1901.

It has long been the custom to make new resolutions at the beginning of each new year, and, notwithstanding the usual indifference which often follows, no one has ever seriously attempted to prove any harm which might come from the time-worn practice. Those who fail in these resolves become the critics, not those who succeed.

Undoubtedly most of us have already indulged to a greater or less extent in resolution-making. Now, with this first issue of THE ECHO of the year and of the century, let every one of us "turn over a new leaf" and in so doing not forget "Old Colby, Our Glory."

As we look over the annals of the century just completed we see the trend of its achievements standing out an inspiration to those who believe in the progress of mankind and the gradual betterment of the race. Colby, nearly a century old and rich in honor, has contributed her share of the blessings of higher education and Christian culture. She is proud that her career extended over so many years of the wonderful Nineteenth Century, and now let us enter upon the twentieth with an anticipation of greater work and a larger sphere of usefulness in the days that are to come.

Let every one of the undergraduate body firmly resolve that during the coming year and years he will work more diligently, loyally and unceasingly for the welfare of Colby. It will only be by so doing that at the close of the twentieth century posterity can say, as we have said of the nineteenth, Colby has contributed her share of the blessings of education and Christian culture to the world.

If there is anything that Colby men and women are more guilty of than another it is a lack of aggressiveness for their Alma Mater.

Now especially at this dark period in our history when we are to lose the one who stands at our head and when we have other troubles staring us in the face, do we need to duplicate our efforts to make a splendid record during the first quarter of the twentieth century.

THE FIRST TRIP.

The Musical Organizations gave four concerts during the first week of the vacation just passed. The Clubs started December 19th on the early morning train for Warren arriving at noon. Carriages conveyed the boys to the village, distant two miles from the depot, and after eating a fine dinner at the Warren House, everyone took a look about the town.

The first concert of a trip is the keynote for the tour and Warren could not have been a better place for the opening concert. Saunders, the leader of the Glee Club, was well known there having played last summer on the baseball team as pitcher. Teague also was well known Warren being his home. The town hall was crowded, every seat was taken and standing room was at a premium. The concert went off exceptionally smooth for a starter and every number on the programme was earnestly applauded. After the concert was a social dance, the music being furnished by the College Orchestra. About sixty couples were on the floor.

On the 20th the Clubs took leave on the noon train for Rockland thence by boat to Vinalhaven. A very good audience greeted the boys although it was a cold night, and an excellent concert was given. The last number on the programme, "Songs on the College Steps," was very realistic. As the stage was very cold the Glee Club donned their hats, caps, mufflers and overcoats and by singing the medley of college songs brought down the house. After the concert was a dance and those who remained had a very enjoyable time. The concert was given under the auspices of the Vinalhaven Baseball Club.

On the following day at Rockland, the concert was given at the Congregational church. The boys tried to do their very best here as they felt that they were before a very critical audience. However censorious the audience were they showed their sentiments by recalling most of the selections several times. Without doubt the audience was the most enthusiastic, and the concert the best of the trip. The concert was given under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. A good many visited the State prison at Thomaston while at Rockland.

The last concert of the trip was given at the Opera House, Camden, on Saturday the 22nd. It was not considered a very good night as the stores were all open, busy with the Christmas trade. Nevertheless a good audience was present and went away with the hope that we would come again, as happened at each place. The Clubs were entertained for the most part in each town at private houses, the people throwing open their houses made everything as pleasant for them as possible.

The programme was practically the same for all the concerts. The work of each club was of the highest order and deserves an equal amount of praise. Saunders and Palmer as soloists met with great approval. The readings by Witherell were received with special enthusiasm. Brunel was heartily encored and held the audience entirely under his control and the accompaniments by Daggett exhibited his accomplished ability. The clubs were honorably mentioned by the Rockland papers.

Following is the programme:

PART I.

Magic Sceptre Overture, R. Gruenwald Orchestra

Yachting Glee, Culbertson

Reading, C. H. Witherell Selected

Creole Queen, Hall

Mandolin-Guitar Club

Vocal Solo, L. G. Saunders Selected

Honey I Wants Yer Now, Coe

Glee Club

PART II.

