THE PRESIDENT.

The Summer Quarter at the University of Chicago is divided into two periods of six weeks each. President Butler will give two courses in English in the first period of the approaching summer session.

THE PRESIDENT WILL BE ABSENT:

Sunday, April 15, to preach the Commencement sermon at Monson Academy, Monson, Me.

Wednesday, April 18, to attend the first annual meeting of the Boston Colby Alumnae Association at Boston.

Friday, April 20, to attend the fifth annual meeting of the New York Colby Alumni Association at New York.

Saturday, April 21, to attend the fifth annual reunion of the Coburn Graduates at Boston.

Monday, April 22, to preach at Brookline, Mass.

Wednesday, April 25, to lecture at Wilton Academy, Wilton, Me.

Friday, April 27, to address the Hall-owell Educational Union.

NOTICE.

The management of THE ECHO earnestly desire all students and alumni whose subscriptions are still unpaid to settle their accounts with the business manager as soon as possible. THE ECHO will soon pass into the hands of the new managing board and it is hoped that all accounts may be settled before that time.

BUSINESS MANAGER.

THE MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS.

The trip of the Musical Clubs through the northern and eastern parts of the state during the recent recess was a most successful one in every way. The men had lots of hard work but all things considered they enjoyed themselves, the concerts were well received, the business part was a success and altogether much credit comes to the college for producing such a creditable showing. Probably nothing has ever been done to bring the name of Colby so prominently before the public as the concerts given by the college clubs this past winter.

The company of seventeen men left Waterville a little after two on the morning of March 21st on the east-bound "Pullman." The first concert was given at Island Falls before a good and appreciative audience.

The next evening a concert was given at Caribon before a packed house. The programme had commenced when the doors of the hall were reopened to admit a crowd of nearly a hundred and fifty who had come on a special train from New Sweden, the home of Hedman. The concert was halted until the audience was settled, and with people sitting at their very feet, the clubs resumed the programme. The men were enthusiastically encored time after time. A dance followed the concert. The next morning the boys enjoyed some fine coasting on the heavy crust.

Presque Isle was the next point reached where the efforts of the clubs were heartily applauded by a fair audience. At this point in the tour Learned was disabled with rheumatism and forced to let three concerts go by without him.

Houlton was reached on Saturday, and here also a large audience was gathered to greet the collegians. Several familiar faces were seen in the audience. The men stayed here over Sunday, and at the Baptist church both morning and evening a quartette composed of Saunders, Hudson, Sprague and Daggett rendered several selections. At Houlton, Brown was threatened with pneumonia, and Monday he left for home.

On Monday, the 26th, the clubs went to Patten. It was town meeting day and every one in the company attended with much profit. In the evening another creditable concert was given before a good audience.

The next day was spent on the cars and at ten minutes before eight the clubs reached Bar Harbor. It was too late for supper, so supperless the programme was given. This concert was given by the boys at their own risk, but they were met by a large crowd and an appreciative one, and a fine sum of money was realized. A dance followed the musical programme. After the concert the men used every means to persuade the inconsiderate landlord of The Porcupine to furnish them with supper, but without avail and supperless they went to bed. The next morning after seeing something of the many beautiful residences in the town they departed for Cherryfield by boat.

At Cherryfield through some misunderstanding, the men again missed the wherewithal to ward off hunger, but gallantly taking the will for the deed they gave the usual programme. A dance followed in another hall.

The next day was made interesting by a drive of fourteen miles to Jonesport. A good appreciative audience greeted the men. Since the residents of that town include many Morimons, Richardson tactfully changed some lines of his reading. A dance followed the concert. At an unearthly hour the men were aroused and at a dead run the horses rushed over the fourteen miles to reach the station, only to find the train four hours late.

The last concert of the tour was given at Machias before a fine audience. A dance followed the programme. At dinner that night the principal dish was venison which was appreciated, since the man who killed the deer was, even then, in jail, serving "$50 and six months." Some of the men courteously called upon the man the next morning.

After the concert at Machias, some of the men returned to Waterville, while others went home to spend a few days and rest up. All were tired but well pleased with their continued successes. Over $200.00 was realized on the trip.

The Glee Club on this tour was made up of Hudson, leader; Learned, Saunders and Teague; Hudson, Hedman and Workman; Sprague, Purinton, Richardson and Brown; Doughty, Marsh and Daggett. The Mandolin Club consisted of Sprague, leader; Brown, Workman, Purinton, Richardson, Thyng and Larsson. The Orchestra was composed of Hudson, leader; Brunel, Workman, Thyng, Hedman, Purinton, Richardson, Sprague and Daggett. Violin soloist, Brunel. Readers, Witherell and Richardson. Sprague was business manager for the combined organizations.

