

1980

Colby Alumnus Vol. 69, No. 2: Winter 1980

Colby College

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.colby.edu/alumnus>

Part of the Higher Education Commons

Recommended Citation

Colby College, "Colby Alumnus Vol. 69, No. 2: Winter 1980" (1980). Colby Alumnus. 108.
<https://digitalcommons.colby.edu/alumnus/108>

This Other is brought to you for free and open access by the Colby College Archives at Digital Commons @ Colby. It has been accepted for inclusion in Colby Alumnus by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Colby.

The Colby Alumnus

Winter
1980

The Colby Alumnus
(USPS 120-860)
Volume 69, Number 2
Winter 1980

Published quarterly
fall, winter, spring, summer
by Colby College

College editor
Mark Shankland

Editorial associate
Richard Nye Dyer

Design and production
Martha Freese Shattuck

Photography
Mark Shankland

Letters and inquiries should be sent to the editor, change of address notification
to the alumni office

Second-class postage paid
at Waterville, Maine

Postmaster
send form 3579 to
The Colby Alumnus
Colby College
Waterville, Maine 04901

Cover photo

A peculiar winter left Waterville without snow until January 22, much to the delight of these skaters on Johnson Pond. The following weekend, however, snow-lovers such as this sledder were thrilled to find the campus blanketed for Family Winter Weekend.

CLASSICS: A Colby Tradition

by Peter Westervelt,
Professor of Classics

Informed observers have detected a reawakening of interest in the study of Latin and Greek among students across the country. Noting this development, the Alumnus asked Professor Westervelt, chairman of Colby's classics department, to report on classical studies at the college.

THE RESURGENCE OF INTEREST IN classical studies in very recent years, noted with increasing frequency and not without some astonishment, is hardly the immediate outgrowth of current trends in American education. Once the staple of the college curriculum, first Greek, then Latin, their old authority questioned, their particular efficacy no longer understood, succumbed to what was in effect a challenge to the very concept of the liberal arts ideal. The shift away from the classics was probably inevitable; Faulkner writes of those "who two thousand years hence will still be throwing triumphantly off the yoke of Latin culture and intelligence of which they were never in any great permanent danger to begin with." Voices outside the academic community, neither sympathetic toward its purposes nor patient with its methods, cry with persistent regularity for results that are immediate and tangible. Those within, faithful to the ideal, committed to the task of training the mind to think logically and of contributing, in Dr. Johnson's words, "to the enlargement of our sensibility," are yet tentative about the most effective means of attaining this tenuous goal. Fashions in teaching necessarily change, especially as interests shift. Much of the new concern for classics derives from exposure to things unknown to the college catalogue in the protected days of Latin and Greek. However fortuitously a student may happen upon classical art or archaeology, history or philosophy, he is usually surprised, often fascinated by what he discovers. This proves, of course, a sounder source of strength than a required curriculum. Yet very recently there has emerged, often from unexpected quarters, an awakened awareness of the particular contribution of Latin and Greek as a form of study and of what without them we have lost. An article in Newsweek this fall noted the spread of Latin in the elementary school, especially for inner-city students whose English is below grade level. Not only is this unlikely development proving extremely effective; it may, as it sweeps the country, soon lead to a shortage of Latin teachers. One still hears from time to time the old justification that Latin "helps you with your English," but when it takes the place of remedial reading, things have come full circle. The cry for Greek is no less improbable. In an article that first appeared in the New England Journal of Medicine, Dr. Lewis Thomas, in a spirited defense of the value of the liberal arts, calls for "some central, core discipline, universal within the curricula of all the colleges, which could be used for evaluating the free range of a student's mind, his tenacity and resolve, his innate capacity for the understanding of human beings, and his affection for the human condition. For this purpose I propose that classical Greek be restored as the centerpiece of undergraduate education. The loss of Homeric and Attic Greek from American college life was one of this country's disasters."

Classics at Colby has been a persistent tradition. Reflecting its own unique version of a national phenomenon, its saga proves both nostalgically engaging in its own right as well as retrospectively suggestive. The classical languages have been part of the Colby curriculum since 1820, in the hands in the

Professor Westervelt

John B. Foster

very early years of one designated professor of languages. From 1833 to 1872 there were in succession and without interruption four professors of Greek and Latin languages and literatures. In 1872, at a time of extensive curricular revision and academic change, the two languages were divided into separate departments. Professor John B. Foster, who had been on the faculty since 1858, became professor of Greek language and literature, while Professor Julian Taylor, who had been a tutor since 1868, became professor of Latin, a position he held (eventually as Taylor Professor of Latin) until his retirement in 1931. His service of 63 years is considered, we think, to be the longest teaching record at any American college. The final decades of the 19th century were the golden age of Greek studies with a required curriculum including two years of Greek and the possibility of continuing electives; from 1882 until Professor Foster's retirement in 1893 the Greek department comprised two faculty members to Latin's one. Professor Foster's statement of purpose in the college catalogue of 1873 is stirring. He claims as his intent in Greek "to make the study conduce as far as practicable to give refinement of taste, nicety of discrimination, facility of analysis, precision of thought, and elegance of expression." Professor Taylor's claims for Latin: "The logical power developed by the analysis of its complicated structure, and the habits of precision acquired in translation go far to form a free, forcible and accurate English style" have continued, sporadically, to be voiced long after the period of assured enrollment in which these words were written. Even the professor of modern languages could begin: "In the study of French an attempt is made to utilize the knowledge of Latin possessed by the student."

IT IS clear, however, that the strength of Greek had begun to depend on the requirement. At the retirement of Professor Foster the attack began. Dean Marriner writes in The History of Colby College:

For some time previous to the coming of President Butler there had been increasing demand for what was called "a course without Greek." That meant that Colby should introduce a course culminating in a degree for which Greek should not be required either for admission or for graduation. To the die-hards of the conventional curriculum such a departure was unthinkable. Not to know Greek was to die in ignorance. Proficiency in Greek and Latin was the mark of a gentleman and a scholar. It should be noted that as late as 1897, there was no suggestion that Latin be abandoned, either for admission or for graduation. Latin was taken for granted, but Greek had had its day as a vested interest.

Four times between 1893 and 1897 the Trustees refused to establish a "course without Greek." At last, in 1897, they gave in. To meet the situation they established the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy. Students ignorant of the tongue of Socrates and Aristotle must not have the revered degree of Bachelor of Arts, but a lesser mark of distinction.

After this point the study of Greek declined; that it did not disappear altogether was due almost certainly to the extraordinary energy and spirit of Professor Clarence White who joined the faculty in 1903 and continued until 1934 as the lone professor of Greek. Yet despite the fact that he seems to have been one of the finest men ever to have taught at Colby, at a moment of temporary hysteria familiar to classics departments throughout their history, his position was nearly terminated and with it the Department of Greek. To return to Dean Marriner:

At the close of the First World War, through no fault of his own, White came near to losing his connection with Colby. The demand for courses in Greek had dropped so low that in June, 1918, the Trustees voted that the Department of Greek be abolished at the end of the ensuing college year. That action occasioned such remonstrance from indignant alumni that, in April, 1919, the Board voted to extend the date of implementation for a year, until July 1, 1920. They agreed that reasonable notice had not been given to Professor White. At the June meeting of the Board, President Roberts asked that the vote of abolition be completely rescinded. As a result a committee headed by Rex Dodge was appointed to reconsider the matter and report at the fall meeting. As a result of the committee's recommendation, the Board voted in November, 1919: "In view of the changed conditions, the vote of June 15, 1918, to abolish the Department of Greek, which action was based on uncertainties brought on by war conditions, is now rescinded." Fortunately for Colby Clarence White remained on the faculty and to this day the teaching of Greek at the college has never ceased.

Professor White was aware, however, that the attitude toward Greek, if "brought on by war conditions," was not likely to stop with the war. In the catalogue of 1919 there appeared for the first time in many years courses in the history of art, not limited to Greek and Roman, offered by Professor White in addition to his already incredible teaching load. He continued to offer this sequence even after his official retirement in 1934; not until 1945 did Colby engage an instructor in art who was unconnected with the classics. In 1928 White introduced a course in Greek civilization which he described as in effect a course in Greek history. It is interesting to note that in these days when the college was still training for the ministry and could boast of the missionaries it included among its graduates, of the eight courses, in addition to the two semester courses offered in Greek literature in translation, only two courses were in biblical Greek.

As Greek studies declined, Latin began to flourish. From 1904 through 1921 there were few years when Professor Taylor was not assisted by a full-time instructor, while in the last decade before his retirement one course in Latin was taught by a professor of mathematics and astronomy. Again in the final years part of the protection of Latin depended on the stature of Professor Taylor himself (who at a very advanced age was chairman of the faculty committee administering the college for the first year of the period between Presidents Roberts and Johnson), partly, perhaps, in that the college was depending on Professor Taylor's not inconsiderable fortune, most of which, as it emerged after his death in 1932, had been lost in the crash in 1929. It appears more than coincidental that just as the attack on the Greek requirement followed the retirement of Professor Foster in 1893, immediately following the death of Professor Taylor, the Latin requirement was eliminated.

THESE seem now distant days. While classics no longer holds a protected place in the college curriculum, its persistent strength derives from other sources. There is, as Dr. Thomas suggests, no substitute for Greek itself. For those, however, who choose to deny themselves Greek there are still valid and meaningful ways of coming to the classics. It is not only without embarrassment but with a growing sense of their importance that departments throughout the country have devised courses in classical civilization and literature in translation, confident that these studies, even without Greek or Latin, continue to exercise the power they have always exerted upon the civilized mind. Perhaps in part from their very remoteness from our own immediate experience, the achievements of the classical past, in particular the Greek (for as Dr. Thomas notes: "Greek is a proper discipline for the college mind"), capture the imagination. When in the spring of 1969 Professor Howard Koonce invited faculty participation for the following year in what was to become the Center for Coordinated Studies, the classics department responded in what proved in Homer and History one of the most satisfying teaching situations we have ever experienced. The program included three courses: the Homeric poems in English translation, Greece in the Bronze Age, and a writing course with readings in American fiction chosen to reflect in various ways the ancient material. Without quite knowing what we would do with it, we set aside a period of time one morning each week when all the students and the three instructors were free to meet together. These "coordinating seminars" became one of the most valuable aspects of the course. Homer's "golden Mycenae" had long been dismissed as poetic fancy; Schliemann's spade proved otherwise. Yet the more we learn of Mycenaean civilization through archaeological discovery, the more vexed becomes the problem: how much did Homer know and how did he know it? The weekly discussions became the forum for working our way through a wide spectrum of scholarly opinion from that of T.B.L. Webster, who asserts that Homer preserves a great deal of information about his Mycenaean inheritance, to M.I. Finley, who argues that his knowledge is negligible. The English readings provided parallels closer to home. Faulkner's Absalom, Absalom!, for instance, suggested how the Civil War might have acquired mythic status had it, like the Trojan War, been the achievement of an unlettered culture. The more familiar situations encountered in our own literature suggested how fact might come to be distorted into fiction and some of the impulses lying behind such transformation. We followed Homer and History in the spring with Greek tragedy, Athens in the fifth century, and a course in modern drama. Some of the students chose to do Greek; one discovered

Clarence White

College Year in Athens, which has since provided some of our students a junior year abroad. One group designed a sophomore program in medieval studies involving English and history. This continuation was to become eventually the basis of the new major in Ancient and Medieval Studies, since absorbed into Studies in Western Civilization. Such energy was not the exception. The center filled a very necessary curricular need, more crying now than ever before.

These new directions might seem strange to Professor Taylor, but the name of Professor Taylor is not strange to us. In the summer of 1973, Professor Dorothy Koonce participated in what proved to be the highly significant Conference on Educational Innovation and the Smaller Classics Department. Meeting and working with colleagues from all over the country, she discovered in how many ways their experience was like our own. One inevitable drawback of the small department is the inability to offer the needed variety of courses in specialized areas that should be of interest to the college in general. For the graduate student, on the other hand, attuned to the teaching needs of the large university, the exigencies of undergraduate teaching at a small liberal arts college may come as a shock for which he is ill-prepared. As a way of confronting these separate needs, Professor Koonce proposed the Taylor Lectureship in Classics, approved by the board of trustees in the spring of 1974. The lectureship is designed for a graduate student in classics, well-advanced toward his or her degree, for whom a year of full-time teaching, partly at least in his or her own field, would prove a valuable aspect of his or her graduate experience. Each fall we invite graduate departments throughout the country to submit nominations for the following year. During the five years since the formal inauguration of this program we have been able to include in our curriculum courses we have never had before: in Byzantine history, Greek and Roman art and archaeology, Greek and Roman religion, as well as specialized courses in Greek and Latin literature and in Roman history. In addition to expanding the course offerings for our students in a most dramatic way, the Taylor Lectureship has brought us stimulating colleagues of distinction and gained for the college for its principled commitment the respect of the classical world. Now reaching a wider audience than ever before, the name of Professor Julian Taylor lives on.

©Ripley's, permission granted by King Features Syndicate, Inc. 1974

Colby's Endowment: The Hard Facts

A discussion with Robert Pullen '41, Administrative Vice-President

How does Colby's endowment compare with those of the other New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC)?

Colby is next to the bottom. There are two ways to make comparisons between colleges. One is the total amount of the endowment. The other is endowment per student, which in some ways is a more valid means of comparison, but even there we're third from the bottom. In descending order, the approximate endowments of the NESCAC colleges (as of June 30, 1978) are: Wesleyan, $104 million; Williams, $78 million; Amherst, $75 million; Middlebury, $42 million; Bowdoin, $38 million; Trinity, $37 million; Hamilton, $33 million; Tufts, $32 million; Colby, $25 million; Bates, $18 million.

Our endowment is relatively small, so regardless of how effectively it is invested, our endowment income is going to be small as compared to that of our competitors. One of the reasons why we have to keep increasing our student charges and fees is because our endowment has been relatively stable, and the income from the endowment has been relatively stable. In that situation we've got problems in trying to compete with most of our peer institutions. It means they have funds to use that we don't.

We're very low in comparison, and this puts us at a great competitive disadvantage in some respects. If all other things were equal, and they aren't, we don't charge as much in student charges as they do, either. So here we are, charging lower student charges and our endowment income is lower, too. Yet we're trying to compete actively with these institutions that have much higher endowments.

How can that be—how can Colby have done that?

On one hand, there are some things that they are doing that we are not doing. There are some things that we're doing that we're not underwriting to the extent they are. And to some degree, I like to think that we've operated more efficiently. We know, in terms of our administrative staff, that we have a smaller staff than many of our competitors, if not most of them. We have run very lean indeed.

What is Colby's endowment now, and what was it 15 years ago?

As of June 30, 1979, the book value of Colby's endowment was $23,883,807, while the market value was $24,665,026. Fifteen years ago those figures were $9,829,404 and $12,666,761.

Could you explain the difference between the book value and the market value?

The book value is based on the original dollars that were put in to buy the securities, adjusted for additions and subtractions. The market value is the current value of the securities that you have. For example, if you take our current report, it might show that the original book value of our current portfolio is $23 million, whereas the current market value might be $25 million, or vice versa, depending on what's happening in the stock market.

Climbing College Expenditures— Inflation Fuels the Fire

Item	1964-65	1979-80
Annual Operating Budget	$4,695,000	$14,560,000
Faculty Salary Scales
Instructor	$6,000-9,000	$13,000-15,450
Assistant Professor	$7,000-12,000	$13,350-18,000
Associate Professor	$8,500-15,000	$18,700-24,700
Full Professor	$11,000-19,000	$22,300-37,200
Colby Gift Scholarships	$650,000	$1,750,000
Tuition yearly	$1,400	$4,725
Total Net Assets	$25,711,500	$49,976,897

What is endowment income used for?

It's used for anything that the giver of the endowment funds specifies. We have restricted endowments, and we have unrestricted endowments. The very meaning of endowment means that we can't use the principal amount, but the donor may restrict the use of the income or he may leave it unrestricted and tell us to use the earnings from the endowment for the general operating purposes of the college. Or, a person might give for a specific purpose, such as financial aid for students, or for library purposes.

One of the things that we started in the last building campaign was to try to raise funds to endow the operating costs of the new buildings.

What percentage of the endowment income is restricted vs. unrestricted?

Approximately 25 percent is restricted. From the college's point of view, we love to have endowment funds given to us where the income is unrestricted, for that gives us discretion in the use of those funds.

Why is the endowment so vital?

For a number of reasons. In a private institution, the cost of giving students an education is far higher than the amount they pay in terms of student charges. Therefore, to the extent that we can have endowment income, it supplements income from tuition and student fees, and enables us to compete a little more effectively with public institutions, which are underwritten so heavily by taxation.

Also, the endowment concept is important, because it does provide a vehicle by which people can help to underwrite the costs of operation of independent institutions. If you look historically at independent institutions, if you go back 25 years, I think, on the average, income from endowment represented about 25 percent of the revenue of the institution. Now, it's down to about half that. And this is the history of Colby, too. The more you have of endowment income the less dependent you are on student fees. This year, 10.8 percent of our general and educational revenues comes from endowment income.

What is the rate of return on Colby's investment?

Here you have to be careful. If you mean the income and dividends, the so-called current yield, I'd say it's about five percent. If by rate of return you're talking about the total return, which includes not only current yield but also appreciation, then you're talking about a larger percentage.

Has the college ever dipped into the endowment itself?

You cannot make use of funds if they're donated by people who say, "this is for endowment." It's only the totally unrestricted endowment funds that can be used. For example, let's go back to the Arey bequest of more than $2 million. There was no stipulation that it had to be put into our endowment, but the board of trustees can vote to do so. That becomes a quasi-endowment, and the board can spend that if it wants to do so. If you're talking about true endowment, you can't dip into it, you can't spend the principal amount. It's only in the case of "funds serving as endowment" that you can dip into the principal. Yes, we have dipped into that in this decade. We paid for some of our Science Campaign with quasi-endowment funds raised in the earlier Campaign for Colby. It is my impression that Colby has never dipped into endowment funds in order to meet budget deficits. Certainly not in this decade, though I can't speak for past decades.

How is the endowment managed?

The ultimate responsibility for handling the endowment is in the hands of the trustees. They delegate it to a trustee investment committee. In turn, the trustee investment committee has delegated certain powers to an investment council, which operates under guidelines set forth by the investment committee. The committee meets at least four times a year, and reports are given to the college monthly on the status of the endowment.

Vice President Pullen

Who are the investment committee members?

Gordon Jones '40 is the chairman. He is a senior vice-president of John Hancock. The other members are Clark Carter '40, John Deering '55, Wallace Haselton, C. David O'Brien '58, Paul Paganucci, Richard Schmaltz '62 and Ralph Williams '35. I'm the secretary, and Karl Broekhuizen, treasurer, also serves as a non-voting member.

What is the David L. Babson Co.?

They are our investment counselors. They are employed by the college and selected by the trustees to manage our investment portfolio funds. Within the general guidelines set forth by the investment committee, they make the specific decisions as to what securities are going to be purchased and when and the amounts involved.

Why pay someone to do that? Why couldn't the college do it?

Because we don't have the in-house expertise to do so. If you were going to do that, you'd hire experts to be on your payroll instead of paying a fee to an outside expert.

What percentage of the portfolio is in stocks and what percentage in bonds?

It's approximately two-thirds in equities and one third in fixed income securities. You have to make a decision between investment in equities and investment in bonds, stocks vs. bonds. Under current conditions, the income on fixed income securities is way up there, the rate is eight, nine, ten percent. Whereas with stocks, even those with relatively high dividends, it's down lower. If you go out for growth stocks, which by and large is the Babson philosophy, where you get appreciation of value over a period of time, then the total return, current yield plus appreciation, may be in the range of nine or ten percent or more a year. That's the goal of our investment policy—long term total return. Are you going to use your investment portfolio basically to benefit the current generation of students, or to benefit future generations of students, or are you going to arrive at some compromise? We've tried to arrive at a compromise.

If you're going to try to use the current portfolio to the very best advantage in terms of the highest possible return now, and use that income to help pay for the cost of our students' education, and I'm oversimplifying here, you'd put it all into high-yield bonds and fixed income securities now. Get the eight, nine, ten percent. But if you do that, you don't get appreciation.

If you go to the opposite extreme, and put all your money into growth stocks, growth stocks don't pay much in dividends. So if you put it into the long term growth stocks, you get very low dividends, but in the long run, if everything works out the way you hope, and you do get appreciation, you could have a 20 percent total return if you liquidated those securities.

We've tried to reach a reasonable compromise between those two extremes. We try to get good, solid return in terms of current yield in interest on fixed-income securities, and take a low current yield on the two-thirds in equities, but the combination of the two normally gives a return higher than current yield.

A year ago the board of trustees endorsed the Sullivan Principles, which are aimed at ending racial discrimination in South Africa. Investors are urged not to support corporations doing business in that country that do not subscribe to the principles. What has been the result of Colby's endorsement?

None yet. We have not changed our investments in any securities. In our portfolio there are securities in several companies that do business in South Africa. Most of the companies in which we have investments subscribe either to the Sullivan Principles or they have their own set of principles very much like the Sullivan Principles. The next step will be for the Advisory Committee on Investment Responsibility to analyze and evaluate the extent to which the companies are really implementing the principles. If we were to find out that some company was merely paying lip service to the principles, it's conceivable that the trustee investment committee might consider disinvestment.

Is it Colby's goal to increase its endowment in the years ahead?

I don't think there's any question that this will be a significant part of the next capital fund campaign. There are no goals set as yet, though.

NEWS FROM THE HILL

Charles Bassett

Dorothy Koonce

Howard Koonce

John Mizner

Seven Earn New Ranks

The promotions of seven faculty members were approved by the board of trustees at its winter meeting. The ranks become effective September 1.

Named full professors were Charles Bassett, English; Dorothy Koonce, classics; Howard Koonce, English; and John Mizner, English.

A faculty member since 1969, Professor Bassett is the director of the American Studies Program. He also serves as Colby's liaison officer for the Thomas J. Watson Foundation, which awards postgraduate fellowships for study abroad. Professor Bassett, who has written on Thoreau and Hemingway, has recently concentrated his studies on the prose fiction of John O'Hara.

Professor Dorothy Koonce is the director of the Studies in Western Civilization program. She joined the faculty in 1963, was chairman of the classics department from 1974 to 1977, and in 1967 was one of 100 U.S. scholars awarded a post-doctoral fellowship from the National Endowment for the Humanities. She is completing a book, Ritual Ceremony in Greek Tragedy, a study of the artistic use of traditional ritual forms.

A member of the English department for 17 years, Professor Howard Koonce is a scholar of 17th century English literature. He helped establish the Center for Coordinated Studies, the former living-learning complex that was discontinued in 1978, and served for a time as its director. From 1965 to 1967, he was administrative assistant to former President Robert E.L. Strider.

Professor Mizner, chairman of the division of humanities, has had a career-long interest in British and Continental Romanticism. He has organized and taught interdepartmental courses in English and French Romanticism, and has done research on Byron and Byronic irony. Professor Mizner, who was appointed to the faculty in 1963, is editing the papers of Henry B. Parkes, a distinguished scholar of American letters.

