BASEBALL.

Colby, 13; Maine, 12.

The exhibition game between Colby and the University of Maine, Wednesday, April 19 (Patriots' Day) will never be forgotten by those who witnessed it. For abrupt and sensational changes of fortune it rivalled the imaginings of contemporary fiction, and it "came out right in the end" by the close score of 13 to 12.

With no scoring in the first inning, Vail started things Colby's way with a home run in the second. In the third inning Sturtevant was passed, then sacrificed to second base by Bowker, and Burroughs also walked. Good's single to left field scored Sturtevant, and a wild pitch let in Burroughs and Good.

Hits by Bearce, H. Cobb and Wentworth and errors by Good and Sturtevant gave Maine two runs in the fourth. Hits by Clukey and Sturtevant and errors by McKeen and Scales made two more for Colby in the home team's half.

With Fulton pitching for Maine, bunched hits netted five scores in the sixth. Hitting and a few costly errors gave Maine two in the seventh and one in the eighth, and the score was now 11 to 5 in Colby's favor.

Then came the ninth. After many of the spectators had left the grounds, convinced of the outcome of a foregone conclusion, the unexpected happened. The first shock came from Fulton's three-base hit. F. Cobb singled, and the ball got away from Warren in left field, letting in two scores. Before the spectators gained their breath, hits, errors and speedy base running had netted seven runs, putting Maine one in the lead.

With two out, Good hit past Hussey and was scored by Reed, and Vail not satisfied with his "homer" early in the game, scored Reed by knocking the ball past first base into right field.

Colby, 12; Hebron, 5.

In a cold, raw wind that swept clouds of smoke and cinders across the diamond, the Hebron game was played last Saturday afternoon. As was to be expected under such unfavorable conditions, the game was loose with a large number of errors.

The chief sufferer was Curtis, the Hebron pitcher, who was unable to secure control, and was batted almost at will by Colby. Seven singles, five three-baggers and a home run constituted the total of the home team's work with the willow.

A number of changes had been made in the Colby team to give all the candidates a chance. Capt. Sturtevant went into left field to make a vacancy for Warren behind the bat. Reed was moved over to second and Mooers was on first. Washburn, McDougal and Hunt took turns on the mound.

Reed, with two three-baggers, and Capt. Sturtevant, with two singles and a three-bagger, led in hitting. Warren played a good, steady game behind the plate and Reed showed up well on second. Washburn allowed the visitors but three hits, and none after the second inning. Hebron failed to hit McDougal, but Hunt was not so fortunate.

Three hits with a total of seven bases, to which three errors were added, gave Colby four runs to start with. Two in the fourth and five in the fifth put the game out of harm's way, and two errors made one more run.

Hebron scored twice in the second on a pass, a sacrifice hit, a double and a single, while the three scores in the eighth came in on a brace of errors, a base on balls, two singles, and a third error.

PHI DELTA THETA.

Guests at House Party Attend Junior Prom, Fraternity Reception, and Informal Dance.

On Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of last week, Maine Alpha of Phi Delta Theta entertained its friends at a house party with the fraternity chapter house at 31 College Avenue as headquarters for the occasion. Several of the out-of-town guests reached Waterville on Monday; and by Tuesday night, the evening of Junior Prom, the party was nearly complete. Increased facilities in the boarding department were provided while the affair was in progress, with the result that one of the most pleasant features of each day was the gathering of forty-five hungry young folks in the dining hall.

Junior Prom was the leading attraction of Tuesday; Wednesday afternoon the members of the party witnessed the Maine game and in the evening attended a reception at the chapter house; a tour of the college buildings and a visit to the moving pictures were in order Thursday afternoon, and all enjoyed a private dancing party at the Taconnet club house Thursday night. Most of the guests from away left for their homes on the 12.50 train Friday noon.

The reception Wednesday evening at the chapter house, the first event of the house party that was distinctly a fraternity affair, was attended by the college faculty, alumni of the chapter, and many other friends of the fraternity from the city and both divisions of the college. These were welcomed and entertained by the members of the chapter and the young ladies who were in a large sense hostesses of the occasion.

In the receiving line were F. A. Shepherd, '11, Mrs. E. D. Thompson, Mrs. A. J. Roberts, and President Roberts, '90. At the end of the line two tiny flower girls, Miss Helene Hedman and Miss Mary Tolman, presented white carnations, the fraternity flower, to the guests. Refreshments of ice cream, punch, and cookies were served in the dining room. Mrs. C. W. Atchley and Mrs. C. R. Flood presided at the ice cream table, and Miss Marjorie Meader, '14, and Miss Lynette Philbrick, '14, served. Miss Marian Ingalls, '13, dipped punch, and was assisted by Miss Ethel Merriam, '14, and Miss Cora Patterson, '14. Music for the reception was furnished by Kendall's orchestra.

The dancing party at the club house Thursday evening was attended only by the fraternity, several members of the faculty, delegates from the other fraternities, and a few invited guests. The affair was very informal and was greatly enjoyed. The hall was decorated with college and fraternity banners. During the intermission refreshments were served in the dining room on the second floor. The patronesses were Mrs. G. E. Allen of Camden, Mrs. S. W. Lawry of Rockland, Mrs. J. Howard Welch of Waterville, and Mrs. E. D. Thompson, matron at the chapter house. The Leahy sisters' orchestra furnished music.

