COACH COHN INSTITUTES NOVEL COURSE.

A new course in physical training has been instituted by Harvey Cohn for the benefit of those seniors who intend to become high school instructors after graduation. There will be two hours each week devoted to lectures on the qualifications necessary for a good athletic director, and, at the end of the year, a thorough examination will be given. The members of the class will be ranked on this, so that their marks may form a basis for recommendations.

Each year, many Colby graduates accept positions as instructors where they are also required to take charge of athletics, while not all of them have had sufficient training to do such work with credit to themselves or to their college. This course aims to give any such men a chance to study the theory of coaching in the different track events; and, since it is taught by one who knows his subject and who has had much practical experience, it is bound to be a success. About 20 men were present at the first meeting of the class on Monday afternoon.

MILLER APPOINTED TO ANNAPOLIS.

Paul Miller, '19, of Lisbon Falls, has been appointed to the United States Naval Academy, by Congressman Daniel J. McGillicuddy of the second district. Miller has already met the mental requirements and a preliminary physical examination and will go to Annapolis in June to take the final physical tests, which he will doubtless pass.

The enlistment is for eight years, four of which are to be spent in training at the Academy and four in active service after graduation. New men are required to buy their first outfit, but receive $600 for each of the four years in the school. Upon graduation, they receive the rank of ensign, with a salary of $1700 per year.

Miller is a quiet, unassuming man, full of business, and stands high in all his courses. Last fall he played a fast game at end on the football squad, and looked good for 'varsity material, next year. He is a member of the Commons Club.

DELTA UPSILON WINS CARD TOURNAMENT.

The tie between the D. U.'s and Zetas in the card tournament was played off just before vacation, and resulted in a victory for the D. U.'s, 2-1. The card table becomes the permanent possession of that fraternity. Following is the order in which the six teams finished: Delta Upsilon, Zeta Psi, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Kappa Epsilon, and Commons Club.

BOSTON ALUMNI HELD ANNUAL BANQUET.

The 35th annual reunion and banquet of the Boston Colby Alumni Association was held on Saturday night, March 25, at the Boston City Club. Great enthusiasm made the occasion one of special interest and pleasure. Rev. Woodman Bradbury, '87, acted as toastmaster, and with much grace introduced the following speakers to the hundred or more Colby graduates present:—President A. J. Roberts, '90, William Morse Cole, '88, Rev. Dr. Francis W. Bakeman, '66, Mayor Wilford G. Chapman, '83, J. Colby Bassett, Angier L. Goodwin, and Arthur F. Bickford, '16.

A campaign to add $500,000 to the endowment fund of the college was announced and received great favor with all the alumni. President Roberts spoke in a stirring manner of the imperative needs of Colby, today, and outlined a few suggestions for their fulfillment.

The college quartette for the 1915-1916 season contributed several selections at intervals during the evening's program. This organization consists of Webb, '17, Adams, '18, Scribner, '17, and Choate, '19.

The following officers for the association were elected: Charles H. Pepper, '89, president; W. N. Donovan, '92, and Lincoln Owen, '89, vice-presidents; Bertram C. Richardson, '98, secretary and treasurer; Henry Dunning, '82, E. L. Getchell, '96, and Ernest H. Maling, '99, new members of the executive committee.

SPORTING TIPS.

The wrestling team has been making good headway under the direction of Coach Gagne, four men showing up exceptionally well. No matches will be held this season, but for next year dates have been arranged with Harvard and with Phillips-Andover Academy. University of Maine is also becoming interested in wrestling and no doubt will have an organized team next year.

With three coaches from the big leagues in as many colleges and the old reliable Purington still at Bates, there bids fair to be one great fight for the Maine baseball championship, this spring.

Coach Cohn is planning an interclass track meet to be held as soon as the track and field are in good condition.

Our industrious freshmen have removed the board track and bleachers, leaving the field clear for baseball practice.

COLBY THESPIANS MAKE HIT IN OXFORD COUNTY.

The Dramatic Club, presenting the political drama, "The District Attorney," successfully completed a tour of Oxford county during the early part of the vacation.

The cast left Waterville at 12.43, Monday, for Oxford, via Danville Junction and the Grand Trunk. The play was presented, that night, at Oxford to a house so packed that not all could be seated. During their stay in town the members of the club were very kindly entertained free of charge by several of the townspeople, who were very enthusiastic over the play and plainly showed that Colby has their loyal support. An orchestra composed of Davis, '17, Sussman, '18, and Ashworth, '19, accompanied the club and furnished music for the dance which followed.

