BASEBALL PROSPECTS BRING JOY TO COLBY SUPPORTERS.

Not in years have preseason baseball prospects been as bright as they are this year. With three high class batteries, a veteran infield, one veteran outfielder, and a host of new material waiting the call for outdoor practice, Colby supporters are backing the Blue and Gray to make a great bid for the top of the heap.

Among the veterans are Ashworth and Knox as backstops; Matthews and Gately, pitchers; Smith, Heyes, Cawley, and Driscoll, infielders; and Deasy, outfielder. This large squad of veterans strengthened by catchers, Huber and "Bob" Wyman; infielders, Nourse and Greelaw; and outfielders, Lawrence, Tyler, and "Sid" Wyman from the last season's well-known "Yannigan" team, ought to furnish a nucleus about which a formidable aggregation of ball tossers should be built.

Of the new material that has been noteworthy, thus far, appear many stars of prep-school fame. Some of these who will make a strong bid for the team are: Catchers, Claffie, Bucknam, Rouse, and Cross; pitchers, Fagan, Baxter, White, Holbrook, and Fahey; besides Lord, Sturtevant, Fraas, and Wentworth, who have all played various positions in both infield and outfield.

Colby will be exceptionally strong in battery men this year, for Ashworth, Knox, and Huber are well above the average found in colleges, while on the hurling end one will not find more able pitchers than Fagan, Gately, and Matthews.

Already, Captain Smith has his battery men and a large number of other candidates working out every day in preparation for outdoor work. Basketball and a general limbering up is getting the men into A 1 condition. With the return, after vacation, of Fred Lake, who has been retained as coach, the real season's training and the fight for positions will begin.

The schedule this year is one of the strongest in the history of the college. Games with Harvard, Tufts, Penn State, Holy Cross, and other big colleges will surely test the mettle of the Colby ball tossers. In addition to the regular schedule of nineteen games, a spring trip to Virginia, which would include games with some of the other large colleges in the East, is a possibility.

Y. M. C. A. ELECTS OFFICERS.

At the Y. M. C. A. meeting last night, the following officers were elected: President, H. L. Newman, '18; vice-president, Roy M. Hayes, '18; secretary, E. Reginald Craig, '18; treasurer, J. Gleason Perry, '18. The committees are: Meetings, John Pottle, '18, Craig, '18, C. C. Smith, '20; social service, West, '18, Creelman, '19, Minister, '20; memberships, Tracey, '18, McCormack, '19, Smith, '19; Bible and mission study, Alden, '18, Skillin, '18, Choate, '19; deputation, R. M. Hayes, '18, Mitchell, '20, Dunbar, '19; Northfield and social, C. M. Bailey, '19, Francis Dow, '19, Tyler, '19; handbook, H. L. Robinson, '18, LaFleur, '20.

OVER TWENTY MEN REPORT FOR TRACK.

Coach "Art" Smith's recent call for track candidates brought out over twenty men of well known ability. Under his direction, the men are getting into physical trim for the coming season. Various forms of conditioning exercises, supplemented by basketball, make up the present training, and the real gruelling work will not commence until after vacation.

While no one is predicting a track championship from the material available, it is expected that the Colby men will make things interesting in several events, and bring home a goodly array of points. There is a nucleus of veteran material about which a well-balanced team can be built. Although I. Merrill, Mayers, Stanwood, and O'Brien were lost to us by graduation, and Coolidge, R. Merrill, Howes, Wood, and Waldron have left college, it is expected that the present freshman class will more than fill these vacancies.

It is of course too early to pick all the promising candidates, but an idea of the probable make-up of the team may be gained from the following lineup:

Quarter mile—P. Thompson, '18, Weisman, '19.

Half mile—P. Thompson, '18.

Mile and two mile—M. Thompson, '17, Colby, '20, Everts, '20, Tooker, '19, Allen, '20.

Hurdles—Carey, '19, Wentworth, '20.

Dashes—Phillips, '20, Ferrell, '18, Tilton, '20.

Broad jump—Phillips, '20, Carey, '19.

High jump—Dunnack, '19.

Pole vault—Parker, '18, Carey, '19.