Promoted to assistant professor of English was Deborah McDowell, who received her Ph.D. from Purdue University in December. Her dissertation concerns black women writers of the Harlem renaissance.

Gene DeLorenzo '75, women's varsity basketball and softball coach, and Michel Goulet, men's varsity hockey coach, were both named adjunct assistant professors.

The Colby Overseers—Added Strength

Colby will be expanding its circle of close friends and advisors through an innovative program, The Colby Overseers, established by the board of trustees. The overseers will incorporate and replace the current Fellows program. They will not be a second governing board but, rather, will serve as an advisory council to the president and trustees. Members will be asked to perform special review tasks reflective of their own backgrounds, expertise and interests.

Overseers will be called upon to chair or serve as members of visiting committees, soon to be formed, or to be on trustee committees. They will be invited to meet annually with the board to receive the president's report on the state of the college and to join with trustees in offering comments, suggestions and criticisms at that meeting.

A primary goal of the overseers program is "to provide the college with the kind of supplementary advice and support necessary for this ever-changing and exceedingly complex institution."

Major Decisions from the Board of Trustees

The winter meeting of the board of trustees confirmed two facts. One, President Cotter is a vigorous leader who has, during his brief tenure, developed an amazing grasp of the workings of the college and of the challenges it faces. Two, the farsighted outlook that has characterized Colby in past years continues in full force. At the meeting, significant decisions were reached. Elsewhere in this issue an announcement on the newly-established Colby Overseers is reported. Among other decisions made by the board were the following:

Visiting Committees

The college will establish visiting committees for its academic and administrative departments as well as for other programs. The purpose will be to "assist the college in insuring quality, to provide outside counsel to the administration and the board, and to afford an additional outlet for the expression of faculty and student concerns."

Members will be composed of Colby Overseers, other experts in the field, as well as interested laymen with relevant backgrounds drawn from distinguished alumni, parents and other friends of the college. Committees will normally visit a particular program or department every third or fourth year. Committees will be chaired either by a trustee or a member of the Colby Overseers. Members of the visiting committees will be appointed by the president in consultation with the chairman of the board.

Investment Responsibility

The trustees accepted, in large measure, 15 recommendations by the board's investment committee regarding a report by the college's Advisory Committee on Investment Responsibility, whose chairman is economics Professor Thomas Tietenberg. That committee, when formed, was charged with implementing a resolution adopted by the board in 1978. It stated, "Colby College should be, and is, concerned with issues of social responsibility in connection with the investment of its endowment funds . . .," in particular the apartheid policies of the South African government.

Approximately 33 percent of the Colby portfolio is invested in corporations with employees in South Africa. The recommendations detail an aggressive stockholder strategy aimed at persuading U.S. companies doing business there into improving conditions for blacks in South Africa. The recommendations also offer guidelines for divestiture when companies fail to respond properly.

Library Renovations

The trustees approved the appointment of two firms to study the feasibility of expanding or renovating Miller Library. Retained were Shepley, Bulfinch, Richardson & Abbott of Boston, and Architects Design Group II, Inc. of Wellesley, Mass.

Working with members of the library staff, consultant Jay Luckner, library director at M.I.T., helped draw up space requirements which will be essential in making future decisions.

New Dormitory

Authorization was given to carry out the preliminary steps necessary for the construction of a new dormitory, including site selection, architect selection, a utilities study, and preliminary planning by an ad hoc committee.

The dormitory, which will provide space for approximately 100 students, will ease existing problems of overcrowding. No increase in enrollment is planned.

Fee Increase

The board voted a $1,120 increase in student fees for the 1980-81 year. Tuition was raised from $4,725 to $5,390; room charges from $725 to $990; board charges from $1,060 to $1,210; and the general fee from $250 to $290, for an annual total of $7,880.

In a letter to parents and students, President Cotter noted the effects that the unprecedented inflation of 1979 had on everyone's budget. "Colby is no exception. If anything, we are a bit more vulnerable to inflation than others, not only because a college is by definition a labor-intensive enterprise, but also because of the enormous quantities of fuel oil and electricity which we must consume."

He said that the room and board charges are budgeted on a break-even basis, and that the tuition increase represents, to a large extent, "salary adjustments and the general climb in the cost of other goods and services."

The financial aid budget has been adjusted to reflect the higher costs "so that the burden on the families of students currently receiving financial aid will not be disproportionately increased."

The president explained that tuition and fees will cover only 77 percent of the total educational expenses of the college in 1980-81. "The remaining 23 percent (which equals about $1,700 per student) will be provided by endowment earnings and the general annual gifts of Colby alumni, parents and friends."

Candidates of all persuasions visited Maine prior to the presidential delegate selection caucuses in February. California Governor Edmund "Jerry" Brown, Jr., sponsored by the Student Activities Office and the Student Association, spoke to a standing-room-only crowd in Lovejoy Auditorium on January 31. Governor Brown spoke with students and autographed at least one cast after his address. Morning Sentinel photo by Ron Maxwell.

Rush to Career Planning

Both students and recruiters have been streaming into the career planning office. The number of company recruiters to visit the campus is up 50 percent from last year. And as of mid-December, the number of seniors coming in for consultations surpassed the total number for the entire 1978-79 year.

Director Pat Hickson '73 suggests several reasons for the increases. For one thing, she sent personal invitations to recruiters who had quit coming to Colby, and many of them returned. She also notes that large corporations are again hiring the generalist with a bachelor's degree. In recent years, it seemed that such corporations were interested only in engineers and M.B.A. graduates.

As for the upsurge in student consultations, Hickson feels the seniors "seem more aware of the competitiveness of the job market." She also thinks that the informality of her office has attracted undergraduates.

She sees another trend developing—many of those who want to attend graduate school are working a year or two before applying. Last year 27 percent of the seniors went directly on to graduate school, but a recent survey shows nearly 85 percent of the Class of '73 attending graduate school within five years after leaving Colby.

Minority Lecturers Named

In an effort to increase the presence of minority lecturers at the college, the board approved a special allocation to hire three individuals on a part-time basis for the second semester. "Colby has had a difficult

Campus Unrest Coming Again?

... In the years ahead, facing uncertainties in the economy (when no one seems to know what is going to go wrong next, but it does anyway), the energy crisis, and the excruciatingly serious confrontations overseas, our country and our world will confront many frustrations. We see evidence from right and left (and from the right to the left) of the wisdom of Aristotle's warning that virtue in excess is a vice. We also know that the difficulties felt in the greater society will be magnified and intensified on a college campus, with the frustrations more keenly, indeed intensely, felt.

If powerlessness corrupts, then absolute powerlessness corrupts absolutely, and we in academe should expect irrational responses to frustrations, including displaced aggression, hostility, and pathological withdrawal, to increase as problems in the world increase. When this happens, and I'm afraid it will, someone on the campus must counter those who condemn the world and the college because of what we are, not by reminding them of what we are, of what we have been, and of what we can become. I believe the academic dean must present a perspective that shows not just our faults and our warts but also our achievements, our graces, and our satisfactions, all of those products of an educated intelligence which has produced great civilizations in the past and will probably do so into the future.

We need a perspective that includes a delineation of our strengths and not just fixations on our weaknesses, a view of ourselves and of our institutions as a part of a larger historical and contemporary context. It is the best of times. It is the worst of times. One major difference between the time of Dickens and now is just that: the present is now; our experiences, however, are not unique and outside the history of mankind. We must remember that.

The American Conference of Academic Deans can help us to a broadened perspective which I hope will be useful. As we discuss ideas with one another, talk with one another, listen to one another, we will probably discover that the problems which seem so intractable to us are probably intractable everywhere and perhaps in other forms have always been so. Often we must learn to live with the ambiguous and the insoluble in our institutional lives as we tell our students that they must learn to do so in their personal lives.

Remarks by Dean of Faculty Paul Jenson, as Chairman of the American Conference of Academic Deans in Phoenix, Ariz., January 1980 time recruiting and retaining black faculty," according to Paul Jenson, dean of faculty. "This program is a worthy attempt to do something for our students and I support it," he said.

Maceo Dailey, an instructor at Smith College, is teaching a history course entitled The Age of Booker T. Washington and W.E.B. DuBois: Black Intellectual History, 1870-1925. Douglas Davidson, who teaches at Hampshire College, is offering The American Ethnic Urban Experience, an American studies course. And Aaron Gresson, an assistant professor at Brandeis University, is conducting a human development course called Marginality: Comparative Studies in Individual and Collective Oppression.

Jenson said he hopes the college will be able to hire full-time minority faculty and staff members this coming year. Until then, "this is the next best thing."

Racial Incidents Anger the Campus

This past fall, a racial epithet was written on the wall of the library during inauguration weekend, "KKK" and other signs were scrawled elsewhere, and a black sophomore woman reported a number of incidents of racial harassment. These unfortunate events aroused the ire of the campus as a whole.

In a letter released to all students, President Cotter denounced these acts. He said, in part, that the college is "committed to increasing the diversity of our student body and to maintaining a community in which persons of all ethnic groups, religious affiliations, and nationalities are welcome." His statement was endorsed by the faculty, the Student Association Executive Committee, fraternity presidents, head residents and other student leaders. In addition, the administration called in the authorities to investigate.

The threat of prosecution and the condemnation of the college community seems to have had an effect. There have been no incidents since mid-November.

Once approval was given to build a new dormitory (see related story), Carol Johnson, Colby's landscape architect from Cambridge, Mass., was consulted about potential sites. In January, she considered various locations with a number of administrators, including President Cotter and Stanley Palmer, plant engineer.

Alumni Photography Exhibition Set

The photography show announced in the last Alumnus will be held from May 5 through June 8, 1980, in the Museum of Art. Any alumnus may submit photographs to exhibit in accordance with the following:

Number—a maximum of six matted and backed photos, either black and white or color, may be submitted.

Size—the maximum dimensions must not exceed 22 x 28 inches, matted.

The coordinator of the exhibition is Craig Stevens '69, who is associated with the Maine Photographic Workshop in Rockport. A jury of two professional photographers without Colby connections, one of whom is John Eide, head of the photography department at the Portland School of Art, will make the final selections.

All photographs should be received at the Colby Museum of Art by April 11. Ship to Hugh Gourley, director, between April 1 and April 11. Photographs will be returned following the show.

Colby Library Quarterly

Special Black Studies Issue

VOLUME XX NUMBER 4 DECEMBER 1979

A special December issue of the Colby Library Quarterly, under the guest editorship of Patrick Brancaccio, professor of English, is devoted entirely to black studies. One of the six contributors is Andrea Rushing, an assistant professor of black studies and English at Amherst College who has been at Colby on several occasions as a visiting lecturer. In an introduction, Professor Brancaccio said the issue was conceived as a means of illustrating the richness and variety of black studies. "Hopefully," he writes, "these essays will help open new perspectives into the intricacies of cross-cultural expression and expand the audience for this work."

Reunion '80

May 30, 31 & June 1

A special year for the classes of '30, '35, '40, '45, '50,
'55, '60, '65, '70 & '75.

Colby Authors

Chin Music: Tall Talk and Other Talk
by Alvin Schwartz '49
J.B. Lippincott, 1979

In Chin Music, illustrated by John O'Brien, Alvin Schwartz introduces young readers to American folk speech, particularly the colorful, funny words and sayings that once were part of the language in this country.

Do you ever "spread the mustard?" Are you "pudgetty?" Here, with all its "whoopity-scoot" fun is an A-to-Z dictionary of the words and sayings people made up and used when they sat around in the old days talking, telling stories and just "pirooting around." There are stories and rhymes that use the words, instructions for an old-time talking contest, and suggestions on how to make up new words of your own.

Since 1963, Schwartz has devoted nearly all of his time to writing books for young people. In addition to more than two dozen books, he has written 10 articles for publications as diverse as Public Opinion Quarterly and Cricket. He is an adjunct member of the English faculty at Rutgers University and is a frequent speaker at conferences of educators and librarians.

A Concise History of the Middle East

by Arthur Goldschmidt, Jr., '59
Westview Press, 1979

This timely work is an introduction to the history of Southwest Asia and Egypt from the beginnings of Islam to the present. It is distinguished by its broad scope, balanced coverage of various groups and countries, and the use of recent scholarship to correct many glaring misconceptions.

The author focuses on the evolution of Islamic institutions and culture, the influence of the West, the struggle of various peoples for political independence, and the development of the Arab-Israeli conflict. The organization of the book makes it ideal as a text for the college student.

Arthur Goldschmidt, Jr. is an associate professor of history at Pennsylvania State University and chairman of the university's undergraduate program in Middle East studies. He has lectured and conducted research in several Middle Eastern countries.

To Smile in Autumn

by Gordon Parks, D.F.A. '74

W.W. Norton & Company, 1979

This is a sequel to Gordon Parks's first two best-selling autobiographies, The Learning Tree and A Choice of Weapons, both of which spoke eloquently of one who is often referred to as a Renaissance man. This latest work reveals the man/artist in the recent and current prime of his career as a poet, journalist, photographer, composer and motion picture director.

It is an impassioned, truly candid and sometimes comical account of the years from 1944 through 1978, and he writes with unsparing self-scrutiny of his weaknesses and of those things that compelled him to communicate—as a militant or otherwise—across the boundaries of race.

In this memoir one meets a number of heroes. "Every country, city, and town has closets full of them," Parks writes. "I have seen a beast dressed in hero's clothing, and I have seen real heroes going about in rags searching garbage cans for supper. I've known all types, big fat ornery ones—black and white—who were so weightless you could carry them like balloons under your arm; and little ones, so heavy with honor and goodness it would take a thousand hands to carry them to their graves. O, the real size of a hero is determined by how you take his measure."

Gordon Parks

Photo by Rose Spert

Winter Sports: Some Great Moments but Many Disappointments

by Peter Kingsley, Director, News Bureau

The 1979-80 winter saw senior Patty Valavanis (Belmont, Mass.) become the first woman at Colby to gain 1,000 points in basketball.

Men's varsity hockey put its new puck-control attack to a test and gained an ECAC Division II playoff berth for the second time in three years. The quarterfinal game with Bowdoin started well for the Mules, but critical penalties in the second period allowed the Polar Bears to seize momentum for a 5-2 win.

Great expectations diminished as men's basketball lost some key players but managed a respectable showing in all but a few contests.

The inaugural women's teams in swimming and squash showed promise, while the men in those sports demonstrated competitive intensity. New swim marks were set.

There were record-breaking performances in men's and women's indoor track.

On the international scene, Carl Nelson, director of health services, served as a head trainer at the 1980 Winter Olympics in Lake Placid, N.Y., where he directed a staff of 14 therapists at the Athletic Therapy Clinic inside the Olympic Village.

Consistency and hard work is what Coach Gene DeLorenzo '75 called for from the women's basketball team. He received both. The hoopsters ran off nine straight victories, beginning with convincing ones over Mount Holyoke, Smith and Bates. Typical of the 12-member squad, led by Tri-captains Linda Alter '80 (Washington, D.C.), Nancy Chapin '80 (Barrington, R.I.) and Valavanis, was its recovery from an 11-point deficit in the closing minutes to gain a 65-56 victory over WPI, a 52-50 squeaker over Husson, and the first win ever, 60-59, over the strong Huskies of the University of Southern Maine. The undefeated string ran out, ironically, on Feb. 1, when Valavanis reached the 1,000-point milestone.

A dean's list student and a Charles A. Dana Scholar, Valavanis also became the third Maine women's player to reach the mark. Said Coach DeLorenzo, "It is a tremendous accomplishment. What Patty has done is a tribute to hard work, diligence, and a very intelligent approach to the game." At ceremonies, President Cotter presented her with the game ball. Her teammates gave her a bouquet of roses and a cake.

On the ice in Alford Arena the women's varsity skaters put together an 11-game undefeated string, winning over such teams as Boston University, Dartmouth, Harvard, Bowdoin, and Boston College. The run ended in a heartbreaking 2-3 loss to Northeastern with a tally at 10 seconds to go. Coach Bob Ewell '71 attributes success, after the initial four losses, to teamwork in scoring, improved defense, and the goaltending of Stephanie Vratatos '81 (West Roxbury, Mass.). The junior tri-captain had a .82 goals-against-average during the 11 games, while the rest of the team put in 58 goals.

Jubilant pucksters embrace after a goal in the opening win against American International College.

Men's ice hockey gained the distinction of being the only team to make the championship final every time in the three-year history of the State of Maine Holiday Hockey Classic in Portland by shocking Merrimack, 4-3. Though inconsistent at times, the pucksters made drama even in their losses as they bowed by one-goal margins to highly rated Middlebury, Plattsburgh State, Bowdoin, and Division I contender University of Maine-Orono.

In addition to concentrating on smart passing and quality shots, Colby's skaters had confidence in the net-minding of Joe Faulstich (Somerville, Mass.). The senior was consistently ranked among the top five in Division II. A balanced offense was led by Dan O'Halloran '80 (Waterville), Ed Ofria '81 (Arlington, Mass.), Dale Hewitt '80 (North Bay, Ont.), Marshall Hogan '83 (Smith Falls, Ont.), and Mark Kelley '80 (Waterville). They contributed to some high-scoring wins, as well as to some gratifying ones over strong Williams, University of New Haven, American International College, in addition to Merrimack.

It promised to be an exceptional year for men's basketball, but the absence of some players, including Co-captain Mark Lake '80 (Wilton), made games struggles but interesting. Revamped by Coach Dick Whitmore with some junior varsity players, the cagers were badly beaten in only two games, while coming within just a few points of winning over Salem State, Middlebury, Bowdoin, and Amherst. Upsetting top-ranked Boston State and Williams was sweeter. Leading the offense were guards Tom Zito '81 (Cranston, R.I.) and Paul Belanger '81 (Sanford), and Co-captain Dave Harvey '80 (Portsmouth, N.H.), while contributions from the bench came from Bob Patience '82 (Chappaqua, N.Y.), Jeff Douglas '81 (Winthrop), and Rick Fusco '83 (Revere, Mass.). Instead of a running game, the team relied more on defense and outside shooting. What hurt throughout, acknowledged Coach Whitmore, was low-percentage success from the charity stripe.

The second-year women's track team showed its potential by gaining a second-place finish in the Maine Association for Inter-collegiate Athletics for Women championships and sixth place among 16 teams in the Holy Cross Invitational. Exceptional performances came from freshman Liz Murphy (Hingham, Mass.), who established Colby records in the 60-yard dash, 7.0 seconds; the long jump, 15-2³/₄ feet; and the 220-yard dash, 26.6 seconds. Coach Rick Bell also cited the performance in shot put of Nancy Leland '81 (South Harpswell). She came in first in all but two meets and her 42-6 ft. toss is a Colby women's record.

Standouts among the trackmen were freshman Todd Coffin (Bath), senior captain Dan Ossoff (Beverly, Mass.), and Duncan Whitney '81 (Williamstown, Mass.), notes Coach Jim Wescott. In the prestigious Eastern Indoor Track and Field Meet, Coffin had a time of 4:15.3 minutes in the mile, second fastest in Colby history; Ossoff ran two miles in 9:10 minutes for second place in the Easterns; and Whitney took fourth in the 1,000-yard run with a time of 2:17 minutes. All three qualified for the New England Championships in Boston.

The swim program entered a new era with the addition of the women's varsity. Pacing the swimmers were Hilary Williamson '83 (Madison, Wis.), who had 17 first-place finishes in 18 races, and Wendy Shaffer '82 (Norwalk, Conn.), who took top honors in 13 out of 19. Williamson has qualified for the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women Division III National Championships.

Brian Daly (Kendall Park, N.J.) helped the men swimmers to another victorious season. The freshman was undefeated in 17 consecutive races and holds freestyle records in the 200, 500, and 1,000-yard competitions, notes Coach Dave Bright, 1975 graduate and a former varsity swimmer.

In its inaugural as a varsity sport, women's squash showed promise. "We will become more competitive in the next few years as the level of playing improves. I am very pleased at the progress the women have made in their first year," notes Coach Dick Taylor.

Senior Co-captain Glen Coral (Dover, Mass.) played the number one spot for the men's squash team, which had a competitive season. "For a young program, we had a fine year," adds Coach Taylor.

Baseball, Softball Schedules

MEN'S BASEBALL				WOMEN'S SOFTBALL
Apr	4	Holy Cross	A	Apr	11	Wheaton	A
	5	Clark (2)	A		12	Bryant	A
	9	Thomas	H		19	U.M.P.I. (2)	H
	10	U.M.F.	H		21	Thomas	A
	12	U.S.M. (2)	H		22	U.M.O.	A
	15	U.N.H.	H		25	U.S.M. (2)	A
	18	Williams	A		28	Husson (2)	A
	19	North Adams State (2)	A		29	U.S.M. (2)	H
	23	Bates	A	May	1	Bates	H
	25	Brandeis	A		7	Husson (2)	H
	26	Tufts (2)	A
	30	Bowdoin	H
May	2	Wesleyan	H	Schedules are subject to change; a check with the host athletic department is suggested. A complete spring sports schedule is available from Colby's athletic department.
	3	Trinity (2)	H
	5	Bates (2)	H
	7	Bowdoin (2)	A
	9	Nichols	H

Winter Sports Results

(as of February 25) (Colby scores first)

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL (14-5)

Mt. Holyoke 61-54; Smith 68-55; Bates 80-49; Salem St. 53-39; USM 60-59; Bates 62-49; Husson 52-50; UMM 71-40; Thomas 88-47; Clark 59-70; USM 47-40; UMF 62-66; Tufts 58-34; Husson 47-55; Bowdoin 51-63; WPI 65-56; Babson 61-37; Bridgewater St. 58-60; Bowdoin 42-29.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY (11-7-1)

UNH 0-9; Maine Merchants 1-4; Providence 1-3; Northeastern 0-4; BU 2-1; Dartmouth 3-1; UMO 11-1; Alumnæ 3-3; BC 2-1; Bowdoin 6-1; Harvard 4-0; UMO 11-0; BC 5-0; BU 1-0; Bowdoin 10-1; Northeastern 2-3; UNH 2-6; Wesleyan 6-1; Brown 2-6.

WOMEN'S SQUASH (11-11)

Bowdoin 6-1; UNH 2-5; Harvard JV 0-7; Howe Cup at Yale (Williams 0-7; Amherst 1-6; Tufts 1-6; Vassar 0-7; Franklin & Marshall 1-6; Wellesley 0-7); Tufts 0-7; Bowdoin 2-5; Bowdoin 0-7.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING (3-4)

Brandeis 74-61; Northeastern 38-101; Keene St. 68-66; Bridgewater St. 72-62; Clark 55-66; Bowdoin 50-89; UMO 53-76.

WOMEN'S TRACK (8-15)

Tufts 20-51; Providence 20-31; Holy Cross 20-18; Bowdoin 54¹/₂-57; Bates 54¹/₂-125¹/₂; Holy Cross Invit. 6th of 16; MAIAW (Bates 1-9; Colby 99; UMO 89; Bowdoin 49).

