COLLEGE DANCES

A committee composed of the different fraternities and sororities approached President Roberts this week to apply for a series of dances for the college students. The plan which the committee presented to the President was favorably received and approved, thus assuring the students of a series of dances for the remainder of the year, to be held on alternate Saturday evenings.

The plan presented, in brief, is as follows:

To hold a series of college dances for the students of Colby College, these dances to be held in the college gymnasium on alternate Saturday evenings, from 7.30 until 11.00.

To charge a nominal admission fee to cover the cost of operation, this fee not to exceed 35 cents per couple.

To leave all arrangements for these dances in the hands of the committee, under the supervision of a faculty advisor.

It was felt by the students that more social life is necessary at the college. Therefore this plan was devised in such a way as to provide some good social functions without interference with college work and without great expense.

The first dance will be held on Washington's Birthday, February 22. The gymnasium floor will be thoroughly gone over and put into suitable condition for dancing. President Roberts stated that he would be glad to do this to help out. It is planned by the committee to have Sussman's Orchestra play, this being the best dance orchestra in Waterville. Some special features will be arranged as the dance will come on a holiday.

The second dance which will take place on March 8, will be in the hands of a committee of Junior girls, who will run the dance for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A.

The committee in charge of these dances is composed of the following: Chairman, Thaddeus F. Tilton, '20; treasurer, Arthur F. Scott, '19; Newton L. Nourse, '19; Julius G. Sussman, '19; Ashton F. Richardson, '20; Neil F. Leonard, '21; and Ralph E. Bradbury, '19.

One unusual feature about these dances will be that no fellow can take a girl to two successive dances. This arrangement will cause much fun and probably more talk.

Everyone should turn out for the first dance on Washington's Birthday. Fellows who do not know girls can easily arrange to take some girl by speaking to upperclassmen in their fraternities or by talking with some member of the dance committee. Everyone out to the first dance.

PROFESSOR LITTLE HONORED.

Professor Homer P. Little, Ph. D., head of the Geological Department of the college, has recently been honored by being elected a fellow of the Geological Society of America. This is an honor much sought after by the geologists of the country, and the college congratulates Dr. Little upon his appointment.

Last year he prepared a monograph on the pleistocene and post-pleistocene history of Waterville and vicinity, and this was published by the society. At the winter meeting of the society in Baltimore this year, he was elected to membership. Dr. Little studied at Williams College and at Johns Hopkins University. He has been at Colby for nine years.

UPSILON BETA.

Upsilon Beta, the honorary freshman society, will have the following new members from the class of 1922, as announced this week: Delta Kappa Epsilon, George F. Terry of Waterville and Wendall F. Grant of Houlton; Zeta Psi, Robert L. Stone of Bath and Harold Frost of Waterville; Delta Upsilon, Willard J. Curtis of South Paris and Ashley Bickmore of Charleston; Phi Delta Theta, A. Chandler Farley of Bridgewater and Wendell Boyer of Waterville; Alpha Tau Omega, Earl James of Willimantic, Conn., and William F. Cushman of Westerly, Conn.

“THE GOATS.”

A new society called the “Goats” has been formed by the students. The purpose of the society is to have regular meetings to discuss some definite subject, one member preparing a thesis on the subject. After the article is read, the meeting will be open for general discussion.

The first meeting was held last Saturday evening, at which time John W. Brush, '20, was elected president, and Bernard A. Crane, '21, was chosen secretary, for a period of four weeks.

THE JUNIOR PROM.

Friday, April 4, is the date which has been chosen by the Juniors for their Annual Prom. Because of war conditions not much has been made of this affair the past two years, but the Juniors this year plan to make the Prom one of the big social events of the college term. The committee of Juniors in charge of the arrangements consists of the following: Chairman, D. Milton Crook, president of the class; Hubert L. Emery, Thaddeus F. Tilton, Harry E. Lewin, Charles S. Eaton, Merrill S. F. Greene.

DEBATING.

The first meeting of the Colby Debating Society will be held next Monday evening in the college chapel, at which time a debate will be held followed by a business meeting. The subject of the debate will be, “Resolved: that admission to the American colleges should be by examination only.” The affirmative will be upheld by Neil F. Leonard, '21, Henry L. Bell, '20, and Joel E. Taylor, '21. The negative team will consist of Phil T. Somerville, '21, Libby Pulsifer, '21, and William J. Pollock, '21. This meeting promises to be an interesting one, and, as the society has many members this year a large attendance is looked for.