At both the reception and the dance Delta Kappa Epsilon was represented by W. V. Cole '11; Zeta Psi by H. M. Pullen, '11; Delta Upsilon by Seymour Soule, '13; while Alpha Tau Omega's delegate at the reception was S. C. Cates, '12, and at the dance R. M. Hussey, '12.

Among the guests of the fraternity during the house party were: Mrs. George E. Allen of Camden, Mrs. S. W. Lawry of Rockland, Mrs. J. H. Welch of Waterville, Miss Lillian E. Doyle of Nashua, N. H., Miss Christine C. Robin of Fitchburg, Mass., Miss Frieda E. Shiply of Pembroke, N. H., Miss Mabel Andrews of Springfield, Mass., Miss Grace B. Grondin of Waterville, Miss Josephine H. Tribou of Auburn, Miss Beulah H. Lawry of Rockland, Miss Marguerite Stevens of Readfield, Miss Grace Thibodeau of Norway, Miss Nannie L. Soule, '14, of Damariscotta, Miss Adelaide L. Mitchell of Portland, Miss Antoinette C. Grondin of Waterville, Miss Eleanor G. Welch of Waterville, Miss Laurel E. Wyman, '12, of Lawrence, Mass., Miss Helen B. Kerrigan of Woburn, Mass., Miss Eva Macomber, '13, of Jay, Miss Bessie J. Dutton, '13, of Waterville, Miss Cora A. Patterson, '14, of Winslow, Miss Annie C. B. Pomeroy of Winslow, Miss Meverett Shackford, of Waterville, and Miss Ellen Cratty, '11, of Waterville.

TENNIS.

The entries in the tournament in singles for tennis candidates closed Wednesday. The tennis squad will be chosen from those who take part in the tournament.

THE ECHO this week prints a schedule of coming events for the remainder of the semester. Only those events which have actually been announced are given. The list will be kept standing and corrected each week.

We sympathize with the editor of "The Denisonian" and confess that we have entertained the same uncharitable thought which he expresses in the following complaint: "Again we ask contributors to please spell names clearly and correctly. It may be the habit of making manuscript indistinct in exams, so that the professor won't know whether you know or not, that gives rise to the habit of smearing off a bunch of names in some of our copy. This is not necessary. If you don't know how to spell the name, it's a sure thing that we don't because nine chances out of ten, we never heard it before."

INTERCLASS TRACK MEET.

The annual Interclass Track Meet will be held on the athletic field, Saturday, April 29. The events will be called at 2.30 P. M.

LYFORD CONTESTANTS.

Preliminary Program for Their Entertainment Is Announced.

Upon arrival in Waterville, contestants in the Lyford Interscholastic Prize Speaking Contest should report at once at the Registrar's office, Chemical Hall, where room assignments will be made, and badges and programs given out. The contestants will be assigned to the several Greek letter fraternities at whose fraternity houses they will be entertained while guests of the College.

Friday.

1.30 P. M. Group photograph of contestants on steps of Memorial Hall.

2.00-5.30 Lyford Contest in Memorial Hall.

5.30-6.00. Recess.

6.00-7.30. Lunch in Gymnasium with short addresses by members of student body, President Roberts presiding.

7.30-10.00. Lyford Contest continued in Memorial Hall. Report of the board of judges will be given at the conclusion of the speaking.

Saturday.

Forenoon. Dual Track Meet, Colby and the University of Maine.

Afternoon. Colby-Bates baseball game. Contestants are cordially invited to remain at the College over Saturday and be its guests for the two athletic events scheduled.

THE PRIVATE SECRETARY.

The Opera House was crowded last Friday evening to witness the annual production of the Dramatic club, which was "The Private Secretary." A treat had been promised and none were disappointed. For over two hours and a half the peculiar situations found in the play kept the audience in a constant roar of laughter.

Everyone was pleased with the interpretations of the different parts. The participants were well chosen, and this was more particularly true with the boys who had to don dresses and curls and play the feminine roles. S. H. Hanson, '93, who has been in charge of the play as coach, has made a success of his work. The play did not drag for an instant and there was something to laugh at every minute.

The poor private secretary who was confused by a rich uncle for a sporty nephew, took all sorts of abuse. The part was taken by Seymour Soule and he was as meek a soul as could be imagined. He sustained his part so unusually well, that even his feet appearing from behind the curtains, or his watchful eyes when he was shoved under the table, kept his personality before the audience and held their constant and amused admiration.

Thomas Packard, '11, as Mr. Cattermole, had a most difficult part to interpret. The irate old gentleman from India, with a bad liver, who had just returned to London, and had found his supposed nephew to be just the opposite of what he had expected, raged and flustered about in a very realistic manner.

Victor Gilpatrick, '13, as Douglas Cattermole, the sporty nephew, was irresistibly funny in his spiritualistic conversation with Miss Ashford.

Harry Marshland, was taken by Harvey Knight, '14, and he together with Douglas made a lively pair.