MEN'S BASKETBALL (9-13)

Suffolk 87-77; Bowdoin 87-89; Boston St. 94-92; Pace 65-77; Salem St. 74-75; Keene St. 76-91; Bates 82-71; Middlebury 88-89; USM 79-84; Williams 72-61; Amherst 59-60; St. Francis 92-84; Norwich 78-66; Clark 76-116; Bowdoin 70-72; Wesleyan 50-78; Trinity 60-77; Bates 70-63; Babson 73-74; Husson 98-104; Tufts 83-79; SMU 84-78.

MEN'S HOCKEY (11-11)

AIC 4-3; Lowell 0-4; Bowdoin 2-4; Merrimack 4-3; Maine 1-3; Maine 2-5; Salem St. 1-5; U Conn. 3-2; Boston St. 12-2; Williams 4-1; Union 6-2; Boston St. 9-0; Middlebury 2-3; Plattsburgh St. 2-3; New England 2-6; Norwich 10-4; Maine 1-2; Bowdoin 3-4; New Haven 7-4; Babson 0-3; Hamilton 4-3; Holy Cross 6-4.

MEN'S SQUASH (3-12)

Williams Round Robin (Columbia 0-9; Williams 0-8; Fordham 1-8; Cornell 5-4); Bowdoin 2-7; Amherst 1-8; Trinity Round Robin (Wesleyan 1-8; Bowdoin 2-7; Hobart 3-6; Trinity 0-9); UNH 7-2; MIT 0-7; Bowdoin 1-8; Tufts 1-8; Babson 6-0.

MEN'S SWIMMING (5-3)

Brandeis 68-40; Northeastern 57-56; Acadia U. 42-68; UNH 41-67; Keene St. 64-43; Bridgewater St. 83-25; Bowdoin 36-60; Babson 75-34.

MEN'S TRACK (0-9)

Fitchburg 82; Bentley 55; Colby 31; Bates 50-85; Tufts 72; MIT 70; Colby 23; UMO 77; Bowdoin 48; Bates 36; Colby 12; Bowdoin 47-92.

Class Correspondence

30 The class reunion is a rite of spring, and to celebrate it the far-flung members of 1930 have made the long journey to Waterville to attend many such gatherings over the years. This year's reunion is a special one for us, a golden jubilee for classmates who have experienced many of the same struggles and accomplishments along life's pathway. In nearly every reply to our class letter, the 50th reunion is mentioned. A number are already making plans to attend. Some, because of the circumstances of health and distance from the Colby scene, will not be on hand. A few who "have never been close to 1930" want to come, but are fearful that they will hardly know anyone. We would like to assure these classmates, that, once settled in the friendly confines of the dormitory area assigned to the reunioning classes, a certain osmosis sets in that sweeps everyone into the spirit of the occasion. The well-planned program also helps • G. Gilbert Henry, our class president, is busily involved with the planning for the reunion. He and his wife, Lillian (Morse '29), attended her 50th last June. Both were in the postal service when they retired in 1970. They sold their Ashfield, Mass. home and now make Delray Beach, Fla. their legal residence. Each year they plan to come to Yarmouth, Lillian's former home, for several months in the summer • Maxine Hoyt Richmond of Phillips, who retired after 34 years of teaching in 1976, uses her artistic skills in designing murals for the church and library in her home town, even designing the floats for the widely-known Old Home Week parade. She is the mother of Yvonne Knight '55, who is a professor of administrative science at Colby, and grandmother of Marc

Fisher '78. Maxine is looking forward to the 50th. She reported that she heard from Pauline Morin Miller • Norman Palmer, who retired last July from his post as professor of political science at the Univ. of Pennsylvania after 22 years on the faculty, expects to be an "unretired retiree." In August he had plans to attend a conference on Indo-American economic relations in New Delhi, and he and Evelyn also expected to take an air/sea trip to the People's Republic of China in the fall. Norman plans to attend the 50th, hopes for a good attendance, and is brimming over with ideas for the program. The reunion committee would do well to consider his thoughts about a "perspectives of half a century" dialogue • Manley Van Tassel is still recuperating at his Houlton home from serious injuries received in a 1976 automobile accident. His wife, Viola, reports that he has shown progress in walking with the use of braces and a cane. His eyesight is impaired, but he nevertheless enjoys good literature through the magic of talking books. Chances are slim for his attendance at the reunion, Viola says, but we can hope. Harold Grant, a fellow Houltonite, is a regular visitor • Dexter and Lucile Whitcomb Elsemore keep on the move, journeying between their summer home in Weld and their permanent residence in Chapel Hill, N.C., as well as spending a month on Jekyll Island, Ga., for golf. Dexter retired from medical practice in 1977, but Lucile says she is "still a homemaker and not retired." They report that George and Kathleen Bailey Andrews have moved to Dallas, Tex. Lucile had a note from Alice Bagley, who lives in Denver and who wrote of her interesting travels in mainland China for three weeks with a U.S.-China friendship group. Alice is interested in attending our 50th reunion if it does not come on the same weekend as the Univ. of Maine's, where she transferred after her freshman year at Colby • Frances Thayer retired from the dean of students office at Colby five years ago, but she still keeps in touch with college affairs by "pinch-hitting" in several offices on Mayflower Hill. Fran wonders how many remember Professor Eustis' class in elementary economics in our sophomore year. "Back in those days I'm sure 'Skeets,' as he was known then, felt that economics was not for women. He consigned the 10 or so women in the class to the very back of the large lecture room of the first floor of Recitation Hall and always addressed the class as 'gentlemen.' I was very happy when the large class was sectioned and the two senior women (Ruth Daggett Fuller '29 and Irma Sawyer Andrews '28) and I went into a much smaller class with Claude Stinneford '26 as instructor."

Class secretary: CHARLES W. WEAVER, JR., 76 East Stark St., Nashua, N.H. 03060.

31 This column will be short, chums, as I heard from only three of you. Hope to hear from you by the end of January with holiday news from many of you in the warm climes • I can start, however, with the good news that Wally Donovan was inducted into the Maine Sports Hall of Fame. We're all proud to know about that and congratulations on one and all • I finally met with Ethel MacDougall Aleman and had a grand time reunioning • I missed Fran Page Taylor again but know she's fine and off to Florida again. She had visits from Jennie Dunn Millett and John and Myrtle Paine Barker • Nice to hear from Orville Edes for the first time. He keeps cool swimming in the Gulf of Mexico and enjoys golf and Bay Shrine activities • Also, it was good to hear from Edward MacConnie in Connecticut. Highlight of his year was a family reunion with 36 people attending. He enjoys fishing and gardening as well as visits to fairs • I recently saw Richard Williamson. He hopes to attend a secondary school principals convention in Las Vegas, Nev. Ed—look up my son, Bruce • I am looking forward to my first no-snow Christmas. My husband and I planned to be with our son, Otis, and family in La Canada, Calif. near Los Angeles, for the holidays and the Rose Parade • Please note the following list and let the alumni office know if you have any of their addresses. Thanks. Nathan Cooperstein, Paul Davis, Arthur Esty, Francis McGowan, Arthur Meckenburg, Joseph Rogull, Henry Schick, Alice Le Poer Scrimgeour, Leon Tebbets • As a final note, anyone want to buy the footbridge over to Winslow? I understand you can. I'm sure many remember the geology trips across there, with you noble males making it rock and hearing some females squeal. I have memories of a frosty February night returning from a Robert Burns evening and a square dance there that took me parallel to the floor! Enough said.

Tribute to a Country Doctor

In 1929, Dr. Charles Smith '23 and his wife, Doris (Ackley '24), moved to New Hampshire's Mount Washington Valley, where he established a general practice of medicine. Last fall, more than 4,000 babies later, he was honored for 50 years of continuous medical service to the community at a testimonial dinner. "I must say," he jokingly told the 200 people attending, "we're amazed that so many people would come out to a thing like this and pay for their own dinners, too!" Among the many gifts and honors presented was a declaration by the Conway Board of Selectmen that September 6 would from now on be known as "Dr. Charles E. Smith Day." Dr. Smith is shown with his wife, with whom he celebrated 50 years of marriage last August.

Remember the class 50th reunion pledge and do your darndest to make it a biggy!

Class secretary: EUNICE FOYE HUTCHINS (Mrs. Linwood), Box 267, Hill Top Drive, Sagamore, Mass. 02561.

33 The Rev. Leonard Helie has been guest minister at many churches since his retirement. He graduated from Harvard Divinity School and did graduate work at Yale. He has served churches in Boston, Newport, R.I. and New York City. After 35 years in the ministry, he and Mrs. Helie have retired to Wiscasset, where he plans to do some writing and gardening. I remember the Rev. Helie best as a large obstacle intimidating me at the scrimmage line in interfraternity football • The office of alumni relations has apprised me of their inability to locate the following members of the Class of '33: Alziphia Moffett Foster, Marian Archer Graffman, Harry Jordan, Marie Lenochova Juzova, Alton Marsano, Robert Rosenberg, John Sherden, Anna Louise Tinkham, Maurice Zeserson. If you have knowledge of their whereabouts, please contact me or the office. Some of you may have lost track of those you would like to contact. If so, let me know and I will get their current addresses for you • Dorris Moore Cox recently notified me of the passing of her husband, Maurice. We extend our deepest sympathy to her • The alumni giving campaign is underway. I hope all of you will do your share to make the Class of '33 stand tall when the final count is in • How about our football team this year? It wasn't thus from 1929 to 1933 • Please drop me a note and let me know how you spent the holidays.

Class secretary: MYRON J. LEVINE, 45 Bonair St., West Roxbury, Mass. 02132.

34 As I write these notes, it is late autumn in Maine. This is hard to believe. On October 22nd the thermometer at the Waterville Savings Bank read 83°! Within this month there have been so many Colby activities: the inauguration of a new president, Homecoming Weekend, and great football games played by our winning team. You were not forgotten through all these events. A letter was in the alumni office ready to go out to you October 1st, but in all the excitement of the season, it was delayed. This year has indeed been a year of reunions for our class • Attorney Peter Mills was named the outstanding alumnus of Farmington High School at his 50-year reunion there. His citation read: "While in high school Peter Mills was active in sports and debating. He was president of his class for all four years, as well as captain of the football team in his senior year. After graduating from Colby College, he went on to Boston University School of Law. Then he had a long and distinguished political career, first as judge of Franklin County Municipal Court, then for 16 years as a United States District Attorney. This is the longest term on record for a United States District Attorney. In retirement, Attorney Mills is promoting the rehabilitation of Hippach Athletic Field in Farmington, and has also accepted a job from Governor Brennan of Maine as chairman of a volunteer 30-member task force on long-term care for adults" • Frances Palmer attended her 49th class reunion at Maine Central Institute in June, in Pittsfield. Then later in the summer Frannie went to the Maine Writers' Conference in Ocean Park • A few gals from our class shared a sort of Colby reunion in September when Elizabeth Weeks, Barbara White Morse, Eleanor Wheelwright Ness and I met for lunch at the Senator in Augusta. Louise Tracey '37, who was Elizabeth's sorority daughter, also met with us. I am happy to report that we had a great "meeting of the minds." Eleanor insisted that she had nothing noteworthy to report, but she and her husband have recently finished building a beautiful retirement home in Auburn—no small feat today. B.Z. has become known as "the Maine low art tile lady," and this lifetime hobby is truly a fascinating one. Years before she started collecting tiles, she took two courses in art appreciation at Nasson College, and this sparked her interest to search for low tiles in many places to which she traveled. Now B.Z. has become known as an authority on her subject. She has been published in Spinning Wheel, Yankee, Antique News, Antique Journal, National Antique Review, Canadian Collector, Pottery Collectors' Newsletter, and American Antiques. She sent me a copy of her last two-part article, and I found that the photographs of the tiles were absolutely beautiful. I wish that you could see them. You might be amused by the fact that when B.Z. wants to get the most intricate details, she borrows a camera from the Sanford police! Liz has a tremendous retirement project which will take her 10 years to complete. It has to do with setting up a Xerox cataloging system for the English libraries of 14 universities. I am hoping that Liz will send more details about this project when she is back home in California. Meantime I leave you with a picture of our intrepid Liz, traveling from her summer retreat in New Hampshire to Claremont, in her motor home, with her cat for company!

Class secretary: PEG SALMOND MATHESON (Mrs. Donald), Lakeview Dr., China, Maine 04926.

35 I thoroughly enjoyed the Colby Leadership Conference at the college, August 23-25. President and Mrs. Cotter warmly greeted attendees. A substantial and representative alumni group evaluated and shared ideas on Colby's present status and discussed its future priorities. The experience was stimulating and informative • Classmates J. Warren Bishop, Ann (Trimble) and David Hilton were there. We spoke of plans for our upcoming 45th class reunion. It will be a lively, once-in-a-lifetime event • Margaret Duerr Hill lives in Arlington, Mass. with husband Carrington, a former banker. They have four children, seven grandchildren. Now retired as a mathematician from Air Force Geophysics Lab, Hanscom A.F.B., Mass., Margaret recently spent two weeks at Newfound Lake, Bristol, N.H. Her daughter Nancy's marriage highlighted the past year. She's "taking life a little easier, spending more time with my family and twin sister," Emily Duerr Henry of Worcester, Mass., who has retired. Her hobbies include knitting, needlepoint, swimming, church work and watching baseball. She is active in the National Federation of Federal Employees • Wilfred Kelly, Watbury, Vt., left Colby after his first year. His interests in agriculture and crew rowing took him to Cornell. Married in 1941, he and his wife, Esther, a former teacher, have two children. The past six years he's enjoyed a "rowing reunion" with 50 other Cornell alumni, who go up and down an Ithaca inlet. He retired in 1977 from the Vermont Department of Agriculture. Summer plans included hopes for a fine Vermont apple crop from his orchards. He's been in touch with Virginia Swallow Seep • Mary Small Copithorne, Exeter, N.H., is in private practice as a clinical social worker. She saw Frances Palmer '34 at an Isle of Shoals conference on oceans. A trip to Cape Cod and a visit with her children in Trenton were summer plans. She was in San Antonio, Tex. during November for a symposium • John Turbyne resides in Waterville. He and his wife, Mary, have two sons, one grandson. Now retired, he spent last winter in Spain and North Africa. Camping and golfing in New Brunswick were in the offing for summer. He's planning a Far East trip • Grace Wheeler Marsh reports from Concord, N.H. that she has not yet retired. A widow, her five children have provided eight grandchildren. She is a laboratory scientist for the state of New Hampshire, testing milk and food, with much bacteriology involved. She traveled to Israel in December 1977, to Florida last December, and hopes to go to Egypt. "Continued good health, employment with compatible people, and finally taking a course in anatomy and physiology" highlighted the past year • Earl Sayer, who retired in 1970, spends winters in Florida, summers in Bay View, Mich. He and wife Dorothy have two children, three grandchildren. Earl is involved with Kiwanis and Shrine clubs, and enjoys lawn bowling. He recently traveled to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. He's going to England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales this year • Shirley "Si" Whiting, Forestville, Conn., is a retired plant engineer. His wife, Grace, is a former school teacher. They have two children and six grandchildren. His spare time is spent operating a small woodworking shop. He is a Red Sox baseball fan and likes football games. Family ties are strong, and include raising four grandchildren left parentless by an automobile accident. He often recalls "the good times we had at Roberts Hall, . . . and the friends I had at Colby—Norman Brown, Milt Kleinholz, Bill Sherman, Mike Field (Eisenfeld), Warden Amidon, Ray Brittingham and, of course, my roommate, George Berry '36. I have often wondered where John Burgoon is." Si spends summers at a shore cottage in Westbrook, Conn. • John "Jack" Coyne, Methuen, Mass., still a bachelor, retired six years ago from New England Power Co., and is "enjoying every minute of it." He purchased a log cabin at Alton Bay, Lake Winnepesaukee, N.H., where he goes in the summer. His hobbies are fishing, golf, photography and working on his cabin. He's journeyed to Ireland six times, and twice to Scotland and England. Colby roommate Don Richardson sends him a Christmas card every year • President Cotter was in Houston November 1. He met with local and Houston area alumni at Rice Univ.'s Faculty Club for a dinner meeting, which I helped organize. His remarks were well-received, and included portions of his inaugural message • After 30 years in the downtown area, my office supply, printing and stationery establishment has been relocated, and expanded, in the southwest area of the city. My wife, Bunny, and son, Ken, are members of the firm. My outside interests encompass diversified civic and community organizations, which bring much satisfaction and direction to my life. Do keep in touch with me. Best wishes and regards to all of you.

Class Secretary: MAURICE KRINSKY,
P.O. Box 630, Houston, Tex. 77001.

36 All vegetables at last have been winterized in jars or freezer. Reading-by-the-fire time is at hand. News this quarter is of Maine people and a few travelers • We were pleased to get an interesting report from Tiny Stone about his and Denise's trip to the People's Republic of China. In August they flew to Japan, just missing a typhoon in Manila, and then to Hong Kong, where they stayed a few days before continuing on to mainland China. The group with whom they traveled had unusual opportunities to visit historic places and to view the Chinese at work in Shanghai, Soochow, Tientsin and Peking. Chinese hospitality included some fifteen-course meals, with no chop suey on the menu. The Stones found this trip, of all their travels, to be the most fascinating • Another traveler is Dr. John Reynolds of Waterville, who has been in Switzerland. Sarah, too? All of which has sent us searching for our passports • Superior Court Justice Lewis Naiman has resigned as regional presiding justice in Maine's largest judicial region, a seven-county area with eight Superior Courts. He held this post since his appointment in 1975. Although he is feeling better since his hospitalization, he has decided to take life a little easier by cutting down on his travel and responsibilities. He will continue to work as a Superior Court justice • Kay Caswell Abbott and a friend came upriver for a visit and a walk in the woods. Kay was happy to be back at her part-time job with the library. She and daughter Linda were looking forward to their annual Christmastime in Manhattan with son Charles • A fringe benefit for me of participating in the New England Girl Scout Conference in Portland was a long lunch visit with Ellie Manter Lemaistre. We exchanged pictures of grandchildren. Her two were most appealing. Ellie keeps slim and healthy with paddle tennis and cross-country skiing in the off-golf season. She has so many interests to share that we ran out of time all too soon. She had news of Lois Lund Giachardi, who visited Maine this summer from Billerica, Essex, in England, which is very near London. Colby travelers, take note. She has a daughter and two sons living at home. One of her sons may establish residence in the United States. We hope that will be a reason for Lois to make more frequent visits here • Bill Clark has helped build a garage for the new fire truck here and has added to his writing commitments an editorial contribution to the new weekly, The Maine Paper •

Alumna Autobiography

Frances Gray '40 has published a fine, strong, inspirational book called A Personal Testament (Carlton Press, New York, 1979). I found it to be a satisfying reading experience; indeed, an autobiography of a rich and searching life from one who has found much joy in her friendships and the rewards and satisfactions that have come to her through her faith and lifelong work in her church. It is a clearly-written account of how certain people, periods of her life, and events influenced her spiritual life—including a time in her youth when she felt her "roots went dry." Frances returned from her teaching career, mostly on the West Coast and in Alaska, to her beloved Mount Desert Island three years ago, where she not only writes but has the best vegetable garden for miles around. I know, for I have been the recipient of its bounty.

by Ruth Hendricks Maren '40

Look for a class letter soon. Write me in Caratunk. Our P.O. needs your letters and so does this column!

Class secretary: BETTY THOMPSON CLARK (Mrs. William), Caratunk, Maine 04925.

37 I've had no visitors, directly, since I last wrote to all of you, so the news this time will be sparse and short. It will, in fact, be mostly about me, since I know what I have been doing and I promised to send some news of Oxford. A series of short courses are given at Worcester College, Oxford, jointly with the Univ. of California. The subjects are varied, the classes small, the students mixed. Mixed in age, in interest, in sex, in aptitude, but united in the pleasure of studying instead of sight-seeing for a summer, and in many cases, for the reward of college credits. It was different, to be sure, to live in college buildings which date, in part, from the 14th century; more like the old Colby than the new. As the English weather did not live up to its reputation (it was warm and sunny) and the English food likewise astounded would-be critics, the anxieties about dormitory living proved unfounded. My course, about Charles Darwin and his work, was punctuated and illustrated by field trips to his home in Down, to Cambridge Univ., where he got his degree and where his papers and possessions are deposited, and to the British Museum (Natural History) in London, where the fossils and specimens he collected on the famous trip of the Beagle were put into our hands. It was a rewarding experience • We have news that Harold Allen has retired after 33 years of teaching in Westport, Conn. He taught advanced courses in European history and, now that he is moving to Sarasota, Fla., he says he hopes to continue to teach as a volunteer to students who need extra help. It is hard for a dedicated teacher to give up working with kids after so many years of doing it with devotion • From the alumni office I have received a list of "lost" members of our class. Lost? How can any of the great '37s be lost? Only misplaced, I'm sure. If you can assist with up-to-date addresses for any of them, please write to the alumni office, or to me, and send them along. The first is the same Harold Allen who, as we noted, has just moved to Sarasota, but where? Florence Cayer, George Davis (of South Orrington), William Evans, Muriel Scribner Gould (of Middletown, Pa.), Arnold Green, Richard Hacker, William Jakeman, Frances Burns Nalle (Wilmington, Del.), Joseph Packard (Plandome, N.Y.), Arnold Small (A.P.O. San Francisco), Ralph Stowell, David Trecartin (Lantana, Fla.), Robert Warren, and Hayden Wright (Bryn Mawr, Pa.). Those are the last known places of residence for some • Now enjoy the rest of the Alumnus, and hope for more news next time.

Class secretary: ELIZABETH WILKINSON RYAN (Mrs. Francis), 80 LaSalle St., New York, N.Y. 10027.

40 Betty Fitzgerald Savage, author, of Georgetown, was guest speaker in September at the Bath-Brunswick branch of the American Association of University Women. Her most recently published book is Wildwood, and she is working on her tenth novel • I liked Tom Savage's I Heard My Sister Speak My Name so much I'm impatiently awaiting his next • My recent account of the doings of Rens Lee at Tierra Del Fuego has stirred up some interest—even a request from a southern editor who wants to do a story on him. How's that for our wide readership!

Class secretary: RUTH HENDRICKS MAREN (Mrs. Thomas), 1228 S.W. 14th Ave., Gainesville, Fla. 32601.