Heard in Journalism: “A discussion club has been formed for the purpose of discussing all discussions which the members wish to discuss.”

NORMAN J. MERRILL, '14.

News has been received at the college of the death of Lieut. Norman J. Merrill, '14. Lieut. Merrill died Friday, February 7, at Fort Wayne, Michigan, after a short illness, the funeral services being held from his home in Dorchester, Mass., last Monday.

Merrill was very prominent at college in athletics and in other student activities. He was for three years a varsity football man, was manager of the track team during his senior year, president of the Massachusetts Club, and was an Epicurean. He was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

THE MYSTICS.

The Sophomore honoray society, the Mystics, has elected the following Sophomores to membership this year: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Libby Pulsifer of Skowhegan and Ransom L. Pratt of Corning, N. Y.; Zeta Psi, Ashton L. Richardson of Fairfield and Harold L. Stone of Unity; Delta Upsilon, Albert G. Snow of Blue Hill and Millard E. Nickerson of Morrill, Phi Delta Theta, Harold L. Baldwin of No. Stratford, N. H., and Frank J. Hois of New Bedford, Mass.; Alpha Tau Omega, Harold C. Marden, East Vassalboro and Raymond H. Spinney of South Eliot; Lambda Chi Alpha, John F. Waterman of Belfast and Robert D. Conary of Sunshine.

ZETE—D. U. SMOKER.

The Zetes and D. U.'s held a joint smoker at the Zete parlors on Thursday evening of this week. A most pleasant evening was spent in playing cards, dancing and singing popular and fraternity songs. All kinds of smokes and refreshments were served, thus rounding out a pleasant evening. The committee in charge of the smoker was composed of Joel E. Taylor, '21, and Albert G. Snow, '21.

NEW BOOKS AT THE LIBRARY.

The following new books have been added to the college library during the past week:

Austin: The Lovely Lady.

Dawson: The Saint Lawrence.

Donnell: Miss Theodosia's Heartstrings.

Fosdick: Assurance of Immortality.

Gephart: Effects of the War upon Insurance.

Gretton: Modern History of the English People.

McVey: Financial History of Great Britain, 1914-1918.

Pryor: The Birth of the Nation.

Rexford: The Making of a Home.

MUSICAL CLUBS.

Under the able direction of Mr. Ahrens, the musical clubs, which have been rehearsing steadily for the past two weeks, give promise of being among the best turned out at Colby in a number of years.

The prospects at the first of the year of having any musical organization at all, not to mention such a successful one, seemed very slim; but, due to the indefatigable efforts of Manager Lewin and Leader Baldwin in securing places for rehearsal and a director and taking care of necessary minor details, the clubs are now well started on a season which bids fair to be successful even beyond the hopes of the leaders themselves.

In addition to the men that remain from last year's clubs, a great deal of new material has been developed, and, with the constant rehearsing that Leader Baldwin insists on, it will not be such a great task to produce the very best results.

The Mandolin Club under the direction of Leader Lewin is progressing rapidly, and he predicts a club which will surpass that of last year.

The orchestra this year will be larger than that of last year, due to the addition of several new pieces.

The concert tours have been partially arranged, but it is difficult to say just when or where they will be. The usual Fairfield concert will take place about March 6, and there is an expected trip through New Hampshire with four concerts some time in the middle or last of March. Although nothing definite is known as yet about any other trips, it is certain that Lewin will do all in his power to make an itinerary commensurate with the quality of the clubs.

PROFESSOR McDONALD, TUESDAY NIGHT.

"Today Economics is the most important study in the college course." So said President Roberts in chapel, Thursday morning. Professor McDonald will have something to say on this subject at the Y. M. C. A. meeting, Tuesday night.

A COMMUNICATION.

A great world war has just been fought for the principles of democracy. Now that it is over, might it not be well to turn our eyes from the distant scenes to ones close at hand where, perhaps, a democratic feeling is somewhat lacking? For a number of years it has been the custom of certain men, when they wanted lights, plugs, furniture, etc., to raid the dormitories or class-rooms and help themselves. This has been done time and again to the extreme annoyance of faculty and students alike. Why can't we put into practice here the principles of democracy that we have been fighting for elsewhere? Why not grant others the same rights that we demand for ourselves?

