Colby Yesterday and Today

In 1813 a group of Baptist associations secured a charter from the Massachusetts Legislature authorizing the establishment of the Maine Literary and Theological Institution, but withholding from it the right to confer degrees. Financial stringency caused by the Embargo Act and the War of 1812 delayed the start of instruction. In 1815 the Agent for the Eastern lands assigned to the institution a township of land on the west side of the Penobscot River. When that location proved remote and unfeasible, the trustees were invited to select a site in Kennebec or Somerset counties. They chose Waterville, and in 1818 persuaded the Reverend Jeremiah Chaplin to come from Danvers, Massachusetts, with his family and his seven theological students.

During his first year Chaplin was the only teacher. He conducted classes in a farmhouse where the Elmwood Hotel now stands. In 1819 he was joined by the Reverend Avery Briggs as professor of languages. The institution had no president, each professor maintaining control over the separate theological and literary departments. Within a decade the former had been abolished and, since 1830, the college has been devoted strictly to undergraduate studies in liberal arts.

Soon after Chaplin’s arrival, the trustees purchased a lot in Waterville, 80 rods along the Kennebec River and extending westward one mile. The first building was a two-storied frame house for Chaplin, in which he boarded students and held classes until the construction of the first that could be called truly a college building, South College, in 1822.

When Maine became a state in 1820, the new legislature granted the institution the right to confer degrees, and in 1821 changed the name to Waterville College. Chaplin then became its first president.

The Maine charter made it clear that the founders never intended that the institution be exclusively for Baptists. In fact several non-Baptists, notably Maine’s first governor, William King, were on the original board of trustees. The Maine charter included a clause of which the college has always been proud:
No student shall be deprived of any privileges of said Institution, or be subject to the forfeiture of any aid which has been granted him by the Institution, or be denied the usual testimonials on closing his studies, or be denied admission to the Institution, on the ground that his interpretations of the scriptures differ from those which are contained in the articles of faith adopted, or to be adopted, by the Institution.

The college never adopted any "articles of faith," and it has for many years been independent and nondenominational. It is, however, proud of its liberal Baptist heritage and grateful to the many churches and individuals of that persuasion who nurtured the college through infancy and supported it for more than a century.

When the Civil War threatened to force closing of the college, the struggling institution was saved by a generous gift from Gardner Colby, a prominent Baptist layman of Newton Centre, Massachusetts, and in 1867 the grateful trustees changed the name to Colby University. In 1899, sensing that the college had never become a university in fact, the board changed the name to Colby College.

In the first class, to whom degrees were awarded in 1822, was George Dana Boardman, pioneer of a long line of Colby missionaries to foreign lands. A graduate in 1826 was Elijah Parish Lovejoy, who suffered martyrdom for the cause of freedom of the press when his persistent anti-slavery articles led to his death at the hands of a mob in Alton, Illinois, at the age of thirty-four. Colby graduates through the years have been members of Congress, judges of state and federal courts, governors and legislators; have held high rank in the armed services; have been builders of railroads, telephone lines, and petroleum plants in far corners of the earth; have been prominent in business and finance, and have won distinction in the learned professions.

The college marked its first half century with a novel experiment by opening its doors to women; in 1871 Mary Low became the first, and for a time, the lone female student. By 1890 so many women had enrolled that President
Albion Woodbury Small proposed, and the trustees adopted, a system of coordination under which a women’s division was established with separate classes and administration. Although Colby still is, officially, a coordinate college, it has become truly coeducational, and separate classes have been abandoned.

During the early years the trustees were compelled to sell much of the college land in Waterville, with the result that after the first world war Colby found its campus confined to thirty crowded acres on which stood ten buildings and the athletic fields. A short distance away on the main thoroughfare were six buildings of the women’s division and two fraternity houses. With much of the physical plant obsolete, and with no room for expansion, the trustees voted in 1930 that the college be moved “as soon as feasible.”

For twenty anxious years after this decision, President Franklin Winslow Johnson led a valiant and finally successful campaign to move the college, despite the obstacles of a great depression and a second world war. Colby was gradually transferred, between 1943 and 1952, to its new site on Mayflower Hill, on land given by the citizens of Waterville.

Throughout his administration, 1942-1960, President J. Seelye Bixler continued the work so well begun by President Johnson; as a result the new campus now contains more than thirty modern buildings of Georgian colonial architecture valued in excess of ten million dollars.

The growth of Colby since its transition to Mayflower Hill has been striking. No longer is it a provincial New England college. The enrollment has doubled from 600 to over 1200, and the students come from more than half the states and many foreign countries. The faculty, numbering 56 in 1940, now exceeds 100. During the same years the endowment has increased from less than three million dollars (original cost) to more than eight million. Accompanying the physical expansion has been growth in variety and quality of the curriculum enabling an increasing number of graduates to seek advanced degrees in the liberal arts and the professions at the leading universities.
In 1963, Colby College observed its one hundred and fiftieth anniversary with a distinguished series of events emphasizing the college's heritage and its responsibility for the future. The academic year 1962-63 was a milestone for Colby in many areas, but no event had more significance for the college than its selection by the Ford Foundation for development as a "regional center of excellence." Colby received in June 1962 a challenge grant of $1.8 million in the Foundation's Special Program in Education, to be matched on a two-to-one basis in three years. Officials of the Ford Foundation chose a select number of liberal arts colleges to be included in the program "because of the importance of the liberal arts — the humanities, natural sciences, and social sciences — in cultivating the thoughtful leadership and independent opinion essential in a free society."

Colby is a coeducational undergraduate college of liberal arts, "Committed," to quote the inaugural address of President Strider, "to the belief that the best preparation for life in our world, and especially toward the professions that require further specialized study, is a broad acquaintance with human knowledge rather than narrowly concentrated training in limited areas. It is, in short, the pursuit of truth, free and unrestricted, for truth itself is almost infinitely various."

In addition to a comprehensive investigation of our heritage the Colby student is given an opportunity to explore thoroughly a major field of study. He is encouraged to choose a major which affords him the greatest intellectual stimulation, rather than one which he can necessarily "use" after graduation. Colby does not prepare a student for a particular vocation but rather for any vocation, as well as for a full and rewarding life in the contemporary world.

The coming generation of young adults will have to make difficult and fateful decisions. Technical knowledge alone will not be sufficient, for the problems we face are complex and full of uncertainties. To think through them, one must draw upon a capacity for judgment in the broadest sense — judgment involving not only material things but also the intangibles of the human spirit. Liberal education provides young men and women with a basis upon which a system of values can be built, reference to which can sharpen the power of judgment.

The student who comes to Colby should be endowed with a high degree of intellectual curiosity; he should have the energy and the ambition to pursue his academic objectives with vigor and concentration, and to take a healthy and constructive part in a limited number of those extra-curricular activities which supplement the academic program. These include student government, student publications, athletics (intercollegiate and intramural), music, drama, debating, religious groups and social organizations.

It is the philosophy of the college that responsibility be given the students: in the regulation of social life and daily living and in the academic program. Toward this end advising, guidance, and counseling are available. Colby hopes that during the college years the student will mature socially and intellectually, and every opportunity is given him to do so.

One distinctive feature of a Colby education bears out this philosophy directly. The college's experimental January Program of Independent Study has as its purpose to encourage the student to acquire the habit of exploring a particular field of knowledge on his own, a habit which can be carried over beyond graduation and through life. Colby students are introduced to independent work even before they reach the campus, for in the summer preceding the freshman year all are given a reading assignment chosen from classics of literature and philosophy to be completed before matriculation.

Students at the college are strongly advised to consider further graduate study in preparation for the professions. Each year an increasing number of Colby graduates enter medical, law, and divinity school, graduate schools of education, engineering, and business, graduate schools of arts and sciences. Though the major the student selects is often specifically aimed toward graduate study, it does not have to be. Most pre-medical students elect to major in chemistry or biology; most pre-legal students in history, government, or economics; most pre-engineering students in mathematics or physics; most pre-theological students in philosophy or religion. And yet it is quite possible for students majoring in such subjects as classics (in which the college has an unusually strong program), English, or history to go to medical schools, provided, of course, that pre-medical requirements are met and a scientific aptitude is evident; and for students majoring in such fields as mathematics or French to go to law schools. Through a carefully planned system of academic advising the student is assisted in the selection of the program best suited to his talents and his future aspirations.
The Academic Program

DIVISIONS OF INSTRUCTION

The subjects in the curriculum are classified in five divisions. In the Division of Humanities are the classics, English, art, music, and modern foreign languages. The Division of Social Sciences includes business administration, economics, sociology, education, psychology, history, government, philosophy and religion. In the Division of Natural Sciences are biology, chemistry, geology, mathematics, physics and astronomy. The Division of Physical Education and Athletics, besides offering courses, administers the intercollegiate athletic program and intramural sports. The Division of Air Science administers the program for students in the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

Certain interdepartmental courses take content and staff from more than one department, sometimes from more than one division.

THE STUDENT’S PROGRAM

In each of his four years at Colby the student takes five subjects, to which he adds physical education in his first two years. To assure distribution among the several divisions mentioned above, every freshman must take English composition, a foreign language (unless covered by an achievement examination), and mathematics or a science. A social science is usual as the fourth course; the fifth is a free elective or, for prospective science majors, a second science course.

In the sophomore year the requirements include a course in literature; one in a foreign language, unless that requirement has been previously met; a course in science or mathematics; a second social science; and another elective. One of the subjects must be in the field in which the student expects to major.

Each freshman is assigned to a member of the faculty who advises him during the first year; at the end of that year he is assigned a new adviser from the department in which he has elected to major.

Prospective students frequently ask what subjects they will study—especially in the freshman year. It would be misleading to present any specific pattern of courses for either of the first two years, for, though certain requirements must be fulfilled, the programs of individual students differ. The student preparing for a scientific career or the study of medicine will begin taking the scientific subjects at once. Those interested in other areas of study have a wider choice of subject matter. Whenever any choice is to be made, the student should discuss this matter, in terms of his individual needs, with his adviser. Prospective science majors must note carefully the requirements for the major in which they are interested.

To emphasize the fixed requirements, however, general programs for the freshman and sophomore years are outlined below. To understand why certain items appear in these programs, the reader should consult the graduation requirements on page 16.

FRESHMAN YEAR

- English composition
- Foreign language, unless requirement already met
- A course in science or mathematics¹
- A course in the social sciences or the humanities
- Air science (for men) or some other elective
- Physical education (without academic credit)

SOPHOMORE YEAR

- Survey of literature
- Foreign language, unless requirement is met
- A course in science or mathematics
- A course in the social sciences or the humanities
- Air science or some other elective
- Physical education (without academic credit)

¹ Prospective majors in departments requiring mathematics usually elect mathematics in the freshman year. Prospective majors in biology, chemistry, geology, or physics take both mathematics and a science.
To qualify for the degree of bachelor of arts a candidate must meet specifications in quantity, quality, distribution and concentration (see major on page 19). He must also participate satisfactorily in the January Program.

QUANTITY
Forty semester courses or their equivalent in year courses.

QUALITY
A total of 72 points obtained in 40 semester courses. For each semester course a mark of A entitles the student to four points, a mark of B to three points, a mark of C to two points, and a mark of D to one point. No points are given for marks below D.

DISTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS

I. ALL COLLEGE REQUIREMENTS:

A. English Composition and Literature: 4 semesters (3 for those who show suitable proficiency). This requirement will be met by English 121, 221, and 222. Students for whom 4 terms are required take English 122. (See note on remedial English, p. 63.)

B. Foreign Language: A basic knowledge of one ancient or modern foreign language. This requirement may be met in one of four ways:

1. Giving evidence of satisfactory achievement in a foreign language taught at Colby by (a) attaining before entrance a sufficiently high score in the College Entrance Examination Board foreign language achievement test, or (b) passing an achievement examination testing ability to read the language proficiently.

2. Successful completion of any year-course numbered above 101, 102 in an ancient or modern foreign language offered at Colby College, beginning in freshman year and pursued in sequence until the requirement is fulfilled.