The play was next presented at Norway. The performance here was even more successful than at Oxford, although the audience was not so large in proportion. A dance followed this performance. While in Norway the club stayed at the local hotel.

After dinner, Tuesday, the cast was carried overland by sleigh nine miles to Bolster's Mills, where the last performance took place. This event far excelled both the others. The audience was large and very appreciative and was not slow to show its approval. The dance lasted until midnight, when the boys returned to the hotel at Norway. The next morning the club disbanded.

The trip was in every way a success. The members of the club were much impressed with Oxford county hospitality; and the people, to judge from the local papers, sincerely enjoyed the club's performance.

The local presentation will be, Friday night, at the Opera House. The play, this year, is unusually snappy, and the parts are all well taken. H. Price Weber coached the production in his usual efficient style. The costumes are especially elaborate, and the female characters, five in number, would pass for the genuine article anywhere. A decidedly unique final curtain call has been introduced and should prove very effective.

The cast is as follows:

Mr. William Seabury, president of Seabury Packing Co. . . . . Crawford A. Treat, '16.
Aunt Hattie, Mr. Seabury's sister, . . . . .
Howard G. Boardman, '18
Richard Seabury, senior in college. . . . .
Robert A. Matthews, '18.
Bob Kendrick, a ne'er-do-well. . . Merle A. Wood, '18.
P. Homer Sullivan, politician, Thomas F. Joyce, '17.
Billy Reynolds, freshman at college. . . . .
George F. Hendricks, '19.
John J. Crosby, district attorney running for re-election. . . . . Robert H. Gallier, '18.
Herbert Brownell, a reporter. . . Isaac D. Love, '19.
Dorothy Seabury, Mr. Seabury's daughter, . . . . .
Fred A. Pottle, '17.

Beverly Calvert, Dorothy's chum. . . . .
Alfred H. Patterson, '18.
Peggy Marshall, Dorothy's chum, . . . . .
Elmer W. Campbell, '17.
Polly Whitney, Dorothy's chum. . . . .
Raymond H. Parker, '18.
Howard Calvert, Beverly's brother. . . . .
Foster Eaton, '17.
Sam, the butler. . . . . E. Bliss Marriner, '18.
Jimmie, office boy. . . . . Carleton M. Bailey, '18.

THIRTY MEN OUT FOR BASEBALL.

Baseball practice has begun in earnest, and every afternoon sees Alumni Field swarming with early aspirants for positions on the team. About thirty men have already reported since Coach Fred Lake arrived, Monday morning.

The diamond has been rolled and put into first class condition. Prior to the recent snow storm the whole field was as dry and hard as could be wished.

The first contest of the season will be an exhibition game with University of Maine on Wednesday, April 19.

COL. PARKHURST ADDRESSES COLBY REPUBLICAN CLUB.

Last Friday evening, in the chapel, the second of the candidates for nomination for governor of the state of Maine addressed the members of the Colby Republican club. President Cyril Joly, '16, presented Arthur F. Bickford, '16, who introduced Colonel Frederick H. Parkhurst of Bangor, as the "next governor of the state." Colonel Parkhurst, who is being hailed by the good folk of the North Country, and in fact throughout the whole of Eastern Maine as the "man from home," gave an excellent speech from a political point of view, and one which was enthusiastically received by his hearers. Colonel Parkhurst divided his address into two parts, discussing first national questions, then state problems. He traced the history of the Republican party through the years since its inception, declaring that in the sixties it stood for union, in '98 it stood for national honesty as against the silver heresy, and today, it is standing for national honor. "American citizenship, today," said the Colonel, "spells but little in the matter of the protection of American lives; rather, it spells insult to our people wherever they are found."

The Hon. Mr. Parkhurst went on to say that he believed a little constitutional history would not be amiss and placed the two leading parties of this country, today, one on each side of a great line of cleavage, the constitutionality of the act of levying tax for the protection of the infant industries of the country,—in other words a protective tariff. He spoke of the ideas of the early strict and broad constructionists, who were on opposite sides of the fence, as are the republicans and the democrats of today. Then the colonel cleverly pointed out the inconsistency of the southern democrats, who, while pretending to live up to the principles of their party, took exceeding great care that the products of the South received ample protection, while those of the Northern manufacturers received none.