42 Dr. Richard Dyer of Warwick, R.I. has been elected to a one-year term on the board of directors of Blue Shield of Rhode Island. He is on the staffs of Kent County Memorial and Rhode Island hospitals. At Kent County he has served as chief of surgery and president of the medical staff. He and his wife, the former Natalie Anne Cousens, have four daughters • Linwood Palmer, Jr. of Nobleboro is the recipient of the Lincoln Academy Distinguished Alumnus Award. He has also been named the organizational director of the Republican Party in Maine. He operates his own business in Nobleboro, growing Christmas trees, and is involved in the building and development business • We were delighted with a surprise visit from Teddy Wright Weston and husband Don. They have retired, giving them more opportunity for visiting friends and relatives. A daughter teaches in Maine, and their three boys live in Maine, New York and Pennsylvania • If anyone has any information on the following, the college would appreciate being able to update their addresses: David Brodie, James Candelet, George Carothers, A. Thomas Clark, Ramon Fernandez, John Fifield, John Gagan, Elizabeth (Coles) and Laurie Harris, Jr., Bettie Jewett Hayes, Curtis Hemenway, Mary (Farrell) and Raymond Lacombe, June Van Der Veer Lamb, Edwin Mason, Norma Brosius McLaren, Florence Carleton Miller, Saul Millstein, Everett Mitchell, Richard Nickerson, Roger Perkins, Ruth Wolfe Schreiner, Helen Margraff Stetson, Paul Willey, Beatrice Sosnowitz Wolfsey, Hayda Yamins.

Class secretary: PRISCILLA GEORGE McNALLY (Mrs. Leslie), 11 Palmer Rd., Foxboro, Mass. 02035.

43 Another deadline approaches and I'm delighted that your response has been so good. I have much interesting news to share. What fun to receive news of Andy Bedo and his family. Andy (M.D., F.A.A.P.) has been in practice with John Wood '44 for over 20 years. Daughter Mary is a nurse and son Drew is in petroleum research. Andy notes that after retirement, he hopes to remain in part-time practice, but plans to enjoy golfing, fishing and travel in a somewhat warmer climate than that in Mt. Pleasant, Mich. We hope to report the arrival of a grandchild in a future column • Tom Farnsworth writes so enthusiastically about his work at New Perceptions in Education, Ltd. that retirement seems far from his thoughts. He continues to work on the problems of "under-achievers" and is having very positive results in dealing with specific problems which are classified as "involuntary" • Kaye Monaghan Corey has been taking seminars and attending symposiums in social work with an emphasis on family counseling, so as to stay current in her present job and to be prepared for her next job when Nels retires and they take up residence in Gardiner • Bill Finkeldey's life is anything but dull and his travels to "most major U.S. cities" included being mugged in downtown Milwaukee—the result, three broken ribs! He is a member of the local volunteer fire department (Hastings-on-Hudson, N.Y.) and has been on the school board for nine years, serving two terms as president. For pleasure he drives and parades a fully restored 1926 American La France fire engine. Bill spent an evening with Pat '44 and Amy Small Lewis '42 at their Long Island home • Becky Field Blanchard was accepted as a master of divinity student at Andover Newton Theological Seminary. She began in September. When she wrote, she wasn't sure of future plans, but the ministry is a possibility. She had visited with Dick Field in Florida • Gerry Fennessy Parker reports that their daughter was married in June. They have one married son in Houston, Tex. and another in North Arlington, Va. They also have four grandchildren. Gerry and George '42 will divide their retirement time, with summers at their duplex in Long Beach Island, N.J., and winters in their condominium on Anna Maria Island off Florida's west coast • Barbara Grant Nnoka's note sounded a bit hurried! She had attended a national conference for Red Cross social service directors in Texas, where she was a participant on a panel presenting their chapter's program in their community. The Nnokas' son, Barrett, graduated from Guilford College and works for Burlington Industries, and daughter Catherine graduated from Georgetown, where she majored in language and linguistics. As "B.S." wrote, she was awaiting the arrival of her French in-laws on their first trip to the U.S. • I had the pleasure of renewing an acquaintance with Charlotte and Leon Palmer '36, whom I had known many years ago in Dover-Foxcroft. It was a real treat • Colby needs your help in locating some of our classmates. If you know anything about any of the following people, please let us know: C.J. Bellevue, Jr., Robert DeCormier, Jr., Richard De Nazario, Orman Fernandez, J. Ronald Livingston, Evan MacIlraith, Philip Mezzullo, Eleanor Handley Pederson, Paiazi Querim, Ted Rose, Jane Lodge Stradley, Sona Tahmizian and Ernest Weidul. We don't want to lose touch with any of you.

Class secretary: ELEANOR SMART BRAUNMULLER (Mrs. Albert), 115 Lake Rd., Basking Ridge, N.J. 07920.

44 Most of the news comes from Watsie (Helen Watson Boldi), to whom I am most grateful. She writes that Nan Grahn Christensen has been to China and works for a travel agent in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Watsie's daughter graduated from Colby in June, summa cum laude. Congratulations to her • And very special congratulations go to Dr. Lowell Barnes, recipient of the Maine Osteopathic Association's "G.P. of the Year Award." He lives in Hiram with his wife, Margaret, son Lowell, Jr., and daughters Scotte, Diane and Teresa • John and the late Ginger Hall Calahan's son, Jack, was married last March in N.Y. They will be living in the East. We could not attend as we were en route from New Orleans to Florida • I had lunch with Alice Leyh Fisher last year. She keeps busy flying with her husband on his business trips and enjoying her grandchildren • Elaine Anderson Hagstrom and husband have moved to the Cape. She, too, is a proud grandma • I am working almost full-time in our store, selling wall coverings, shades, draperies, floor coverings and all the things that make a home beautiful • Thanks to those who answered my recent questionnaire. Your responses will be included in my next column.

Class secretary: BARBARA BAYLIS PRIMIANO (Mrs. Wetherell), 15 Crossways, Barrington, R.I. 02806.

46 With political activity getting underway, did you ever wish there was a third party to turn to? Well, there is, and it's called the Statesman Party. It chose a member of our class, Ben Bubar, as its 1980 presidential nominee at a national convention in Birmingham, Ala. Earl Dodge, of Denver, Colo., will be Ben's running mate. The Statesman Party is the new name of the Prohibition Party, the only third party consistently on the ballot for 110 years—since 1869. Its purpose is to raise and discuss issues, providing Christian-oriented citizens with a comprehensive platform to declare themselves for morality, justice, honesty, and integrity, so lacking in government today. Ben and his wife live in China, and have two grown sons and a granddaughter. He is superintendent of the Christian Civic League in Maine and is editor of the league's Record. After attending Colby, he did special study both at Howard College and Yale. We're proud of your commitment, Ben, and wish you every success.

Class secretary: NORMA TWIST MUR-

Community Service Recognized

A Honolulu, Hawaii newspaper reports that Myron Thompson '50 received the Allan F. Saunders Award for special contributions to the community. Thompson, of Hawaiian ancestry, has served his state over the years in a variety of capacities, including chairman of the state land use commission, executive director of the Queen Liliuokalani Trust, state administrative director, director of the department of social services and director of the Salvation Army child welfare service. The award is named after a retired University of Hawaii political science professor.

RAY (Mrs. Paul), 28 Birdsall St., Winstead, Conn. 06098.

48 Shirley Bessey has joined the sales staff of Creative Personnel Co., Cape Elizabeth. She will be an account executive and consultant for the distributor for Success Motivation Institute. She received her M.S. in recreation and adult education at the Univ. of Wisconsin and her Ed.D from Boston Univ. in adult education and community organization. She was state recreation specialist at Kansas State College, assistant professor of recreation education, State Univ. of New York at Cortland, and was director of volunteer training, York County Council on Aging. Shirley has served as county 4-H Club agent for Maine • "Art Through Photography," an exhibit of the work of Virginia Brewer Folino, is at the Essex Junction branch of the Burlington Savings Bank. She is an elementary art teacher in Essex Junction, Vt. and a member of the Northern Vermont Artists Association • Harvey Koizim called from Westport, Conn. It was fun talking about Colby in the late '40s. His son, John, received an M.B.A. and is now attending U.S.C. Law School. His daughter, Candy (Babson '78), is with the First City Bank in Houston, Tex. Harvey is trustee for the Lockwood-Mathews Mansion Museum and the Connecticut Center for the Performing Arts, Stratford, the Long Wharf Theatre, New Haven, and the Aldrich Museum for Contemporary Art, Ridgefield. He is also a member of the Advisory Council of the Connecticut Trust for Historic Preservation. As a former finance chairman for Governor Grasso, Harvey is still active in Democratic politics • Richard Billings reported his family activities from Augusta. Daughter Marilyn graduated from Franklin Pierce Law School and is practicing in New Hampshire. Son John established his own business as a mason. Amy transferred to the Portland-Gorham campus of the Univ. of Southern Maine. His wife, Jill, advanced to psychiatric social worker at the Augusta Mental Health Institute. As a recent graduate of a life underwriter training course, Dick is licensed to sell casualty insurance and mutual funds, in addition to life lines. Otherwise he enjoys gardening, boating, fishing, writing and is a member of the steering committee for the Maine Health Promotion Conference of the Maine Health Systems Agency. The highlights of his year are the recent purchases of homes in Augusta and Seal Harbor, as well as enjoying three grandchildren • A children's book written by Ellen Bryan Obed, Bill Bryan's daughter, has been published in Canada. Borrowed Black, a children's fantasy, was published last year by Breakwater Books of Newfoundland • From Kennebunk I received a delightful letter from "Cy" Perkins. He and Jean (O'Brien '46) are the proud grandparents of two grandsons "who are the apples of our eyes." Cy says "our greatest happiness stems from the continuing successes of our children in their chosen fields of engineering and medicine." Even their youngest daughter, who is now at Hebron Academy, has designs on a career in medicine. Cy is involved with the local communication center and Jean is tutoring in the local schools. Cy's presence at football games continues to help the Colby team • At a recent alumnae meeting (South Central Massachusetts), I chatted with Evelyn Helfant Malkin of Wayland, Mass. She is a staff clinical social worker for the state in the field of mental retardation. With Gregory, in 10th grade at Wilton High School.

Class secretary: ELISABETH JENNINGS MALEY (Mrs. William), 479 Ridge View Rd., Orange, Conn. 06477.

Reunited in Spain

While touring the northern provinces of Spain, Norma (Bergquist '52) and Norval Garnett '51 were able to renew their acquaintance with Maria de Unamuno in Salamanca. Miss Unamuno, who taught at Colby in 1963-64, is the daughter of Miguel de Unamuno, one of Spain's great philosophers. Norval Garnett is a trust officer at the Industrial National Bank in Providence, R.I. Mrs. Garnett is chairman of the foreign language department at Toll Gate High School in Warwick, R.I. While on the same trip, by chance the Garnetts met Ruth Winterbottom Peacock '58 in a Madrid restaurant. She is the director of the English program in a secondary school in Celaya, Guanajuato, Mexico.

her five children and husband, she enjoys their home in Stockbridge, Vt. Last summer they rented a home in Spain, near Barcelona, and spent a month enjoying the sights, sun and each other • Dorothy and David Marson cruised to Maine on the ketch Hero and ran into "Bump" Clifford Bean '51 in Camden. In 1978, daughter Deborah '75 graduated from Suffolk Law and Marsha from Lehigh • We offer our sincere condolences to Earl and his three daughters on the loss of classmate, Joan Brown Wilkins. A few weeks before her death I received a note from her extolling the joys of being a grandmother of four • The Class of '48 welcomes President Cotter and his family to the Colby family.

Class secretary: CAROL STOLL BAKER (Mrs. Solomon), 129 Edgewater Dr., Needham, Mass. 02192.

50 I have a news clipping about Jim and Sally Fraser, who have moved to Wilton, Conn. from Chester, Pa. Jim has been made manager of accounting operations in G.E.'s International Trading Services operations in New York City. His unit has principal responsibility for General Electric's large and growing export business. The Frasers have six children: Zachary, a 1978 graduate of the Univ. of Pennsylvania with a degree in civil and urban engineering; Sara, who received her B.A. in economics from Vassar in 1978; Matthew, who will be receiving his B.S. in mechanical engineering from Bucknell in June; Martha, who returned last June from France, where she spent nine months living with a French family, graduated from high school, and is presently employed in Wilton; Andrew, a freshman at Bucknell; and 52 This quarter, I am afraid that I must start out with a confession.

I made a mistake in the summer issue (it probably is not my first). Jerry Holtz writes that they have three sons and a daughter, Karen, who was a Colby freshman this past fall. Jerry now has a son and daughter at Colby • Howard Sacks was seeking a third term as ward representative to the Auburn School Committee. Howard and his wife, Arlyne Rosenthal Sacks '54, have three children, Paula Finegold of Chestnut Hill, Mass., Diane Sacks of Boston, and Michael Sacks of Auburn • Herb Simon wrote last fall that he was moving to 2 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10011. He is the deputy assistant commissioner, Office of Income Support, New York City Department of Social Services. He is into E.S.T. His travels over the past few years have included Egypt, Southern France, Corsica, Sardinia, Italy, Rio de Janeiro, and finally Fire Island last summer. Dave Robinson, who has a pilot's license, took Herb and Bill Gardner flying recently • Frank Weatherby lives with his wife, Rosalee Dulaney '53, in Boxford, Mass. He is retired, serving as the town clerk of Boxford. Their daughter, Jayne, is getting a degree in medical records administration at Northeastern, and their son, Wayne, is finishing (or has finished by now) at Norwich Univ. majoring in business. Frank writes that Norman Crook is the minister of the Second Congregational Church in West Boxford • Faith (De Vol '54) and Everett Gross live in So. Farmingdale, N.Y. They have three daughters: Cynthia lives in Vermont; Catherine is a senior at Lafayette; and Deborah is a sophomore at St. Louis Univ. Everett says that he is a teacher, lion tamer and traffic cop. The "lion tamer" really mystifies me, Everett. Clue us in, are you serious? • Jeanne Hallee Hawkings and husband Robert '54 live in Cypress, Calif. Their children are Robert, a senior at Humboldt State Univ., James, 15, Suzanne, 12, Catherine, 10, and Sarah, 8. Robert is a vice-president in United Rent-All. Jeanne ran in a 10-kilometer race on Catalina Island. Nice going, Jeanne • Norma Bergquist Garnett writes that she and Norv's four children range in age from 20 to 24. In answer to your question, Norma, I believe Colby plays Trinity in Connecticut on the even years. Ed and I were at Colby for Homecoming and we saw Colby defeat Trinity 28-7 • Carol Connors Krikum is a real estate salesperson in Bergen County, N.J. She and husband Ely enjoy tennis and gardening. Carol is active in the League of Women Voters and does volunteer work at the hospital • As I mentioned above, Ed and I were at Colby for Homecoming and saw Mark '51 and Eddi Miller Mordecai. It was hard to believe that our girls, Carol and Louise, are seniors. The weather was typical Maine—overcast—but we did see Colby beat Trinity and Colby also won the soccer game, 2-1. Wonders never cease.

Class secretary: MARY SARGENT SWIFT (Mrs. Edward), 68 Farmcliff Dr., Glastonbury, Conn. 06033.

53

I have news of only a few of our classmates. I hope more of you will let me know what is happening to you in time for the next Alumnus • In June, Joseph Bryant was chosen to be the principal of Brunswick (Maine) High School. After graduating from Colby, Joe did graduate work at the Univ. of Maine at Orono, Univ. of Texas, and is presently enrolled in ton, Mass. After Colby, Frank attended Wharton Graduate School in business administration, and he and his wife, Barbara (Burg '55), have four children. He is very involved in various community activities, including the Rotary Club, the Greater Northampton Chamber of Commerce, and he is fund chairman of the Hampshire United Way • On August 16, Paul Wescott married Margaret T. Ring in East Sebago, and Bob Grindle was their best man. Paul and Peggy are now living in Brunswick, while Paul commutes to work in Bridgton, where he is president of Howell Laboratories • I had a lovely, long and newsy note from Claire Macy Dubis. She and Bob have been married for 25 years, and have two married children, and, thus far, three grandchildren. All live within walking distance from each other in Chatham on Cape Cod, where they are involved in the family construction business. Despite a very busy and full life, Claire and Bob manage to "get away from it all" once a year—usually in February—often traveling south (i.e., Mexico, South America). This October, they took a special trip to Ireland to celebrate their 25th anniversary. Claire is involved in Eastern Star and Rainbow, serves on the board of the local visiting nurse association, and is chairperson of the Town of Chatham Personnel Board. Every summer, she sees Louise MacGill Dages and Ellie Otterson DeCoursey. Claire occasionally crosses paths with Betty Winkler Laffey and George '52. Claire suggests a Cape Colby reunion. Any takers? • That's all for now. Have a good winter, and please send in your news.

Class secretary: MARTHA FRIEDLAENDER, 382 Central Park West, Apt. 14A, New York, N.Y. 10025.

to seven children and grandmother to two. The Mitchells recently moved from Waterville to Biddeford, where Robert has become president of the Pepperell Trust Co. Janet attended an art class during her spare time last summer • Bob McAuliffe and Helen (Connolly '53) live in Braintree, Mass. Bob is area sales manager for C.P.C. International • In Liverpool, N.Y., Joan Dawes Litter has "retired" from substitute teaching to full-time homemaking. Husband John is supervisor for American Airlines at Hancock Field in Syracuse • Georgia Roy Eustis, not busy enough as mother to six children and senior warden of her church, has just finished the first of four years in nurses training at the Univ. of Southern Maine • Gordon Keene has been made a member of Prentice-Hall's president's staff for outstanding sales performance. Company business took him to the Virgin Islands not long ago. He and Barbara have a daughter teaching in the Springfield, Mass. school system and two children at the Univ. of Massachusetts • The eldest of the four daughters of Robert "Whitey" Thurston and Betty was married in July. Whitey, co-owner of Singleton-Thurston Real Estate Co. in Bucksport, expected to see Aubrey Keef there in October • Nick Sarris is an attorney, a selectman in Dover, Mass., and a second-term trustee of Tabor Academy. He, Shirley, and their four children sailed the Greek islands together not long ago • Ned Shenton is president of the New England Coastal Oceanographic Group, dealing with coastal planning and design and marine sciences. He has a good idea for the 30th reunion—a booklet summarizing what each of us has been doing since graduation • Abbott Rice received his doctorate in education from the Boston Univ. School of Education in June 1978. His field is community college and continuing education, appropriate for his work as director of cooperative education at Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill, Mass. • Janet Cooney Blundell married G. Harding Thompson, a stock brokerage executive. Janet is a writer of advertising copy for radio and newspapers and is penning a book about her experience with breast cancer and reconstructive surgery • Edwin Eisen is a partner in the law firm of Eisen & Fishman in New York City. His wife, Elaine, has become director of product development for W. & J. Sloane • Robert Frank is one of the founders and partners—executive vice-president for administration and broadcast purchasing—in S.F.M. Media Service Corp. in New York City. One of his partners is Stan Moger '58. Bob has a weekend home in Weston, Conn. • Tom Hunt is director of the department of pastoral care at the Univ. of Massachusetts Medical Center in Worcester. Susan (Miller '57) is completing her M.A. in community counseling at Framingham State College. Their daughter is a senior at Smith; their son, a sophomore at Syracuse • Wilderness, Robert Parker's first novel without his detective hero, Spenser, came out in October. Ace's fifth and sixth Spenser books are due next spring and fall, and still another is on the way to the presses. Move over, Lew Archer!

Class secretary: BARBARA GUERNSEY EDDY (Mrs. C. Arthur), R.R.1, Box 199B, Lincoln City Rd., Salisbury, Conn. 06068.

Elected to Advertising Association

Richard Creedon '52, senior vice-president of Nabisco, Inc., has been elected vice-chairman of the board of directors of the Association of National Advertisers. The nonprofit organization is operated for the mutual benefit of its more than 400 member corporations whose products and services are advertised nationally or regionally. Creedon joined Nabisco in 1974, after spending several years with E.R. Squibb's U.S. consumer goods division. He also worked at Ted Bates Advertising Agency. He serves as a member of The Advertising Council in New York City, and is a member of the board of finance of Stamford, Conn., where he makes his home. Creedon holds an M.P.A. degree from Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government, and has completed Harvard Business School's advanced management program.

54

Roy Shorey, who lives in Madison, N.J., is division staff manager for residence services for the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. He reports that Judy (Orne '55), mother of his two sons and two daughters, is a "full-time golfer (except in December, January and February)" • Out in Columbus, Ohio, John Resler is a certified public accountant in public practice • Janet Fraser Mitchell has been a fourth grade teacher as well as mother a master's degree program in school administration at the Univ. of Southern Maine. He joined the staff at Brunswick High School in 1964, first as a guidance counselor, then as director of guidance, and, since 1975, as assistant principal for guidance. He and his wife, Evelyn, have two grown sons, Jerry, 25, and Eric, 22 • Franklin King III, who is president of the King and Cushman, Inc. Insurance Agency, was elected trustee of the Frank Newhall Look Memorial Park, in Northamp-

55 Many thanks to those of you who responded to our request for biographical information for our 25th reunion "Oracle Update." It was good to hear from several people who have not returned to the campus since graduation, and we so hope that they will make an effort to join us on May 30 to share in the festivities. I suppose it is possible that the rest of you procrastinators had letters in the mail truck which left the road en route from Bangor on October 11, and burned! Honest! So if you did write to me at about that time, please write again, and soon. We'd like to have as complete a record as possible to distribute before the reunion • Germaine Michaud Orloff is teaching math at Oak Grove-Coburn School and pursuing a graduate program in guidance counseling at the Univ. of Maine at Orono • Paul McClay, who served as news director of WTVL Radio in Waterville while an undergraduate, is now a co-owner of WRDO Radio in Augusta. He has been operating a public relations, advertising and sales business under the name of Paul McClay, Consultant, since 1973. Paul was a Kennebec County commissioner for nine years, has been campaign chairman and president of the Kennebec Valley United Way, member of the Northeast Regional Task Group, United Way of America, president of the Chamber of Commerce and the Y.M.C.A. • John Dutton has completed his four-year assignment at Duke Univ. as commander and professor of aerospace studies. While there he commissioned 80 new Air Force lieutenants. During his last year Duke experienced the largest cadet enrollment ever and received an outstanding rating during a command inspection. On July 31, he reported to Pope A.F.B. to resume flying duties as a C-130 aircraft commander. John says that this four-engine turboprop aircraft specializes in worldwide tactical airlift missions. After undergoing qualification training at Little Rock A.F.B. he looked forward to a deer hunting session in southwestern Maine. Durham, N.C. will continue to be home for wife Jane and their children, Johnny, 17, Billy, 16, Julie, 13, with John commuting on weekends. Johnny recently soloed in a Cessna and earned his Eagle Scout rating • Peter Parsons, who earned his Ph.D. in biochemistry at the Univ. of Pittsburgh, is now a professor at Holy Cross, following seven years at the Univ. of Massachusetts/Amherst, and four years at Mt. Holyoke. He has had several articles published in scientific journals, including four on Mitochondria which appeared in a recent issue of the Journal of Biological Chemistry. He presented scientific papers at the International Congress of Biochemistry in Hamburg in 1976, and in Puerto Rico at the American Society for Cell Biology. Peter and his wife, Joy, are the parents of two children and live in Sunderland, Mass. Daughter Robin is a student at the Univ. of Massachusetts/Amherst • Dorothy Couillard Carlson is a reading specialist in Baton Rouge, La. She has a master's degree in education and is currently working on her doctorate. Among her published works are, Please Read to Me and Reading Begins at Home: One Step at a Time. The Carlsons have two sons and a daughter, and will be moving to Kentucky in May • Anne McGowan Kubic writes from

Homer Graphics Displayed

The Lee Fernandez Collection of Winslow Homer Graphics was lent to Hebron Academy by the Museum of Art for an exhibition from November 10 to December 6. The collection was given to Colby in 1974 and 1975 by Lee Fernandez '55. He graduated from Hebron in 1951. Raid on a Sand Swallow Colony, shown here, is one of the works in the collection. It originally appeared in Harper's Weekly in 1874.