3. A transfer student who has studied a foreign language not taught at Colby has fulfilled the foreign language requirement if he has completed at an accredited institution the equivalent of two years of that language at the college level with marks high enough to make the work acceptable toward the Colby degree. (See note on p. 30 regarding election of language courses.)
For a foreign student whose native language is not English, knowledge of his native language will be recognized as fulfillment of the language requirement, subject to the approval of, and possible testing by, the department of modern foreign languages.

II AREA REQUIREMENTS:

A. Four semester courses in each of the areas (described below) into which the student's major does not fall.

(1) Not more than two semester courses in any one subject may be counted toward the requirement in any one area. Combined subjects listed in the areas in III below (such as philosophy and religion) are here considered to be one subject.

(2) Among the social sciences no more than two semester courses at the 100-level may be counted toward the requirement.

(3) Among the sciences at least two of the semester courses must involve laboratory, and the four must be chosen from no more than three subjects.

(4) English 222, required for all students, counts as one semester course toward the humanities requirement.

(5) Students enrolled in combined majors which overlap two areas (for example: philosophy-mathematics) must satisfy area requirements in all three areas: humanities, sciences, and social sciences.

B. Students admitted to the course in creative thinking and who pass it with a grade of B or better may be exempted from any two terms of any area requirement.

C. Courses in Air Science which have alternate designations in other departments (as indicated in Air Science course descriptions) fulfill the same area requirements as the designated courses.

III AREAS:

(1) HUMANITIES

Art
Music
Classics (all courses)
English (except for 121, 122, 221, and Speech)
Modern Languages (except 101, 102, 103, 104 courses)
Philosophy and Religion (certain courses, including Religion 213-214; 314, 315; Philosophy 372; Philos­ophy 314, 318, and courses designated as Indian Thought)

(2) SCIENCES
Biology
Chemistry
Geology
Mathematics
Physics and Astronomy

(3) SOCIAL SCIENCES
Business Administration
Economics
Education
Government
History
Philosophy and Religion (except those courses listed among the humanities)
Psychology
Social Science 121, 122
Sociology

RESIDENCE
Candidates for the degree must have completed twenty semester courses at Colby, and must have been resident students at Colby for at least two years. One of these must be the senior year.

EXEMPTION BY EXAMINATION
When appropriate, either fixed or distributive require­ments, as well as certain requirements for the major, may be absolved by examination without course enrollment, at the discretion of the department concerned.

OPTION FOR CERTAIN
STUDENTS
A student returning to college after an absence must meet any new requirements for graduation if he still needs more than one-half of the total number of course credits re­quired for graduation. If he still needs not more than one­half of the total number he may meet either the new requirement or that in effect when he first enrolled.
MAJOR

Near the end of the freshman year each student elects a tentative major, a field of study in which he wishes to concentrate. The major may be chosen in a single subject or in one of a number of designated combinations. At the end of the sophomore year the student confirms the tentative major as permanent or elects a different one.

The respective academic departments specify the courses constituting a major in each department. Before selecting a major the student should acquaint himself thoroughly with the requirements detailed in the section on Divisions, Departments, and Courses of Study.

Three-fifths of a student’s program in the junior and senior years may be determined by his major department, but need not consist wholly of courses offered by that department.

Any student whose cumulative points in courses completed toward the major fall below a certain scale is not permitted to continue with that major. The required scale is as follows: first two semester courses, 3 points; 2 points for each semester course thereafter.

Each department designates the courses to which the point-scale applies for a major in that department. A student below the point-scale may, with the consent of the department concerned, be accepted or retained for one semester as a probationary major.

A student may change his major at the end of the junior year if he has completed, with the required points, the equivalent of two year courses toward the fulfillment of the new major. If, at the end of his junior year, a student finds no department in which he can be accepted as a major, he cannot continue in college. If, in the senior year, the cumulative points in courses completed toward the major fall below the required number, the major requirement is not fulfilled and the degree cannot be awarded.

COMBINED MAJORS

A combined major in two subjects consists of a minimum of three year courses or their equivalent in semester courses in each of the two subjects. A combined major in more than two subjects consists of a minimum of eight year courses or their equivalent in semester courses, at least three of them being in one subject.

The following combined majors are offered:
- American Civilization
- Classics-English
- Classics-Philosophy
- Geology-Chemistry
- Philosophy-Mathematics
- Philosophy-Religion

Each senior takes a comprehensive examination in his major field toward the end of the final semester. The length of the examination is at least six hours. Part of this may, at the discretion of the department, be oral. The examination is graded honors, pass or fail. Students who fail may retake the examination in the fall, after September 1, or at the time of the comprehensive examinations the following year. The examination must be passed before the degree can be conferred. Students who expect to complete graduation requirements at mid-year may take the comprehensive examinations at an agreed time in January.

During the two weeks preceding the final examinations at the close of the second semester a special reading period is scheduled for most courses numbered in the 300's and 400's. This is not a review period, but is intended to free the student from routine class meetings so that he may devote full time to independent study of freshly assigned reading or laboratory work. Classes do not meet but instructors are available for consultation.

The faculty committee on examinations exempts some 300- and 400-level courses from the reading period. In such cases students are so informed by the instructor and classes continue meeting during that period.

Reading period assignments are tested in the final examinations to a maximum of one third of the examination time.
In the academic year 1961-62 Colby introduced an educational experiment with its January Program of Independent Study. The work of the first semester takes place entirely between Labor Day and the beginning of Christmas vacation, and January is devoted to work distinct from the formal course of study of the first and second semesters.

In the freshman and sophomore years several programs are offered. The methods of conducting these programs differ from instructor to instructor, but each student works on a single project or problem, under the guidance of a single instructor, throughout the period. Free from the conflicting demands of the usual five course schedule, he may pursue his thoughts and researches single-mindedly, or at least with a minimum of interference. Every attempt is made to assign students according to their preferences among the topics or problems available.

The January Program for juniors and seniors is in the hands of the students' major departments but emphasis remains on the basic unity of each student's own program during the entire month.

This is, in effect, not one experiment but many. Individual departments and instructors have a free hand to explore types of programs and methods of presentation. The four-year trial period should give sufficient time to identify and intensify the best features.

Work carried out in January is graded honors, pass or fail. Each student must participate successfully in the January Program to be eligible for graduation.

Permission to study abroad during the junior year, either under such programs as those of Sweet Briar, Hamilton and Smith Colleges or under an independent plan, rests with the committee on foreign students and foreign study. Students must apply, on forms provided by the committee, before or immediately after the mid-year examination period of their sophomore year, and only after having arranged details of their plan with their major advisers.
Committee approval presupposes an academic record for the first three semesters high enough to give promise that the student will complete his program of foreign study with credit to himself and to the college.

A student exchange program was begun in 1960-61 between Colby College and Fisk University. Each student pays regular tuition and board and room charges at his home college, though residing and studying in the other institution. The only major added expense is for travel. Ordinarily exchanges are arranged for a single semester of the junior year. Students may obtain further information from the dean of men or the dean of women.

Students must register on assigned days at the beginning of each semester and at any other time of original entrance. A fine of five dollars for each day of delay is charged on the student's semester bill for registration later than the date specified.

Normally no student will be permitted to register later than the tenth day after the first day of classes. The recorder may permit registration later than this deadline only if the dean of men or the dean of women certifies in writing that exceptional circumstances justify it.

Before registration for any year a student must secure from the treasurer's office a receipt for the tuition fee and any other required advance payments, and he must present that receipt at the recorder's office.

The treasurer is not authorized to permit deferred payment of any fees that the board of trustees requires to be paid in advance of registration. It is important that students understand the distinction between payment of fees and registration. Each student must complete the financial procedures as specified by the treasurer, before he can register at the recorder's office.
Each spring, with the approval of their advisers, all students except seniors tentatively elect programs of study for the ensuing year; these elections, with approved revisions, are confirmed during the fall registration period. A student's academic program must bear his adviser's approval and be properly filed with the recorder, since credit will be suspended for work in a course for which a student is not correctly registered. A continuing student registering in the fall is fined two dollars if he fails to make spring election.

With the approval of the adviser, voluntary changes in a student's program may be made during the first eleven calendar days of a semester, the first day of classes being considered the first day of the semester. A fee of two dollars is charged on the semester bill for each such voluntary change. After the eleventh day no students are permitted voluntarily to change from one course or section to another. During a semester a student may drop a course and receive a mark of Dr. (dropped) provided both his adviser and dean consent. If the adviser and dean agree that a course may be dropped, but must be considered as having been taken and failed, the mark shall be F. For abandoning a course without permission the student shall receive an F and be placed on probation. A course dropped after receipt of a major mid-semester warning, or within thirty calendar days before the last class shall necessitate a mark of F instead of Dr.

With the consent of his adviser, a student, whose over-all average in all courses taken in the previous semester is at least nine points in five courses, may elect one, but only one, course in excess of the usual five. The only exception is that a student who, by this rule, would not be eligible, but who must have the extra course to complete his degree requirements, may elect a sixth course in one semester of his senior year, but not in both semesters.

If, on the insistence of his adviser or of the department concerned, a student repeats, as an extra course, any course which he has already passed, he shall not be charged an extra course fee; but such a student shall not be permitted to carry such a course in addition to six courses.

AUDITING COURSES

Colby students may audit courses for which they are not registered by obtaining consent of the instructor, their adviser and their dean. They are not charged an auditing fee.

Adults who are not students of the college may audit courses at a fee of five dollars each semester for each course, provided they obtain the consent of the instructor and of the dean of the faculty. Members of the college staff and their families may audit courses without charge. Permission to audit will be withheld if the class is already too large and if auditing applications for it are numerous.

An auditor is not permitted to submit papers or perform any other function for which course credit is usually given. Under no circumstances can academic credit be given an auditor, nor can he later convert an audited course into an accredited course merely by paying the regular course fee. The decision whether the course is to be audited or taken for credit must be made at entry.

EXAMINATIONS

At the close of each semester a period of days is set aside for examinations in all courses except those which the committee on examinations has specifically exempted. The time and place of semester examinations are fixed by the director of schedule. The mark for the examination may constitute up to half of the total course mark.

No student may be excused from any semester examination, except for illness or emergency so grave as to justify excuse in the judgment of the dean of men or dean of women. An excused student may be examined at a later date convenient to the instructor, but under no circumstances may he be permitted to take a semester examination earlier than the date on which it is scheduled. A fee of five dollars is charged for each postponed examination. A student is entitled to only one semester examination in any course; failed examinations cannot be repeated.
With the consent of the dean of men or dean of women a student may for unusual reason accept, in lieu of semester examination, a mark for the course equal to 75 per cent of his average without examination. This procedure is costly in reduction of final mark and few students request it.

Hour examinations and shorter quizzes are given as the individual instructor wishes. Short quizzes may be given without notice, but each instructor is expected to give one week's notice of any hour examination.

Dishonesty in an examination is a serious offense. The instructor may dismiss the offender from the course with a mark of zero or refer the case to the dean of men or the dean of women for more drastic action.

A student’s class standing is determined by the number of semester courses he has passed. Freshman standing, fewer than eight semester courses; sophomore, from eight to seventeen; junior, from eighteen to twenty-seven; senior, more than twenty-seven.

At the end of the first half of each semester the faculty issues mid-semester warnings through the recorder's office. A major warning means that a student's standing at that time is below passing; a minor warning that, though passing, standing is so low that failure of the course is likely.

In a course designated as a year course, the tentative mark, showing progress at the end of the first semester, carries no credit toward graduation. For such year courses no credit is given until the completion of the full year's work. A student who has failed a year course may not secure credit for it by repeating merely the second semester of the course even if his tentative mark at the end of the first semester is passing; he must repeat the entire year to obtain credit.

A mark below $D$, except in courses referred to in the next paragraph, indicates that a course has been failed and that credit thus lost must be made up by an additional course taken in a subsequent semester. If the failed course is specifically required for graduation, it must be repeated.

A mark of $E$ is given only in specifically designated first semester courses. The mark $E$ signifies temporary failure which may be made up by improved work in the sequentially related course during the second semester. Passing the second semester in such a course entitles the student to a change of the first semester mark from an $E$ to a passing mark, as determined by the department concerned.

A mark of $Abs.$ indicates that a student has been absent from final examinations. Such a mark must be made up as soon as possible after the beginning of the following semester, and before the close of the semester. After the expiration of one semester a mark of $Abs.$ is changed to $F$.

