FEATURES12/Advice from the Real World

Colby asked recent graduates if they had advice for students soon to leave Mayflower Hill. The young alumni had plenty, from the concrete (do internships) to the philosophical (follow your passions).

16/The End

It was January 1984 when then-President William R. Cotter delivered the news. Colby would dissolve all fraternities and sororities. Why? Hear from the players at the time—and from alumni on both sides of the issue.

22/Farm Hands

As the nation's farmers grow older, fewer young people are turning to agriculture as a career. Meet Colby farmers who are bucking the trend with everything from organic vegetables to rodeo calves.

The Courage of Katrina Survivors

When Erin Rhoda '06 first set out to interview Hurricane Katrina survivors for her January independent study, she expected a tepid response. Instead Rhoda received more than 20 replies from survivors who said their recollections were part of the healing process. Read their stories in Colby online at www.colby.edu/mag.
