbing adventure guide with Slo Pony Adventures. Their other son, Eric, graduated from Ithaca College in television, radio, and print journalism. ♦ David Wilson is an avid cyclist who has been president for several years of the Westchester Cycle Club. He consults on cycling issues to the East Coast Greenway Alliance. ♦ Lisa Wolman Haber travels between Florida and Maryland. She lives in Boca Raton and is active with her homeowner's association, in the Contemporary Federated Republican Woman in Palm Beach County, and in her country club. While continuing as a travel consultant, she also works with a family-owned real estate business. She and her husband celebrated their 20th anniversary last summer. ♦ Frank Malinoski has formally retired from MedImmune LLC. He and his wife, Judy, now live in Wilmington, N.C., where he plans to do part-time consulting in the biotechnology field while helping Judy with her publishing. He and Judy published their first novel, Crescent Veil, in 2006, and she has two more circulating. Frank attended his seventh medical mission trip to Nicaragua with others from a variety of churches addressing urgent care medical needs in central and west coast areas. ♦ Bill and Caren Starr Schwartz are celebrating their 25th anniversary this year with an Alaskan cruise. Caren has run her own software consulting business, Time & Cents Consultants, for the past 17 years. Their son finished up his junior year at Norwich University, majoring in criminal justice. Their daughter enters University of Vermont this fall. ♦ Joanne Defilipp Alex is Maine's state geography education coordinator for the National Geographic Society's program, MyWonderfulWorld.org, and writes monthly articles for the Bangor Daily News. And that's just scratching the surface of her vast array of geography, museum, environmental, and educational projects. Joanne and her husband, Joe Alex '75, are active with Children's International Summer Villages, an international organization founded on the belief that peace is possible through friendship, and that the real difference can be made starting with children. Joe is the director of the Stillwater Montessori School, which has been running for 25 years. Their daughter Jessica '01 and son Joel '08 are both Colby graduates; their youngest daughter, Julianna, is a sports management major at UMass, where she also drives the Zamboni.

♦ As I wrap up this column, a reminder to help our class maintain its record of generous giving to the Colby Fund. Please make your donation now. As for time flying, our 2011 class reunion is sneaking up quickly. Paul Boghossian is looking for volunteers to start the planning process. Contact him at pob@hathawaycreativeconsulting.com or on Facebook, where you can find more than 60 members of the Class of '76. Send me news! And enjoy the rest of summer!

1977

Kevin Farnham

classnews1977@alum.colby.edu

Once again, I have news from quite a few classmates. First of all, I hope Leslie Warren van Berkum doesn't experience the same kind of "excitement" this summer that occurred last summer: "On July 24, 2008, our nursery had the extremely dubious honor of being the 'official beginning' of a 50-mile tornado track through the middle of New Hampshire. In the weeks following, Peter, I, and the staff were thrilled by over 2,000 volunteer hours to get van Berkum Nursery back on its feet. We lost all our trees, nearly 800 of them. It all goes to show that, 'yes, it can happen to you.'" ♦ Iris Kennedy lives in the Boston area and enjoys the travel that comes with her sales and marketing job. Her son graduated in May from Providence College and her daughter will be married in July in Charleston, S.C. ♦ Jane Hoffman has never stopped believing in the educational value of small liberal arts colleges. She's now a private college admissions advisor and runs the CollegeAdvice-101.com Web site. Jane's daughter, Rachel, graduated in May from Smith College with a B.A. in art history, and her son, Daniel, will attend Oberlin this fall. ♦ Ken Beland remembers playing intramural hockey with me freshman year. What I remember about that is being like a member of the audience out on the ice, watching Ken and everyone else skate past me. Ken's love of the outdoors never diminished: he spent 25 years as a fisheries biologist working with Atlantic salmon in Maine. Now he has about 18 part-time occupations, including high school ski racing coach, community college instructor, environmental consultant, family cook, and sports dad. Ken's wife, Judy, is a psychiatrist in Bangor, Maine. Their son Luke is a college sophomore studying the modern Middle East, and younger son Chris is about to graduate from high school, heading into electrical/computer engineering. ♦ Deb

Cohen is now chair of the department of modern languages and cultures at Slippery Rock University. She notes: "I'm still not sure if this is good news or bad news." She's recently published an article in the online journal ISTMO (from Denison College), and her translation of the Melvin Mendez play The Old Man's Wings will be performed by the Slippery Rock University theater department next spring. "So things are going well for me." • Sandy Pardee lives in Cape Elizabeth, Maine, and works at the FedEx office there. He still plays music with his band the Delta Knights. At this summer's reunion (for Class of 1979, et al.) Sandy performed with other members of the circa 1976 Colby band Pearl. They played multiple sets of danceable tunes. • Jeff Olmstead sent a note saying he sees Jeff Stafford every few weeks. They live in neighboring towns and have stayed in touch ever since graduation. • Being class correspondent is apparently a great way to reconnect with former roommates, because my freshman roommate Bill Yovic contacted me with an update. Bill lives in the Chicago area and runs Barrington Medical Imaging, which sells and services CT and MRI equipment. His son graduated last year from St. Lawrence University with a degree in economics and is currently in advanced flight training in Phoenix. Bill's daughter graduated from Michigan State University this spring with a degree in kinesiology and will continue her education in physicians assistant school. • Thanks, all, for letting us know what you're doing!

1978

Janet Santry Houser
Lea Jackson Morrissey
classnews1978@alum.colby.edu

Valerie Brown has lived in Naples, Fla., for the last 10 years. She enthusiastically writes that she loves every minute of Florida living and does not miss the seasons or the snow. Her son, Kirk, graduated in May from Vanderbilt University School of Engineering, and her daughter, Meg, is a sophomore at Davidson College, in Davidson, N.C. • Al Sheehy lives in South Portland, Maine. After 15 years at the University of Southern Maine's Muskie School of Public Service, Al took a position as a data analyst at the MaineHealth Center for Quality & Safety focusing on safety and improvement within the MaineHealth system. Al has run into Mike Slavin several times in Portland, where they both play in an adult hockey league. He also plays in an old-timers group at North Yarmouth Academy and sees Peter Masterton '77. Al is happily married to a wonderful woman who is a clinical social worker in a private practice in Yarmouth. His summer plans include skating three times a week, participating in the Trek Across Maine

(his sixth time), and finishing the cedar shingle residing of their home and garage. • Karen Keithline Diop returned from Iraq in time to attend her son's graduation from UVM in May. This last trip took her to Kurdistan in the north. Karen has been managing a program that brings Iraqi high school and university students to the U.S. for programs that teach them leadership skills. • Our class sends condolences to the family of Don Fucillo, who died Jan. 3, 2009, in Concord, Mass. • Martin Connolly works at the Billings (Mont.) Petroleum Club, but has been attending seminars in grant writing for the needs of the Native American Community, which he comments are tremendous. He hopes to gain employment with a homeless shelter on the Crow Indian Reservation. Martin adds that the Crow endorsed Obama and "adopted" him as a Crow. • Thanks to those who wrote in. Please keep in touch—we want to hear from you!

1980

Thomas Marlitt
classnews1980@alum.colby.edu

Elliott Pratt's daughter, Katie, finished her sophomore year at Gettysburg College and will spend the fall semester studying in Florence. Elliott's twins, Michael and Christopher, will be high school seniors and continue to pursue their respective passions of tennis and soccer. Elliott is busy once again in the mortgage business and is president of FC Greater Boston Bolts soccer club. His wife, Tricia, is selling Worth clothing. • Bob Glaser and his wife, Cindy, have lived outside Los Angeles for the past 12 years. Bob recently left private equity and now pursues angel investments. His daughter, Nicole, loved her freshman year at Middlebury and his son, Reid, is a high school junior and spends most of his time playing soccer. • Rachel Lavengood, Lydia Mason, and Lisa Turner spent a few days in May camping on Janes Island on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. They canoed through the marshes, took a day trip to see the wild ponies of Assateague Island, and were eaten alive by mosquitoes! • That's all the news I've received. As we get ready for next June's 30th reunion, I hope more of you will write about your lives, your families, your adventures, and your Colby connections.

1981

Steph Vratton
classnews1981@alum.colby.edu

We have a brief but exciting column! I hope to hear from many more of you, especially those who haven't sent updates in a long time. • A summer wedding is planned for Peter Clerkin and Carrie Wysocki of Bloomfield, N.J. Peter is a managing partner at a Chicago investment firm. • Virtuoso flutist Alex Andrews (Christy Gauss) is "having lots of fun finally putting her human development degree to work" as director of Apple Country Music Together, which brings music to families with children from birth through kindergarten in Mass. (www.applecountrymusictogether.com). Music Together is an internationally recognized early childhood music program with classes all over the world. "Things must be coming full circle," adds Alex, whose recent clients include Meg Lawson Hyde '99, Cathy Ryan Kolakowski '92, and Jen Lock Beauvais '94. • After serving for 14 years on the professional staff of the U.S. House of Representatives' Committee on Appropriations, the last two as staff director of the Subcommittee on Financial Services and General Government, Dale Oak left public service to become a principal of the Podesta Group, a government relations and public affairs firm in Washington, D.C. Dale is part of the firm's appropriations practice and helps clients navigate the federal appropriations process. • I recently returned from Tucson, Ariz., where I visited Jenny Boice, my sophomore spring semester roommate who was at Colby on an exchange program from Pomona College in Claremont, Calif. Jenny made quite an impact in her brief stint on Mayflower Hill, enjoying KDR pyramid parties, being a fellow groupie of Mick and the Malignants, playing on our winning intramural softball team, and celebrating a memorable birthday at You Know Whose Pub. Needless to say, that semester was a big highlight of my four years at Colby. It was great to see her again.

1982

Nancy Briggs Marshall
classnews1982@alum.colby.edu

I went to Colby over April school vacation for a campus tour with my son, Craig, a junior. The campus looks great and there have been lots of improvements since we were there. I hope he decides to go to Colby but I'm trying not to pressure him too much. • I was happy to see Keith '80 and Cami Yale Davis in the base lodge at Saddleback this winter. They were enjoying spring skiing and I was there watching my son in a race. Both of their kids are in college and they are enjoying empty-nest syndrome. • Kim Smith McCartney's son, Will, may be joining the Class of 2013 at Colby. He hasn't made his decision yet but Kim promises to let us know. Kim wrote about her friend Ann Skinner Rider '82, who is a children's book editor working for Houghton Mifflin from her home in Minnesota. Two of her books have won the Caldecott Medal, most recently this year. • Ann Renner Stillwater received her second bachelor's, in nursing, in May from Penn State University, Harrisburg. She'll continue with college classes to obtain her Pa. school nurse certificate. It's much harder

80s NEWSMAKERS

Karen Jo Giammusso
Shapiro '86

Jim Plumer '83 and Greg Cronin '86 were both named 2008-09 Coach of the Year—Plumer for NCAA Division III women's ice hockey and Cronin for Hockey East (Div. I). Plumer has coached Amherst since 2003 and led the Lord Jeffs to their first women's national Division III ice hockey championship. Cronin led Northeastern men's hockey to a second-place finish in the league, their highest since the 1987-1988 season. • In May David Bullock '87, managing director for Advent Capital Management, persuaded GMAC, the financing arm of General Motors, to apply to become a bank holding company in order to receive TARP funds. According to the New York Times, Bullock advised that the move would allow the company to "apply for billions in capital from the government and have its senior debt temporarily backed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation." • In an interview on National Public Radio for National Poetry Month, Karen Jo Giammusso Shapiro '86 read poems she wrote for preschool to middle school children. The poems were set to the rhythms of some of the most familiar poems. Shapiro is the author of two books of children's poetry: I Must Go Down to the Beach Again and Because I Could Not Stop My Bike.

MILESTONES

Deaths: Arthur C. Nagle '87, April 16, 2009, in Los Angeles, Calif., at 44. • Robert J. Garland '89, April 25, 2009, in Los Angeles, Calif., at 42. • Jon A. Robinson '89, Feb. 24, 2009, in Urbana, Ill., at 41.

Births: A son, Owen Reed Schwartz, to Ann and Dean Schwartz '88

Yes, you're still young and hip,
but let's face it; you have more than just yourself to worry about now...

Take some time this month to create or revise your will—you'll feel better about your future, and theirs.

1989

2009

After you have taken care of your own family, please consider including a provision for Colby.

You can be a part of protecting our future as well.
Let's talk.

Susan Conant Cook '75 or Kate O'Halloran
Gift Planning at Colby • 800-809-0103 • giftplanning@colby.edu going to college when working full-time! Ann's 18-year-old daughter is more than halfway through her year with AmeriCorps at L'Arche in Tacoma, Wash. Spouse JD and Ann look forward to a late summer visit there. Their 23-year-old son reminds her too much of herself at that age, traveling around the country. But he has an SUV, freelance computer skills, and a credit card, which she says "is waaaaay ahead of where I was at that age." Ann actually graduated in '81, but entered with the Class of '82 and was closest to us. • Doug Sacra left Colby he ended up going back to school to become an architect and now specializes in green design—the natural progression for an environmental biologist. He lived and worked in Cambridge for many years but recently moved to Wayland, Mass., with his wife, Deidre, and their daughters, Haley, 16, Hannah, 14, and Maddi, 12. He started his own architectural firm, Maple Hill Architects, a few years ago and has recently completed a major church addition and renovation project at Trinitarian Congregational Church in Wayland, where his family is involved. He has developed several net-zero energy super green homes in his neighborhood. Doug spent a day with Brian Sanborn and one of his daughters jet-skiing and swimming last summer at Brian's lake house in Maine. • Carolyn Berry Copp has joined the ranks of the laid off, but she's using that to her advantage and has revived her marketing and development consulting business. She's working with nonprofits to help them attract more customers and turn those customers into donors. A number of her clients are in the arts, but she's beginning to branch out into social services. She's trying to use her down time to practice the piano and spend more time with her family. She's building her social network on Facebook and LinkedIn and has many Colby friends there. She would love to hear from more classmates. • I really appreciate how many of you sent news. Thanks and we'll see you in the next issue, if not before.