A mark of $Inc.$ indicates a course not finished for some reason other than failure to take the final examination. The incomplete work must be made up within limits prescribed by the instructor or the mark will be changed to $F$. After the expiration of one semester, any remaining mark of $Inc.$ is changed to $F$.

A mark of $Cr.$ indicates that a student has been awarded credit but no specific mark for a course.

A mark of $Dr.$ indicates that the course has been dropped with permission, and that the student was passing when it was dropped.

The letter $R$ is used together with an appropriate mark when a student has repeated a course, and in such a case there can be no additional credit in terms of semester hours.
When a student's academic record is seriously deficient, the decision to retain or dismiss him from college is decided by the committee on standing. The faculty has endowed this committee with full power to deal with these matters.

| WITHDRAWAL | Voluntary withdrawal from the college may only be effected officially by filing with the recorder a Notice of Withdrawal, a form which may be obtained from the dean. No refund will be paid by the treasurer until he has received formal notice from the recorder. In computing refunds the date on the official withdrawal notice is considered the date of withdrawal. A student who leaves college and neglects to effect official withdrawal until later cannot collect a refund for the elapsed interval. |
| SELECTIVE SERVICE EXAMINATIONS | The selective service system uses these examinations to help determine whether the student will obtain permission to remain in college. Examinations are given at the college on dates fixed by selective service; the dean of men is the officer in charge. |
The Library

Because the liberal arts college is a reading college, the library must play an integral part in the academic program. The Miller Library, which is centrally located on the campus, furnishes the facilities and materials necessary for reference, research and independent study. Its reading rooms with their individual carrels provide ideal working conditions for more than one-third of the student enrollment.

The open stack system allows the students to browse through a book collection of over 200,000 volumes and documents. A periodical collection consisting of over 600 current journals is supplemented by the publications of the United States Government and the United Nations. On the basis of volumes per student, Colby has one of the larger college libraries in the country.

Special collections of first editions and manuscripts in the Colby Library have achieved international distinction. The Thomas Hardy collection is considered to be one of the most extensive in the United States. Other authors represented include A. E. Housman, Sarah Orne Jewett, Kenneth Roberts, Henry James, Willa Cather and Mary Ellen Chase. The James A. Healy collection of modern Irish literature includes numerous inscribed copies, manuscripts and autographed letters of William Butler Yeats, Sean O'Casey, James Joyce and many others. These are housed in the Edwin Arlington Robinson Treasure Room, named in honor of the great Maine poet, whose books, manuscripts and personal papers are also located here.

The Colby Library Associates is an organization of friends of the library which holds regular meetings with programs devoted to literary topics. Membership dues are used to purchase unusually expensive books and materials for the library.

The Colby Library Quarterly, established in 1943, publishes informational reports and scholarly articles on the collections and other literary-historical matters.
Admission

Acceptance of candidates for admission follows a selective process. The academic record of an applicant, the degree to which he has demonstrated intellectual curiosity, and evidence of his motivation are of primary importance; also important are his health, character, and personality. Colby is interested in candidates with talent and with records of participation in extra-curricular activities.

The quality of a candidate's preparation is judged by his school record, the recommendations of his principal and teachers, and scores on tests administered by the College Entrance Examination Board.

Sixteen units are required:

All correspondence regarding admission of freshmen should be addressed to the director of admissions.

All candidates are required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test and three Achievement Tests of the College Entrance Examination Board. The Scholastic Aptitude Test should be taken in December or January of the senior year. The Achievement Tests, which should include English Composition and two other tests of the candidate's choice, should be taken no later than March of the senior year. Applicants are strongly encouraged to take an Achievement Test in the foreign language they expect to continue at Colby.

The College Board tests are given at many centers in the United States and foreign countries at various times during the year. Application for tests may be made to the College Entrance Examination Board, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, N. J., or P. O. Box 27896, Los Angeles 27, California.
ADVANCED PLACEMENT

Colby subscribes to the Advanced Placement Program of the College Entrance Examination Board. Candidates interested in advanced placement and credit must take the Advanced Placement Test given by the board.

ADMISSION PROCEDURE

1. Application is made to the director of admissions. A non-refundable $10 application fee to cover part of the cost of processing is required. A check or money order for this amount should be returned with the application.

2. Personal interviews are encouraged but not required. They may be arranged, by appointment, either at the college or with a Colby representative near the applicant’s home. The admissions office is open for interviews from 9:00 to 12:00 and from 1:00 to 4:30, Monday through Friday. Group interviews only are scheduled for Saturday mornings.

3. The majority of each entering class is selected in April.

4. If admitted, an applicant must make the required deposit of $50 not later than a date agreed upon by certain member colleges of the College Entrance Examination Board. The 1964 date is May 1st.

PLACEMENT IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

If a student offers a foreign language for entrance credit and wishes to continue it in college he must take a placement test. If he presents two or more units of the language for entrance credit, continuation must be in a course numbered above the 101, 102 level. Should his placement test or his performance show him unqualified for this level he must repeat the language at the elementary level without credit or elect a different language. Exceptions may be made for veterans entering after military service.

An exception is also made for students of Latin. Those with not more than two years of the language, all completed prior to the last two years of secondary school may, with the approval of the chairman of the classics department, take elementary college Latin for credit.
Students who have taken analytic geometry in secondary school may, upon passing the placement examination in mathematics offered during the freshman orientation period, enter Mathematics 112d without other prerequisite.

Admission by transfer from another college is limited to a few selected students.

The prospective transfer student should write to the dean of men or the dean of women (not to the director of admissions) stating his reasons for wishing to transfer. An application form will be sent him to be completed and returned with the $10 application fee. The student should ask his former college to send the appropriate Colby dean an official transcript of grades, a copy of the college catalog, and a personal letter from his dean recommending him for transfer.

Transfer students should also ask the College Entrance Examination Board to transmit results of any tests taken to the Colby dean. Scholastic Aptitude Test scores are required for all transfer students.

Unless a veteran has attended another college, he applies for admission to the director of admissions, even if he intends to request advanced standing based on completion of service schools or USAFI courses. Each applying veteran is cautioned that any request for such credit must be made in advance of matriculation. Credits usually apply to freshman courses only. Once a veteran has begun a regular program it is too late to apply for service credits.

All requests for service credits are evaluated by the dean of men, to whom the director of admissions refers such cases.

Subject to limitation of enrollment in individual courses and the consent of the instructors, the college permits adults to enroll as special students to take not more than three courses. Such persons must present evidence that they are qualified to pursue the intended courses and must pay the regular per-course tuition fee. They are not required to pay the student activities fee. Admission of special students is the responsibility of the respective deans' offices.

READING TESTS

Tests administered to all new students during orientation week determine levels of speed and comprehension in reading. Those whose ability is deficient are offered assistance in a developmental reading program.

ORIENTATION FOR FRESHMEN

Freshmen arrive at the college early to participate in an orientation program during which meetings are arranged with advisers, officials of the college, and representatives of student groups. Tests are given to determine placement in languages and in mathematics and to measure simple speed and comprehension in reading. Those who show deficiency in the latter are offered assistance in a developmental reading program.

Social events are interspersed, and a faculty symposium on the topic of the freshman summer reading program initiates the intellectual life of the fall semester.

FEES AND CHARGES EXPLAINED

DEPOSITS

Application deposit: a non-refundable application fee of $10 must accompany each application for admission to Colby.

Admission deposit: non-refundable deposit of $50 due on or before acceptance date. (See page 30) This deposit is later credited toward tuition due prior to registration.

Tuition deposit: non-refundable deposit of $100 required of all upperclass students on or before August 1 each year. Room reservations and places in their respective classes will not be held for students failing to make this deposit. For entering students the $50 admission deposit covers this item.

Room deposit: all upperclass students must, in order to reserve a room for the following college year, make a $50 deposit on or before April 15. This deposit is later credited toward room charge or refunded if request for room reservation is withdrawn before August 1.

ADVANCED PAYMENTS

Tuition: the tuition charge is $700 per semester for a five course program. The semester per course charge is $140. Tuition must be paid prior to registration for each semester.

Room: room in college dormitories is charged at the rate of $162.50 per semester payable prior to registration for each semester. All students are required to live in college housing facilities unless excused by the dean of men or the dean of women. Excuses may be granted only for students living at home or working in families for their rooms under arrangements specifically approved by the respective deans. Dormitory reservations are made through the offices of the deans.

Board: Board in college dining halls is charged at the rate of $250 per semester payable prior to registration for each semester. Dining halls are maintained in Roberts Union and in the women's dormitories. All resident women and resident freshman men are required to board at the college. Upperclass men electing to board at the college must pay the board charge for an entire semester and may not discontinue boarding prior to the end of the term.
Health Service: free service in the Sherman M. Perry Infirmary is restricted to a total of two weeks in any college year. Students are charged three dollars per day for infirmary care beyond the two week free period. Infirmary meals are charged at the rate of $2.50 per day for non-boarding students. There is no additional charge for infirmary meals for students regularly boarding at the college except where special diets are ordered by the college physician.

Accident and Sickness Insurance: all students must be insured in the student accident and sickness insurance plan unless they have comparable coverage elsewhere. Students seeking exemption from this compulsory coverage must make written application for waiver at the office of the treasurer prior to the opening of college. The premium of $35 for twelve months must be paid in advance of first semester registration. Details of the insurance plan are mailed to all parents during the summer.

Activities Fee: at the request of the students themselves a student activities fee is collected annually. This fee finances various student activities, and is payable prior to first semester registration except for students in attendance for the second semester only who are assessed proportionately. This fee is compulsory with no items deductible. Student organizations supported and the amount may vary from year to year; the fee for 1963-64 is $24 for all students.

SEMESTER BILL Charges for miscellaneous items not due prior to registration are included on semester bills due December 1 and April 1. Included are charges for extra courses, use of electrical appliances, chemistry breakage fee, dormitory damage deposit, fraternity room charge differential, ROTC deposit, etc. The semester bill also itemizes all previous semester charges and credits, thereby providing a complete record of the student’s account for the entire semester.

MISCELLANEOUS The fee for extra courses beyond the normal load of five is $140 per semester course.
Colby is proud of the number of students with limited financial resources who have been assisted in acquiring a college education; among past scholarship recipients are many distinguished alumni.

Financial aid in excess of $325,000 is distributed annually in scholarships, Woodman Grants, employment, and loans. The amount in the first two categories represents the income from invested funds provided throughout Colby's history by alumni, friends, foundations and organizations. Scholarships are the basis for financial assistance, but cannot be expected to meet the full cost of a college education. Many supplement them with loans. Those who hold scholarships in excess of $600 are expected to accept employment at the college. In all cases, the amount of assistance depends on financial need.

Approximately sixty scholarships are awarded annually to freshmen whose records indicate ability and a willingness to exert honest efforts to advance their own education.

Application should be made on forms provided by the College Scholarship Service and mailed to them at Box 176, Princeton, New Jersey. The College Scholarship Service is a clearing house for reviewing financial statements presented by parents in support of applications for scholarship aid. Its forms are available at all secondary schools.

Scholarships are awarded on a yearly basis but may be renewed upon written request supported by satisfactory academic achievement and continued financial need. Requests for renewal must be made each year to the dean of men or dean of women on or before April 15.

Colby, with a majority of institutions of higher learning, believes one of the best ways of meeting the costs of higher education is through increased use of student loans. A fund for this purpose is administered by the college. Student loans are also available under terms of Title II of the National Defense Education Act. Information may be obtained from the office of the administrative vice-president.
Sons and Daughters of Baptist Ministers: In recognition of Colby's historical affiliation with the Baptist denomination, it is a custom to grant remission of half tuition to sons or daughters of ordained Baptist ministers who qualify on the basis of need and academic achievement.

Kling Scholarships: An endowment from the late Charles Potter Kling provides a number of scholarships annually which, by the terms of his will, are available to "needy male students of American Colonial or Revolutionary ancestry." Some of these amount to full tuition and may be continued until graduation if the holder maintains good citizenship and satisfactory scholastic standing. Applicants for Kling Scholarships should write to the director of admissions requesting a genealogical data form.

Other restricted scholarships: There are funds restricted to students who can meet special qualifications in addition to the usual entrance requirements: for example, those from particular areas, cities, or schools.