Reading, C. H. Witherell Selected

Mandola Solo (con amore), Beaumont

R. W. Sprague

Violin Solo, (Romance from 2d Concerto) Wienlawski

Roger F. Brunel

Songs on the College Steps, Rubrabhudlike

The trip on the whole was a success from every standpoint.

Those who took part in the concert were Saunders, Teague, Bakeman, Tapley, Workman, Church, Sprague, Purington, Winslow, Hammond, Marsh, Howard, Daggett, Palmer, Seaverns, Butler, Thyng, Smith, Larsson, Washburn, Brunel, Witherell and Winslow.

DEATH OF GEN. R. B. SHEPHERD.

Gen. Russell B. Shepherd of Skowhegan died at his home Tuesday, January 1, at 8 o'clock P. M., after an illness of nearly eleven weeks.

Gen. Shepherd had a large place in the affections of our people, manifest on all sides by the frequent and tender inquiries in regard to his condition during his distressing illness, and the fervent expression of hopes for his recovery.

Russell Benjamin Shepherd was born in Fairfield, Me., September 14, 1829. He was educated in the public schools of that town, Bloomfield Academy and Colby College. He taught in Bloomfield Academy and the Girls' high school in Bangor, was admitted to the bar in Penobscot county, served three years in the war of 1861-5, and was engaged several years in cotton planting in Georgia. Returning to Skowhegan he established his home here and entered actively into business, including farming, building and operating woolen mills, purchasing and improving water powers, and engaging in various enterprises in the direction of general business that made for the good of the town. The last enterprise in this line was the construction of the electric railway from Skowhegan to Madison Centre and Madison, of which he was the principal owner, president and manager. At the time of his death Gen. Shepherd was president of the Second National Bank, the Skowhegan Pulp Company, the Milburn Company, the Skowhegan Water Company, and was largely interested in Coburn Hall association beside having quite large ownership in water power and real estate in the town. He held the position of president of the Second National Bank for nearly 20 years.

Gen. Shepherd has served his town on the school board at various times and was a member of the board at his death. He served his town in the House of Representatives, the county in the Senate and on the Governor's council. He was for many years a trustee of Colby, his term expiring in 1900. Also he was a member of the board of trustees of the Maine Insane Hospital. These positions came to him without solicitation on his part and his death makes vacancies therein regretted exceedingly by those at the head of these institutions, especially such being the case at Colby. He was also for some years a valued trustee of the State University at Orono.

Gen. Shepherd was twice married; January 23d, 1865 to Miss Helen M. Rowell, who died in January, 1891; and January 11, 1892, to Mrs. Edith Louisa Goodwin, who survives him, with her daughter, Mrs. F. W. Briggs of Pittsfield. Funeral services were held Friday, at eleven o'clock A. M., at the family home conducted by Rev. H. W. Kimball, pastor of the Congregational church of Skowhegan. Dr. G. D. B. Pepper was present at the funeral as a representative of the college.

The engagement of Alexander Maxwell Blackburn, Colby 1901, to Miss Jean Gertrude Jouett, Smith 1902, was announced at the home of Miss Jouett in North Cambridge, Mass., Saturday evening, December 29th. The engagement of Miss Jouett's sister, Miss Edith May Jouett to Mr. Stillman Randolph Kelly, was also announced at the same time. The friends of Mr. Blackburn take this opportunity of congratulating him.

A. T. O. BIENNIAL CONGRESS.

The Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity held its Seventeenth Biennial Congress at Boston, Dec. 26, 27 and 28. The headquarters of the convention were at the Brunswick Hotel where, on Wednesday, the delegates from thirty-seven of the forty two chapters in the fraternity were assembled. Business sessions occupied the forenoons of the three days and the afternoons of Wednesday and Friday.

Wednesday evening, the Boston Alumni Association together with the Tufts chapter, gave an informal "Smoker" at the Savoy Hotel, at which every one got acquainted with every one else, told his best stories, heard more good ones, and spent a most enjoyable evening listening to songs and to the various college yells, from Maine to Texas.

Thursday afternoon the congress picture was taken, the three hundred Alpha Tau's being grouped on the steps of the Public Library. After this, public exercises were held in Pierce Hall, Copley Square. Mayor Hunt welcomed the delegates to the city in a witty speech, replied to by the Rev. Otis A. Glazebrook, one of the founders of the fraternity followed by the oration of the Hon. Edward Lyle, of Virginia. During the exercises a fine engraving of Irving Bacheller of N. Y. Alpha Omicron, author of "Eben Holden," was presented to the convention. The grand ball occurred Thursday evening in Pierce Hall and was the most delightful affair of the convention. About one hundred couples danced to the music of Poole's Orchestra until a late hour. A large variety of dainty refreshments helped to make it a successful event.

