BOSTON ALUMNI UNITE

The 39th annual banquet of the Boston Colby Alumni Association was held in Food Hall, Boston, last Friday night. Edward C. Clark, '94, presided.

Pres. A. J. Roberts spoke of the successful progress of the endowment fund, saying that at present the fund had 1,400 subscribers, of whom 1,300 are former students of the college. He also predicted higher salaries for the teaching profession. The diners gave "Colby the long way" after the president's speech.

The other speakers included: Rev. Dr. Everett C. Herrick, '98, Emery B. Gibbs, '88, H. Warren Foss, '96, and T. Raymond Pierce, '98; vice-presidents: Harry E. Hamilton, '96, and R. L. Emery, '06; executive committee, Henry Curtis, '87, T. H. Pike, '98, and Russell Lord, '12.

MURRAY DEBATE COMING

The annual Murray Prize Debate will be held as usual this year, altho the date is as yet uncertain. Prizes aggregating $100 will be distributed: $75 to the winning combination, and 25 to the losing team. The subject is, "Resolved, That the United States should pursue a policy of complete restriction upon immigration for a period of five years from the ratification of the treaty of Versailles." The affirmative will be upheld by John W. Brush, '20, Thomas G. Grace, '21, and Charles E. Mitchell, '20. The negative will be maintained by Ralph C. Bradley, '22, Donald A. Shaw, '21, and Herbert L. Perkins, '22.

VOTED FOR LINCOLN

Professor Chipman, who is compiling the General Catalogue, received this interesting communication from an old man who attended Colby over half a century ago:

"The following may interest you:

The first President I ever voted for, was Abraham Lincoln, and I walked 50 miles to vote for him, while in College.

When a boy, I had the privilege of seeing Daniel Webster in Boston, when he was given a great reception on his return from Washington.

Probably no other person now living in Maine had that privilege."

Conclusion—I must be no end of an ass.—Yale Record.

BOWLING ON LAST LAP

The bowling league has started on its last lap with the A. T. O. five still a comfortable distance in the lead of all runners up. In order to finish the tournament before the Easter vacation, March 26, the committee has decided to roll double headers on every Wednesday and Saturday. Several records have been broken since the last issue, and in the match with the Phi Deltas, the Alpha Taus set up a new single string total and a new team total. The standing is as follows:

Fraternity	W.	L.	Pct.
Alpha Tau Omega,	33	3	.916
Delta Kappa Epsilon	25	15	.620
Phi Delta Theta,	26	18	.590
Delta Upsilon,	17	22	.435
Lambda Chi Alpha,	15	25	.375
Zeta Psi,	10	29	.256
Pi Delta Phi,	9	27	.250

The records are as follows:

Single string, Howard, D. U.,	136
Three string, Howard, D. U.,	338
Single string total, A. T. O.,	510
Team total, A. T. O.,	1449

The schedule for the week is as follows:

Thursday, March 11, Z. P. vs P. D. T.
Friday, March 12, L. C. A. vs P. D. T.
Saturday, March 13, D. U. vs A. T. O.
Saturday, March 13, D. U. vs Z. P.
Monday, March 15, L. C. A. vs A. T. O.
Tuesday, March 16, D. K. E. vs P. D. T.
Wednesday, March 17, P. D. P. vs Z. P.
Wednesday, March 17, D. U. vs P. D. T.

DR. PHELPS IN CHAPEL

Rev. Dr. A. S. Phelps, pastor of the First Baptist Church, spoke in chapel on Friday morning on the subject of the appreciation of fine art. "The pictures that most men have in their houses are either wedding presents, not of their own choosing, or inherited pictures that mean little or nothing to the present owners, or gaudy pictures bought at bargain counters on the top floors of department stores." The speaker lamented the present tendency toward vulgarity in art.

In closing, Dr. Phelps appealed to the men to taboo moving pictures of the wrong kind, such as the problem plays with alluring titles.

AN EXPERIMENT IN FREE VERSE

One day I was dressed in my finest—
 It was a Sunday, I think:
 Friends who scarcely knew me
 Broke forth in effusive salutation,
 And old friends
 Beamed and bowed exceeding graciously.