Bowie, Md., where she leads a busy life as a nurse and mother of 10—four sons, six daughters, five of them teenagers! Anne left us in 1953 for Columbia, where she received her B.Sc. in nursing, and spent the following year in the jungles of Haiti. She says the entire family is working on building a home on 10 acres in West Virginia "at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains, overlooking the beautiful Shenandoah River" • Ernest Flick and his wife, Ruth, live in Newburyport, Mass. A specialist in quality control management in industry, Ernest is a full member of the American Society of Quality Control and a 25-year member of the American Chemical Society. Recently nominated for listing in Who's Who in the East, he is the author of a great many books and articles, many of which have been reprinted overseas.

Class secretary: MARGARET GRANT LUDWIG (Mrs. Leland), 3 Rogers Rd., Houlton, Maine 04730.

57 Greetings to all. Another three months have disappeared. Unfortunately, we weren't able to make it to Homecoming this year, but we, as I'm sure is true of many of you, are running in several directions, on weekends, especially. Who said it gets less busy as the youngsters become older? Now, news of our classmates • Marilyn Perkins ("Perky") Canton is becoming familiar with California and lists her occupation as "home executive, etc." Perky and Dick have three children, enjoy tennis and gardening. Perk even directs musical stage productions in the schools, and still is a Colby alumni interviewer. Judy (Prophet) and Bill Timken live near the Cantons • I have some news of Allan Van Gestel which I'd like to share with you. In August, Allan was admitted as a fellow into the American College of Trial Lawyers in ceremonies at its annual meeting in Dallas, Tex. Membership is limited to not more than one percent of the lawyers licensed to practice in any state and not more than two lawyers from any firm. A further requirement is that a member must have been engaged in trial practice for at least 15 years. Allan has been specializing in trial law with the firm of Goodwin, Procter, and Hoar in Boston since 1961. Warm congratulations to you for a well-deserved distinction! Allan has two sons in Marblehead High School and a daughter, Laura, who is a big 1-year-old as I write this • Another of our classmates has received a commendation through a small business at home. Jocelyn Lary Mostrom creates Victorian fashion dolls and Williamsburg-type florals from corn husks. Through an article sent to me, I learned "The editors of McCall's Needlework and Crafts were delighted to announce the Spring 1979 recipient of our Athena Award: Jocelyn Mostrom, artist extraordinaire, who has given the delicate look of fine china to her very own cornhusk craft." On this alone, I could write an entire column. There was a lovely picture of Jo and her work! She and Philip, her husband, are living in their place in the country, an older home near Seneca State Park in Germantown, Md. They are the parents of three children. The family visited Maine last summer; they are still "New Englanders at heart." Art and Eleanor Gray Gatenby live near Jocelyn. Ellie says that Jo's newly-found craft is magnificent. Ellie and Art have had an exciting year. Two weeks of it were spent in England touring Stratford-on-Avon, Oxford, London, staying at memorable inns, touring castles and restored homes. This was all highlighted by a six-day stay at Wimbledon, a dream vacation for two "tennis nuts." Home from that, she received an unexpected invitation to accompany Art on an extended business trip. It began with a week in Bangkok and led them completely around the world • From Edward Harriman comes an invitation to his college friends to visit him in Malaysia, where Ted is regional manager of Continental Insurance Co. in Southeast Asia. Ted is married to Susan (Record '59). All four of their boys were born in Asia. The family is active in softball, regional languages, cooking, and Ted is a Little League coach. The family has lived in Singapore, Malaysia, Japan, the Philippines and Indonesia since 1960. They returned to the U.S. last summer before continuing around the world and back to Kuala Lumpur

• Jim Greenlaw is director of systems and data processing at Bath Iron Works. He and Martha are living in Topsham, and are the parents of four children, one of whom is a freshman at Colby. Their commuting trips back and forth to Isle au Haut, an island in Penobscot Bay, sound like fun. Their mode of travel is a diesel cruiser • I've more for the next column; however, if you haven't had a chance to complete your questionnaire or would prefer just dropping me a note, please do. Take care.

Class secretary: ELIZABETH HARDY GEORGE (Mrs. Donald), 80 Acorn Lane, North Conway, N.H. 03860.

58 Final figures on the contributions to last year's Alumni Fund were published recently, and the Class of '58 can be very proud of its record. We ranked in the top 15 classes for each of the following categories: number of contributors (ninth with 110 people giving), percent of participation (14th with 46 percent), and amount contributed (fifth with $16,322). Hooray for us. The Alumni Fund goal was $300,000, and a total of $363,045 was actually raised. Hooray for all graduates who supported the college so loyally and generously • More items from the recent class newsletters follow. Deborah Robson Cobb lives in Sharon, Mass., and is branch manager and loan officer for a branch of the Hancock Bank and Trust Co. Her husband, Carl '59, is a writer and grant administrator for the department of surgery of the Children's Hospital in Boston. They have two children: Jim, a college junior, and Sarah, a high school junior • Peter Doran lives in Belgrade, is professor of health science at the went to a cattlemen's conference in Hawaii recently and to China in December of 1978, being there when President Carter announced the "normalization of relations" • Ann Willcox Loftin has been living in North Carolina since her marriage in 1977. She and husband Don run their own company, which deals in advertising specialties; the business takes most of their time but they have been very pleased with its great success the first year • Ed Larschan has his Ph.D. and is a clinical psychologist practicing in New York. He also began law school this past January and expects his J.D. degree by June 1982, at age 44! Ed is married and has two daughters • Lynne D'Amico McKee lives in New Jersey and spends most of her time being a wife and mother. Her husband, Bob, is an engineer for Western Electric; they have two teenagers, both boys. Lynne was looking forward to a 16-day trip to East Africa in October • Charlotte (Clifton) '61 and Norman Lee live in Connecticut, where Norman is assistant vice-president for a branch of the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co. The family planned a trip to Bermuda in October and to Aspen in February; Norm is also hoping to go to Mainland China on a Friendship Flight during the latter part of 1980 • Judy Brown Dickson lives in Anchorage, Alaska, where she is a weaver and fiber artist and her husband, George, is an attorney. They took their three children on a long trip last winter that included stops of varying lengths in Hawaii, Tahiti, Rarotonga and New Zealand • Bill and Nancy Harmon Clark live in Kentucky, where Bill is a public high school teacher and Nancy is a counselor and lower school coordinator in a private school. Their older teenaged son, Andy, won a four-year scholarship and two academy appointments at Pur-recently: "I can guarantee that he will be an exciting presence on Mayflower Hill. . . . We are in for a dynamic decade."

Class secretary: MARY ELLEN CHASE BRIDGE (Mrs. Peter), 78 Sandy Lane, Burlington, Vt. 05401.

59 I have received more news of our new class president, Donald Megathlin, who resigned his post as Portland's planning director to head Boston's Metropolitan Area Planning Council. Don is a Boston native, and he returns home with his wife, Lois (Munson '58), and three children, Laurie, 18, Melanie, 15, and Todd, 12 • Carole Jelinek Barnard, of Riverside, has been appointed the new director of Elderhouse in Norwalk. Elderhouse is a day-care program for the elderly that offers a therapeutic and supportive environment along with physical, mental and social services. Carole is studying at the Univ. of Bridgeport and formerly was coordinator of GREATS Senior Center in Greenwich for four years • The alumni office has sent me a list of about 30 of our classmates who are "among the missing." One of the names listed Lee Oberparleiter. For my part, I have second-hand information that Lee is "alive and well." He is teaching school and living in Willingboro, N.J. with his wife, Mary, and their new baby • I will list a few of these missing people in this and in future issues of the Alumnus in hopes that some of you may forward information, even second-hand, to me or to the alumni office: Robert Bickford, Fred Brodie, Leslie Colitt, George Coutroubis, Eria Cleaves Davis, Annette Casavant Elias, John Ferrie and Mabelle McKeveit Grolljahn • A huge thank you, in advance, to those of you who planned to write to me before February 1. Isn't it fun to see your name in print?

Class secretary: MARY TWISS KOP-CHAINS (Mrs. Robert), 4 Kyle Rd., Somerset, N.J. 08873.

Biology Professor

Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass. has appointed Peter Parsons '55 an associate professor of biology. After earning a Ph.D. in biochemistry from the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine in 1965, he was a postdoctoral fellow at Dartmouth College in 1965-66 and at S.U.N.Y. Stony Brook from 1966 to 1968. Since 1969, Parsons has received grant support from the American Cancer Society, the Research Corporation, the National Institutes of Health and the Department of the Army.

Univ. of Maine, and is a consultant in health education and planning. His wife, Lois, is Belgrade town health officer part-time. The Dorans have three children and they all enjoy their summer home on Penobscot Bay overlooking Islesboro • Jane Daib Reisman and husband John '55 live in Columbus, Ohio, where John is department manager and buyer of men's wear at F. & R. Lazarus Co. They have two teenagers; their son, John, started college in Atlanta this past September. Jane hopes to find a part-time job—a paying one. It will be her first in 22 years • Tom Lenssen is the owner of the T Double L Ranch in Florida and part-owner of Plantation Garden and Home Center. He due Engineering School. Bill spent part of last summer taking 20 scouts to Colorado for mountain climbing and horseback riding • Howard Reed is vice-president of manufacturing for a company that is located in Arizona and deals in computer terminals. His wife, Leanne, is "household engineer" for Howie and her three children. The Reeds are building a cabin retreat in the high country; they also enjoy playing racquetball together • David O'Brien, a partner in an investment banking firm, is also a horse trainer and farm manager on his family spread. Family includes wife Martha ("Patsy") and four children. Dave writes of meeting Bill Cotter, Colby's new president, in Yarmouth

60 The houseplants have made the transition from outdoors to indoors, the wood is all cut, split and stacked, and the Beaulieu family has battered down the hatches for another midwestern winter. Sure is different with a son away at college and two others really independent—I imagine more than a few of you are experiencing the same changes • C. Richard Peterson has been appointed vice-president of financial services by Fred S. James & Co. of New England, Inc. Dick, who is a graduate of both Colby and the Harvard Business School program for management development, will work out of the Boston office. He was formerly with the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston • William Rollins has been promoted to vice-president in the personal trust division of the investment management group by State Street Bank and Trust Co. In this position, he is responsible for administering trust and agency accounts and manages a group of staff members who do similar work. Bill is a graduate of the National Graduate Trust School at Northwestern Univ. He and his wife live in Natick with their three children • A class letter will follow soon, and this will

Heads Chamber of Commerce

The Lake Champlain Regional Chamber of Commerce in Burlington, Vt. has a new president, Michael Flynn '61. He previously served the chamber as treasurer and also as vice-president of two of its divisions. He is a certified public accountant and a partner in a Burlington accounting firm. Flynn, who earned an M.B.A. from Harvard Business School in 1967, is also chairman of the Vermont Small Business Advisory Council, a statewide arm of the Small Business Administration.

include names of "lost" classmates. I would appreciate any feedback you have regarding these missing persons and also any bits of news you would like to share with all of us. I hope you all had a great holiday season!

Class secretary: SHERRY GARDNER BEAULIEU (Mrs. Leo), 2613 Gindy Dr., Omaha, Neb. 68147.

61 Several interesting newspaper clippings have been sent to me from the alumni office—I will pass the information along • Norcross Teel, from Fairfield, Conn., has been promoted to second vice-president for real estate and mortgage investments at Mutual of New York, and has been designated an executive officer of the company. Having done graduate work in finance at Boston Univ. after Colby, and having worked in real estate investments in the North Atlantic regional office and in Dallas, he is now primarily responsible for the urban mortgage production of M.O.N.Y. and its real estate investment trust. He will continue to oversee all of M.O.N.Y.'s regional real estate investment offices • Marine Major William Sambito has departed for a deployment to Futenma Marine Corps Air Station on Okinawa. Bill is commanding officer for Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 163, based in Tustin, Calif. He was to spend six months overseas as part of the Marine Corps' unit deployment program, which is designed to relieve extensive deployment for personnel stationed overseas • A. Terrence Lee, a senior associate of Troy Associates, Inc. of Boston, has been elected president of the Greater Boston Personnel and Guidance Association, a local chapter of the American Personnel and Guidance Association. Before joining Troy Associates, the largest New England-based outplacement management consulting firm, Terry was associate project director for the Massachusetts Department of Education in Boston. He has a master's degree in education career counseling from Northeastern Univ., and lives with his wife and two daughters in Andover, Mass. • John Hooper, after spending three years as general manager of the Central Maine Morning Sentinel in Waterville, has been named general manager of the Portland newspapers published by the Guy Gannett Publishing Co. John has assumed his new duties as top executive for the Press Herald, Evening Express and Maine Sunday Telegram. Prior to joining the Sentinel in 1975, John was director of publications for Crescent Newspapers Inc., a group of 21 weekly newspapers in the Chicago suburbs. He also served as assistant publisher of the Pioneer Press in Chicago and worked for papers in Ohio and Vermont. Currently president of the Maine Daily Newspaper Publishers Association and a incorporator of the Maine Savings Bank, John lives with his wife, Jill (Williams) and four children in Cape Elizabeth.

Class secretary: CAROLYN EVANS CONSOLINO (Mrs. Joseph), 71 Old Pickard Rd., Concord, Mass. 01742.

63 Thanks, classmates, for the great response to our questionnaire. I have enough interesting news for several future columns. I enjoyed hearing from all of you. It makes my job more fun • Tom Thomas wrote from Doylestown, Pa., where he owns a travel agency and is active in the Bucks County Historical Society • Congratulations to Lillian Waugh and husband David Yelton on the birth of daughter Sarah. Lillian is currently job hunting, and is involved with E.R.A./N.O.W. in her area • Marsha Palmer is chairperson of the science department at Franklin Anglo-American Int. School of New York City. She is a basketball coach and plays in a softball league. This past summer Marsha sailed with friends to Nantucket on a 30-foot ketch • Jean Eielson Bridgman and husband Jim '62 moved to Valley Forge, Pa. two years ago. Jean is temporarily retired from French teaching, but keeps busy with sports and two active sons • Michael Franklin lives in Sudbury, Mass., with wife Carol and two children. He is the owner of a large commercial printing company in Boston • Rogers Chase, residing in No. Quincy, Mass., is treasurer of C.C. Pierce, electrical manufacturers representative, and is on the Board of Governors, N.E.M.R.A. • Living in Easton, Pa. are Dan Traister and Barbara (Howard '65). Dan is a librarian at the New York Public Library, rare book division. This past year Barbara and Dan welcomed their second child, a son, and Dan was elected to trusteeship of the American Printing History Association. He has seen Camilo Marquez, a psychiatrist at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, and Neal Ossin, a lawyer in Hartford, Conn. • Pat Dunn Estley is living in Woodstock, N.Y. with husband George and three children. Pat is a student again, working toward a B.S. in nursing • John Wilson and Nancy (Godley '65) are in Lexington, Mass., where John is a French teacher at Belmont Hill School. This past summer he was assistant director of Les Chalets Francais, Deer Isle • The director and naturalist for the Teatown Lake Reservation, a field station of the Brooklyn Botanic Garden, is Warren Balgooyen. He and his family live in Croton-on-Hudson, N.Y. • Jon Hall returned to the Portland area, where he joined Akers Associates, real estate, as historic properties specialist • For those of you who asked about the Kimbals, we are all fine. Kim is very busy as director of marketing at Davis Press in Worcester. He is also quite involved, as are our two sons, with Little League, soccer and ice hockey. My upholstery "business" is thriving, and in our spare time we're building a new greenhouse. Keep those questionnaires coming in.

Class secretary: GAIL PRICE KIMBALL (Mrs. Ralph), 9 Maple St., Paxton, Mass. 01612.

64 In December, Peter Hart was hired as a polling consultant to the presidential campaign of Edward Kennedy. Peter is president of Peter D. Hart Research Associates in Washington, D.C., which he founded in 1971. An article in The New York Times on the campaign described him as "one of the top talents in polling." He has conducted more than 300 public opinion surveys in areas such as alternative economic systems, American attitudes toward developing countries, and perceptions of residents toward their neighbors • Joan and Donald Haugs announced the arrival of their fifth child (Donald Brett) the past spring. Since graduation, Don has traveled in Europe, returned to Greenwich to marry Joan, obtained a graduate degree from Columbia Univ., had five children and is presently a vice-president with Manufacturers Hanover Trust in New York • Bunny Hutton Fiske is living in Hillsboro, Ore. and wondering if any other classmates live in Oregon. In addition to raising her two children (Jennifer, 12, and Michael, 7), she works as receptionist/bookkeeper for her husband, Bruce, who is an orthodontist. The Fiske family planned a sailing vacation in the British Virgin Islands in February • Steve Schoeman was awarded second place in the U.S. Jaycees National Speak-up Competition held in Nashville, Tenn. and was recognized as one of America's outstanding speakers. He had previously won first prize. Steve is director of professional services to the legal profession in the Mattech Division of Mathematica, Inc. • Bing Beeson is president of Thomer Products Co., a producer of industrial textile and canvas. Bing and wife Bett live in Indianola, Pa. and have two children, Truely, 10, and Park, 7 • Barbara Gordon Schoeneweis is director of public relations at Rancocas Valley Hospital in Willingboro, N.J. In her "spare time" Barbie is freelancing for the Philadelphia Bulletin and is a public relations writer/consultant. Barbie and husband Michael live in Mt. Laurel, N.J. and have a son Scott, 6. Barbie has been appointed to the public relations task force for the New Jersey Hospital Association. The Schoeneweis family had to cancel plans to attend the reunion at the last minute but are already planning to make the 20th! • Charles Angell, wife Leslie and son Franklin live in Bridgewater, Mass. where Charles is teaching literature and writing at Bridgewater

State College and directing the Writing Center. Charles is also the negotiation representative for the faculty in bargaining matters with college management. The entire Angell family is busy remodeling their home • Marc Cummings is living in New Martinsville, W. Va. He is vice-president, General Motors Viking Glass Co. • Linda Spears Elwell is a Mary Kay beauty consultant, enjoys traveling, bridge and the A.A.U.W. Linda and husband Fred live in Manchester, N.H. and have two children, Wendy, 13, and Scott, 11. The Elwells travel a great deal, including a trip west last summer during which they had no gas problems. They have seen Ann and Bud Marvin '65 • Joan Theil San- the form. I'll make sure to share all the news in later columns. Each class has limited space.

Class secretary: JEAN MARTIN FOWLER (Mrs. Michael), R.D. 1, Box 1013, Flemington, N.J. 08822.

65 David Cutler is president and publisher of the Mariner Newspapers of Norwell, Cohasset, and Scituate, Mass. • Barbara Howard Traister has been promoted to the rank of associate professor of English and granted tenure at Lehigh Univ. in Bethlehem, Pa. She specializes in Renaissance drama and the Orlando, Fla. from Connecticut • Loretta Kirm Lichtmanegger lives in Salzburg, Austria and is teaching a wide variety of English courses in adult education. Her husband, Alexander, is also a teacher and they have a 3-year-old son • Tom Korst is manager of the computer development division of the state of New Hampshire, and lives in Center Barnstead. He joined the state after doing similar work at the Univ. of New Hampshire for 10 years. Tom enjoyed an eight-month vacation in Europe "between jobs" • Nancy Barnett Fort has moved into a new home in Rye, N.H. that she and her husband, Jeff, designed and built. Nancy has been substitute teaching, is active in the Rye Young Women's Club and busy with her three children. The Forts enjoy skiing at Sugarloaf and recently traveled to the Far East and Alaska • Randy Antik is president of the Western Graphics Corp. in Eugene, Ore. The company manufactures and distributes youth-oriented wall decorations. Randy and his wife, Nancy (DeWitt '66), have a son and a daughter • Jonathan Moody is the chaplain of Whittier College, Whittier, Calif. He received his Ph.D. in religion from Claremont Graduate School in January 1978. He and his wife, Jane (Peterson '66), and son Jonathan enjoyed a trip to New England this past summer • Lynne (Urner) and Ned Baxter are living in Eureka, Calif. Ned is a project analyst with Systems Consultants, Inc., developing curricula for Navy training courses. Lynne is a secretary at North Coast Regional Center, which provides counseling and services for the developmentally disabled. The Baxters are avid antique collectors and try to get back east yearly to visit and add to their collection. Lynne's folks have their own antique shop and she and Ned hope to follow suit at some point in the future.

Class secretary: MARCIA HARDING ANDERSON (Mrs. Norman), 12507 S. 29th St., Omaha, Neb. 68123.

