A geometric diagram of a cube with internal lines and spheres. The cube is drawn in a 3D perspective. Inside the cube, there are several spheres (nodes) connected by lines. There are spheres at each of the eight corners of the cube. Additionally, there are spheres at the midpoints of the edges. Lines connect these spheres, forming a complex internal structure. The text is overlaid on the lower half of the diagram.

Professor Lester F. Weeks, Colby student, teacher, and parent, we dedicate our book in thoughtful appreciation for thirty-five years spent in the cause of education.

Class History

Under ordinary circumstances the history of one class differs from the history of another only in that names, characters, and events are slightly shuffled in the grooves of tradition that have been worn by those gone before. Needless to say, the Class of 1952 did not step off the Maine Central Railroad's streamlined coaches onto the sooty, fog-bound platform of the Waterville Station into ordinary circumstances.

Across the tracks stood eight obviously tradition-bound and time-worn buildings, all a trifle the worse for wear. Down the street were venerable Foss Hall and five Cape Cod type frame houses, women's dormitories all where grandmother used to room when she went to Colby. They weren't an awe-inspiring sight—but neither were their contents. In fact—well, let it go, some people must have been impressed.

Two factors started out individually. One was the veteran element in the class. It was neither as large as that in the preceding class nor as small as that in the following class, but it was there, in full glory and tales of yesteryears in defense of our glorious country. The vets tempered the class as a whole, made it older, tamer, more stabilized and, on the whole, were a completely healthy influence. Not that they were a stodgy old bunch given to a peaceful fireplace and pipe, but when they raised the roof they, at least, watched where the roof would fall. There were exceptions to this rule, needless to say.

The second factor, was the Stedman Bus Company with Rocky, the driver, of the quick grin and the guaranteed used cars fame. That seven o'clock bus to breakfast a mile and eight-tenths away was no joke. The Class of '52 endured the fumes, the roads, the jammed buses, and cold, windy corners with a griping that became a fixture of the class—a griping that came to a head three years later in the form of a new Student Government which provided an instrument through which constructive gripes could be effectively brought to the attention of the powers that be. Enough things were left around to keep us continually complaining—such as snow and its removal, liquor and its removal, or homework and its presence.

Freshman Week came and went, filling our heads with new names and organizations and emptying our wallets of the folding green only to replace it with a stack of flimsy cards reading "This is to certify that.....is a member in good standing of....."

Registration was a confusing blur of standing in line, and emerging with five courses—none of which you had originally intended to take, but all of which seemed to be required.

The first day of classes was largely an individual matter—a brief sense of having "arrived," a quiet expectation, a forced casualness, a fulfillment, a promise, a hope, and then it was over.

Just about when we were beginning to feel like old hands at the game, the Sophomores decided to change matters by invoking a set of rules designed to return us to the degrading state of neophytes as befitted an incoming group of lowly Freshmen. Within a matter of hours, Ted Parker, who handled the Freshman situation with the zeal of a crusading minister, was hung in effigy from the scaffolding of the Keyes Building and the battle was on. With the Freshmen in open revolt, the Sophomores barricaded Robert's Union to prevent the upstart Frosh from eating and, a few nights later, invaded Hedman Hall to kidnap a hapless Frosh who casually stepped into the hall to see what was going on. The matter was brought to the attention of the Student Council which appointed an acting Sophomore president, who was promptly "captured" and rules were over. (Ugly rumors were circulated about this capture. Some say the Soph president was anxious to go to Boston on a certain weekend and could find no other ride.) Some also say that we were the first class to have an organized revolt against Freshmen rules. Nevertheless, it certainly fit in with the atmosphere surrounding a class that would instigate and witness many "firsts" on the Colby campus.

During the football season a mascot appeared by the curious name of Ybloc. Although he reported for duty as a White Mule, he was ominously greeted by whispers concerning his paternity and his nondescript grayish colors which blended well with the weather in which the games were usually played. Thereupon, he became a singularly unaffectionate animal and seemed rather bored by the whole procedure.

That fall the library stacks were opened to the students. As Mr. Humphrey, librarian, put it, "to give them (the students) an opportunity to get acquainted with the material they are studying." Some students gave this statement a rather liberal interpretation and fraternity pins continued to change hands through the cold winter months—an activity that beforehand had been considered a seasonal business.

We were the last class to see and give a freshman class play. No decree was forthcoming about this; it seems to have died a natural death. Seventeen members of the class participated in its last rites—otherwise known as "George Washington Slept Here." The Faculty also put on a show that year called "Notes of Derangement," which parodied student activities with a surprising degree of observation. But this show too has, unfortunately, been placed on the shelf.

The Outing Club erected the ski tow that fall and many of our classmates were recruited to cut brush, haul dirt, and burn sacrifices to the Snow Gods.

In February, Charlie Barnett showed up at the Winter Carnival Ball held in the new fieldhouse. The attempt to set a precedent of big-game bonds for Winter Carnival failed. Actually, the music of such lesser-knowns as Jack Edwards and Ted Herbert, who played for succeeding carnivals, was more danceable than that of Barnett. Few mourned the passing of big-name bonds from the Colby Campus. We had our fling.

After a minor political campaign in the spring of forty-nine, Bruce MacPherson, Janet Leslie, Norma Berquist, and Don Silverman were elected as class officers.

The problem of construction was ever present from freshman year on. Roads and buildings were in a state of half completion and being rudely awakened by a blast during an eight o'clock class became a matter of course.

An interesting little item appeared in the Echo of May 11, 1949. Mayor Squire was quoted as saying that the city could not repair the roads leading to the college at the present time but would do it in the near future. You'd better wind your calendar, Mayor, I think it's slow.

Finals come and went and with the molso went a few luckless classmates. We left the old campus for good with fond memories of the smell of the mill, the trains rumbling through the station at all hours of the night the snowball fights at Hedman, bull sessions at the Jeff, the Dead Rat, and Petes, and last but not least, the buildings themselves. How they stood up for so long will forever remain a mystery. You can't deny that they had a heap of character; they sure had time enough to develop it.

Freshman year seems to stand out as the year; perhaps because it was a new experience and we were more conscious of what was going on around us. From then on, time just seems to run together.

Fall came after too brief a summer spent at jobs befitting our superior intelligence, and we returned to the new Colby Campus, very much impressed with the fact that we were now officially in the know. The fact that we were pointedly ignored by the upper-classes seemed not to faze us in the least.

We were hell bent on teaching the Class of '53 how to behave but, unfortunately, we carried our enthusiasm too far. A group of upperclassmen carried off a rebellious freshman from the dorms and after only five days of hazing the rules went, but not before a fruitless, though exciting chase, of President Mac to Boston and back.

We weren't the only ones to be honored with new living quarters. Prexy moved to his Howard Johnson-type house and gained rave notices in the ECHO about his blue bathroom.

Nels Corey became the new line coach for the football team which split first place in the State Series with Bowdoin. George Bazer, Dick Verrengia, Sandy Sanderson, Ray Billington, Ed Cawley and John Ratoff played some excellent ball for Coach Holmer.

Five fraternities laid foundations for their houses in fraternity row. Four succeeded in putting houses on those foundations. The Lambda Chi's, with earnest but un lucrative teachers and preachers for alumni, graciously allowed the Tau Delts and Zetes to squabble over the unsightly hole to decide whether it should be a Tau Delt garage or a Zete cold storage cellar.

The success of the Varsity Show, "Bottoms Up," was largely due to the hard work and patience of such as Bev Forgy, Joan Acheson, Dick Tupper, Norma Berquist and numerous others. Sandy Pearson did an excellent job of substituting for Mary Thomas, on short notice, in the next year's show, "Slightly Off Key."

Powder and Wig had its share of '52 theater addicts. Appearing from time to time were Caroline Wilkins, Dale Dacier, Janice Pearson, Joan Gridley and Pat Erskine, who picked up a Powder and Wig dramatic award for her lead in "The Glass Menagerie."

January 18, 1949, marked a sad day for Colby College. "Pop" Newman died. There was something about that guy at once unbelievable and undecipherable. If you didn't know him you couldn't understand the loss, and if you did know him or if you just saw him walking around, you know that volumes could be written about him without fully explaining the effect he had on people.

Just before finals, Lambda Chi produced a musical show called "Saint Looie Woman." What they lacked in talent they made up in noise. This was the first attempt any fraternity had tried in the line of a full-fledged show. However, all the fraternities and sororities participated in a "Hangout" sponsored show a year later which was a tremendous success. Tau Delts walked off with the first prize, with the D. U.'s running a very close second. The Tri Delts pranced into the winner's circle of the sororities.

