BATES 11, COLBY 7.

In what was probably the poorest game of baseball that has been played on Alumni Field for several years, Bates trounced Colby Saturday afternoon, with a 11-7 victory. With the game practically won in the third inning, with a 5-3 score, the Colby infield went "up in the air" and remained there for the rest of the afternoon. Errors were the order of the day.

Colby scored once in the first; Bates, not at all. Both teams brought in a run in the second. In the third, Colby came in with three runs, while Bates scored twice. In the fifth, Colby again brought in another run.

Then the "grand smash-up" came. No matter where the ball was driven, the Colby team let it slip by. In the sixth, Bates rushed three runs in. Colby managed to score once more in the seventh, while Bates increased her total with two more runs. In the ninth, with the bases full, Bucknam who had been shifted to right field, failed to stop an easy ball, and Bates scored three more runs.

Colby worked two double steals; once with Driscoll and Bucknam; next, with Bucknam and Heyes. Maxim, while making a catch in the second, ran into the Bates left fielder and was laid out. Nourse and Taylor played a good game for Colby, while Dillon and Elwell showed up best for Bates.

MAINE 8, COLBY 6.

In a closely contested game, Colby lost to the University of Maine, Wednesday, on Alumni Field, with an 8-6 score. The Colby team was in much better form than it was last Saturday, and several times a Colby victory seemed assured.

Colby started the game with three runs in the first which Taylor, Nourse and Driscoll brought in. Maine was held scoreless.

Maine got her first run in the second when Faulkner, leading off with a two-bagger, managed to reach home. Colby increased hers to four by Fraas' double; Pulsifer bringing "Dutch" home with the squeeze play.

Maine was given two walks in the third, and brought in two more runs. Colby failed to score in this inning.

In the fourth Watson, Maine's twirler, went "up in the air," and Small relieved him. Two Colby men walked, but our team failed to score. Driscoll, sneaking up from home caught Wood napping off first, and put him out. Maine tied the score in this inning.

In the fifth, with Driscoll on third, Heyes drove a fly to left field. Driscoll walked back, remained on third, until Wood caught the ball, then ran for home, making it easily. Umpire Conway claimed Mickey started before Wood caught the ball. This decision practically lost the game for Colby.

Maine evened the score in the sixth, getting to Bucknam rather freely. Wills relieved Buck, who took centerfield, Pulsifer's position. Maine finished the inning with a 7-4 score, Colby failing to come across in the sixth.

The "seventh inning rally" nearly worked. Wills and Driscoll each brought in a run. Bucknam walked, but Heyes struck out—leaving the score 7-6.

Maine managed to score once more in the ninth. Colby struck out in order, leaving the total 8 to 6.

LYFORD CONTEST HELD.

Coburn Boy Wins First; Hebron Speaker Takes Second.

The tenth annual Lyford Interscholastic Prize Speaking Contest was held in the chapel last Friday evening. Thirteen contestants who had survived the preliminary speaking of the afternoon delivered their addresses before a large audience. First prize of fifty dollars was awarded to Lothrop I. Dow of Coburn Classical Institute; second prize of twenty-five dollars was given to Donald E. Sprague of Hebron Academy; third prize of fifteen dollars was awarded to Leo A. Daviau of Coburn Classical Institute; and the fourth prize of ten dollars went to George W. Smith of Bangor High School. All of the speakers were good and the judges had difficulty in selecting the four best.

The preliminary contests were held in the afternoon, the forty contestants being divided into three groups, each group speaking at the same time before different sets of judges. The thirteen speakers for the finals were chosen from these groups. The judges in the afternoon were Professors White, Little, Brown, Chipman, Libby, and Mrs. Herbert C. Libby.

Professor Henry W. Brown presided in the evening and the judges were Rev. E. M. Holman of Fairfield, Professor Euclid Helie, Professor J. F. Nelson, Professor Herbert C. Libby and Mrs. Herbert C. Libby.

The visitors were entertained at the different fraternity houses and immediately before the evening contest on Friday a rally was held in the chapel. The whole affair was a pronounced success and reflects credit upon Professor Libby and the student committee which assisted him in carrying the contest through so well.

The program for the final contest Friday evening:

"Fourth of March Speech," (Wilson), Leo Arthur Daviau; "The League of Nations," (Wilson); Jack R. Jollison; "Theodore Burton," (Hendrick), Percy G. Beatty; "Americanism," (Roosevelt), Kenneth Woodbury; "Address to the Fighters of France," (France), George W. Smith; "France and the New Commandments," (Deschanel), James E. Buckley, Jr.; "The Moral Responsibility of the American People," (Webster), C. Stuart Little; "Nominating Sherman," (Garfield), Hudson L. Brennick; "Eulogy of Roosevelt," (Lodge), Millard Richmond; "Washington or Wilson?" (Harvey), Donald Edwin Sprague; "Address to the Fighters of France," (France), Wendell H. Bickmore; "Pro Patria," (Maeterlinck), Frank Nicholas Carucci; "Why Are We Fighting Germany?" (Lane), Lothrop Ivan Dow.