On a day of grimy toil,
 When of necessity my clothes were rags,
 And a smudge of tar perhaps
 Had splashed across my cheek,
 Those who on Sunday had bowed the lowest,
 This day, in hypocritical disdain,
 Raised their heads aloof,
 And, distending sneering nostrils,
 Pretended not to know me.
 And I let them pretend all they wished.
 When the fashion of the garment,
 And the polish of the shoes
 Determine friendship,
 I too make pretensions.

I am what I am, said the Apostle Paul.

J. W. B., '20.

Acting President Cousens of Tufts told the board of the Tufts Weekly that he believed it the function of a college paper to expose and condemn those conditions in the college which they knew existed but ordinarily did not mention for fear of hurting the reputation of the college. He said that there was a clear line, however, between condemnation and muck-raking.—Johns Hopkins News-Letter.

SELF-MADE STUDENTS

There is nothing surprisingly new in the official announcement that students in our universities can be successful in study, in sports, and in social life, and at the same time earn their way through college. As a matter of fact, the so-called poor boy, oftener than not, gets more out of the courses than those who are not forced through circumstances to be self supporting.

It has been proven that all which is required to overcome the "handicap of poverty" is initiative and courage. Self-made men recognize this; they have acquired through hard knocks a full realization of the value of the education that for many of them was so hard to get. Their experience of these difficulties has resulted in their being more patient, ever ready to help the worthy, thoughtful of the welfare of others and absolutely just in their dealings.

These self-supporting students have had among their compensations the winning of the admiration of their fellows, and as a result there is nothing placed beyond their realization even in class honors when they are deserving. The national roll of famous Americans contains very many names of men who had to win success by the sweat of their brows and who among other results gained strength in their efficiency and capability for leadership.—The Boston Post.

The discharged soldier hastened gladly home to see his wife. He found her polishing the kitchen stove, and slipped quietly up and put his arms around her.

"Two quarts of milk and a pint of cream tomorrow," she said without looking up.—Ex.

One of our esteemed professors of the (Worcester Polytechnic) Institute says that the world did not come to an end last Wednesday because there isn't yet any reason for it to do so.

Whereupon some brilliant Columbus the second was heard to remark that the world couldn't come to an end because it is round.—Tech News.

In No Danger

"I say, James, I want to insure my coal yard against fire. What would a policy for $20,000 cost?"

"What coal is it? Same kind as you sent me last?"

"Yes."

"I wouldn't bother insuring it if I were you. It won't burn."

COLBY FOR COLBY MEN FOR COLBY

Three Colby men were walking down College Avenue, one day. They were engrossed in a conversation about the future disposal of their wealth, providing that wealth should ever come to them.

"I shall have a summer home in Maine, and a winter home in Florida," said the first.

"A large farm in Connecticut, where I could live an easy life, would content me," came from the second.

The third man spoke vehemently, "By George, the first million I get will go to Colby."

Which one showed the true Colby spirit?

To many who have enjoyed the snowshoeing this winter, the thought must have occurred that Colby ought to have a Winter Sports Club,—not an exclusive organization, but an all-inclusive one. If you please, do not even call it a club, but rather an institution for the general good.

Interest a few of the younger professors and some of the local alumni. Plan some typical trips,—two-hour jaunts, or afternoon or week-end trips. Start a fund with which to build a few log cabins, or to commandeer a few old farm houses; Dartmouth's experience could well serve as a model.

The plan, let us suppose, has started. On Saturday, soon after dinner, Professor A, an enjoyable guide and companion, starts out with a party of six. They go west, up the great slope where the hemlocks saddle the divide between Waterville and Oakland. Here they pause to drink in the superb grandeur of the view; on the east the Kennebec Valley, shut in by white hills; on the west, the Oakland valley, and far, far in the distance, the day being very clear, the towering peaks of the White Mountains in New Hampshire. It is a never-to-be-forgotten moment.