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

PAX ET BELLUM.

Silvery sheen upon the river;
Gently the wind soughs through the branches;
The nightly orb o'er Colby watches.

Bugle notes on night air quiver;
Soldiers' "good night," they seek their couches;
A youth in arms on post now marches.

Peaceful night, night of war;
Oh, Mater, once before,
Ye saw the swift transition.

God grant that never more,
Thy mother's heart be sore;
Be this the last transition.

D. M. C., '20.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

Hannibal Hamlin, James G. Blaine, and Thomas B. Reed, three of America's greatest statesmen, were honorary graduates of Colby, degree of LL.D., and that Hannibal Hamlin was for thirty years a trustee of the college?

Shailer Mathews, '84, is at the head of the Divinity School of Chicago University?

A communication was received this week signed "Pro Bono Publico." The ECHO is glad to publish all communications, but the writers must sign their names to their letters. If for any reason the writer does not desire his name published it will be withheld in confidence by the editor; but it is necessary for the editor to know the author's name.

Several inquiries have been received this week concerning the publication of the honor roll for the second semester of last year. Professor Libby is now working on this, and the result will be published shortly.

Brigadier General Herbert M. Lord, Director of Finance of the U. S. Army, has promised to write something at some later date for the Echo.

PRESS OF THE CITY JOB PRINT

The great American walks no more amongst his fellow men. His life and deeds have left their indelible impress upon our Americanism. His breadth of patriotic thought and high idealism are found in these words of solemn warning to his fellow countrymen:

"We, here in America, hold in our hands the hope of the world, the fate of the coming years; and the shame and disgrace will be ours if in our eyes the light of higher resolve is dimmed, if we trail in the dust the golden hope of men. If on this new continent we merely built another country of great but unjustly divided national prosperity, we shall have done nothing; and we shall do as little if we merely set the greed of envy against the greed of arrogance, and thereby destroy the material well being of all of us."

Men of Colby, the foregoing is worthy of re-reading. Remember, you, and men of other colleges as well, have heavy responsibilities laid upon you because of your advanced educational advantages. As you responded so nobly to the call to arms, so assume the full obligations of citizenship. Hold high your head when you say, "I am an American citizen."

That a little knowledge is a dangerous thing will explain why certain "intellectuals" develop into Bolsheviki after reading Karl Marx's "Capital." He didn't know clearly what he wanted to say and his first volume, the one accepted by paranoic socialists as their sacred scroll, is a crazy quilt of expression. Adam Smith and Henry George, although flighty, are not vicious like Karl Marx. Bolshevism considered abstractly is amusing. Potentially it is causing concern. Boiled down, the fundamental difference between the "Viki's" and rational people is that the latter have more or less "stored-up labor," the fruit of self-denial, and the former are by nature just simply too "delicate" to work or deny themselves. They had rather "let George do it" and take away the fruit of his labor by force. Of course they have to have an excuse so their long-haired, unwashed orators hypnotize their audience with mouthy quotations from the master muddle-head, Marx.

The college year would hardly be complete without an editorial fulminating against "college politics." We have a great deal of politics in college. Of course we do. How could it be otherwise when a considerable number of men in training to be leaders are thrown together. The only thing is not to take politics too seriously. Play the game hard. Win clean. Lose like sportsmen, otherwise you will be taken for "suffering yets." When you are out of college, you will look back upon those momentous occasions when you thought the fate of the universe was hanging in the balance, and you will smile with amused reminiscence. College politics is a good thing to cut your baby teeth on. Later on, real politics will demand poise and vigorous action if you are to do your full duty as a citizen. Don't take college politics too seriously. You might get morbid. A sense of humor has much of saving grace.

2. The major causes of unemployment and how to minimize them.
3. How can efficiency of workers be so increased as to make high wage rates economically practicable?
4. Should the State interfere in the determination of wage rates?
5. Should rates of wages be definitely based on the cost of living?
6. How can present systems of wage payments be so perfected and supplemented as to be conducive to individual efficiency and to the contentment of workers?