Discus—Joyce, '17, Twitchell, '19.

Hammer—W. Gallier, '19, Joyce, '17, Twitchell, '19, Buse, '20, Bucknam, '20.

Shot put—W. Gallier, '19, Joyce, '17, Murphy, '20, Bucknam, '20.

REPORT OF PRESIDENT, Y. M. C. A.

In the year just ended, the Y. M. C. A. has done some things well, has "gone through the motions" in other cases, and has utterly failed even to touch yet other duties.

I. A splendid program of speakers has been put on, including President Roberts, Professor Brown, Professor Franklin, Dr. G. O. Smith, Head of the U. S. Geological Survey, Superintendent Berry of the Christian Civic League of Maine, Secretaries of the Y. M. C. A., prominent students, etc. Three union meetings with the Y. W. C. A. were very successful. A vesper service called out nearly 450. The ordinary gatherings, without the special attractions of the above, have probably averaged 30. Subjects of vital interest have been ably presented.

II. The deputation work has been a source of much satisfaction to all who have got into it. Deputations of one to four have been sent to Kent's Hill, M. C. I., Coburn, Oak Grove, and nearby towns. Besides, vacant pulpits have been filled whenever the call has come. Excellent reports have echoed back of the good work done.

III. Starting from nothing, the Social Service Committee has worked up, with the help of Mr. Rindge, National Industrial Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., three classes of foreigners who are being taught English. A complete account of this work may be found in another column.

IV. Over $325 was raised last June, largely by the aid of Professor Johnson, to send seventeen delegates to the Northfield Student Conference. The delegation occupied quite a "place in the sun," and the big Colby banner looms up in the center of the Conference picture. Seven assistant leaders gave good service at the Bath School-boys' Conference.

V. The two divisions of the college gave $675.75 to the Friendship Fund for work in the prison camps of Europe. Little as this is, in the face of the appalling need, it represents a considerable personal sacrifice on the part of many students, and a concrete expression of practical sympathy to our brothers across the sea.

VI. The management of the Echo has cooperated in presenting the news of the Association's activities, for which the heartiest thanks are given. In the direction of publicity, a great advance has been made.

VII. Last summer, an attempt was made to get a letter from some member of the Y. M. C. A. to every man of 1920. The incoming trains were met in the fall, and some educational snarls were straightened out at the Information Bureau. The Freshman Reception afforded a chance for a "College-Get-together," and initiated the new men into Colby life.

VIII. The Freshman Discussion Groups, which were so successful last year, were run again this winter. While their success was not as great, yet some very interesting and profitable hours were spent in thoughtful consideration of college problems, personal troubles, and difficulties in the deeps of life. The benefit cannot well be measured, but benefit certainly came to the leaders as well as to the members of the groups.

This is the record, unembellished. That it is no better, is the fault of all. Few facilities have been obtainable; the backing of the faculty, with some conspicuous exceptions, has been infinitesimal; the sole contribution of many students has been an "off-side kick;" drones have been all too plentiful; and we of the Cabinet have brought little more than good intentions to our tasks.

That the record is so good is due to the tireless support of those whose hearts, hands, and tongues have been in the work, faculty-members and students, alike, who have wrought out in their service their belief in the Y. M. C. A. and its work.

CECIL A. ROLLINS.

ANNUAL ZETA BALL IS GALA OCCASION.

The annual Zeta Psi Ball was held last Friday evening in the New Elks' Hall and proved itself the gala event of the college year. The formal attire of the gentlemen, the beautiful gowns of the ladies, and the walls decorated with banners and palms formed a pleasing spectacle. The members of the active chapter of Zeta Psi wore the fraternity colors across their shirt fronts. Many friends from neighboring towns were present.

The reception began at eight-thirty and continued until nine o'clock, when Raymond Rogers, '17, and Miss Mollie Tourtellotte, '19, led the grand march. Dancing continued until two o'clock, except the period of intermission, during which refreshments were served by the members of the active chapter.

In the receiving line were: Francis Heath, '17, Miss Bertha Terry, Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Thayer, Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Hardy, and Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Black. The patrons and patronesses were: Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Heath, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Barrows, and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ervin. The committee in charge were: Edward D. Cawley, '17, Francis E. Heath, '17, A. Raymond Rogers, '17, Donald B. Flood, '17, I. Marsh Derby, '18, and Arthur S. Heath, '19.