1984

Cynthia Mulliken Lazzara
classnews1984@alum.colby.edu

Dan and Sharon Kehoe Miller and son Curtis took a three-week trip to Central America last winter and enjoyed some amazing snorkeling off the barrier reef in Mexico and Belize as well as the spectacular ruins at Tikal in Guatemala. When not traveling they live in Cody, Wyo., where she chases 3-year-old Curtis around with lots of time left over for hiking, biking, and skiing. • Sam Staley recommends Facebook; he's been in touch with Al Jones '81, Don Gallo '83, Jeff Clements and Nancy Heselton, and David '85 and Nancy Bennett Beers '85. Al's work on transportation policy keeps him busy traveling outside the U.S., most notably China. He's been involved in fact-finding trips to Beijing, Shanghai, Chengdu, Xi'an, Chongqing, and Hong Kong over the past two years. His group is working on projects with Chang'an University in Xi'an (home of the terra cotta warriors) and Chongqing, the "biggest megacity you've never heard of." Sam is also thick into his second children's novel about a teenager forced to use martial arts skills as a ninja to fight gangs. (The first novel, Pirate of Panther Bay, was published in 2006: www.pantherbay.com.) • A first-time note came from Brian Hesse. After graduation he went to work for his dear friend David Rosenberg at his dad's car dealership in Danvers, Mass. Brian got married in 1990 and shortly thereafter followed his boss to a dealership that he purchased in Lawrence, Mass, where he's been for almost 18 years. Leaving "Rosie" was a painful and difficult choice but they've remained friends. Brian and his wife, Tammy, have two fantastic children, Taylor, 16, and Cody, 12, who Brian hopes will play hockey for Colby in 2016! Tammy is director of marketing for Upromise and they live in West Boyford, Mass. He's coached and even found himself on the bench at a hockey tournament in Lake Placid, where their team won a gold medal on the same ice where the U.S. team won the gold in 1980—the Miracle on Ice! Brian also mentors inner-city youth in Lawrence. • John Gagne has officially passed his PSIA Level II Alpine exam, so now he's Level II Alpine and Level I Telemark. Tele Level II will probably be next. So when dental disease is cured and his career dries up, he'll resort to being a full-time ski bum. • Jay '81 and Maureen "Moe" Hagerty Polimeno are happy and busy, working harder than ever in this challenging time for real estate. They have three businesses in North Woodstock, N.H.: Alpine Village Properties (vacation rentals), Polimeno Realty (sales and long term rentals), and Polimeno Business Sales. They recently joined a bunch of Jay's high school friends (including Peter Gent '81) for a cruise to celebrate all of their 50th birthdays! Their daughter, Katy, is a sophomore at Rollins College. Aimee, their youngest, is a junior in high school and thrilled to be starting her third varsity softball season, playing for coach "Dad!" • David Ballou practices law, raises two daughters, coaches peeewee hockey, and drives a nice new Toyota Sienna thanks to Dave Rosenberg. • Valerie Miller was married Oct. 6, 2007, to Laine Brancato. He's a NYC police officer and they met on the job. For the last 23 years Val has worked for the NYC fire department and is currently a lieutenant and paramedic. Their son, Theodore "Theo," 15, is on the honor roll and active in band and chess. They live in East Northport, N.Y. Val will retire from the fire department in

SWISS BANKER | REBECCA BRUNNER-PETERS '80

Imagine yourself a young American lawyer working in Zürich, delving into Swiss banking laws amid the insider-trading trials of the late 1980s and early '90s.

The opening of a crime thriller? Not for Rebecca Brunner-Peters '80.

Brunner-Peters, director of U.S. legal matters in Credit Suisse's legal department, is in many ways a special case. One of the few women in senior management at Credit Suisse, Brunner-Peters is not only an American lawyer, but she earned both her bachelor's and master's degrees in English literature. "English at Colby helped me to think analytically," Peters said, chatting at a Zürich café.

Now thoroughly acclimated to an international lifestyle, she recalls that going to Colby was an eye-opener for a Midwestern teenager. She continued east for a junior year at Oxford University. The experience, she said, "showed me there was more out there."

There also was an obstacle. After her junior year, Brunner-Peters was hit by a car while biking and suffered serious facial wounds. "I guess I threw myself into the books," she said.

Brunner-Peters won a Fulbright scholarship to study the legal aspects of the Swiss financial marketplace, and over two years her articles—on Swiss banking secrecy and hostile mergers and takeovers in that country—were published in U.S. law reviews, and her research contributed to scrutiny of both the secrecy and compliance with foreign governments on the part of Swiss banks. With her knowledge of both U.S. and Swiss law, gleaned through her studies and practical experience, Brunner-Peters was eventually hired by Credit Suisse.

Currently Brunner-Peters says she is "trying to balance family and work." She lives just outside of Zürich with her husband, Bernhard Brunner, and their 14-year-old daughter, Nicole. Brunner-Peters points to the cultural and historical treasures, as well as the quality of life, as reasons for deciding to make the permanent move to Switzerland. Another major advantage, she said, is the proximity to other countries: a half-hour to Germany, forty-five minutes to Austria, an hour to France, and just over two hours to the Italian border.

"I wonder sometimes if I am losing my English," she said, slipping easily in and out of Swiss German dialect at the waitress's approach. As the warm sun beat down on Zürich's streets, Brunner-Peters was off to meet with a group of banking regulators. Just another day at the office.

—James Violette '11

the next two years and, not wanting to sit at home, has enrolled in nursing school and will get her RN by 2011. After graduation she'll get her master's in nursing. She's active in her church music ministry and attends to the medical emergencies that arise at church.

1985

Gretchen Bean Bergill

classnews1985@alum.colby.edu

Thank you for all the great submissions. It's wonderful to hear from you all. • John Robinson just moved back to Manchester, N.H., from California where he teaches at Southern New Hampshire University. While in California John drove a limo for extra cash and got to drive Jessica Simpson around clubbing one night! • Barbara Knox (who is still in California but evidently driving a soccer carpool but not any Hollywood starlets) has been working for the Oakland Unified School District for almost nine years. She teaches ESL to adult immigrants and will be presenting at a state conference on Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (CATESOL) by using feature films in the classroom. Barbara is proud of her scholar athlete son, Dylan, who made the varsity soccer team as a freshman, and of her daughter, Savannah, who made the all-star soccer team and will play Class III competitive soccer next year.

• Terry Martin made his first trip outside North America in April, when he and his new wife went to Athens, Greece. • After several years of silence, Tom Claytor, our official class expatriate, wrote with regards and to say he is in western Bhutan, where he got to captain the Mercedes team in the 2009 King's Cup elephant polo tournament in northern Thailand. Tom was pleased that amongst the 12 competing teams, his team won the bronze trophy and, most importantly, no one fell off! He did not, however, say whether he'd be flying in for reunion next year. • Elliot Kolodny and friends have been busy with an equally dangerous "sport" of their own. In his note he described getting together with Brad Whitaker, Keith Turley, Rich MacNeille, John Prorok, and Doug Turley '87 for their Annual Bacchanal. They tell their spouse's it is a fantasy baseball draft weekend, but evidently that's really just an excuse to get together, drink, and pretend they are still in college. Missing this year were usual suspects Chris Leberherz, Jim ffrench, and Duff McDermott '86. But Elliot says, "Since the stories and antics usually remain unchanged from year to year we could easily fill in the blanks for them." Most significantly the group has resolved to resurrect Green Death for the 25th reunion. All are invited and evidently the T-shirts are already on order! • Sue Lang sent the best message about class columns that "gives voice to all the 'average' Colby grads out there." I'm sure her observations are shared by many of us who enjoy reading up on our former classmates. You can read Sue's entire entry on our online column at www.colby.edu/mag.

1986

Henrietta "Hank" Yelle

classnews1986@alum.colby.edu

How worlds collide—sitting in my office at Mass Audubon's Drumlin Farm today, I had a call from Peter Coley. Turns out he's a big fan of Drumlin Farm and a wildly enthusiastic birder, too. Who knew there were other birders in the Class of '86? Hubby Chris Engstrom and I prove our bird-nerdiness by doing bird-a-thon every year—a 24-hour birding extravaganza where we try to see the most bird species possible while raising money for Mass Audubon. I think our personal record is 90 species. Are there other birders out there? • I also had news from a couple of "rare birds"—classmates we haven't heard from in a long time. Was it coincidence that they both mentioned Rich Deering? I think not. Rich manages to stay as connected to Colby and as vibrant a personality as ever. Need I remind you that he is co-president of our class along with Suzanne Battit? You'll be hearing even more from them as reunion gets closer. Yes, hold onto your hats—our 25th reunion is coming up in June 2011! Mark your calendars now. • One person I really hope to see at reunion is rare bird Ethan Wiesler. He wrote to say his experiences at Colby definitely shaped where he is today, just not via the typical pathway. Neatly summed up, his path led from an Asian studies major and dance minor to becoming the chief of hand surgery and residency program director at Wake Forest University School of Medicine in the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery. His family includes his beautiful and wonderful wife of 19 years, an 18-year-old daughter off to college next year, and a 15-year-old son, a freshman at a boarding school in Va. Ethan will soon be an empty-nester at home in Winston-Salem, N.C. Well, not quite empty, with three rescue dogs, a cat, and lots of birds, including a loquacious parrot who rules the animal fray. And they plan to add a horse to the mix before long! Ethan sees John Kramer '85 a couple times a year and hears from Brent and Jill Stasz Harris and (wait for it) his freshman roomie, Rich Deering. • Among other pursuits, Rich Deering keeps busy as director of Birch Rock Camp in Waterford, Maine. Among the happy campers he has recruited are the sons of Lindsay and Geoff Alexander. Geoff sends word from home in Cape Elizabeth that this summer sons Will, 15, and Curtis, 12, will be back at Birch Rock. Youngest son Garrett will probably go next year. Geoff heartily recommends Birch Rock to any classmate who has camp-age boys. It's a wonderful Maine summer experience. • More great hockey news with Northeastern University coach Greg Cronin's name attached. Greg was named Hockey East Coach of the Year by the league. In his fourth season at NU Greg guided the Huskies to a 25-10-4 campaign and a second-place finish in the league's regular-season standings, their highest finish since 1987-88.

ALUMNI AT LARGE

1987

Scott Lainer

classnews1987@alum.colby.edu

I'm sad to report that we lost a valued member of our class recently, Art Nagle. I don't know how many of you encountered Art or were lucky enough to know him well while at Colby, but if you spent even five minutes with this tall, magnetic gentleman, you instantly recall his genuine smile and radiant warmth. You knew he was one of those people who made the world more connected just for being in it. Sometimes I think those are the people who are called away first, because they are just a bit too good, a bit too valuable to wait for the next life. Send his family your positive thoughts, and hug your kids. • Jeff Russell says, "I recently joined Merrill Bank in lovely Bangor, Maine, as a wealth management guy. It's a perfect amalgamation of my liberal arts, college development, legal, investment, and marketing careers to date. I really enjoy helping clients get things sorted out. Otherwise, it's full-time parenting per usual. The kids are hilarious teens, and I recently spent a week flying an antique airplane around the Midwest visiting friends, listening to St. Louis blues guitarists, and eating as much KC strip steak as I could get my hands on." (Two words for you Jeff: rice cakes.) • Jane Nicol Manuel loved seeing Teri Scally Kinsella, husband Tim, and three boys in Charleston for spring break. "We took Ft. Sumter by storm! I then traveled to NYC with my son, Andrew, for his spring break, and we had a great breakfast with Sara Bengur Hock. So much fun to catch up!" (Hmmm. Jane saw Bengur. Jeff's in Bangor. Coincidence? I think not.) • David Bullock is head of the 'distressed and special situations' investment strategy for a $3 billion hedge fund. Catch this: he came up with the idea for GMAC to become a bank holding company to access the bank guarantee program and preferred stock investment program, which was added to the general TARP program last October. (Pretty impressive, Dave. I came up with the idea for putting Cocoa Pebbles on pizza, which has not taken off yet. But I'll keep you all posted.) Says David, "As a bondholder, I pressured the company to apply for bank holding company status since it had a small FDIC-insured banking facility, which would serve as the basis for its application. My letter to the CFO, in which I outlined my proposal, was published in a New York Times article. One week after the Times story, GMAC announced it was applying to the Fed for bank holding company status, and I was quoted numerous times subsequently as a member of the creditors committee formed to negotiate debt relief for the company, and entered into a very public 'brawl' with Bill Gross, the world's largest bond investor, which I ultimately won. (Thanks for the payback. Because Bill Gross kicked my butt in Monopoly, even though he cheated!) Where was I? Ah yes, back to Dave. "In late December, the government approved GMAC's application, and it was successfully brought from the edge of bankruptcy. GMAC was somewhat of a precedent-setting transaction. It initiated a wave of bank holding company applications by non-bank finance companies with small bank subsidiaries like CIT. We also invested in all those, too." (I invested in Chrysler. Dave may have done a bit better.) • Finally, I use all 650 allotted words in every Colby magazine, so let me dispel the rumor that John "Gin Pup" Collins '85 was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom for his lifelong efforts to forge peace throughout the globe. Actually, it was just a 2-for-1 coupon for CoffeeMate™. Hardly worth this effusive praise and national publicity. As for the other rumor—that I married Carmen Elektra then got a quickie divorce so I could marry my current wife—yes, that is true. • Stay happy, classmates. Make the most of every day. And avoid KC strip steaks (one Bangor resident in particular)!