College Employment

Employment consists of work in the dining halls, the library, the maintenance department, in several academic and administrative departments, the bookstore, the student unions, infirmary, and in miscellaneous assignments. In addition, there are opportunities to sell programs, act as guides and ushers, and to represent laundries, dry cleaning establishments and other agencies.

Placement

The director of placement maintains a personal file for each senior and arranges interviews with prospective employers. With the cooperation of the deans of men and women, the director also arranges for students to take various aptitude tests. The director of placement is available for consultation and guidance on occupational matters throughout the student's college career.
Student Life and Activities

Although Colby has for some time been independent of formal affiliation with any religious denomination, the college is proud of its Baptist heritage. With their insistence on religious liberty and the right of private conscience, the Baptist founders of Colby endowed it with Christian principles which still invigorate its program. The college has a full time chaplain.

There are no required religious services. It is a conviction at Colby that religious influence is best exerted by persuasion rather than by compulsion.

Each Sunday a worship service is held with the college choir and a sermon by the chaplain or a visiting theologian. One weekday devotional service and one vespers service are held each week, led by a member of the faculty or administration, by a visiting clergyman, or by a prominent layman.

The coordinating organization for the various religious groups is the Interfaith Association, in which Protestant, Roman Catholic, and Jewish students cooperate. Protestants conduct their activities through the Student Christian Association (United Protestant), Roger Williams Fellowship (Baptist), Channing Murray Club (Unitarian-Universalist), Canterbury Club (Episcopal), and the Christian Science Organization. Roman Catholics have the Newman Club, and Jewish students have Hillel.

A notable event of the year is Religious Convocation when the Interfaith Association brings to the campus prominent religious leaders who live in the student houses. In 1963 the well-known Catholic editor, Monsignor Francis J. Lally was the keynote speaker. Discussion groups were led by six ordained ministers, all graduates of the college.

Many Colby graduates have entered the ministry, and the list of missionaries is especially impressive. The missionary tablet in the Rose Memorial Chapel testifies to the participation of Colby men and women in home and foreign missions for nearly a century and a half.
LECTURES

Throughout the year, lectures and concerts bring outstanding scholars, musicians, and artists to the campus. There are three lecture series—the Averill, Gabrielson and Ingraham—in addition to speakers invited by the Friends of Art at Colby, by student organizations, and by learned societies. The Averill Lectures are devoted to general scholarly subjects; the Gabrielson Lectures, on certain Thursdays in the second semester, are concerned with national and international topics; and the Ingraham Lectures are in philosophy and religion. There are also annual events such as the Lovejoy Convocation, honoring a prominent American newspaperman (in 1962 it was Thomas More Storke, editor and publisher of the Santa Barbara News-Press); Recognition Assembly; and the Religious Convocation.

MUSIC

Musical organizations which offer opportunities in serious vocal and instrumental music are the Colby Community Symphony Orchestra, the Glee Club, Concert Choir, and the Colby College Band. These are under faculty direction and carry academic credits for satisfactory participation. There are also informal student groups for those interested in lighter vocal music: the Colby Eight for men, the Colbyettes for women, and the Colby Folk Song Society. Recitals are occasionally given on the Walcker organ in Lorimer Chapel.

Concerts are given by Colby's own musical groups as well as visiting performers. The Colby Music Associates present an annual series which, in the past year, consisted of the Julliard String Quartet, the Albeneri Trio, and the Boston Woodwind Quintet. Student Government brought guitarist Carlos Montoya, pianist Tong Il Han, and presented several students in recital.

In conjunction with Colby's Sesquicentennial Year, Paul Lavalle conducted the All New England Intercollegiate Band in concert and in another program the glee club, symphony orchestra, and the Waterville Area Community Chorus were heard in the Grand Mass in C Minor, K. 427, by Mozart.

The Bixler Art and Music Center is the focal point for the college's art program. The gallery offers continuous exhibitions featuring selections from the college's permanent collection as well as original and travelling shows. Special collections are the Harold T. Pulsifer Collection of Winslow Homer, the Bernat Collection of Oriental Ceramics and Bronzes, the Adelaide Pearson Collection, The American Heritage Collection, and the Helen Warren and Willard Howe Cummings Collection of American Art. The permanent collection features European and American painting, sculpture and graphic art particularly of the nineteenth century.

The Friends of Art at Colby, organized in 1959, make substantial contributions to the overall art program throughout the year. The organization has been instrumental in gaining acquisitions for the permanent collection.

A three-fold program, documenting the role of Maine in American art, was developed under the sponsorship of the Friends of Art in observance of the college's Sesquicenten-

DRAMATICS

Powder and Wig, the dramatic society, has a distinguished record of productions under the supervision of the director of dramatics, who is a member of the English faculty. Students not only act in plays, but direct, build scenery and supervise staging and lighting. An original one act play contest is sponsored annually. The college offers, in alternate years, a credit course in The Development of the Theatre. The 1962-63 Powder and Wig repertoire was Julius Caesar, The Sandbox, The Zoo Story, Judge, The Time of Your Life, and The Three Penny Opera.

SPEECH AND DEBATE

A tradition of public speaking has resulted in the endowment of several contests with sizeable prizes. These events, as well as debating, are supervised by the professors of speech in the department of English. Debating teams compete with other colleges and Colby is represented at various intercollegiate speech contests.

BOOK OF THE YEAR

A unique feature is Colby's Book of the Year. Each spring a committee of faculty and students selects a distinctive book for all to read. Reference is made to it in courses and in informal discussions which enable the student to see the book as it relates to many facets of knowledge and to evaluate it from different points of view.

Since the program was introduced in 1949, the selections have been: Human Destiny by Lecomte du Nouy; *The Colby recognizes the fraternity system as a cooperative feature of campus life. There are chapters of ten national fraternities and four national sororities. Seven of the fraternities occupy separate houses on the campus, controlled by prudential committees on which the fraternity alumni association, the local chapter, and the college are represented. A housemother is resident in each house. Members of the three fraternities whose houses are still to be built are quartered in dormitories. The women's sororities do not have houses, but each chapter has a room in Runnals Union.

The Colby fraternities in order of founding are: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Psi, Delta Upsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Tau Omega, Lambda Chi Alpha, Kappa Delta Rho, Tau Delta Phi, Pi Lambda Phi, and Alpha Delta Phi. The sororities are Sigma Kappa (founded at Colby), Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, and Alpha Delta Pi.

The board of trustees has voted that fraternities and sororities, prior to Commencement 1965, “must satisfy the board that they have the right to select their members without regard to race, religion or national origin.” The societies must meet this requirement to remain active at Colby, either as national affiliates or local groups.
There are over fifty student organizations active on the campus. Some of these are oriented toward religious affiliation (page 41), others are educational in nature. Among the latter are the various foreign language clubs—French, Spanish, and German; the educational societies: Chi Epsilon Mu (chemistry), Delta Phi Alpha (German), Phi Sigma Iota (French) and Sigma Phi Sigma (physics); and the Forensic Society, John Marshall Society, The Round Table, Society of Social Relations, and the college publications: the weekly newspaper, The Echo, and the yearbook, The Oracle.

Service organizations include Blue Key, Cap and Gown, Campus Chest, Men's and Women's Judiciary Committees, Pan-Hellenic and Inter-Fraternity Councils, and the Women's Student League.

Among the remaining groups of primarily student character are the Arnold Air Society, Camera Club, Chess Club, Folk Song Society, Film Direction, Colby Graphic Arts Workshop, Modern Dance Club, and Ski Council.

Other societies and clubs are described in this section of the catalogue under their appropriate headings.

In addition, each class acts as an organization, with elected officials. Overseeing student activities is the Student Government, which plays an important and integral part in the life of the college.

Rules respecting student residence, organizations, social activities and intercollegiate athletics are published in the Student Government Handbook and Women's Handbook. All students are held responsible for knowledge of these regulations as well as for those published in the Annual Catalogue.

Colby College is concerned as much with the social habits and character of its students as with their academic standing. The college reserves the right to dismiss any student whose presence its officers believe to be detrimental to the general welfare.

ATTENDANCE

1. Students are expected to attend classes regularly, and are held responsible for all work done in any class from which they are absent. Each student is, however, permitted at least two unexcused absences from each course in any semester. The maximum number allowed, if beyond two, is determined by individual instructors.

2. Official excuses for absence are granted only by the dean of men or the dean of women. Conditions under which such excuses are issued are listed in the Student Government Handbook.

3. Each instructor explains at the first meeting of every semester what constitutes unsatisfactory attendance in that class.

4. Any student whose class attendance is unsatisfactory in the judgment of the professor is warned by the dean. Flagrant repetitions may lead to dismissal from the course, without credit.

5. Any student absent without excuse from the last meeting of any class before a vacation or the first meeting of any class after a vacation is fined $25 for each class absence.

6. No student on academic probation may be excused from any class because of extra-curricular or athletic activities.

BEHAVIOR

Responsibility for behavior rests on the shoulders of the individual. This is true of all phases of campus life, including academic integrity, relationships between students, adherence to college regulations, and the use of alcoholic beverages.

Colby College discourages the use of intoxicating beverages by its students. If the conduct of a student who has been drinking comes into question, he will be subject to expulsion.
The Maine State Law has provisions which make punishable by a fine of not more than $50 any person under the age of 21 years who purchases intoxicating liquor or consumes it in any on-sale premises or who has liquor in his possession or whoever furnishes, gives or delivers liquor to a minor.

AUTOMOBILES
The use of automobiles at the college is not permitted to freshmen or sophomores nor to upperclassmen who are on academic probation or scholarship.

MARRIED STUDENTS
A married woman student may enroll or remain in college if her residence is with her husband or parents. A woman student who wishes to continue living in her dormitory after being married must obtain permission from the dean of women.
Honor s and Awards

The degree of Bachelor of Arts with honors is awarded in three grades: summa cum laude to those who attain 155 points or better in 40 courses and who also receive honors on the comprehensive examination; magna cum laude to those who attain 145 points or better in 40 courses and who also receive honors on the comprehensive examination; cum laude to those who attain 135 points or better in 40 courses, whether or not such students receive honors on the comprehensive examination, or to those who attain 130 points or better in 40 courses and who also receive honors on the comprehensive examination. A student who has more than 40 courses taken, or transferred for credit, at Colby must have additional points in proportion to the number of additional courses to achieve honors.

A second category of honors, entitled distinction in the major, is awarded to a student on the specific recommendation of the department. In order to be eligible for recommendation the student must have at least an average of 3.25 in courses taken in his major and must have received honors on the comprehensive examination. Fulfillment of these two requirements does not, however, automatically entitle a student to this category of honor. It is understood that the department will recommend distinction in the major only for those very few students who, in the opinion of the department, merit special recognition.

In American colleges it is generally considered that the highest honor an undergraduate can receive is election to Phi Beta Kappa. This nationally famous society, founded in 1776, restricts its chapters to leading colleges and universities, and it maintains very high scholastic standards. The Beta chapter of Maine was organized in 1895. Election to membership is based upon academic record at the end of seven semesters and on recommendations then made by instructors.

At Recognition Assembly, each spring, the entire college convenes to hear a guest speaker and to bestow awards on students who have earned honors. Among those recognized are: newly elected members of Phi Beta Kappa; Senior Scholars for the ensuing year; winners of college prizes; the recipient of the Condon Medal; newly elected members of Blue Key and Cap and Gown, the honor societies for senior men and senior women respectively; and recipients of certificates from Phi Beta Kappa, awarded to members of the three lower classes for distinction in scholarship.

A limited number of Senior Scholars, selected by a faculty committee, devote a major part of their time to approved scholarly projects. Each Senior Scholar pursues this work under the guidance of a faculty member, and to allow sufficient time for it he may be excused from either two or three of his usual number of five courses as the committee shall determine.

Another honor recognizing high academic standing is the Dean's List, upon which appears the name of every student whose average of all marks in the previous semester has been at least sixteen points in five courses for upperclassmen, fifteen points for freshmen.

The Campus

In 1952, Colby completed its move from a hundred-year old campus in downtown Waterville to Mayflower Hill, two miles west of the city. Today there are 32 new buildings on this campus of 930 acres, one of the most modern and beautiful in the nation.