PROFESSOR WEBER PROMOTED.

Now a Captain in Officers' Reserve Corps.

Our most recently arrived member of the Faculty was this week notified of the War Department's official recognition of his work as adjutant of the 69th Field Artillery by recommissioning him in the Officers' Reserve Corps of the Army and promoting him to the rank of Captain. Captain Weber may continue to wear the uniform, even though not on active duty, as prescribed in the Army regulations; and he may be called to duty in time of peace for from fifteen days to a month in one year. Captain Weber thinks there is little likelihood of his being recalled to active service this year, and has been wondering whether he would even invest in a pair of captain's bars!

TENNIS TOURNAMENT STARTS.

The preliminary matches in the interfraternity tennis tournament are now being played off. The semi-finals will be played as soon as these preliminaries are finished. The first match was between the Dekes and the Faculty, the Dekes making a clean sweep in everything.

In the doubles, Miranda and S. Black defeated Professors Little and Weeks, 6-3, 6-2. Scott and Pratt defeated Professors Black and Weber, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. In the singles S. Black defeated Professor Weeks, 6-1, 6-1; Pratt won from Professor Weber, 6-0, 6-3; and Scott bested Professor Little, 6-2, 6-4.

THE UPSILON BETA.

True to the traditions of Old Colby the delegation of Upsilon Beta initiates were again in prominence on the campus last week. The array of costumes was motley, indeed. So much so, that as far as attending classes was concerned, it was in again, out again—kicked out.

As one young lady from Foss Hall was heard to remark, "What horrid looking creatures." It is whispered that at that particular moment those bare, curved, bean-poles of Doc's came into view. And then there was "Hank" Grant, wearing a costume which, e-e-e-e, well, "Hank" confesses it was exceptionally chilly last week.

The customary grandstand performance, directed by Prof. Baker, took place during the Bates game. The program:

Interlocutor, Terry; Acrobatic Stunts, Frost; "Oh!

Eliza," Prof. Baker; Song and Dance, "Bob" Stone; Reading, Farley; Duet, "Isn't It Heaven to be Broke," James and Mayo; Collection, Prof. Baker; The Skirt Dance, "Doc;" On the Sick List, Cushman; "Till We Meet Again," "Sleep, Little One, Sleep," Bickmore and Totman.

THE HALLOWELL PRIZE SPEAKING CONTEST.

On last Monday evening, May 12, the tenth annual Hallowell Prize Speaking Contest was held in the college chapel. A large number of people were present when at seven thirty o'clock, Professor Brown opened the program by prayer. Professor White as presiding officer introduced the speakers who all did exceptionally well and made the contest one of the best ever held. Interest in the speakers and their subjects was kept high throughout the evening and much credit is due the contestants for their admirable appearance and delivery.

One of the features of the contest was the appearance for the first time of members of the Women's Division as competitors. By their splendid work they earned a permanent place for women in the Hallowell contests of the future.

At the close of the contest the judges, Thomas C. Ingraham, Percy H. Whiting, and Henry W. Cobb, all of Augusta, awarded the prizes as follows: First prize, George B. Wolstenholme, '22; second prize, Ransom Pratt, '21; third prize, Adelle M. McLoon, '21; and fourth prize, Joel E. Taylor, Jr., '21.

The following was the program:

"Our Silent Partner Speaks," Adelle Medora McLoon, '21; "Bolshevism, the Menace," Harold Chesterfield Marden, '21; "The Trials of the Armenians," Joel Erastus Taylor, Jr., '21; "The Future of China," Vi-tsu Sun, '21; "New Duties of Education," William Joseph Pollock, '21; "Fight It Now," Libby Pulsifer, '21; "National Prohibition and the Citizen's Duty," Raymond Joseph Bates, '22; "Ireland at the Peace Conference," Phil Thaddeus Somerville, '21; "Disarmament and Progress," Ransom Pratt, '21; "The American Students' Part in Internationalism," Gladys E. Dow, '21; "The Call of Russia," Elizabeth Robinson Eames, '19; "The New Americanism," Raymond Harris Spinney, '21; "The World's Duty to Armenia," Elfrieda Marie Whitney, '21; "The Judgment Day," Henry Lorne Bell, '20; "The Study of Public Speaking a Necessity to the Ministry," George Bernard Wolstenholme, '22.