A couple of old traditions were brought to our modern campus during our sophomore year. For one thing, the Elijah Prish Lovejoy stone was settled in the mud way down in front of Miller Libe, and for another, a circular was awaiting our arrival, that announced that henceforth no drinking would be allowed on campus. Both traditions were blithely ignored.

The college year of 1950-51 kept up the tradition of newness on the campus. A Student Government, worthy of the name, came into being. It actually obtained results. Dean Nickerson addressed the class at the Senior Banquet, and with complete sincerity stated that he was somewhat surprised but extremely pleased by the attitude of the college in accepting the responsibilities of its own government. Much of the progress of the Student Government was due to Don Silverman, its second president, who strengthened the organization after Mark Mordecai of the Class of '51 nursed it through infancy.

The "Hangout" came about through the Social Committee which formed a separate committee to look into the possibility of having a student social center. Ann Ryan, Margie Austin, and Herb Siman were in on the ground floor of this organization and were directly responsible for its foundation and successful growth.

When it came to passing out bouquets, a well-earned posie was planted in the sweaty little editorial fist of one Robert "Mick" Ryley. Varied opinion on the quality of the ECHO did not detract from the tremendous effort the smiling Irishman put toward improving the newspaper.

The football highlight of our stay was the Trinity game. They came on Parents' Weekend '51, boasting a thirteen game winning streak which Colby promptly shattered in one of the best games ever played on Seaverns Field.

The basketball team took the Series crown with comparative ease. Johnny Jabar who had transferred from B.U., played the brand of ball that made him captain in 1952.

Just before mid-semester exams, long white envelopes began to appear on campus. Some guys got panicky and joined the Navy. The weekly migrations to the battle of Augusta Bay became a tradition of such force that even such formidable institutions as Wednesday night fraternity meetings were changed to Tuesday. Uncle Sam was good to most of us, however, and although "committees of our neighbors" were extremely nosy about our whereabouts, we managed to return to finish our junior and senior years.

One of the most enjoyable events during the spring was the fraternity-sorority sing on the Libe steps. This contest was originally to be held around Johnson's Pond (Prexie's Puddle to the psych majors) but the last time that happened the farming folk around these parts raised such a hue and cry about the disappearance of livestock that the practice was discontinued.

At long last, we returned to the campus as Seniors, a fact that was hard to get used to. Something even harder to get used to was the appearance of girls up in the quadrangle dorms. Somehow the old place didn't seem natural with all the curtains drawn.

Artie White, captain of the baseball team in 1952, was elected class president. Other officers were Sally Shaw, Nancy MacDonald and Russ Dixon.

Realizing that our time was almost up, some of us began to look a little more closely at the progress of our education, a thought that seldom entered our heads beforehand. By the next semester, however, the attitude of "they never flunk second semester seniors" reared its ugly head and we trotted back to Bill's carrying the banner of "I can get more education from one bull session than I can from fifty classes."

Considering the circumstances, a surprising amount of optimism was present regarding our futures. The male contingent was faced by the draft, and the female element was up against a man-power shortage. Yet a surprising number of people were seeking jobs instead of resignedly awaiting the call to arms. T'was a healthy note amidst the debunking, and negative atmosphere that permeated most of our education.

When you stop and think about it, it might have been nice to have gone to college amongst old and settled halls and traditions; but perhaps some of Colby's pioneer spirit did, by chance, happen to rub off onto the Class of '52 making it all the richer for the experience. One thing is for sure, we never had it so good.

Bev Cushman, all for bigger and better athletic trophies . . . our two med-techs, Wallace and Root, gave us the inside scoop on hospital work . . . Mademoiselle Hallee to the woods to bring a bit of "Gaie Paris" to M. C. I. . . . royal entertainment from Barb Cheeseman and her group . . . Nita Hale, correspondent, tried vainly to keep postal rates down . . . other highlights of the year—coffees, parties, Christmas Dance, service projects, and a visit from Grand National Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Helen Glenn . . .

It all started in September . . . Margie pounded the gavel and we were off again . . . the party with the A.T.O.'s was great—lots of competition—who won, Fitzy or Sully? . . . and before anyone could say Wynken, Blynken and Nod, rushing was upon us . . . have you finished your animals yet? . . . and what do you know, they all came in their best pajamas . . . Beryl saw clouds for weeks . . . Mary Sargent made such a nice fish . . . of course, we could never overlook Scottie as our prize pig . . . Margie, Sandy and Debby were competition for Les Paul and Mary Ford . . . the ending was the best—a bunch of swell pledges and a tilted Bowtie . . . does this sound familiar? . . . Joannie Martin's "and the Lambda Chi's would like a party" . . . Betsy Fisher's "we'll supply the food" . . . you know the rest . . . guess whose "respectfully submitted, Betty Greer" . . . Sandy Pearson's "this'll only take a minute if you'll be quiet" . . . and so it ended, another successful year for Sigma . . .

ATO staggered through another year . . . The conservatives had all graduated and the radicals and liberals fought for power . . . Parties every weekend . . . Jim Bernard took the fatal step and joined Bud Reed and "Cash" Sears in the Vet's Apts. . . . John Douglas struggled through a semester as Worthy Master . . . Bob Kline tried to collect social dues and was voted the most hated man in the house . . . Don Silverman led the new student government to a very successful year . . . ATO's, assisted by a few others, played some pretty fair football, and the band, led by Big Sul and Little Sul, was in full swing . . . Benfari bought a new (?) car, while Silverman continued to struggle along with flat tires and dead batteries . . . "Ole Cash" made more money than anybody but was always broke . . . "Super" took an occasional fling with the Dark Town Poker Club . . . Mowatt lost his shirt, but "Four Flush" Andrews made enough to put a co-ed through college . . . Bo Fisher and Len Lamphrey played hockey all night . . . The axe fell and "The Big A" retired from active duty in the house to the comparative quiet of the mansion on Mayflower Hill Drive . . . Verrengia pulled a "fake out" and graduated in the middle of the year . . . In June, the last of the "Ole Fella's" graduated with memories of a great year behind them.

DKE House, rare bird farm, alcoholics anonymous or what ever you call us . . . we've certainly had a rare year. Many can be heard saying "the greatest" or "swell" . . . Expressions of the old Gull era. Tea and Coffee enjoyed after football games . . . very successful Colby weekend. Parents weekend also great . . . a few got to Ohnies. Craig started the "Rare Trip Club" . . . Quebec. Soon Whit, Lawton, and Mo also seen in Quebec. In fact one week Mo was seen in Quebec, Waterville, N. Y. C., Columbus, O . . . what about Hometown? The house kept in touch with the much missed football mentor, "Ben Bald" . . . air, ace "Owl" Powell . . . Briggs residing at Bainbridge. "Fingers" Kaey held his own at the Templeton again this year . . . Tim the Third was asset, with his parties and court. "Joy to the World" and Christmas drew near . . . house dance with Harvey & Tupper mixed in the entertainment . . . "The First Noel" changed to "The First at Noels". After the dance "Fat 42" Lynn and Mo headed for the biggest city in the world . . . blizzard, but the "Crow" got them through. Maine locals, Waalewyn and McCoy had a full year . . . Zig Zig's Ohio stormed by easterners at New Year's . . . Party, Party. All proud of Goose and Russ on the field, and Warren and Bato on the court. We close now with "one for the road" and a big thanx to all Deke Alumni and the "Turtle" . . .

As stated in the Constitution "the purpose of this organization shall be to work for the betterment of Colby College by providing Student Government and student participation with the administration in the formulation and execution of policies which pertain to student life and activities."

Through the able leadership of President Donald Silverman, this Council's first full academic year has shown its ability to successfully deal with its problems regardless of their divergent aspects. The structure to facilitate dealing with these matters is a system of committees such as: Men's Judiciary, Social, Hangout, Publicity, Finance, Student-Faculty, and Election Committees. Some of the main functions handled by these committees were: taking a poll on crucial issues, furthering and supervising class elections, allocating the student activities fee, and handling a fund from which requests for money may be granted. As a new obligation this year the Student Council assumed the responsibility for running the Campus Chest Drive. The Council also encouraged the Outing Club to use our natural resources by suggesting that Johnson's Pond be made available for skating. A special open meeting was held in the fall for the purpose of obtaining student opinion on the matters of the cut system, liquor on campus, and the functioning of the infirmary.