66 Tom Easton's textbook, Bioscope, was published recently. Tom, his wife, Elizabeth (Nelson '67), and their 2-year-old daughter, Joellen, live in Belfast • Gary Knight is senior vice-president and director of the Livermore Falls Trust Co. He also served this past year as president of Rural Health Associates, a medical association of a dozen doctors in Farmington • Terry Clark, his wife, Sandra, and their two boys have moved to Duxbury, Mass., after spending the past year living on Chappaquiddick Island. Terry works for the Edgartown National Bank. He also sent word that Larry Eckel has moved to Miami, Fla., and is a counselor at a private day school • Bob Adams is the administrative officer of the U.S. Army War College in Carlisle, Pa. • Frank Musche is a radiologist in private practice in Rumford, R.I. He is married to Susan (Brown '65), and they have three daughters • Doug Meyer is a graphic technician for Kirchoff/Wohlberg, Inc., designing and producing elementary school textbooks • Judy Jones Hooper is senior programmer/project coordinator at the Mathematics Research Center at the Univ. of Wisconsin. She is also busy with her new son, Pat, born last July • Louise Reburn McDowell, husband Chuck

Promoted in Boston

Charles Levin '67 has been elected assistant vice-president of field administration services at New England Mutual Life Insurance Co., Boston. In his new position, Levin is responsible for the housing arrangements for agency and group field offices, including lease negotiations, office alterations and furniture and equipment, and for coordinating these arrangements with home office services and the law division. Levin earned a J.D. degree from Suffolk University Law School in 1973. He joined New England Life as an agency trainee after graduating from Colby.

ford is living in Oak Brook, Ill. and working for Bliss & Laughlin Industries as assistant accounting manager in both data processing and accounting. She has 10-year-old twin boys • Joan Philipps Thompson, in Marblehead, Mass., sold her first two books (Marblehead, Parker's Island) for reprint. Joan and her husband were in France last spring with her sister, Brenda Philipps Ryan '62, doing research for Joan's next book, called Interesting Times. Recently Joan saw Karen Knudson Day and her new baby, Christopher • Sally Page Carville is starting to work on an M.B.A. at the Portland campus of the Univ. of Maine. This is a new career for Sally, who previously worked as a computer specialist • Dr. Jon Pitman is a radiologist and radiation therapist at St. Mary's General Hospital in Lewiston • Sara (Shaw) and Dusty Rhoades and two children, 7 and 5, are keeping an eye on Washington for the rest of us from District Heights, Md. Sara has tried her hand at gardening while Dusty pursues a Navy career • Anita Hegmann McCray has had a very interesting career in developing computer software. She is a senior analyst at Honeywell, working on the development of Honeywell's new computer line in the areas of the operating system, instrumentation and communications • Ann Gellhorn Campbell is a Ph.D. candidate in sensory (experimental) psychology at Columbia Univ. Her research interests center on the responses of single cells in the visual system of frogs when subjected to various stimuli. Ann had various jobs dealing with computers before she decided to use the computer as a tool rather than a career • Many thanks for the questionnaire returns. Please just jot off a few lines if you misplaced poetry and prose of the 16th and 17th centuries • Hathaway Shirt Co. has named Dale Jewell president of Chaps by Ralph Lauren, Ltd. Dale has been with Hathaway for more than 13 years. He lives in Winslow with his wife, Ruby, and daughter, Paula • Daniel Durgin has been selected as superintendent of Supervisory Union 50 school system, New Hampshire. The union is composed of the Greenland, Rye, New Castle and Newington school districts. Daniel previously was an administrator in the Exeter Supervisory Union. He lives in Kittery and has four children • I received an article from the Springfield, Mass. Morning Union about Anna Owens Smith's business, Country Herbs, in Stockbridge. Anna and her partner sell herbs, their own cookbooks, natural dye yarns, and other herb related articles. The business is seasonal (May 1 to Labor Day) but their products are available year round by mail order • Alfred Di Maio has been appointed associate professor and chairman of the department of political science at Conolly College of Arts and Sciences at the Brooklyn Center of Long Island Univ. • Rhoda Goldstein Freeman moved to Oshkosh, Wisc. from Eatontown, N.J. Her husband, Bob, is a sales manager with Lenox Candles. Rhoda was hoping to get a job in the publications department of the Univ. of Wisconsin. She has two young sons • Gayle Lenz Mitchell lives in Northborough, Mass. She is president of the Northborough Newcomers Club and is busy with her two daughters. Her husband, Chad '64, is vice-president of West End Chevrolet and Sun Auto Rental, Inc. of Waltham. The Mitchells spend their summers at their cottage in Cape Neddick. Gayle writes that Nancy Gay Zimmer has moved to

'65, and son Chip are enjoying their new home in Tempe, Ariz. Chuck works for Cutter Aviation as a Beech Aircraft salesman • Ken Astor is president of Astor Corp., a manufacturing firm in Portland. Ken and his wife, Beth, have two children, Laura, 2, and John, 1 • Nancy DeWitt Antik and Randy '65 seem to have made a successful transition from Boston to Eugene, Ore. They list "rafting" and "hot tubbing" among their pastimes. Nancy enjoys being a housewife and mother to two children. Randy is president and part-owner of Western Graphics Corp. Nancy also passed on the news that Allan Post '65 was planning to get married in September.

Class secretary: KATHERINE McGEE CHRISTIE (Mrs. Walter), Flying Point Rd., Freeport, Maine 04032.

67 Another update from Sandy Miller Lapchick and her family—since last fall they have been New Yorkers. Sandy has become fully-employed as a free-lance designer of quilts, pillows, wall-hangings and fabric while "juggling two energetic kids" and managing to join her husband, Richie, for the European part of his United Nations research on "the effects of apartheid on women." They are enjoying New York and would love to hear from any old friends in the Big Apple. Thanks for the lovely letter, Sandy. I wish more people would write as soon as the Alumnus arrives! • I also had a charming letter from Sue Daggett Cullen. She is still working in a local bank in Thiensville, Wis. in the customer service department. Sue's girls, Christine and Katie, 11 and 8, keep her busy, and she likes her job. Mike is still residing in Dallas, Tex. Thanks so much for the letter, Sue; it was good to hear from you • Fred Hopengarten's new company, Channel One, which operates out of Newton, Mass., is selling a satellite receiving station which will bring down signals being relayed by networks from one section of the country to another. Sounds exciting, and those of you who are midwesterners can get a $3000 break off the $18,500 price tag because the signal from the satellites is stronger there. Now for the questionnaires • Ken Lilley is stationed at (or in) Eskisehir, Turkey, until March, 1980, when his wife and daughter Torri, 10, will join him at Elgin A.F.B. in Fort Walton Beach, Fla. He was promoted to major in July 1979, and his future plans include "leaving Turkey alive!" He recently participated as player-coach in a Turkey-wide softball tournament in Ankara, and comments that "Wink wouldn't be disappointed; still no faster on the basepaths." He saw Leo Amato in Portland at his bank office in the Maine Mall in the summer of 1978, and sends his apologies for missing our 10th reunion. See you at the 15th! By the way, Ken, Dick Lemieux and Nancy (Winslow '68) are now Gorham residents, and "Gorham can still take Scarborough!" Dick is an oral surgeon in association with Dr. Lebel in Portland and Westbrook, and Nancy is financial planning coordinator for Barker-Deering Associates in Portland. He also has seen Leo Amato as well as Bob Goodrich • Jean Howard Bleyle and family are living in Columbus, Ohio, where John is second vice-president, General Reinsurance Corp. They had a 17-year-old exchange student from Denmark with them for 11 months last year and "highly recommend the exchange experience if you're open-minded, patient, and willing to lose a piece of your heart." They have new Colby neighbors, Dr. Steve Smith '66 and family • Derek Schuster, his wife, Karen, and two girls live in New York City, where Derek is executive director, Learning-for-Living, child abuse prevention • Noreen Snyderman Davis, husband John, and daughter Barbara have moved to Ft. Myers, Fla. Noreen received her J.D. in May 1979, and is an attorney in general practice. They enjoy fishing, boating, and swimming in the Florida waters and recently heard from Dick York '64, who has a yacht sales company. She sends "hello" to Ruthie Seagull Sinton, Roberta Kochi, Phyllis Jalbert Oppenheim, and the rest of the first floor Foss gang from 1963-1965 • The alumni office picked up my suggestion for a missing persons search. In each article I'll list several of our lost classmates, and if you see a person listed of whom you know the whereabouts, please drop me a note right away or send the address to the alumni office. Missing persons for the quarter: Stephanie Barker, Lincoln Bates, Fred Beyer, Dr. Jim Bright (patients, speak up), Frank Carney, and Brad Coady (he shouldn't be too hard to find!) • Our twin boys went off to first grade this year, joining their 9-year-old sister. I'm still tutoring for special needs students and substituting, and I have been accepted at Providence College for graduate work in guidance.

Class secretary: SALLY RAY MORIN (Mrs. Ramon), 292 Victory Highway RR-2, Chapachet, R.I. 02814.

69 John Davies, assistant vice-president of the Boothbay Harbor Branch of Depositors Trust Co., recently graduated from Rutgers Univ., Stonier Graduate School of Banking. John and his wife reside in West Boothbay with their son, Michael • We all remember the fine voice of Mary Walker Wheeler. Mary had one of the starring roles in the Waterville Players production of Fiddler on the Roof • John Hoik has been appointed vice-president and art director of the Young Advertising Agency, Inc., in Concord, N.H. • Cheryl Haynes has left the Freeport Post, where she was "the whole news staff" for the community weekly, and has joined the Camden Herald staff. Cheryl has been living in Searsport since last October • Charlie McGee is making his mark on Portland's waterfront with his Old Port Tavern, which he opened in 1972. Charlie's tavern, complete with live entertainment, is said to be among the most successful in the state in its appeal to the 25-45 market. This was particularly impressive to me, as I am a partner and vice-president in two Boston-based firms, Restaurant Brokers of America, Inc. and Restaurant Personnel of America • John Kusiak, who is employed at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., spoke at Colby in November on "Some Aspects of the Tay-Sachs and Fabry Genetic Illnesses." His visit was sponsored by the pre-medical advisory committee.

Class secretary: BONNIE ALLEN, 93 Mt. Vernon St., Boston, Mass. 02110.

70 Anne Pomroy has begun the study of law at the Univ. of Maine School of Law. She is a past employee of Senator Edmund Muskie and U.S. Attorney George Mitchell, and has served on the Governor's Advisory Council on the Status of Women and Hancock County Planning Commission. Most recently, Anne served as director of W.I.L., a federal health and nutrition program, in Hancock and Washington counties • Earle Shettleworth, Jr. is the past president of the Maine Historical Society • Doug Smith is the first recipient of the William Feinbloom Low Vision Award from Designs for Vision, Inc. of New York. The study of low vision, which involves people who do not see well enough to participate in many normal activities, is a relatively new area of optometry. Doug worked in low vision service while attending Pacific Univ. College • Inness Humphreys Nielson became a registered nurse in the spring of 1979. She and her husband, Robert, live in So. Kent, Conn. • Pam Warner Champagne has been elected deputy auditor of The Merrill Bank in Bangor. Pam joined the bank's auditing department in 1973 • Ilan Hadani attended the International Banking Summer School held at Cambridge Univ., England, where 202 bankers from 58 countries gathered for the session. Ilan noted that four of the participants were graduates of Maine colleges, two—he and Peter Archer '63—from Colby • Steve Cline wrote me a wonderfully newsy letter last May which supplied all the following information. Sari Abul-Jubein owns and operates a Harvard Square cafe, the

San Francisco Manager

Management Decision Systems, Inc. of Waltham, Mass., a national business analysis and planning firm, has established a branch office in San Francisco. Michael Thoma '67, a long-time resident of California, is the manager. He will be responsible for managing M.D.S.'s marketing efforts in the area with a staff that includes sales and consulting personnel, serving corporate clients in finance, planning and marketing. Thoma, who previously worked as a product manager for Tymshare, Inc., holds an M.B.A. from Temple University.

Casablanca. John Fochs '71 lives in Duluth, where he owns an advertising business. Frank Danielli lives in Allentown, N.H., and is an administrator at the state hospital in Concord. Frank works with Ray Gerbi '69 and Ron Di Orio. Ben Kravitz is in the tire business in Stoughton. Bob Saglio runs a turkey farm in Glastonbury, Conn. Linda Gulbrandsen works for the Boston School Department in bilingual education. Ben Bradlee, recently returned from the West Coast, is now writing for the Boston Globe. Mike Baskin is also in Boston, working as an architect. Debbie Sugerman teaches math in Manchester, N.H. • Rusty MacPherson works for Yankee Atomic, Bob Gassett lives in Oakland where he is a wood worker, and Peter and Linda Marsh Foss live in Hillsborough, N.H., where Peter is a minister. Thanks, Steve, for all the news. Since his letter, Steve has joined the firm of Barkley & Evergreen, Inc. in its Boston office as an account executive. He will cover the eastern United States for E.R.A. and Barkley & Evergreen • Debby Hawks Kelley writes that she and Bill enjoyed a delightful week on Nantucket last summer, taking time off from staining and shingling their house in Milton • Kathy Hill Revett attended a two-week training session for adults in Wyoming this past summer sponsored by the national Girl Scout Center West. It included backpacking and trail riding, and hiking through miles of canyon, mesas and sagebrush. Participants were from all over the U.S. She also took a group of Texas scouts to Colorado for a ski trip • Ken and I had a busy summer with moving into a new home and welcoming our third child—first son—in September.

Class secretary: BRENDA HESS JORDAN (Mrs. Kenneth), 132 Webster Ave., Bangor, Maine 04401.

71 With winter upon us, I continue with news of the Class of '71 • Dennis Pruneau writes from Belfast that he's a real estate branch manager. Hope a ski vacation in Colorado works out this year—how about Vail? • Alan Tutman practices law in Cambridge, Mass. and is also director of the mayor's office of human services in Somerville, where he and his wife, Kathe (Misch '74), reside • Kevin Jagla and Pam (Fallon '72) are now in Portland, Ore., where Kevin works as a site representative systems analyst for Optimum Systems Inc. They'd love to hear from Colby people in the area • Sharon Di Bartolomeo Hennessy, husband Garry and three children are now in Dover, N.H. after spending three years in Japan. Sharon has two full-time jobs, as both a junior high guidance counselor and director of Golden Gate Univ.'s master's in public and business administration program for the New England area • Ginny Leslie is still in Rhode Island, now working as copywriter and continuity director at WPRO-AM and FM • Andrea Solomon Kowler received her M.A. in English from Teachers College, Columbia Univ. She works as an editorial assistant for Library Journal, while her husband, Theodore, works on an M.B.A. in finance • Bill Simons received a doctorate in history from Carnegie-Mellon Univ. in 1977, and presently directs the honors center at the State Univ. of New York at Oneonta • Bob Britton is in Portland, where he is state coordinator of the Library of Congress National Library for the blind and physically handicapped • Ted Weissman continues actively in the Transcendental Meditation movement, with various courses and research programs taking him to Switzerland, as well as to many spots in the U.S. I did hear (circuitously) that he was involved in a Siddhis program in Amherst, Mass. this past summer • Michael Payne received his Ph.D. in biology in February 1979, and moved from the department of biology at M.I.T. to the Univ. of Virginia in Charlottesville. In his new position he's doing full-time research in muscle biochemistry. His wife, Suzanne (Rudnick '73), also has a position at the Univ. of Virginia • Mike Round spent some time away from Alaska last winter as manager of Meridian Marine, which operates diving, fishing, snorkeling and island excursions for the Meridian Club in the British West Indies. Summer found him back in Ketchikan, where he owns a commercial fishing boat • Frank Apantaku is an instructor of surgery with the Chicago Medical School and resides in Evanston, Ill. • Robert Allen received an M.B.A. degree in accounting from Bryant College • Paul Keary was named a mass market sales representative for Liquid Paper Corporation • Ralph Nodine became the new executive director of Lewiston Tomorrow, Inc., an organization that seeks to revitalize downtown Lewiston as well as clean up the Androscoggin River • Elliott Libman is now in Lexington, Mass. and was recently appointed coordinator of the Prime Sponsor Planning Council of the Massachusetts Balance of State C.E.T.A. (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) program • That's all for now, and Dave and I would love to see anyone who gets to Vail for some skiing this winter.

Class secretary: JANET K. BEALS, P.O. Box 2874, Vail, Col. 81657.

72 Pam Mause Vose and Peter moved to Gray after the birth of their daughter, Katherine. Peter is teaching English at Gray-New Gloucester High School • Jennifer Schmid lives in Suffield, Conn., where she works for a computer typesetting equipment company. She travels around the East Coast teaching people how to use the equipment • Cathie Joslyn has accepted a position as an assistant professor in the art department at Clarion State College (near Pittsburgh), and continues to accept commission work for both corporate and private clients. Last year, she worked as a visiting artist in the fiber department at the Kansas Art Institute. Cathie's husband is a graduate student • Barbara Senes Haskell and Pete are living in Vernon, Conn. This is her sixth year of teaching French. She is currently teaching in Manchester, Conn., and had Spanish added to her assignment this year. Pete is in his second year of computer programming at Aetna Life & Casualty Insurance Co. in Hartford. He also pitches for an Aetna softball team. When they wrote, they were planning a Christmas cruise to Martinique, St. Thomas and other Caribbean ports • Gary Ray works with his father managing the family's fishing business, the L. Ray Packing Co. in Milbridge • Barbara Weldon has been promoted to the position of data services officer for the Maine National Bank • Gary Veilleux is working in Richmond, where he has been the basketball coach for three years.

Class secretary: ANN BONNER VIDOR (Mrs. David), 1981 Innwood Rd., Atlanta, Ga. 30329.

73 Many thanks for your continued correspondence • Charles Macgregor received his Ph.D. in ruminant nutrition at Univ. of Maine and has joined Blue Seal Feeds as a director of technical services • Bob O'Neil has moved his law practice to Wyoming. He joined the Wyoming National Guard and spent the summer in basic training as a cowboy cannoner • Wendy Knickerbocker Stork planned to enter Simmons College of Library Science and was looking forward to being a student again • Since graduating from New England School of Law, Roger Sherman has been living in Harpswell and clerking for the Maine Supreme Court. He plans to serve as an assistant attorney general in Augusta next year • Jonathan Glynn is president of Jonathan Glynn Design Associates, a New York business that does graphic design and corporate advertising • Bruce Smith teaches social studies and coaches football and golf in New Jersey • Along with five associates, Ken Eisen operates the Railroad Square Cinema, a repertory movie theater in Waterville. They have shown films ranging from Casablanca to 1900 • Elizabeth Krupnick Perse has been teaching journalism at the Univ. of Maine in Orono. Last summer she moved to Oregon to accept a position as assistant professor of journalism at Portland State Univ. • Lloyd Benson handles accounts of wholesale and retail food firms in eastern Massachusetts for New England

New Post

Richard Gallup '70 has been named a company officer, with the title of assistant director of underwriting, by National Life Insurance Co. of Vermont. He was a senior underwriter at the time of the promotion. The Boston native earned an M.B.A. degree from Suffolk University in 1974, then joined National Life's home office staff the following year. Gallup is a chartered life underwriter, a fellow of the Life Management Institute, and an associate of the Academy of Life Underwriting.

Telephone. He and Carol Chalker have two daughters, Amy and Molly. • Janet Perethian Bigelow has left her position at Travelers Insurance Co. to care for her new son, Stephen Andrew. She and Larry '72 are active in the Hartford Colby Club and keep in contact with several Colby alumni. • After teaching at the Vieux Fort Secondary School in St. Lucia, West Indies, Sarah Whitney is teaching English at Greely High School in Cumberland Center. • Bob Levine was co-chairman of the art committee for the Great Connecticut Public Television Auction last spring and spent the summer performing and studying voice in Italy. • Dee Kelsey is personnel representative for the Hewlett-Packard Co. in Palo Alto. She is in charge of employee training and development for the manufacturing division. • Alive and well and working in Paris is Lew Paquin, a market analyst for International Harvester Agricultural Equipment in Europe, Africa and the Middle East. He is still running competitively and plans to run in the 1980 Boston Marathon. • Henry Sockbeson is directing attorney of the Eureka office of the California Indian Legal Services. He has been elected to the National Association of Indian Legal Services. • After working from Mt. Rainier to the Everglades National Parks, Joel Ossoff has settled as a park technician (ranger) for the National Park Service at Big South Fork National River and Recreation Area in Oneida, Tenn. • Lois Leonard Stock is the manager of the frame shop of Barridoff Galleries in Portland. She has exhibited her paintings throughout Maine, and she and her husband, Phil, had a husband-wife show at The Studio Gallery last summer. • Hailing en français, Eric Rolfson is teaching English, social studies, and music at the American School of Paris. He and Rebecca visited their farm in Maine last summer, where Eric participated in the seventh annual East Benton Fiddlers' Convention. • Cindy Carlisle Lovitz is busy caring for Becky and Sarah while Jeff '70 is a resident in family practice in Augusta and Waterville.

Volunteering Again

After three years in Salt Lake City, Katherine Muhlhause '72 is returning to the Peace Corps with a Fulbright-Hays grant to teach English as a foreign language in Algeria. She will travel around the country, helping develop English language programs in various locations. She will also be involved in developing program guidelines for future grant recipients. She would like to hear from any Colby graduates who are in North Africa. Her address is: c/o Edward Penney, B.P. 549 Alger Gare, Algiers, Algeria.

dress change for any future correspondence. • Martha Hamilton Benson and husband Joe '72 are busy working on their new home, which they built last February. They managed to squeeze in two weeks of backpacking in Greece and a spring trip to Hawaii. • Priscilla Allen Ishiguri is living in Japan, where she tutors English. Tsutomu Ishiguri (special student '74) is assigned to the Japanese Foreign Ministry. They have a two-year-old daughter, Yachiyo. • Ali Baird attends the Univ. of Virginia School of Architecture, where she intends to spend "three years chained to her drafting table learning to become a master in landscape architecture." • Having earned her M.A. in management from Simmons College, Cheryl Booker Gorman has also completed a two-year program at the School of Bank Marketing at the Univ. of Colorado at Boulder. She and Doug '73 spent last June taking in the sights on a European tour. • Rob Burgess, a recent law use. • Guy Freeman and wife Anne (Menard '75) are busy rehabilitating an 1890 brick house in one of the oldest neighborhoods in Hartford, Conn. Guy is also preparing for a major exhibit of his photography. • Tom Gallant is manager of the Bisson Moving and Storage Co. in Augusta, and at last writing was eagerly anticipating the birth of his first child in December 1979. • John Robbins received his M.S. in forestry from the Univ. of Massachusetts this year and has spent the last several months working for the Cooperative Extension Service in Amherst. • Karen Heck graduated in August 1979 from the Univ. of Maine with an M.S. in human development, majoring in family relations. • Gail Howard, who continued her education at S.U.N.Y. and Cornell, has been named chairman of the mathematics department at Groton Central School in Ithaca. • Ed Kemp has been promoted to wire editor of Foster's Daily Democrat in Dover, N.H. He is looking forward to performing several concerts of Victorian music with a vocalist in Massachusetts and New Hampshire in the upcoming months. That's all for now but there's lots more to come.

Class secretary: EMILY WINGATE RYERSE (Mrs. Scott), 4201 Grimes Ave. So., Edina, Minn. 55416.

