MAINE 3; COLBY 2.

Colby split even with Maine in the championship series. Wednesday for the first time since the new grandstand was built Colby met defeat on her own diamond in a college baseball game. The first part of the game was close and was plainly a pitcher's contest, in which both teams were doing well. But in the fatal seventh two errors and a wild pitch gave Maine three runs which Colby was unable to overtake, although in the eighth with the head of the batting list up Colby got two runs on an error, a sacrifice and a two base hit. The only scoring was done in the seventh and eighth innings. One of the features of the game was a triple play. Pile knocked a low liner to Moody who threw the ball to second catching Tilton off. The ball was then put to first catching Starkey in the same way. As one was down but two putouts were needed to close the inning.

During the first four innings but three men on a side faced the pitcher each inning except that Shorty got to first on a hit and Gordon got a hit and stole second. In the fifth Sawyer got a two bagger but was left on second. In Colby's half Tilton got a hit, Starkey also got first, but both were out by the triple play. In the sixth Moody and Tribou both reached second, the first on a hit and the latter on an error, but neither got further. In Maine's half of the seventh Mitchell knocked a pretty one to Tilton who allowed it to go between his legs while Moody reached third. Chase got a hit scoring Moody. An error of an easy one to Starkey let Thatcher to first and Chase to third. Thatcher then went down on a steal. A wild pitch by Coombs allowed both to cross the plate. The next two men were out. In Colby's half Starkey got a hit and reached second while the fielder fumbled the ball, but got no further. Maine got no further than first again during the game. In the eighth Tribou got first on an error by Chase, was sacrificed to second, and went to third on the next play. Shorty got a base on balls but was forced out when Coombs came to first. Willey was the man with a two base hit scoring Tribou and Coombs. Tilton was out. In the ninth Starkey got a hit but was put out on the next play while Pile got to first. Pugsley also got first on a player's choice but the next two men flied out losing another chance to score. The score:

FORFEITED BY MAINE.

The third of the Maine college games, and the first one with Maine, resulted in Maine's forfeiting the game to the Colby team on account of alleged dirty playing. The trouble came in the first half of the sixth with the score 2 to 0 in Colby's favor. With "Shorty" on second and John Coombs on first, a double steal was tried. Shorty had a good lead and so the Maine catcher threw second. Moody stepped in the base line, Coombs ran into him knocking him over in his attempt to reach the bag. Coombs however was out. Shorty, seeing what had happened, ran home just reaching it in time. Men in the crowd claimed that Coombs held Moody so that he was unable to throw the ball home, although it was stated to the contrary by members of the team. The faculty at once called the team from the field and the umpire declared the game forfeited to Colby, 9 to 0. Coombs had been invincible up to this time allowing no hits, in fact the ball had not been out of the diamond and but two men had reached first, one by being hit and one on a base on balls. Coombs secured the longest home run ever made on the Maine field, the fielder just getting it as Coombs crossed the plate. The score:

JUNIOR LEAGUE GAMES.

The Colby Junior League pennant went to Hebron again this spring for the third consecutive season. Of the games played the game between Hebron and Ricker in the finals was by far the closest and most interesting, as it was a pitcher's battle and was anybody's until it was all over. In the preliminaries Ricker trimmed Higgins 8 to 4, and Hebron trimmed Coburn 16 to 1 in a seven inning contest.

The first game between Ricker and Higgins showed that the teams were well matched except in the fifth inning in which Higgins had a balloon ascension and six men crossed the plate. The batteries on both teams were fast and did good work at critical times. Hammond who went in for Ricker in the sixth had a good assortment of curves but gave three bases on balls. Macomber at short did good work.

The next game between Hebron and Coburn was good for just one inning and then it became a question merely of how high a score Hebron would run up. Shaw and Barlow played a good game for Hebron and the whole team played a steady, interesting game.

Recently through fear that the idea of Standard Oil might be suggested, the usual lamp of knowledge has been removed from the seal of the University of Chicago.

The "Cornell Daily Sun" is the first college paper to become incorporated. The "Sun" receives daily telegraphic news and has for this season a wide circulation outside the college. The "Sun's" present circulation is about six thousand copies.

AN OUTING.

North Pond was the goal.
With a flourish of whips
And rejoicing of soul,
The great trip of trips
One fine morn was begun.
No dust and no breeze,
But a wealth of bright sun,
Birds, and blossoms and bees
Made Saturday matchless;
Up hill and down dale
The gay crowd and thoughtless
Proceeded till noon;
Then the horses were stabled;
The cottage was soon
A scene of enjoyment;
A rowboat enabled the muscular sports
To make good employment
Of time and of strength;
While the pet of the party
Played in sand on the beach.
With appetites hearty
The plentiful viands
Were eaten, while wary
Brown "Billy," the mascot,
Was sharer with "Mary"
And "Pem," on the doorstep.
Then burning and tanning,
On the pond, yes, and in it,
And ere long the planning
For equine subsistence
Before homeward starting,
Completed the doings
And then came departing.
'Mid song and 'mid laughter
The long miles were traveled,
'Mid luncheon and nightfall
The way still unraveled.
At last a detachment
Must cross the dark river;
'Twas now that adventures
That make courage shiver
Were grimly encountered.
But the morrow found all
Still alive to relate it
And to both great and small
The day of these happenings
Has now a red letter,
While the tombstones and specters
(Which proved something better,
With no thought of harming)
Are living among us,
No longer alarming.

