Bismark has said that one-third of the students in the German universities destroy themselves by dissipation, one-third wear themselves out by overwork and the rest govern Europe.

At the University of New York a prize is awarded to the man who shows the greatest physical development in the course of the year's work.

FUND RAISED.

Saturday Witnessed Completion of $50,000 Subscription.

For the first time in twenty-five years a successful effort has been made to increase the available and productive funds of Colby University.

The result will be the addition of $60,000 to these resources. This is not, comparatively speaking, a large sum of money, but it will be serviceable to the college in several ways.

First: By the conditions of the subscriptions, half the total amount must go into the general productive fund. This will bring that fund up to the round figure where it was supposed to stand twenty-five years ago.

Second: Of the sum remaining a part has been designated for the Chemical laboratory, and a part for the Women's building. With other funds already in hand for the Chemical building, no doubt the government of the college will deem it best to proceed at once to its erection. It is to be hoped that the corner stone may be laid at the next commencement.

The erection of the Women's building on College avenue will no doubt follow. Both of these buildings, attracting and accommodating larger numbers of students, are of interest to every branch of business in Waterville, besides the general interest that all feel in the development of the college as an ornament and a source of culture in the community.

The citizens of Waterville have shown themselves keenly alive to all of these considerations and in spite of the hard times have taken hold in this effort in a vigorous and liberal spirit. In all, some six hundred subscribers have raised this fund. And while it is to be hoped and expected that hereafter, a few large givers may come forward to carry on what is now so well begun, yet it is undoubtedly a great advantage that so many individuals scattered over a considerable section of country have had a share in this movement.

Probably there has never before in the minds of its friends been such consciousness of the college and lively interest in its welfare as at this moment. And this because so many have cheerfully lent a hand.

These may be divided into classes, as follows: Graduates, undergraduates, faculty, trustees, citizens of Waterville, (including of course some graduates but not faculty or students,) and subscribers not in any of these ways related to the college. The revised statement of amounts subscribed is as follows:

Y. W. C. A. Sociable.

The annual College Sociable given by the Y. W. C. A. for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the Northfield delegates from the Women's college will take place Feb. 18. It will be a sort of innovation in college sociables, being a Japanese wedding. The Japanese marriage ceremony has been delineated on various occasions in other places and has invariably proved a most satisfactory entertainment. It is a vivid illustration of the marriage rite in a nation whose customs are most graceful. The whole entertainment will be distinctly Japanese and not only the participants but the college girls in general will appear in regulation Japanese attire. Music throughout the entire ceremony will be furnished by the accomplished player from the Land of the Crysanthemum—Miss Evans.

We Salaam before you!

SHANNON AND PIERCE.

CLOSING ADDRESS.

Rev. R. W. Plant of Gardiner, Delivered Interesting One.

The closing service of the Day of Prayer was fully as good as those which preceded it during the day. The meeting was held in the chapel and a large audience from both colleges greeted the speaker, Rev. R. W. Plant of Gardiner, rector of Christ Church of that place.

Mr. Plant gave a most interesting and helpful address of which the following is a brief extract:

In the cave of an old monk, suspended in such a position that it was the first thing which greeted his eyes when he awoke, was this sign "What am I here for?"

That question touches the deepest thought in life. Every thinking student asks himself: Where can I put my life? Where will it most effectively help the community and help myself? There are thousands asking it and they are deciding it in various ways.

There is none of the professions that has the monopoly of good men, and for a little while this evening I wish to speak to you upon the subject, the ministry as a calling.

1. In its relation to the community. The development of character is the essential feature of life today. There are others that may do this, in various ways and with various means; but it is the minister's chief prerogative. He deals directly with springs of life. Underneath the tremendous pressure of American life, there is a real need felt for God; and the minister that is wanted today, is the one who can bring a living God to the men of today, who can bring a God to them that will come into their lives as a power. The minister's great field is among the masses of men. Whatever others may do in developing character and manhood, the minister's duty and privilege is to emphasize the brotherhood of man.