Though the Student Government Association is relatively new, its capable handling of issues brought to its attention and matters constitutionally under its jurisdiction, has gained it a reputation which inspires confidence and respect from students and faculty—a strong liaison which will, in time, prove beneficial to Colby.

The Women's Student League is the official governing body for women. The organization is a representative body composed of six officers, the house chairman from each women's dormitory, and a representative for the women living off campus. The main activities of the League are: clarifying the rules which have been set up for women, and making new rules when necessary. Problems concerning these regulations are brought before the board by the representatives. Members of the board discuss the problems among themselves and with the Dean of Women until a satisfactory explanation or solution is reached.

The League is more than a governing body. Every year it directs a Big Sister Program, which includes the selection of approximately one hundred upperclass women to be individual advisors to Freshmen. This year's program was particularly effective. The Christmas and Spring Undergraduate Banquets, sponsored by the League, were two occasions when the entire women's division was brought together. A special project this year was having coke machines installed in the women's dormitories.

The League is distinct from the Student Government Association, concerning itself exclusively with regulation of women's government.

MEN'S JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

Under the revised Constitution of the Student Government, the Men's Judiciary Committee was set up as an advisory board to the Dean of Men on matters of discipline. The committee is made up of a chairman, appointed by the President of the Student Council, a member of the Student Council from each class, and two members-at-large from each class elected by the male members of the Student Council. Once a week, or whenever necessary, the committee meets with the Dean, who informs them of the facts involved in any cases of discipline which have come before him. The committee examines the facts, questions the Dean as to any further information, and interviews the students involved. A recommendation is then made to the Dean of Men as to the action to be taken. Reports are made in the Echo of the recommendations of the committee and the final action taken by the Dean.

THE COLBY ORACLE

In '52, the Oracle went back into the hands of a male editor, Charles Anderson, '53. Judy Jenkins, '54, was brave enough to pitch in as assistant editor and set herself up as the logical number one girl for next year. Last year's guiding genius tarried around the premises often and long enough to launch the rookie staff on points of procedure.

This book was going to be decidedly new and different. New ideas were to be incorporated, and all efforts were bent in that direction. Closer attention to the relationships between higher prices and brilliant ideas cut the innovations to the bone. Out of the welter and confusion came the hope that a touch of color and informality, plus a start toward humor would be achieved and perhaps influence forthcoming publications.

The initial rush of letters, phone calls, and incipient manic-depression produced the publisher and cover manufacturer. There followed a period of complete abnormal behavior which culminated in the production we hope will be enjoyed by all the grads of '52.

If the treasury would allow such a display, the staff would import tons of orchids to be distributed among the kind people who did great service in the routine typing and drudgery departments. Added to the "thanks" list should be Russ Knight, the genial publisher's representative, for his patience and encouragement in helping with organization and fundamental planning.

INTER - FAITH ASSOCIATION

The Inter-Faith Association has now completed its second year under the new constitution whereby each group is represented on the Council. Outstanding events of the year included:

1. Religious Emphasis Week with outstanding lay and clergy speakers of several denominations. Several were invited back for their second year.
2. A Foreign Student's Tea was held in December to introduce the foreign students to the Faculty and the student body.
3. A new group was elected membership on the Council, The American Baptist College Fellowship.

Each of these groups also held varied and interesting programs.

Canterbury Club: represented on the Council by Fabia Bowman. The club holds breakfast in St. Mark's Church on Sunday mornings. Membership includes Episcopalian and Orthodox Students.

Channing-Murray Foundation: Council representation is Sally Baines. Meetings are held in the Chapel Lounge on Monday evenings. Programs include discussions, publishing a national newsheet and sponsoring a statewide Channing-Murray Conference. The group includes Unitarians, Universalists, and Liberal Religious students.

Hillel Foundation: Represented on the Council by Barbara Weiss. Breakfast meetings on Sunday mornings are held in the Women's Union. This year's special activities were centered on the State Conference held here at Colby. Jewish students compose the membership of Hillel.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship: Represented by David Cassons, the group has a full program of daily prayer services, weekly meetings in the Chapel, and a Bible study group. It is a group for conservative Protestants.

Newman Club: Council representative is Margaret Blagys. A full program each year includes Communion Breakfasts at the Sacred Heart Church, Mass in the Chapel on Holy Days, Cana Conferences, the Catholic Culture Lecture Series and regional conferences. This group is made up of Catholic students.

Student Christian Association: Represented by Freeman Sleeper. The core of its program revolves around Sunday evening meetings in the Chapel. Special programs include deputations and social service projects, such as painting churches. It is the largest of campus Protestant groups.

American Baptist College Fellowship: Represented on the Council by Mary Ellen Betts, and newly-organized, it has held several very interesting speaker-discussion meetings at the Baptists Church in Waterville.

The Hangout Committee, composed of four members from each class, has a three-fold program. Their primary function is the operation of the "Hang-out," Colby's new social center in the West Wing of Robert's Union. In addition, they present a regular, feature-length movie every Thursday night, plus one major monthly function, such as the Greenwich Village Dance and the Talent Show.

Given a unique face-lifting this fall by the painting of typical Colby scenes on its walls and the addition of chairs and a jukebox, the center is increasingly living up to its name.

This year the committee co-operated with the baseball and basketball teams in sponsoring the Homecoming Formal. Funds raised from the dance were used for the Southern and Western trips of the teams.

The Social Committee, authorized as a committee of the Student Council, is composed of one representative from each of the college organizations appointed a seat by the Student Government. In addition, the Deon of Women, the Deon of Men, the directors of the Unions, and one faculty advisor are members of the committee. Rules to govern the Social Committee are made by the committee itself.

The committee is responsible for the scheduling of all student functions affecting the college as a whole. Any organization wishing to hold a function, whether for an educational or social purpose, must obtain permission from this committee. The purpose of this duty is to insure that there will be no conflict between similar events, that special events will receive preference, and that functions will be properly sponsored.

Subject to the administrative rules of the college, this committee also has authority to determine and enforce the social standards to be followed by all organizations. In the event of an infraction, the committee reviews the case as presented by the Deon and by representatives of the violators. In closed session the student members of the committee formulate a recommendation as to the action they feel should be taken and these findings are given to the Deon.

Student-Faculty Committee

The Student-Faculty Committee, as a sub-committee of the Student Council has functioned this past year as a liaison group between the students and the administration. The problems to come before this committee have mainly been such matters as were presented on the Student Government questionnaire. The primary project was an attempt to formulate a new cut system for Colby. As a basis for this new cut system, the committee used the student's suggestions from questionnaires, information gained from letters sent to other colleges, and recommendations from the faculty members, Mr. Birge and Mr. Pullen.

It has also been the hope of this committee that this year is the beginning of greater student-faculty co-operation. It is a chance not only for better mutual feelings, but also a means of mutual exchange of ideas, complaints and suggestions. It is only through such an exchange that the true meaning and worth of the phrase "the Colby Family" can be realized.

CAP AND GOWN

Election to Cap and Gown at the end of the junior year is the highest general recognition and non-scholastic honor which can come to an undergraduate woman.

Seven girls were chosen by the graduating members and were tapped, according to tradition, last May at Recognition Assembly. They were honored at a breakfast in June given by the senior members, at which time they were presented with their pins and told what Cap and Gown does as a group.

During Freshman Week they serve as group leaders, they are on call during the year to show the campus to prospective women students. On Arbor Day they work with Blue Key in supervision of projects and help at the Bixlers' teas for faculty and seniors. These are only some of their activities.

They are always ready to perform duties and services which will encourage participation in, and support of, college activities among the students and promote student-faculty relationships.

BLUE KEY

The Blue Key Society of Colby was founded in the fall of 1948 to give recognition to men students who have excelled in academic and extracurricular work on campus. Graduating men of Blue Key elect new members from the outstanding men in the Junior Class, in the spring of each year; these new members are announced at the Recognition Assembly.

Among the functions of Blue Key are ushering at the President's Reception at the beginning of each school year, directing visitors to the Mayflower Hill Campus around the college, and organizing and directing the traditional Arbor Day activities each spring.

This year's members included President, Dave Morse; Don Silverman, Herb Simon, John Jabar, Dick Chamberlain, Ray Keyes, Bruce MacPherson, Ray Grant, Ed Witham and Al Davis.