The banquet Friday evening closed the convention program. This was held in the large banquet room of the Hotel Brunswick at nine o'clock. About two hundred and twenty-five loyal Alpha's sat down to a perfect spread. After the disposal of the several courses, Dr. Larkin W. Glazebrook, as toastmaster, introduced the speakers who responded with witty speeches. The unique feature of the evening, aside from the college yells, occurred when the orchestra played the "Star Spangled Banner." Every man present arose and cheered. Then as the orchestra struck up "Dixie" the large representation from the South arose and gave the old Rebel yell of the sixties with a vim.

Saturday was spent in sight-seeing about the historic city. Harvard University, Tufts College, Bunker Hill, Charlestown, Navy Yard, the Public Library, Art Museum, and a hundred places of interest attracted the visitors who came from all parts of the country. Being in holiday attire, the city was especially attractive at this time and these side trips put an enjoyable finish upon the largest, most successful and most enjoyable congress the fraternity has ever held.

The five New England chapters, with the Boston Alumni Association, were the hosts of the congress. The next convention will be held in Chicago in 1902, and every man who was fortunate enough to be a delegate to this one vowed solemnly that he wouldn't miss the next one.

The Colby chapter was represented by Richards, Withee and Larsson and several alumni.

Nothing has occurred within the undergraduate years of those who are now in college causing more regret or a feeling of greater personal loss than the resignation of Doctor Butler from the presidency of the college. To those of us who were on the campus during the holiday season the announcement in the papers came as something very hard to believe. Further investigation proved the truth of the first statement and consequently brought the thing close home. The expressions of regret heard on all sides, the many paragraphs and articles in the various New England publications, the sense of loss—all these things force us to realize that the affair is not an ugly dream but a bitter reality.

It is hardly in place to attempt to review at this time what President Butler has done for the college. The campus has new features, the college curriculum is changed for the better, the college life has improved. All these things are familiar to us. Nor is it necessary to emphasize the way he has met us in our student and personal difficulties. We who remain shall miss him the more because he has met us so cordially and so frankly on all occasions. The men who returned from Brunswick last fall expecting to find a deserted platform will never forget the reception they received nor the man who was responsible for the cordial shouts of welcome. His home has ever been open and the social life of the institution has been much enhanced by the many pleasant evenings under his hospitable roof.

Meanwhile we have him with us six months more. Every Senior is glad that he completes his course under his administration. Every Junior congratulates himself that he has had three years' under his guidance, and every lower-classman takes comfort in the thought that it is better to have known him for a little time than not to have known him at all.

It will be a severe blow to the institution to lose the able administrative hand of her loyal alumnus President, but we are optimistic enough to feel that severe as the shock may be Old Colby will survive and after a time flourish with renewed vigor under some leader yet to be found. When commencement comes we'll bite our lips and bid President Butler God-speed and congratulate the University of Chicago upon her lucky recapture.

The mid-winter conference of the Board of Trustees takes place during the present month. It is not yet determined whether the meeting will be held at Portland or Boston. Through the successful experiment of having held it at Boston last year it is not at all improbable that it will be held there this winter.

RESOLUTIONS.

The President of the Pan-American Exposition recently appointed a committee on Sports, who selected an Advisory Committee, having among its members Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, Walter Camp and others. The appointment of this Advisory Committee emphasizes the desire of the committee to have all amateur competitors occupy the highest possible plane.

The Stadium, with a seating capacity of 12,000, is beautiful in design and promises to be one of the most successful architectural creations of the Exposition. It will surround a quarter-mile track with ground area ample for the requirements of all the events proposed.

Amateur sports will comprise the largest part of the programme, but visitors will be allowed an opportunity to witness the athletic skill of the best professionals.

The assurance may be given that prizes will be awarded of value as lasting souvenirs of athletic success at the Exposition.

It is proposed to arrange a number of college baseball and football games, and it is especially desired by the committee that the Eastern Inter-Collegiate (I. A. A. A.) Track Meeting be held in Buffalo next year.

