FOUNDATION OF GOOD CLOTHES

A Coat depends upon its Canvas as a house does upon its foundation. Our canvases are made entirely by hand, the material is thoroughly cold-water shrunk and the hair cloth of best quality. Our method tends to keep a coat in shape longer—from puckering or breaking should the wearer get it wet—and adds materially to the life of a coat.

GOODWIN PRIZE SPEAKING CONTEST.

The finals in the Goodwin Prize Speaking contest occurred in the Baptist church last Friday evening, in the presence of a good sized audience.

Considerable delay and confusion were caused by the electric lights which went out several times during the course of the speaking.

The orations showed that the men had worked hard on them, and the delivery revealed how the students had developed under Mr. Libby's teaching.

The decisions of the judges were given by Pres. Roberts in chapel Saturday morning. The first prize was awarded to Isaac Higginbotham. Two men, John A. Tidd and James C. Richardson tied for second place, and the second and third prizes amounting to $40 were divided equally between them. The fourth prize was awarded to James Perry.

HISTORY PRIZE.

Awarded to Miss Verena Hilton Chaney, of Colby College.

Word has just been received from the President of the Society of the Colonial Dames of the State of Maine, that the annual prize of fifty dollars, known as the Mary Floyd Neely Memorial Prize, which is offered by the Society for the best essay upon some topic in the colonial history of Maine, has been awarded for the year 1910, to Miss Verena Hilton Chaney, a member of the present Senior Class of Colby College. The subject of the essay is:—"The True Story of Pemaquid."

The competition for this Prize is open to the women of the Colleges of Maine, who are pursuing courses in History. A number of excellent papers were submitted this year, and of this number, two were sent from Colby. This is the fifth consecutive time this Prize has been won by a Colby student.

Miss Chaney, the winner of the Prize of 1910, was born in the town of Bremen, Maine, and fitted for College in the Morse High School at Bath. After teaching a couple of years, she entered Colby College in the fall of 1906. She has been prominent among her classmates throughout her course in the various activities of College life, and will graduate this month with the Class of 1910. The successful article is a historical research of something over six thousand words in length, based upon a careful study of the resources of the libraries of Maine and Boston, especially the collections of the Maine Historical Society at Portland, involving four or five of preparation. The article is fully illustrated with maps and diagrams. In the letter accompanying the award of the honor, Miss Chaney's paper was accorded the highest praise for general excellence by the Committee of Award.

MAINE INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

For the first time in four years the Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament meets at Colby this week. The tournament was scheduled for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; but on account of the rain no matches were played off on Monday. Each of the four Maine colleges is represented by four men.

Maine and Bates arrived on Sunday afternoon and evening. Bowdoin came on Monday morning. The managers of the different teams met on Monday morning and the different matches were drawn.

The tournament will be played off as follows:—

DOUBLES.

Group 1. Black and Ross, Bowdoin versus Dow and Baum, Colby. Gooch and Peckham, Maine versus Bolster and Moulton, Bates.

Group 2. Hawes and Martin, Bowdoin, versus Dane and Herrick, Colby. Wallace and Bird, Maine, versus Clason and Woodman, Bates.

SINGLES.

Group 1. Dow, Colby, versus Wallace, Maine. Martin, Bowdoin, versus Moulton, Bates.

Group 2. Bird, Maine, versus Baum, Colby. Hawes, Bowdoin versus Bolster, Bates.

The winners in each group will then play off the finals. In the finals and semi-finals there ought to be some very good tennis playing. The results will be known too late for this week's issue of the ECHO, but they will be posted on the bulletin board and published in the local papers.

The Bates and Maine men are stopping at the different fraternity houses. The Bowdoin team is staying at the Elmwood

Owing to unfavorable weather conditions on Monday no tennis matches were played. Yesterday a number of them were run off in the afternoon, Bowdoin showing up strong.

Following are the results of the preliminaries in the doubles:

Hawes and Martin of Bowdoin beat Dane and Herrick of Colby, 6-0, 6-0.

Wallace and Bird of Maine beat Clason and Woodman of Bates, 6-3, 3-6, 6-8.

Moulton and Bolster of Bates beat Gooch and Peckham of Maine, 7-5, 8-6.

Black and Rose of Bowdoin beat Dow and Baum of Colby, 6-2, 6-1.

The sets between Moulton and Bolster of Bates and Gooch and Peckham of Maine were closely fought and drew an interested crowd of spectators.

One semi-final was played in which Hawes and Martin of Bowdoin beat Wallace and Bird of Maine, 6-3, 6-0.