The Colby Echo, under the hand of Editor Bob Ryley, '52, dedicated itself to fewer dramatic crusades and truer representation of student activities. Primarily an undergraduate newspaper, Echo constantly attempted to mirror student opinion and to work for the interest of the student body. To this end, it actively campaigned for the foundation of Hangout as a social center, and co-operated in the organization of a Colby literary magazine, The Totem. It was instrumental in initiating the open Student Government forum at which students and administration attempted to clear up various misunderstandings as to college policy.

Feature columns covered all sides of student interest. "Show Cose" presented critiques of Colby dramatic productions, while "Wax Facts" evolved the latest in the record world. Book reviews of some of the more controversial current works were included. "Mule Kicks" and "Looking Them Over" covered the interscholastic and fraternity sport scene. Fraternity news itself improved as rivalry between groups put the accent on more news, more wit, and more entertainment. "Letters to the Editors" withstood wind and high weather to act as a sounding board for reader opinion and dissension.

With printing done in Gardiner, over thirty miles away, Echo was handicapped by an early deadline; however, co-operation with offices of the administration, representatives of nearly every student organization, and the Colby publicity bureau enabled a maximum news coverage.

As a special project, Echo continued to sponsor the Echo-Lovejoy High School Newspaper Contest. This is an attempt to foster good journalism in the spirit of Colby graduate Elijah Parish Lovejoy, who is commonly considered a foremost American martyr for freedom of the press. High school newspapers all over Maine were submitted for rotating and constructive criticism. In April, awards and certificates of merit were given out. Prudence Belcher and Fabio Bowman headed the project.

In the Business Department it was noted by Manager Fred Ives and his assistant, Bill Carter, that circulation was increased in non-student subscriptions. This, combined with adequate advertising for each issue, has put the Echo on a sound, secure financial basis.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club sponsored an ambitious and expanding program of debates on far-reaching controversies and factual movies aimed to inform, continuing its policy to stimulate and aid student interest in world affairs.

Anglo-Iranian oil disputes was the subject of a fall debate between Parvis Chahbazi, an exchange student from Iran, and a Bowdoin exchange student from England. The spring debate between the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans was aimed especially at broadening student insight into youthful views and activity.

Movies exhibited under the International Relations Club auspices included films generously lent by the officers of the A. R. O. T. C. unit.

Following the usual procedure, informal discussions were held after each debate and meeting, during which the students were free to ask questions and to give their personal opinions.

For the first time, the I. R. C. sent out monthly newsletters outlining the coming activities and giving information about the various speakers from other colleges. The club also attempted to stimulate debates and talks among the students themselves.

A Masquerade Ball in the spirit of imaginative dress and entertainment provided the lighter side of the program.

Under the persistent efforts of President Dotty Washburn, the International Relations Club tried to form a more solid foundation for an organization that can do much for the students.

As always, the Outing Club began the year during Freshman Week Program with tremendous success. The treasury boomed! In October, some braver souls ventured up Mt. Katahdin midst rain and snow. Weather disregarded, a hardy few made Baxter Peak on Saturday. Sunday, in a beautiful Alpine setting, almost everyone climbed something.

Skiing enthusiasts, upon their return in September, were greeted with the knowledge that the new ski lodge had been wrecked and the tow motor partially destroyed. By dint of hard work and deft pulling of strings, the slope and ski plant were made ready for use. Later in the season, through the efforts of Dono Anderson, Dick Whiting, and Phil Hussey, the ski jump was groomed and made ready for future victims. Blisters and high hopes were raised by Bob Hargrove and Don Grout in resurrecting trails and repairing slope clearings, thanks to workers like Don White, Steve Kenyon, Dove Roup, Bill Gordner, Dove Robinson, Eben Andrews, John Kru-sell, and Andy Boissevain. Skiing at Colby, though dealt a severe blow during the summer, is now back on its feet.

Along with skiing, hiking, swimming, and the like, the Club took over skating on Johnson Pond. Lights, a warming hut, and possibly music!

The regular activities of the Club were not overlooked. Numerous were the suppers held at the Lodge on Great Pond. A fall highlight was Beryl Baldwin's "Horror" House. In February came Winter Carnival, the year's big event. All in all, another well-rounded year with the Outing Club, when viewed in reflection.

The 1952 Carnival was well worthy of being tucked into our memory books. Old Man Winter more than made up for last year's lack of snow.

Friday hummed with activity. Trains were met, snow sculptures given the final artistic touches, and Colby turned Nordic for its "Lumijuhla" (snow party). Barbara Hills was crowned Queen of the festivities Friday night in a gym completely converted into a Swiss Chalet. Hal Reeves' band, Boston favorites, played very danceable tunes. Members of the band formed a combo to entertain us during the intermission.

The Board of Judges, accompanied by the Queen, judged the snow sculptures on Saturday. The Lambda Chi's and DU's tied for first place, while the Chi O's pulled in second.

The highlight of the week-end was, of course, the ski events. A large crowd turned out for the jumping. Dana Andersen, Captain of the Colby team, copped first place in the intercollegiate jumping, outranking teams from M. I. T. and Maine. The Sigma Kappas and the Lambda Chis won the intramurals.

The new skimeister trophy was awarded for the first time. It went to a member of the University of Maine team. Awarding of this trophy will be an annual Winter Carnival tradition.

Colby's hockey and basketball teams also came through with victories.

An added feature of the week-end was the Monsanto Broadcast by the Colby Glee Club.

Wearied, but very happy about the success of their "Lumijuhla," Colbyites collapsed for two days of rest and then returned to classes.

PANHellenic COUNCIL

The Panhellenic Council is the governing body of the four Colby sororities. The board consists of eight members, a Junior and a Senior from each group. It is the link between the Dean's office and the sororities, and between National Panhellenic and the sororities. The major function of the Council is to supervise rushing so as to insure the best interests of all concerned. It also holds a supper and play-day which has replaced athletic tournaments. In the past it has sponsored play contests, minstrel shows, song contests and dances. Panhell attempts something new and interesting as often as possible in constant search for that which will serve to tie the four sororities and the independents together.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council at Colby is the governing board for the eight social fraternities on campus. The Council consists of one delegate from each fraternity, usually the president, and one faculty representative, who holds the office of secretary-treasurer. Though the Council's powers are limited to the eight fraternities, it also acts in an advisory capacity, and as a sounding board for other activities at Colby.

This year's projects included the presentation of suggested modifications of the liquor rule to the Board of Trustees, and an attempt to revise Greek Hell Week so that it might become constructive in scope as a community work project week.

Bruce MacPherson served as President of the Council and Professor Brown as Secretary-Treasurer.

INDEPENDENTS' COUNCIL

The Independents' Council has, in its third active year, provided representation for all men not affiliated with fraternities on campus. It provided opportunities for participation in intramural athletics and social functions. The Council consists of three seniors, two juniors, two sophomores and, after fraternity pledging, two freshmen. To better coordinate the activities of the Independents with those of other campus organizations, this year the Council has provided itself with a faculty advisor, Mr. Gillum.

In addition to offering tutoring and curricular advice available to any student, the Council this year held a series of talks by members of the administration and faculty at their bi-monthly meetings. An All-College Dance was held in the Women's Gymnasium on April 12.

Powder and Wig's twenty-seventh season was filled with a variety of plays. T. S. Eliot's famous Murder in the Cathedral, the faculty-student play directed by Gene Jellison and sponsored by the Canterbury Club, was a new inspirational project for Colby.

Blithe Spirit, by Noel Coward, was the spring production directed by Professor Cecil A. Rollins. Spirits, mediums, and confused husbands were predominant in this play.

The fall production of Moss Hart's Light Up the Sky brought shouting producers, sentimental directors, and temperamental actresses to the Colby stage.

The student-written one-act play contest is being continued this year. Last year's first prize of twenty dollars, along with a guarantee of production, went to Barnet Fain.

The officers of Powder and Wig during this season are: President, Joan Leach; Vice-President, Pat Erskine; Secretary, Barbara Scott; Business Manager, Barbara Bone; Stage Manager, Herb Simon; Publicity Manager, Caroline Wilkins; and Faculty Advisor, Professor Cecil A. Rollins.

Under the leadership of President Bick Vaughan, '52; Vice-President Mary Devan, '53, Secretary-Treasurer Norma Berquist, '52, and Publicity Manager Beryl Baldwin, '53, the Women's Athletic Association was led to another very successful and active year. The fall schedule introduced tennis, archery, and field hockey tournaments. Ann Burger, '53, Nancy Moyer, '53, and Alice Colby, '53, respectively, were winners and Pat Ingraham, '54, was captain of the winning hockey team. The season closed with a Co-ed Tennis Party and a Fall Sports Coffee.