2. Self culture in the ministry. All that goes to make a larger manhood goes to make a better minister. The measure of the ministry is the man. In other men, character and profession may be divorced, but you touch the minister's character and you weaken his work. Men in the profession may be independent of intellectual culture but the minister must lay all literature under contribution. A community will never pardon lack of knowledge or refinement in its spiritual leaders.

3. What it is to be fitted for the ministry. The requirements are simple, a living faith in God the Father; to follow in the footsteps of God, the Son, to depend for guidance upon The Holy Spirit. These are the simple conditions of faith. And in his character a minister should exemplify a grateful devotion to Christ and be a witness for Christ by a loving service to his fellow men. The conditions demanded are simple but it takes a heavier effort to live them. And perhaps some may feel they cannot meet the demand; but for a man to earnestly seek to be what he feels he ought to be is the part of every true man. This is the true road to success, it is the road to meeting the requirements of the Christian ministry. For a person to hold up the weaknesses of a Christian minister is not a sign of deep intelligence. Blame not the ministry because of weak or feeble ministers but throw all your noblest manhood to the noblest of all callings.

THE CHESS CLUB.

Little has been said this winter about the chess club. Has that organization been allowed to pass out of existence altogether? Two years ago we challenged Bowdoin and were defeated. Last year we challenged them again and went to Brunswick where we turned the tables bringing home the record of a handsome victory.

So far this year we have heard nothing of the chess club. Dr. Marquardt has in past years given freely of his time and experience to teach our chess players a strong style of play which produced excellent results in last year's tournament. But Dr. Marquardt cannot give the time to chess this year which he has in the past and the students should not expect him to but should make some move on their own part to place three men in the field in case we should receive a challenge from any of the other Maine Colleges. We are even with Bowdoin at present and must not let them win the decisive series this year. In its line, chess is the king of games and a victory in chess is a victory for brain work, not for superior physical strength.

INDOOR ATHLETICS.

The time for the annual indoor athletic exhibition is fast approaching and as yet very little interest has been taken in the work. The athletic association cup has been won by '08, one year and by 1900 one year. It is announced by the athletic committee that hereafter drills will not count, a decision which will serve to make the contest much more interesting this year than ever before. Heretofore the class which has been awarded the drill has had a great advantage over the other classes and the drill practically won the cup. The decision of the athletic committee will be recognized as a fair one by all students.

The people of Waterville are always interested in the gymnastic exhibition and patronize it well so that the students owe it to them to put on as attractive a program as possible. Prof. Bates is always glad to give instructions to any who may be interested to take part. Take an interest for the good of the college if not for your class.

Colby to Be Congratulated.

It is not too early to extend congratulations to Colby on the success she has had in raising the $50,000, the condition of the gift of $10,000 from the Baptist educational fund, for it is understood that by tonight every dollar will be pledged. But it is not the mere fact of success in raising the stipulated amount, so much as the spirit of loyalty shown by the alumni, students and friends of the college, on which the Journal extends congratulations.

The interest in pledging this fund has been general, so much so that it became infectious with the students, who of their own free will are pledging considerable sums, we understand, toward the fund. This is the sort of spirit that an institution like Colby may regard with more pleasure than even the amount of money raised as the result of it. We are of the opinion that the popularity of President Butler has had much to do with this display of interest among townspeople as well as among the college body.

We suppose the $10,000 which comes to the college from the educational fund is indirectly due to the munificence of Mr. Rockefeller toward the fund. His attention ought to be directed to Colby and what she has done and is doing. He has given many millions to establish a great university and in the natural order of things he has many more millions that he may give, seeing the good accomplished already by the assistance he has rendered. It may be questioned whether money distributed among such institutions as the Maine colleges is not productive of more general good than where it is concentrated in one or two big universities.—Kennebec Journal.

New Football Rules.