CLASS OF FRENCHMEN,
Taught English by Y. M. C. A. Social Service Committee.

Y. M. C. A. MEN TEACH ENGLISH TO "COMING AMERICANS."

In a stuffy, unfinished room over a French laundry, on the "Plains," a dozen or so foreigners, dressed in their Sunday best, may be seen, once a week, listening to a representative of the Colby Y. M. C. A. as he pronounces to them a list of twenty or so words; such as, awake, open, look, etc. When these men have said the words after the leader, the latter proceeds to show the meaning of them. First, he yawns slightly and stirs in his chair, saying, "I awake from sleep." The class, for such it is, repeats this sentence and the teacher continues, "I open my eyes," "I look at my watch," and so on, suiting his actions to his words. After the class has grasped the meaning of the sentences, a chart containing the printed words is shown and from this the men learn to read. After the lesson in English, a little civil government is usually introduced.

In this way, the first of the college classes in "English for Coming Americans" was started, January 19th, by William B. West, '19, the chairman of the Social Service Committee of the Colby Y. M. C. A., assisted by Ernest L. MacCormack, '19. After the class was organized, Ira E. Creelman, '19, became the teacher, and successfully carried on the lessons twice a week for eight weeks. About fourteen men attended each of the classes, the number sometimes running up to nineteen.

Since this first class for Frenchmen, two others for Syrians have been organized. One, under the auspices of the Syrian Club, is being taught by Arthur J. Minister, '19, and Arthur F. Scott, '20. The other is an independent group, and is under the leadership of Ernest L. MacCormack, '19, and Henry L. Bell, '20. These two classes were formed by Fred H. Rindge, Jr., of the International Committee of Y. M. C. A., on his recent visit to Colby.

The social service idea is a comparatively recent one at Colby, and is working out in a manner highly satisfactory to both students and foreigners. One of the men who had been attending the English classes met the instructor on the street and said, "I use speak no Eenglish. I go class ten time. Now I speak leetle and read leetle and write leetle. Bimeby I get good job." As for the students engaged in the work, one and all say that it gives them a clearer idea of the brotherhood of man and the senselessness of artificial distinctions between fellow beings than anything else they have ever experienced. And the end is not yet. Plans have been made to form boys' clubs among the French and Syrian population, and to teach scoutcraft and good citizenship. Several other ideas for service are already being developed. The Y. M. C. A., and particularly its Social Service Committee, are hard at work and, judging by what has already been accomplished, its efforts will bring about better days for some of the foreign population of Waterville,—and be of value to the association itself.

CHAPEL TALKS.

The short chapel talks which President Roberts is giving are responsible in no small degree for the interest and excellent spirit manifested by the students in the morning services. His thoughtful, sincere, practical interpretations of Bible passages hold the attention of the men as no other speaker or subject is able to do. These talks are making the chapel service a very vital part of the college day, not only to a few men, but to practically every man in college. It is believed, moreover, that the talks are valuable in a larger sense. They are getting beneath the surface and are really making the men think not only along the lines of morality and right living, but also upon religion as a vital part of their lives.

MILITARY TRAINING.

The attitude of Colby men at this time, in regard to military training, is comparable to that of the whole country. They will be right there with the punch, if aroused; but there is no concerted sentiment toward preparation. The fact that the strong, virile leaders in student activities are not taking hold of the matter is an indication of a somewhat lethargic spirit. The fact, however, that fifteen or twenty men showed up at the chapel, Monday afternoon, in response to an unsigned notice on the bulletin board, shows that there are some men ready for action. In order to accomplish anything, of course, there must be a more universal sentiment among the students, as a whole, and there must appear real leaders to take the initiative and to push the project through.

If the United States should declare war and should call men for active service, Colby men would quickly respond, as would men in all other walks of life, all over the country,—but we should be untrained. Men in college, with very little sacrifice and with distinct benefit to themselves, are able to obtain the fundamentals of the vitally necessary training. To obtain such, quietly, at this time, without the incentive of banners waving and bands playing, would be a greater act of patriotism and a source of greater benefit to the country than to wait until the actual call shall come. The serious crisis which the Country is facing is making silent demands upon her citizens. Will Colby men wait, or will they act?

