

Colby

Colby Quarterly

Volume 30
Issue 3 September

Article 8

September 1994

Announcements and Comments

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.colby.edu/cq>

Recommended Citation

Colby Quarterly, Volume 30, no.3, September 1994

This Front Matter is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Commons @ Colby. It has been accepted for inclusion in Colby Quarterly by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Colby. For more information, please contact mfkelly@colby.edu.

Announcements and Comments

IN MARCH 1995 we will publish an issue about Contemporary Irish Fiction edited by George O'Brien of Georgetown University. The September 1995 issue will be about The African American Tradition. Essays should be sent, by March 1, to the guest editor, Cedric Bryant, Department of English, Colby College.

The front cover depicts a female draped figure, a Roman copy of a Hellenistic original, in the collection of the Colby Museum of Art.

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

N. GREGSON DAVIS teaches in the Department of Classical Studies and the Program in Literature and Theory at Duke University, Durham, North Carolina. He is the author of Polyhymnia: The Rhetoric of Horatian Lyric Discourse (Berkeley, 1991) and of numerous articles on Roman and Caribbean literature.

JOHN F. MILLER teaches in the Department of Classics at University of Virginia, Charlottesville. He is the author of Ovid's Elegiac Festivals: Studies in the Fasti (Frankfurt and New York, 1991) and numerous articles on Roman literature.

S. GEORGIA NUGENT teaches Classics at Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey, where she also serves as the Assistant to the President. She is the author of recent articles on Virgil and Euripides, and is completing a book on Women in Roman Epic.

JAMES J. O'HARA teaches in the Department of Classical Studies, Wesleyan University, Middletown, Connecticut. He is the author of Death and the Optimistic Prophecy in Vergil's Aeneid (Princeton, N.J., 1990) and the forthcoming True Names: Vergil and the Alexandrian Tradition of Etymological Wordplay (Ann Arbor, Michigan).