CHAPEL NOTES.

The last chapel of the winter term was made more impressive than usual by the parting words of Dr. Pepper. After the regular devotional service, President Butler called upon Doctor Pepper, "not to say farewell, for we hope and expect to see you here often where you have so long made your home." After a very cordial greeting from the students, the ex-President and Professor spoke very cordially of his relations with the college, his deep affection for it and the paternal character of this affection. All three of his children were graduated from Colby and accordingly he has come to feel that each and every one of the students is almost one of his own children.

The first chapel of this term was very interesting, the first service of a new term always is, but this one more so than usual because of the presence of Principal Edward H. Smiley of the Hartford, Connecticut, High School, a graduate of Colby in the class of '75. Mr. Smiley spoke of Hudson '00, as the "baby of the class of '75." In introducing him President Butler stated that probably the two most prominent secondary schools in New England of public character are the Fall River and Hartford High Schools and that the latter owes much of its superiority to Mr. Smiley. The great value of honest, hard, persistent work was emphasized by the visitor. He mentioned that his school is situated under the shadow of Yale University, and that he was much impressed by the intense loyalty of Yale men to one another and to their college, not only while undergraduates but in after life.

There have been many visitors at chapel this term, some being from so far away as Iowa and Indiana. A number of U. of M. men were present on Thursday. President Butler detained the entire college one morning and stated one of the rules of Chemical Hall in an exceedingly humorous fashion.

A PROMINENT ALUMNUS.

Rev. Isaac W. Grimes of the class of '81, is a prominent Baptist minister in Cambridge, Mass., being pastor of the Immanuel Church. He is also President of the Baptist Ministers' Conference of greater Boston and Vice-president of the Boston Colby Alumni Association. The Boston Journal recently printed an extended account of his life and personal qualities accompanied by a large picture of him. The following is an extract from that account:

Rev. Mr. Grimes is a model pastor, so far as his relations with the members of his church are concerned. There is not one in the large list of members who is not a friend of the pastor, or who would not be sorry to have him leave Cambridge. It can also be added that many citizens outside of the church would regret to lose him.

"He is a man of large stature, of slow and distinct speech, his voice occasionally rising for a moment, when the occasion demands it. His voice is finely resonant, and his manner impressive and forceful. Of his sermons, the members of his congregation think that too much cannot be said. He possesses a very practical bent of mind, which appears in his talks, making each one of his hearers feel that the sermon was meant for him.

"Being a live man, he has instilled live methods into every church of which he has had charge. His ready sympathy, willingness to serve, affability and cheerfulness commend him to the people and make him popular with all classes. In speaking, he employs neither desk nor notes.

"Rev. Mr. Grimes was born in Virginia, but came to Boston while still a boy and has lived in the north ever since. He first entered a mercantile business with Rhodes, Ripley & Co., of Boston. In May, '78, he joined the Tremont Temple Baptist church, where the officers soon discovered his talent and advised him to begin study for the ministry.

"He accepted their advice, and entered Worcester Academy, where he fitted for Colby University. After graduating from the latter institution in '81, he entered the theological seminary at Rochester, N. Y., and took the three years' course there. In addition to his school and college education he has enjoyed the advantages of an educational sojourn in southern Europe.

"Rev. Mr. Grimes has served churches in Pittsfield, N. H., and in Stoneham, Mass. During his pastorate in the former place the church enjoyed a large degree of prosperity, a greatly increased attendance, and improved financial condition. The Stoneham church was also very prosperous under his administration.

Rev. Mr. Grimes was called to the Cambridge church, which was then known as the Charles River Baptist church, in December, '09. He accepted the call and began work in the early part of the next year. Thus he has served in the University city for a little more than six years, and it is safe to say that never has the church enjoyed a greater degree of prosperity in a similar length of time. Besides the work in his immediate church, Mr. Grimes has found time to devote to the cause of no-licensure.

'94. Annie E. Merrill, assistant in the High school, Ayer, Mass., visited Colby in her vacation.

Nothing in many years has happened to cast a deeper gloom over the city of Waterville than the death of Frank L. Thayer, the father of two of the members of the present student body. He was known personally to many of the students and was honored and respected by all. The resolutions in another column express the sympathy felt by the college for the family. Mr. Thayer was an active business man and prominent in the Democratic party. The daily papers have shown the high regard in which he is held by the public.