During the winter, the gym was full of activity with Interdorm tournaments, volleyball, basketball, and badminton. The slopes and Johnson's Pond were also scenes of winter. The Volleyball Coffee closed the second season of the W. A. A. year. Competitions in bowling, ping-pong, shuffleboard, deck tennis, and archery took their place.

In addition to these athletic programs two playdays were attended by Colby. The first, during the winter, was held at the University of Maine and the second, during the spring, was sponsored by Bates College.

Several girls received their basketball ratings: Bicky Vaughan, Bev Cushman, Ruth Lyon, and Norma Berquist. "Corky" Shipman, '55, was elected Freshman representative to the board.

With another Coffee and the annual Field Day, W.A.A. activities for 1951-1952 were brought to a close.

The Yachting Club launched its program with full enthusiasm from advanced sailors as well as beginners. It participated in three inter-collegiate regattas during the fall at Tufts, Bowdoin and Vermont, and made plans to enter others in the spring. Arrangements were also made for races against individual colleges.

The meetings every Monday afternoon consisted of lectures on sailing tactics by Fleet Captain Pete Welles, and development of the primary project of the club which is to obtain boats by Spring, 1952, for the private use of the members.

This year the Cheerleaders, under the leadership of Co-Captains Joan Kelby and Bill Gardner, led the crowd in cheers at all home football games as well as one of the State Series games at Bowdoin. The group also made the long trip down to Hartford for the game with Trinity.

Among several pep rallies held during the football season in which the band and the cheerleaders participated, was the big Homecoming Rally held the night before the Moine game. The Cheerleaders led the band in a parade through Waterville to the Elmwood Hotel, where the men at the Alumni banquet joined with them in some Colby songs and cheers. The remainder of the rally continued on the Hill where the student body gathered

THE COLBY COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

This year saw the formation of a new student organization at Colby. With members including foreign and American students interested in its purpose, the Colby Cosmopolitan Club is dedicated to the advancement of international understanding.

The Club plans informal meetings, for exchange of information, panel discussions on current topics, open to the public, and also sends its members to various local civic organizations to give informal talks on subjects with which they are well acquainted.

The Club is now a standing Colby organization, and it is hoped that it will continue to exist as long as there are students actively interested in its future projects.

The officers are elected at the beginning of each semester. The first President and Secretary are John Lee, '53, and Miss Guiomar Washington, '53, respectively.

The Club is honored to have Dr. Hiroshi Yamauchi as faculty advisor.

The Classical Society of Colby College, founded in 1936 by Dr. Sharon L. Finch, is composed of students interested in the study of the civilizations of Greece and Rome.

Regular monthly meetings provide an opportunity for hearing student papers and discussions, as well as occasional outside speakers. The past year's programs have been as follows: Colby and the Classical Tradition; Petronius and The Maid of Ephesus; Horace and Housman; Horace, Boileau, and The Art of Poetry; The Life and Works of Sallust; Sappho and Eclecticism; and The Influence of Classical Drama Upon Modern Drama.

Joint meetings are held from time to time with the Classical Societies at Bowdoin, Bates, and the University of Maine.

The papers delivered before the students, faculty, and friends of the library by speakers who add living research to Colby's volumes of past knowledge, maintained the high program past years have given us.

Miss Norwood opened the year with a summary of her year's sabbatical on the Bibliography of Thomas Smollett. This was followed, in November, by Professor Carl Webber's Windsor lecture on American Editions of English Works. A highlight of the spring season was Mr. Clifford Berschneider's paper on The Modern Leviathan.

Considerable progress was made in broadening the student branch of the Colby Associates. Student membership, open to all, received particular emphasis in its new growth. In keeping with past tradition, one of the lectures was presented by the students: this year in the field of art, commemorating Turner's death and the publication of Ruskin's The Stone of Venice.

Probably as much as the lectures delivered, the associates enjoy the coffee hour in Dunn Lounge afterward.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club provided for an unusually active season during '51 and '52. Among the more important events of the year were: a meeting at which Jerry Amott showed slides of France, a Christmas party held jointly with the German Club, a Maurice Chevalier movie, and the annual club picnic.

GERMAN CLUB

The Deutscher Verein, or German Club, has for its purpose the fusion of German culture with entertainment. At its meetings, discussions and informal lectures are followed by the singing of traditional German songs and the dancing of polkas, waltzes, and other popular dances. This year at the annual French-German Christmas party, the club presented a comedy, Till Eulenspiegel und die Professoren which Helmut Goerling, a German exchange student, directed. The organization also sponsored the showing of two German films.

Delta Phi Alpha, the German National Honorary Fraternity, is concerned with the intellectual aspect of German culture. The Colby Chapter is sponsored by Henry O. Schmitt.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club, reorganized last year, made satisfying and quick recovery to former stability. The object of the club, which is to learn the habits and language of all Spanish-speaking peoples, was achieved through various talks given by members of the faculty. Among other discussions of Latin and South American countries were those of Mr. Schwartz concerning Ecuador, and Mrs. Kellenberger, who is the Club Advisor, concerning Guatemala.

The combined Men's and Women's Glee Clubs, which this year numbered over 120 voices, completed a successful year of concerts and programs under the capable direction of Mr. Peter Re.

Traditional performances of Handel's Messiah were featured during December, in Augusta and Waterville. The annual Christmas all-college assembly on December 12th included selections by the Glee Club, the congregation joining in carol singing.

On February 17th, Colby's Glee Clubs again enjoyed singing on the well-known radio program, "Songs of New England Colleges," sponsored by the Monsanto Chemical Company.

During the spring, several concerts were given at Colby and away. Prominent among these were the Pops Concerts at the college, Bar Harbor, and Boston. The selections presented were varied, with semi-classical, classical, and show tunes included in the program.

Officers of the Glee Clubs for the year were: Women's President, Edith Carpenter; Secretary, Betty Brown; Librarian, Nancy Copeland. For the Men: President, Paul Aldrich; Secretary, Joseph Unobskey; Librarian, David Harney; Business Manager, Michael Manus.

Dorothy Nyman, accompanist during the 1951-1952 season, should be commended for her fine work.

Approximately 20 voices, under the leadership of Mr. Peter Re, provide appropriate music for the Sunday morning services in the Chapel.

One of the Colby Eight's major accomplishments this year was the performance of Mr. Peter Re's close harmony arrangement of "How High the Moon." News songs and old favorites were added to the group's repertoire. More appearances with newer songs during first semester preceded the unveiling of the group in blue flannel jackets and knit ties, as "the old order changeth."

The Eight appeared at different functions during the Homecoming Weekend; at dances, general assemblies, and other functions, in and away from Colby. With the Glee Club, of which it is now a part, they sang on Monsanto Chemical's "Songs from New England Colleges." Heading its list of engagements, was the Eight's Spring Tour.

During Spring vacation, the group appeared in major Eastern cities as guests of local alumni clubs. They were heard at a number of schools, and on several radio programs.

The Eight, originating five years ago as a barbershop singing group, now includes in its repertoire, spirituals, barbershop harmonies, and favorites of previous college years as well as of our own. With three rehearsals a week, the octet demands much of all its members, alternates and regulars alike. As the older members leave the group, new members are competitively chosen, coming largely from the Glee Club, though all are freely encouraged to compete.

Never underestimate the power of women. '51 and '52 was the year for girls on Mayflower Hill. Women appeared in the Quadrangle, Robert's Union and, in December, at the Women's Christmas Banquet, they made their debut into the musical life of Colby. Ten gals and a song were all that were needed (with a few rehearsals in Mory Low, of course) to start the COLBYETTES on their way.

Beginning with a meager two songs, the repertoire has grown constantly, and the consensus is that the group will become a Colby tradition. Already they have chalked up such appearances as the Senior Banquet, the Glee Club Monsanto Broadcast, and a three-day trip through Aroostook County in April.

Whether it's "Santo Claus is Coming to Town" or the "Colby Night Song," the COLBYETTES manage close harmony that makes you just want to sit back and listen.