Professor Carter, who was operated upon a short time ago, is reported as doing well. We hope he will bew ith us again before long.

Four freshmen are now trying out for the board. More are wanted. This is the last call. If any other freshmen wish to try they must hand in their names at once. After next Monday it will be too late.

The 1920 Centennial Commencement will be a landmark in the history of the college. Necessarily the alumni exercises will prominently overshadow the undergraduate exercises. This present commencement of 1919 still belongs to the undergraduates. It will undoubtedly be strongly tinged with things military and naval. There will be fore-shadowings of the Centennial, But it will still belong to the undergraduates. The last two commencements suffered because of the war. Now is the time to get together and make this commencement an event. Let us show our soldier and sailor boys that the college has not deteriorated in our hands. There is no vital need to hurry away after the last exam is over. Reunions are an institution here. Let us plan for the best ever. Enthusiastic class exercises, brilliant hop, warm welcoming reunions, loyal support of all college commencement functions, all will help make 1919 memorable.

The baseball team made a poor showing last Saturday, it is true. But that is no excuse for the statement made by one student at least, that he would not go out to see the team play after that game. We hope that students of this kind are few, and the number present at the Maine game would appear to show that they are few. For no matter how poorly the team may play it needs our support, and the time when the men on the team need our greatest support and our loudest cheering is when things are going the worst. The cheering at the Maine game was excellent, and the cheering section was full of life most of the time. There was one thing, however, the absence of which was noticeable. That was the singing of the Colby song. Don't we know it? If we do we should sing it at these games. If we do not, it is time we learned. Let's keep up the good cheering and let's add the Colby song at the next game. We haven't lost that pennant yet if the team plays as well as it did against Maine.

DISCOURAGED?

Do you feel discouraged? Have all your lessons gone wrong for a long time? Are you tempted to drop your college course and go to work? Yes?

What does it mean? There is not one of us who does not feel exactly that way, at times. And quite often one drops out of college because he does not think that it is worth his while to continue. If you are "out of luck" or discouraged tell some friend or sympathizer the cause and he may be able to help you to rid yourself of it. If you fail here try this remedy: Think about something else. This suggestion has cured many and who knows that it will not effect a cure in your case?

CO-ORDINATION.

Co-ordinated effort under central control won itself. "Zero" or "H" hour made possible greater unity and coherence of action. Colby could well establish a standard for "zero" hour. Many individuals and interests naturally conflict in the absence of a standard control. Precise time is essential to the effectual carrying out of a schedule. College activities and life is highly schedulized. Friction irritates. Uncertainty as to the exact moment of beginning and terminating a college function annoys, steals time, causes conflict, reduces efficiency. A Western Union Standard Time clock electrically controlled from Washington would give the college the standard "zero" hour for all activities. Placed in the chapel it would be seen at least once a day by all in college and watches could be uniformly set. The schedule would "snap into step." The college bell-ringer's "Waterbury" would abdicate as the official control. Our present good system would yield to a definite and better. The expense for the service is negligible. Even barber shops and merchants find the service valuable to their patrons. The college could well afford to have the Standard Clock placed in the chapel at once. Or perhaps some class or friend of the college might see here an opportunity to make a present to Colby that would be worth looking at every day.

The editor can not and will not write the whole ECHO himself. Neither can he chase around to each fraternity house several times after material which is due or has been assigned. This week, and for several times previous, the ECHO has been delayed because some of the members of the board have seemed to fail in a sense of responsibility. If the students wish their ECHO on time, the members of the board must pass in their material on time. Next week, any piece of news assigned, no matter how important, will be omitted from the ECHO unless passed in by the time limit which is Monday evening.

Perpetual motion is "ignis fatuus." Even its loony seekers admit that there must be an initial "shove." Things don't start of their own motion. Nor after having been started do they continue forever from momentum. "Start" is a good dog but "Finish" is a better. People smile indulgently at good resolutions made and take it as assumed that they will be broken. It isn't amusing; it is tragic. Commencement is at hand and finals. Let's finish strong. Let's prepare now for next year, a great year for the college. Let's start right things in the right way and let's keep shoving to awinning finish. Incidentally track sports should be given a good "shove." This branch of athletics offers a place for practically every man in college. Snap into it and give it a shove and keep shoving. Don't be a loafer-lizard. It's a disgrace to study a little, drowse in classes, haunt the movies, "shimmy" at dances, and not get out into some form of athletics. Don't put up the thread-bare excuse that athletics is for the few. Field and track offer a place for YOU. And cut out the contemptible politics of trying to gather in the offices and places on the "varsity" to the detriment of the sport. Some day college sentiment will be so strong that the professional politician will have his name published so that people will know whom to avoid. Let's prepare now for a big year in field and track in 1919-20. And let's FINISH in good form.

