

THE CHANGE

AND

THE CHALLENGE

TECHNICALLY, COLBY is merely one of many small New England colleges. At the same time, she has a unique character born out of the efforts of her faculty, administration and students. In fact, all those connected with COLBY have a concept of what she should be, their own particular Idea of a University. The translation of these myriad thoughts into action has given us COLBY as she is today, as she will be in the future.

We will reason backwards and forwards, presuming that part of our family tree which is now yellowed pictures and memorial buildings tells us just as much about COLBY as we do. We will watch us evolve.

Where? In 1813, the Baptist Association had a title, Maine Literary and Theological Institute, which struggled to become a material phenomenon. The legal technicalities were prolonged and tedious, but finally permission to establish a college at Waterville-on-the-Kennebec was granted. The Civil War weakened the college but strengthened its female members, a revolt which has not subsequently been stifled. Nevertheless, the Darwinian progression had, by in large, regressed when Gardiner Colby contributed enough money to reconstruct us and the name. 1867 — Colby University. 1899 — Colby College.

By the early 1900's, Waterville had virtually surrounded our 30 acre campus. The passing MCR shook the buildings, stopped classes, and covered the students with soot. The downtown campus did not allow expansion and was, we might assume, inconducive to quiet study. A larger and more desirable location was imminently desirable. Such a drastic change aroused a great deal of controversy, editorials and finally a decision. On June 13, 1930, the Board of Trustees published the statement that "... the college, as the means can be obtained and it is feasible, should be moved to a new and more adequate location."

We return to our first question, where? Some said Augusta, but Waterville was the sentimental favorite. Soon the college began its pilgrimage to Mayflower Hill. In order to understand the enormity of this move, we must remember that in the 1930's the whole country was trying to crawl to its feet, with little success. Our plans to raise the necessary three million dollars bordered on the fantastic. Nevertheless we forged ahead, spurred on perhaps by the insane but highly adequate belief that "things will work out somehow." President Johnson coined the campaign slogan, "a new campus for old COLBY."

Jens Frederick Larson was chosen to design the new campus. Colonial Architecture was nominated "most appropriate, considering the Old New England traditions and the general atmosphere of the college." The planners faced and solved various problems. Although this brief history can not even attempt to enumerate these, a sample is the question of the financing of fraternity houses. These, it was decided, would be built by the school and leased to the fraternities. In this way the school could insure similar construction and limit rush competition to the personalities of the members rather than have considerations of house grandeur creep in the newcomers' decisions. A common men's dining room was constructed to further inter-fraternity acquaintance.

The outstanding problem was money. Somehow, however, things did work out and the campus reached a major stage of completion in 1932. Lorimer Chapel was the first finished building; the others were added gradually. For a while the campus life was split between classes on the hill and dormitories downtown but then miraculously, Mayflower Hill was a thoroughly functioning entity.

After the music comes the silence — where is the next musical theme, the next movement? The previous one never seems final but always opens up new possibilities for exploration and development. We have retained our original character of a small college although the definition of the word small has numerically increased.

Our size permits a personal association between faculty and students and between the students themselves. Although the lack of privacy consequent to this is at times wearing, we are realizing that the "best of all possible worlds" would probably be a rather dull place to inhabit.

We have remained the same; yet we have changed. We are moving in the direction of a more explicitly realised individual independence of thought. One sign of this is the newly created January Plan. The first year of its programs saw some failures, but it is to be noted that these were due to individual lacks more than those of the plan itself. Most of us have enjoyed the challenge of investigating our interest in subjects we would have probably not otherwise touched, of tackling a theory that we thought incomprehensible.

Most recently in this our Sesquicentennial year we have accepted the challenge of the Ford Foundation Grant. The success of this new venture depends, in large part, on how we as students accept the challenge of our academic careers.

COLBY COLLEGE SEEKS A NEW CAMPUS

WATERVILLE, Me. THE project to move Colby College from its 118-year-old location to a new site two miles distant has been actively resumed by the Colby trustees after having been shelved for the past four years because of the depression.

Although an occasional new college has been started on a small scale in new and well-planned buildings, this is one of the first instances in which an old established college, with the momentum of more than a century of educational service and traditions behind it, has proposed to seek the advantages of a functionally planned campus and completely modern equipment.

The reason for such a drastic move is found in the location of the present campus, which was laid out on the wooded bank of the Kennebec River on the outskirts of a village. Since that time the little campus has become surrounded by the manufacturing city of Waterville and hemmed in by highway, railroad and river. Though the present plant is considered adequate for the time being, the Colby trustees concluded, when they tried to formulate a long-range plan for expansion and improvement, that the present site could not be satisfactory even with the expenditure of large sums.

The Need Confirmed

This view received official confirmation in 1929 when a survey of higher education in Maine was made by a group of educational authorities from outside the State at the direction of Governor William Tudor Gardiner. The survey report said of Colby College:

If it is to continue to offer high-quality collegiate work, the limitations which the site and present buildings put upon its program of service must be removed. . . . The recommendation is that Colby College should move to a larger and more desirable site.

An ideal site for the new campus was found on a height known as Mayflower Hill, overlooking the city. A tract of some 600 acres was purchased by citizens of the community and presented to the college in 1931. A gift from a graduate made it possible to construct the campus drives and clear off the land. The approaching roads have been partly constructed by the city of Waterville, and a stretch connecting the campus with a direct route from the center of the city is now being built as a WPA project. Sewer and other service utilities are being laid.

J. Fredrick Larson, official advisory architect for the Association of American Colleges and architect for the recently completed International Students Union in Paris, as well as numerous college and university buildings in this country, was commissioned to execute plans for the new Colby. These have been drawn after extensive conferences with faculty committees.

The campus layout was carefully planned to further the academic functions and student life of the college, as well as to make the most of the interesting landscape possibilities of the site. The buildings will be of red brick and white trim, in the early American style.

The central and dominant structure is to be the library, which, it is hoped, will be erected as a memorial to Elijah Parish Lovejoy, a Colby graduate who was killed nearly a century ago because of his editorial crusade against slavery.

The Plans Described

The sloping green in front of the library will be flanked by two rows of classroom buildings, the sciences on one side and the humanities on the other. The chapel will be at one side and on a higher elevation.

Diagonally to the rear of the library will be the men's residence groups, comprising dormitories, fraternity houses and social union. The women's dormitories and union are to be on the opposite side of the main campus. The administration building and auditorium are to be conveniently placed near entrances to the campus from the city road. The athletic plant and playing fields will be in the rear of the men's housing units.