The first building was Lorimer Chapel, center of the college's religious life. The main chapel, in early New England style, contains an organ built in the classical tradition by Walcker of Ludwigsburg, Germany. The instrument is of special interest because its specifications were drawn up by Albert Schweitzer. The Rose Chapel adjoins the main building.

At the center of the campus is Miller Library. The Edwin Arlington Robinson Treasure Room is in a wing of the building, where a collection of rare books and manuscripts is housed. Extensive storage stacks, general and individually-carreled study areas, and periodicals and reference rooms are a feature.

The Keyes and Life Sciences buildings provide facilities for an ever-expanding science program with special collections, museums, a seismograph, reference libraries, laboratories, and conference rooms.

The humanities and social sciences are centered in the Elijah Parish Lovejoy building. Here are also faculty offices, laboratories for modern languages and psychology, an auditorium, and headquarters for the ROTC program.

Administrative offices are housed in the Eustis building.

The Bixler Art and Music Center has classrooms, studios, departmental libraries, auditorium, rehearsal hall, and practice and listening rooms. The college's permanent collection of paintings, sculpture and other art, and travelling exhibitions, are regularly shown in the art gallery. Leading off the gallery, and out-of-doors, is the Montague Sculpture Court. The John L. Given, Jr. Auditorium is acoustically designed for musical performances and equipped to record programs stereophonically.
Mary Low, Louise Coburn, Woodman and Foss halls provide housing for women. The men's dormitories are Averill and Johnson Halls; East Hall, divided into three units: Small, Champlin, and Butler; and West Hall, comprised of Robins, Chaplin and Pepper. There are seven fraternity houses, occupied by Delta Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Psi, Delta Upsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Tau Omega, Tau Delta Phi, and Lambda Chi Alpha.

In Roberts Union are the men's commons, rooms for staff and guests, student organization offices, coeducational lounges and dining hall and the Sherman M. Perry Infirmary.

Ninetta F. Runnals Union houses the women's gymnasium, with stage for dramatics and lectures, meeting and recreation rooms, lounges, sorority rooms, and a modern dance studio. Resident directors are in charge of each union. Women's dining service is in the women's dormitories.

The Little Theatre serves as a dramatics workshop and theatre-in-the-round.

The President's Home is the first building the visitor sees as he enters the campus.

The Herbert E. Wadsworth Field House, seating 2,400, contains facilities for men's physical education. It has one of the largest basketball floors in northern New England.

The Harold Alfond Arena, adjoining the fieldhouse, provides artificial ice in an enclosed and covered rink with seating for 2,000 spectators.

Athletic areas include two football fields, two baseball diamonds, a soccer field, fourteen tennis courts, and playing fields for field hockey, archery and informal games. Johnson Pond offers an excellent area for outdoor skating.

Opportunity is offered for concentration in two interdepartmental majors, American civilization (advisers: Mr. Yokelson and Mr. Bridgman) and philosophy-mathematics (advisers: Mr. Clark and Mr. Combellack).

Requirements for the major in American civilization

History 281, 282, and four additional semesters of American history; any four semester courses in American literature, exclusive of English 367, 368; Economics 241, 242; Philosophy 351 and Religion 312; and two semesters in American government selected with the approval of the adviser.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses that count toward the major.

Requirements for the major in philosophy-mathematics

In philosophy: 212 and either 211 or 112; 331 and 332; 357 and one further course in the department.

In mathematics: six semester courses, to include 361, 362.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses that count toward the major.

Students should consult one of the advisers before planning to enter this major and should register for the first course in mathematics in the freshman year.

Chairman, Associate Professor Zukowski

Professor Williams; Associate Professors Seepe and W. Zukowski; Assistant Professor Fisher, Mr. Gemery, and instructor.

Requirements for the major in business administration

Business Administration 221, 222, 321, 322, 413, 414; Mathematics through 112d; Economics 241, 242; and two semester courses selected from the following: Mathematics 241, 242, 243, 244; Economics 336, 338 or any additional courses in business administration.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all business administration courses. If, in lieu of courses in business administration, courses from the approved group are used to satisfy major requirements, these grades must also be included.

Students planning to do graduate work in business administration should consult with the chairman of the department of business administration early in their college career.
ECONOMICS

Chairman, PROFESSOR BRECKENRIDGE
Professors Breckinridge and Pullen; Assistant Professor Bober; and instructor.

Requirements for the major in economics
Economics 241, 242, and eight additional semester courses in economics. Students interested in business may substitute business administration 221, 222 or 321, 322 for two of the eight semester courses in advanced economics required for the major. They may, of course, elect additional courses in business administration.

Students who wish to be recommended for graduate work in economics are urged to include Economics 331, 336, 341, 342, 371, and 411. If a student intends to be a candidate for the Ph.D. degree, he should acquire a reading knowledge of French and German, and a working knowledge of elementary statistics.

The point scale for continuation in the major applies only to courses in economics, except that Business Administration 221, 222 or 321, 322 will be counted if substituted for courses in advanced economics in fulfilling the major requirement.

EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY

Chairman, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR GILLESPIE
Professor Johnson; Associate Professors N. Smith, Perez, and Gillespie, Visiting Associate Professor Hazelton and Assistant Professor Fozard.

EDUCATION

Education 313, 314 and 413, 414, meet the requirements of the Maine State Department of Education for the two year provisional secondary certificate granted to college graduates who have completed twelve semester hours in education and psychology, of which but six may be in psychology.

These courses also are acceptable in most states toward secondary school certification, and may be considered background for later specialized work in institutions which prepare teachers for elementary schools. The student planning to teach in another state should study carefully the specific requirements of that state.

1 On leave second semester, 1962-63
2 Second semester, 1962-63
Freshmen and sophomores considering teaching as a career should consult the director of the education program. Special methods courses may be included among those presented for certification. The special methods course now offered is French 413, Teaching of French and Spanish in the Secondary School.

The sequence of education courses listed in this catalog provides the minimum requirement for teacher certification in most states.

The student must have, in addition, sound preparation in an academic subject commonly taught in high schools. In view of present-day needs, the prospective teacher should have a B or better average in his major field of concentration.

Candidates for positions as directors of physical education in Maine are required to obtain a special certificate. This requirement may be met by completing a year-course in biology or physiology and Physical Education 311, 312.

PSYCHOLOGY

Requirements for the major in psychology

For students entering with the class of 1965 and in subsequent years, requirements for the major in psychology are: Mathematics 112d and 241; Biology 101, 102; Psychology 211, 212, 353, 381, 382, 451, and two additional semester courses selected from among Mathematics 211d, 212d, 242; and 243, 244, or from other offerings in psychology. Students who entered with the class of 1964 or earlier are expected to approximate these requirements as nearly as possible; programs satisfactory to the department will be arranged in consultation with individual students.

The point scale for continuation in the major applies to all psychology courses plus all other courses presented in fulfillment of the major.

Students contemplating the major in psychology must take Mathematics in their freshman year.

HISTORY AND GOVERNMENT

Chairman, Professor Mavrinac

Professor Mavrinac; Associate Professors Gillum, Raymond, and Rothchild; Assistant Professors Berschneider and Bridgman; Mr. Weinbaum, Mr. Tabari, and instructors.

1 On leave 1962-63
2 1962-63
The department offers majors in both history and government. Attention is invited to the opportunity for concentrating in American civilization. (See page 65.)

Requirements for the major in history
Social Science 121e, 122, plus eight semester courses in history and two semester courses in government. A student may not count both History 121e, 122 and Social Science 121e, 122 toward this requirement.

As of the class of 1963, one of the required semester courses in history must be numbered in the 400's.

Social Science 121e, 122 is the beginning course in history; it is required of all majors of the class of 1964 and classes thereafter. Students planning to major in history should enroll in one of the special history sections of the course.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in the department and to Social Science 121e, 122.

Requirements for the major in government
Social Science 121e, 122, plus eight semester courses in government and two semester courses in history. Members of the class of 1963 and earlier classes are exempt from the Social Science 121e, 122 requirement. The normal sequence of courses for a student majoring in government is: Social Science 121e, 122 in the freshman year, Government 233, 234 in the sophomore year, and six additional courses in government during the junior and senior years, including Government 321, 322 and at least one semester course in government numbered in the 400's.

Social Science 121e, 122 is the beginning course in government; it is required of all majors of the class of 1964 and classes thereafter. Students planning to major in government should enroll in one of the special government sections of the course.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken in the department and to Social Science 121e, 122.
PHILOSOPHY AND RELIGION

Chairman, Professor Clark
Professors Clark, Osborne; Associate Professors Reuman,¹ Toddrank,² Visiting Lecturer Haldar,³ Mr. Hudson, Mr. Bachrach and instructor.

Requirements for the major in philosophy
Philosophy 112 (unless waived by special permission of the department); 211, 212, 318, 331, 332, 353 and three additional semester courses in philosophy. Social Science 121, 122 may, with special consent of the department, be substituted for two of the latter.

Requirements for the major in philosophy and religion
Religion 111, 213, 214, 314 and 491 or 492; Religion 315 or Philosophy 372; Philosophy 211, 311, 332 and 354.

The point scale for retention of each of the above majors applies to all courses that count toward the major.

Combined majors are offered in philosophy-mathematics and in classics-philosophy. (See pages 65 and 62.)

Recommended to the general student as beginning courses in the department are: for freshmen, the sequence, Religion 111, Philosophy 112; for sophomores and upperclassmen, Philosophy 211, 212; for upperclass students interested in historical development and great figures in western philosophy, Philosophy 331 and 332.

² On leave second semester, 1962-63
³ 1962-63

SOCIOLOGY

Chairman, Professor Birge
Professor Birge; Assistant Professors Geib and Rosenthal.

Requirements for the major in sociology
Sociology 221, 222, and eight additional semester courses in sociology, including Sociology 311, 312; Economics 221, 222 or Economics 241, 242; and two semester courses in history.

The point scale for continuation of the major applies to all courses required for the major.

² On leave second semester, 1962-63
³ 1962-63
Students planning to enter social work should, at the beginning of their sophomore year, consult with their instructor concerning requirements. The course on social work cannot be offered for credit toward the major in sociology.

Division of Natural Sciences

Chairman, Associate Professor Fairley

The division offers a combined major in geology and chemistry. Its object is to provide a broad integration of classical geology with aspects of chemistry, mathematics, and physics underlying modern advances in geological science. Advisers: Mr. Hickox and Mr. Machemer.

The requirements for the major in geology-chemistry
Freshman year: Mathematics 111, 112d or for qualified students Mathematics 112d, 211d; Chemistry 141, 142.
Sophomore year: Mathematics 112d, 211d or for qualified students 212d, and another course to be chosen in consultation with the adviser; Geology 251, 212; Physics 141, 142.
Junior year: Chemistry 221, 222; Geology 241, 242.
Senior year: Chemistry 321, 322; Geology 311, 312.

Students should consult one of the major advisers regarding election of languages and other required courses in the freshman and sophomore years.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses in geology and chemistry.

Biology

Chairman, Professor Scott

Professor Scott; Associate Professor Terry; Assistant Professors Davis and Easton.

The requirements for the major in biology
Mathematics through 112d; Chemistry 141, 142; four years of biology including 101, 102 and one additional year of science. Students preparing for graduate study in the biological sciences, including biology majors who plan to enter dental, medical or veterinary schools, must take physics and organic chemistry. It should be noted that requirements for the Ph.D. degree in areas of biological science include a reading knowledge of two modern foreign languages.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to Chemistry 141, 142; Mathematics through 112d; and all courses in biology.

Students are encouraged to take courses at approved summer laboratories such as the Marine Biological Laboratory at Wood's Hole, Massachusetts. Such courses may be approved for credit toward the major requirement.

The department holds seminars Tuesday evenings to discuss current topics in biology. Senior majors are required to attend and participate.

Chairman, Professor Reid

Professor Reid; Associate Professors Ray and Machemer; Visiting Associate Professor Richey; Assistant Professor Chipman. The chemistry department is accredited by the American Chemical Society for training on the undergraduate level. The courses offered in the professional major furnish the maximum depth consistent with adequate breadth in the field of chemistry, providing preparation either for university postgraduate work or for a responsible position in chemical industry.

