EAR misdated this letter.

1. E. G. Moore.

2. The bachelor party for the groom. Herman E. Robinson and Emma L. Shepard were married February 12, 1890 in Farmingdale. According to the family legend, as reported by Chard Powers Smith, both Dean and EAR were also in love with Emma and neither attended the wedding.

3. Endure your fate.

6. Tennyson, "Locksley Hall." If "the legend" of EAR's love for Emma Shepard Robinson is true, this reference to Tennyson's story of love rejected for a marriage of worldly gain takes on added significance, as does the previous allusion to In Memoriam.