Inter-Collegiate events have been considered, such as La Crosse, Cross County Running with start and finish in the Stadium, etc., etc.

The Committee on Sports hope that the Exposition may have a full college representation. It is proposed to hold many other sports in the Stadium, the A. A. U. Championship, Lawn Tennis, Cycling, Association Football, Water Sports, etc.

LA BELLE DAME SANS MERCY.

In the days of knights and ladies,
In the long ago,
Lived a maiden in her castle
Where the Rhine doth flow.

Fair and stately was this lady,
Lady of the Rhine,
Clear her eyes as mountain brooklets,
Red her lips like wine.

In her life of sun and summer
Love had found no part.
Far and wide they called her "Hilda
Of the stony heart."

Noblest there of all the knights that
Formed the lady's train,
Hildebrand, the youth, had striven
Long her love to gain.

"Test my love," thus prayed he daily,
"Prove its loyalty.
There is naught in earth or heaven
I'd not dare for thee."

"Bring to me a single rose from
Yonder mountain height,
Then I may believe you love me,"
Mocked her laughter light.

Nothing daunted by her bidding,
By the toil and pain,
Back he brought the flower, that well nigh
Cost his life to gain.

And the lady, cruel lady,
—Such her mood that day—
Took the hard-won rose and tossed it
Carelessly away.

—MARION STUART REED.

THE RIVALS.

I won two high-born maidens, Love and Muse;
Between the two 'tis mighty hard to choose.

I fain would clasp and own both rival maids,
But wayward Love my pleading arms evades.

Ah, me! Unless I frown away my Muse,
Her royal rival Love I needs must lose!

Only one per cent. of our male population get a college education. This one per cent. furnishes 86 per cent. of the members of Congress, and has supplied 55 per cent. of the Presidents, 54 per cent. of the Vice-Presidents, nearly 55 per cent. of all Cabinet officers, 50 per cent. of the Supreme Court Justices, and over 85 per cent. of the Chief Justices.

FIRST CHAPEL.

Our second term opened a week ago Thursday morning with the chapel exercises. Nearly all of the students were back. Of course there were a few, as usual, who were tardy, finding it impossible to break away from the pleasures of holidays. President Butler conducted the exercises, calling upon Dr. Pepper, Colby's former President and Professor, to address the student body. It is unnecessary to mention the applause with which the Doctor was greeted. The remarks were well selected, witty and bright, ending with a reference to the resignation of President Butler. When Dr. Pepper had concluded the President said that he felt it his duty to say a little concerning the matter to which had just been alluded. His remarks received close attention for the subject was uppermost in each one's thoughts. Dr. Butler said: "I leave the work and I bitterly regret to leave it, and, eliminating causes, were I to have my own personal wish gratified I would ask for nothing more than the experience of six more as happy years as my last six have been."

THE TRUE COLLEGE MAN.

There is a type of man found well represented in every class of modern American colleges from which we may expect a successful life. He does his college work faithfully and stands well in his class. He takes part in student sports and student affairs without being pure athletic or impure class politician. He is clean in manners, morals and dress. He holds the solid respect of his class without being flabbily popular. He plans his work, keeps his appointments, moves toward a goal, and spends no time watching himself grow. It matters little whether such a man is valedictorian or not.

Ludicrous, indeed, was the scene Wednesday afternoon at the depot. All the Kappa Kappa men were lined up a good half hour before the trains rolled in. Hope and fear, each in turn momentarily filled their anxious hearts. Scarcely waiting for the train to stop each Kappa dashed through the bustling crowd to his respective co-ord, and shortly afterward could be seen emerging, with smiling countenance, one arm laden with grips and hat boxes, while the other dragged forth a blushing, flustered maiden.

Voice from class—"And a lobster has recently been discovered a little further up the Kennebec." Loud stamps and cat calls.

Sofa Pillow Night.

On Saturday evening occurred the annual "Sofa Pillow Night" of the Kappa Kappa. They report having had a good social time with their little dears and at a late hour all returned to the "bricks" loaded down with fraternity sofa pillows.

