Honors Theses and Senior Scholars Papers: Formatting Standards

The format of your digital Honors Thesis or Senior Scholars paper is similar to the format for a paper version. Prefer your specific department or program guidelines if they are provided.

Font: No particular font size or style is required. Choose a standard readable font, usually at least 12pts in size.

Margins: Margins should follow standard format of either 1" or 1-1/2".

Title Page (first page): There should be a distinct title page identifying the author(s), type of project (Senior Scholars, Honors), college department/program, and date:

Title
Author
Senior Scholar or Honors Thesis
Department
© [date] (copyright statement ¹ ; for example, © 2006) or Creative Commons license ² .

Signature page (second page): The page signed by your advisor(s) tutors, readers, and chair of the Independent Study Committee, as appropriate

File Naming: The libraries recommend that you name your file using the following template: LastnameFirstinitial_[Honors or SeniorScholar]_[4-digit year of graduation].pdf (or .doc, etc.)

Example: MelvilleH_Honors_2018.pdf

Paper stock for bound copies: if you choose to obtain a bound print version of your paper, use standard thesis paper of at least 25% rag content.