Horace Pullen, '11, took the part of Mr. Marshland, a typical old English gentleman, in an excellent manner. As the cheerful host, and the irascible householder, he was in a class by himself.

Harold Dubor, '14, was Sidney Gibson, the Bond street tailor, whose ambitions to be a gentleman led him into places that were too high for him. The scene in which, while drunk, he appears, draped in a torn sheet and imitating Miss Ashford, as she waves her arms over the sleeping medium, is indeed laughable.

The girls' parts, taken by Myron Griswold, '14, and Frank Carpenter, '14, were also excellently played. Only for the fact that all knew the boys were playing the parts, it would have been difficult to say that charming young actresses were not playing the parts of Edith Marshland and Eva Webster.

John Dolan, '12, was the pattern of a tidy English landlady. He was especially good in the scene with Cattermole, where his hysteria at the old man's violence was excellently worked up.

Harold Small, '14, gave a good characterization of Miss Ashford, the governess of the two girls.

Louis Wilson, '14, made an excellent, dignified family retainer, and Elwin Soule, '13, a thoroughly realistic writ server.

The officers of the club are Thomas P. Packard, '11, manager; Victor Gilpatrick, '13, president; Elwin Soule, '13, manager of properties, and John Dolan, '12, stage manager.

The work of the college orchestra deserves especial praise. Selections were given before and between the acts, that gave evidence of the high ability of the players and the orchestra as a whole.

MACMILLAN LECTURE.

The Faculty of Colby and the members of the Women's Division enjoyed a rare treat Saturday evening, when Mr. Donald B. Macmillan lectured to them on his trip to the Far North. Mr. Macmillan accompanied Commander Peary on that expedition and spoke very entertainingly of his experiences at the top of the earth. The members of the Women's Division wish to extend their thanks to Mr. Macmillan for his great kindness; and to his niece, Miss Lillian Fogg, through whose courtesy they have been given so great a pleasure.

"TWELFTH NIGHT."

Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" will be presented by the students of Coburn in the City Opera House, Monday evening, May 1, by a carefully trained cast.

The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Waterville Public Library.

LECTURE THURSDAY.

Major A. W. Lowe, United States Cavalry association, United States army, and the American Society of Naval Engineers, United States army, will lecture in Chemical Hall, Colby College, on Thursday evening at eight o'clock. His subject will be "The Relation of the Army to Civil Authority." This is the first of a series of lectures to be given here this spring under the auspices of Colby College, by men distinguished in various fields of activity. The lecture Thursday evening is entirely free and all who are interested in this very important subject of military and civil relations are cordially invited to attend.

CAMPUS CHAT.

Ira Mikelsky, '13, has recovered from his recent illness.

Thomas Packard, '11, and Leslie Arey, '12, attended the Delta Upsilon convention of the New England chapters of that fraternity at Williamstown, Mass., this week.

Nathan Garrick, '10, passed Sunday at the Delta Kappa Epsilon house.

The members of the Delta Upsilon fraternity entertained Rev. W. H. P. Faunce, president of Brown University, at the home of Robert Bowen, '14, last Wednesday evening.

Richard A. Harlow, '12, has gone to his home at Woodfords for an indefinite length of time, owing to illness.

A. L. Welch, '13, spent Sunday, April 23, with friends in Augusta.

Carroll Goodwin, ex-13, of Skowhegan, attended the house party at the Phi Delta Theta house.

Woodman Bradbury, D.D., of the class of '87, was a caller at the Phi Delta Theta house Thursday of last week.

Chester A. Grant, '10, principal of Washburn High School, was a caller at the Phi Delta Theta house, Monday.

Mr. Justice Leslie C. Cornish, '75, of Augusta, Mr. Justice Arno W. King, '82, of Ellsworth and Wilford G. Chapman, Esq., '83, of Portland, were in town last Saturday.

Frank Carpenter, '14, entertained his sisters from Madison last Saturday.

DE FEMINIS.

HAZEL BOWKER COLE, Editor.

LAURA DAY, Manager.

Miss Jeannette Winchester, ex-'12, has been visiting Rose Pillsbury, '11.

Miss Gladys Sturtevant of Pittsfield, was the guest of Lynette Philbrick, '14, Tuesday.

Helen Marsh, '13, Florence Cole, '13, and Marjorie Meader, '14, attended the Sophomore hop at the University of Maine, Friday.

Marion Tibbetts, ex-'12, has been visiting friends here this week.

Dean Bass left Friday for Boston, where she attended the meeting of the Boston Alumnæ Association.

Lynette Philbrick and Lillian Fogg, '14, took dinner at the Gerald, Friday.

Grace Vose, '12, visited at her home in Madison over Saturday and Sunday.

Lena Blanchard and Mildred Lane, '14, spent Sunday at their homes in Augusta.

Vesper services were held in the chapel last Thursday afternoon at five o'clock. Special music was rendered by the choir and a solo by Miss Davidson was much enjoyed. The address was given by the Rev. Woodman Bradbury, D.D., of Cambridge, Mass. Dr. Bradbury spoke very interestingly, and his kindness in staying over to speak to the Women's Division was much appreciated.