Arriving during Freshman Week, the Colby Band immediately started column righting and counter marching through a successful season. With Gerry Holtz, '52, as drum major, and Jan Leslie, '52, and Peg Randall, '53, as majorettes, the Band appeared at all football games, including those at Trinity and Bowdoin, and at all home basketball games. The practice of holding a benefit basketball game for the Band was continued, with all workers at the fieldhouse contributing their services.

Everything was taken in stride, from the slow arrival of the new uniforms to using a soup ladle for a bass drum beater. New music replaced some of the worn favorites, and the trumpet section, particularly, came forth with some stupendous harmonies. With the advent of basketball season, out came the boogie books, and the percussion section got a chance to lose their inhibitions.

At rehearsals Dr. Comparetti drilled on the finer arts of concert music. This repertoire included selections such as Spanish dances, concert marches, and a medley of Romberg tunes, all contributing to a more varied musical diet.

Conforming with the present Colby custom of electing officers at mid-years, a new slate was chosen to replace Dick Chamberlain, President; Dave Saltzman, Vice-President; and Anita Hale, Librarian. The underclassmen who will succeed these Seniors are President, Floyd Cronkite, '53; Vice-President, Alan Lindsay, '54; and Librarian, Rachel Quimby, '55.

COLBY COMMUNITY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Marking its tenth season, the Colby Community Symphony Orchestra can look with pride upon the steady increase in membership and constant improvement in performance that has characterized its growth since the evening when the twelve pioneers first tuned up together in the fall of 1942.

Under the capable leadership of their conductor, Dr. Ermanno F. Comparetti, the fifty-five members of the Orchestra—students, a Trustee of the College, President and Mrs. Bixler, professional musicians from surrounding communities, housewives from towns fifty miles distant, and members of the Colby Faculty and Staff—gather every Monday evening for an assiduous rehearsal of the program in preparation. Musicians from the Portland Symphony Orchestra assist in rounding out the ensemble for the concerts.

In selecting the repertoire, Dr. Comparetti exercises the utmost care to provide the Orchestra with challenging material, the audience with enjoyable programs, and everyone concerned with an opportunity to enrich his musical experience by hearing good music well-played. This season has been distinguished by its guest artists from New York. Appearing in the first concert were two members of the Juilliard Faculty, Kenneth and Jean Wentworth, who performed, with the Orchestra, Mozart's E Flat Major Concerto for Two Pianos. In the second concert, Mrs. Augusta Scheiber was featured in a performance of the Concerto for Piano and Orchestra No. 5 (Emperor) by Beethoven. Again New York was represented when the Orchestra sponsored a special concert by the Juillard String Quartet.

That the efforts of Dr. Comparetti and the Orchestra are contributing much, musically, to the cultural development of Colby students and the Colby community, is demonstrated by the enthusiasm expressed by the audiences and the patrons of the Symphony Orchestra.

We liked something about this team, even if it did disappoint us on five out of seven Saturdays. Probably it appealed to us because it was dismally light compared to its opponents, and yet showed plenty of potentialities and fight. Watching it on each successive weekend was similar to standing on a time bomb: we knew it must inevitably explode, and when it did we wanted to be there.

The bomb ticked its way through the opener with Amherst, sputtering to an early six point lead in the first half. Bill Edson tossed to Bob Hudson for a total of seventy yards to put the Mules deep in enemy territory, and then Joe Cartier flipped to Nick Sarris for the score. The Lord Jeffs countered late in the third period, but Colby, led by Jack Jannoni roared back and took the lead again, 12 to 6. Rod Howes converted to stretch the lead to seven points, but then the roof fell in. Amherst found a hole in the Colby pass defense, a hole that was to be Colby's weak spot most of the year, and two long passes settled the affair, 20 to 13. For the Mules, Captain Dick Verrengia, Rod Howes, and George Bazer were boulders in what was not quite a stone wall.

Heavy with press-clippings and otherwise, Upsala journeyed from New Jersey, and when the dust of the battle subsided, Colby had its first victory. The game, despite its outcome was no record breaker. The day was cold and rainy, and fumbles characterized most of the activity. Within the first minute of play, Upsala scored from the Colby six where it had recovered a Mule fumble, and the home fans groaned. The kick was good, and the visitors took a 7-0 lead. In the fourth period, climaxing a sixty yard spurt, Tom Davis leaned around right end and drove over for the Mules. Howes' conversion was wide, but minutes later, Gene "the feet" Floyd laniated across from the four to put the Mules ahead. The kick was good, and the game ended with the Mules on the heavy side, 13-7.

Parent's Day was beautiful, climatologically speaking. A warm fall sun and burnished leaves, however, didn't prevent unbeaten Northeastern from romping, 39-0. Little John Connelly, Northeastern's amazing quarterback, ran, plunged, passed and kicked the Mules until their tongues were hanging out. The Mules seemed to be their own worst opponents. They were off-side on chances for first downs, they fumbled when they wormed into Husky territory, and they obligingly passed into the hands of Husky defensemen. Bright spot for the Mules was some fine fourth-period quarterbacking by Roger Olson.

The bomb ticked impotently at Trinity the following Saturday, and the Hilltoppers had sweet revenge for Colby's upset of the previous year. Like Northeastern, the Hilltoppers roared into the end zone almost at will, and at the end of the first half, the score stood at 41-0. It looked like a record breaking rout, but Colby came charging out in the second half, determined, if not to win, at least to stop the Trinity juggernaut. George Bazer, Al Lamont, Rod Howes, Buddy Reed, and Dick Verrengia built a solid wall, and the game ended with neither team scoring in the second half.

Back in Maine, we looked forward to the State Series. Colby faced a strong Polar Bear from Bowdoin in the opener, and was scheduled to be defeated by at least six touchdowns. We knew the bomb had been building up pressure all season, and we hoped that today it would explode. After five minutes of the first period it looked like a second Trinity game. Jim Decker, et al, of Bowdoin romped to an early 13-0 lead. We heard faint rumblings, however, when George Bazer recovered a blocked Bowdoin punt on the Polar Bear ten and Gene Floyd cracked through the line to score. Rod Howes converted, and the score stood 13-7 at the quarter.

We had been waiting all year for what happened in the second and third periods. The bomb exploded with a mighty roar heard as far away as Waterville. Floyd intercepted on the thirty-five and ran to the twenty-four. Floyd again to the fifteen, and then a pass from Edson to Windhorst put the Mules back into pay dirt. Howes converted and the Mules led 14-13. Bowdoin struck again, however, and Milliken skipped 40 yards through the Colby defense to put the Mules behind 20-14. The Mules were kicking now, however, and a Windhorst to Fraktman pass put us ahead 21-20. Before the half ended Bowdoin roared back for two more T.D.'s and we felt that the game was over as far as the Mules were concerned.

We weren't through, though, and we went wild in the third period as Windhorst dashed thirty-five yards for a T.D. and hit pay dirt again minutes later on a flip from Cartier. Rod Howes converted for the fifth straight time, and we led 35-33. Bowdoin scored again, and then Gene Floyd, giving us the greatest thrill of the season, took the kickoff and raced ninety-five yards for the promised land. Howes converted and we again led, 42-39. We were tired, though, and the Bowdoin juggernaut scored twenty-one points in the final frame to take us 60-42. The 102 points scored was the highest total ever recorded in a Maine State Series game, and we came back to Mayflower Hill just as happy as if we had won.

The rest of the season was more or less an anti-climax. The following week we were dropped by a powerful Maine team in some of the worst football weather ever seen at Colby. It was rainy and cold, and after the first quarter we couldn't even tell who had the ball. The Black Bears scored early in the first period when they recovered a blocked kick on the Colby twenty and roared across the goal line. The Bears scored twice more in the first period, and once in the second to complete the scoring for the day.

The bomb exploded against Bates in the season's finale at Seaverns Field. Floyd, Olsen, and Windhorst combined to run and pass the Mules to a T.D. in the first period. Bates threatened in the second period, but a strong Mule line held them scoreless, and the half ended with Colby leading, 6-0. Bates tied it up in the fourth period, and as the minutes ticked away we were afraid that we would have to settle for a draw. Late in the period, however, Hudson intercepted a pass on Bates' forty yard line, and Windhorst moved it on the next play to the thirty. Floyd took over and smashed to a touchdown to put the Mules into a 12-6 lead. Howes converted and the game ended, 13-6.

We didn't show a winning season on the record books, but we felt that the effort we made was well worth while. We won't forget the Bowdoin game for a long time, and with Bud Reed, George Bazer, Charlie Windhorst, Gene Floyd, Jack Jannonni, and Eddy Fraktman returning next year, we look forward to a great season.