75

It is about that time to start thinking about our fifth reunion this June—that's right, five years. You should be hearing soon of specifics. If the alumni office does not have your current address, please let them or me know. Now for some of the responses from the questionnaires. • Ted Miller is an intern at the Cuyahoga Falls (Ohio) General Hospital in osteopathy. • Alice Smith has a new position with the New York office of the Franklin Library. Previously, she worked in TV communications in Cairo, Egypt. • Stuart Cushner is a dentist in a group practice in Manhattan. • Sarah Rosenberg is a student and program assistant at the Univ. of Washington. Her M.A. work is in China regional studies. • Nancy Adams is in her last year of theological studies in Newton, and works as a student minister and chaplain at Boston Univ. Medical Center. • John Szabo is with the Waterville real estate office of Carroll Perkins Associates. He is also working at making his collection of old license plates the best in Maine. • At the Hersey Medical Center of Penn State Univ., Jim Schmidt is a medical illustrator and head of the department's art section. Jim received his master's in medical and biological illustration from the Univ. of Michigan. • Moirá Shea is doing her internship in pediatrics at the Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester, N.Y. Following graduation from the New York Medical College, Moirá married a fellow doctor, Bill Wittman. • Doug Schwarz is a teaching fellow and Ph.D. candidate in comparative religion at Fordham Univ. • When not teaching at Putnam (Conn.) High School, Cynthia Tarr Morrill is working on an M.B.A. in guidance counseling at the Univ. of Connecticut and remodeling their new home. • David Peck is in his last year at Columbia Univ. Law School. • John Orefice is a teacher of English and dramatics at Pelham (N.Y.) Memorial High

74

Thanks to everyone for the many questionnaire responses. We are certainly involved in some varied and interesting pursuits. Please note the ad-school graduate, lists as a highlight of the past year the successful drafting of a grant for $40,000 to fund a citizen-consumer program for southern Maine through the Office of Education, H.E.W. • Bruce Carmichael reports that he is a B-52 aircraft commander at Dyess A.F.B., Texas, having earned the rank of captain. • John Chamberlain is still enjoying his southern California lifestyle and is involved in the development and marketing of a new restaurant to be opened sometime in 1980. • Phil Deford is a second vice-president at Chase Manhattan Bank. He attends N.Y.U. at night in order to earn his M.B.A. • Nancy Dubois Truman is involved on a part-time basis in translating for a local Maine firm that does business with Latin countries. She spends much of her time, however, enjoying her two children, Mikel, age 3, and their new addition, Katherine Leigh, born February 2, 1979. • S. Ann Earon married Scott Douglas on October 6, 1979. She is completing her Ph.D. in business, communications and education at Boston College. • Karen Fellows has been employed since May 1978 by the Diabetic Retinopathy Study and the Diabetic Retinopathy Vitrectomy Study, both of which are funded by the National Eye Institute. • Phyllis Hasegawa Auger has received two national awards for her window display work from Brown Photo. She and husband Perry recently moved from Minneapolis to Portland, Ore., where Phyllis is looking for a place to put her display expertise to good School. The Mainstage Summer Theater, which was started by John and John Mulcahy '76, has had its third successful season • After completing an M.B.A. at Syracuse Univ., Phil McCahill started with Xerox as a financial analyst • Sandy Orenberg Greenspan was married to Stephan in June, and they live in Stockbridge, Mass. where she is an art dealer in fine art originals • Gale Rooney is assistant personnel manager of the Provident Bank in Cincinnati. She is also a voluntary assistant to the city manager • Carol Majdalany is in the second year of the M.B.A. program at Cornell Univ. She spent last summer with the E.P.A. in Washington • Bob Grasberger is an intern in general surgery at Boston Univ. Medical Center • Linda Evans is a technical assistant and senior word processor with Skidmore, Owings and Merrill of Boston • Mary Bastron Harper is an attorney with a private law firm in Omaha, Neb. Husband Mike '76 is in his third year of medical school at the Univ. of Nebraska • Katy Seabrook and Brian MacQuarrie '74 were married in September. She is the entertainment editor for WNTN radio in Newton, Mass. • That's all for now. Please start planning to be at the reunion. This is one instance where the adage, "the more, the merrier," applies.

Class secretary: DIANNE BILLINGTON ASHTON (Mrs. Peter), 29 Jasper St., Haverhill, Mass. 01830.

76 Don Gentile is teaching French, Spanish, and English, and coaching football, basketball, and baseball at Proctor Academy in Andover, N.H. • Lynn Leavitt, who received her M.A. in education at Manhattanville College last June, has been teaching pre-kindergarten in Greenwich, Conn. while working a second job as an apprentice weaver. Due to an internship at a learning disabilities school in Vermont, she is planning a major career switch from teaching preschool to high school children • Kathy Anderson was promoted to a larger territory as a salesperson of abrasives and abrasive-related products for Norton Co. She now works out of Haslett, Mich. • Paul Philbin is a bibliographic specialist in automated systems at the Ohio College Library Center. He and Carol (Wood '74) have bought a condominium in Columbus • Dave Peckham's graduate studies have been in the geophysics department at the Univ. of Washington, where he was pleased to be given a teaching assistantship after only one geology course • Dave '75 and Harriet Buxbaum Pinansky made a choice last year which, although by any other standard would seem strange, can be easily understood by any Colby alumnus: they moved from Hawaii to Maine. Harriet is busy with their new home in Cape Elizabeth, while Dave is an attorney with Pinansky & Schwartz • Martha Seligman is a mental health worker in the admissions ward at the Augusta Mental Health Institute. She is taking courses at the Univ. of Maine and A.M.H.I. to become a nurse • Since receiving his M.A. at DePauw Univ., Brandon Kulik has become a marine biologist for Southern California Edison. So has Joth Davis, who's down on Cape Cod with Marine Research, Inc., studying whelks • The last time I heard from James Moore, he had returned to New Jersey from studying and traveling in Ireland • Martin Hubbe was anticipating a summer in Finland after completing his second year as a student at the Institute of Paper Chemistry in Appleton, Wisc. • Robin Bourne, alias Bowene, says "say hi" from Potomac, Md., where he's in his second year at the International School of Law • Sue Seaman Williams and Doug '73 are both doing graduate work at the Univ. of Maine at Orono • A year as a claims representative for the Social Security Administration in Bangor was enough for Alan Howard, who is now working towards a master's in bio-statistics at the Univ. of Vermont • Luis de Corral, at the Univ. of Puerto Rico Medical School, is considering an internship in the U.S. At any rate, he says he'll be back for our fifth reunion.

Class secretary: MELISSA DAY VOKEY (Mrs. Mark), 13 Barton Square, Salem, Mass. 01970.

77 Hi there. Hope you all are keeping toasty warm this winter. It is great to hear from some of you. I only wish I could induce more of you to write • A real nice note from Jenny Holan tells me she is in her third semester of study at the Univ. of Rhode Island's graduate library school. She wants to know "where is Martha Nist?" If you are reading, Martha, Jenny can be reached at 712 Graduate Village, Kingstown, R.I. 02881 • Big news from Newburyport: Peter Wise is editor-in-chief of The Daily News. Accompanying him there was his wife, Tracy. Peter, there is a lot you haven't been telling us • Barbara Russell completed special courses at the Spring Institute of Social Work at Boston Univ. She represented Mid-Maine Medical Center, Thayer Unit, where she is employed in social services • I'm glad Dick Conant wrote to clear up Jeff Stafford's earlier report. Dick is working as a marine biologist for the National Park Service down at Biscayne National Monument. Finishing his master's degree in marine biology keeps Dick busy, but there is always room for recreational diving and flying. He invites anyone to join him if they get down Homestead, Fla. way • After working as a summer guide at the Wadsworth-Longfellow House, Art Gerrier will oversee the first major overhaul there in 30 years. Art is finishing up his graduate study in historic preservation at the Univ. of Vermont • We have news of Jay Franzel. Jay is in a fellowship program at Buffalo Univ. On a leave of absence, he planned to make a return trip to Maine to be followed by a work-study program in Israel. At this writing he is probably in Israel; thanks for the news, Mr. Franzel • At this point I have to apologize to Karen Sawyer. I did receive your letter and put it in a "safe place" for this column. Having recently moved to Worcester, I still haven't made it through all my boxes and I can't seem to find your letter in the boxes checked. Karen is busy planning her wedding and working in Boston. I will get the specifics by the next column. Sorry, Karen • I won't be moving again for a while so please keep the news coming. Hope the New Year is bringing everyone lots of luck.

Class secretary: JANET McLEOD-ROSENFELD (Mrs. Kenneth), 31 Granby Rd., Apt #1, Worcester, Mass. 01604.

78 I had a terrific time at Homecoming. The weather wasn't as good as we had expected, but I think everyone had fun • Wanda Wright L'Heureux writes from Waterville, where she is the head bookkeeper at John Martin's Manor restaurant. She bought a house in the Waterville area and really enjoys being a native "Mainer" • Peggy Keate writes that since graduation, she has traveled to nine countries in Europe, waitressed in Boothbay Harbor, and worked as an administrative assistant for a food broker in Lexington, Mass. This year she is attending St. Louis Univ. School of Law • Kathy Hastings is at the Univ. of Pennsylvania, after having worked for the federal government in New Hampshire for a year. She also writes that Maggie Buck has returned from Colorado and is working in New Hampshire • Gary Winer is an ensign in the Navy and stationed in Florida • Peter Wetherbee is playing guitar for Sleepy La Beef, a band that plays rockabilly, country and western, and blues. Peter has been playing the Chicago and New England areas, and is hoping with a little luck for a band trip to Europe in the near future • Before I forget, Chris Bradley says that he is up to his ears in snow at a ski resort in Utah. Steve Hart is also ski-bumming there with him • Charlie Hurd is another ski bum, out West somewhere • Steve Culver tells me that he is enjoying the life of the unemployed. He was at Colby for Homecoming, and I hear that he kept DKE house rolling • Bryan Denney is at the Univ. of Pennsylvania studying for his M.B.A., and Donna Long recently assumed the manager's position at the Oak Bluff's branch of Martha's Vineyard National Bank • Bill MacLean is in Prince Edward Island, working in an administrative position for a railroad company and coaching hockey on the side • Dian Weisman is living in Waterville and has joined Carroll Perkins Associates, where she is a real estate sales associate • A newspaper clipping from the Portsmouth Herald tells us that Paul Harvey was the speaker at the Portsmouth Basketball Boosters banquet. They tell us that Paul did as good a job behind the microphone as he always did on the court, which means he was excellent • I hope that your holidays were happy, and that I'll be hearing from you all soon.

Class secretary: MARJORIE GONZALEZ BLACKWELL (Mrs. Douglas), 34 Bowdoin St., Arlington, Mass. 02174.

79 It seems as though we just graduated yesterday and here it is November already. Our classmates have scattered themselves all around the U.S.A. and the globe and have been busy with new jobs, graduate school or traveling • Mark Cecelski is in Springfield, Va., working as a management/budget analyst • Nancy Mott just returned from Switzerland and is a bookstore manager in Oxford • C.D. Williams is a Peace Corps volunteer and is setting up a fisheries program in Zaire,

Africa. He's been trying such delicacies as crickets and termites • Jennifer Morrison married Tim Estabrook in September and is a child development student at the Univ. of Maine at Orono • Doug DeAngelis has returned from a month-long trip to Europe and is job hunting • Debbie Zarella is an accounts payable supervisor at Orion Research in Cambridge. She tells me that Anne Hebert is at Dartmouth Medical School and doing well • Ben Thorndike is a tennis pro at Pine Brook Country Club in Weston, Mass. He was working in the insurance business for six months after leaving Colby in January, and is enjoying the change of scenery • Donna Drury married Scott Bleakney in August and is employed as a manager trainee at Depositors Trust Co. in Lewiston • Mark Buotte is studying Spanish at the Univ. of Salamanca in Spain, and is touring Europe from December through April • Emmy Groat is a bookkeeper/accountant and part-time hostess at Woodshed Restaurant in Lake Placid, N.Y. She invites any Colby classmates to stop in for a drink if they're in the region • Barry Horwitz spent the summer in the White Mountains as camp co-director for kids aged 13-15. He is now a management trainee at Purity Supreme Supermarkets in Newton Centre, Mass. • Deborah Lieberman is a midshipman at Maine Maritime Academy in Castine. She totaled her motorcycle this summer and spent her time recuperating • Kirk Paul teaches earth science and biology and coaches football and softball at Wooster School in Danbury, Conn. • Karen Pazary is employed as a systems analyst for Southern New England Telephone. She saw Chuck Begley while in training in New England and he's going to Northeastern Law School • Andy Huber is the assistant golf pro at the Country Club of North Carolina in Pinehurst. He spent the summer traveling the East Coast • Sue Viger married Robert Guillory '77 and is working in the contracts department at Union Mutual in South Portland • John Eginton is a seaman and cadet officer en route to Pakistan, India and Bangladesh. He was to be back in the States in February • Barb Croft is in a master's program for physical therapy at Boston Univ., Sargent College of Allied Health Professionals • Michael Donihue spent a month in London and is a research programmer for Mathematica Policy Research in Princeton, N.J. • Kim Rossi is a writer at an advertising agency in Detroit, and hopes to be working in the San Francisco area by next spring • Nick Mencher works as a reporter for the Gloucester Daily Times and spent the summer playing punk rock in New York City streets and in parks • Karen Oehle and Geoff Emanuel were engaged in August, but had not yet set a date for the wedding. Karen is an information specialist for E.G. and G., W.A.S.C., in Washington, D.C., which provides management services for Navy's Trident Submarine project. Geoff is working for Connecticut General Life Insurance as closing coordinator in their mortgage and real estate department • Andrew Shire is a member of a political team to draft General Alexander Haig for president. He seems to be enjoying the Washington political scene • Kathy Wall is a museum interpreter at the J.F.K. Library in Boston. She is sharing an apartment with

Talking Business

A program initiated by Walter Zukowski, professor of administrative science and department chairman, allowed Colby students to meet with alumni now attending graduate schools of business. The panel discussion was held during Homecoming weekend. Among the participants were, from left: Janet Oken '76 (Harvard); James Carris '77 (Northeastern); Ronald Schwartz, administrative science instructor; Martin Reader '78 (Cornell); and J. Drennan Lowell '78 (Amos Tuck).

Kathy Small, who is a nursing assistant for Malden Nursing Home. Kathy spent the summer on Cape Cod beaches experiencing punk rock • Speaking of which, Dave Surette is a punk rock consultant for Strawberry Records in Boston. Both the Univ. of Arizona and Pomona College are planning productions of his play, Warm Angel. Congrats, Dave! • Flore Blaise is in a two-month program at Katherine Gibbs and will job-hunt when the program finishes • Carl Lovejoy is assistant director of admissions at St. Paul's School in Concord, N.H. He tells me that he's been downing a few beers with fellow "chopper" Tom Painchaud • Jim Zendman has a job as a credit analyst for Dun and Bradstreet • Glenn Connell is a physics graduate student at Brandeis Univ. in Waltham, Mass. • Julie Sydow is a flight attendant for Eastern Airlines and is based in Atlanta. She spent the month of June in Miami at training school. Julie's been basking in the southern sunshine and planned a skiing trip to Park City, Utah in January • Tom Riley is an M.B.A. candidate at Boston Univ. • Eric Rosengren is in Australia on his Watson Fellowship and he's having a great time from all reports • Greg Pfitzer is in a doctoral program at Harvard Univ. and Marc McAuliffe is at M.I.T., according to Riles • Bruce Brown was one of the two recipients of a New England Regional Rotary Fellowship to study abroad. He was to leave in February to attend the Univ. of Canterbury in New Zealand where he'll be working towards an M.A. in American Studies. Before that he was a loan officer in a credit union in Phoenix • Leslie Taylor is an admissions counselor at Becker Junior College in Leicester, Mass. She's organizing a singing group there similar to the Colbyettes • Alan Banks spent the summer sailing to Bermuda and is now a student at New York Medical College • Doug Lewing is employed as a research and development chemist for Fiber Materials, Inc. of Biddeford. He says that Randy Papadellis is driving the girls wild at Cornell Business School, even more than he did while at Colby • Bob Ham was a deck hand on the three-masted passenger schooner Victory Chimes out of Rockland during the summer. He'll get a job for the winter and then deliver a yacht to the Caribbean in the spring • Peter Goodnow's summer was spent as a cabin counselor in New Hampshire. He was to enter the U.S. Marine Corps O.C.S. in January • Linda Good is a geologist in Coulee Dam, Wash. • Stacie Stoddard is traveling through Africa from all reports. What a trip • Now for the Paper Chase saga. Dave Linsky and Neal Mizner are at Boston College Law School and Brian Hoffmann, Bob Lizza, and Rick Nadeau are all at Georgetown Univ. School of Law. Dave tells me that Rich Uchida is with the A.P. in Louisiana, Patti Maguire is working at W.P.I., and Dave Rice, who was married in August, is a graduate student at Duke Univ. Thanks for the info, Dave • Tim Buffum is a broadcast announcer at WLAM-AM/WMAV-FM in Lewiston-Auburn. He tells me that Bob John is in an M.B.A. program at the Univ. of Michigan at Ann Arbor and learning to love Big 10 college football • Lou Cutolo is taking graduate courses in the N.Y.C. area to prepare for medical school • Lisa Pacun worked for an advertising agency in N.Y.C. in the summer and is now at Boston Univ. School of Public Communications. She also has a part-time job as the assistant in the development office of Jobs for Youth • John Smedley is a part-time store clerk and musician in Hartford, Conn. He plans to apply to Ph.D. programs in physical chemistry in 1980-1981 • Cathy Cushman is specializing in 19th century musicology at the Eastman School of Music in New York; she is excited about graduate school • Ross Moldoff is a student at the Univ. of Massachusetts in the department of regional planning, with a concentration on land use and community energy planning. He had a great time in Israel during a two-week summer trip • Steve Celata is a marketing management trainee at Hannaford Brothers

Co. in Lynnfield, Mass. • Debra Wallace is a student at Northeastern Univ. Business School. In January she will begin an internship as a financial analyst in London • Sam Koch spends his mornings as an auto mechanic and his afternoons as a soccer coach at Brown Univ. He writes that he hopes to go on for his master's at Brown or Boston Univ. so that he can own his own garage! • Andrea James is a teaching intern in environmental education with the National Park Service • Greg Jalbert guided a writer and photographer from National Geographic through the St. John River Valley of northern Maine this past summer. The article should appear in the May or June issue. He is now working on an M.A. at the Univ. of Arizona • Rhonda Htoo is a secretary at the Harvard Graduate School of Education • Mark Hubbert is a Surety Bond Underwriter for the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co. in Portland • Gayle Amato is traveling in Europe with Kathy Jackson '78 • Patricia McNally is a designator-cryptologist/orders-communications officer in the Navy. She received her officer's commission in December. She reports that Dave Simon is an assistant manager at Bloomingdale's in New York, and that Dave Ashcraft is in Madison, N.J. working for a large insurance company and enjoying it • Also, Gene Crawshaw is living in Paris. Marilyn Courtney has moved to Ireland and Thomas Handel has traveled out west to Washington State with his brother and friends • Monique Fecteau is living in France and teaching English under a Fulbright Scholarship • Dave Allen is an actuarial assistant for Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Glastonbury, Conn. Dave traveled in Mexico and the Southwest this past summer • Jacie Cordes is a billing analyst for a television advertising representative firm in Manhattan • Stacey Cox works in Manhattan, around the block from Jacie, at McGraw-Hill • Jane Venman is at Colby in the admissions office and Becky Rogers is also on Mayflower Hill as the director of Roberts Union • Dave LaLiberty lists as his title "independently unemployed" and his position as "at the bottom looking up."

It's good to see that his sense of humor hasn't changed. He spent his summer traveling to Florida, D.C. and Boston, working for Waterville Parks and Recreation, and of course, playing soccer. He coached the girls' soccer team at Waterville High this fall. His plans for the year are to move to California in search of work, fun and the West Coast mystique • Cynthia Pigott traveled to Russia, Scandinavia, Holland, France and the Caribbean. She will soon be in France working as the administrative assistant for the Paris editor of the Washington Post and taking night courses at L'Institute Catholique • And I'm at The Johns Hopkins Univ. School of Hygiene and Public Health in Baltimore. I am a Ph.D. candidate in a joint program in behavioral science and psychology and I am loving every minute of it • I hope that the rest of the Class of '79 sends back their questionnaires in time for the next issue. Stay happy.

Class secretary: ANGELA MICKALIDE, Johns Hopkins University, 2905 North Charles St., Apt. 214, Baltimore, Md. 21218.

Milestones

Marriages

Paul Wescott '53 to Margaret Ring, August 16, 1979, East Sebago.
Wilbur Hayes '59 to Dawn Waldorf, September 1979, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
John Bernier '61 to Joanne Cunningham, August 11, 1979, Augusta.
Stuart Hardy '63 to Rosemary Nash, August 18, 1979, Strong.
Allen Post '66 to Margaret Adkins, September 15, 1979, Edgartown, Mass.
Joseph Jambriska, Jr. '68 to Deborah Simon, September 1979.
Sarah Johnston '69 to William Kueffner '68, August 25, 1979, Riverside, Conn.
Kenneth May '69 to Kathryn Neeld, Boston, Mass.
Richard Lewin '71 to Margot Preston, October 1979, Watertown, Conn.
David Konjoian '72 to Rosalie Freedman, November 4, 1979, Danvers, Mass.
Nathaniel Smith '72 to Mary Alexander, July 21, 1979.
Carolyn Clarke '73 to Dwan Simpson, October 5, 1979, Lawton, Okla.
Suzanne Cross '73 to Robert Barton, April 1978.
Christina Holt '73 to Bruce Crothers, July 7, 1979, South Dartmouth, Mass.
Roger Sherman '73 to Jane MacLaughlin, July 28, 1979, Brunswick.
Richard Beaubien '74 to Linda Potts, September 8, 1979.
Sara Earon '74 to Scott Douglas, October 6, 1979, Lockport, N.Y.
Elaine Halberg '74 to Robert Hall, Jr., June 23, 1979, Natick, Mass.
Michael Roy '74 to Schari-Fran Covell, October 7, 1979.
Ursula Senenky '74 to Thomas Pascarello, June 23, 1979, Augusta.
Barbara Carroll '75 to Harold Peterson, October 1979, Roxbury, Conn.

Malcolm Foster '75 to Marie Ryburn, September 15, 1979, Wellesley, Mass.
Curtis Gowdy, Jr. '75 to Karen Morris, 1979.
Heather Ogilvie '75 to Christopher Smith, September 3, 1979, Dark Harbor.
Kathryn Overhiser '75 to Richard Valone '73, August 26, 1979, New Jersey.
Susannah Patterson '75 to Alan Malkiel, August 18, 1979, Bangor.
David White '75 to Sharon Goddard, August 11, 1979, New Jersey.
Roger Breene '76 to Deborah Battista, August 11, 1979.
Barbara McCarty '76 to David Dane '76, July 7, 1979, Hamilton, Mass.
Steven McGill '76 to Maura Howard, June 16, 1979, Yorktown, N.Y.
Scott Smith '76 to Cathlyn Hill, August 18, 1979, Andover, Mass.
Ann Dunlap '77 to Peter LeBourdais, June 23, 1979, Hopkinton.
Nancy Gervais '77 to John Finnegan, July 28, 1979, Waterville.
Nancy Groh '77 to Stuart Michener '76, September 1979, Glastonbury, Conn.
Janet McLeod '77 to Kenneth Rosenfield, August 8, 1979, Newport, Mass.
Janet Peel '77 to William Thompson, December 22, 1979, Massachusetts.
Diane Pratt '77 to David Ames, October 6, 1979, Durham, N.H.
Karen Sawyer '77 to Kenneth Smith, October 6, 1979, New Hampshire.
Lisa Tripler '77 to Daniel Rapaport '74.
Helena Bonnell '78 to Anthony Cocco, Jr., Waterville.
Alexander Buck, Jr. '78 to Anne Emmons, October 1979, Moorestown, N.J.
Christine Carey '78 to Fred Daniels '78, August 1979, Rensselaerville, N.Y.
Pamela Cleaves '78 to John Devine '78, August 25, 1979, Portland.
James Crook, Jr. '78 to Andrea Montanari, September 1979, Norwood, Mass.