Perhaps the most important point of the entire address of Colonel Parkhurst, and one that was fully appreciated by the audience, was the fact that the workingmen of today must be brought to realize that the full dinner pail of today is the result of the war and not, as the democratic stumpers are declaring over the length and breadth of the union, an evidence of the efficiency of the democratic administration.

Colonel Parkhurst concluded his address with a discussion of some of the phases of the state situation, and declared that he was perfectly willing to devote himself to the interests of the party. If the republicans of Maine vote to their full strength, they will make good the old slogan: "As goes Maine, so goes the nation." The speaker received rousing cheers at the opening and the conclusion of his address, and his remarks were frequently interrupted by applause.

DEBATERS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS ACTIVELY ENGAGED.

DUAL DEBATE WITH U. OF M.

On April 20, the annual dual debate between Colby and the University of Maine will take place. The question to be argued is one of more than usual interest, for it concerns the Monroe Doctrine, one of the chief policies of the United States. The proposition, as stated, reads as follows: "Resolved: That the Monroe Doctrine Should Be Abandoned." It is a question that concerns every live American, and many good, reasonable arguments can be presented on both sides.

This year, the six debaters chose whichever side they believed in, and were not forced to debate on either the affirmative or the negative just because it fell to their lot to do so. The affirmative team, composed of Norman W. Lindsay, '16, Fred A. Pottle, '17, and Carroll B. Flanders, '17, will debate the negative team of the University of Maine in the Colby chapel; and the negative team, A. Raymond Rogers, '17, Herbert L. Newman, '18, and Norman D. Lattin, '18, will debate at the University of Maine.

At present, daily rehearsals for the final event are being held; and the debaters are fast rounding into shape. It is hoped that Colby will again win both debates.

MURRAY PRIZE DEBATE.

The Murray prize debate is to be held, May 5. The following question will be debated: "Resolved: That Power Should Be Granted to the Governor of the State of Maine to Remove Sheriffs for Just Cause." This is a question that has been raging in Maine politics for some years past. F. A. Pottle, '17, H. L. Newman, '18, and J. G. Perry, '18, will uphold the affirmative; L. E. Young, '17, N. D. Lattin, '18, and R. H. Parker, '18, will take the negative.

In this debate the winning side receives $75 which will be divided equally among the three debaters; the losing team gets $25.

HALLOWELL PRIZE SPEAKING.

Last Saturday afternoon, trials to pick the speakers for the annual Hallowell prize speaking contest were held in the English room of Chemical Hall. Thirty men, members of the course in public speaking 6, tried out. The judges were Professors H. C. Libby, H. W. Brown, and A. D. McKillop. Twelve men were chosen to participate in the final contest which will take place, May 15. The men chosen were: E. S. Adams, '18, R. M. Hayes, '18, M. B. Ingraham, '17, N. D. Lattin, '18, H. L. Newman, '18, J. G. Perry, '18, F. A. Pottle, '17, R. H. Parker, '18, O. H. Rankin, '17, D. J. Sullivan, '18, W. B. West, Sp., L. E. Young, '17.

PRESS OF THE CITY JOB PRINT

Owing to the illness of the editor-in-chief, this issue of THE ECHO was edited by the Associate Editors, E. Donald Record, '17, and Fred A. Pottle, '17.

THE ECHO will not be published next week, as Wednesday, April 19, is a holiday.

COLBY DRAMATIC CLUB AT OPERA HOUSE,
FRIDAY EVENING.

To the Editor of the Echo:

It is time that the attention of the students, or rather, a thoughtless few of them, should be called to the fact that when a guest is invited to speak at the college he should be treated with the courtesy that he deserves. The acts of one of the members of the rival political party at the address in the Chapel, Friday evening, could not have left in the speaker's mind a very high regard for the decency of Colby men.
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Politics are receiving more than passing interest at the college, this year, as a result of the series of addresses by the various candidates for nomination as governor. These speeches not only give us excellent opportunity to get acquainted with these prominent politicians, but also to weigh the great questions of the day.

"Now is the time," the Walrus said, "to speak of many things,

Of bees and ships, and sealing wax, and cabbages and kings,

And why the sea is boiling hot, and whether pigs have wings!" —Alice in Wonderland.