The plans allow for future expansion of the college, although it is intended to maintain the student body at the present 600 limit for the time being, and the construction work will begin whenever funds are at hand to erect the buildings necessary to accommodate a college of this size. No date has been set for the accomplishment of this goal.

President Franklin W. Johnson has announced that $3,000,000 will be needed for the new plant. Although Colby College has received a total of $1,148,688.88 in bequests during the last five depression years, it has been decided to keep this as a part of permanent endowment of the college and not use any of it for building purposes.

With the ability to grasp and to perceive that comes with age, one is apt to see a similarity and repetition of events that sets a pattern for life. The length of days is all too likely to be unbroken by sudden or unexpected events. Even more so, the college year, with its clear distinctions, same semester arrangements, fixed holidays, usual college events and activities, and same daily functions, tends to make the similarity more pronounced.

We of the senior class, however, have seen four years, each of which contained certain distinctions that set it off from the last. A recollection of the period 1959 to 1963 will likely show four years unlike any of the preceding and any that will follow.

We have seen the labor of many bear fruit in the form of two magnificent additions to the campus — the Bixler Music and Arts Building, and the Eustis Administration Building. We have seen a large part of the library set aside for extra, late-hour study purposes, as a result of student interest. Now we see the ground prepared for a new women's dormitory. The incentive given COLBY by the Ford Foundation will, we are sure, set the pattern for even more rapid growth.

Few could have been more fortunate in sharing four years of an ever improving and expanding entertainment. We have danced to the bands of Woody Herman, Richard Maltby and Urbie Green. We have spent many enjoyable weekends in person with Josh White, the Brothers Four, the Highwaymen, Dave Brubeck, and of course, our own Colby Eight and Colbyettes. Nor will we forget Judith Anderson, "Guys and Dolls," the Berlioz Requiem, the "The Time of Your Life," the one hundred car cavalcade to Maine, the Sesquicentennial Convocation with guest speakers Handlin, Peil, and Stanton, or the long but worthwhile trips following the East's top hockey teams.

We have, in fact, witnessed what may well be considered a revolution in the social and academic spheres. Ours was the year of the institution of the January Plan, as COLBY has been ever more aware of individual responsibility. We have seen the initiation of a senior honor system, one of the first of its kind in the United States. The increased awareness of social recognition also became a reality with the introduction of co-ed dining, increased class social functions, and plans for integrated judicial boards.

In short, we, the one-hundred-fiftieth class of COLBY COLLEGE, have seen four extremely interesting and rewarding years. These were made possible by our experiences, college facilities, and ever increasing resources.

History of the Year

March 1962 -

March 1963

The last few months of second semester fled quickly by toward finals, and then, at last, to summer vacation. The Colby Mules were cheered loudly into the E.C.A.C. semi-finals, and Jack Kelley was elected Coach of the Year by the National Collegiate Hockey Coaches Association. The last few games were watched with mixed feelings, for this was to be Kelley's last year as Coach of the Mules; in the fall he would head for his Alma Mater, Boston University.

Powder and Wig's production of "Guys and Dolls" was long to be remembered, as strains of "Luck Be A Lady" could be heard all the way through finals. In the spring, the group produced three other successful plays: Christopher Fry's "Phoenix Too Frequent;" George Bernard Shaw's "Dark Lady of the Sonnets;" and Anton Chekov's "Marriage Proposal." Another highlight of the season was Dame Judith Anderson, who played Media and Lady Macbeth at the Opera House.

A group of twelve Chilean students spent two weeks at COLBY in an experimental program in international living. The students attended classes, shared in extra-curricular activities, and noticed what they called the "amazing friendliness" of everyone at COLBY.

Gabrielson lectures in the spring included "French Politics and European Integration," by Professor Stanley Hoffman of Harvard; "The North Atlantic Community in the Perspective of American Foreign Policy," by Professor Henry Kissenger; and a lecture on "NATO and Western Defense," by Yale professor William Emerson. Mr. Amas Nath Pandeya, a visiting Professor of History spoke on "Two Decades of Indian History." Dr. Frankl, author of From Death Camp to Existentialism, the book of the year, was one of the most warmly welcomed lecturers in the history of COLBY. COLBY found itself just as proud to hear the Berlioz Requiem performed for the first time in Maine under the direction of Professor Re.

In spite of slightly rainy weather, a large force of students, rakes, hoes, and baskets were victorious over the winter's destruction on the annual Johnson Day. Greek Sing, likewise, was threatened by rain, and had to move from the Library steps into the Chapel; Tri-Delt and K.D.R. emerged victorious. Directly following Greek Sing came the faculty's not-so-Greek drama. President Strider in blue jeans cleaned up the Spa floor and chugged his beer at Onie's while other faculty members performed as graceful and leggy ballerinas; however, the standing ovation went to Alice.

Early in September, with the weather like that of midsummer, the eager class of 1966 arrived with copies of Dante's "Inferno" and Frankel's From Death Camp to Existentialism tucked in their crowded suitcases. They had the campus to themselves for just three short days of the traditional Freshman Week before the upper classmen swarmed upon them to begin Freshmen hazing.

Upper classmen were presented with the pleasant surprise of the elimination of the long and hectic registration, and before they knew it classes and the rush to the bookstore were in progress. Soon hour exams and papers were assigned, and those upperclassmen who thought they had grown used to the shortened semester were just as surprised as the freshmen.

The fall was full of all kinds of activities. Besides the traditional events, many special ones were added due to the Sesquicentennial Celebration and the Ford Foundation grant. September produced many exciting sports events, the successful activities fair, and the beginning of fraternity rushing. President Strider spoke at the All-College-Convocation and explained the meaning of the Ford Foundation Grant and the Sesquicentennial Year. Bob Gula presented a piano concert which began the series of Student Government sponsored lectures and concerts. A new co-ed lounge and long awaited co-ed dining room were opened.

Fall events included the Sesquicentennial Convocation with Oscar Handlin, Frank Stanton, and Gerard Piel as guest speakers. On Parent's Weekend the Phi Beta Kappa lecture featured the Irish writer and critic Sean O'Faolain. This lecture, a reply to C.P. Snow's "Two Cultures," was well attended by both students and parents who had just arrived wondering why we were too busy to write home. On the following day a luncheon for the parents preceded the Trinity football game at which the Homecoming Queen Candidates were presented. An evening of music was a welcome relaxation after the events of the day.