WORK OF THE Y. M. C. A.

A strong word of commendation is due the retiring president and officers of the Y. M. C. A. The report of the president in another column of this issue does not do justice to the excellent work done by this organization during the past year. By its broad, comprehensive, practical effort, the Y. M. C. A. has accomplished good work and has assumed a place in college life never before held here. The incentive arising from past successes and the present strength of the organization should insure that the coming year shall well surpass the one just closed. The college welcomes the new officers.

MYSTICS BANQUET AT THE ELMWOOD.

The annual initiation banquet of the Mystics, the sophomore honorary society, was held at the Elmwood on Tuesday evening, March 18. The banquet was preceded by the initiation ceremony, which was performed about the "Mystic Shrine." After the "feed," H. P. M. S., George E. Ferrell, '18, introduced the following speakers, all of whom gave witty and appropriate speeches: Carroll B. Flanders, '17, Foster Eaton, '17, Alfred H. Patterson, '18, and Robert A. Matthews, '18. The officers for the present year were elected, as follows: H. P. M. S., Austin W. Maddox; G. M. A., Charles B. Johnson; G. S. S., Errol C. Chase; G. S. B. Harold A. Osgood, and G. S. P., Aubrey E. Greenlaw.

THE SPIRIT OF IRELAND.

Dear isle of green across the sea of blue,—
 Haunted by memories of the bitter years,
 Heart-worn by centuries of blinding tears,
 And clutching to her breast a spray of rue,
 Wandering forever in her courage true,
 Bearing the load of ever-mounting fears,
 Longing and waiting for the frenzied cheers
 That shall proclaim her majesty anew,—

She dreams in sorrow of her virgin home,
 Forever young beneath her sable pall;
 And sounding over leagues of tossing foam,
 Far-scattered sons of Erin hear her call—
 The moan of Ireland for her long-lost lands,
 And see beneath her veil, her wringing hands.

G. G. W., '17.

SEVERAL NOVEL DANCES INTRODUCED.

On the eve of Thursday, the 8th, at Assembly Hall, the members of the A. T. O. fraternity and their guests enjoyed an excellent program of sixteen dances. The hall was appropriately decorated with the banners of the various fraternities and sororities, and the electric escutcheon of the fraternity placed at one end of the hall furnished light. Several novel dances were introduced during the evening, which met with universal favor among the seventy-five couples present. Dr. and Mrs. J. William Black and Dr. and Mrs. Homer P. Little were the patrons and patronesses of the evening.

During intermission punch was served by members of the freshman delegation of the chapter. Music was furnished by Ashworth, '19, Carey, '19, Hastings, '18, and Gibson, '19. The committee in charge of the affair was composed of Gately, '18, W. Hayes, '18, and Porter, '20.

STUDENTS GO TO THE POORHOUSE.

Twenty-one seniors were admitted to the Waterville Almshouse, last Sunday morning. It is not known whether the recent payment of semester bills had any bearing upon the fact, although their going has been indirectly attributed to that cause. The trip was part of a practical investigation by the class in Sociology 8; but several members of the class still maintain that the H. C. of L. makes them eligible for a prolonged stay,—especially since the inmates of the almshouse have "spuds" for dinner. Many interesting things were learned. One inmate had killed his wife and had tried to shoot himself. He was rated as "foolish," but not dangerous. "Was he foolish when he killed his wife?" someone asked. "Oh no!" was the answer, "He was bright, then."

CAMPUS CHAT

SPRING VACATION—6 P. M. FRIDAY, MARCH 21 TO 8 A. M. TUESDAY, APRIL 3.

The two Irish plays, "Kathleen ni Hoolihan" and "Spreading the News," are progressing finely, under the training of Mrs. Franklin.

The next in the series of entertainments for the Student Endowment Fund will be the Richardson Concert, April 20. Mr. Richardson, '11, tenor soloist, will be assisted by other eminent Boston artists.

