2. The Harvard Advocate, one of the two literary journals published at Harvard. Although EAR was immediately successful in placing his poems in the Advocate, he never was able to convince the clique that edited The Harvard Monthly, the more prestigious publication, that his work was worth printing.
3. "Thus is accomplished the ascent to the stars."
Virgil, Aeneid, ix, 641.