1989

Anita L. Terry

classnews1989@alum.colby.edu

I have sad news to report after we've just celebrated our 20th reunion—our class has two fewer members than when last I wrote. Jon Robinson died Feb. 24, and Rob Garland died April 25. If you want memorial information for Rob or Jon, let me know. Thanks to Heidi Dill LeBlanc, who let me know about Jon. Please keep their families and friends in your thoughts. • Kaari Busick relocated from Seattle to Chicago, where she is freelancing as a writer and editor. She had a visit from Jennifer Joseph, and she hopes to return the favor by visiting Jen in Pittsburgh. Kaari got to see Mary LaPointe Farley before she left Seattle. Kaari is reconnecting with lots of classmates on LinkedIn. • Add a prestigious journalism award to the honors Tim Burton has received. Writing as Rosette Royale for Seattle's Real Change newspaper, Tim won the small-circulation feature-writing award from the Society of Professional Journalists. You can read about Tim's award and get a link to his award-winning article at http://seattletimes.nwsource.com/html/localnews/2009079250_realchange18m.html. Congratulations, Buh! • Jon Nash is now director of business development for NewStreamH2O, which focuses on industrial wastewater management, materials recovery, and waste-to-energy. His company is transforming its 260-acre campus in Attleboro, Mass., into a regional clean tech hub, and Jon is eager to talk to any other companies that might be interested in relocating. • Lilly Dimling just returned from a year in Sydney where she got a master's in sustainable development. She also spent time volunteering in Africa and traveling in South Africa, Kenya, Egypt, and Jordan. She looked forward to a mini-reunion in St. Louis with Louise Tranchin, Lisa Troeger Kalar, M'evie Mead, and Melissa Early Ruwitch. • Suzi Schumann Van Alstyne is busier than all of us—she had triplets October 11, 2007. Suzi and her family live in Lafayette, Colo., and frequently see Kim King Poplawski and Julie Lewis Petersen with their respective kids. • Andrew Ian Dodge spoke at reunion on Saturday and signed his book and CD with his wife, Kim Benson Dodge. • The ice storm knocked out power to Debbie Mann Johnson's home in Harvard, Mass., for a week last winter, but she is happy for the extra firewood and the sunshine that now makes its way through the treetops! Debbie started a new job as administrative secretary for a professor in the research department at McLean Hospital in Belmont, Mass. As part of her job she is editorial assistant for the journal Archives of General Psychiatry. Debbie's husband, Andy '87, works at Protein Forest in Lexington and tends his two beehives at home. • Unfortunately, I wasn't at reunion this time around. I had my own reunion with Tracy Gionfriddo and her daughter but hope to make it to our 25th. I hope those of you went had fun. Send lots of pictures and stories!

1990

Barbara Clark Bullock

classnews1990@colby.edu

It's been an active first quarter for the Frymier clan. First, in February, Matt and his wife, Catherine, welcomed twins Cole, a boy, and Morgan, a girl, who join sisters Parker and Hadley, bringing them to four under 4! Second, in January, Matt was named head of global strategic capital for Bank of America Merrill Lynch, managing the combined companies' strategic alternative investment portfolio of approximately $10 billion. • Dan Spurgin's son, Nathan Grover Rushmore Spurgin, was born Dec 17. They already requested and received a Colby admissions application for Nathan! Dan, Angie, and Nathan expect all you 90ers out there to block out early June 2010 for a reunion trip to Waterville! • Paul Neidich wrote that his second son, Ethan, was born in 2002.

1991

David Shumway

classnews1991@alum.colby.edu

As the Class of 1991 closes in on 40th birthdays, several classmates celebrated with a ski trip to British Columbia: Sandy Colhoun, Doug Fenn, Jeff Fort, Kurt Whited, and Noah Smith '98. Sandy is the director of development at New Hampton School. He and his wife, Selina, have a 9-month-old daughter and live on a beautiful dirt road in central N.H. Doug bought White Otter Rafting Company based in Sunbeam, Idaho. Jeff sells shrimp and is building a business empire. Kurt married Dawn Ellen Kirkland in July. Sandy also reports that Dana Stinson is in Africa doing amazing work (find her on Facebook), Don Stauffer is working for Kodak in New York, and Bill Sprong is building high-end homes in Sun Valley, Idaho. • Brad Willard and his wife, Anju, welcomed twins Chase Parkash and Zara Eastwood in early December. Brad also met up with Fred Stewart on a sales trip in Austin; Fred lives in Portland and is a sales manager for Widmer Brothers brewing. • Patricia (Trish) Biros has been "backwards but busy" since graduating Colby: she bought a house at 23, finished grad school at 26, continued a successful career as director of the Pediatric Cardio-Pulmonary Exercise Laboratory at Hasbro Children's Hospital for over 15 years, had a son via artificial insemination at age 37, and is now engaged to Daniel K. Mitchell at age 40. • My old roommate Rob Deacon and his wife welcomed Logan Wyatt Deacon in January 2008. Rob reports that Logan is absolutely the most amazing thing he has ever done in his life. Also welcoming their first children are Chris and Becca Pratt Bromark and Glenn and Beth Perry Brown. Juliette Isabelle Bromark was born in June 2008 and they look forward to lots of outdoor adventures this summer. Erica Brown was born in November 2008, and prior to her arrival Beth was "showered" with nursery hand-me-downs from Ellen Donaldson, Charlotte Reece Moore, and Kinda Remick Priestley '90. • The farthest update came from Cory Snow in Wanaka, New Zealand. Cory is wrapping up his sabbatical studies with a trip to Otago University to see how teachers are trained in literacy. He's had a lot of visitors lately, including Jay Stabile '89, and looks forward to seeing many Colby friends on his return to the Northern Hemisphere in July. • Chris Brown wrote from Vermont on a few final days of skiing at Stowe. He has been teaching skiing on the weekends and holidays. During the week he owns a real estate advisory firm that continues to grow as individuals seek alternatives to the stock market. His wife, Rebecca Winokur, recently "retired" as a practicing sports medicine doctor to take a job as a content editor with Allscripts, a leading provider of electronic medical records. Their son, Chase, turned 3 in April. ♦ Kit and Jeremy Grant have three children: Brendan, 13, Kayli, 12, and Emmy, 8. They've lived almost 10 years in Omaha, Neb., where Jeremy is the senior pastor of Covenant Presbyterian Church. He will celebrate being a pastor for 14 years in June. Last October Jeremy was awarded the Nebraska Pastor of the Year award by the Nebraska Family Council, in recognition of his role in leading a regional outreach event in July 2007 that brought together more than 300 congregations. He returned in April from Kajo Keji, South Sudan, where he led a team that treated at least 6,000 people with roughly $1M in medications, provided water purification for 14 villages, and offered the first-ever Christian outreach of this sort in five villages. This summer Jeremy's congregation is sending him to work in the Scottish Highlands for nearly four weeks to teach at pastors' conferences, preach in local congregations, and assist in a Christian festival similar to the one he helped lead in Omaha. ♦ Thanks for all the news—keep up the good work!

1992

Karen Wu

classnews1992@alum.colby.edu

It is springtime and I bet the campus we all know and love is looking absolutely beautiful. ♦ Amy Vreeland recently got engaged to James Dow. Amy currently manages corporate communications at New Balance in Boston. A fall wedding is planned in Falmouth. ♦ Jim Conrad sent in news from Munich, Germany, where he's worked for the direct private equity arm of Allianz SE for the past eight years. He and his wife, Lori, have two young children and a third on the way this July. Both kids are growing up bilingually and currently attend local German schools. He figures in another year or two they'll start correcting his German. If anyone from the Class of 1992 is going through Munich and wants to catch up (or babysit), send him an e-mail at conrad_jim@yahoo.com. ♦ Amy Moody McGrath got together with Lisa Miller O'Connor, Kelly Harris Kenny, and Sherri Beals Poi to celebrate Sherri's beautiful wedding in Sedona, Ariz., over the July 4th week. All of them have been in touch with Jessica Medoff, who lives in CT with her three boys. ♦ Gus and Heather Ferguson Coldebella welcomed daughter Tenley Tanner Coldebella into the world Feb. 2. She sent along a cute picture but I can't post it here. Trust me, she's adorable. They are exhausted but are enjoying every minute! ♦ Rachel Klein-Ash passed along the good news that Steve Swartz is engaged to Heather Witte and

90S NEWSMAKERS

Kate Conklin Ciriello '98

Heather Perry Weaver '93, is also recognized for her depiction of Merrymeeting Bay's rich marine life. Perry's work has appeared in Maine Times, Dive International (UK), Le Monde (Paris), and Georama Experiment (Greece). ♦ BusinessWest named Kate Conklin Ciriello '98 one of the 2009 40 Under Forty program honorees. Ciriello is an executive-development program consultant at MassMutual. She helped organize the company's United Way Day of Caring, a campaign that gets workers to volunteer at local nonprofits. Ciriello was also elected to serve on the board of directors of Square One, an organization that supports low-income families in Springfield, Mass.

MILESTONES

Deaths: W. Corbett Bishop '93, May 1, 2009, in Arusha, Tanzania, at 38.

Marriages: Chad W. Higgins '97 to Alexandra M. Roberts in Rye, N.H. ♦ Marjorie G. Guglielmo '98 to Peter C. Lacaille in Orleans, Mass.

Births: A son, Adam, to Yawa Duse-Anthony '97 and Scot Foster ♦ A daughter, Emma, to Michael and Vanessa Newell Coutu '97 ♦ A son, Elliot James, to Casey and Karen Blaisdel Faiman '97 ♦ A daughter, Marie Elena, to Jennifer Rose '98 and Charlie Costanza '98

the wedding is scheduled for September in New Jersey. ♦ Thank you to those who sent in some news. For those who are disappointed that this column is so short, drop me a line or two next time around.

1993

Jill Moran Baxter

classnews1993@alum.colby.edu

Thanks to all who sent greetings and updates! I live in Scituate, Mass., where I'm at home with my boys, Jed, 8, Ty, 6, and Luke, almost 4. I recently joined Facebook and have enjoyed catching up with some of you in cyberspace. Via Facebook I learned that while my family and I lived in London last year we were right in Chris Wilder's neighborhood! ♦ Paul and Angela Tennett Butler are happily settled in Bangor, Maine, where Angela is VP for commercial lending at Peoples of Connecticut. Paul and Angela have three children, Mary, 12, Katie, 10, and Tommy, 5. Paul works as the director of gifted and talented and Title One programs for the Bangor Schools Department, where he had been a principal for five years. Paul trades insulting texts with Jeff Zlot, who lives in San Francisco, and often sees Tobin Slaven, whose house, Paul reports, "is just an errant die toss from my office." ♦ Matt and Kat Smyth Lane are the proud parents of twins Miles and Evelyn, born in February. The twins weighed a whopping 8 lbs., 10z., and 6 lbs., 11oz., respectively. ♦ Lesley Frymier Cook welcomed her second baby boy in February. Matthew joins big brother Mason, 18 months old. ♦ Beth Curran Balter enjoys time at home with her daughters, Stella, 4, and Annabel, 1, although she hopes to join the workforce sometime down the line, if all the jobs don't evaporate in this economy. Beth keeps in touch with Kat Creeden Skulte and Sharon Rosen DiPietro, and she recently visited Betsy Arden Rickards and Betsy's new baby girl. She credits Facebook with helping her reconnect with Sarah Nagle Spataro, who is a yoga instructor in Orange County. Beth plans to run the Falmouth Road Race in August and would like to organize a Class of '93 run. Any interested runners out there, send an e-mail and I'll forward it to Beth. ♦ Chris Chin met up with Rick Wallace and Dave Bartlett in March for a weekend at Killington. Rick and Dave spent time ripping up the slopes, while Chinnny took in some March Madness off the mountain. Chinnny still lives in Duxbury, Mass., and loves it. He reports that Dave Bartlett and his fiancée also enjoy the South Shore, and have recently moved to Scituate, my hometown. ♦ Amy O'Mara Moore lives in Hingham, Mass., with her husband, Roger, and kids Susanna, 6, and James, 3. Unlike me, who had trouble getting this column together on time, Amy successfully juggles motherhood and work as a lawyer. ♦ Jon Yormak is a principal in the commercial real estate firm Broadway Partners in New York City, where his duties include serving on the firm's investment committee and overseeing its capital markets activities. Jon was recently honored by the UJA-Federation, and its Allied Trades Division's Real Estate Executives (REX), for his decade of service to the organization, which Jon identifies as "one of the most expansive charitable organizations in the world." Jon also sits on the board of directors for The Children's Hearing Institute. ♦ Holly Coxie Brittingham is married with two stepchildren, 18 and 16. They live in North Attleboro, Mass., where husband Joshua is an artist. Check out his work at www.darkhorsesdesigns.net. Holly works for Fidelity Investments running leadership development programs for executives and is excited to be a first-time dog owner of an energetic whippet mix. ♦ Michelle Addario and her husband, Charles Hackett, live in Merrimac, Mass., with kids Audrey, 4, and Nathaniel, 20 months. While she is a full-time stay-at-home mom, Michelle finds time to teach an online Spanish course. ♦ And last but not least, Dan O'Grady, who lives in Hawaii, is the proud new owner of a rather large tattoo, inked by a tattoo artist who also worked on Tommy Lee. No, I didn't make that up. Check out the Facebook pics if you want proof. Congrats, Dan! ♦ Please send me news on where you are and what you're up to! It's been fun to reconnect and I look forward to more news.