Starting off again, they strike for the south-west. Soon they arrive at a cozy lodge on one of the Belgrade Lakes, where a hearty supper awaits them.

They leave for Waterville after supper on Sunday, and, as the stories say, arrive home weary, but agreeing that such a good time was never had before.

Day-dreaming? Perhaps. But we predict that this Winter Sports Club will be a reality before the present freshmen have graduated.

The whole is greater than any of its parts.

The college is greater than any of its fraternities.

The friendship of one Colby man for another, regardless of fraternal connections, is a delightful thing. The fellow we love and honor is not the one whose intercourse is cramped by membership in a small set, but the one who is bigger than any club or fraternity, whose whole heart is, during his college days, for Colby.

We do not mean to belittle fraternity loyalty. It is noticeable, however, that the man who is most loyal to the college is also one of the strongest boosters in his fraternity.

The following quotation from Spinoza was found pinned on the wall of the president's office. It was in the president's hand-writing:

"It should be the aim of a wise man neither to mock, not to bewail, nor to denounce men's actions, but to understand them."

Sophomore: "There is something preying on my mind."

Senior: "Never mind, it will soon starve to death."—Ex.

CAMPUS CHAT

Rev. Dr. Hudson of Portland, who addressed the faculty yesterday afternoon, spoke at the Christian Association meeting last night. Mr. Yates, who was scheduled to speak, will deliver his address at a later meeting.

The senior class has appointed the following committee to look up prices and designs on canes: Lewin, Tyler and Perry. The old custom will probably be kept up this year.

The annual Junior Promenade will take place on April 9.

C. M. Bailey was at the Deke House on Friday and Saturday of last week.

Irving Trask of Bates was the guest of Ray Holt and Don Shaw at the Deke House on Sunday.

J. Astor Klain, '20, officiated at the Oak Grove-Cony High School basketball game Friday evening.

Neil F. Leonard, '21, spoke at the initiation banquet of the Worcester Polytechnical chapter of Alpha Tau Omega last Saturday.

Leslie H. Cook, '22, is ill at his home in Mystic, Conn.

Joseph McGary and Albert Scott of Oak Grove Seminary have been staying at the A. T. O. House for a few days.

Word has been received of the marriage of Millard E. Nickerson, ex-'21, and Mrs. May Spearin of this city.

Charles A. Wheeler, Wesleyan, ex-'23, has transferred to Colby.

C. H. R. Hatch, '20, A. E. Greenlaw, '21, and E. A. Adams, '21, represented the local chapter at the district convention of Delta Upsilon at Technology, recently.

H. T. Smith, '22, has returned to college after a severe attack of the influenza.

Donald G. Jacobs, '20, has completed his college course and returned to his home in East Pepperill, Mass.

A. C. Adams, '22, A. H. Weymouth, '22, and J. B. Lampher, '23, spent the week-end in Pittsfield.

Clair Pollard, Bowdoin, '23, called on A. E. Greenlaw, '21, at the D. U. House, Sunday.

Phil T. Somerville, '21, has returned to college after an attack of the mumps.

Merrill S. Bigelow, '18, called at the D. U. House, recently.

Whittemore, '17, has been at the Lam Chi house for a few days.

Andrews, '23, was in Skowhegan on a business trip this week.

Hodges, '21, has a position in Brooklin, Maine, High school and intends to begin teaching next Monday.

Has a new style arisen? If so it is certainly a most entertaining one to the passing spectators. We refer to the practice of some young men, perhaps also maidens, of wearing their long overshoes unbuckled and the unfurled fabric flapping about their ankles, looking some like the aimless flapping of the wings of a hen that has recently been decapitated. For pure and simple elegance this style is to be commended. We have been looking for the appearance of the girl with stockingless legs, but she will have nothing on this new fad of the unclasped and flapping overshoes.—Waterville Sentinel.