Football players are interested in the new rules sent out by Prof. Stagg of the Chicago University and Prof. Everett of the University of Illinois. The rules are submitted to the seven universities and a hard fight is likely to result. Alterations in the rules are less sweeping than many anticipated. The vital change is that radically altering the present system of scoring. The goal after a touchdown is slated to count for one additional point, the drop kick for four, the place kick for three and the safety for two. There is no requirement for seven men in the line, but it is provided that if two linesmen are drawn back of the line they shall be outside the line of scrimmage.

Another safeguard against roughness is that imposing a distance penalty for laying hands on opponents before the ball is put in play. An important alteration also is that permitting to the side scored on the choice of kickoff. Other changes suggested are in defining the safety, allowing 15 yards instead of ten on the kick out after a kick for goal on the first down, permitting only two minutes of time taken out for injuries and modifying the penalty of impositions when the ball is close to the goal line. The committee reserves several suggestions on the duty of officials which will be submitted if the committee is continued.

The University of North Carolina was opened for women for the first time this fall.

All the candidates for baseball practice at the University of Chicago must undergo both mental and physical examinations.

The Storm.

Mr. E. L. Gatchell, who graduated from Waterville College in 1887 and can remember when the greater part of Colby's campus was a pasture, informed Prof. Roberts yesterday morning that he never remembered such a storm as that of Tuesday.

It was a storm worth mentioning as the like of it may not be seen again in this generation. It began Monday night and started in for business from the start. The students who attended the parish sociable at the Ware parlors had hard work to get back to the Bricks.

Tuesday morning the Bricks were hemmed in by mighty drifts on all sides. The more adventuresome braved their way through the drifts and fought their way back after breakfast. Word was sent to the ladies' dormitories that the recitations for the women would be suspended for the day. The boys who were fortunate enough to have skis and snowshoes started out into the surrounding country for short trips to see the big drifts. The sophomores and freshmen had recitations as Prof. Stetson came up and Prof. Taylor came over from his house on snowshoes. Dr. Black came over but his classes in history did not materialize and he returned home early. By evening, the electric railroad track was shoveled out making a good path down town. The biggest drift on the campus is in front of Coburn Hall and is capable of concealing our popular old janitor who attended to his duties all day in spite of the fact that he was suffering from illness.

OTHER COLLEGES.

The students of Northwestern University sing one of their college songs in Chapel each morning.

A graduate from Cambridge loses his degree and his name is stricken from the alumni roll if he commits any crime.

At Lehigh, the upper classmen who serve on the college papers are excused from writing essays in the English language.

During the season just passed, Vanderbilt University was not scored against, but rolled up a total of 141 points against her opponents.

Thomas W. Stanford, an Australian multi-millionaire and brother of the late Senator Leland Stanford, has recently donated to the Leland Stanford University $300,000 to be used for building a library.

The Smith College girls presented Tennyson's "Launcelot and Elaine" by a series of tableaux, January 27 in Copley Hall, before a large audience. The proceeds of the evening are to go toward their library fund. Twenty thousand dollars is needed for the library building and the amount contributed to it so far has been largely from the Boston alumnae of Smith College.

'96. James L. Thompson, Jr., is teaching the High School at Danforth, assisted by Charles E. Sawtelle.

New England Education League

The New England Education League has recently been formed. Its object is to aid in giving to all children in New England equal public school advantages. In general the boys and girls of the rural towns do not have equal public school advantages as are offered to those of the city. And this, often, when the school tax in the country is more than that in the city. The bicycle and electric and steam car are now doing much toward bringing the city schools within reach of the country boy. Better state and county supervision of schools is suggested as another means of improving present conditions. The New England Education League is formed to assist by every judicious and proper method in solving this problem.

The league is to consist of a general committee of one hundred members, located as follows: Massachusetts, 20 members; Maine, 16; New Hampshire, 16; Vermont, 16; Rhode Island, 16; Connecticut, 16. The general conduct of the movement shall rest in the hands of said committee. It is further suggested that committees be formed with headquarters at the capital of each New England state and each county thereof to co-operate in the work undertaken.