1995

Yuhgo Yamaguchi

classnews1995@alum.colby.edu

Specialist Abe Rogers, of the U.S. Army, is at Fort Bragg, N.C., and is expecting to complete his duties there in June 2009. "I'm looking at another deployment to Afghanistan if I get stop-lossed, so we'll see," writes Abe. ♦ Mike Keller and his wife, Lisa, had twin girls, Serena Hope and Giuliana Brielle, Dec 26, 2008. ♦ All is going well on Nantucket island for Noah Learner and his family. His wife, Lori, gave birth to their second son, Dylan, Jan. 7, 2008. He joins their first, Calvin, 2 1/2. "I feel blessed all around," writes Noah. He is the general manager of Young's Bicycle Shop and is very busy building Web sites on the side (www.learnerdesign.com). He speaks regularly with Brian Gressler, Jason Reifler, Marc Moody, and Scott Koles. ♦ Brooke Lorenzen married Damon Frutos in June 2006, and she had a son in June 2008. • Chad and Emma Spenner Norman welcomed their second son, Luke Thomas Norman, March 5, 2009. Luke's brother, Parker, is smitten with the new addition. Emma recently obtained her Ph.D. in environmental geography at the University of British Columbia (UBC), where she conducted research on trans-boundary water governance issues. She teaches environmental studies courses at Northwest Indian College in Bellingham, Wash., and works on water security issues with the program on water governance at UBC. • Michele Elliot and Brian Carovillano moved to Atlanta last June, where Brian accepted a new position with the Associated Press as a regional editor for the South. They're expecting their second child this summer and were in California recently visiting Liz Keith. • On Sept. 4, 2008, Julie and Dennis Nations became parents to twins! Zack Joseph Nations and Samantha Suzanne Nations. They join their older brother, Jake, 2. "Life is a bit nuts right now—the sleep deprivation has been pretty brutal," writes Dennis, but the growing family is doing well. Dennis works at Babson College as the director of graduate admissions. • T.J. Maines is the head coach of the men's basketball team at Thomas College in Waterville. This past season he led the team to an 11-3 record and clinched first place in the North Atlantic Conference. This was the first time Thomas College achieved 10 wins in a season since 1986; T.J. was named the NAC Coach of the Year for his efforts. • Caleb Mason will begin teaching this fall at Southwestern Law School in Los Angeles. A former assistant United States attorney in the Southern District of California, Caleb will initially teach Constitutional Criminal Procedure and Evidence and may later present courses in areas such as constitutional law, criminal law theory, jurisprudence, and law and religious institutions.

1996

Brad Smith

classnews1996@alum.colby.edu

This column is hereby dedicated to Alison Werner Barton, who died in a car accident March 1, 2009. Her memorial service was held March 6 at the Winchester Unitarian Church in Winchester, Mass. Two busloads of her colleagues at State Street Bank, countless Colby alumni, and friends, family, and mourners gathered to remember Alison, celebrate her life, and grieve together. Rachel Moritz O'Connell is compiling a letter that will reside on the Colby Class of 1996 Web site as a virtual class tribute to Alison's life. A special thanks to all of you who wrote in, many with notes of remembrance about Alison, and I'm thankful for those who reconnected as a result

WORLD VISION | GRAHAM MACMILLAN '97

Some 400 million people worldwide, most in rural areas of developing countries, do not have access to simple reading glasses. Graham Macmillan '97 and his partners at the nonprofit VisionSpring have developed an innovative way to address this problem—but they're not giving it away.

VisionSpring's business model is rooted in theories of microfinance: They train low-income people in India, Bangladesh, Ghana, Guatemala, and El Salvador, among other countries, to start micro-franchises to sell reading glasses. And the benefits go beyond the individual seller. "Using reading glasses for the first time, aging farmers can again work fields efficiently and career textile workers can sew faster and more accurately," Macmillan said. Indeed, the incentive of greater efficiency and career longevity has led to sales of 240,000 pairs of reading glasses worldwide in the past six years by VisionSpring's 900 entrepreneurs.

To start off, VisionSpring sets up each entrepreneur with, quite literally, a business in a bag. It is filled with about 25 pairs of reading glasses, 15 pairs of sunglasses, a uniform, and cleaning cloths. The entrepreneurs are then trained how to screen for presbyopia, or up-close blurry vision, and other related eye problems, and they learn how to successfully run a sustainable business.

The vision entrepreneur then travels door to door, some village to village, screening for presbyopia. Those who show symptoms of presbyopia then have the option to buy glasses for between four and nine dollars, which in some communities is a substantial percentage of the buyer's income. "The price hurts enough where it makes a difference," Macmillan said, "but it also enables the customer to say, 'I don't have to buy this, you aren't giving this to me.' It's the dignity of choice."

The innovation yet overall simplicity of the model has led to accolades. The Economist, NBC Nightly News, National Public Radio, and the International Herald Tribune have profiled the foundation, while former President Bill Clinton called the foundation his "favorite commitment" from his Clinton Global Initiative meeting in 2007.

Despite the media attention, VisionSpring, like Macmillan, keeps its focus on the service provided. "There is so much power in this simple product, because the benefit is instantaneous," Macmillan said. "You put on a pair of glasses and you can immediately see the difference."

—Brendan Sullivan '06

of this incomprehensible tragedy. It was great, albeit bittersweet, to hear from all of you. • After eight years of marriage, Tatum Calder Sinclair has two boys, Cole, 4, and Reese, 2. Her brother, Adrian, continues to fly F-18s for the Navy in Afghanistan, whooping up on the Taliban. Tatum frequently sees Caroline Bird McGowan, who has two children, Patrick, 2, and Madeline, 4 months, and Rachel Simon D'Antonio, who lives in CT with children Luke, 5, and Ben, 3. • Sandler Passman is getting married in June to Shana Levy of Richmond, Va. This is arguably Sandler's finest moment since canning a sweet spot-up jay to seal a Load Team victory in iPlay hoops in 1996. • Aaron Schlechter married Alexa Goodson in Fairfield, Conn., on Valentine's Day 2009. In attendance were Nolan Yamashiro, Brian Stenger, Chris Dawkins, and James Howley. Aaron works for Amy Greene Environmental Consultants, Inc., on storm water and ecological restoration projects in NYC. Aaron is a credentialed CPESC (certified professional in erosion and sediment control), which totally KA. • Ed Bourque expects to receive his Ph.D. in geography from King's College London this summer. His Ph.D. is a case study in access to water in Tanzania, and he wants hear from other alumni working in water and sanitation/international development: edbourque@hotmail.com. • Erica Casano Spater has fun in Portsmouth, N.H., with husband Kitter and daughter Georgia, 2. • Peter Bennett writes from northern California that he's working for the U.S. Geological Survey. In his free time he's out whitewater kayaking and chasing rainbows. • Chris and Kylie (Jessica) Taphorn Thoma welcomed Griffin Christopher Thoma in February 2009. In August Kylie returns to her job as in-house counsel for the California Department of Corrections in Sacramento. She hears from Nozomi Kishimoto Reichow, her first-year roommate, who lives in Tokyo with her husband and daughter, Noa. Nozomi works for Royal Bank of Scotland. Kylie also keeps in touch with Linnea Basu, who is in Boston and works for Northeastern University, and Whitney Glockner, who lives in the Bay Area and is getting married in August 2009. (Congrats, Whitney!) • And, finally, on April 26, Gregg LeBlanc, Ryan Sullivan, Jeff Sklarz, I, and seemingly countless others ate donuts. This is not usually newsworthy, but trust me: it is. • Well, that's the notes for now. They're hard to write, so please keep them coming. And on behalf all those who knew you, we will miss you dearly, Tex Mex. Our sympathies remain with the Werner and Barton families to this very day.

1997

Leah Tortola Walton

classnews1997@alum.colby.edu

Katherine Lawn married Prashant Chouta in August 2007 in Pennsylvania and in December 2007 in Mumbai. In attendance at the U.S. wedding were Tricia and Steve DiLella, Hyun Jung, Vaj Muas, Kate and Christian Winkley, Lisa Woo, Maylene (Cummings '96) and Erik Mitchell, Linnea Basu '96, Nozomi Kishimoto Reichow '96, and Kylie Taphorn Thoma '96. The Indian wedding celebrations were larger and longer and were followed by a fabulous trip to Kerala. Prashant and Kate now live in the San Francisco Bay Area, where Kate works as managing editor of publications at the Institute of East Asian Studies at UC Berkeley. • Curt and Simone Kaplan Cote welcomed a daughter, Margot, Feb. 8, 2009. Simone saw Rob Gimpel recently while he was visiting Boston and she sees Tay Evans and Dave Hanauer pretty regularly. Everyone is doing well. • Richard and Cindy Bissoon Wolff welcomed their first child, Isabella, in August 2008. Cindy was recently promoted to intake director for Community Psychiatry and Substance Abuse Services for North Shore-LIJ Glen Cove Hospital in Long Island, N.Y. • Pat McBride shares the following: "Andrew Pease recently purchased a small prop plane and has obtained his pilot's license—he is in the process of putting a landing strip in the backyard of his (somewhat) newly purchased home in Andover, Mass. Andrew Black and John Hebert returned to campus Feb. 14 for a dinner honoring Colby head basketball coach Dick Whitmore and, much like riding a bicycle, found their way to AMS, where they played beer die with underclassmen until 2:30 a.m. Dave McLaughlin reached the 100-win mark as the head men's basketball coach at Stonehill College, advancing his team to the NCAA tournament and a top-25 national ranking." • Carter Davis and his wife enjoyed spring in D.C. with their 1-year-old, Maisie. They were host to Mark and Chrissy Killheffer Sinclair for spring break with their twin 4-year-old daughters. They all visited with Cy Stahlberg, who also lives in D.C. Carter wrote, "We're waiting for the next Colby wedding (??) to try and catch up with others." • Kara and Mark House had a little girl, Laura, June 6, 2008. Big sister Sophia was and continues to be very excited. • Sam and Wendy Ridder Bergh welcomed their daughter, Violet, March 8. They cannot wait for Violet to meet all of her Colby friends. • Anna Thomson Patterson lives in Bozeman, Mont., with her husband and her daughter, Quinnell. She shared, "I recently ventured a few blocks down the road to Molly Stratton's house for some dinner and bananagrams. I also see Hilary Peterson Klug regularly with her daughter, Carson, and her son, Finn. The Colby contingency is strong here in Bozeman. Funny little side note: our pediatrician went to Bates ... should I trust him?" • Jennifer O'Neill and Tom Killilea are engaged to be married in August in York, Maine. • Mike Outslay and his wife welcomed their first child, Anastasia, Feb. 13, 2009. They live in Colorado. • Greg and Amanda Sprang Manelick left the ExxonMobil project on Sakhalin Island, Russia, after 11 years and eight years respectively. After a brief stint at home in northwestern Pennsylvania on their whitetail deer farm, they now work in Brisbane, Australia, before another move to the new ExxonMobil LNG project in Papua, New Guinea. They look forward to the new adventure. • After nine great years in Cleveland, Andy Kruppa moved to Miami Beach this winter and passed the Florida bar exam. He expected a visit from LuWaun Curry in May.

1998

Brian M. Gill

classnews1998@alum.colby.edu

Tina Goudreau Collison was recently granted tenure and is an associate professor of chemistry at the Rochester Institute of Technology. • Congratulations also to Andrew Porter and his wife, Becky, who, along with their 3-year old son Wyatt, welcomed a new baby Jan. 26: Owen Matthew Porter. Owen gets his middle name from Becky's brother, Matt Huse '99. • Shannon Baker had a second child, Benjamin Baker Klemesrud, Feb. 14, 2009. She still practices family medicine in Texas. Her husband is an F-16 pilot for the Air Force reserves and has been deployed to Iraq for a short tour. • Amy Forrer and Erik Waters '00 had twins Feb. 4, 2009: Elsa and Olin. • Becky Troeger planned to marry Mike Ostrowski June 7 in Canterbury, Conn. She met Mike about 20 years ago while in junior high together. • During recent travels to New Zealand, Katherine and Andrew Littell completed seven consecutive tandem bungee jumps in order to commemorate their childhood friend, Lundgren. • Claire Overgaag Barnaba has lived in the San Francisco Bay Area since her move from Boston in 2002. She has since gotten married and has one boy and expected a baby girl in May. She works as a nurse practitioner in a private OB/GYN practice. • Keith Phifer and his wife, Molly, had their first baby, Harris Streeter Phifer, Feb. 2, 2009. He was born 19 inches long, weighed 7 lbs., 9 ozs., and is growing like a weed. Molly, Harris, and Keith are happily living in Milton, Mass. • Bianca Guzman and Alexander Wick are very happy with their Zasha Tinsley Wick, now 16 months. Bianca's business as a fashion stylist for toddlers/children—Mini Fashionistas in Training—is going strong despite the recession. They currently live in sunny Paradise Valley, Ariz., and will spend most of the summer in Laguna Beach, Calif., and at their ranch in Colorado. • Hope the summer is going great!