Although the white bear from Maine trampled upon the COLBY Mule, Homecoming was a success. Vickey Rubin made a charmingly vivacious queen, and Oscar Brand provided the traditional, yet in this case exciting Friday night Concert. Chi Omega tramped to victory in the float contest through the unexpected snow fall.

Powder and Wig provided much entertainment through the presentation of several successful plays. In "Julius Caesar," Dr. Suss and the drama department experimented with many technical innovations. "The Judge," written in the tradition of the Absurd Theater by faculty member Mr. Wees, and Edward Albee's first dramatic success, "The Zoo Story," incited spirited discussions in classrooms, the spa, and Onie's.

The book of the year, Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland, was another subject of discussion at COLBY. The opening witty and interesting Averill lecture on this book was given by Dr. Luther Evans, past librarian of Congress, who was responsible for the return of the original manuscript to England. Students sat in the aisles to hear Dr. Todrank's lecture given as if these were his final words to humanity. The Reverend W. N. Pittinger's "Christian Thought and Progress Philosophy," in which he advocated the adaptation of Christian tradition to the changed ways of the 20th century, was thoroughly enjoyed. Musical events warmly applauded were a performance by the Abbey Singers, the Julliard String Quartet and a Christmas concert by the COLBY Symphony and Glee Club. This concert afforded a momentary glimpse of approaching Christmas through the blurred eyes of the students who anticipated the impending disaster of finals.

Lectures, Music and the eternal student

January Plan, with books, books, and more books, sped by. Those students who remained on campus found the month filled with all kinds of events. Lectures and concerts were plentiful, and a wide range of topics were covered. Those who were not already on crutches or wearing slings made frequent trips to Sugarloaf or took advantage of the skiing lessons on campus.

Toward the end of the month Winter Carnival was held. Many of the students who had been studying off campus returned for this weekend which included the annual ice show, all-college dance, Saturday afternoon concert featuring the Tarriers, an excellent folk singing group, and the Ette-Eight concert on Sunday. Margie Briggs, Delta Kappa Epsilon's candidate was the charming queen of the weekend.

After Carnival, Mr. Trott did a booming business in typing paper, as students wrote and typed furiously until semester break began. Second semester found the campus was covered with as much snow as many of us had ever seen. We quickly discovered that this, our "long semester" only gave us one week more than our short first semester; and every one settled down at once with their piles of new books.

Looking forward into spring we could see ahead of us several more Powder and Wig productions including "The Time of Your Life," and "Three Penny Opera;" several concerts and lectures, Greek Sing, and Campus Chest, and Johnson Day . . . . then onward to comps, commencement, and the calm of a summer vacation.

Seated: B. J. Campbell, C. Peters, S. Curi, C. Winslow. Standing: J. Brennan, D. Westgate, W. Dowden, C. Ingerman.

Under the leadership of Susan Curi, editor, and Carlton Winslow, business manager, the members of the ORACLE staff have attempted to paint an accurate picture of events during 1962-1963. The most important innovations are in honor of this the sesquicentennial year. The special section and the introductory "Change and the Challenge" consist of student contributions dealing with the past, present, and future of Colby. It is hoped that the new sections will stimulate student awareness and action.

As Richard Pious, Susan Schaeff, and Neal Ossen hand their positions as editor-in-chief, managing editor, and business manager to Norman Dukes, Nancy Saylor, and Richard Geltman, respectively, it is expected that the ECHO will continue to fulfill its function as a NEWS-paper.

The Library Associates, an organization designed to promote interest in English and American Literature, is composed of both student and faculty members. The group sponsors four lectures per year. The "Colby Library Quarterly" is sent to alumni, thereby keeping them in closer contact with the school.

Service Organizations

Student Government is the parent organization of all student activities at Colby. It administers regulations for student life, and acts as a sounding board for campus opinion. From the student activities fee, Student Government distributes some $30,000 annually to the various campus organizations.

A member of the United States National Student Organization, Colby Student Government is composed of four officers, a social chairman, and a U.S.N.S.A. co-ordinator who are elected in the spring of each year, a representative from each service organization, and nineteen student and student-faculty committees.

Under the leadership of President J. Wesley Miller, vice-president Peter Archer, secretary Marsha Palmer, and treasurer Kim Kimball, Student Government sponsored many traditional and several new activities. An essay contest for freshmen on the subject, "Dante's Vision of Hell and Its Relevance in the World of Today," was held early in the fall. The institution of a concert and lecture series for the purpose of promoting scholarship, taking cognizance of local talent, and helping to raise the academic tone of the college proved highly successful. Lecturers included Dan Traister, Wes Miller and Steve Schoeman, those who gave concerts were Bob Gula, Shannon McCune, Carlos Montaya, Mr. Kenton Stewart, and the Chapel Choir.

Other projects undertaken by the Student Government in the past year included a revision of some of the social rules of the college, surveys which were taken in an attempt bring to the foreground student opinion on pertinent issues, and steps were taken to increase class activities, and thus insure a "class unity."

Student Government decided in the fall to participate in the U.S.N.S.A. Academic Freedom Project. This project involved the careful analysis of student rights presently in force on campus. Work was undertaken to obtain a formal, written, guaranteed bill of student rights and responsibilities from the administration. Special committees were formed for this purpose.

The social committee proposed rules and special programming for the new co-ed lounge and co-ed dining room; these were made successful by the efforts of the committee. Social events, on the whole, became more frequent, as did student interest in campus problems.

Inter-Fraternity Council

Seated: B. Petrakis, N. Butler, W. Witherell, B. Henkel. Standing: T. MacMullen, R. Drewes, J. Dolian, R. Metzler, W. Cottle, J. Speers, J. Crawford.

Pan-Hellenic

Seated: N. McCune, J. Eielson, B. Carr. Standing: J. Dignam, S. Tozier, C. Wulling, J. Martin, C. McConnell.

The Interfraternity Council, representative of the ten fraternities on campus, acts as a judiciary body which sets rules and regulations particularly in regard to rushing, and acts as a discussion group for the purpose of solving common problems. It provides any needed information about fraternities or fraternity life.

The Panhellenic Council, composed of two delegates from each of the four sororities, directs sorority activities, controls rush, distributes all-sorority notices and, in conjunction with the Interfraternity Council, participates in Homecoming Weekend, Greek Sing, and philanthropic projects. In the future, the officers plan to re-evaluate the constitution and by-laws, and to hold an area workshop for improving rush period.

Women's Student League

Seated: J. Milner, P. French, D. Emerson, D. Cobb. Standing: J. Rulon, C. Lederman, M. Phillips, K. Nissen, L. Haskell, D. Mattison, C. McConnell, B. Read, B. Gordon.