Requirements for the professional major in chemistry

Required courses (subject to minor change by permission of the chairman of the department):

Freshman year: Chemistry 141, 142; Mathematics 111, 112d or for qualified students Mathematics 112d, 211d;

Sophomore year: Chemistry 221, 222; Mathematics 211d, 212d or for qualified students 212d, and another mathematics course chosen in consultation with the adviser; Physics 141, 142.

Junior year: Chemistry 223, 224; 321, 322; German 101, 102.

Senior year: Advanced Chemistry (one or two courses); German 103, 104.

Two years of French and a second course in physics are highly recommended.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all chemistry courses.

2 1962-63.
Requirements for the non-professional major in chemistry
Chemistry 141, 142, 221, 222, 223, 224, 312.
Other courses, best suiting the needs of the student, should be selected in consultation with the head of the department.
The point scale for retention of the major applies to all chemistry courses.
Attention is called to the combined major in geology and chemistry (see page 70).

GEOLGY

Chairman, Professor Koons
Professor Koons; Associate Professor Hickox; Mrs. Austin; and Instructor.

Requirements for the major in geology
Geology 101, 102, 211, 212, 241, 242; 311, 312, 352; Mathematics 112d; Chemistry 141, 142.
The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken in the department.
Students planning professional careers in geology should remember that graduate schools will require for admission a summer field course or its equivalent, at least one year in physics and biology, and, frequently, additional mathematics; and that candidates for the doctorate must demonstrate a reading knowledge of at least two foreign languages.
Attention is also called to the combined major in geology and chemistry on page 70.

MATHEMATICS

Chairman, Professor Combellack
Professor Combellack; Associate Professor Lucille Zukowski; Assistant Professors Junghans and Wheeler; Mr. Hayslett, and Instructor.

Requirements for the major in mathematics
Mathematics 112d, 211d, 212d, 311d; 312 or 381, 361, 362, 421, 422; 423, 424.
The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken in the department.
Attention is invited to the combined major in philosophy-mathematics (see page 65).

1962-63
Physics and Astronomy

Chairman, Professor Bancroft
Professor Bancroft, Associate Professor Fairley, and Assistant Professor Beatty.

The department seeks to train students to think analytically in terms of the fundamental principles of physics. Subject matter in courses is selected to illustrate basic laws with wide applicability. The course offerings provide excellent background for graduate study in physics, astronomy, or the other natural sciences.

Requirements for the major in physics

Physics 141, 142 and two semester courses in mathematics should be taken in the freshman year. Chemistry 141, 142, Mathematics 211d, 212d and Physics 231, 232 should be completed by the end of the sophomore year. For further work in the department, at least a C grade is normally required in each of these courses. Completion of a major requires at least two further semester courses in mathematics, and four additional courses in physics, including Physics 401, 402.

The point scale for retention of the major applies to all courses taken in physics, chemistry, and mathematics.

It is recommended that the physics major fulfill his college language requirement in either German or Russian. Students contemplating graduate work should acquire a reading knowledge of both, or of one of these plus French.

Division of Air Science

Chairman, Professor Starker
Professor Starker (Major); Assistant Professors Culp (Captain), and Woodard (Captain).

Qualified students successfully completing the air science courses will be commissioned second lieutenants in the United States Air Force Reserve upon graduation.

Outstanding senior students exhibiting fine qualities of leadership and character may be designated distinguished graduates, which makes them eligible to compete for a regular officer career.
Full academic credit is given for each AFROTC course. Air Science 121 and 222 may be taken in fulfillment of area requirements (see page 17). Two phases, basic and advanced are described as follows:

The basic phase consists of Air Science 121, 122 in the freshman year and Air Science 221, 222 in the sophomore year. Three classroom hours and one field laboratory period per week are scheduled for each course. These courses, or their equivalent, are prerequisite for the advanced course.

The advanced phase consists of Air Science 321, 322 taken during the junior year, and Air Science 421, 422 in the senior year. These courses have four classroom hours and one field laboratory period per week.

Advanced course students must attend four weeks of summer training at an Air Force base between the junior and senior years. During this period they are paid approximately $75 per month plus travel pay, quarters and food, uniforms and medical care.

During the advanced phase, cadets receive approximately $27 per month and are issued an Air Force officer's uniform.

A student must apply for enrollment in the advanced course. If acceptable to the president of the college and professor of air science, the student will be enrolled upon signing a contract agreeing to (1) complete the advanced courses, (2) attend the summer camp, (3) accept a commission upon graduation. A student must not have reached his 25th birthday at the beginning of this phase.

AFROTC graduates have an excellent opportunity to become officers in such fields as electronics, intelligence, administration, personnel, public information, meteorology, law, research and development, and logistics. Qualified graduates may receive further training as pilots or navigators in the United States Air Force. Qualified veterans may be commissioned in the Air Force Reserve without active duty obligation upon graduation and may be selected for pilot or navigator training in the Air Force.

The Department of Air Science sponsors the rifle team and the Arnold Air Society organizations which are administered by members of the advanced cadet corps.

More detailed information may be obtained by writing directly to the professor of air science, Colby College.
Division of Physical Education and Athletics

Chairman, Professor Loebs

Professor Loebs, Associate Professors Marchant, L. Williams, and Winkin; Assistant Professors Marjorie Bither, Gulick, Holt, and Simpson; Mr. Weinbel, and instructors; Dr. Dore; Mrs. Fortune, R. N., and Mr. Nelson.

Physical education is required of all freshmen and sophomores, being both a graduation requirement and an integral part of the curriculum. Its intent is to stimulate interest and develop skills in a variety of individual and team games, stressing sports that have a carry-over value to the days after graduation. Participation is subject to the approval of the college physician and his staff.

The physical education program for men includes required classes, intramural sports, intercollegiate athletics (varsity and freshman) and informal recreational activities.

Physical Education 1, 2, instruction and supervised competition in seasonal sports during the year, is required of all freshmen.

Physical Education 3, 4, instruction and supervised competition in seasonal sports during the year, is required of all sophomores.

A semester's work failed in the first two years must be repeated in the junior year. Selection of physical education sections must be made at the time of the regular academic course elections. A prescribed uniform, required for physical education activity classes, may be secured at the college bookstore. Lockers and towels are provided. Participation on varsity or freshman teams may be substituted for physical education section assignments, within the season or seasons, during the freshman and sophomore years.

The Intramural Athletic Council, composed of a representative from each participating unit, promotes athletics for men; every student is free to engage in the activities of his choice. Competition is organized in touch football, soccer, basketball, bowling, hockey, ping-pong, volleyball, winter sports, track, softball and tennis. As new interests develop the program will be increased.
Open to all students are the activities of the Colby Outing Club: hiking, canoeing, mountain climbing, skiing, and skating. The indoor Harold Alfond Arena provides artificial ice for skating.

All freshmen and sophomores are required to attend three classes each week in physical education. Each student may select her activities after she has included the departmental requirement of a team sport, an individual sport, and dance.

In addition to class instruction, the department cooperates with the Women's Athletic Association in carrying on tournaments throughout the year. The Dance Club provides an opportunity for those interested in dance. Swimming instruction is given at the Boys Club pool as well as a Red Cross Water Safety Instructors' course. There is skiing instruction for beginners on the campus and many use the Sugarloaf and Farmington ski areas. Women's skating classes have instruction in basic figures and dancing in the Alfond Arena.

Juniors and seniors may participate in physical education activities for credit in the Women's Athletic Association.

All participation is subject to the approval of the college physician.

Seasonal offerings from which election may be made are:

- Fall: archery, field hockey, golf, tennis and modern dance
- Winter: badminton, basketball, folk, square and modern dance, swimming, volleyball, skating, skiing and body mechanics
- Spring: archery, golf, lacrosse, softball, tennis and modern dance

Athletic teams, varsity and freshman, include baseball, basketball, football, hockey, track, golf, tennis, skiing, and soccer. All coaches are members of the faculty in the department of physical education. Colby is a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Eastern College Athletic Conference. For more than 60 years, keen rivalry has centered in the State Series of the Maine Intercollegiate Athletic Association, whose membership consists of Bates, Bowdoin, Colby and the University of Maine.
Intercollegiate athletic contests are under the supervision of the director of intercollegiate athletics. Advisory control is exercised by the Committee on Athletics composed of members of the faculty. The rules that govern intercollegiate sports are those adopted by the athletic conferences in which Colby holds membership.

No member of the freshman class and no undergraduate previously enrolled in another college or university and in attendance at Colby College for less than one full college year is eligible to represent Colby on varsity athletic teams.

Before matriculation, each student must present a satisfactory health certificate, signed by a physician, including evidence of tetanus toxoid immunization and chest x-rays. It is recommended that polio immunization be completed prior to entrance.

All students are required to supplement the college health service program with students' accident and sickness insurance, details of which are provided prior to the opening of the fall semester.

The 32-bed Sherman M. Perry Infirmary in Roberts Union is maintained under direction of the college physician and staffed by registered nurses. Surgeons and other specialists are available at nearby Thayer Hospital.

Students are entitled, without extra charge, to an unlimited number of visits to daily sick call at the dispensary and, for two weeks in every college year, to use of the Perry Infirmary. For those boarding on campus there is no additional meal expense during confinement except when special diets are required.

The college limits its responsibility to illnesses occurring during the academic year. The college health service does not provide laboratory procedures, prescriptions, glasses, dentistry, or specialized diagnostic techniques. Students, or their parents, are free to select their own physicians or hospitals but, in such cases, the college health service does not assume responsibility for the fees.
Adult Education and Extension

Recognizing the diversity of educational interests existing in every community, Colby College maintains a division of adult education and extension with a full-time director.

During the academic year this division arranges conferences, such as the Annual Institute for Maine Industry. Each summer more than 2,000 individuals from throughout the nation are on campus for courses and institutes covering a range of subjects from Great Books to Hospital Administration. High school teachers of science and mathematics attend the six weeks Summer Institute for Science, sponsored by Colby and the National Science Foundation. Doctors enroll in the Lancaster Courses in Ophthalmology.

Since 1955 Colby has assisted teachers to earn certificate credit, presenting courses through simultaneous telecasts from three stations which reach into Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, New York and Canada.

Information as to any of these activities may be obtained by writing to Professor William A. Macomber, director.

Summer School of Languages

Colby has conducted a summer school of languages since 1948. French, German, Russian, and Spanish are offered at the elementary, intermediate, and advanced levels.

Courses are of the intensive type, each covering in seven weeks a full year's work at the college level. The faculty is composed of native or bilingual instructors drawn from many colleges.

The school is organized especially for the training of the individual who looks ahead to graduate or foreign study, positions or travel in foreign lands, translation work, foreign language teaching, or government service.

Between high school graduation in June and college matriculation in September, a high school graduate can earn a year of college language credit.

Literature concerning the school is available from the director, Professor John F. McCoy.
Courses of Study

Each course is known by a title and also, for convenience of reference and ease in record-keeping, by subject and number: Introduction to Design is also Art 231.

The first digit indicates the class or classes eligible to take the course:

- 100 — open to freshmen,
- 200 — ordinarily open to sophomores, and classes above,
- 300 — ordinarily open only to juniors and seniors,
- 400 — ordinarily restricted to seniors.

The second digit may be:

- zero — either semester of a year-course, with credit given only on completion of the two semesters;
- an even number — either member of a pair of closely related semester courses (special permission of the department is required to take the second without the first); or an odd number — an independent semester course.

The last digit shows the semester in which the course is offered. Courses ending in odd numbers are first semester (fall) courses while those ending in even numbers are given in the second semester.

Thus Art 231 may be elected no earlier than the sophomore year (as it is a “200 course”); it is an independent one-semester course (shown by the 3, an odd number); and it is given in the first semester (since the final digit is also odd).

The letter a after a course number indicates an accumulative course, in which course-credit may be obtained only through an accumulation of credit over several semesters.

The letter d after a course number indicates that the course is repeated each semester. The d followed by the number 1 or 2 is used to designate a course being given out of its usual semester. Geology 313d2 would be an independent semester course for juniors or seniors ordinarily given in the fall but this year being presented in the spring instead.