1999

Lindsay Hayes Hurty

classnews1999@alum.colby.edu

I'm so excited to report that I (Lindsay Hayes Hurty) got married Feb. 28 to Blaine Hurty (Bucknell '99) in our hometown of Darien, Conn. Bridesmaids included Karena Bullock Bailey and Heather Fine. Also in attendance were Allison Birdsong, Scott Whitlow, Alex and Becky Thornton Leach, Matt and Katie Lawrence Sawatzky, and Abby Healy (who is engaged to Sundar Argan and plans to wed in June 2010). • Nicole Fallat married Jason Zabriskie in a beautiful outdoor ceremony in Seattle. Dr. Colleen Schwartz was a bridesmaid and Emily Dowd attended. • Laurie Roberts got married May 2 in Washington, D.C., to Doug Eliason (Trinity '96). Kelly Field Green and Martha Stewart Gonzalez were bridesmaids. • Katie Haas Penfield enjoys life in Crested Butte, Colo., where she celebrated her one-year anniversary to Chris Penfield—they married last June on the summer solstice. • Steve and Maegan Carey Storey live in Chatham, Mass., and had a baby girl, Georgia Mae Storey, Sept. 10, 2008! • Jessica Banos Burton had a baby girl, Avery Elena, Oct. 8. Her son, Christopher, 2 1/2, loves being a big brother. • Eric and Amy Erdmann Sholk had their second baby boy, Benjamin Patrick, Nov. 3. They are all doing well and enjoying their new home in Sudbury, Mass. • Emmett Beliveau and his wife welcomed their first child Nov. 3. • Bob '97 and Alison Rainey Doak had a little boy, Benjamin Thomas Doak, on Election Day, Nov. 4. • Brian and Alexis Azar Posnanski welcomed their first child, Owen Azar Posnanski, Dec. 26, 2008. Alexis and Brian are exhausted but loving every minute with their belated Christmas gift. • It's a girl! Donn Downey is a proud shepherd to four sheep and one new baby lamb named Letter. Louise, 3, named her on July 13. And, by the way, Kristen (North) and Donn's newest baby girl, Mavis, turned 1 on May 13. • Kelly Williams Ramot and her family moved from the San Francisco Bay Area to Manhattan in April 2008 and live on the Upper West Side. She continues to work with the American Jewish Committee and is finishing up her master's in nonprofit management at The New School. The newest member of the Ramot family, Raphael, was born on big brother Noam's second birthday in March 2008. • Walter Wang has embarked on a new project consulting on the tax aspects and state incentives related to alternative energy projects—a venture called Sunflower Tax (www.sunflowertax.com). • Laura Eichelberger is finishing her fieldwork on water scarcity in Arctic Alaska native villages for her Ph.D. in cultural anthropology at the University of Arizona. For the better part of a year she's lived in Inupiaq Eskimo communities learning about their culture and their struggles to obtain sufficient water to protect community health. People have been incredibly generous in welcoming her into their lives, feeding her, and teaching her how to hang fish and cut caribou. Hopefully, by next June, she'll be Dr. Eichelberger. She was surprised to find in Ambler, one of her field sites, that she is predated by Nick Jans '77. • Since college Dan Zipin went to University of New England College of Osteopathic Medicine and did his residency at Boston University; he is now finishing an interventional spine fellowship in California and will return with his fiancée, Meghan Delaney, to the New England area in August. Dan and Meghan are set to wed in Vermont in November. Brian DiBello, Andy King, Sean Foley, Peter Shapiro, Reed Bundy '00 and Kelly Fanning '00, Ben '00 and Liz Magyar Stockwell '98, and Jeremy Donovan '00 will attend. • Steve Murphy completed an M.A. in law and diplomacy at The Fletcher School at Tufts last August and just graduated from the Harvard School of Public Health, where he earned an M.P.H. in global health policy and management. Steve served as a social entrepreneurship fellow at the Center for Public Leadership at the Kennedy School while at Harvard. Steve entered the U.S. Foreign Service as a political affairs officer in May and will participate in State Department initiatives related to economic development, public health, and peace building. • Jean-Paul Lipton has been busy starting up his fly fishing business. Between filling commercial fly orders, guiding clients, and blogging on his Web site, JP managed to get his business featured in the Wall Street Journal. Check it out at www.roughfisher.com. JP reports that Jonathan Brooks is in his first year at Albany Med, working on his master's as a physician's assistant. He has been fishing a ton these past few years in northern Vermont and chased lots of steelhead last winter on Lake Ontario tributaries. • After eight years with SnoCountry, David Black is pursuing a new opportunity heading up operations at Recovery Control Systems (RCS), a small-package auditing firm that guarantees packages and secures all credits/refunds to the carrier accounts for delinquent packages. • Keep sending the good news!

2000

Meg Bernier Boyd

classnews2000@alum.colby.edu

David Barr Kirtley excitedly announces that his short story, The Skull Faced Boy, was published in the zombie anthology The Living Dead, which also featured work by authors Stephen King, Clive Barker, and Neil Gaiman. • C. Bradley Russell continues to live happily in Boston with her husband, James, and her hound dog, Dudley. She works for Oke USA, a fair trade banana importer.* Although he still calls Melbourne home, Jeff Daniels's work on a documentary about the controversial Jewish advocacy group,

ALUMNI AT LARGE

Jewish Defense League, has him jumping between Australia, Los Angeles, and New York City. • If you're hunting for auto parts, Adam Cramer may be your man. He recently started an Internet company called the Frugal Mechanic (www.frugalmechanic.com), which allows customers to quickly and easily find the lowest prices on auto parts. • On March 28 Megan Davis Poor and husband Jared Woodward-Poor celebrated the arrival of Max Walker Poor, who joins older brother Jesse, 2. The family lives in Burlington, Vt., with their three-year-old dog, Brian. • Laurel Genetti Kemp is thrilled to announce the arrival of her first daughter, Bella, born March 27. She celebrated with Miranda Eberle Freberg at her baby shower. Laurel enjoyed a few months of maternity leave before returning to her work as a critical care nurse. • After graduating in June from her OB/GYN residency at Maine Medical Center in Portland, Sarah Czok plans to move to New York City to start a three-year gynecologic oncology fellowship at NYU. • Dave Famiglietti continues to work for Bank of America, but he has recently left Boston for the sunny beaches of Jacksonville, Fla. • Meghann Foye loves living in NYC and keeps busy working as the deputy editor at Seventeen magazine. In March she ran the Rome Marathon to raise money for leukemia and lymphoma with Team in Training. • In early April Josh and Kim McCarron Camuso (married since 2004) escaped the clouds of New Hampshire for the blue skies of Playa del Carmen, Mexico. They're considering moving to a bigger house in preparation for starting a family. • On January 28 Brian '99 and Tacy Conard Quinn welcomed Charles Patrick Quinn. The family lives in Gladstone, N.J., where Tacy works as an acquisitions editor for Pearson Education/ Prentice Hall publishers. Last August, while in Europe for the wedding of Raj Khunkhun '99, Tacy and Brian stopped off in Dijon, France, to visit Tacy's host family from her junior year abroad and with Professor Jonathan Weiss. She finds it hard to believe that 10 years have passed since Dijon.

2001

Dana Fowler Charette

classnews2001@alum.colby.edu

Hello all! I'm Emily Mahlman and I'm pinching as class correspondent this time around because of one little girl: Ellison Augusta Charette. Jon and Dana Fowler Charette welcomed their adorable daughter April 28. • Beating Ellison into the world by just over two weeks was Emmett Tyler Engel, Jon and Jen Bubrick Engel's new little one. What a cutie! • Elizabeth and Nathan Boland are also new parents. Asher Evans Boland was born April 24. • Karin Felmy Ney gave birth to Crosby Bruce Ney Dec. 18, 2008. •

Matthew Carter and Meredith Strasnick '02 had their first child, Max Benjamin Carter, in January. • Tim Grayson and Melanie Stein are planning a 2010 wedding in Jackson Hole. Tim represented Colby at the alumni night at Jackson Hole High School recently and thinks he may have some applications on the way! He has been teaching special education at Jackson Hole High School this year. Tim sees Jon Natkin frequently, when Jon isn't skiing the high peaks of the Tetons. • Lauren Schaad is finishing her first year of Thunderbird's M.B.A. program. She'll travel to Nepal this summer to study microfinance and intern with Grameen Trust in Bangladesh. • Annie Eisinger Powers graduated from the University of Utah with her M.D. and Ph.D. last May and will be starting her residency in pediatrics in Salt Lake City this summer. She and her husband, Matt, had their first baby, Nora Eisinger Powers, Aug. 9, 2008. • Pam Foxley Arifian continues her work as a community-sustainability planner in southern California. She and her husband, Greg, just bought a house in Pasadena. • Corey Stranghoener celebrated her sixth anniversary with Enterprise Rent-A-Car in human resources and is setting up shop with her boyfriend in St. Louis. She looks forward to celebrating her 30th birthday in New York City with a gaggle of Colby friends. • Venola Mason plans to ring in her 30th year in St. Martin with Mieko McKay. • Rob Egleston was promoted to regional sales and product training manager for Subaru Great Lakes Region and has moved from San Diego to Chicago. • Amanda Adams lives in Providence and just finished her third year working at the American College of Radiology Imaging Network Biostatistics Center at Brown University. She passed along word of Alyson Nickse's upcoming wedding. • Elicia (Eli) Carmichael and Ben Heneveld '00 look forward to returning from their tree farm in Costa Rica for their July 4 wedding in New Hampshire. They will then move to Ithaca, N.Y., where Eli will begin an M.B.A. program in sustainable business as a Park Fellow at Cornell's Johnson School of Business this fall. • Kelly Kenney and her husband, Steve, live in Westwood, Mass. She works at State Street in Boston and keeps busy coaching a girl's basketball team and tutoring high school students in biology and chemistry.

2002

Sally Hall Bell

classnews2002@alum.colby.edu

Jenna Bishop received her Ph.D. in microbiology and immunology from the University of British Columbia in July 2008. She'll work as a postdoctoral fellow in immunology in Vancouver for the next three years. • In August Erin Clark will begin juggling a master's at Yale's School of Forestry and Environmental Science while continuing to work for Time Inc. in NYC. She enjoyed captaining a 12-person relay team, which included Andrew Quale '01, to run 175 miles from Woodstock, N.Y., to the Bronx in May. • Katie Lazdowski and her husband, Artie McCollum, have served in the Peace Corps in Mali since July 2008. Katie works with local teachers in primary schools and helps integrate French language into school curriculum. She is missing her washing machine these days. • Steve Hooper will attend Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth this fall. • Matthew Koontz graduated from Ross School of Business with Devon Douglas '03 and moved to Seattle this summer to join a slew of other Colby alums. • Greg Jaboin lives in Utah and works for Fidelity Investments, Inc., as an advisor. • Stephanie Looney lives in San Diego and works as a pediatric RN at Rady Children's Hospital. Stephanie recently got engaged to Tadeusz (Ted) Smykal and set a wedding date for June 2010 in Massachusetts. They're planning a two-week trip to Poland this summer. • Andy Keiser has moved out of Florida and now works as a corporate pilot in Portsmouth, N.H. • Pierre and Jeanette "Jay" Gribben Chalhoub had their first baby in March, Leila Maria. • Briana Wright Bizier was recently hired at Perry Technical Institute in Yakima, Wash., as an instructor in the Computer Applications and Medical Office Administration Program. Briana worked as an administrative assistant for Montana State University before returning to school to earn her master's in religion from the University of Chicago Divinity School. • Victor Cancel works as an editor and proofreader of Spanish textbooks at publishing company GEX, Inc. In the evenings Victor works with people with disabilities as a mentor for Emarc, Inc. • Bill and Kate St. Germaine Simpson bought a house in Brookfield, Mass., and had a baby girl, Edith Adeline, in February. Bill runs his family's lightning rod business and is finishing up his M.B.A. at Babson. Kate works part time in the town library and does some proofreading on the side. • Chris Collopy and Will Kendall were married May 2 in South Carolina. • Fraser Ross is marrying Robert Maloney in August in Newport, R.I. • Josh Lewi reports that life in NYC is grand and he regularly sees Chris Delucia, Markus Mende, Chris Leach, and Eleanor Jackson. • As for me, I've been accepted to the Bainbridge Graduate Institute for an M.B.A. program in sustainable business on Bainbridge Island, Wash. I'll be multitasking with work and school for the next two years. My husband, Chris, and I are looking forward to a delayed honeymoon in Scandinavia this summer before school starts up in the fall. Thanks to all who reported in!