There was no question of doubt in the minds of Colby fans as to who would win the State Series basketball crown for the 1951-52 season. Early in October, long before the football season had ended, basketballs were drumming on the hardwood floor and pounding off the backboards. With the loss of only one man from last year's state champion squad, and with ample replacements up from the freshman team, it looked like the best year in Colby basketball history. Lallier, Nagle, and Weigano provided the height; Captain John Jabar had the experience; Dick Hawes, Tony Jabar, Floyd, and Piacentini provided the speed and drive.

The team, after a month of intense practice, went into action against Farmington State Teachers College in mid-November. The Mules, displaying plenty of punch and drive, took the first game, 77-44, and breezed through a return contest, 90-53. Coach Lee Williams shuffled his men in an effort to find the best combination, and the choice was a hard one; everyone looked good.

Williams had predicted that Bowdoin would offer the best competition in state series play, but after three periods of the opening game it could have been declared "no contest." Colby, using its height and speed to best advantage, rolled over the hapless Polar Bears, 81-53. The Williamsmen went wild against Bates—much to the delight of the fans—and chalked up a record breaking 100-49 win over the Bobcats. In doubling the Bobcats score, the Mules sank forty-two field goals, two more than the former record. To complete the first round of state series play, the Mules went to Orono and dumped the Black Bears of Maine, 90-73. Back on Mayflower Hill, visiting St. Michael's gave Colby the best game of the season to date, but the fast-breaking Mules continued their winning ways and took their sixth straight game by a score of 78-74.

Over Christmas vacation the Mules headed west on their annual trip. Piacentini, for the second straight year, was the backbone of a Colby club that returned home with a record of two wins and two losses. Rochester beat the Mules in a close game, 76-71, that made western fans sit up and take notice. Two nights later the Mules, playing great basketball, upset highly favored Baldwin-Wallace, 78-76. The Mules were beaten by Akron, 66-79, but the loss was struck from the record books when it was later discovered that Akron had used ineligible players. On New Year's Day the Mules edged Gannon College, 72-69, but the next day lost to Buffalo, 48-65.

Back on their home court on January 5, Colby continued its winning ways by dropping Gorham State Teachers College, 88-67. The Mules then headed south on a short trip through New England. Bowdoin was beaten for the second time, 70-57. Trinity College of Connecticut was added to the list when Ted Weigano dropped in a basket with less than half a minute to go to give Colby a 74-73 victory in the hardest fought game of the year. The Williamsmen concluded the trip by taking Wesleyan, 55-50.

Back in the field house on Mayflower Hill once more, the Mules dumped Maine for the second time, taking command early in the first period and never relinquishing the lead. The score, Colby 77, Maine 47. A trip to Lewiston brought the Colby juggernaut another victory over a luckless Bobcat five by a score of 82-63.

Piacentini and Bates' great center, Larry Quimby, battled it out for the state series scoring lead and despite Piacentini's twenty-one points, Quimby held a one point lead after the contest was over. Colby made it nine straight by sweeping Tufts and M.I.T., and then sewed up the State Series crown by trouncing Bowdoin for the third time, 83-55. Northeastern was the next victim and fell, 67-50 to the Mules powerhouse.

The "big snow" cancelled the game with Providence College, but Mule shooting eyes remained hot and Colby traveled to Springfield to emerge winner by a ten point margin, 75-65. In New London a powerful Coast Guard team handed the Mules their third defeat of the season, 64-54. Back in Maine again, the Mules edged the Black Bears of Maine in a close, hard-fought contest, 62-60. The Mules, down five points at half time thanks to the brilliant efforts of Maine's Jonny Norris, fought back, and led by Lallier and Captain John Jabar, emerged victors by the margin of one basket. Colby made a clean sweep of State Series competition, winning their seventeenth State Series game in a row, when they dumped Bates for the third time, 81-47. The final game of the season was a heartbreaker for the Mules, as they lost to St. Anselm's of New Hampshire in the Boston Garden by a score of 55-54. It was "just one of those nights" and what should have been a victory turned out to be a heartbreaking loss.

The biggest news of the season was announced by athletic director Mike Loebs when he stated that Colby was again to play host to the regional N.I.A.B. Tournament. Colby, with a record of 22 wins against only 4 losses, rated fourth by sports writers in New England, was favored to take the tourney and go to the national finals in Kansas City.

Colby drew Bridgeport University of Connecticut on March 5th, opening night of the tourney. The Mules, displaying their best form of the season, emerged victors by a score of 83-70. Lallier having one of his best nights of the season, dropped in 19 points, and along with Weigano and Nagle, took complete control of the backboards. Piacentini hit for his average of 17 points to follow close on the heels of Lallier in the high scoring department. A.I.C. dropped highly favored Providence and Colby and A.I.C. paired off in the finals on March 6th. For the second straight year, Colby, after playing great ball in the semi-finals, weakened and lost in the finals. A.I.C. used a zone defense and held down the Mules' attack. Brilliant shooting from outside the foul lines told the story. At half time the score was tied at thirty-three all, and in the second half the lead changed hands nine times before A.I.C. emerged victor by a score of 71-66. Frank Piacentini and Ted Lallier were picked on the all-tourney team along with Butters of A.I.C., and Seaman and Stetson of Bridgeport. Captain John Jabar and Ro Nagle were picked for the second team.

In having the best season of its history, Colby broke several records. In taking seventeen straight games in State Series competition over a two year period, they established the longest win streak in Maine intercollegiate competition. Frank Piacentini took individual honors by scoring the most points in State Series games. With the loss of only one man, Colby fans can look forward to an even better season next year.

The Colby Baseball Train chugged south on March 26 and, arriving at Bolling Air Force Base, proceeded to hand the local talent a 6-0 setback. Jim Keefe and Frank Gavel, Mule mound aces, held the opposition to six hits and no runs. The situation was reversed two days later, however, when Hampden-Sydney College dumped the Mules, 5-0. The team fared little better at the hands of Washington and Lee University next day, and lost by a score of 6-1. The Mule kicked back and tied Randolph-Macon College, 2-2 in a game called because of rain. The trip was concluded by losing a heartbreaker to Norfolk Naval Base, 4-3.

Back on home ground, praying for good weather and dry fields, Coach Roundy shuffled the line-up hoping to find a winning combination. Captain George Wales moved to right field with Bill Fitzgibbons taking over chores behind the plate. Art White moved to the hot corner and Pirie, Hawes, and Phillip interchanged at short.

The home season opened on April 2, with the Mules edging Upsala College, 2-1. Bowdoin invaded for an exhibition game and won, 5-2. Another short trip south, this time to Boston, showed the Mules beating Tufts, 11-8, then dropping games to M.I.T. and Northeastern, 10-2 and 6-5.

Back on Mayflower Hill once more, the Mules won their State Series opener by beating Bowdoin, 7-3. Bates, however, took the Mules, 4-2. Colby edged the University of New Hampshire in an 8-7 eleven-inning thriller, but two days later, hopes were crushed for the State Series Flag when Bowdoin upset the Mules, 7-6. Boston College beat us 5-4, and the season ended on May 21, when the University of Maine squeaked out a hard-fought 5-3 victory.

Despite a not too impressive record, there were some bright spots during the season. Captain Wales batted a phenomenal .458, getting eleven hits in twenty-four times at bat, and sophomore Dick Hawes was not far behind with an average of .409. Wales was presented with the Edward C. Roundy Baseball Trophy at the Spring Sports Banquet, and Art White was elected Captain for the coming season.

Varsity Track

Spring of 1951 saw the Varsity track team trying to rebuild into a winning squad. A good many of the lettermen had graduated and others had dropped out of school for one reason or another.

The schedule opened on April 21, and Colby decisively whipped Norwich by a score of 89-46. MacMahon, Bibula, Bean, Dave Miller, and Merriam, cleaned up in the running events; Ted Lallier, the most persistent point-getter of the season, took the high-jump; and MacMahon, Wallace, and Giffin scored in the field events.

The Mules took a third on April 28, in a quadrangle meet on home ground. Vermont, with a very strong squad, took first place with 80½ points, Middlebury took second with 33½, and Colby and Bates finished in that order with 28 and 23 points respectively. Lallier again took the high-jump, and Bibula won the mile.

In the State Meet at Colby, the Mules again placed third, finishing behind Bowdoin and Maine. Colby scored seven points, Lallier taking the high-jump again for four, and Bibula taking second in the mile for three.