HARVARD

A new committee to govern sports at Cambridge has been appointed by the Harvard Corporation and will assume control very shortly. This council is composed of nine members, representing the student body, the faculty and the alumni. Bill Murray, captain of the football team; Bobby Emmons, captain of the baseball team, and Norman Walker, captain of the hockey team, will speak for the students. The viewpoint of the faculty will be aired by Dean Le Baron Russell Briggs, Acting Dean Chester N. Greenough and Dr. Irving Lee. Henry Pennypacker, headmaster of the Boston Latin School; Laurence Curtis, 2nd, former football, tennis and hockey player, and Representative Benjamin Loring Young will act for the graduates. Dean Briggs is chairman of the committee.

President Roberts spoke to the girls in chapel last Monday on "Public Opinion."

Tuesday noon, Neil Leonard opened a drive among the girls for an increase in the membership of the Athletic Association.

Sunday afternoon at four fifteen a piano recital given by Mrs. C. H. White was enjoyed by the majority of the members of the Women's Division. We hope that Mrs. White can be persuaded to give several before the year is over.

Bible study groups were started Sunday afternoon.

The program of the Literary Society on Friday was as follows:

Borough and City Government by

.....Eliza Gurganus, '20

.....Laura Baker, '21

Piano Solo Melva Mann, '23
Current Events Thelma Powers, '23
..... Myrtice Swain, '23
Critic of Thought Alice Mathews, '20
Critic of Delivery Irene Gushee, '21

The criticisms were extemporaneous.

Saturday evening an entertainment, which lasted from seven to nine-forty-five o'clock, was given by the senior and sophomore classes combined. The affair was for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A., and was held in the Foss Hall dining room. The decorations were blue and white streamers hanging from the electric fixtures, while class and sorority banners adorned the walls. The program consisted of a pantomime of "Cinderella," followed by an informal dance for which dance orders were sold. The college orchestra furnished the music. At intermission Gladys Briggs, '22, gave a reading, and the evening closed with the singing of a Colby song. Throughout the evening pie and ice-cream were on sale at the lower end of the hall while punch could be had at the upper end. There was a grab-bag attended by two dominoes during the first half of the evening.

Crab, Talk, Jazz-a-Lot,
"Rave, Preach, Know-a-Lot,
Gab-a-Lot, Gab-a-Lot, Gab,

Behold: we have with us from now on and forever a new club, The Gab-a-Lots, who represent six branches of higher education.

Rave-a-Lot, Gab-a-Lot of the World of Letters,
Preach-a-Lot, Gab-a-Lot of the Dept. of Geology
Crab-a-Lot, Gab-a-Lot,

Jazz-a-Lot, Gab-a-Lot,
modern Terpsichore
Know-a-Lot, Gab-a-Lot,
unsuccessful seeker of the unknown.
Talk-a-Lot, Gab-a-Lot, the modern reformer.

This is composed of the six Juniors who room in Pie Alley. The purpose of the club is to discuss the wherefore of the way, and the meetings take place irregularly at the third wagging of the Tongue. The very secret emblem is the clam, because it keeps its mouth shut.

S. K.

Eleanor Copeland of Biddeford was the guest of Ruth Means, '21, over the week-end.

Mary Carl, '22, and Laura Baker, '21, entertained Beatrice Baker, '22, Alice Clark, '21, Geraldine

Baker, '21, and Alfreda Bowie, '20, at a "feed" Sunday evening.

Florence Carll, '12, of South China attended the sorority meeting, Wednesday evening. Miss Carll is the National Historian of Sigma Kappa.

Eliza Gurganus, '20, entertained Lillian Dyer, '20, Alice Mathews, '20, Stella Greenlaw, '20, Alice Clark, '21, Alfreda Bowie, '20, and Helen Freeman, '23, at a breakfast party, Sunday morning.

X. N.

The PT2 Square Club entertained at a "feed" followed by a theater party at the Haines, Tuesday evening, in honor of Gladys Briggs' birthday. Among those present were Sibyl Williams, Vina Parent, Velma Briggs, Avis Barton, Edna Briggs, Lorena Scott, Helen Raymond, and Gladys Briggs.

Mira Dolley, '19, of Pittsfield was a recent guest at the hall.

Elva Tooker, '21, has been elected delegate to the National Y. W. C. A. convention held in Cleveland, Ohio, April 13-19.