At a meeting of the men of the college early in the week President Butler in an earnest manner laid before them the opinion of the faculty on the matter of the publication and distribution of the annual of the Sophomore class, the so-called War Cry. It is the desire and hope of the officers of the college that its publication be discontinued at once. The reasons set forth by the President were very clear. The sheet is obnoxious and in every case has been intolerable. Its distribution invariably causes a disturbance of the Freshman Reading, which is a misdemeanor in the eyes of the law. It hurts the college.

While the logic and force of the arguments set forth above are undeniable, it is nevertheless true that there is a strong sense of opposition in the college against the abolition of one of the oldest customs in the traditions of the institution. It is argued that the old things, the things that occupy prominent places in the memory of the graduates, are being set aside and that soon there will be nothing left of the past, not even the name of the college. Colby is an old institution, her traditions are sacred to the graduates and they ought to be to present students.

The annual sheet of the Sophomores has often been shocking and repulsive to a refined person. This sort of literature never is uplifting and strange to say, some college annuals are conducted on very nearly the same lines as is the War Cry, so that it would seem that the depraved tastes of the readers of college publications occasionally demand satiation. It is unquestionably true that any Freshman feels slighted if his name does not appear in the debated sheet. Not only the students but many friends of the college will feel disappointed if the War Cry is discontinued altogether.

It ought to be practicable to so edit the disputed sheet that the ladies would receive no unworthy mention in its columns, that it would not be a source of any bad results to the college and to so distribute it that no great disturbance should arise. Very likely the War Cry is doomed in the onward march of progress in the affairs of the college but there are many who will be sorry to see it go and with it one of the most memorable landmarks in the traditions of the old college.

RECEPTION TO DR. AND MRS. PEPPER.

Friday evening, March 17, the friends of Dr. and Mrs. G. D. B. Pepper showed the respect and esteem in which they are held by giving a farewell reception to them in Memorial Hall.

Although the weather looked precarious in the morning President Butler announced at chapel that there would be no postponement. In spite of the unfavorable weather the many college students and friends began to arrive at a little after eight o'clock and by nine o'clock Memorial Hall was well filled.

The first part of the evening was spent in a delightful informal reception. The playing of the college orchestra added much to the enjoyment.

Later President Butler, although having previously announced that there were to be no speeches, introduced Doctor Burrage of Portland, who is a member of the board of trustees and also a very dear friend of Dr. Pepper. Doctor Burrage spoke of the great esteem and love with which Dr. Pepper is viewed by his host of friends.

When Dr. Burrage had ended President Butler made a few remarks telling of the many replies which he had received from the trustees expressing their regrets at being unable to give the Doctor God-speed. Then with a few fitting remarks the President presented in behalf of the trustees and the Baptist church, Dr. Pepper with a present consisting of a small package containing two hundred and eighty dollars in double gold eagles and when he had made the presentation he ordered the orchestra to start up immediately thus allowing Doctor Pepper no opportunity to reply.

During the evening several selections were given by the Glee club, and they were well rendered and much applauded.

Young ladies passed cream and ices after nine o'clock. Hager catered.

It was about ten o'clock when the reception committee formed in line and bid farewell to the many friends wishing Doctor and Mrs. Pepper God-speed.

Those who assisted Doctor and Mrs. Pepper in receiving were Miss Anne Pepper, President and Mrs. Butler, Rev. and Mrs. Whittemore.

THE BASEBALL TEAM.

For several months the candidates for the ball team have been at work in the gymnasium and the cage, but not until a few days ago, the sixth, has the field been dry enough for practice. The prospects for a good team are very fair and there is every reason to believe that the nine will be a credit to the traditions of the college in the summer sport. Manager Philbrick has arranged an excellent schedule with many home games.

The team will be strongest in the box with Captain Newenham, Saunders, and the two brothers Allen. Newenham's record is too well known to need repetition here and there is nothing to indicate that he will not be just as effective this season as in the past. Saunders, who last year was captain of the fine team at Andover Academy, is very speedy and has good control. Between him and Newenham with good support not a game should fall to a Maine team. Saunders has the added advantage of being a left-handed pitcher. Allen, '01, was tried in a few games last year and can be relied upon in an emergency. Allen, '08, pitched for the High School last year, and in a year or two should develop into a fair man.

Behind the bat Cushman will probably do the most work. He holds the ball well but unless his throw improves there will be some stolen bases against us. Burton is showing up well and is second choice. Atchley is a good man but not speedy enough.

