THE COLBY BAUBLE.

This is the new name of the Colby Dramatic Club. A new organization has been formed and, at the end of the season, each member will be presented with a gold pin in the design of a bauble. Interest in dramatics is even greater than it was last year, and keen competition will make it difficult to choose the parts. Everything points toward a successful season.

The play decided upon is "Too Much Johnson," by William Gillette, a very fine humorous comedy in three acts. It is of professional standing and has had a long run in the New York theatres. Numerous trips are being planned by the club, for the season.

THE CAST:

Augustus Billings, A New York business man.

Mrs. Augustus Billings, his wife.

Mrs. Upton Batterson, her mother.

Joseph Johnson, a Cuban sugar planter.

Mr. Francis Faddish, a Canadian who wishes to marry his daughter to Johnson.

Leonora Faddish, his daughter.

Henry Mackintosh, in love with Leonora.

Monsieur Dathis, seeking revenge.

The Purser.

The Steward's boy.

Frederick, Johnson's butler.

Sellery Looton, Justice of the Peace.

Messenger.

SYNOPSIS.

Act 1. Cabin of steamer. "Tropic Queen," leaving New York for Havana, Cuba.

Act 2. Room in Johnson's house, Santiago, Cuba.

Act 3. Next morning, the same place.

EDWARD J. DALY.

Last spring, when President Roberts announced the appointment, as coach, of Edward J. Daly, captain of Dartmouth's 1911 football team, and for two successive years the undisputed selection for an All-American end, the news was received with great satisfaction by the whole student body.

The confidence placed in coach Daly at the beginning of the football season has not been weakened, for every Colby man believes that, through his efforts and energy, the college has been represented by one of the strongest teams that has ever played on Alumni field.

To the football candidates, who had assembled to follow his directions, coach Daly brought more than a mere system of plays; he brought his own individuality. Truly, the football team of 1912 bore the imprint of the stamp of his character.

Captain Soule's team was not a mere automaton; it represented a machine of brains and versatility.

The student body is anxiously looking forward to next year's football season, with all its prospects and its great possibilities. And with the coming of the season of 1913, it will be the sincere wish of all to see coach Daly again assume the position of head coach at Colby.

ON THE BOARD TRACK.

The indoor meet of the Boston Athletic Association held in Boston, February 8th, is not very far away, and Colby is making every effort to send another winning team to bring back honors in the relay race. Over twenty-five men are now reporting daily and, under the coaching of Trainer Adams, are developing into fast runners. At present the prospects are that the team will be one that its opponents will find much difficulty in defeating.

STUDENT COUNCIL.

The regular meeting of the Student Council was held in Chemical Hall, last Thursday afternoon. Plans were discussed for the Student Assembly which was postponed until Monday evening, January 13th. It was proposed that the faculty be petitioned to consider the work done by the editors-in-chief of the ECHO and the Oracle, on their respective publications, as equivalent to a one year's course in the English department. The Council discussed the question, but it was agreed to postpone further action until after the final examinations.

LECTURES.

As an addition to the course in Education, which will be given next semester, President Roberts has engaged State Superintendent of Schools Payson Smith, to give a series of six lectures, dealing with public school problems. These lectures will come on successive Mondays, and should prove a valuable addition to the course. The subjects and dates are as follows:

Monday, April 7. "The School and the Community."

Monday, April 14. "Contemporary Problems of the Elementary School."

Monday, April 21. "Contemporary Problems of the Secondary School."

Monday, April 28. "The Superintendent and the Teacher."

May 5. "The Superintendent and the Teacher." (Second lecture.)

May 12. "The Maine School System."

STUDENT ASSEMBLY.

The first of a series of student assemblies was held at the gymnasium, Monday evening. Practically every member of the men's division was present and all did full justice to the light refreshments provided for the occasion. Short speeches were made by Captain Fraser of the football team, Captain Reed of the baseball team, Captain Bowen of the track team, Graduate Manager Irvin, "Smut" Washburn, "Jack" Struthers, "Doc" Marriner, and "Husky" Warren. Several pleasing selections were rendered by members of the Mandolin Club, the cheers were long and lusty, and Colby spirit ran high. All agree that the affair was highly successful.

James, '15; secretary, Arthur D. Gillingham, '14; treasurer, Merle F. Hunt, '15; executive committee: Frank T. Gillingham, '14, Earle M. Woodward, '15, and Hugh G. McKay, '16.