A. A. A.

Mrs. James E. Davis of Livermore Falls is visiting her daughter, Marcia, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Yorke, (Ether Gilman, '16) announce the birth of a daughter, Virginia, on February 29th.

Alice LaRocque, '21, has been called to her home in Huntington, Mass.

Catherine Clarkin, '17, was at her home in town over the week-end.

Velma Rhodes, '23, has left college on account of the illness of her mother.

A. A. H.

Alice Hanson, '20, entertained Catherine Tuttle, '21, Olive Edgerly, '22, and Thelma Ryder, '23, at a chicken dinner Saturday, Mar. 6, 1920.

Doris Harlow, of Waterville, was a guest of Ruth Mosher, '21, Saturday evening, Mar. 6.

Catherine Tuttle, '21, is spending the week with Alice Hanson, '20, at the home of Dr. Fish, 11 College Ave.

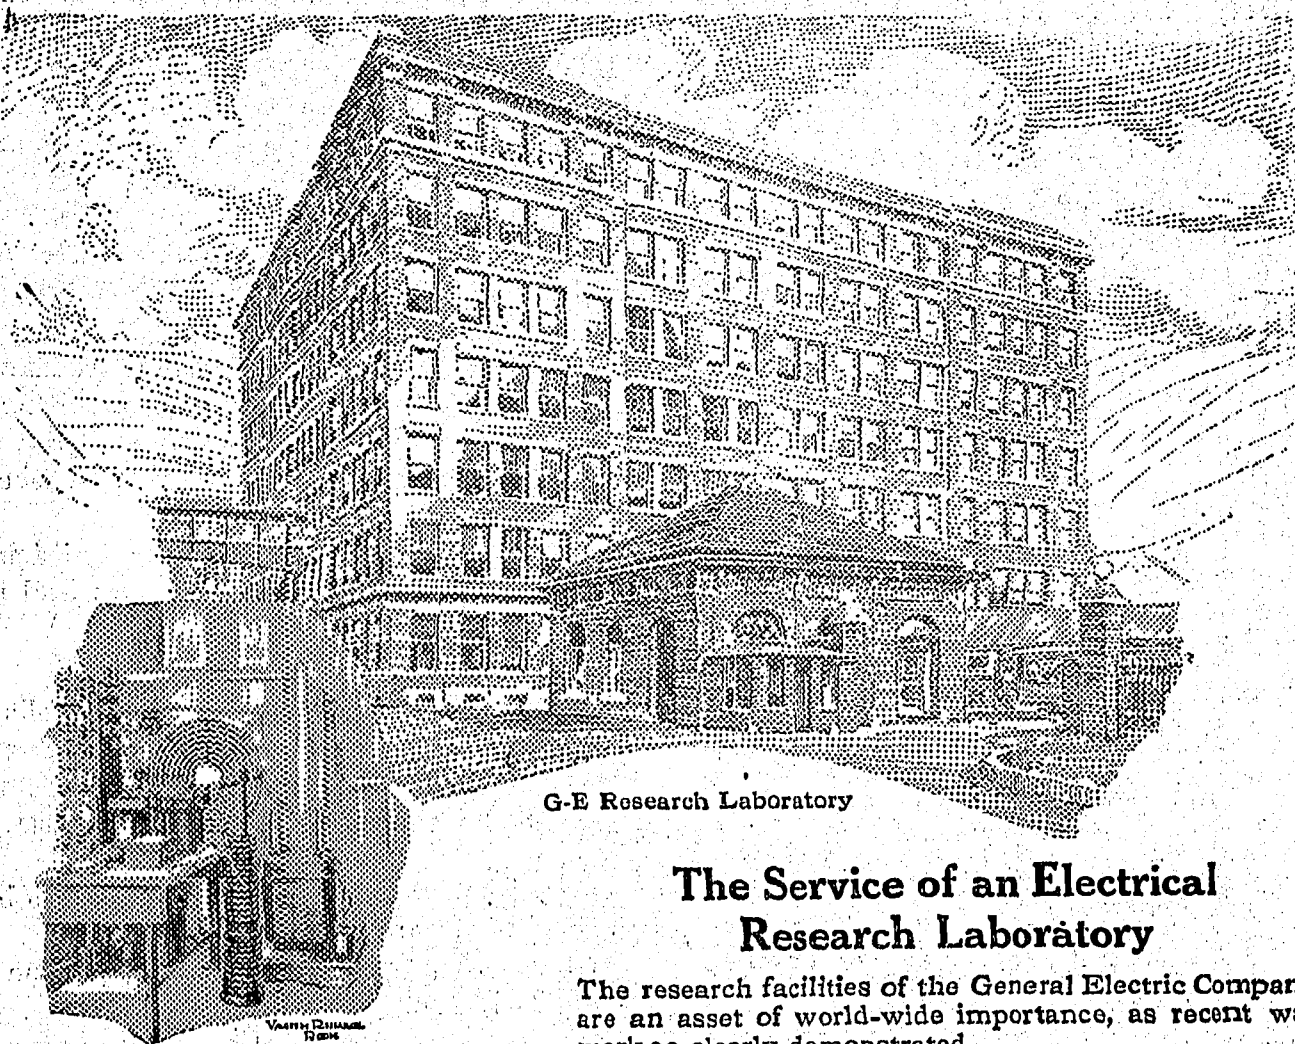

A chapter of Alpha Delta Pi sorority has recently been entered at the University of Pittsburg.

Φ. M.

On Friday evening Warion Waterman, '20, entertained Ruth Wills, Linna Weidlich, Virginia Bean, Ida Jones, Elizabeth Kellett, Gladys Libby, Louise Steele, Louise Tilley, and Leonette Warburton at a "chicken feed" in Mary Low Hall.

Miss Doris Shorey, who is teaching in Clinton, was the guest of Marion Waterman over the week-end.

Beatrice Simpson of Coburn spent Saturday and Sunday with Louise Tilley.

G-E Research Laboratory

The Service of an Electrical Research Laboratory

The research facilities of the General Electric Company are an asset of world-wide importance, as recent war work so clearly demonstrated.

A most interesting story tells of the devices evolved which substantially aided in solving one of the most pressing problems—the submarine menace. The results attained in radio communication, special X-ray equipment for field hospital service and many other products, for both combatant and industrial use, did their full share in securing the victory.