These committees will co-operate so far as possible, with the public educational work as now conducted in New England.

They will collect facts showing actual condition of schools, study possible advantages resulting from consolidation of schools and transportation of pupils, consider plans of improvement, investigate the economic, legal and practical questions involved in such improvement and mature courses of instruction looking to a broader scheme of training within the limits of public education.

These facts and plans may be brought in a judicious manner to the notice of those most directly interested as, individuals, school districts, towns, cities and states.

In addition, the question may be kept before the various state legislatures in such ways as are proper and likely to prove most useful to the interest to be advanced.

The general committee appointed in Maine is as follows: Pres. Nathaniel Butler, Colby University; Pres. A. W. Harris, University of Maine; Hon. W. W. Stetson, State Supt. of Schools; Pres. J. W. Howe, Cobb Divinity School, Lewiston; Pres. L. L. Paine, Bangor Theo. Sem'y, Bangor; Prin. W. G. Corthell, State Normal School, Gorham; Prof. W. B. Mitchell, Bowdoin College.

Roberts Harper.

By far the finest illustrated lecture ever given in Waterville was that upon Monte Carlo by Mr. Roberts Harper of London, Eng., the well known traveler, given in the Baptist church last Friday evening. President Butler in a witty vein introduced the speaker, mentioning the strange combination of place and subject.

The lecture was intensely interesting from beginning to end combining faultless rhetoric and vivid description. The personal experience of the lecturer added greatly to the interest. The pictures were the finest ever shown, the instrument used being the product of three countries, the wood work being made in America, the metal work in England, and the lenses in France. The transformation scenes were beyond description.

OBITUARY.

HON. HARRIS M. PLAISTED, '53.

Hon. Harris Merrill Plaisted of Bangor, an alumnus of Waterville College in the class of '53, died at his home early Monday morning. Gen. Plaisted was born in Jefferson, N. H., November 2, 1828. He worked his way through college by teaching. Leaving college, he taught the Waterville Liberal Institute and was superintendent of schools at Waterville. He took a law course at the Albany Law School graduating with highest honors and winning a gold medal in 1855. In 1856 he began the practice of law in Bangor where he has made his home. He was a member of Gov. Morrill's staff for three years.

In August 1861, he enlisted for the war in the Eleventh Maine; he was commissioned lieutenant colonel Oct. 30, 1861; colonel, May 12, 1862, and commanded his regiment in the Peninsula campaign of 1862, taking part in the siege of Yorktown, the battles of Williamsburg, Fair Oaks and the Seven Days battle; he commanded his brigade in the siege of Charleston in 1863 and in the great campaign of 1864-5 against Richmond and Petersburg, in which his "The Iron Brigade," had men killed and wounded on 59 different days, losing 1385 out of 2,698. While in the service his command never moved to the front without him; he was twice promoted by the President for gallant and meritorious conduct in the field and was warmly commended by all his commanders.

In 1866, Gen. Plaisted delivered the oration at the laying of the corner stone of Memorial Hall, at Colby, receiving many compliments. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1867 and 1868; attorney general of the state 1873-75; member of the 44th U. S. Congress 1875-76; governor of Maine 1881 and 1882. He also published two works: The Lowell Trial and The Wagner Trial upon two important cases which he fought as attorney general. His wife, three sons and one daughter survive him.

EDGAR HERBERT CROSBY '80.

A very sad accident occurred on the Maine Central railroad near Deering, Monday when Principal Edgar H. Crosby of the Deering High school, was killed by a snow plough flange scraper train. It is not known whether he was crossing the track or walking on it but he was so closely bundled up that in the blinding storm he was probably taken unawares. He was principal of the Brownville High school 1880 and 1881; principal of Monson Academy up to eight years ago since which time he has been at Deering.
