What is the Colby Fund

In the past you may have made contributions to the Alumni Fund, the Annual Fund, reunion giving, or an anniversary program. Now the Colby Fund includes all of these. Your gifts will be used in the same manner and will credit your class or reunion effort in the same way—only the name has changed.

By making an annual gift to the Colby Fund, you are investing in the future success of all Colby students by enhancing their educational experience and ensuring a continued tradition of academic excellence.

Be a part of the tradition. More than 10,000 alumni and nearly 1,500 parents made a gift to Colby last year.

FEATURES12/A Fine Line

Documentary filmmaker Andrea Nix Fine '91 and her husband and co-director, Sean Fine, wanted their film War/Dance to tell the world the story of children living in a refugee camp in war-torn northern Uganda. The world watched, as War/Dance was nominated for an Academy Award.

19/Different Prescriptions

Some Colby students are bringing new meaning to "premed." Instead of devoting themselves strictly to science, they are studying everything from drama to philosophy before entering medical school. It's a path they recommend.

24/Having a Ball in Japan

Larry Rocca '90 made the jump just in time. The former baseball beat writer, now in the front office of the Chiba Lotte Marines baseball team in Tokyo, is a catalyst in the historic melding of two baseball cultures.