Henry L. Bell, '20, has moved from Hedman Hall to 15 Western avenue.

FACULTY.

Dr. Caswell read a paper at a meeting of the Chemical Society, Monday evening. The topic of his article was, "On the Constitution of the Atom."

Professor Franklin gave an instructive lecture in the vestry of the St. Mark's church, Thursday afternoon, on "Sidney Lanier."

Professor Brown lectured in Augusta, Friday night.

Professor Libby preached at the Congregational church in Augusta, Sunday morning.

Another of the series of social gatherings of the members of the faculty and their wives was enjoyed, Saturday evening, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Parmenter. The occasion took the form of a St. Patrick's Day party, the ladies wearing green dresses and the gentlemen green neckties. The favors and decorations were also green. The banquet, for such it really was, was followed by the telling of Irish stories, the singing of Irish songs, and appropriate charades. Faculty cares and dignity were laid aside for the evening, and a royal good time was enjoyed.

Y. M. C. A.

At a meeting of the Student Council, last week, the question of having a permanent graduate secretary of the college Y. M. C. A. was discussed. After thoroughly considering the plan, the council did not endorse it. They believe that no new expenses for the college should be incurred until after the $500,000 endowment fund is raised, especially since the organization of the Y. M. C. A. is already particularly adequate here at Colby.

One of the most enjoyable meetings of the year was held in the Y. M. C. A. room, Tuesday evening. Norman Lattin, '18, played a violin solo and Winthrop Webb, '17, sang a tenor solo. A stirring address was given by William B. West, '18, after which the annual election of officers was held. There was a large attendance.

D. K. E.

Irwin Holt, ex-'11, made a brief visit at the Deke House, Monday afternoon.

The entire Xi chapter attended the joint banquet of Theta and Xi chapters of Delta Kappa Epsilon, held at the Augusta House, last Wednesday night. Patriotism proved to be the keynote of the occasion.

Z. P.

Lester H. Shibbes, '15, visited his brother, Stanley Shibbes, '20, over the week-end.

Mr. Faulkner, Maine, '19, visited Ralph Harley, '18, recently.

Sherman Dunn of Hallowell spent the week-end with R. S. Owen, '20.

Twenty members of the fraternity enjoyed a straw ride to Reginald Craig's home, recently. Mrs. Craig had a hot oyster stew for the fellows and a very enjoyable evening was passed.

D. U.

J. A. Dunn, '18, is still at the Sisters' Hospital in a very serious condition. Sunday, he underwent his third operation, and this was all that saved him. His condition was reported to be slightly improved, this morning.

W. F. Erbb, '17, spent several days at his home in Hallowell, on business, the latter part of last week.

B. S. Hanson, '19, has been committed to the Sisters' Hospital for treatment for appendicitis. He was operated upon at 5 o'clock, Tuesday morning. This is the sixth case from the house since the beginning of the year.

Cyril M. Joly, '16, was a visitor at the house over the week-end.

"Mother" Wells, the matron, has been quite ill with grip for several days, but has now recovered.

P. D. T.

Nourse and Heyes, '19, and Lewin, Lowery, and Rouse, '20, were guests at a week-end house-party at Webber Pond.

Mark Thompson, '17, and Paul Thompson, '18, went on a snowshoeing party at Skowhegan, Saturday and Sunday.

"Father" Cross, '20, attended the C. P. C. L. ball at Bingham, Friday evening.

Ray Merritt, Maine, '18, visited the Phi Delt House, Saturday.

Frank Jones, '14, paid a short visit at the house, Thursday.

Harris MacIntyre, '18, demonstrated his wireless apparatus, at the Waterville High School, one day last week. "Casey" has been a licensed operator for three years.

A. T. O.

Malcolm O'Brien, ex-'16, called at the house, Monday.

Woodford M. Rand, '16, is in town for a few days.

Wolcott P. Hayes, '18, left Tuesday for Northampton, Mass., where he will visit at Smith College for several days before going to his home in Washington, D. C.

Fred Harriman, '19, is now working for the Wyandotte Woolen Co.

The first floor of the house is now undergoing extensive repairs under the supervision of "Prof." Short.

