THE COLBY ALUMNUS.

This last week there has come from the press a new Colby publication. It is the Colby Alumnus. This new magazine, attractive in form and size, will serve to fulfill two great needs that are felt in every live and up-to-date institution of learning—that of keeping in touch with past students of the college, and that of imparting to undergraduates the inspiration that is gained by realizing the attainments of those who have been students in the college in by-gone days. That it will meet these aims is indicated by the first issue.

The subject matter of the magazine covers very thoroughly the various departments and activities of the college. A summary of its contents as follows:

The first article is a sketch of Chief Justice Whitehouse of the Maine Supreme Court. An account of the announcement of his appointment as made by Frederick W. Plaisted at the Commencement Dinner is given. It is a notable fact that Colby now has the honor of claiming three out of the eight members of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine as sons of her own; the Chief Justice, Amos W. King, '79-'81, and Leslie C. Cornish, '75.

Colby Day, Friday, October 13, is the next article, and logically following is the article upon "The Recent Growth of Colby." That our college is determined to maintain and gain a still higher standing among the colleges in New England is breathed forth in the spirit of this article.

There is no college of which we know that does more to aid its students according to its means than Colby, yet the Alumnus tells of still further plans underway to assist worthy students attending the college. The Colby Educational Association is a new organization which has been formed for this purpose.

Sketches covering the opening of the college year and of the football season just closed are given. It is pleasing to note that under President Roberts able administration the registration is steadily increasing. The college has been represented upon the gridiron by men who have given their best to college this fall.

It is very evident that the trustees and President Roberts are doing their best to bring to the college men thoroughly qualified to serve as instructors. The eight new members of the faculty are men of wide teaching experience or long theoretical training. Some idea of the increase of work in the college is indicated in the fact that the faculty now totals twenty-five members.

Another sign of progress is the new dormitory for men, completed this fall. A good description of the building is given and in connection with it is shown a cut.

There is no question in the mind of anyone but what the response to the new undertaking, as its object is set forth in the main editorial, will be immediate and appreciative. The Alumnus may serve as no other medium can, to keep former graduates informed of present activities and present students informed of former activities.

The last two features are the "Faculty Notes" and items of "What Colby Men Are Doing." These constitute brief sketches of Faculty activities and the work graduates of the college are now engaged in. All in all, the Colby Alumnus is a well gotten up college journal and will serve many purposes yet unrealized, as it is of a nature that will grow more and more to be a helpful feature to Colby, as it must of a necessity claim the interest of those both out and in the college.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

At an adjourned meeting of the Athletic Association, held in the chapel, Monday evening, the amendments to the constitution as published in last week's ECHO, were adopted to go into effect on Friday, December 15. On that day a special meeting will be held for the election of officers.

The new constitution reduces the Council to seven members—the President and two apiece from the alumni, faculty and students. The only other radical change is the creation of the office of Graduate Manager.

ROTATING FOOTBALL SCHEDULE.

A meeting of representatives from the four Maine colleges was held at the West End Hotel, Portland, Saturday morning, for the purpose of arranging a rotating football schedule. Each college was represented by its football manager, its director of athletics, and by its members on the Maine Intercollegiate Athletic Board. L. C. Southard of Boston, president of the M. I. A. B., acted as chairman of the meeting, and Prof. F. E. Pomeroy of Bates, secretary of the M. I. A. B., acted as secretary.

The plan under consideration was that of placing the championship games in the fall on a uniform rotating schedule. Under such a plan, the four teams would be playing on the same three Saturdays, and the disadvantages of having an opening and closing game would be avoided. The proposed plan also calls for each college to play a different team in its first game every year from that played the previous season. It also embraces the idea that the championship series should begin on the last Saturday in October and end on the second Saturday of November. These recommendations were approved by all delegates present except those from Bowdoin, who had no power to act. The matter was referred for final settlement to the athletic councils of the various colleges, and if Bowdoin concurs, the schedule will undoubtedly be adopted.

Upon the adjournment of this meeting, a meeting of the M. I. A. B., was called. L. C. Southard, Maine, of Boston, was re-elected president and Prof. F. E. Pomeroy, Bates, of Lewiston, secretary and treasurer. A series of recommendations were also adopted relating principally to the proposed rotating schedule:

That a rotating football schedule be adopted by the four Maine colleges to cover a period of six years and to begin in 1912.

That all games between Maine colleges be played on a schedule represented by the last Saturday in October and the first two Saturdays in November.

That each college shall accredit a faculty member to assist its football manager in arranging a rotating schedule.