2003

Lauren Tiberio

classnews2003@alum.colby.edu

Hi all. Hope everyone's enjoying the warm weather. • Brendan Fitzpatrick spent the last few years living in Baltimore, Md., while attending the University of Maryland School of Law. Despite the Charm City's reputation for murder and corruption, Brendan really enjoys it, and he's accepted a position working as an attorney for a firm downtown. He lives in the Federal Hill neighborhood with Alida Malcom and would love to hear from any alums in the area. • Bianca Belcher will start her M.P.H. at Dartmouth this July—perfect timing given the swine flu outbreak this past spring! • Kate Hughes Herd still lives in England, working as the buyer for a music publisher. Kate, Liz Jackson, and Christiana Salah plan a roommate mini-reunion when they are all back in the NY/Boston area this summer. • Andrew Umans is also stationed abroad—he'll spend the summer working in Bangalore. Anyone passing through Bangalore? • Aliya Al-Aufy and her husband have plans to relocate to Oman in the near future. She graduated this spring with her M.B.A. from Brandeis. • Jill Young started her first position as an associate attorney at Price, McCluer, & Plachecki in Winona, Minn., this May. • John Knoedler graduated from medical school at Penn State and has started his residency in urology at the Mayo Clinic. • Garrett Kephart is in Washington, D.C., drowning in stimulus dollars. • Karli Jaffe spent a quick weekend in Las Vegas and had the chance to see Melv Ladera. Their B-list celebrity sighting was former Hollywood Madam Heidi Fleiss! Karli still lives in Portland and was promoted to director of Jewish Family Services, a social services agency providing support to members of the community. She's working towards a clinical social worker's license. • Rob Wykoff reports that life in Park City is going well. He's in his third year working at Backcountry.com and thoroughly enjoys his new role as an assistant buyer. After an epic winter—with snowfall totaling over 600 inches in Park City—and several powder days spent skiing with Colby folk, including Brett Lurman '02, Lilly Meyers, and Kenny Allgyer, the summer is shaping up to be a blast, with plans to catch up with Rob Morse, Alex Yarbrough, Nate Lindsay, Nick Falke '05, and others on the West Coast in August. • Now to weddings and, hopefully, new, future White Mules! Michael Pincus '02 and Danielle O'Steen got married last fall in West Park, N.Y. Colby folks in attendance included Pete Chapin, Lucy Baker, Jesse Newman, Caitlin Stuart '04, Tracy Schloss, Aaron McCloskey, Evan Woolley, Patrick Swillinger '02, Mairiad Carney '02, Alexis Detwiler '02, Michael Bergan '02, and Helena

HELPFUL TO THE CORPS | CHRIS ANDREWS '07

Most Caucasian foreigners who stroll through the town of Nioro du Rip in central Senegal elicit cries of “toubab,” the local slang for “white person.” But residents greet Chris Andrews '07 far more personally. “Moussa,” they say, echoing his Senegalese name, “Nanga Def?” (How are you?)

Andrews began his two-year stint with the Peace Corps in September 2007. Living with a Senegalese family and speaking Wolof, he has adopted the lifestyle of his neighbors.

The Vermont native didn't speak any Wolof when he arrived in Nioro. Now Andrews speaks the local tongue not only with his family but also with dozens of women he's helping build small businesses. “People accept you quicker and are more open to you, more willing to work with you, if you're doing the work in Wolof instead of French,” he said.

Using loans from the United Nations and Senegalese government, the women's groups are creating restaurants, sewing shops, and Internet cafés with the Colby economics major's guidance as they learn to price goods, track expenditures, and market their products.

The job requires an understanding of cultural and technical obstacles, such as frequent power outages. “You have to slow down your expectations for everything,” Andrews said. “If someone says something is going to get done tomorrow, there's a good chance it won't.”

In Nioro Andrews has running water, electricity, and even Internet access, unlike his peers in nearby villages. But he's still an hour-long bush-taxi ride away from other amenities: other English speakers, a bank with an ATM, a “proper” restaurant.

Chris Andrews meets with a female entrepreneur who's opening a street-side food stall.

He eats with his host family in traditional Senegalese-style, sitting on the floor around a large bowl that everyone shares. Although he sometimes uses a spoon, he has mastered the technique of eating with his right hand, rolling food into a ball in his palm before bringing it to his mouth.

He can never eat enough to satisfy his host mother. She uses the French word for “eat” familiar to speakers of Wolof, French, and Italian: “Mange!”

—Alexis Grant '03

Tubis '02. The newlyweds live in Washington, D.C. Mike's an attorney at the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's office of the general counsel and Danielle is an incoming M.A. art history student at George Washington University. • Kara Watson is getting married at the end of August to Darren Sutherland. The two met in Sun Valley six years ago and now live in Park Slope. • Last, but certainly not least, Jonathan and Sarah Mason Eck are expecting a baby in September—we'll have to wait and see on this one: skier or swimmer?! Sarah graduated from Dartmouth last June with a Ph.D. in biochemistry. • Congrats to all the big accomplishments and thanks for sharing all the exciting news!

2004

Kate Weiler

classnews2004@alum.colby.edu

Nicholas Meintel works as a registered financial services professional at New York Life/NYLIFE Securities, and lives with friends in Brighton. • Nick Gambino married Meghan Wyman July 12, 2008, in Boston.

In attendance were Michael Hildebrandt (groomsman), Steve Bayes, Ed Smith, Steve Migausky, Chris Roberts, Andrew Raser '05, Rob Mehlich '05, Nathaniel Hulme '05, and Rob Zondervan '07. Nick is a territory manager with OsteoMed, an orthopaedic device company, and he started his M.B.A. part time at Boston College in January. • Meghan Finneran found a NESCAC love connection and got engaged to Chris Grant, Middlebury '04. • Susannah Magrane has worked with a start-up web company for the past year in New York City. The site, www.oyster.com, will launch in June. • Will Sander graduated from veterinary school at University of Wisconsin-Madison and is starting a one-year small-animal internship—at a couple of clinics outside of Chicago. • Kevin '03 and Kate Wheeler Brunelle had a baby girl July 17, 2008. • Jeremy Jamieson and Karsten Solberg recently got engaged and are getting married this summer in Connecticut. Last summer Karsten received her master's in architecture from the Rhode Island School of Design and now works at Sasaki Associates in Boston.

She is designing a new campus center and basketball arena for Fordham University. Jeremy finished his Ph.D. in psychology and this summer is starting a postdoctoral fellowship at Harvard University, where he'll conduct research on how cardiovascular and endocrine systems react under stress. • Erica Joseffy graduated in May from Boston University with her M.S. in speech language pathology. She'll travel in Australia for a few months this summer and then start working full time as a speech language pathologist in the Boston area. • Amanda Belden got engaged and graduated from Tufts Dental School May 17. • Amy Tolsdorf started her internal medicine residency at the University of Washington in Seattle last June. • Ana Prokic finished her M.B.A. in finance and international business and started working for Loyola University Chicago as a financial manager for Loyola's ITS division. She got engaged last February on a trip to New York City and plans an October wedding in Chicago. During the NYC trip she caught up with her Colby roommate for all four years, Kate Heidemann, and her husband. • Reese

C. Kelly is doing interviews with transgender folks for the dissertation project entitled “Borders That Matter: Trans Identity Management.” Reese was awarded the 2009 Allen E. Liska Dissertation Research Award as well as the 2009 Woodrow Wilson Women's Studies Dissertation Fellowship. In the fall Reese will teach Sociology of Gender and Transgender Studies: Histories, Identities, and Politics at Middlebury College as a visiting instructor.

• Holly Brown lives in LA and works at Will Smith's company, Overbrook Entertainment, as the film department coordinator. She had her first onscreen credit on Lakeview Terrace. She frequently sees Breilyn Brantley, who works on Family Guy, and Michael Hepburn, who works as an associate manager for Kritzer Levine Wilkins, which represents acting talent. • Shannon Hopkins is engaged and getting married in August in Denver. • Emma McCandless and Karen Prager still live in south Texas and teach for IDEA Public Schools. In May Emma completed her master's in library science from Rutgers, and in August Karen will begin a program in educational administration through Lamar University. • Eric Roy finished his Ph.D. in oceanography from University of Maine. He works for a startup sensor company and lives in Bangor, Maine. • Amina McIntyre wrote and produced a play, The Most Eligible Bachelor, which ran at Wabash College April 16-18. • Micah Siegel started his clinical rotations at Monmouth Medical Center in Long Branch, N.J.

2005

Katie Gagne

classnews2005@alum.colby.edu

Julie Morrison and Sean Baron were recently engaged, as were Steve Markesich and Sarah Belden '06. My neighbor in Brookline, Emily Goodyear, will hear wedding bells soon with fiancé Kevin Forgett. Scarlett Slenker was recently engaged to Andy Macilwaine, whom she met studying at Vermont Law. They plan a July 2010 wedding in Vermont. • Shawn Sato recently completed medical school and began an intern year in Des Moines, Iowa, before he begins his radiology residency at the University of Iowa. His fiancé, Kate Durda, works at the university as a genetic counselor after finishing graduate school at Northwestern in 2008. They planning a June wedding in the Champlain Islands in Vermont. • Gabriel Reyes will marry Chhunny Chhean, a Cal State Long Beach and UC Berkeley School of Law graduate, in Fort Worth, Texas, July 26. Tsering Wangdi, Joseph Okeyo, Pawel Brodalka, and Archana Prasad '07 plan to attend the couple's traditional tea ceremony. Nicholas von Mertens, who returned to the U.S. after teaching for four years in Japan, England, and Tunisia, will also be in attendance. Nicholas will be joining the U.S. Foreign Service. ♦ Amy Campfield graduated from medical school in May and is moving west to start her surgery residency at the University of Colorado Medical Center in Denver. ♦ Peyton McElvey is working for Houlihan Lokey in L.A. this summer doing restructurings and bankruptcies. ♦ Carreau Mueller recently went to a wedding in Vail with Caitlin McCusker, where they met Alex Ridder and Adam Grassi '03 for some skiing. Carreau ran the 113th Boston Marathon. ♦ Adelin Cai works in NYC and in her spare time makes music with her band "beta.beta" as a keyboardist and vocalist. They have an EP out on iTunes, Amazon, and eMusic and also play live shows regularly in Brooklyn and Manhattan! ♦ Catherine Pappas will attend NYU Stern in the fall in the full-time M.B.A. program. ♦ Nora Gouge is still working toward her doctorate in clinical psychology in NYC and was recently engaged to Todd Moore, who proposed on her birthday at a restaurant in the East Village. They plan a January 2010 wedding. Todd is a third-year at Fordham law and recently had an article published in the Fordham Law Review Journal. ♦ Ilana Saxe is headed to Europe for two years to work at The American School in Lugano, Switzerland. ♦ Megan Loosigian traveled to Panama in March to visit her sister. Megan teaches Spanish at the Governor's Academy and is working on her master's in Spanish. ♦ Kevin Yardi is sad to announce that his place in Ballston, known to many as "4515" or the annual headquarters for "D.C. Doghead," is closing its doors. For the past few years, a number of Colby 2005ers have lived there including Rich Downing, Marc Kassir, Chris Van Wagenen, Jeremy Little, Steve Bogden, Pat Semmens, and Will van Der Veen. He assures us that there will be an upgrade! ♦ Katie Slemp and Greg Sawyer '03 will be married this August in Connecticut. ♦ Abigail Robson graduated from the Curry School of Education at U.Va. and plans to stay in Virginia to teach. ♦ Josh Taylor is currently a Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada Fellow at the University of New Brunswick in a M.Ed. program, filming Wolastoq First Nations elders to build up an archive of language, knowledge, and narratives. He plans to motorcycle between Maine and New Brunswick this summer to share time with Kate Braemer '07, who teaches at Chewonki, in Wiscasset, Maine. ♦ Nick Miller will officially stay in Boston for the next three years with Mary Olsson and attend Boston College Law School. ♦ Christian Allen adventured to Australia for five weeks in January and then moved to L.A. for a new job with Macquarie Cook Energy. In early April he moved to Houston and now lives just a few short miles from Jay McMurrey

ALUMNI AT LARGE

OOS NEWSMAKERS

Nicholas Battista '04

An attorney at the firm of Wiggin & Nourie P.A., Luke Webster '03 joined the board of directors for Amoskeag Business Incubator in Manchester, N.H. He graduated from the Franklin Pierce Law Center in 2008 and is a member of the business law and real estate, land use and development practice groups. Webster was formerly a national field consultant for the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee in Washington, D.C. ♦ Rhode Island Sea Grant named Nicholas Battista '04 one of two winners of a one-year, $43,500, National Sea Grant College Program Dean John A. Knauss Marine Policy Fellowship. The fellowship matches distinguished graduate students interested in ocean, coastal, and Great Lakes resources with hosts in the legislative or executive branches of the federal government. Battista is working in the Washington, D.C., office of Rep. Chellie Pingree of Maine on marine and coastal issues.

MILESTONES

Deaths: Shareen Abbasy '05, March 17, 2009, in New York, N.Y., at 26.

Births: Benjamin J. Chandler '02 to Melissa Rocco in Woodbury, Mass. ♦ Corey W. Gittleman '05 to Alicia L. Munson in East Northport, N.Y.

'06 and Jeremy Little. ♦ Anne Holt moved to Colorado last fall and since then has spent her time showing work at the Artists' Gallery of Steamboat Springs and working at the Lowell Whiteman School teaching art classes and oil painting to students at the Steamboat Arts & Crafts Gym. ♦ I enjoyed spending time with Kevin Yardi, Rich Downing, Melisse Hinkle, Jon Gilboy, Jess Hardy, and Rory Kelly '06 in D.C. recently. I continue to live and work in Boston. Enjoy the summer and take care.

