Locations of Police Stations and Fire Stations in the Downeast Region of Maine

This map displays the locations of police stations and fire stations in the Downeast region of Maine consisting of Hancock and Washington counties.

Any location where firefighters are stationed are depicted at that location unless the fire department does not have a permanent location. In this case, the location has been placed either at the service area's town/city hall or the center of their service area. Fire stations that deal with forest or grass fires have also been included as well as the operational lookout points.

Police stations are depicted at any location where local law enforcement officers are regularly based. This includes, but is not limited to, municipal police, county sheriffs, state police, and park police.