The Women's Student League Executive Board, which consists of representatives elected from the various units of the women's division, is responsible for establishing a minimum of rules for successful group living and for maintaining a maximum of individual and group responsibility. The form of government under which the board operates is the Colby System, an honor system whereby each girl is responsible for acting honorably herself and for encouraging similar action on the part of others. It holds regular meetings which any Colby girl is invited to attend and voice her opinions in the formation and administration of its policies. In this way the League acts in its capacity as a sounding board for student opinion and as a link between the administration, faculty, and students.

Under the leadership of President Polly French, the Board was very active in attempting to extend the individual responsibility of each woman student. The Senior Honor Dorm was successfully continued, and several rules governing the underclass women were revised. Among the events which were sponsored by the League were the Annual Rummage Sale, the Spring Banquet at which students enjoyed a program of folk music, and the festive Christmas Banquet. In addition to these events, the League sponsored the Women's Handbook, and a Last Lecture series wherein the lecturer spoke as if this were the last lecture he would ever be able to give. Early in the fall, the League sponsored its annual campus workshop at which a wide representation of students, faculty, and administration were present to discuss current issues pertinent to campus life. The theme of the workshop was "Colby Going Forward." Such problems as the college newspaper, the fraternity system, and student-faculty relationships were discussed.

Men's Judiciary Seated: J. Fredrickson, T. Dakin, R. Drewes. Standing: N. Butler, J. Salisbury, N. Dukes, J. O'Connor, G. McLaughlin, E. Spitzer.

Women's Judiciary Seated: L. Sterns, B. Read, E. Sewall, A. Quirion. Standing: D. Brown, H. Sewall, J. Martin, B. Buis, K. Beganny, P. French, A. Owens.

The Women's Judiciary Board serves for the purpose of hearing cases which involve serious infraction of the Colby System, and for counselling and giving corrective measures. It is also responsible for continually re-evaluating the Colby System, and for proposing corrections and changes when they are necessary. Its ultimate aim is to see that the standards of the Colby System are upheld.

The Board consists of three members elected from each of the upperclasses, two freshmen, the Student League president, and the chief justice, an appointed position held this year by Barbara Read.

The Men's Judiciary Board, consisting of three men elected from the freshman class each spring to serve for the next three years. The chief justice, this year Tim Dakin, is elected each spring from the representatives of the current junior class.

The Board hears cases involving any infraction of Student Government regulations or college rules. Its recommendations are referred to and acted upon by the dean of men. The Judiciary Board also serves to counsel those students before it, and to eliminate the cause for infractions of the rules of the college.

Colby Eight

Colbyettes

The Colby 8, led by Cy Ludwig and Ben Beaver, is having a busy year. In the fall they sang at several of the campus events such as Homecoming, Parents' Weekend, and various banquets. They also traveled to Boston to sing at a dinner put on by the State of Maine. With several new arrangements done by members of the group, they have a large variety of music at their command. Spring plans include trips to Michigan, St. Lawrence, and the University of New Hampshire.

The big event for the Colbyettes this year was the making of their first record, an LP album featuring a variety of music. Twelve of the Colbyettes of both years are featured in the album. In the fall the group also added Ruth Kelleher, Diane Burr, Beth Adams, Connie Midworth, Sharon Lord, and Karen Nissen as new members. This year the girls will sing at the University of New Hampshire song festival as well as at many of the campus events. New officers have been selected with Joan Phillips as the leader, and Jane Anderson as Secretary.

Singing under the direction of Professor Peter Re, the Colby College Glee Club has had a very busy and successful year. The group sang at college convocations and presented various concerts throughout the year. In the fall they performed at the Lovejoy Convocation and took part in the Combined Colby Community Orchestra and Glee Club Concert. At that time the Glee Club presented The Cherubic Hymn by Howard Hanson, The Christmas Anthem by Henry Purcell and Jubilate Deo by Giovanni Gabrieli. The Glee Club also presented a benefit concert for the Coburn Classical Institute Scholarship Fund and a wonderful selection of Christmas songs at their Annual Christmas Carol Concert. The Glee Club also recorded a tape for C.B.S. radio and a video-tape for a Maine television channel. Among the many pieces performed by the Glee Club were Glory to God on the Highest by Randall Thompson, O Clap Your Hands by Vaughan Williams, and Jubilate Deo by Henry Purcell. Throughout second semester the Glee Club continued to perform at convocations and presented several concerts. Officers of the Glee Club this year were Cy Ludwig, President; Peter Vogt, Business Manager; Susan Ferries, Women's Secretary and Lawrence Schulze, Men's Secretary. Martha Farrington and Nancy Pendleton were Glee Club Librarians.

The Concert Choir participated in all the activities of the Glee Club and went on a concert tour in the spring. Their main stops were at the Town Hall in New York and at various dinners held in conjunction with the Ford Foundation Fund Raising Drive.

The Chapel Choir this year was under the direction of Mr. Kenton Stewart. Besides singing at the regular morning services at the chapel, the Chapel Choir performed a Christmas Concert on December 6. The concert included a selection of Christmas Carols, a reading by Chaplain Clifford Osborne, Ron Nelson's The Christmas Story. Chaplain Osborne narrated and Cy Ludwig and Peter Vogt were the soloists.

The institution of the Colby Folk Song Society this year has added to the appreciation of music of the life and lore of the people here at Colby and its informal approach has met with evident success. The objective of the group has been to allow the members of the Colby community an opportunity to sing, listen to, and learn more about folk music. With this objective in mind the club has provided meetings once a week and hootenannies in the co-ed lounge. The group also arranged for co-ordinate hootenannies and concerts with the University of Maine, University of Massachusetts, Northeastern, Boston University, Boston College and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The Society has begun a lending library of folk song records and magazines and large private collections of members have been made available. In the new Folk Song Society listeners as well as performers are welcome and all are invited to participate in the discussions and singing of these selections from a most interesting branch of music. Officers of the Society this year were Co-Presidents Jerry Shapiro and Gordon Bowie, Secretary Lois Lyman, and Treasurer Nancy Green.

The Colby College Band under the direction of Dr. Ermanno Comparetti had an exciting year of football games and concerts. Assisted by Mr. Kenton Steward, Dr. Comparetti directed the band at a fall concert on November 17. The band also played at the football games and at the concert for Parents' Weekend. Joint concerts were arranged with the University of New Hampshire and the University of Vermont to be held in the spring. Colby was also host to the 1963 Inter-Collegiate Band Festival on April 12 and 13. All the college bands in New England were invited to participate under the direction of Paul Laval, guest conductor.