The letter e after a number indicates an E course, the first of two closely related semester courses. When so designated, a mark of E may be given for the first. E designates provisional failure, but the deficiency may be made up by satisfactory completion of the sequentially related course in the immediately following semester. When thus made up, the first semester mark is changed to one determined by the instructor.
An $E$ course finally carries a separate permanent mark for each semester.

A year-course (with zero its second digit) may not be dropped at midyear without loss of credit; nor may it be entered except at the beginning of the year. In a year-course the mark at midyear merely indicates the student's standing at that time. The end-of-year mark is the only finally recorded mark for the course, and no credit is given until that mark is recorded.

[] Brackets indicate that the course will not be offered in 1963-64.

* An asterisk indicates that the course will probably not be offered in 1964-65.

† A dagger indicates that the course will probably be offered in 1964-65.

A schedule of hours and rooms for courses listed in this catalog is available at the recorder's office at registration periods.

Courses listed are subject to withdrawal at the discretion of the college administration.

Air Science

121, 122

Air Science I

Air Science 121 is Social Science 121e, Social Thinkers in the Western Tradition. Air Science 122, Foundations of Aerospace Power, examines the factors of aerospace power, major ideological conflicts, requirements for military forces in being, responsibilities of citizenship, development and traditions of the military profession, role of the professional officer in American democracy, the armed forces as factors in the preservation of national security, and the United States Air Force as a factor in the security of the free world.

Leadership laboratory (both semesters): customs of the service, military courtesy, and basic drill.

221, 222

Air Science II

Air Science 221, Fundamentals of Aerospace Weapons Systems, is an introductory survey of aerospace missiles and craft, their propulsion and guidance systems; target intelligence; electronic warfare; nuclear, chemical and biological warheads; defensive, strategic and tactical operations; military implications of space operations; and a survey of contemporary military thought.

Air Science 222 is Philosophy 212, Critical Thinking.

Leadership laboratory (both semesters): non-commissioned officer training.

Art

121, 122
Introduction to Art
Staff

In the first semester, an analytical approach to the visual arts and the historical development of European art through the Middle Ages. In the second semester, the history of art from the Renaissance to the present.

231
Introduction to Design
Mr. Meader

Principles of visual design will be presented, discussed and put to work in basic visual problems.
Limited to 40 students.
Prerequisite: General aptitude and interest.
A background in drawing is not necessary.

232
Introduction to Drawing and Painting
Mr. Meader

A working opportunity in the creative aspect of the visual arts. The student will explore graphic media and paints while learning basic representational and expressive means.
Prerequisite: Art 231 or permission of the instructor. Prior drawing experience is helpful.

252
Architecture
Mr. Miller

A survey of architectural styles with emphasis on modern developments. Work in the course includes problems in architectural design and the making of models of historical buildings.

271
American Art
Mr. Miller

A survey of architecture, sculpture and painting from colonial times to the present. Lectures and problems make use of the original material in the Colby collections.

*311
Art of the Renaissance in Northern Europe
Mr. Carpenter

The art of France, Germany and the Lowlands in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries with emphasis on the major painters from Van Eyck to Brueghel. Special attention is given to the graphic arts (woodcuts and engravings) in Germany.
Prerequisite: Art 121, 122 or permission of the instructor.

†[312]
Art of the Renaissance in Italy

The art of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries in Italy, with emphasis on the major painters and sculptors.
Prerequisite: Art 121, 122 or permission of the instructor.
314
VENETIAN AND BAROQUE ART
MR. MILLER

The art of the sixteenth to eighteenth centuries, with emphasis on the major painters.
Prerequisite: Art 121, 122 or permission of the instructor.

318
MODERN ART
MR. CARPENTER

In this course special attention is given to French painting of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.
Prerequisite: Art 121, 122 or permission of the instructor.

321, 322
ADVANCED DRAWING AND AN INTRODUCTION TO OIL PAINTING
MR. MEADER

This course will explore graphic media and oils as vehicles for fully formed original expressions.
Prerequisite: Art 231, 232 and special permission.

411
SEMINAR IN ART CRITICISM
MR. CARPENTER

Primarily for seniors majoring in the department. Practice in employing critical method, reading, and discussions of various approaches to art criticism are directed toward study of the present state of knowledge in this field.

Astronomy
IN THE DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS AND ASTRONOMY

101, 102
DESCRIPTIVE ASTRONOMY I
MR. FAIRLEY AND STAFF

The earth as an astronomical body. The moon, the sun and the solar system as a whole. The planets, asteroids, satellites, comets and meteors. Theories of the origin of the solar system. Stellar astronomy. The stars, their distribution, constitutions, evolution, and probable future development.
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

103, 104
DESCRIPTIVE ASTRONOMY II
MR. FAIRLEY AND STAFF

This is the course 101, 102 supplemented by regular laboratory sessions. Astronomy 103, 104 satisfies the distribution requirement in laboratory science. Astronomy 101, 102 does not.
Prerequisite: permission of instructor.
212

Celestial Mechanics and Navigation
Mr. Fairley

The orbits of planets, satellites, comets, etc. Double stars and eclipsing stars. Introduction to marine and air navigation. The problem of determining position on the earth's surface by means of observations of celestial bodies. Emphasis is on modern methods.

Prerequisites: Astronomy 102 or 104 and Mathematics 112d or equivalent.

Biology

101, 102

General Biology Staff

An introduction to the science of biology.

†[221, 222]

Botany

Biology 221 is devoted to plant evolution, ecology and investigation of Maine flora. Considerable time is spent in the field, including one weekend trip. Students are required to make plant collections. Biology 222 emphasizes the structure and physiology of the higher plants.

Prerequisite: Biology 101, 102.

231

Embryology
Mr. Scott

A study of animal development with emphasis on the vertebrates. Laboratory study involves the frog, the chick, and the pig.

Prerequisite: Biology 101, 102.

232

Comparative Anatomy of the Vertebrates
Mr. Easton

A study of the development of typical form in present-day vertebrates, through consideration of homologies in extinct and living animals, illustrated by dissection of representative forms. This course is organized to form a sequence with Biology 231, which the student is urged to take before 232.

Prerequisite: Biology 101, 102.

Invertebrate Zoology
Mr. Davis

A study of the morphology, physiology and classification of the invertebrates in lecture and in laboratory. The last few weeks of the semester are spent largely in the field, gaining familiarity with invertebrate fauna and preparing collections.

Prerequisite: Biology 101, 102.

Chemistry

141, 142
General Chemistry
MR. MACHEMER

Selected fundamental principles of theoretical chemistry and systematic inorganic chemistry. Second term laboratory work is devoted to semimicro qualitative analysis. No previous knowledge of chemistry or physics is necessary.

221, 222
Quantitative Analysis
MR. RAY

A theoretical and practical course in fundamentals of gravimetric and volumetric methods of analysis. Laboratory, emphasis is on acquisition of manipulative skills. Lectures are devoted to principles underlying chemical analysis, literature of analytical chemistry, precision and sources of error. A minimum of six hours per week of laboratory work.

Prerequisite: Chemistry 142.

223c, 224
Organic Chemistry
MR. REID

A survey of the chemistry of aliphatic, aromatic and heterocyclic compounds from the point of view of synthesis, structure, properties and uses.

Prerequisite: Chemistry 142; 223 is prerequisite for 224.

312
Chemical Principles
MR. MACHEMER

Elements of physical chemistry especially planned for pre-medical students. Laboratory work emphasis is on quantitative physico-chemical experiments. Offered on demand by three or more students. This course may not be taken for credit in addition to Chemistry 321, 322.

Prerequisite: Chemistry 142, 221 or 222; Physics 142.

321, 322
Physical Chemistry
MR. RAY

A study of the laws governing the physical and chemical behavior of substances, including the theories and methods of physical chemistry. Special emphasis is given to the application of physical chemical principles to the solution of problems.
This course may not be offered for credit in addition to Chemistry 312.

Prerequisite: Chemistry 142, 221, 222. Mathematics 222. Physics 142.

421, 422
ADVANCED ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY
MR. MACHEMER

Instrumental analytical chemistry, affording theoretical and practical instruction in the use of special instrumental methods, such as colorimetric, conductometric, amperometric, potentiometric, gas-volumetric, spectrophotometric, and others.

441, 442
ADVANCED PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY
MR. RAY

Important topics in physical chemistry are discussed from rigorous points of view. The material can be varied to suit the needs of the student, and may include extended treatment of surface chemistry, chemical kinetics, thermodynamics, etc. Laboratory work may involve projects of a semi-research nature.

461, 462
ADVANCED ORGANIC CHEMISTRY
MR. REID

The chemistry of alicyclic and heterocyclic compounds is considered from the point of view of mechanism of reaction, and includes synthesis, structural determination of natural products and molecular rearrangements. Laboratory for the first semester consists of qualitative organic analysis; for the second semester, individual semi-research projects.

467, 468
GENERAL BIOCHEMISTRY
MR. CHIPMAN

A study of the chemical components of living matter and of the major processes of cellular metabolism, including the fundamental chemical characteristics of biological compounds and enzymatic reactions. Laboratory work deals with the physical and chemical concepts necessary to understand the nature of living systems. Opportunity for individual projects.

Prerequisites: Chemistry 224, and Biology 102 or permission of the department.

481, 482
ADVANCED INORGANIC CHEMISTRY
MR. MACHEMER

Modern theories and concepts of atomic and molecular structure, with appropriate descriptive and synthetic laboratory work.

1 All advanced courses meet for two hours of lecture and a minimum of four hours of laboratory work per week. In addition, conferences and extra readings may be required. The chemistry major should regard the advanced courses not only as opportunities for advancing and consolidating his undergraduate training, but also for gaining a foretaste of the intellectual climate common in industrial research laboratories and chemistry graduate schools.

All advanced courses have as prerequisites: Chemistry 142, 221, 222, 224, 322. Chemistry 421, 422 and 441, 442 are given only as warranted by demand.

Classics (in translation)

IN THE DEPARTMENT OF CLASSICS

These courses require no knowledge of Latin or Greek. Attention is drawn also to the course in the history of the ancient world, History 261, 262.

Classics 231
Classical Epic Poetry

Reading of major works of Greek and Roman epic poetry in translation, with particular attention to Homer's Iliad, Vergil's Aeneid, and Ovid's Metamorphoses. Study of the poems is accompanied by a general introduction to classical thought and mythology.

Classics 232
Classical Drama

Reading and analysis of classical tragedy and comedy, with particular attention to the tragedies of Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides.

Prerequisite: Classics 231, or English 222 (or equivalent) or 281.

Economics

241e, 242
Principles of Economics

An introductory course in the principles of economics and their applications to modern economic life.

Course 241 is prerequisite for 242.

321, 322
Economics of Government Regulation

A study of the role of government in economic life, with emphasis upon the regulation of competition and monopoly and of public utilities.

Prerequisite: Economics 241, 242. Course 321 is prerequisite for 322.

Major Economists, 1750-1900

Mr. Breckenridge

An examination and appraisal of the contributions of the major economists from Adam Smith to Alfred Marshall to the development of economic thought. Extensive use of source material will be made.

Prerequisite: Economics 241, 242.

International Economics

Instructor

Prerequisite: Economics 241, 242. Course 381 is prerequisite for 382.

Comparative Economic Systems

Instructor

Prerequisite: Economics 241, 242.

Seminar in Economics

Mr. Bober

The topic to be analysed will be determined at the first meeting of the seminar. Emphasis is placed upon development of the student's knowledge of the methodology of the discipline and his acquisition of necessary research skills.

Prerequisite: Economics 241, 242; at least two additional semester courses in economics; and permission of the instructor.

Education

In the Department of Education and Psychology

Philosophy of Education

Mr. Smith

Philosophical positions held by theorists from Plato to Dewey; primarily for teacher candidates majoring in subjects commonly taught in high schools. Other students may elect this course with permission of instructor.

Introduction to American Education

Mr. Smith

The American school in historical perspective with emphasis upon present-day issues and problems.

Prerequisite: Education 313.
413
Human Growth and Development
Mr. Smith

A course in developmental psychology from the pre-natal stages through the adolescent period.
Prerequisite: Education 314 or equivalent.

414
Educational Psychology
Mr. Smith

The learner, the learning situation and the learning process are the three major topics to be discussed in this course.
Prerequisite: Education 413.