C. C.

Miss Lois M. Osgood, '16, of Medford, Mass., visited at the house, Friday.

Mr. Paul Barker of Athens, Maine, is the guest of "Peanut" Greene, '20.

On account of the serious condition of his father, J. F. Everett, '17, will not return to college until after vacation.

E. F. Ellingwood, ex-'19, and C. E. Billington of Bangor are visiting at the house.

Loris Rollins and Robert Jacobs, of Vassalboro, were the guests of C. A. Rollins, '17, over Sunday.

Y. W. C. A. ELECTS NEW OFFICERS.

On Tuesday evening, the Y. W. C. A. installation and luncheon was held in Foss Hall, with the Advisory Board as the guests of the evening. The officers installed were: President, Alberta Shepherd, '18; Vice-President, Helen Baldwin, '19; Secretary, Margaret Hoffman, '19; Treasurer, Helene Buker, '18. The new cabinet members, besides the above, are: Jennie Sanborn, '18, Voluntary Bible Study; Maude Spaulding, '18, Student Volunteers; Alta Davis, '18, Religious Meetings; Mary Jordan, '18, Missionary; Gladys Craft, '18, Music; Violet French, '18, Social Service; Winifred Greeley, '18, Eight Weeks Club; Hazel Whitney, '18, Social; Phyllis Cole, '18, Silver Bay; Emily Kelley, '19, Association News and Poster Committee.

ROBINSON TRIBE HOLDS POW-WOW.

On Tuesday evening, March 18, the annual pow-wow of the "Robinson Tribe" of Colby College was held in the wigwam of Rev. and Mrs. Charles F. Robinson. After the Grand Chief, Grand Squaw, Medicine Man, Wampum Keeper, and all the other notables of the tribe had assembled, at the appointed hour, they all gathered around the festive board to participate in the customary rites and ceremonies of their yearly festival, which is always in the form of a "sugaring-off" party. This year, the maple sugar on snow which was enjoyed was probably never excelled, or even equalled, in quality or quantity, at the feeds of any rival or hostile tribe. The following members were present at the pow-wow: Carl W. Robinson, '18, Hugh L. Robinson, '18, Esther G. Robinson, '16, Albert F. Robinson, '18, Ruby M. Robinson, '18, Hazel L. Robinson, '17, Charles F. Robinson, and Florence P. Robinson. This tribe is a very select organization since no one is eligible for membership whose name is not spelled R-o-b-i-n-s-o-n!

On account of a delay in getting information concerning the History of the Women's Division which is to appear in the next issue of the Colbiana, the second number of the publication will not be out until immediately after vacation.

PERSONALS.

Lenna Prescott, '18, visited friends in Clinton over Sunday.

Miss Ella Robinson, '16, called at Foss Hall, Saturday, on her way home, where she will spend the Easter vacation.

Violet Shaw, '18, and Hazel Loane, '18, attended the Chapman Concert at Oakland, Wednesday evening.

Maud Spaulding, '18, addressed the girls of the Skowhegan Baptist church, Sunday noon, on the topic "Follow me." She also spoke at the evening service on the subject, "What think ye of Christ?" Roberta Harvey, '20, sang at both services.

Miss Muzzy entertained the Methodist Sunday School class for college women, at her home, Saturday evening.

Mrs. H. W. Brown entertained the Cabinet members and the Association News Committee of Y. W. C. A., at her home, Saturday afternoon.

Miss Marion Brown, '12, was the guest of her sister, Margaret Brown, '17, over Sunday.

Berle Cram, '16, and Lois Osgood, '16, spent a few days at the Hall, last week.

Esther French, '16, is a guest at Foss Hall.

Ethel Armstrong is at the Sisters' Hospital, with a severe attack of grip.

Mrs. Young entertained several of the college men and women at a fudge party, Saturday evening. A very pleasant time was enjoyed by all present.

Ethel Duff, '17, entertained by a St. Patrick's Party at Dutton House, Saturday evening, in honor of Miss Beatrice Pond, a former classmate at Ricker.

Miss L. Clay, a grand niece of Henry Clay, the famous American statesman, gave a Bible reading at Foss Hall, Sunday afternoon.