The Colby Community Symphony Orchestra, composed of students, faculty, and musicians from the Waterville area celebrated its 20th anniversary this year. Under the direction of Dr. Comparetti the group played at the Combined Colby Community Orchestra and Glee Club Christmas Concert on December 2nd. The program included the Overture to Didon by Niccolo Piccinni, The Magic Harp by Franz Schubert, The Overture to Corialaneus by Ludwig van Beethoven, Trumpet Tune by John Stanley and Noel Suisse by Louis C. Daquin, and Prelude, Choral and Fugue by J. S. Bach. The orchestra also accompanied the Glee Club.

The Young People's Concert was presented by the Orchestra at the Opera House on March 17 and the annual Spring Concert took place on April 28. Virginia Rubattan was visiting piano soloist.

Among the most enjoyable pieces performed by the orchestra this year were Concerto in C Minor No. III for Piano and Orchestra by Beethoven, Symphony in E Flat Major No. 39 by Mozart, Corialaneus Overture by Beethoven, Fingal's Cave Overture by Mendelssohn and Le Carnaval des Animaux by Saint Saens. The final event in the Orchestra's busy and successful season was the Commencement Concert on June 9th.

First row: B. Haines, J. Wincze, J. Manegold. Second row: L. Aranovitch, C. Epstein, S. Jackson, M. Brown.

This year, as in the past, the Colby Outing Club enjoyed an active and successful schedule of events. Under the capable Forslund, Jeannette Fannin, and Midge Walton, COC engaged in such activities as mountain climbing, skiing, sailing, and square dancing. COC is designed to acquaint Colby students with the many recreational opportunities in Maine; members of the Katahdin Council make each of the various activities enjoyable and instructive.

The ski council, headed by Peggy Chandirection of Donn Springer, aided by Karenler and Terry Rogers, keeps the Colby ski slope in condition throughout the year. Next fall, they hope to install a T-bar on the hill. During the winter season the ski council sponsors buses to Sugarloaf in Kingfield, Maine. This winter, Warren Miller enthralled Colby skiers with his excellent movie, "Around the World on Skis."

The Woodsman's Council sponsors the Woodsmen's Meet at Homecoming, which this past fall was won by Kappa Delta Rho. Every fall the council participates in meets with other schools, including Maine and Middlebury. The Woodsmen are responsible for a certain stretch in the Appalachian Mountain chain, which they must maintain each year. Led by Marty Dodge, the Woodsmen enjoyed a very busy year.

This fall, the Yacht Council got off to a fine start with three new sailboats. With Dave Westgate at the helm, the council participated in several meets in the fall, competing with such schools as the Coast Guard Academy, Middlebury, and Boston University.

The trees were soft on that warm September day, as 63 entered and prepared for the stay
The trees have aged, and so have we; watch out world, we laughingly come to greet thee.

Memories are part of the past; ours will surely linger and last
But what have we done that you should remember so; what haven't we done we answer in toto?

For this was the time to grow a little taller-study, share, make ego just a bit smaller.
It's done say we of 63; as we remember these years and begin to flee-out of one

At Colby College in Waterville, Maine
Tri-Delts didn't grimace when Spring brought rain.
Instead — a Greek Sing trophy they did gain.

Spring turned to summer with mittens to knit
And on seventeen pledges they did fit.
Shortly thereafter a challenge arose
Our hockey game with the ATO's

To highlight Parent's Weekend festivities
Tri-Delt sponsored a breakfast for the folks and their kiddies
Winter brought Delta Week and service projects galore
With renewed enthusiasm for the semester in store.

The tables were turned and come what may
The girls did the asking on Sadie Hawkin's Day.
It shouldn't be hard for you to guess
That '63 spelled success
And special thanks for this are due
To the able leadership of Annie Q.

To all the seniors — good-bye and good cheer
Here's to '64 — another great year.

Alpha Delta Pi

Alpha Delta, 1915

1963 has seen the Alpha Delts through another year packed full with rushing for a class of wonderful, hardworking pledges, a closed party veiled in the mysterious aura of Arabian Nights, several spaghetti feeds at the Outing Club Lodge, knitting mittens for charity, selling Katydids, and enjoying a special Christmas treat given by the alumnae. Two of our biggest projects were working on our blue and white stork for the Homecoming float and creating a bust of Franco for snow sculpture to win the plaque for the second year in a row. We wish our Seniors fond remembrances of the wonderful times experienced here in Alpha Delta Pi:

Pi — with her gavel in hand and forms under her arm

Cindy — pulling her sacred rug away from all dirty feet and tenderly putting it safely out of reach

Mary-jo — buying a long string of 1-cent stamps to equal all the out-dated four's

Prill — playing President for a day

Fran — reclining on a lion skin rug, sporting her jeweled decorations, and giggling madly

Dee-Dee — piling twenty kids bound for the outing club into her car

Pooch — writing her thoughts with her knitting needles

Cathy — riding across the burning sands plaintively crying-O-o-o-eee-ay, ay-oi-oi

Pat — lucky enough to spend all her vacations in California

Diana — tidying up the chem labs every afternoon

Arlene — who can't help but know one psalm by heart

Charis — with that quiet, winning smile

Good luck to them all!

Delta Kappa Epsilon

XI, 1846

Will the DKE house ever again have a class as athletic, intellectual, and poised as the class which will be passing through the halls of XI for the last time this spring? Who could possibly replace the hulk of "Ibber-Half-A-Man" French, or the intellectual aspirations of Pen "Bisquits" Williamson! And socially, is there anyone who could match the individual successes of Steve "Squeaks" Weeks — especially with former homecoming queens — or Phil "Chipmunk" Allison with the skating set? We didn't see too much of Stamatis "Poustis" Tsitsopolous who spent all his time trying to learn to swear in English or listening to Greek records (one speed too slow) on his roommate's record player. Then there is always Neil "Buts" Butler, our IFC president emeritus, who disappeared for a week-end which ended in a merger with the Pan-Hell president. Peter "Sperry Factor" Vogt will need a moving van to get his trash collection out of his room. For, during his three-year residence in the house, Sperry has collected everything from rusty broken swords to fake bananas and "fairies."

Socially we seemed in constant conflict with the Dean for minor incidents — such as poor guest treatment at our front door, and the sudden appearance of our flag on the school flag pole. Fortunately we weathered all storms, snow or otherwise, and came out with nary a broken window — as did a housemother.

