"AN EVENT IN THE LITERARY HISTORY OF AMERICA"

WE invite all our readers to join us, on January 29, 1945, at the north-west corner of Nassau and Ann Streets, in the city of New York, in celebration of the centenary of an important event in the history of poetry in the United States.

For the benefit of those who are unable to accept this invitation, we herewith provide a pre-view of the centennial program. All who go to that corner of Nassau and Ann Streets, not far from the southern tip of Manhattan, will there see a bronze tablet which explains the reason for the pilgrimage. This tablet not only marks a spot, but also provides an amount of bibliographical information not readily accessible elsewhere. Even those who have no sentimental interest in literary pilgrimages may therefore be glad to have a transcription of the tablet. It reads:

UPON THIS SITE 1844 - 1845

EDGAR ALLAN POE

OCCUPIED A DESK IN THE EDITORIAL OFFICE OF N. P. WILLIS'S
NEW YORK MIRROR. DURING THAT YEAR AT THE NOON HOUR HE READ
TO HIS ACQUAINTANCES UPON THE VARIOUS NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHED IN THIS VICINITY — IN SANDY WELSH'S REFECTORY ON

POEM IN THE NEW YORK EVENING MIRROR WEDNESDAY JANUARY TWENTY

THUS TWICE ANTICIPATING ITS ISSUE IN THE AMERICAN WHIG REVIEW