A TRIBUTE TO ASHER C. HINDS.

"The Nation" for Saturday, May 10, pays the following tribute to Asher C. Hinds who died recently:

"The death of Asher C. Hinds removes the kind of figure quite too rare in our public life—an acknowledged master in his field. When Mr. Hinds, in 1894, at the age of thirty-one, was drafted to be clerk at the speaker's table he knew nothing of the subject of parliamentary precedents. But Speaker Reed understood what he was about in this choice, as he did in so many other matters, and Mr. Hinds set himself vigorously to the task of learning his duties; he proceeded with such unusual thoroughness that he soon knew more than anyone else in Congress as to precedents and practice. In fact he learned a vast deal more he actually needed in order to fill the position well. As a result, we have his 'Parliamentary Precedents of the House of Representatives,' an eight-volume treatise which is a standard authority throughout the United States, and for which he received from Congress an award of twenty thousand dollars, and a 'Hind's Precedents of of the House of Representatives.' He was also the editor of the 'Rules, Manual, and Digest of the House of Representatives.' But he did not specialize merely upon the American Congress. He knew the procedure of the Roman Senate, and how the members of the Rump Parliament in England carried on their work. In 1910 Mr. Hinds left the Speaker's table to look at the world from the other side of the House, serving as a Congressman from the Portland district of Maine from 1911 to 1917. It is a most interesting Congressional figure that now disappears."

The following extract is taken from the Waterville Sentinel concerning J. Arthur Stowell, who has been awarded, posthumous, a croix de guerre:

"Mr. and Mrs. John Stowell have just received a croix de guerre, which was awarded, posthumous, to their son, J. Arthur Stowell, of the 103rd Infantry, who lost his life on the field of battle, June 16, 1918. The cross was brought home by their son, Raymond Stowell. Arthur Stowell volunteered to bring in wounded during fighting in France. He was hit by a shell fragment, and though mortally wounded, begged that he be left behind so that another comrade might have room in the ambulance. When the ambulance returned for him he had paid the supreme sacrifice."

CAMPUS CHAT

The candidates for the tennis team are now practicing for the state tournament which is to be held at Brunswick on May 22 and 23. There are a number of good players in college this year, and a better showing should be made than was made last spring.

Less than three weeks of recitations remain—then exams. Let's be getting ready now.

The annual initiation of the Mystics, the sophomore society was held Tuesday evening.

H. L. Emery, one of the prominent merchants of Waterville, was the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. meeting this week.

A union Vesper Service of the men and women was held in the college chapel last Sunday afternoon.

Certain buildings on the campus are being improved by the use of paint and brush.

Song, Sun, and Tzen, under the direction of Professor Brown, gave addresses at the Free Baptist church, Oakland, Sunday evening.

Mrs. Wilbur Holt and daughter Martha, of Clinton, called at the D. K. E. house on Saturday.

FRATERNITY NOTES

Joseph Claffie, ex-'20, writes from his home in Dalton, Mass., that he finds that he doesn't enjoy work any more than he ever did and he expects to return to Colby next fall.

It is rumored that one Harold Stone, late of the class of '21, is working(?) on a farm. We wonder what time he gets up.

Hubert Emery, '20, spent the week-end at his home in Shawmut.

Irvin Trask, Bates '20, called at the D. K. E. house on Saturday.

Ralph R. ("Cy") Howes, ex-'18, paid a flying visit at the A. T. O. house, Monday morning. "Cy," a chief pharmacist's mate in the Navy, is enjoying a 30 day furlough. He will return to Colby next fall.

ALUMNI NOTES

Roger Nye, '16, has resigned his position at the State Hospital, Augusta, and is now manager of the Colonial Theater of that city.

Word recently received from Lieut. Crowell E. Pease, '10, who is at Camp Travers, Texas, states that he likes the army and is going to stay with it.

"Burr" Berry, '16, was a caller at the D. K. E.

house last Wednesday. Berry is a first lieutenant in Field Artillery and has been awarded the Croix de Guerre with Oak Leaves for conspicuous bravery.

"Pad" Drummond was a caller at the D. K. E. house last week. He has served with the Engineers since the start of the war.

LAW and America's World Position

America's new place in international politics and commerce challenges the young American. He must equip himself for new world conditions with a knowledge of legal fundamentals.

LAW—its principles and application to all business is almost as necessary to the coming business man as it is indispensable to the lawyer.

Qualify for real leadership.

The Boston University Law School gives a thorough training in legal principles.

LL.B. Course requires 3 years.