As we pick up our belongings, and prepare to make our fortunes outside the halls of XI, we wish the undergrads the best of luck in trying to match our astounding achievements of repladody.

Under the able leadership of President Bill Nussbum, Chi of Zeta Psi began another good year. Andy and "Uncle Barney" led our rushing effort under the all-encompassing eye of "Metz." When all was said and done, and "Jake's" spectacular Homecoming show was enjoyed by everyone on campus, we had twenty new all-Americans. Although the new boys enjoyed their few childish pranks, they soon learned how to co-operate, due to the heavy right hand of our Shawmut

Indian. "Coach" led our football team in another good season and, although our basketball team is made up of rookies, our big four bowlers have the league sewed up. We have much to remember this year and our seniors by how half the house has faced death riding with "Pee-Pee"-how Nuss got smashed on half a fifth of water-how Lunti has forsaken his younger ways-how "Moe" enjoyed his January Plan — how "Bull" enjoyed New Years — how the "Duke" was so sincere—the time "Flintstone" got a date — the wonderful world of Troy Donahue-Metz and his math courses — "Low" as Fatima-Coughlan and his 5-day weekends, Wilson and his 5-day romances—"Sniktaw" picked off actually holding hands at Carnival—the new Frankie Zaembs' apartment parties and "Stitches" useless ski trips—Stew's off-campus Jan Plan—Steve's weekly pilgrimages to Maine. "Jake's" really big shows — "Lunch" Winters The late Father Crane — Johnson helping to build the snow sculpture, the "coach and his Jan Plans — We only hope the new twenty will fill in the color we're losing.

We were all in a pretty tight pinch this year but all hands were up for it. J. Fred who majors in winter carnival, had another great semester as social chairman. El Zitobes played matador in the hall, Stueie Kauie found the mailbox to his liking, and hid it among his "dead rats," Tom Carney looked at all the snowflakes the entire night of the first snowstorm, and Toshi (made in Japan) "two car" exploited the Crescent and broke boards. (Sloth tells us that the best way to get points is to study in the Library.)

The house band sounded like a thousand and one electric guitars, so dale was not entirely frustrated. Ybloc and Willy helped out Tom and Braglet when one or two fell by the wayside.

Comps came and Seniors went. First we said goodbye to Cuffy — "We clap farewell to O.K. Cuff Back at seven, no good stuff; Throw a bottle, throw a can, And . . . lunch!

J. Taylor (Parlay-vous Fransis) Frazee, another old guarder, left us his card but not his red garters. Donn Springer left us, still smirking after that coupe of Ruthie's in December. Kim is moving with "that certain feeling" onward but mostly skyward. (No more Captain Video, general?) Pete (We have only 3½ pladges!) Ketchum shed a tear as he passed the ATO, clutching treasured shots of Vashte. Pete has run off to his beloved. (No, not Hilda.) Tschbull departs, too, going to be a Peace Corpsman in Africa. Glahn the old sage, leaves us, his head more pointed than his arguments. Corbs (dimples) grinned, packed and ended up in the Crescent after his long journey home. Howie "Cardinal" Clarke (Class '49 . . . '51 . . . ?) leaves us one wife now, and two coupes later. Ralph (I give up you tell me) Noel is still trying . . . I love Tom; he's a marine. (Warning! Don't turn your back on scarface!) Has anybody seen the count?

Captain B. G. was the only one to strike out at Bone's. Bonny's handled many rocks this year. Swat and Needle held many a soiree at The Club. Word has it Charlie's still in the closet while the Crow's pecking at the door. As usual Zeke drove in neutral all year. Swaze and Wink recently acquired a credit card at Gero's. Hook's bringing home the bacon. Rafferty passed the buck for joy, while Friendly Neighborhood Derr made a pit stop. Q bait went straight as Al and Obe watched the birdie. Freddy Fullback picks his holes. Flapper's been a great stickhandler while Sugarfoot kicked in a few. Narce, fairest of them all, was snowed on the dopes. Pollock switched from Queenie to Yeanie. Nobs bought 'em by the carton as the Buzzard cleaned up after every party. Ross lost money in the coke machine. Rembrandt slept while Byrnesapoo, B. J. and the Purple Tool joined the cycle club. Whit shot par at the Indiana c.c. Kitten found out that the Bear has a Teel. Nails was pounded on the head. Zeus and First National retired early as Grondy proceeded to make the hat trick. Matt the Rat was snowed in . . . and in . . . and in. Mono lives at the Harriet for a penny.

September of 1962 saw the KDRs return to the hill looking forward to another good year and we were not denied. As usual we were ready to conquer the campus again. Bruce won his battle with Bowdoin and got himself a "Winslow Girl." Vivki was an easy victor and she gave us our second Homecoming Queen in three years. We won the Woodsman's meet lead by captain Dodge. Pap did his best to ruin rushing (Dappers and Smoker), but Ken's — golden tongue — emerged victorious and we wound up with our most spirited pledge class since the "Bad Guys." Alex's hungry eyes drew pity from in-laws and he financed a ring. Robbie finally decided to pin the sugar woman instead of Libby. Ted proved himself on the gridiron and Lawrie, preteris turned housemother, led us well as our president.

As January Plan gave way to Skiing and poker, Worm personally took it upon himself to support Peter Webber . . . Olney and Martv brought new pinmates into the house. Bob, Buck, Jay, Al, and Shep made the Dean's List while the brothers compiled the highest scholastic average ever. The hockey and basketball teams were well respected and the best ever. As second semester started, Lawrie released us from his apron strings and placed us in the able hands of the Candyman. Once again, we were glad to have Brother Garab a permanent fixture at all parties.

As we look back upon the year how can we forget: Charley, our haberdasher from Keyna; Yogi's all-year thermal underwear; Lobster's social dot; the world's only paraplegic owl; the Guy's counter-whirles; Chicken reconciling his bank balance; Ivaxio's war with Snoopy; "Har-Don;" Fur's Buffalo bowling shirt; Morgan's mule-kick's; Okie's love-lives; Tripper's enthusiasm for everything; Foxman's mourning; Skipper starting to speak; Tom's unbelievable rushing; Screamer's two-timing; Mur selling pots; Caesar's voice; McMahom's 15 straight hours at Onies; Peter beating David; David beating Peter; Maine's only "Jap;" Buck's bragging; the Junior lounge; and Jav's celestial pilgrimages.

Next year we must do without: Dan's horror shows, Terry's sleepwalking, Battv's aimiable ways, Paul's playboys, Toto's toga, Olnev's leaving, Ken's presidency and Grandfather Barr.

Best of luck to our parting Seniors.