Yes, the time for "other things" has come. Though a belated snow flurry may again cover the campus with a semblance of winter, still spring is here. To be convinced of this we need but listen to the cheery call of the robin or to watch how greedily that snow flurry will be devoured by the sun. Spring! What associations the word invokes! Green grass, budding trees and opening flowers,—ball games, straw hats, and white flannels—the Messalonskée rippling under the canoe paddle, tennis, long walks in the moonlight—ah-h—spring!

MORE MEN NEEDED FOR THE TRACK TEAM.

To The Echo:

Prospects are not very good for a winning track team, this year, as almost everyone realizes. However, there is no need of Colby finishing last or a poor third, if enough men will come out and help.

There are many men here in this college, who would make good track material, and they should be out a few minutes every day. A little conscientious work, and perhaps a championship will be developed and earned for Colby. The presence of these men on the track will at least give competition to the 'varsity.

Everyone who is not out for baseball should be out for track, regardless of whether he has ever done anything in this branch of athletics or not.

Let us have fifty men in a suit or B. V. D.'s out tomorrow, at four o'clock, that Harvey may make champions of them.

IRVING W. MERRILL.

Gymnasium work and military drill for the freshman and sophomore classes has been going on for some time, and was brought to a close, Friday, with a grand review on Alumni Field.

CAMPUS CHAT.

With the acquisition of their canes, the seniors have assumed a surprising degree of dignity.

A Leap-year Tragedy, Not an "Ad."

With all due respect to the Colbiana, we wish to enlighten the public upon an item which appeared in the spring issue of that paper. We have it on good authority that, instead of the member of the men's division advertising for a wife (as stated by the Colbiana), the young lady in the case, taking advantage of her leap-year privilege, proposed to him; and that the only way in which he could escape from the embarrassing situation was to say, "My wife must be a modern Venus."

Some of the grand officers of the Zeta Psi Fraternity were at their chapter house, Saturday. They were: President Howard D. Briggs, Newark, N. J.; Vice-president Anthony W. Robinson, Philadelphia; and Howard Butcher, Colby, '89, one of the trustees.

Webster Trefethen, ex-'15, has returned to college. He will continue his work as in the sophomore class.

"Fergie" Murch, '15, has been visiting for the past week at the Deke House.

"Bill" Nagle has been a visitor at the Deke House for a few days.

Webb, '17, Choate, '19, Adams, '18, and Scribner, '17, spent a portion of the holidays in Boston and vicinity.

Sully, '16, visited friends in Calais during the holidays.

O'Brien, '16, and Speares, '19, visited in Bangor for a few days of the recess.

Many Colby men plan to hear the lecture by Ex-president William H. Taft, at Skowhegan, Friday night.

The local prize speaking contest of the International Prohibition Association is announced for April 29.

E. Stanley Kelson, '14, principal of Calais High School, made a flying visit to the college, Saturday.

Theodore Fieldbrave, '16, supplied at the First Baptist Church at Livermore Falls, Sunday. He delivered his illustrated lecture on "India," in the evening.

Harold Breakwood, '18, has returned to college.

The latest on senior canes: A citizen of Waterville seeing a senior flourishing his new cane innocently inquired of another student, "What is it, Upsilon Beta initiation?"

Waldo C. Lincoln, '16, is Democratic candidate from his district for the nomination for representative to the state legislature.

At a meeting of the senior hop committee at the Phi Delt House, Saturday afternoon, it was decided to hold the hop on the evening of Monday, June 26.

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday evening was well attended. Paul Alden, '18, was the leader.

A new method for choosing the senior commencement speakers has been instituted by the faculty. President A. J. Roberts, and Professors C. H. White, H. C. Libby, and F. E. Wolfe will act as a committee to choose the speakers, taking into consideration the students' scholastic standing, their ability as speakers, and various other qualifications. Those chosen will then be asked to write and prepare an article for delivery at the commencement exercises.

Herbert M. Rockwell, '16, George R. Skillin, '18, Paul A. Thompson, '18, and Harold A. Osgood, '19, attended the 12th annual conference of eastern college men on the Christian ministry at Harvard University, March 24, 25, 26.

Dr. J. H. Harris, University of North Carolina, ex-'12, Jefferson Medical College, '13, visited at the Phi Delt House, Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Albert M. Guptil, '15, left New York City, April 3, for Shanghai, China, where he will take up his duties as a representative of the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Guptil was one of sixteen chosen from a group of four hundred men who attended the training school.