Donna Dietzko '78 to Jeffrey McKeage, September 29, 1979, Plainville, Conn.
Patrick Gill '78 to Barbara Letourneau, August 11, 1979, Waterville.
Marjorie Gonzalez '78 to Douglas Blackwell '78, October 6, 1979, Belmont, Mass.
John Gray II '78 to Marie Papaioanou, September 1, 1979, Haverhill, Mass.
Martha Legg '78 to David Christophe '78, October 1979, Needham, Mass.
Katherine Churchill '79 to Eric Heinzelmann '77.
Donna Drury '79 to Scott Bleakney, August 25, 1979, Poland Spring.
Jennifer Morrison '79 to Tim Estabrook, September 1979.
Sarah Morton '79 to Robert Jones, September 1979, Cohasset, Mass.
Ernestine Ochs '79 to Jonathan Reisman '77, September 2, 1979, Spring Hill.
Susan Raymond '79 to John Geismar '78, May 28, 1979, Lewiston.
David Rice '79 to Barbara Marshall, August 1979, Hyde Park, Mass.
Susan Viger '79 to Robert Guillory '77, 1979.

Births

A daughter, Rebecca, adopted in November 1979 by Mr. and Mrs. George Shur '64.
A daughter, Amanda Caroline, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kiesow '66, October 11, 1979.
A son, Thomas Arnot, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright '69, June 8, 1979.
A son, Zachary Alden, to David and Martha Alden Ellis '70, September 6, 1979.
A son, Jason Omar, to Mr. and Mrs. Sari Abul-Jubein '70, May 9, 1979.
A son, Kenneth Miguel, to William and Judith Kenoyer Stoy '71, October 13, 1979.
A daughter, Laura Martin, to William and Susan Martin Hunt '72, May 22, 1979.

A son, Stephen Andrew, to Lawrence '72 and Janet Perethian Bigelow '73, July 12, 1979. A daughter, Katherine Leigh, to Milton and Nancy Dubois Truman '74, 1979. A daughter, Abigail Deering, to Jack '76 and Susan Reed Parker '76, September 10, 1979. A son, Andrew Charles, to Charles and Jane Souza Dingman '76, October 30, 1979.

Deaths

As this issue went to press, the college was informed of the deaths of the following. Obituaries will appear in a future Alumnus.

Wentworth Vincent Driscoll '19
Burton Eugene Small '19
Ella Lydia Vinal '28
Florence Stobie Demers '40
Samuel Brewster Warren '42
Patricia Gould Jurgenson '46

Nathan Russell Patterson '11, February 16, 1979 in Tulsa, Okla., age 89. Patterson, who was born in Winslow, belonged to Phi Delta Theta. After graduation, he joined a Massachusetts electrical company, then in 1913 moved to Tulsa. He and a brother founded Patterson Steel Co. there in 1920. Patterson served as vice-president, president, and chairman of the board before his retirement in 1965. He was a Colby trustee from 1954 to 1961. Patterson was a construction superintendent for Standard Oil Co. gasoline plant construction in World War I, and during World War II he directed construction of the Midwest Air Depot in Oklahoma City and was project manager of the Clinton, Ohio, Naval Air Facilities. He leaves two sons and a brother.

Emma Louise Clark '12, August 20, 1979 in Gorham, age 87. The East Wilton native taught several years in Maine schools before moving to Quincy, Mass., where she was a Latin and mathematics teacher at Quincy High School. Miss Clark retired in 1960. She had a master's degree from Harvard Graduate School of Education. There are no immediate survivors.

John Patrick Dolan '12, October 22, 1979 in Walpole, Mass., age 90. At Colby, he belonged to Lambda Chi Alpha, was a track team member and was active in dramatics. The Nashua, N.H. native worked in sales for Bird and Son, Inc., East Walpole, Mass., from the time he graduated until retiring in 1957. In 1936 he received an LL.B. degree from Suffolk Law School, and later passed the Maine bar exam. Dolan was chairman of the Walpole Housing Authority for 17 years. He was a World War I Army veteran. Survivors include three sons, a brother and three sisters.

Margaret Buswell Nash '12, December 7, 1978 in St. Petersburg, Fla., age 90. Before her marriage in 1930, she taught at several high schools in Maine and Massachusetts. The Dover-Foxcroft native belonged to Sigma Kappa, and was active in dramatics, the glee club, Dexter Club and the Y.W.C.A. Her husband, Ralph Nash '11, died in 1971. Mrs. Nash did postgraduate work at Radcliffe College and at Victoria College, McGill University. There are no immediate survivors.

Clinton Barnard '13, September 26, 1979 in Schoharie County, N.Y., age 91. The Graniteville, R.I. native attended Colby for two years, and was a member of Delta Upsilon. He worked at hotels in New Hampshire, California, Yosemite National Park and New York before purchasing the Hotel Augustan in Cobleskill, N.Y. in 1925. Barnard operated it until retiring in 1970. He was a World War I veteran. A son survives.

Clifford Jasper Sharp '13, September 24, 1979 in Liberty, age 91. Sharp died of smoke inhalation following a fire in his home. The Monticello native left Colby after one year to attend Boston University Law School from 1911 to 1914. He then returned to Monticello to practice law. Sharp was a veteran of World War I. He is survived by a niece and a nephew.

Leonard Warren Grant '15, October 24, 1979 in Lawrence, Mass., age 86. Born in East Brookfield, Mass., Grant was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and was active in debating and dramatics. After graduation he was the principal of Sanford High School before serving in the Navy from 1917 to 1919. He was a secretary to Franklin D. Roosevelt when Roosevelt held the cabinet post of Secretary of the Navy. After the war, Grant worked as the high school principal and superintendent of schools in Bridgewater, Mass., and later was the principal of Norwood (Mass.) High School. He also worked in sales in the textile industry. Grant was an active alumnus, serving on the Alumni Council and as president of the Boston Colby Club. He was named "C" Club Man of the Year in 1956, and was given a Colby Brick in 1969 for "extraordinary service" to the college. Survivors include his wife, Rita, and a daughter.

Warren Burleigh Marston '16, October 24, 1979 in Albany, N.Y., age 86. Marston, who was born in Waterville, was a retired office manager for International Harvester in Albany. He was a World War I veteran. At Colby, Marston belonged to Zeta Psi and was a member of the glee club. He leaves his wife, Rose, and a daughter.

Charles Wentworth Ricker '16, September 7, 1979 in Portland, age 87. Ricker attended the college for one year. He was the general manager of Hiram Ricker Sons in Poland Spring until 1946, then worked as the manager of the Belgrade Lakes Hotel. He served earlier in the Maine House of Representatives. Surviving are his wife, Gertrude, a son and three daughters.

Oliver Conrad Wilbur '17, October 23, 1979 in Waynesboro, Va., age 89. After graduation, the Adams, Mass. native joined E.I. duPont de Nemours as a chemist. Wilbur remained with the company until he retired in 1955, when he was a chemical laboratory supervisor at the Dupont facility in Waynesboro. A number of his articles were published over the years in chemical journals. Survivors include his wife, Winifred (Atwood '17), a son and a sister.

Hilda Drake Bradbury '19, November 9, 1979 in Lynn, Mass., age 83. She was born in Houlton, and as an undergraduate belonged to Delta Delta Delta. After teaching in New Hampshire, Miss Bradbury taught French and English in Massachusetts at both Lynn Classical High School and Lynn English High School before retiring 23 years ago. She leaves four nieces and two nephews.

Charles Gordon Brownville '20, D.D. '42, October 10, 1979 in Boca Raton, Fla., age 81. After earning an LL.B. in 1922 from Boston University Law School, he practiced law in the Boston area for seven years before entering the ministry. The Quincy, Mass. native left Colby in 1917 to join the Army during World War I. As a member of the medical corps, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery under fire. After giving up law, he studied at the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, receiving a B.D. degree in 1930. Dr. Brownville was a pastor in Asbury Park, N.J., Los Angeles, Calif., Binghamton, N.Y. and Richmond, Va. He also was the pastor at Tremont Temple in Boston, one of the country's largest Baptist congregations, from 1935 to 1945 and again from 1961 to 1965. Following retirement from a full-time pastorate in 1969, Dr. Brownville was associated with the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association. He was the author of 10 books and held honorary degrees from Wheaton College and Suffolk University. Dr. Brownville, who received a Colby Gavel in 1959, was a member of Zeta Psi and played on the varsity football team as an undergraduate. Surviving are his wife, Elizabeth, two sons and three daughters.

Ethel Harmon Barta '24, August 3, 1979 in Kissimmee, Fla., age 77. As an undergraduate, the Moultonboro, N.H. native was a member of Phi Mu. Mrs. Barta moved to St. Cloud, Fla. 20 years ago, where she was a retired hotel manager. She leaves four brothers and three sisters.

George Lincoln Crook '24, September 27, 1979 in Fall River, Mass., age 78. Born in Fall River, he worked as an industrial engineer for the Glidden Paint Co. until 1967. Crook was superintendent of a Fall River foundry during World War II. He leaves his wife, Betty, a son and a daughter.

George French Hodgkins '26, October 29, 1979 in Port Charlotte, Fla., age 76. Hodgkins, who transferred to Colby from Bates College in 1924, was a member of the track and cross-country teams. He was born in Presque Isle. After several years as a high school principal, in 1931 he joined the Curtis Publishing Co. in Philadelphia, where he was employed for 26 years. Following several years as president of Lighthouse Directories in North Syracuse, N.Y., Hodgkins became the owner of an automobile dealership in Skowhegan. He retired to Florida in 1975. Survivors include his wife, Beatrice, a brother and four sisters.

Robert Malcolm Waugh '27, August 25, 1979 in Berlin, N.H., age 76. He was born in Dover-Foxcroft, belonged to Kappa Delta Rho, and graduated Phi Beta Kappa. Waugh earned a master's degree in French from Middlebury College in 1939, and also studied at McGill University and the Sorbonne. He taught French at Hebron Academy from 1927 to 1943, when he became a teacher of Latin and French at Berlin (N.H.) High School. Upon his retirement in 1969, Waugh was awarded Les Palmes Académiques by the French government, and also received the Granite State Award from the University of New Hampshire for outstanding service as a teacher. He was the first teacher ever to be presented the award. Survivors include his wife, Florene, and three daughters, Lorene Waugh Harris '60, Lillian Waugh '63 and Lucille Waugh '63.

Ralph Guy Hutchins '29, September 25, 1979 in Sanford, age 80. Hutchins, who attended Colby for two years, was employed for more than 30 years in the supply service at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard in Kittery, retiring in 1969. At Colby, Hutchins was a member of the track team. He was born in Wells Depot. He leaves his wife, Lucille, a daughter, Joyce Hutchins '51, a brother and a sister.

Maurice Philip Winniman '30, August 2, 1979 in Springfield, Mass., age 81. The Holyoke, Mass. native attended Colby for one year. For the past 40 years he lived in Springfield, where he was a businessman. Winniman was a well-known amateur golfer, and organized numerous tournaments to raise money for the Western Massachusetts Heart Association. He is survived by his wife, Faye, and two sisters.

Morgan Wilson '31, September 23, 1979 in Findlay, Ohio, age 71. Wilson, who was born in Nyack, N.Y., was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha. The World War II veteran worked for the federal government for many years in the field of game management. He retired in 1966. Surviving are his wife, Jean, and a sister.

Morten Sorensen '32, August 19, 1979 in Portland, age 84. He was born in Isafjord, Iceland, and came to the United States in 1918. He studied at the Bangor Theological Seminary before entering Colby, where he belonged to Lambda Chi Alpha. In 1933 he earned a B.D. degree from the seminary. After graduating, he served a number of churches in northern Maine and the First Congregational Church of South Portland. He was a major in the chaplain corps of the Army during World War II. Following the war, the Rev. Mr. Sorensen served at the Sea Coast Mission in Dixfield, and later, until his retirement in 1960, at the First Congregational Church, Scarborough. Surviving are his wife, Bertha, a son and a brother.

John Allan Webb '33, August 8, 1979 in New Brunswick, Canada, age 70. Webb, a resident of Hingham, Mass., died while on a camping trip. He was born in Ayer, Mass., and studied at Bridgewater State before coming to Colby, where he was active in Powder and Wig and the Y.M.C.A. After teaching in schools in Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire, he joined the English department at Hingham (Mass.) High School in 1942. Webb retired in 1967. He earned an Ed.M. degree from Boston University in 1942. Webb was also an active environmentalist and conservationist. He is survived by his wife, Mertys, a daughter, Judith Webb '62, and a sister.

Spencer Hughes Winsor '40, October 24, 1979 in Bangor, age 61. From 1948 to 1950, Winsor worked at Colby as director of the news bureau and editor of the Alumnus. The New York City native was a member of Delta Upsilon and was active in the glee club and the International Relations Club. Winsor was editor of the Echo his senior year. After graduation he joined the Bangor Daily News, served in the Navy during World War II, then worked as a reporter and columnist for the Bangor Daily Commercial. At the time of his death, he was a guidance counselor at George Stevens Academy in Blue Hill. In 1966 he earned an M.Ed. from the University of Maine. Surviving are his wife, Barbara, a son, two daughters and two brothers, including Paul Winsor '38.

Donald Leo Murray '50, December 18, 1979 in Cocoa Beach, Fla., age 57. Murray, who attended Colby for two years, was on the tennis team, the glee club and in dramatics. He later graduated from the University of Miami. After World War II service in the Army Air Corps, Murray began a newspaper career as a sports writer for the Miami Herald. He later worked at papers in New Jersey and New York, and was a copy editor at the newspaper, Today, in Cocoa, Fla. at the time of his death. He leaves his wife, Ann (Kahler '48), three sons and a daughter.

Joyce Edwards Washburn '51, September 27, 1979 in Portland, age 49. A member of Delta Delta Delta, she was also active in the outing club, the glee club, the Oracle, and in a number of sports. After her marriage, Mrs. Washburn lived in the Portland area, where she was employed by Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., St. Paul's Mutual Insurance Co. and South Portland Realty. She was born in Appleton, Wis. She leaves her husband, Russell '50, a son and two daughters.

Reynolds David Richards '62, November 19, 1979 in Braintree, Mass., age 40. Richards, who attended Colby for one year, was killed in an automobile accident. The Babson College graduate was director of operations for the Alves Photo Co. of Braintree, Mass. at the time of his death. He was born in Boston. He leaves his wife, Mary, two sons, two daughters, a sister and his parents.

Honorary

Alfred Gerald Caplin, A.M. '49, November 5, 1979 in Cambridge, Mass., age 70. Al Capp, one of America's great satirists, began his Li'l Abner comic strip in 1934 with eight newspaper subscribers. Over the years he built a following of millions of readers, and, at its peak, the strip was carried by more than 900 newspapers. At Colby's commencement in 1949, Capp's citation read, in part, "your sympathetic insight into the plight of modern man combined with your ability to express it in animated form has won for you a leading place on the roster of the cartoonists of our time." Born in New Haven, Conn., he lost a leg hopping on an icetruck at the age of nine. It took him two years to learn to use a wooden leg, and during that period he began drawing pictures. Li'l Abner was discontinued in November 1977, when Capp retired. Survivors include his wife, Catherine, a son and a daughter.

Ira Noel Gabrielson, Sc.D. '69, September 7, 1977 in Washington, D.C., age 87. Gabrielson, an internationally known authority on conservation, was the first director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service after serving as chief of the old Bureau of Biological Survey of the Agriculture Department. At the time of his death, he was chairman of the board of the Wildlife Management Institute. In 1975, Gabrielson was chosen by the American Forestry Association to be one of a select group for the National Hall of Conservation. His interest in preserving wildlife began while he was a farm boy in Iowa, and remained with him throughout his life. His honorary degree citation noted that "he has done as much as any man to keep our lakes and streams clear, to protect our murmuring pines and our hemlocks and the forest inhabitants who nest and run beneath them." Gabrielson was the author of four books and the coauthor of six more on birds and conservation. He is survived by his wife, Clara, a daughter and a brother.

Everett Fisk Strong, January 3, 1980 in St. Petersburg, Fla., age 84. Professor Strong, who taught in Colby's department of modern languages for four decades, was the senior member of the faculty at the time of his retirement in 1962. He was born in Lewiston, earned a bachelor's degree from Wesleyan University, and did graduate work at the University of Toulouse in France. Professor Strong maintained a life-long interest in music. From 1931 to 1954 he was the organist at Waterville's First Congregational Church. On his recommendation the Institute of Church Music was established as part of Colby's summer program, and for many years he was the institute's director. Survivors include his sister, Helen Peirce.

Professor Everett Strong

Alumni Council

Membership 1979-1980

Officers

CHAIRMAN

Jean R. Cornell '65
12 Leighton Street
South Portland, Maine 04106

SECRETARY

Frank P. Stephenson '62
Colby College

ASSISTANT SECRETARY

Jean M. Papalia
Colby College

TREASURER

Karl W. Broekhuizen
Colby College

Committee Chairmen

ALUMNI ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

Josiah H. Drummond, Jr. '64

ALUMNI FUND COMMITTEE

David Marson '48

ALUMNI HOUSE COMMITTEE

Jon B. Eustis '69

AWARDS COMMITTEE

Cheryl M. Dubois '69

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

John R. Cornell '65

NOMINATING COMMITTEE

Charles P. Williamson, Jr. '63

SEMINAR COMMITTEE

Jane Russell Abbott '41

SPECIAL PROJECTS

Jerome F. Goldberg '60

President of Colby College

William R. Cotter

Honorary Members

Dr. J. Seelye Bixler, Hon. '60
Dr. Robert E. L. Strider, Hon. '79

Former Chairman of the Alumni Council (1976-1979)

Warren J. Finegan '51

Alumni Trustees

term expires July 1, 1980
Robert S. Lee '51

*Anne O'Hanian Szostak '72
Peter A. Vlachos '58

term expires July 1, 1981
*Charles P. Barnes, II '54
John W. Deering '55
Bertrand W. Hayward '33

term expires July 1, 1982
*Robert Sage '49
*Susan Fairchild Bean '57
*Richard R. Schmaltz '62

Members Elected by the Council

term expires July 1, 1980
Elizabeth Swanton Allan '33
Peter C. Bogle '70
Douglas W. Gorman '73
Helen Carter Guptill '39
David M. Tourangeau '61
Maurice M. Whitten '45

term expires July 1, 1981
*Jane Russell Abbott '41
Robert S. Aisner '68
William L. Alfond '72
Judith MacLeod Folger '61
Susan Smith Huebsch '54
*Charles P. Williamson, Jr. '63

term expires July 1, 1982
Sari Abul-Jubein '70
Susan B. Benson '75
Susan Comeau '63
Ann Dudley DeWitt '60
*Josiah H. Drummond, Jr. '64
*Phyllis Sturdivant Sweetser '19

Class Representatives

term expires July 1, 1980
Alfred K. Chapman '25
John H. Lee '30
Betty Wellington Piper '35
Edna Slater Pullen '40
M. Colby Tibbetts '45
Patricia Root Wheeler '50
Joseph A. Perham '55
Jerome F. Goldberg '60
Richard W. Davis '65
Steven Cline '70
Boyd Byrd Allen '75
Helen Rand McGrath '75

term expires July 1, 1981
Esther E. Wood '26
A. Stephanie Bean Delaney '31
Eleanor MacCarey Whitmore '36
Barbara Partridge Dyer '41
Jean O'Brien Perkins '46
Richard J. Bowen '51

*Reelected

Forrest W. Barnes '56
R. Dennis Dionne '61
Linda Buchheim Wagner '66
Anthony M. Maramarco '71
Martha Nist '76
P. James "Chuck" Clarke '76

term expires July 1, 1982
Alan Hilton '27
Hazel Wepfer Thayer '37
Linwood E. Palmer, Jr. '42
Theodore H. Russell '47
Paul A. Cote, Sr. '52
Guy J. Vigue '57
Patricia Farnham Russell '62
George J. Kay '67
Janet Shreve Martland '72
Janet A. McLeod Rosenfield '77
J. Philip Bruen '77

term expires July 1, 1983
Ruth Pullen '33
Edith Barron '38
Ruby Lott Tucker '43
Gordon T. Miller '48
Marcella Laverdiere O'Halloran '53
Lois Munson Megathlin '58
Phillip E. Allison '63
Susan Volpe Hely '68
Anne Badmington '73

term expires July 1, 1984
Franklin Norvish '34
Fletcher Eaton '39
Virginia Howard Atherton '44
John Appleton '49
Victor F. Scalise, Jr. '54
Nancy Thompson Fearing '59
Judith Van Dine Sylvia '64
Edward M. Woodin '69
Patricia Rachal '74
Julie A. Sydow '79
Mark A. McAuliffe '79

Fifty Plus Club Representatives

term expires July 1, 1980
Doris Hardy Haweeli '25

term expires July 1, 1981
Newton L. Nourse '19

term expires July 1, 1982
Harold E. Hall '17

Faculty Representative

term expires July 1, 1981
Wilfred J. Combella '37

Alumni Club Representatives

NEW ENGLAND CLUBS

KNOX COUNTY, MAINE
Charles P. Williamson, Jr. '63

MILLINOCKET, MAINE
Pat Farnham Russell '62

PENOBSCOT VALLEY, MAINE
Garth K. Chandler '62

PORTLAND, MAINE
George Shur '64

SOUTHWESTERN MAINE ALUMNAE
Sara J. Cowen '37

WATERVILLE, MAINE
Malcolm Wilson '33

NEW HAMPSHIRE
Esther McDonough Smith '64

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS
Ann Miller '71

MERRIMACK VALLEY,
MASSACHUSETTS
Mary Ann Soursourian '74

SOUTH CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS
ALUMNAE
Priscilla Gould Brock '44

SPRINGFIELD-PIONEER VALLEY,
MASSACHUSETTS
Franklin King, III '53

WORCESTER, MASSACHUSETTS
Duncan Leith '73

HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT
Lawrence C. Bigelow '72

PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND
Michael J. Szostak '72

BURLINGTON, VERMONT
Joyce Dignam Flynn '62
Michael Flynn '61

OTHER ALUMNI CLUBS

LOS ANGELES SAN DIEGO,
CALIFORNIA
Kenneth W. Gorman '73

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA
William R. Timken '57

DENVER, COLORADO
Frank Wallace '61

MIAMI FORT LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA
Arthur W. Seepie
Virginia Swallow Seepie '35

ST. PETERSBURG, FLORIDA
Stephen D. Hughes '51

FRANCE
Jacques Hermant '71

HONOLULU, HAWAII
John Jubinsky '56

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS
Ruth Pratley Madell '63

NEW JERSEY
Fran Richter Comstock '67

NEW YORK
Richard R. Schmaltz '62

CLEVELAND, OHIO
Marie Merrill Wysor '42
Philip Wysor '42

PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA
Stephen D. Ford '68

DALLAS, TEXAS
Sylvia Caron Sullivan '53

HOUSTON, TEXAS
Maurice Krinsky '35

WASHINGTON, D.C.
Peter D. Hart '64

WASHINGTON STATE
Judy Dunnington Vollmer '61

A newspaper cartoon by Otto Knauff of Waterville in 1932 shows President Franklin Johnson moving the college from Waterville to Augusta, where Publisher William H. Gannett had offered to donate land for a new campus. The rest is history. The drawing has been given to the college by Mrs. Otto C. Knauff of Oakland, the artist's daughter-in-law.