2006

Jennifer Coliflores
classnews2006@alum.colby.edu

The Hamilton Tiger-Cats announced the signing of offensive lineman Dan Oliphant. The Hamilton Tiger-Cats are a Canadian Football League team based in Hamilton, Ontario. ♦ Alex Brougham graduated from the Northeastern University School of Law. He'll spend the summer studying for and taking the bar exam and then will begin a one-year term as law clerk to Hon. Joel B. Rosenthal in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of Massachusetts. ♦ Anu Bhatnagar lives in London with Joerose Tharakan '08. Anu has worked at Morgan Stanley for a year now. She attended the Colby in London dinner in February and had an amazing night. She has recently met a lot of Colby people and has met up with Nina Korolyova, Kip Kiprop '07, Pranay Sonalkar '07, and Andra Ofosu '07. ♦ Kendra King is moving to Cairns, Australia, to earn her SCUBA diver instructor certificate and to party it up Aussie style. Her brother, Logan '09, is joining Kendra as well. Kendra asks that everyone come visit down under!

♦ Wedding bells are in the air for the Class of 2006! Sarah Belden is engaged to Steve Markesich '05, whom she met her freshman year when they both lived in Grossman. John McKee and Lindsey Boyle are also engaged! He proposed while they were skiing in New Hampshire, and they are planning a wedding for the end of next summer. Colby Chapel anyone? ♦ Jenn Corey lives in Portland, Maine, and manages a fine art's supply store. She's been accepted into a five-year Ph.D. program for English literature at Iowa University, Iowa City in the fall. Hurrah! Jenn writes that her heart will always be in retail and middle management. ♦ Francis Chapuredima is now working at the Holderness School in Plymouth, N.H., where our very own Bro Adams attended. Francis teaches mathematics and can't wait for winter to hit the slopes big time! ♦ David Cheng has been accepted to law school in San Francisco and will be starting this fall. ♦ Mike Fleming moved to South Boston and started a new position as a research associate for Novartis Institutes for Biomedical Research. His dog, Guinness, just turned 2! ♦ Garry Bertholf is a fourth-year Ph.D. student and William Fontaine Fellow of Africana Studies at the University of Pennsylvania, where he received his A.M. in historical musicology. This past winter Bertholf held an appointment as an adjunct assistant professor in the department of history and politics at Drexel University, where he taught a course on the intellectual history of the African diaspora. In March Bertholf presented a paper on Gilles Deleuze's philosophy of music at Penn's Gilles Deleuze Symposium and has been selected as a Graduate Fellow for Penn's Summer Institute for Africana Studies. ♦ Joey Berg is currently stationed at Camp Lejeune, N.C. working as the weapons company executive officer for the 3rd Battalion, 6th Marine Regiment. He got back from a seven-month deployment to Fallujah, Iraq, in October. Joey is in the middle of a pre-deployment work-up and will be deploying to Afghanistan in the fall. ♦ Brandon Smithwood will attend Tufts Fletcher School of International Affairs this fall. He is finishing his summer job, which many Colby alums have applied for. ♦ More marathon news! This April Kelsey Neville, Nikki Stadelman, Katie Roberts, Amy Cronin, and Liz Turner all ran the Boston Marathon! Nice work, ladies! ♦ Thank you for your news and keep it coming!

2007

Karli Gasteazoro
classnews2007@alum.colby.edu

Mindy Favreau got engaged to William Woerter (WPI '03) April 9! They haven't set a date but her sister, Lacey Favreau '08, will be her maid of honor. Mindy made sure to call former roommates Allison Cogbill and Brianna Tufts with the news, as well as fellow Colby-in-Dijoner Leslie Peterson. ♦ Riley Doyle lives in San Francisco and works as a bioengineer for Genentech. ♦ Tara Bergin wrapped up her first year of veterinary school at the University of Edinburgh and will work with large animals on various farms around the U.K. this summer. In August she'll visit Japanese vet schools before beginning clinical veterinary medicine. Keep up with her (mis)adventures on her blog: <http://vetscapes.blogspot.com>. ♦ Ali Fulreader is headed to Baltimore this August to commence four years at the University of Maryland Dental School. Ali looks forward to having tons of Colby reunion weekends this summer. ♦ Alisa Perry will be attending Yale University's School of Nursing pursuing her pediatric nurse practitioner degree. ♦ Erin Schlossman will attend Tufts School of Medicine Maine Track in the fall. ♦ Katie Maland, Julia Hutchinson, Karli Gasteazoro, and Tammy Lewin visited Natalie Ginsburg in Clarksdale, Miss., for the 18th annual Juke Joint Blues Festival. After visiting Ms. Ginsburg's third-grade classroom, they enjoyed Kool-aid pickles, blues bands, fried green tomatoes, yoga in the park, and ran a 5K, in which Tammy placed first for women! ♦ Allison Cogbill is leaving New York City to attend the University of Wisconsin Law School in Madison. ♦ After spending a year in Beijing, Canaan Morse now lives in Boston and is applying for a Cultural Research Fellowship from the Chinese government to obtain paid return and study opportunities in Beijing. Look for Canaan's translation of He Qifang's essay Elegy in the summer 2010 edition of The Kenyon Review. • Martin Ma finished his first year of medical school at Mount Sinai School of Medicine in NYC. He enjoyed his spring break trip to the Dominican Republic with 18 of his med school classmates. • Jackie Page lives in Barcelona and volunteers for an NGO that works with refugees (Comissio Catalana d'Ajuda al Refugiats). • Patrick Benton lives in Washington, D.C., with Tom Levings '01 while working for Ralph Nader and reports, "It's awesome and I feel awesome for doing it." Patrick, Ned Brockmeyer, Emily Barrett, Aaron Olcerst, Eric Brockmeyer '06J, Drew Bush '02J, and Doug Calhoun '04 work for Cornelius J. Katt on Chairman Meow's Anarchist Outpost: www.anarchistoutpost.com. • Ian London will be joined by Mark Phillips '09 at Denver Law this fall. Ian continues skiing, hiking, and generally enjoying life with James Cryan, Josh Montague '06, Liz Coogan, and Alexis Heimann. Alexis lives in Boulder, Colo., and will attend the University of Denver's Psy.D. program for clinical psychology this fall. • Carolyn Deuschle lives in Brooklyn and works as an assistant editor at Princeton Architectural Press. • Allison Dunn moved to LA and recently finished writing a screenplay about a computer who falls in love with its owner. She's currently looking for an agent. • Ashley Hunt finished her second year teaching pre-K with TFA in Navajo, N.M., and headed to NYC to attend Columbia's Mailman School of Public Health, where she will be focusing on forced migration in the population and family health department. • Tammy Lewin, Ellen Newcomb, and Taylor Snook '06 have been enjoying D.C., the festivities surrounding President Obama's inauguration, and the cherry blossoms. Taylor currently is in Nepal volunteering at an orphanage. They regularly see John McCormack, CJ Donnelly, Jordan Henry, and many other Colby alums. • Josh Handelman worked on Al Franken's Senate recount in Minnesota, where he ran into Karli Gasteazoro at a Roller Derby bout. Josh now works with Congressman Paul Hodes' campaign for U.S. Senate in New Hampshire. • In addition to tuning their Guitar Hero skills, John DeBruicker and Josh Gerber are training for the 11th annual Central Park Race, where they'll "bomb down Broadway—on skateboards that is!" • Ian Cross ran a marathon through Death Valley Feb. 7, 2009, as a fundraiser for Little Field Home Orphanage. This summer Ian will return to the orphanage and continue to hike the Appalachian Trail. • Last but certainly not least, Jon Bandi is spreading joy, love, and the celebration of life in Belmont, Mass. • Keep the updates coming!

2008

Palmer McAuliff
classnews2008@alum.colby.edu

I hope you're all having a wonderful summer. It's hard to believe that more than a year has passed since our graduation. It was wonderful to see so many of you at our reunion in June—I hope you all had as much fun as I did! • Meaghan Fitzgerald will extend her stay in the U.K. after fighting with the home office for more than three months to receive a proper visa. Now she won't be forcibly kicked out of England until 2014! Meaghan works for www.spoonfed.co.uk doing marketing, PR, and community management. She hopes that her Colby friends will visit her in London this fall. • Julie Bero was in D.C. for the election season working on ballot initiative strategy, where she frequently met up with Julia Stuebing, Eric Hansen, Luke LaViolet, and Katherine Koleski. Julie also caught up with Sarah Schleck '06 and Josh Handelman '07. Julie now lives in Brooklyn, N.Y., and works at a political organization called Progressive States Network, which works with state legislators to pass progressive policies nationwide. She's also involved at NYC Planned Parenthood as a clinic volunteer.

Julie has enjoyed showing Kiira Heymann and Liz Bower, who moved to the city this winter, around Brooklyn, as well as spending lots of time with her boyfriend, Rishi Chatrath. Julie was thrilled when she ran into Jeronimo Maradiaga '09J on the street near her job—they were able to catch up over pizza. Julie loves being back in the city and would welcome the opportunity to show any visitors around! • Laura Perille lives in Philadelphia with Sarah E. Clark and works with Mady Ragan at the consulting firm Clear Admit. Laura is excited to be attending Brown in the fall for her Ph.D. in history. • Christina Feng enjoys teaching ninth and 11th grade social studies in New York City. • In July Danielle Nielsen is moving to La Serena, Chile, to work at the Cerro Tololo Inter-American Observatory on a Spitzer Space Telescope warm mission. She will be attending a conference in Rio de Janeiro to present some of her research. She is looking forward to visiting Abby Hall, who lives and teaches English in Santiago. • In March Rebekah Fasel graciously hosted Emily Butler, Tim Miller, and David Sternesky in Atlanta, Ga. The weekend was spent celebrating St. Patrick's Day in true Colby style, and a wonderful time was had by all. • Thanks for the updates and enjoy the rest of summer!

OBITUARIES

Marjorie Hooper Lawler '32, May 11, 2009, in Amesbury, Mass., at 98. She was an elementary school teacher in Attleboro, Mass. for 25 years, an organist for the Water Village Church, and a member of the historical society. She did cross-stitch and at 90 won a blue ribbon at the Topsfield Fair for a cross-stitch entry. Survivors include her children, Nancy Lewis and Richard Elwell, a stepdaughter, eight grandchildren, and 14 great-grandchildren.

Lucile Blanchard French McMullen '32, March 6, 2009, in Waterville, Maine, at 97. She lived in Waterville her entire life, working for the Morning Sentinel, at a nursery school, and as clerk of courts. She belonged to the Waterville's Women's Club, Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Mayflower Society. Predeceased by her brother Webster

C. Blanchard '38, she is survived by her daughters, Margaret and Faith.

Christo T. Nasse '32, April 5, 2009, in Ormond Beach, Fla., at 102. He worked as a foreman with American Optical Company for 20 years, after which he earned his master's in education from Worcester State College in 1961. He taught high school in Massachusetts until 1976. He played shuffleboard and bowled. Predeceased by his brother, John T. Nasse '29, M.D., he is survived by his children, Francis and Sharon, one granddaughter, and one great-granddaughter.

George T. Pugsley '34, March 28, 2009, in Peabody, Mass., at 97. He served with the Navy during World War II, retiring as a lieutenant colonel in 1972. He held management positions at A.C. Lawrence Leathers, was a member of the Danvers Historical Society, and belonged to the Congregational church. Predeceased by his father, John B. Pugsley 1905, he is survived by daughters Gerri Hill and Marcia Pugsley, two grandchildren, and one great-grandson.

Frederick A. Schreiber '34, Jan. 10, 2009, in Beverly Hills, Calif., at 95. He worked for the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations and then enlisted with the Army during World War II. He was a government employee and was named the 1970 Outstanding Defense Supply Agency Employee. He was a Colby overseer from 1980 to 1989, played golf, and was interested in East Asian studies. He and his wife, Eve, raised two children.

Arthur W. Stetson Jr. '34, Nov. 8, 2008, in Mechanicsburg, Pa., at 97. He earned an LL.B. in 1937 and a J.D. in 1987, both from Boston University. He served with the Army in World War II, practiced law, and then worked as a consultant with the Veteran's Administration. Predeceased by his father, Arthur W. Stetson 1907, he is survived by two children, Arthur W. Stetson II and Nancy Starling, seven grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Howard C. Pritham '36, April 30, 2009, in Orono, Maine, at 94. He earned his M.D. from Tufts in 1940 and then served as a physician in World War II, where he earned a Purple Heart. He practiced medicine in Maine and then in the Panama Canal Zone for 26 years. In retirement he fished, hunted, and made canoe paddles, pack baskets, and seven cedar canoes. Survivors include his first wife, Dorothy Van Arsdale, seven children, 10 grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

OBITUARIES

Margaret Libbey Darlow '37, April 17, 2009, in Westborough, Mass., at 93. A homemaker and mother, she loved to read, feed the birds, and travel. Predeceased by her grandfather, William Libbey 1871, she is survived by four children, Ruth Hrenko, Richard Darlow, Peter Darlow, and Paul Darlow, eight grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, and cousins, including Martha S. Fleming '73.

Robert H. Neumer '38, April 25, 2009, in St. Louis Park, Minn., at 91. He served with the 10th Mountain Division ski troops during World War II. He was a founding partner of Dundee Landscaping Company, where he worked into his 80s. Survivors include his daughter, Joann Armstrong, and a grandson.