NOTICE.

The year is almost ended. In a few days a new board of Editors will take charge of the ECHO, but before that event can take place all bills and obligations must be satisfactorily met. In order that this may be done we respectfully solicit a prompt settlement of all subscriptions from alumni and students. Please have your money ready, for some member of the Echo board will call for it within a few days.

The Sophomore Declamation Contest is scheduled to take place next Friday evening at the Baptist church. An interesting contest is anticipated.

The Colby Baseball team went to Brunswick this morning with Ralph N. Good acting manager. Today's game is the last but one of Colby's Championship series. The last game will be played on Alumni Field next Saturday against Bates.

Memorial Day exercises should be an annual feature of the Colby calendar, and probably will be in the future. The success of those held last week was complete, and perhaps nothing contributed more to the thorough enjoyment of the occasion by the veterans, than the part taken by the Colby undergraduates. A tendency is abroad to discount the sacrifices made by the Boys of '61. From "waving the bloody shirt," many in the North have gone to the other extreme, and frequently the old veterans are forced to listen in silence while some orator, unborn when they laid themselves upon the altar of patriotism, draws an invidious comparison between the urbane Robert E. Lee and the taciturn Ulysses S. Grant. Which was the ideal soldier? And is the story of the Civil War "a worn-out tale," as England's laureate sang a few years since, of our Revolution? Let the sword rust in its scabbard, indeed, and let peace and amity prevail between North and South as between ourselves and our cousins across the sea; but as no Colby man would seek to dim the fame of Washington, so no Colby man, remembering the long list of Colby boys who closed their books forever, went to the front and died for the Union, would seek to minimize the greatness of the Northern leaders or the immensity of the sacrifice of the Boys in Blue. Colby is today, as fifty years ago, a patriotic college, and nothing pleased the veterans more than the address at Gettysburg from the lips of a Colby undergraduate, and a loyal, true ringing address, spoken by another.

The Colby Oracle will soon be issued and it is due the editors and managers to support the enterprise heartily, with the true spirit of Colby men. The annual is a fixture among the publications of every self-respecting college, and the first prerequisite of a good college annual is ungrudging financial backing. Buy an extra copy, and see that it falls into the hands of a future Colby man who is not yet entirely certain that he is a future Colby man. You know him—the fellow to whom Siwash offers allurements that he is seriously considering.

Some months ago THE ECHO had an editorial on the beauties of the Colby campus. That was anticipation, so to speak. Today comes realization—and more; for its beauties are past expression. By Commencement, a little more than a week from now, the whole campus will be at its best, to greet Colby's sons and daughters on their annual home-coming.

Subscriptions to the Echo are now due, and must be paid at once. Render payments to Crowell E. Pease or Raymond C. Bridges.

COLBY VERSUS MASS. AGGIES.

The tennis team from Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, arrived in Waterville on Wednesday evening, June 1st. This made the seventh tournament of the season for the Aggies, and as it proved the seventh victory, for they carried everything before them.

In the doubles, Rockwood and Johnson, Mass. A., won from Dow and Baum, 6-0, 6-1; Lin and Thomas, Mass. A., won from Herrick and Dane, 6-1, 6-1.

In the singles Rockwood won from Dow, 6-3, 6-4; Lin won from Higginbotham, 6-0, 6-3; and Johnson won from Baum, 6-0, 6-3.

The only interesting match was that between Dow and Rockwood. In the last set it looked for a while as if Dow might get one set, but Rockwood steadied down after the score was 4-4.

The tournament was won by the Mass. men six matches to none.

MUSICAL CLUBS.

At a meeting of the Colby Musical Clubs held in the college chapel last Saturday the following officers were elected for the year 1910-'11: Leader of Glee Club, Russell Lord; manager, Maurice Lord; leader of Mandolin Club, Albion W. Blake; leader of Orchestra, Arthur Knight.

SPECIAL.

Manager Nash assisted by ex-manager Albert K. Stetson, '07 of Houlton are planning to make the special Baseball game of June 20, the hardest fought, the best attended, most enjoyable game ever played on Alumni Field. This will be a case "where Greek meets Greek" for both teams are a Colby product, one the 1906 champions of Maine, the other the team of 1910. The ECHO is trying to do its little part by spreading the news to all Colby men, and incidentally to others who are not. Pass the word along.

This commencement is to be great in many respects, the game between Colby's two favorite sons, John Coombs and Ralph Good, is simply one of the many good things, none of which you can afford to miss.

Remember the date of Commencement, June 18-22, and of the game June 20.