At first base Haggerty, who played the position last season, will be a strong candidate for the place again. Hudson will also try for the initial bag and he has a strong claim for the place on account of his heavy hitting. Teague will push either of the two pretty hard.

At second base Dearborn will probably play again. He is a good hitter and a fair fielder. Hathaway is another candidate for second and is doing good work.

At short stop it is probable that Saunders and Newenham will alternate unless some one shows up remarkably well. Pike is trying well for third base. Rice will not play this year on account of his afternoon work in Chemistry. He will be missed from the team.

In the outfield Fogg, '00, Allen, '01, and Tupper, are the strongest candidates and it is very likely that they will all make the team. Some of the new men are showing up well and the make up of the team for the first game is not at all certain. Rockwood, Drew, Paine, Bartlett, Knapp and Lord, are among the other men out and the practice games are sure to be snappy and interesting.

The first game will be played on Fast Day the 19th.

THE MAINE AMATEUR PRESS ASSOCIATION.

The sixth semi-annual meeting of the Maine Amateur Press Association is to be held at Portland, April 28. The delegates will attend the Senior Class play given by the Portland High School students on the evening of the 27th, and on the following morning the meeting will be held in the High School building at 10 o'clock.

SHERMAN PERRY, Agent,

Room 6, South College.

The spring vacation is at an end and the last lap of another year is well started, except that some students never deem it worth while to return on time. Better late than never.

Some funny things happened during the vacation. For instance, some of the members of this time honored institution have demonstrated the feasibility of changing from Eastern to Western trains on the road to Boston at North Berwick. The Maine Central authorities have voted thanks for this demonstration.

The last assembly was a fine party, but it was pitiable to see people fail to appreciate a good floor and fine music, deserting it for behind the scenes. A new essay will soon appear on "Behind the Scenes," by '01 and '02.

It is very pleasant to find an unexpected relative. It is "Cousin Percy" now.

The class of 1902 has voted to ask the Rev. Thomas R. Sheldon of Topeka, Kansas, to edit the War Cry for them this year.

The pictures of the Dramatic Club in costume are exciting some interest and much comment, some of it very amusing. The butler is said to look "as though he owned the world." The jockey is considered over heavy. Of course the "girls" are greatly admired and one well known physician in town indiscreetly remarked that "the gray haired lady was the best looking co-ord in college." The "young ladies" are criticised on account of the way they wear their hair, and the fat woman—oh my! The two officers are conspicuous for their moustaches. I think it mean that one of the groups is not tacked upon my conspicuous face.

It is rumored that the Messalonskee no longer can be used for boating purposes. If true, this is sad news indeed and many a heart will flutter in wrath at the city fathers for taking such action. Where will the college traditions go if the delightful stream is denied us? Where shall the youth and maiden turn to eat olives and snap the mandolin? Surely, Venus and Cupid have deserted the college.

THE ASSEMBLIES.

The fourth assembly in the course was given on the eve of the spring recess at Thayer Hall. An enjoyable evening was spent in the usual order of dances. Mrs. Dr. Boyer and Mrs. Davis were the matrons present.

The last assembly was given at the Fairfield Opera House on Friday evening, April 8th. Special cars carried the crowd from Waterville. Dancing commenced at half past eight and was continued until twelve-thirty. The party was one of the prettiest of the season and great credit is due to the managers of the affair for its success. It was a fitting close to a most enjoyable series of dances. During the intermission lunch was served by Hager, the caterer, and throughout the evening fruit punch was served. Hall's orchestra of eight pieces furnished music. Miss Mathews and Mrs. Professor Hall were present as patronesses.

Colby College, Waterville, Maine.

The College was chartered in 1818. It is most favorably situated in a city of about 10,000 inhabitants, at the most central point in Maine, in a region unsurpassed for beauty and healthfulness. It offers the classical course with 70 electives, also a course without Greek, leading to the degree of Ph. B.

The Library contains 35,000 volumes and is always accessible to students. The college possesses a unique Physical Laboratory, a large Geological Museum, and is the repository of the Maine Geological Collection. A new and thoroughly equipped Chemical Laboratory was opened in September, 1899. Physical training is a part of the required work. There is a gymnasium with baths, and an excellent cinder-track.

The preparatory department of the college consists of four affiliated academies: (1) Coburn Classical Institute, owned by the college, Waterville; (2) Hebron Academy, Hebron, (Oxford county); (3) Ricker Classical Institute, Houlton, Aroostook county; (4) Higgins Classical Institute, Charleston, (Penobscot county).