Brewster A. Branz '40, April 5, 2009, in Portland, Maine, at 90. He served with the Army during World War II. He was president of Guardian Finance Corporation and was a director and president of the Credit Bureau of Greater Portland. He served the Jewish community, taught ESL, and volunteered with the visually disabled. He traveled, learned languages, and played golf, tennis, and bridge. Survivors include his wife of 59 years, Muriel, three sons, and seven grandchildren, including Naomi Branz '07.

Ruth Levensalor Crowley '40, March 22, 2009, in Farmingdale, Maine, at 91. In 1990 she received an honorary A.B. from Colby as she had left after two years to attend Boston University School of Law. She practiced law from 1941 to 1966, when she was appointed Maine's first woman assistant attorney general, a post she held until 1978. She was a past worthy grand matron of the Maine Order of Eastern Star. She traveled extensively and volunteered in hospices in Maine and Florida. Survivors include her son, William, a granddaughter, and two great-granddaughters.

Roger M. Stebbins '40, May 22, 2009, in Sequim, Wash., at 91. He served as captain in the Army during World War II and then worked as a buyer for Sears, Roebuck and Co. for 35 years. He was active with civic boards, Kiwanis, and the Episcopal church. He golfed, painted with oils, grew roses, and traveled extensively. He was predeceased by his sister, Ruth Stebbins Cadwell '41, and brother, Seabury T. Stebbins '48. Survivors include his wife of 68 years, Ruth Gould Stebbins '40, a son, three grandchildren, and sisters-in-law Marjorie Murphy Shuman '37 and Dorothy Gould Rhoades '36.

Barbara Partridge Dyer '41, March 15, 2009, in Yarmouth, Maine, at 89. She was a secretary and bookkeeper until 1954, when she devoted herself to her family and home. She played bridge, read, and enjoyed needlepoint. Survivors include her husband of 56 years, Vernelle W. "Cappy" Dyer Jr. '40, three children, Dee Lynne, Bruce '77, and Donna, and five grandchildren.

Claire Tilley Henderson '41, March 24, 2009, in Beverly Hills, Fla., at 89. While raising her children and keeping her home, she was a substitute teacher in New Jersey and Connecticut. She was proficient in quilting, making braided rugs, knitting, and crocheting. Survivors include her daughters, Anne and Mary Claire, three grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Helen Henry Merritt '42, May 12, 2009, in DeKalb, Ill., at 88. She earned a master's in art, a master's in fine arts, and was a scholar of Japanese prints. She taught school at all levels and received the 1990 Distinguished Teaching Award at Northern Illinois University. She preserved historic houses, donated 40 acres of original prairie to DeKalb County, and endowed an art scholarship and lecture series at NIU. Survivors include her husband, Jim, a daughter, two grandchildren, and a brother.

Jean C. Lesaar '43, March 15, 2009, in Winter Springs, Fla., at 87. He was a counterintelligence officer for the Army during World War II. He worked for an advertising agency, but his passion was stamp collecting. He owned three retail stamp stores in Chicago and he volunteered for Habitat for Humanity and Audubon Birds of Prey sorting and selling donated stamps. Survivors include his wife, Susan, three sons, six grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Elias R. Nawfel '44, March 31, 2009, in Waterville, Maine, at 86. He earned a D.M.D. from Tufts Dental School in 1946 and then served in the Army Dental Corps. He practiced dentistry in the Waterville area for 60 years, retiring in 2008. He enjoyed the violin, sports, and reading. Survivors include his wife of 51 years, Jamila, his children, Rose-Marie Nawfel Stamboulides '80, Richard D. Nawfel '82, and Elias J. Nawfel '84, five sisters, and three grandchildren.

Lottie Wanagel Roy '44, March 29, 2009, in Manchester, Conn., at 86. She received her master's from the University of Connecticut and then taught school in Connecticut for more than 30 years. Survivors include her husband, George, two daughters, two granddaughters, and a brother.

Elizabeth Lohnes Grudin '45, April 9, 2009, in State College, Pa., at 87. She earned a master's in early childhood education at Columbia University and then taught kindergarten in Granville, Ohio, where she also coached the high school chess club. She was active in the Democratic party, worked to preserve the environment, and served 20 years on a local board to end poverty. Survivors include her sons, Jonathan and Thaddeus, four grandchildren, and a brother.

Elizabeth Richmond Anthony '47, Jan. 12, 2009, in Houston, Texas, at 83. She taught English in Maine, Massachusetts, and Texas and at the American Academy for Girls in Uskudar, Turkey. She was active in her hospital auxiliary, her church, and the P.E.O. Sisterhood. Survivors include her daughters, Judith Anthony and Susan Munson, a brother, and two grandsons.

Beverly Bailey Beaulieu '48, April 23, 2008, in Lewiston, Maine, at 82. She was a bookkeeper and a secretary in Livermore Falls, Maine. She quilted, painted with watercolors, and belonged to the Livermore Falls Historical Society. Predeceased by her father, Carleton M. Bailey '18, she is survived by her children, Brian, Jay, Roberta Simoneau, and Nancy Dalessandro, 12 grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren, and cousins including Philip Bailey '51.

Gordon T. Miller '48, March 9, 2009, in Briarwood, Mass., at 86. He served with the Army's Medical Services Corps during World War II, earned an M.B.A. from Harvard, and worked in business for more than 30 years. He served on numerous professional and community boards and was president of Colby's Worcester (Mass.) Alumni Association. He attended Elderhostels, was active in his church for more than 70 years, and attained life membership at the Worcester Country Club. Survivors include three children, Donna Barsotti, Elfreda Skidmore, and William Miller, a brother, and four grandchildren.

Gilbert Y. Taverner '48, April 22, 2009, in Concord, Mass., at 88. He received a master of divinity degree from Boston University and an honorary doctor of divinity from Simpson College. He was an ordained Methodist minister, and from 1948 to 1982 he served churches in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. He delivered sermons without notes and rewrote familiar hymns using contemporary words. From 1982 to 2002 he served St. George's School as assistant chaplain, professor, and historian. Survivors include his wife of 56 years, Elizabeth, a stepdaughter, two grandsons, and twin great-granddaughters.

William G. Hurley '49, Oct. 19, 2008, in Spring, Texas, at 84. He served with the Air Force and then worked as a regional supervisor for Shell Oil Company.

Dorothy Goodridge Donovan '50, Jan. 14, 2009, in Vienna, Va., at 79. She worked for GTE (now Verizon) and was a homemaker. Survivors include a cousin, a sister-in-law, and two nephews.

Margaret Brown Christie '52, March 18, 2009, in Hartford, Conn., at 78. She worked as a technician in hospital labs before opting to be a stay-at-home mom. Later in life she worked for Shaklee Corporation out of her home. She was involved with the League of Women Voters and the Sierra Club and enjoyed travel. Survivors include her husband, Douglas, her children, Anne Christie, Jean Christie Mejia '83, and James Christie, a grandson, and a sister.

Jeanne Strickland Larcher '53, May 1, 2009, in Perdido, Fla., at 77. She earned two bachelor's degrees, in nursing and in psychology, and two master's degrees, in nursing and in counseling. Her 50-year nursing career included teaching, mental health counseling, and surgical nursing. She was a voracious reader and enjoyed sailing, fishing, and cooking. Survivors include her partner, Richard Hanks, five children, and two grandchildren.

Richard H. Berns '54, March 17, 2009, in Hilton Head, S.C., at 76. He served in the Air Force during the Korean War and then returned to Colby to finish his degree in 1956. He held various positions in sales and marketing, most recently with the Marriott Corporation. Survivors include his wife, Joan, three sons, six grandchildren, and two brothers.

Joel Farbish '54, Dec. 18, 2008, in Worthington, Ohio, at 75. He served in the U.S. Army and then earned an M.B.A. from New York University in 1958. He was a controller in the Food Division of Borden Food Corp. for 30 years. Survivors include his wife, Phyllis, two daughters, and six grandchildren.

Constance Rhodenizer Knight '54, Dec. 30, 2008, in Laconia, N.H., at 76. A mother and homemaker, she was a reader, gardener, and Red Sox fan. Predeceased by her sister Jean Rhodenizer Fontaine '46 and her brother Harold Rhodenizer '42, she is survived by her husband, Alexis, six children, a sister, a brother, and six grandchildren.

Donald F. Miller '55, April 11, 2009, in Pompano Beach, Fla., at 76. He was an executive for Merriam-Webster, Inc., and he loved animals. Survivors include his sister-in-law, Edna Miller, two nephews, and his beagle, Lulu.

Robert R. Russo '57, April 9, 2009, in Pensacola, Fla., at 74. He worked as a manager for Warner Cable (now Cox Communications) and was active with the Methodist church. Survivors include his wife, Edie, six children, 15 grandchildren, and two sisters.

John W. Parkes '64, March 29, 2009, in Clifton Park, N.Y., at 86. He served in the military from 1941 to 1966 and earned a World War II Victory Medal and a Bronze Star for service in Vietnam. He earned his Colby degree while stationed as part of the ROTC staff from 1960 to 1965. His second career was as a budget analyst for the New York Department of Labor. Survivors include his wife, Pauline, a daughter, two grandchildren, and a sister.

Ann Drinker Retherford '66, May 21, 2009, in Mystic, Conn., at 65. She earned a master's in education from Lesley College and was an elementary schoolteacher. Survivors include her husband, Earl, two children, six grandchildren, her mother, and a brother.

Jonathan B. Welch '68, March 16, 2009, in Boston, Mass., at 66. He earned a master's from the University of New Hampshire and a doctorate from the University of Connecticut. He taught for 32 years at Northeastern University, where he chaired the finance department and was associate dean of the graduate school of business. He was a consultant for utility, financial services, and technology companies and taught in France, Ecuador, Ireland, and Spain. He sailed the New England coast and was active in his church. Survivors include his wife, SueEllen, three daughters, and three grandchildren.

Peter G. Gilfoy '70, April 3, 2009, in Sherborn, Mass., at 61. He was the third generation to run the family business, Gilfoy Distributing Company. He played tennis, golfed, and summered on Nantucket. He was predeceased by his father and mother, Donald A. '40 and Helen Brown Gilfoy '40. Survivors include his wife, Margaret Wiehl Gilfoy '71, two sons, and two sisters.

Christine Schopp Kennedy '73, March 21, 2009, in Naples, Fla., at 57. She worked in publishing doing translations and later worked as a design assistant. Survivors include her husband, David.

Meredith Jewett Libby '73, March 30, 2009, in Buxton, Maine, at 59. She taught elementary school in Maine, enjoyed nature, and logged wood in the forests of southern Maine. Survivors include her husband, Eugene, a son, her parents, and a brother.

Susan Reilly Szum '78, May 30, 2009, in East Walpole, Mass., at 52. She worked as an audit manager for the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, retiring in 2002. She died of cancer. Survivors include her husband, John, three children, her parents, a sister, Kathryn Reilly Bolduc '81, two brothers, and cousins Karen Reilly Quirk '88 and Matthew Quinlan '10.

Michael F. Romano '81, March 18, 2009, in West Hartford, Conn., at 49. He was an insurance executive for 10 years and founded the Center School for Martial Arts. An accomplished athlete, he was also an avid supporter of his children's sports teams. He died of cancer. Survivors include his mother, Ann, his wife, Leslie, four children, and a sister.

Arthur C. Nagle '87, April 16, 2009, in Los Angeles, Calif., at 44. He earned a master's in education administration and then taught English, coached basketball, and was an administrator in private schools in five states. He ran the Long Beach Marathon in 2005 and completed the Los Angeles Triathlon in 2008. He died of cancer. He was predeceased by his great-grandmother, Molly Pearce Putnam 1908, his grandmother, Cordelia Putnam Inman '33, and cousin Hannah Putnam Burbank '41. Survivors include his parents, Robert and Molly, his wife, three children, a brother, and two sisters.

Robert J. Garland '89, April 25, 2009, in Los Angeles, Calif., at 42. He earned an M.B.A. from Monterey Institute of International Studies and then worked at ING Advisors Network and at Capital Group, Inc. He had a passion for experiencing other cultures, coached youth sports, and savored time with his family. He died of cancer. Survivors include his wife, Hillary, three children, his parents, his grandmothers, a brother, and a sister.

Jon A. Robinson '89, Feb. 24, 2009, in Urbana, Ill., at 41. He was a building services foreman at the University of Illinois who golfed, read, and traveled. He was an avid Red Sox and New England Patriots fan. He died of cancer. Survivors include his wife, Julie, his parents, a son, and a brother.

W. Corbett Bishop '93, May 1, 2009, in Arusha, Tanzania, at 38. A climbing guide, first in the Pacific Northwest, he guided in Tanzania and climbed Mount Kilimanjaro more than 100 times. In 1996 he started Corbett Bishop Safaris, which he ran until his death of an apparent heart attack. Fluent in Swahili, he founded Ol Tukai Conservancy in Tanzania, wrote articles and lectured about conservation, and produced programs for the Discovery Channel. He was a musician, birder, and a truth seeker who respected the land. More at www.corbettbishop.net. Survivors include his children, Luca and Ella, his parents, his stepfather, the mother of his children, and his grandmothers.

Shareen Abbasy '05, March 17, 2009, in New York, N.Y., at 26. She worked as a paralegal and most recently at the Breast Cancer Research Foundation. Described as a strong and courageous spirit, she died of cancer. Survivors include her mother, Diana Abbasy, her brother, and her maternal grandparents.