That Bowdoin be requested to accredit a faculty member in like manner.

That the schedule offered to the conference of the four Maine colleges by Prof. Pomeroy of Bates be the basis for the rotating schedule, subject to amendment, such schedule to lend itself to adjustment by the shifting of its starting point.

The New England Society of New York has presented the library with a set of "New England Society Orations."

DEBATING SOCIETY.

The Colby Debating Society held a meeting in Chemical Hall, Thursday afternoon, December 7. The corresponding secretary read a letter from the secretary of the Clark College Debating Society. The standing committee was instructed to confer and draw up a list of conditions under which to debate with Clark College. The articles of argument drawn up by Mr. Libby in regard to the Colby Debating League for Preparatory and High Schools were accepted. The matter of providing coaches for these schools was left with Mr. Libby.

Mr. Libby, Instructor in Debating, has announced the appointment of the following men as coaches to the secondary schools which are to participate in the Goodwin Interscholastic Debating Contest.

DRAMATIC CLUB.

Trials for positions on the Dramatic Club were held Saturday afternoon in the chapel. The judge was Miss Morgan, a graduate of the Emerson School of Expression in Boston. The final cast of the play will be picked from the following men: Dubor, '14; Campbell, '14; Lambert, '15; Loane, '13; Carpenter, '14; Ashley, '15; Willard, '15; Hawes, '14; Kane, '15; Carrol, '13; Davis, '13; Soule, '12; Brann, '14; Wilson, '14; Williams, '15; Gilmore, '15; Dolan, '12. The final trials will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 P. M. The schedule for the season is nearly completed. It will contain a Massachusetts trip and a trip along the coast.

The senior class met Monday morning after chapel and elected officers for the year. As the president had already been elected, the board of officers stands as follows:

President, Samuel A. Herrick; vice president, Hervey C. Allen; treasurer, Leslie Arey; orator, Ernest D. Jackman; prophet, Willis E. Jones, historian, John A. Bagnall; chaplain, Luther Morris; marshal, Samuel C. Cates; parting address, Walter Rideout; ode committee, R. Lord, R. Harlow, Jackman; executive committee, Mahlon Hill; Otis Lowell, Henry Reynolds, J. Burleigh Thompson, Elmer Gibbs, John Dolan.

Sometimes people are inclined to take a pessimistic view of college sportsmanship. To such a good lesson would have been taught at the meeting of the M. I. A. B. last Saturday. The conference was characterized by a spirit of fair play, even though it involved self-sacrifice on the part of some of the colleges. We refer especially to the position taken by the University of Maine in supporting the rotating schedule and relinquishing the special financial advantages gained by her in playing the last game of the season. Such an attitude as this taken by Maine and the other colleges present at the meeting goes far to maintain college athletics on their proper level of sportsmanship.

We wonder how long it will be necessary to wade in mud when travelling College Avenue, from the lower railroad crossing to the campus walks. The condition of the sidewalk there is a disgrace to the city.

The ECHO extends its best wishes to the latest literary effort in Colby College, "The Colby Alumnus." That much good will result from this magazine there can be no question, for its purpose is to stimulate the interest of the alumni in Colby and to keep them in personal touch with her. We sincerely hope that it will meet with the success it deserves.

THEY SAY

That the "Colby Alumnus" reflects credit upon its editors.

That the library is not a proper place for conducting a courtship.

That the rotating football schedule seems probable.

That competition for the Dramatic Club is unusually keen this season.

That the Musical Clubs are fast getting into condition for the concert at Clinton.

DR. HILLIS' LECTURE.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis delivered his lecture on "The America of To-day and To-morrow," in the City Hall, Tuesday evening, before a large and appreciative audience. Dr. Hillis is a man of pleasing personality. He is a man who has travelled extensively and his lecture abounds in personal descriptions and observations. His stage presence is unusually easy and pleasing, so that he creates the impression of giving a talk rather than of delivering a lecture.

The lecture itself was in keeping with the man. It was a broad, sympathetic presentation of a great subject and was full of optimism and good cheer. The lecture described the great natural resources which are making America the leader among nations, and then drew a picture of the composite American who is to direct the course of this great country. In the mind of one who heard Dr. Hillis there can be no doubt of the greatness of America's future, or that the obligations of this future will be well met.

LIBRARY NOTICE.

All books must be returned to the Library before the beginning of the Christmas vacation. Books can be kept for vacation use only by special arrangement with the Librarian. The Library will be closed vacation.