Colby undertook one of the most ambitious schedules in Colby hockey history during the 1952 season. Norwich University beat the stubborn White Mules in a fast-skating, hard-checking game by a score of 4-2 in Colby's opening contest. Northeastern, tartar of Eastern Intercollegiate Hockey, took the injury-riddled Mules, in what proved to be the best game of the season. For two periods the Mules held the visitors to even terms, but greater depth told the story, and the Huskies turned the game into a rout in the final period.

The Mules roared back next day, however, to take M.I.T. in a close contest, 2-1. Bates Mfg. Co. added Colby to its defeated list by a 12-0 shutout, and a strong University of New Hampshire team outscored the Mules, 6-2.

On February 6th, Colby headed west for a two-game trip. Against a powerful Amherst team, the Mules led for two periods only to lose in the final quarter, 7-5. At West Point the Cadets outskated the White Mules and handed them a 7-5 beating.

Back in Boston on February 12th, the Jumbos of Tufts set back the Mules 10-2, and two days later Colby lost to the powerful Bates Mfg. Co. for the second time, 15-4. At the Winter Carnival on February 15, the Mules got revenge for the defeat by New Hampshire, beating the Wildcats 6-3, in a game that saw Paul Dionne superb in the nets, and Bo Fisher and Len Lamphrey scoring two goals each.

Middlebury College took the Mules by a score of 10-1, and the Mules finished the season at Norwich, where the Cadets took the Mules for the second time, 10-5.

Varsity Ski Team

With snow conditions perfect, the White Mule Ski Team schussed and slalomed its way to its second successful year under the tutelage of Coach Chig Howe. The schedule opened at Orono, with a triangular meet among Colby, Bowdoin, and the University of Maine. Colby took a third, but showed that it had plenty of speed and skill for the meets to come. The next weekend saw the same three teams competing at Colby; Bowdoin finishing first, with Colby and Maine close behind.

The Mules journeyed to Rumford for the annual carnival, and emerged with seconds in the giant slalom and jumping, and a fifth in cross country. The Colby Winter Carnival, with excellent ski conditions and plenty of enthusiasm, showed Colby taking a third in the best meet ever held on Mayflower Hill. Dana Andersen, captain of the 1952 squad, took a first in jumping; Dick Whiting and Don White finished second and fourth in the slalom.

Colby finished the season late in February, when it journeyed to Lyndonville, Vermont, and took a sixth in the Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Tournament. Don White, Dick Whiting, and Jake Pierson placed in the downhill and slalom; and Dana Andersen took fifth in the jumping contest.

Prospects of a winning season for the Colby Golf Team were not good. Practically all of last year's lettermen had graduated, and Coach Carroll Abbott had to build the team, predominantly, of men untried in tournament play.

The season opened in Boston on April 29, against M.I.T. Colby dropped a close one by a score of 5½-3½. Next day the Mules took on Tufts and held them to an even split, 4½-4½.

On May 5, highly favored Rhode Island drubbed the Mules, 7½-1½. On May 9th, the Mule showed a reversal of form, and trounced Bates, 8-1. Bowdoin and the University of Maine invaded Waterville and came out on top with scores of 5½-3½ and 8-1.

Again Colby took on Bates. This time the Mules shut them out, 9-0. The team journeyed to Orono for the closing match, losing to the University of Maine, 7½-1½. Season record was two wins, one tie, and four losses.

Varsity Tennis

The 1951 Mule Tennis Team, like the golf team, was green and untried in tournament play. Most of the lettermen from the previous year had graduated. That, in combination with the inclement weather, made any attempts to practice practically impossible, resulting in a very poor season.

Tufts beat Colby 8-1 in the season's opener on April 26. Next day M.I.T. defeated the Mules by the same score. The Boston trip concluded the next day with a 5-4 defeat on the Boston University courts.

Back in Maine on May 2nd, Bowdoin beat the Mules by a score of 5½-3½. Bates outplayed the Mules 5-4, Maine took a match 7-1, and Bowdoin repeated their performance by a score of 8-1. The Mules finished the season at the University of Maine, dropping the contest, 7-2. The one bright spot of the season was the singles play of sophomore Bob Gordon with a perfect record of seven wins and no losses. Record for the season was no wins, eight defeats.

Freshman Football

Freshman football for the 1951 season consisted of only three games, plus numerous scrimmages with the varsity. The Baby Mules fared little better than the varsity. The season record showed one win, one tie, and one loss.

The season opened early in October against Higgins Classical Institute, and the game ended in a 0-0 tie. The Frosh showed plenty of fight, but couldn't put on a sustained drive to push the ball across.

M.C.I. took the Baby Mules 14-0 in the second contest. The Frosh held the powerful M.C.I. club scoreless during the first half, but early in the third period a Colby fumble set up a touchdown for the visitors, and the scoring ended late in the same period when M.C.I. scored again.

In a 20-0 win over Hebron, to finish the season, the Baby Mules showed plenty of power and drive. Dick Bartlett provided the offensive spark in setting up two of the three Frosh touchdowns. Pete French lunged over early in the second period to tally the first T.D. the Baby Mules had scored all season. Then Charlie Ochmanski took over for the Colby squad, and tallied in the second period and again in the fourth period. Two of the three attempts for the extra point were good, and the game ended with the Frosh on the heavy end by 20 points.

Freshman Basketball

The Freshman five had an even more impressive opener than the varsity, beating Coburn Classical by a lopsided score of 103-36. The Baby Mules showed plenty of spark and drive and basketball know-how. Portland Boys' Club and Portland Junior College fell before the Baby Mule onslaught, 74-31 and 84-64, and fans were talking of a third straight undefeated season for the Roundymen. Maine Maritime Academy thought otherwise, however, and surprised the Colby fans by ekeing out a 53-52 victory over the Frosh. Disheartened by their first loss in twenty-eight games, the Baby Mules could not pull themselves together, and lost their second game to M.C.I., 51-47.

Back in winning ways, the Frosh handed Hebron a 96-63 setback, and then dropped a close one to Bates Freshmen, 63-61. The last five games were clear sailing, however, and the Baby Mules took Ricker College 74-40, Higgins 85-52, Boston Y.M.C.A. 71-57, Bridgton Academy 81-64, and finished the season by revenging the loss to Bates, 73-47.

Freshman Hockey

A freshman hockey featuring a high scoring front line of Dick McKeage, George Haskell and Earle MacGillvary, completed a six-game schedule with one win and five losses. Lack of depth kept the Baby Mules from coming up with a winning squad. Coach Wes Hayes felt, however, that there was sufficient ability shown by the squad to render help to next year's varsity.

The squad opened the season by dropping a close one to the rampaging Purple Panthers of Waterville High, 3-2. The St. Dominic's High School of Lewiston, Maine High School champs, set the Baby Mules back 16-4. Again the Frosh were set back by Waterville High, 6-4.

High point of the season was the 10-1 win over Hebron Academy on the Hebron Rink. With the front line scoring five goals in the first period, and George Yorks turning in a fine performance in the nets, the Baby Mules turned the game into a rout. The season closed on February 28th, when St. Dominic's routed the Frosh, 18-1.

Freshman Baseball

Coach Lee Williams piloted the Freshman Baseball nine to its third straight successful season. Only one loss, a 6-5, ten inning upset, marred an otherwise perfect record.

Excellent pitching, good fielding, and plenty of power at the plate brought victories in the first six games, extending a win streak from previous seasons to twenty-one straight games. It looked like a third straight undefeated season for a freshman nine until Higgins Classical Institute, out for revenge for a defeat suffered at the hands of Colby earlier in the season, eked out their 6-5 victory to upset the Baby Mules.

The Mules, however, bounced back to take M.C.I. for the second straight time, and finished the season by whipping the Bates Freshman nine by a score of 5-0. Season total was nine wins against one defeat.

Freshman Track

The Freshman Track team got off to a rather slow start, shifted into high gear half way through the season, and finished up with full speed ahead.

Hebron came to Mayflower Hill on May 2, and outran and outjumped the Baby Mules, 62-55. In a tri-meet on May 9, the Frosh finished second, with Higgins Classical Institute taking first place and Bangor High School finishing third. On May 16, the Baby Mules took a tri-meet with Deering and Lewiston High Schools, and on the 19th, rolled over Portland High School and Maine Central Institute.

Big news item of the season was the announcement of the resignation of Robert Keefe, Colby Track Coach for the past four years.