The Tuberaceous Tau Delts returned in September holding in their clammy hands a Bixler Bowl full of beer, pins, and potential for '62-'63. As first semester dictator, a sweatshirt-less "Moose" welcomed 23 baby Taus into our quasi-national establishment. As Custos, "Sweets" not only cleaned up all the noise, but cleaned up the floors with his trusty bottle of Phi-so-hex. Gollinger found things very exciting in New Haven — or was it Hartford? "Wee-ah-well-ah' Willie" finished his machine-like career, fell down several times and got pinned, "Mole" dug in downtown and literally terrorized the city and all its defenseless females. Horrible, hideous "Corp," with his bubbly personality and the Davis Cup Winner got pinned. The applications filed by Jess and Duba to study abroad in a Gav Pree, looked rather on the dark side. What???? Who is Paul Goldberg — Where's Ray — Here comes Grossman.

Alas, it appears as if super-sensitive "Stinky" is gonna flunk. "Brutus" changed for a while, from snowing girls and snowed his way into presidency second semester. Hervev Baker, and Robbins, they . . . got pinned. Every day was a nice one for Max, especially that bright one when he and Vi almost got pinned . . . Seriously, Ma Rich, you've been great. ## Pi Lambda Phi

With the September outing, the Pi Lams commenced a year full of vigor, enthusiasm, and achievement. Morgs and gimpy engineered two big victories at Homecoming and Winter Carnival. Eric yelled, "Keeck dee ball" while Adolf and Jean Paul led the Colby soccer team, and Arnie fielded our highest scoring interfraternity football team. Nineteen pledges added to our spirited number. Poole led our first hockey team, Master led basketball, and Jockarnie, the bowling team. The pledges captured Rex Mary and left him to the girls. We adopted a Kenyan orphan while Frenchie led us to floor scrubbing at Sister's hospital. The Christmas party and Mandy's surprise added spirit to the air while Art brought Winnie into the brotherhood. Our endeavors increased, but our scholastic average remained high. The old gave way to the new and we regrettably said goodbye to our venerable six-year man Tom Kat. Bob relieved Mary from the high command as Mark led our academically riddled pledges down the straight and narrow. To our seniors Mary, Ted, Merrill, Kirk, Niel, Doolie, Don, Dave, and Chet, we wish the best of luck.

This will likely be known as the "year of milestones" when future A.D.'s read the Chapter history. How can we forget the way that Pebble turned into a lock (and so did George)? Charlie planted a new lawn while Kit and Dixie blessed it. We all spent more time than ever at the girl's dorms with Raggs as a chaperone. Woody put on post-party exhibitions while he studied astronomy. We added another Sears and Varney rejoiced. Wiley dated a moose and Shep attained the size of one. During one of Tom's lectures on racial toleration, we pledged Dreg-a-leg. Jerry impressed us with parental emulation and Kosra took his advice. Ned and Dick O. Sanj-and so did Fish when he wasn't at Forkam. Jack walked the "straight and narrow" under the influence of Bill and Eric. When Dusty screamed from the third floor, he was echoed by Ricketts, Pete and Gene on second, Pete on the first floor and Phil and Ed in the basement. Hanz kept putting money in the candy machine but it was empty. Tim struggled with Dr. Suss' speech course while Jim struggled with his uke. Hodsdon and Rand vegetated and the motto "an apple a day keeps the house away" rang loud and clear on third.

Doors

How many doors have you opened
That you would close from the inside
If only now you could?
Annoyed by warmth, you wanted fresh air
And let in an everlasting draft.

There is in and out.

A threshold is for crossing either way;
It is not a place to live.
Some have the strength to pass it;
Others only think they do.
You have made your camp outside
And you must build yourself a fire.
Each man brings his own light.
If not, his share is darkness
And a chill that grasps his being
Til the very core is palsied.

Ah yes, I ask again —
How many doors would you re-enter now
If only you hadn't locked them?

Barbara Kreps '64

Fireside Chat

Leaves are flapping together
Side on side
Veinless applause from yellowed hands
Feet on a dirt road thud
Brass plates untreed crash
Out tunes of glory
Bare branch, bare sky, bare bodies
Bleak winter.

Espatriate of Soapdetergent

I came across him lying beneath a tree
So black, its myriad leaves a'rippling o'er his calm, Attempting to rouse him. Tranquility was he!
Man, Adam, from the Garden and misplaced 'mid world of Automobile.
He came here from his soap-detergent home.
He lives in highlands near the sky. He spoke
To me of "Home," still remembered. "A colored-glass cave,"
He said, "A prowl with fierce and cunning bi-peds."
My home now! He told me of his voyage across
Two seas, afraid of finding not foothills but only
Man's puffy machine-breath o'er floating white caked mounds
Of sweat: of finding just another Automobileland. He Was looking for his Garden; N'er lost, nor seen, nor heard.
The talk in Automobileland was merely of man's machines
I could not understand him, though he had the same two arms
And same two legs as I — I spoke of automobiles.
"How could you leave your True Home;" "Lad," said he,
"I live with this tree and think from in this ground."
I, a mere babe still in adolescence, then thought him mad.

But now, I live as that tree and sense from in
That ground and feel winter on my rough-bark, shining-grass skin.
I feel summer on my frozen hands, and autumn on my budding fingertips.
I too have since left that world of crinkled motley green;
After our meaningless meeting. My only neighbors are Life and Death.
We three live close by one another and never Wander too far from our hill. My friends are Silver, when she rises
On her inky blanket; and Gold, a dawning at my hut each morning. I live
With Snow and Goat. I know where I'll spend my eternity
When this last summer has passed — Earth, God's Garden; shielded
By these hills from Satan's growling automobile.

Poem

I want to squeeze milk out of cheese, swash an ocean of wine and still be able to walk up a church isle with reverence.

I want to put my arms around a tree and break off the trunk and the leafy branches and run down a hill carrying the tree.

I want to look into someone's eyes long enough to understand them.

I want to take pleasure in the sweetest humblest, small sound and the loudest brassiest bong.

The words slip and fade in writing; will not stay in place.

I want to — all is against me — not put down words, but physical objects with feel, color, and smell.

When I get out into life, I want to breathe deep great gasps of it, tear a shred of blue from the sky

instead of walking down a narrow hall with all the doors closed, where there is a thin black line absolutely straight on the floor, and you place one foot just in front of the other, all the way down.

I want to murder one who wrongs me, and then bring him back to life and break the bread with him, because he's only human and so am I.