Miss Agnes Stetson, '89, a teacher in Madison High School, visited her home in Waterville the first of the week, accompanied by Miss Grace Vose, Madison High School, '05. Miss Stetson was a guest at Ladies' Hall Monday.

Mrs. A. E. Bessey, of Waterville, State Secretary for Foreign Missions, gave an interesting talk to the Y. W. C. A. at Ladies' Hall, Tuesday evening, on "The Japanese Girl." The attendance was somewhat smaller than usual, owing to the fact that a number of the young women were at home over the holiday, but all those present enjoyed the address greatly.

WHEN MEMORY WAKES.

"And fear not lest existence closing your
Accounts, old Colby know the like no more;
The Eternal College Spirit, as of yore,
Must foster babies who like you shall soar."
(Omar XLVI, Slightly Modified.)

A sharp knocking at the door, a loud "Come in!" from within, and the next moment two friends stood face to face clasping each other's hands. After having asked and answered those questions which are wont to be the introduction to the discourse between friends long separated, the visitor made a few pleasant remarks about his old college room, took the best chair and, tipping back, threw his dusty feet on the corner of the table.

Soon the pipes were going, and the two friends and former room mates dwelled upon incidents of the past. "Do you remember that chair?" asked the host in pointing at a rickety thing in the corner. "That one with the canvas bottom?" "Indeed I do," he replied with a broad smile—"what a night it was!"

At this point the verdure of the Campus, the brilliant sunshine of spring and the songs of birds, heard from the state-ly elms outside, suddenly vanished. It was yellow autumn under a low, gloomy sky and the icy breath of approaching winter was felt in the sharp wind which went whistling through the air.

The two friends stood on the side lines and watched with beating hearts an exciting foot ball game. Should old Colby bite the dust or should she triumph over the "Black and White?" Colby had made the first touch down, but she was now on the Bowdoin line trying to hold for downs. A few seconds of oppressive anxiety were followed by endless cheers; the giant full back of the Blue had plunged through the line for a gain of fifteen yards. The next moment our friends found themselves in the parade "down town" headed by transparencies of every description, each one bearing some witty device and "Colby 11, Bowdoin 0." So far they were together, now they separated. The undergraduate kept reviewing the events of the evening in order as they came. He saw a huge bonfire on the front campus and a restless crowd of students flitting around it like black ghosts; he saw objects that looked like bottles and he heard loud cheers. The visitor was trying to account for the night which he had spent neither fully awake nor sound asleep.

The host smiled. "Didn't you break down once that night—I mean the bottom of that chair gave way with you, how was that?" "Didn't you pull me out of the hole?" was the answer.

The undergraduate fell into a fit of laughter, for he saw his worthy roommate, as plainly as on the occasion, sink through the canvas and fold up like a jack-knife. He remembered how his friend fed upon restoratives for some time afterwards, cursing his sore head and glorying in the strength and courage of the Blue and Gray.

COBURN'S NEW PRINCIPAL.

At a recent meeting of the Committee on Instruction of Coburn Classical Institute, it was unanimously decided to recommend to the full board of trustees George S. Stevenson, ex-'02, as the successor of Principal Franklin W. Johnson '91, who recently resigned to accept the principalship of the Academy of the University of Chicago. Mr. Stevenson was born in Clinton, Me., in 1881 and graduated from Coburn in '98, receiving both the Lord prizes for the highest rank in Latin and Greek. He entered Colby the same year and took the entrance examination prize. After two years at Colby he entered Harvard from which he graduated in 1903 receiving both his A. B. and A. M. degrees. During each year at Harvard he was in the "First Group" scholarship list and in his Senior year received special honors in the classics. He was the Latin Salutatorian of his class and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

For the past two years he has been instructor in Greek and Latin at Milton Academy in Milton, Mass., where his work met with the highest satisfaction of the school authorities. It is a rather interesting coincidence that Mr. Stevenson's age is exactly that of Principal Johnson when he accepted the position eleven years ago. As a scholar, teacher and man he is admirably fitted to carry on the work which Professor Johnson has so well done, and Coburn is to be congratulated on her good fortune in obtaining so worthy a successor to Mr. Johnson.

It was also decided by the same committee to recommend Guy W. Chipman, '02, as instructor in the sciences to succeed David S. Wheeler resigned. Mr. Chipman was born in 1889 at Raymond, Me., and prepared for college at Pennell Institute, Gray, graduating in '98. Since his graduation from Colby in 1902 he has successfully filled the position of principal of the Winslow High School, which under his administration has been much improved, tripling the attendance and now occupying a modern school building costing about $15,000.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES.

The Cornell Athletic Council has decided upon the following rule, to take effect next year:

"The Committee on Student organizations has decided that during the University year to 1905-6, no leave of absence on account of athletics would be granted to any individual to exceed a total of more than seven days, from the opening of the University to April 1, nor more than seven days from April 1 to the close of the University year."

It is not of course, the intention of the committee in taking this action to grant fourteen days leave of absence to any individual on account of athletics, but to arrange a maximum number of absences which will be granted during the two specified divisions of the University year. No individual would probably need more than one branch of sport. If it is found that any individual is absent a sufficient number of times to impair his standing in university work, some modification of the rule may be necessary. It is expected that this rule will greatly aid managers of athletic teams in making out their schedules before the season opens, since by compliance to the terms of the above rule, they can estimate just how many trips can be made. The rule will go into effect next fall, and will be tried as an experiment during the ensuing year.