SENIOR CLASS.

At a meeting of the senior class, after chapel, Tuesday morning, the following officers for Senior Class Day were appointed:

Historian, Irvin L. Cleveland; Prophet, Ivan O. Harlow; Orator, Donald W. Ellis; Parting Address, Frederick G. Davis; Chaplain, Andrew Young; Marshal, George L. Beach; Ode Committee: Melvin P. Roberts, Elmer H. Hersey, Royden K. Greeley.

It was voted that a banquet be held shortly after the final examinations, and a committee was appointed to make the arrangements, consisting of: Charles J. Keppel, P. W. Hussey, and Frederick Joy.

The Senior Hop committee was nominated as follows: William B. Carroll, Frederick A. Hunt, Royden K. Greeley, Clair F. Benson, John P. Kennedy, and Charles J. Keppel.

LIBRARY.

Recently there have been added to the library three bound volumes of THE COLBY ECHO for the years 1908-1909, 1910-1911, and 1911-1912. Dr. F. E. Wolfe's "Admission to American Trade Unions," and "School Organization and the Individual Child" by William H. Holmes, '97, have also been received.

It was with regret that the resignation of Captain Frank Nardini was accepted by the Athletic Council. The college as a whole no less feels its loss, for, in him, it loses a loyal student, a strong leader, and a brilliant athlete.

"The Christmas Gift" letter was a great success. Colby ought to be proud of her graduates by the spirit they have shown. From the oldest even to the youngest graduate the response was generous. Surely, this is a strong manifestation of the confidence and esteem in which President Roberts is held by them, and of their willingness to countenance all that he does, as being for the best welfare of the college.

The announcement on another page of this issue of the lectures to be given by State Superintendent of Schools, Payson Smith, under the direction of the History of Education course, will be of great interest to undergraduates who plan to teach. The lecturer is a man of wide experience and deep knowledge, and his lectures should not fail to be of immense value—full of instruction and authority.

Never before in the history of the college have there been so many candidates for the relay team. This is a good sign, for several reasons: first, as showing that track athletics is coming into rightful prominence at Colby College; furthermore, certain preliminaries of the spring work are being already so far advanced and the keen competition shown gives a hopeful outlook to Colby's chances for the championship; and, lastly, the work and the methods of coach Adams are being justified.

It is pleasing to note that the greater part of the student body attended the "assembly" in the gymnasium the other night. However, we wonder if we did not hear, upon the campus, Tuesday, something which sounded like this: "What kind of a time did they have over at the gymnasium, last night?" There were many who were not there. Why not? It ought to take a mighty good reason to keep a true Colby man away from a student body assembly. Colby spirit is a great thing to think about, an excellent thing to talk about, but we wonder if it isn't an exceedingly hard thing to show.

Perhaps this may seem to be too harsh a question to raise after so good a turnout as was that of Monday night. Let us think a minute. We have heard some pretty plain talk at mass meetings, lately. There is altogether too much dormant spirit here in college. We have heard several reasons for this. There are others. Is it not the duty of every man to correct as many of these unfortunate features as possible?

Besides filling the Free Baptist pulpit, Sundays, Professor Brown is giving a series of talks on the Bible before the Baptist day and Monday.

 CHRISTMAS GIFT.

Before Christmas, President Roberts sent out a letter to all the graduates of the college, suggesting that they make a Christmas present to their alma mater. The suggestion was very kindly received, and the response was so generous as to exceed all expectations. There were two hundred and forty-six contributors and their gifts amounted to four thousand and forty-five dollars. This sum does not include the contributions that many generous friends have made to the college throughout the past year.

In addition to these money gifts, the college received, on Christmas morning, from two generous Waterville friends, the deed of a piece of land adjoining the Foss Hall property, which is estimated to be worth two thousand dollars.

 LECTURE.

A large and appreciative audience completely filled the Chemical lecture-room, Tuesday evening, when Professor Hedman gave the first of the course of lectures arranged by Librarian Chipman.

In a pleasing manner, Professor Hedman told of his journey through the "Land of the Midnight Sun;" while the radiopticon reflected upon the screen highly interesting and instructive views of the various points of interest in this northland country.

Scenes of various parts of Norway and Sweden were presented and glimpses of Denmark and Germany aided in rounding out the evening's pleasure.

 THEY SAY

That Colby will have a fast relay team.