When one puts up, when one, when you start to talk to one and he first jumps down a well so that you can hardly hear what he's saying, for the echoes are so confusing, and then he jumps into a pudding and refuses to speak . . . I want to reach in and pull him out, but I'm afraid if I could it would be too much to stand.

1962

For the seventh straight year Colby won the Maine state championship with an impressive 5-1 record. The season was finished with an overall record of 11 and 9. After losing 8 of the first 11 games, Coach Winkin's team rebounded for a fine season. The Mules overran state competition, winning five games in a row after dropping the series opener to Bates.

Ken Stone's fine pitching sparked the team throughout the season. Stone compiled a 4-0 record. Along with Mike Knox, Bob Glennon, Bruce Waldman and Bill Waldeyer, Ken was selected All-Maine. Jim Bridgeman received honorable mention.

Varsity Football

The 1962 Football season saw the arrival of a new coaching staff headed by John Simpson and assistant Ken Weinbel.

The team arrived, as usual, in late August to begin a rigorous training schedule. They were in top condition in a few weeks as was shown in a pre-season scrimmage victory over the University of Vermont coached by Colby's former head coach Bob Clifford.

The opening game of the season at Norwich was a disappointing 22 to 19 defeat for Colby.

After losing their first game of the season by such a close margin the Mules were determined to win their first home game, but were again defeated in the last minute of play by a strong University of New Hampshire aggregation.

Highly rated Tufts downed Colby the following week 28 to 6.

The Mules went away for the weekend only to lose to a spirited Springfield team. Colby outplayed Springfield in almost every department but were on the short end of every break.

On a sunny Parents Weekend, Colby lost to Trinity in a hard fought contest which cost Colby many injuries.

Homecoming weekend against arch rival

Bowdoin saw the Mules downed 13-12. This weekend was marked by a foot of snow. This was another heartbreaking loss in the last few seconds of play.

The Colby squad which by now was injury ridden, traveled to Orono and lost its second game of the Maine State Series to a powerful Black Bear Eleven.

The last game of the season saw a spirited Colby Team defeat Bates in a driving rain at Lewiston. The Mules were underdogs in this contest but showed the same spirit that they displayed throughout the season.

Although the season wasn't a successful one on the record books, it was successful as far as desire and team spirit was concerned. Not once during the tough schedule did the Mules quit and their determination paid off in a rewarding victory over Bates.

Co-Captains Charlie Carey and Herman "Binky" Smith are to be congratulated for the fine leadership they showed this fall. Seniors Dick Bonalewicz, Bob Whitehouse, Dave Cox, Carl Stinson, and Bill Olsen will be missed in the coming season.

"Don't just stand there, help me!" cries Colby's Bob Whitehouse.

Binky Smith rolls for more yardage.

Bruce Waldman grabs ball from Bowdoin.

Goodwin is hit hard by U.N.H.

"One more man and I've got it made."

Basketball 1962-63

Lee Williams' squad opened with a flourish. The Mules came through with a blistering second half to stop strong St. Michaels, then turned in traditional rival Maine's Black Bears. A Scrappy, well-drilled Bates team topped Colby in overtime, and three nights later the Mules lost to Bowdoin in a point seat-squirmers.

Following an impressive victory over Brandeis, Colby dropped five straight to Adelphi, Iona and Amherst away and to Brown and Maine in Bangor's Downeast Classic in December. The Mules avenged the Maine loss, pulling out a one-point decision early in January at Orono.

D. Oberg Drives for layup against BU.

J. Stevens Battles for rebound.

A fourteen-point rally upset high-flying St. Anselm's at the field house, but the Mules stumbled four nights later against New Hampshire in Durham. January 19, was an important night. Colby playing host to Bowdoin, played the role too well. The Polar Bears won 69-56 and increased their chances for the State Series title.

Losses to Coast Guard and Assumption preceded the Mules' evening out the score against Bates with a 70-63 victory. BU proved too strong, though the Colby five played their best game of the season. The Terriers had to come from behind to win. Powerful Northeastern, one of the East's best quintets, rolled to a 79-61 triumph on their home floor.

Ken Stone, averaging 20 points and 15 rebounds per game, continues to pace State Series competitors in both departments. The junior's best effort of the season was a 31 point total against B.U. Ken Federman, a junior scored 30 against Brandeis.

The Mules finished out the season with a tremendous burst of steam beating Trinity, Bates and the University of Maine. They dropped a close game to top-ranked Springfield and were eliminated from State Series Competition by Bowdoin at Brunswick. A record of 5-4 gave the Mules a second place finish in the States Series.

Prospects for next year are bright. Coach Lee Williams doesn't lose a single man from this year's squad and can look forward to great performance from a well-balanced and experienced team. Capt.-elect Ken Stone, who led the team in scoring and rebounding returns with Ken Federman. Returning lettermen, besides these two are Don Oberg, John Stevens, Larry Dyrhberg, John Gibbons, John McNabb, Charlie Eck and Bob Byrne.

John Mechem out sticks Boston College.

At the start of this season a year of rebuilding lay ahead for Colby's new coach Charlie Holt. At the pre-season annual sports press luncheon Holt pointed out that he hoped no one would compare this season's team with the one that finished such a brilliant campaign last year. He stated that he hoped to have a representative team and maybe surprise a few teams that Colby will face this season.

Not only was Jack Kelley, last season's U.S. Coach-of-the Year, gone but also missing were All-Americans Ron Ryan and Frank Stephenson, All-East defensemen Don Young and Murray Daley plus Captain-elect Elwyn Duchrow. The loss of these players left Colby with a weakened team. This season's team was made up of Sophomores and Juniors, many with little varsity experience. Dave Sveden and Jack Mechem greatly reinforced the starting line.

When the season opened against the University of New Brunswick it became clear that even though we were weak there was no absence of the necessary desire to win. Early in the season

Sophomore goalie Larry Sawler displayed to the fans an ability to more than handle the job. Until the defense jelled together Sawler's ability was heavily taxed, but game after game, he came up with a brilliant effort.

As the season progressed, the team became more unified. The Sophomores developed and by the end of the season the team finally hit its peak, displaying a far greater potential for next year. The presence of Bruce Davey and Jon Oates, both Sophomores, will provide a necessary boost in the next two years.

The team finished the season with three wins in its last four starts, upsetting both B.U. and Northeastern in the process. Although ending with a 7-14 record, one can readily state that the team that finished the season was far superior to the one that started. The rebuilding has been accomplished and a fine nucleus will be back for the next season.

Coach Holt accomplished what he set out to do, and he should be congratulated.