Within the last few nights, at an uncanny hour, deep rumblings have been heard and slight tremors have gone through the college halls, as if caused by some subterranean power. The Freshman is alarmed and filled with fear, for as yet he is ignorant as a babe of the black deeds of Colby. The wise upperclassman ejaculates "ah—the Anarchist Club has found another victim."

GRADUATE NOTES.

'95. Clara B. Tozier, who has been teaching in Ware, Mass., has accepted a more lucrative position in Fitchburg.

'00. Arnold Sandborn stopped at the "bricks" Monday, on his return to Calais where he is employed teaching in the High School.

The faculty of Wesleyan has ruled that hereafter all tutoring must be done by official tutors.

Charles D. Daly, captain of the Harvard football team, has been elected to a cadetship at West Point.

OF INTEREST.

Tarbell, '04, is teaching at Winthrop. The preliminary debate will occur Jan. 18.

Towne, '04, will remain out of college this term.

Withee, '01, was at Dover Friday and Saturday on business.

Miss Emma Clough, '04, has been sick with an ulcerated tooth.

The entrance prize for the Freshman class is awarded to Harold Soule.

The second college assembly will occur Tuesday evening, January 15th.

Mrs. Carver, Colby '75, visited her daughter, Miss Ruby Carver, '04, Sunday.

Blackburn, '01, who is at present teaching at Guilford, was at the "bricks" Saturday.

Pratt, '02, will remain out of college during the winter term. He will teach at Sangerville.

The Glee Club is billed for a concert at Saco on Washington's Birthday, also at Oakland Jan. 15.

Grace Balantine, '02, was unable to return to college for a few days because of a sprained arm.

Blackburn, '01, is officiating as principal of the Guilford High School, which began Monday, Dec. 31st.

Paine, formerly '03, will enter the Sophomore class of Bowdoin at the beginning of the winter term.

Sturtevant, '01, who was called home last term by the sudden death of his brother, will not return to college this term.

Marian Stover, '02, who was absent the greater part of last term has returned to college and is rooming at the Dunn House.

Dr. G. D. B. Pepper went to Skowhegan Friday last to attend, as a representative of the college, the funeral of Hon. Russell B. Shepherd.

Owing to the sickness of Prof. Hall, librarian, during vacation, notices are just appearing for those whose "average rank for the term is below six."

Clark, '03, will remain out of college during the winter term. He was so fortunate as to have secured the appointment as one of the pages in the Maine Senate.

President Butler will give a lecture in Camden on January 25th, upon "Ideals in Education," under the auspices of the Freshman class of the Camden High School.

During the winter vacation Prof. Chamberlain went to the state of Ohio where he was united in marriage with Miss Jessie Husted of Norwalk, of that state.

The library has recently received a beautiful memorial volume from Mrs. Clark, widow of Jonas Gilman Clark, the founder of Clark University, Worcester, Mass.

Julius Fogg, '02, manager of the "Colby Stories," reports that he is well satisfied with the sales of the book. The greater part of his vacation was taken up in the interest of the book in the southern part of the state.

The members of the "Anarchist Club," those who have as yet returned to college, met Saturday night behind closed doors. The occasion for this secret session must be due to some immediate action necessitated by recent happenings.

Saturday morning a dog appeared in chapel which occasioned remarks from Dr. Butler on the self-possession of the students. President Butler expressed his gratification for the fact that he doubted if another body of such size, "even less virtuous than we are," could be found which would maintain order so well.

WATERVILLE, MAINE.

Colby College, Waterville, Maine.

The College was chartered in 1818. It is most favorably situated in a city of about 10,000 inhabitants at the most central point in Maine, in a region unsurpassed for beauty and healthfulness. It offers the classical course with 70 electives, also a course without Greek, leading to the degree of Ph. B.

The Library contains 36,000 volumes and is always accessible to students. The college possesses a unique Physical Laboratory, a large Geological Museum, and is the repository of the Maine Geological Collection. A new and thoroughly equipped Chemical Laboratory was opened in September, 1899. Physical training is a part of the required work. There is a gymnasium with baths, and an excellent cinder-track.

The preparatory department of the college consists of four affiliated academies: (1) Coburn Classical Institute, owned by the college, Waterville; (2) Hebron Academy, Hebron, (Oxford county); (3) Ricker Classical Institute, Houlton, Aroostook county; (4) Higgins Classical Institute, Charleston, (Penobscot county).