In the G-E laboratories are employed highly trained physicists, chemists, metallurgists and engineers—experts of international reputation. These men are working not only to convert the resources of Nature to be of service to man, but to increase the usefulness of electricity in every line of endeavor.

Scientific research works hand in hand with the development of new devices, more efficient apparatus and methods of manufacture. It leads to the discovery of better materials, which ultimately make happier and more livable the life of all mankind.

Booklet Y-863, describing the Company's several plants, will be mailed upon request. Address Desk 37.

Some of the General Electric Company's Research Activities During the War:

Submarine detection devices
X-ray tube for medical service
Radio telephone and telegraph
Electric welding and applications
Searchlights for the Army and Navy
Electric furnaces for gun shrinkage
Magneto insulation for air service
Detonators for submarine mines
Incendiary and smoke bombs
Fixation of nitrogen

The House of Kuppenheimer

YOU CAN DEPEND ON US FOR ANYTHING YOU WANT IN GOOD CLOTHES AND YOU CAN REST ASSURED THEY WILL BE WORTH EVERY CENT YOU PAY. YOU ARE DOING US A FAVOR WHEN YOU RETURN ANYTHING UNSATISFACTORY.

Those Good Old College Days

Are here again with their stirring meets, keen rivalries, jolly week-ends, and delightful formal and informal parties. It's a life despite the so called "hard grind"—and a life, by the way, in which good clothes are very important. We've prepared a big showing of exclusive Fall

Kuppenheimer Suits and Overcoats

They are ready now—stylish suits and overcoats that will represent you well, designed especially for well dressed young men who appreciate newer and more distinctive styling and tailoring refinements that express elegance and luxuriousness in every line.

Give us a visit.