It has been persistently rumored around the college that Arthur B. Riley, '16, during the spring vacation, took unto himself a wife. The Echo correspondent has sought to run this rumor to ground, but has been unsuccessful. What lends color to the story is the fact that Riley has not up this time returned to college. Again, it is known that Riley told a few intimate friends that he intended to spend the vacation at the home of a lady friend. All things seem to point to the same conclusion, that Dame Rumor is right. Well, "Midge," if you have deserted our ranks, our best wishes go with you for connubial bliss. Our loss is Mrs. Riley's gain. By the way, who is she, "Midge?"

Ex-president William H. Taft will make a short visit at the college, Friday afternoon, as the guest of the Republican Club.

Rev. C. F. Robinson of the Congregational Church led chapel, Tuesday morning.

The results of the indoor track meets have been very satisfactory in bringing out new material. Carey, '19, seems a good man in the low hurdles and in the pole vault. Parker, '18, is steadily improving at pole vaulting and Maddocks, '19, in the distance runs. Newman, '18, needs only practice to make good with the discus, while Hugh Pratt, '17, sprang a surprise by proving himself a high jumper. Another man to show up well is Twichell at throwing the hammer.

We should all be bankrupt if we had to purchase a revenue stamp every time we expressed an idea.

WOMEN'S DIVISION.

Edited by the News Department of the Colbiana.
 1916—Effie May Hannan.
 1917—Marion Ruth Daggett.
 1918—Isabelle Hervey Wing.
 1919—Mary Elizabeth Tourtellott.
 Business Manager—Carolyn Isabel Stevens, '16.

Emily Cunningham, '15, who has been teaching at Yarmouth, has transferred for the spring term to the English department of Deering High School.

Selma Koehler, '17, who has been teaching in the English department at Northfield Seminary for the past eight weeks, has returned to college.

Carolyn Stevens, '16, has been confined in the Hall a few days with a slight attack of the grip.

Winnifred Shaw, ex-'17, visited at Foss Hall, Saturday.

Lois Peacock, '14, principal of Garland High School, spent Friday night at Foss Hall.

Ida Brown, '16, who has been obliged to remain at home a few days, has returned to college.

Miss Chaffee, representative of the International Institute, has secured several volunteers from the freshman class to aid in the work of making this organization more generally known in Maine. They will take up the work during the summer vacation.

During the spring term, it has always been a custom here that the seniors should have tables by themselves. This year's class has to be no exception, and they are thoroughly enjoying their privilege.

At the Y. W. C. A. meeting, Tuesday night, Flora Norton read a selection entitled "The Way."

Helen Hanson, '15, who is teaching at Eastport, called on friends at Foss Hall, Saturday.

Spring has come. Foss Hall is assured of this because the Phi Deltas are in full force on their piazza.

Fossie Seekins, '16, has been detained at home for a few days on account of illness in the family.

Mrs. Cooper spoke at the French Mission Church, Sunday night. She took with her a large number of the girls to sing. Marjorie Barker, '16, and Mildred Greene, '17, both sang solos.

Mira Dolley, '19, returned to college, Tuesday, from her home in Deering, where she has been detained on account of a slight attack of appendicitis.

Miss Clare Linscott, Nassau Institute, '17, is the guest of Alta Davis, '18.

On Thursday evening, April 27th, the Girls' Glee Club will present the Spanish operetta, "The Lost Necklace," at the Opera House. An American girl visits the vineyards of the Spanish grape gatherers. There, at the noon rest hour, she meets the Gypsies, who dance and sing for her. She discovers suddenly that her necklace has disappeared, and accuses the Gypsies of stealing it. A dramatic situation is here involved, terminating in the recovery of the necklace, which has been caught on the bushes. The American girl remains with the grape gatherers as they work, until evening. Then, by the light of the Gypsy camp fire, she bids them farewell.

The cast:

Margaret, American girl.....Margery Barker.
 Lloa, grape gatherer.....Mildred Green.
 Inez, grape gatherer.....Yvette Clair.
 Dolores, grape gatherer.....Marian Griffin.
 Esmeralda, Gypsy.....Marian Daggett.
 Zerlina, Gypsy.....Hazel Durgin.

There will be solo dances by Antoinette Ware and Margery Barker, and other dances in character with the operetta. The mandolin club will play between acts.