431
Education Practicum
Mr. Smith

This course carries six semester hours of college credit, the equivalent of two semester courses.
Class discussions include: methods in classroom management, problems of the beginning teacher, preparation and presentation of subject material, testing and evaluation, and the professional responsibilities of the teacher.
Observation of classes in local schools is required prior to student teaching during January.
Prerequisite: Education 413, taken concurrently, and an average of B or better in student's major.

451
Seminar in Education
Mr. Smith

Independent study of a special problem in the field of education. Readings, field study, reports and final paper.
Prerequisite: an average of B or better in the student's major and permission of the instructor.

English

121c, 122
English Composition
Mr. Mackay and Staff

Training in clear, accurate, and intelligent use of the English language. Required of all freshmen.

131d
General Speech
Mr. Witham and Staff

A general course in the fundamental principles of the composition and oral delivery of speeches.

152
Advanced Speech
Instructor

A study of the work of significant figures in rhetorical theory and oratory. Rhetorical problems of composition will be emphasized.
21c, 222
INTRODUCTION TO LITERATURE IN ENGLISH
CRS. COMPARETTI AND STAFF
A general introduction to literature in the English language through a study of selected English and American authors. Required of all sophomores.
Prerequisite: English 121.

ARGUMENTATION AND DEBATE
INSTRUCTOR
A study of the principles of argumentation with application in extended persuasive speeches and formal debate.
Prerequisite: English 131 or permission of the instructor.

54
ORAL INTERPRETATION
INSTRUCTOR
Principles of selection, analysis, and preparation of poetry, prose, and drama for oral presentation before an audience.
Prerequisite: English 221.

281, 282
DEVELOPMENT OF THE THEATRE
MR. WITHAM
Drama in the western world from the ancient Greek to the beginnings of modern realism. Significant plays are read and discussed against the background of developing production techniques and the social and intellectual context.
Prerequisite: English 121. Qualified students may be admitted to the second semester without the first.

311
ANGLO-SAXON LITERATURE; MEDIEVAL LITERATURE I
MR. MACKAY
English Literature from the beginning to 1400. The first half considers Beowulf, selected Anglo-Saxon lyrics, Round Table material, early ballads, and selections from Piers Plowman. The latter half is devoted to Chaucer's Canterbury Tales.
Prerequisite: English 221, 222.

MEDIEVAL LITERATURE II
MR. MACKAY
An intensive study of Troilus and Criseyde and the Book of the Duchess, and selections from the Parliament of Fowls, House of Fame, and Boece.
Prerequisite: English 311, or permission of the instructor.

†[314]
THE EARLIER RENAISSANCE
A brief study of a few major authors — and concepts — of the Italian Renaissance as a background to an intensive study of such authors as More, Erasmus, Wyatt, Surrey, Sidney, and Spenser.
Prerequisite: English 221, 222.

†[315]
TUDOR DRAMA
A study of the development of English drama from 1485 to 1602. Attention is on major types and major dramatists including Heywood, Kyd, Greene, Dekker, and Marlowe.

Mathematics

111 (Formerly 123)
Elementary Functions
STAFF

The elementary mathematical functions and selected topics from college algebra, plane analytic trigonometry, and plane analytic geometry.

Prerequisite: three years of college preparatory mathematics.

112d (Formerly 124)
Calculus I
STAFF

A continuation of Mathematics 111 and an introduction to elementary differential and integral calculus.

Prerequisite: Mathematics 111 or satisfactory achievement in the mathematics placement examination (see page 31).

211d (Formerly 221)
Calculus II
MRS. ZUKOWSKI AND INSTRUCTOR

Further study of differential and integral calculus, with selected applications.

Prerequisite: Mathematics 112d.

CONTEMPORARY MUSIC
MR. RE
Study of trends in the art of music following the time of Wagner and the late romanticists. Consideration of varied techniques of twentieth century composers.
Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

APPLIED MUSIC
Private lessons in voice, piano, organ, violin, viola, violoncello and bass viol are available at additional cost. To fulfill credit requirements, students must have a one hour lesson and practice a minimum of six hours each week. There is no credit for the freshman year. Thereafter each three semesters of such private instruction may be applied, as the equivalent of one semester course, toward requirements for the college degree.

Students interested in private lessons in voice are referred to Mr. Roger Nye or Mrs. Freda Gray-Masse; in stringed instruments to Mr. Max Cimbollek, Mrs. William Fiedler or Mrs. Robert Reuman, in piano to Mr. Peter Re and in organ to Mr. John E. Fay.

For participation in the college glee club, the symphony orchestra and college band, a student may receive credit for a one year course provided he is an active member of one of the above organizations through four years in college and has by his senior year completed requirements in any one course offered by the department of music. No credit is given for less than four years of active participation. If this credit is applied toward graduation, payment must be made on the established per course basis.

The Administration of Health and Physical Education

MR. WINKIN AND MISS MARCHANT

Administrative policies, practices, teaching methods, and standards pertaining to the execution of a modern program of athletics, physical education, and recreation in the public schools.

Prerequisite: special permission.

Note: women's section of 311 and 312 will be offered in 1963-1964 but not in 1964-65.

Physics

141, 142
General Physics
Messrs. Bancroft and Beatty

An introductory course, quantitative in nature, stressing the interpretation of physical problems in graphical and analytical terms. A grade of C or better in this course is prerequisite for all further work in the department. Laboratory.

Prerequisite: Mathematics 111, 112d or equivalent (either passed or taken concurrently).

231
Modern Physics
Mr. Beatty

An elementary introduction to the fundamentals of modern physics. The basic principles of relativity and the quantum theories of atomic and nuclear physics are studied in detail as are topics in molecular and solid state physics. Laboratory.

Prerequisites: Physics 141, 142 or Chemistry 141, 142, and Mathematics 112d or equivalent.

232
Classical Mechanics
Mr. Fairley

An introduction to analytical mechanics. Extensive use is made of vector analysis and of the calculus. Insofar as is practicable, the laboratory work is focused on the material developed in the classroom. Laboratory.

Prerequisite: Physics 141, 142, and Mathematics 212d (either passed or taken concurrently).

311
Thermodynamics and Kinetic Theory
Mr. Beatty

The two basic laws of thermodynamics are studied, and their applications to ideal gases and to systems of a single component are considered in detail. The kinetic theory of gases, including transport phenomena, is also studied, with some reference to the methods of statistical mechanics. Laboratory.

Prerequisites: Physics 142, and Mathematics 212d (either passed or taken concurrently).
Optics and Atomic Spectra

Mr. Bancroft

A study of light and the structure of the atom as revealed by the spectroscope. Consideration is given to the first order theory of geometrical optics in some detail, followed by physical optics, including interference, diffraction, resolution, and measurement of wavelength. The spectrum of the “one-electron atom” is studied in detail. More advanced spectroscopic problems and the structure of the atom are discussed as class interests dictate. Laboratory.

Prerequisite: Physics 231, 232.

Electricity and Magnetism

Mr. Bancroft

An introduction to electromagnetic theory and the theory and practice of electrical measurements. Classical problems in electrostatics and magnetostatics are considered. Electrodynamical phenomena are analyzed, and Maxwell’s equations are discussed in their vector form. Laboratory work centers around direct and alternating current components and networks, with particular reference to bridge measurements. Some material on electronics is included. Laboratory.

Prerequisites: Physics 232, Mathematics 311d, 312 (either passed or taken concurrently), or consent of the department.

Contemporary Physics

Staff

Recent discoveries and theories in physics and astrophysics, including some topics and areas of particular interest to the staff. Laboratory.

Prerequisite: Physics 231; 401, 402 (401, 402 may be taken concurrently).

Advanced Physics

Staff

Topics selected to meet the needs of the individual student. Suggested studies are introductory theoretical physics and/or special experimental problems.

Prerequisites: junior standing at least, and permission.

Prerequisite: Sociology 221, 222.

312
HISTORY OF SOCIOLOGICAL THEORY
R. BIRGE

A survey of the history of sociology, and a critical examination of the systems of thought about society and human nature. The place of theory in social research is emphasized.
Prerequisite: Sociology 221, 222.

INTRODUCTION TO SOCIAL WORK

This course will focus on the nature of social work, including some considerations of its history. It is designed to acquaint the student with types of social work now practiced and some of the modern techniques. There will be at least three required field trips during October and/or November. This course cannot be used to fulfill the requirements for the major.
Prerequisite: Sociology 221, 222.

DELINQUENCY AND CRIME

Delinquency and crime are studied in social and cultural perspective; conditions and situations which encourage anti-social conduct, the philosophy and practice of punishment, and programs for reducing or eliminating delinquency and crime.
Prerequisite: Sociology 221, 222.

352
RACE AND MINORITIES

This course presents the major problems of race and minority groups in the modern world.
Prerequisite: Sociology 221, 222.

Preparation for Graduate and Professional Schools

The dean of the faculty is general adviser on matters related to graduate study; information on graduate programs is available in his office. He works closely with department chairmen, major advisers, and members of faculty committees to inform students of opportunities for fellowships and scholarships in graduate schools. From this office students may obtain information on graduate and professional school admission tests for prospective applicants to graduate schools of arts and sciences, law, medicine, and business administration.

ARTS AND SCIENCES

Every year Colby graduates enter many different graduate schools to work toward advanced degrees in art, music, history, classics, English, economics, modern languages, sociology, psychology, philosophy, or the natural sciences. Interested students should confer with the chairmen of their departments, their major advisers, and the dean of the faculty. Seniors having such intentions will be advised to take the Graduate Record Examination.

LAW AND GOVERNMENT SERVICE

The faculty committee on professional preparation for law and government service advises students preparing for careers in these areas. The pre-law student may major in almost any field, but the student who has a specific goal in mind will profit from early consultation with members of the committee. The law school admission test is given at the college each year.

DENTISTRY

Although some dental schools admit applicants after three years, and sometimes only two years, of college work, the leading schools prefer students with a college degree. As in medicine, there is no demand for a particular major. Each applicant, regardless of his major, must meet the specific requirements in biology, chemistry, physics, and English, which differ with different dental schools.

The pre-medical preparation committee is advisory to candidates for dentistry, as well as to those for medicine. The dental aptitude testing program is not administered at Colby.

MEDICINE

Medical schools do not require a particular major but do require high standing and the inclusion of biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics, English, and foreign languages in the student's college program.

The faculty committee on professional preparation for medicine, which should be consulted by the student early in his freshman year, strongly advises that mathematics be pursued at least through the first year of calculus. Organic chemistry as well as general chemistry is usually required.

The medical college admission test is ordinarily taken in the spring of the student's junior year.

ENGINEERING

While at Colby the engineering student must attain mastery of the necessary mathematics and science to support him in the intensive study of engineering which will follow. In his Colby program, however, he is assured a broad grounding in the humanities and social sciences as well.

The faculty committee on professional preparation for engineering serves as adviser to students intending to enter graduate schools of engineering.

THEOLOGY

Colby has a long tradition of preparing graduates for the ministry. There are representatives of Colby alumni among the clergy of many denominations, and over the years a considerable number have done missionary work.

The theological preparation committee of the faculty, in cooperation with the college chaplain, serves as adviser to students who plan to enter seminaries.

SECONDARY SCHOOL TEACHING

Colby offers no major in education, but does offer courses to enable prospective teachers to qualify for the two-year provisional grade B or the five-year provisional grade A secondary certificate from the Maine State Department of Education. The major subject must be one ordinarily taught in high schools.
Because of variation in the certification requirements of different states a student who wishes to teach in a state other than Maine should obtain information from the appropriate department of education.

More and more students planning to teach in high schools are now thinking in terms of a fifth year of preparation at the university level. Many Colby students have participated in such fifth-year programs. Financial assistance is available to qualified students at many universities.

The secondary school teaching committee of the faculty serves as adviser to students interested in a program leading to teaching at this level.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The training for positions in business and industry offered by the graduate schools of business administration at Harvard, Chicago, Cornell, the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, and the Amos Tuck School of Dartmouth College, leads many Colby graduates to seek admission into these and similar schools. The department of business administration serves as general adviser for graduate work of this sort. Seniors who have such a program in mind are encouraged to take the admission test for graduate study in business.
