INTERCHURCH CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFUL

Dr. Clement G. Clarke of Chicago opened the Interchurch campaign for the college with a stirring speech at the men's chapel service. Dr. Clarke brought out the fact that the allied victory in the war demonstrated the power of right over might, of the spiritual over the material, and that it was a natural result that the Christian churches should be moved to larger things and to a greater program. the Interchurch World Movement, he said, is the result.

During the afternoon, many men interviewed Dr. Clarke, and Mr. N. C. Fetter, Jr,

In chapel, Friday night, Dr. Clarke spoke briefly on the subject, "Why I am a Christian." His main reasons were, first, because of the conception of God that Christ taught; secondly, because Christ dignified the individual into an immortal soul; thirdly, because of what He was. In this connection, he quoted Ernest Renan: "Christ preached Himself, not His theories.

Mr. Fetter spoke on "The Qualifications for Christian Leadership." He prefaced his address by saying that one can never fully measure up to one's ideal; he stressed, as necessary qualifications, passion, personality, and preparation.

Dr. Clarke spoke in chapel Saturday morning, on the subject of the ministry as a life work.

In the geological lecture room Saturday night, Mr. Fetter gave an interesting stereopticon lecture entitled, "World Upheavals." The slides represented chiefly conditions in the Orient; and the necessity for Christianizing the far East was emphasized. This lecture was followed by short addresses from Miss Ruth Cornish and Miss Ruth I. Seabury, both of whom spoke on Christian callings for women, and Mr. H. Langdon Pratt, who spoke on "Every Useful Calling a Christian Calling.

The visitors spoke in the churches of Waterville Sunday morning, and also at a union service of the churches in the Methodist church Sunday night.

A vesper service was held in chapel, Sunday afternoon, at four o'clock. Mr. Pratt spoke briefly, emphasizing the need of business methods and efficiency in all life work. The main address was given by Dr. Clarke, who appealed to college men and women to think of service when choosing their callings. "Every good service ever done for humanity has cost the blood and the pain of men dominated by the desire to serve mankind, no matter what the cost." As examples, Dr. Clarke mentioned the cross of Christ, the martyrdom of Father Damon, Elijah Parish Lovejoy, and William Lloyd Garrison.

After the meeting many men and women expressed their appreciation of the services of the visitors.

Y. M. C. A. ELECTS OFFICERS

Chas. E. Mitchell, '21, was elected president of the Y. M. C. A. at the meeting last night. The other officers elected were Vice-President, C. H. Gale, '22, Secretary, R. J. Bates, '22, and Treasurer, E. J. Shearman, '22. These men will take office next Tuesday night.

Dr. A. S. Phelps gave the first of a series of addresses, entitled "Life Enlistment." Next week, he will speak on the subject, "Wanted, A Man."

It was announced that the Y. M. C. A. would hold another fraternity stunt night this coming Saturday, the committee in charge to consist of Spinney, Woodworth and Mayo.

MUSICAL CLUBS SCORE SUCCESS

The Concert Company composed of fourteen men from the Musical Clubs, took its first out-of-town trip on Thursday and Friday, March 25 and 26, just before the Easter vacation. Thursday evening a concert was given in Winthrop and Friday evening a concert was given in Berlin, N. H. There was very good attendance at both concerts, especially in Berlin. That the program was highly satisfactory and that the company made a good impression at Berlin is well shown in the write-up given it in a Berlin newspaper. The successful trip this year paves the way for a good New Hampshire trip for next year.

This week, Thursday and Friday, the Concert Company, under the direction of H. T. Urie, will give concerts in Amesbury and Newburyport, Mass., for the benefit of the endowment fund. Urie has secured excellent contracts and should not only clear some money on the trip but also give the endowment fund some publicity. Because of the postponement of the Intercollegiate Debate to May 10, Manager Pratt is trying to change the date for the coast trip, to be taken by the Musical Clubs, to the last week in April. Doubtless this change can and will be made. The rehearsals of the Musical Clubs are now being resumed.

THE JUNIOR PROM A BRILLIANT SOCIAL AFFAIR

Perhaps one of the most brilliant social affairs ever held at Colby was the annual Junior Prom, which was given on Friday evening at Elks Hall, between the hours of 8.30 and 2.

Never has better music for dancing been furnished in Waterville than was heard on Friday evening, when the Curtis Colored Orchestra of Boston, Mass., played for an order of 24 numbers. Another big feature of the dance was the unique decorations. The hall was decorated with the banners of the various fraternities and sororities and with streamers of blue and gray, the Colby colors. Palms and potted plants were in evidence throughout the hall, thus adding an unusual touch to the decoration scheme. But perhaps the most unusual aspect of the occasion was the feature dance, which was the tenth, the last before intermission. This was called the Dance of 1921, and it lasted for fully half an hour. Each girl was given a toy balloon, and every one had a fancy cap. Confetti and streamers were thrown in abundance. This dance, it is safe to say, was enjoyed more than any other of the entire program. Still another feature was the unusual favors. These were card cases made of leather in the college colors, with the Colby seal done in gold.

In the receiving line were President and Mrs. Arthur J. Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. J. William Black, Dr. and Mrs. Homer P. Little, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Ashcraft, Mr. Raymond H. Spinney of South Eliot; the president of the Junior class in the Men's Division, and Miss Bernice B. Butler, of Portland the President of the Women's Division of the Junior class.

About 100 couples were in attendance. Many of the guests were from out of town, and a number from out of the state. Several students from the other Maine colleges were also present. At intermission, a light buffet lunch was served for those who did not care to leave the hall.

The committee in charge of the Prom, to whom all the credit is due for arranging a most successful affair, consisted of the following men from the Junior class: Bernard E. Esters, of Houlton; Chairman; Phil T. Somerville, of Houlton; Ransom Pratt, of Corning, N. Y.; Raymond H. Spinney, of South Eliot; and Joel E. Taylor, of Skowhegan.

It is rumored that the Glee Club is working out on the new rag entitled, "When It's Rhubarb Time in Russia, Will You Bolshevicky Me."—Miami Student.

STUDENT'S PART IN CENTENNIAL

At a meeting called by President Roberts on Mar. 24, practically all of the students of the college gathered in the chapel. Miss Adele Gilpatrick of Hallowell was introduced as the speaker of the occasion. Miss Gilpatrick stated that the reason for the calling of this meeting was to find out how we can best celebrate Colby's Centennial. She mentioned the fact that people from all parts of the country would be present. Miss Gilpatrick then told the students that they were to take parts in the Centennial Pageant. She stated that this production would be in twelve episodes, which in brief, are as follows: First: The Baptists, The Pilgrims and Roger Williams; second The founding of Colby; third, The Spirit of Learning and The Spirit of Colby; fourth, the Spirit of '61; fifth, Janitor Sam Osborne; Sixth, The Admission of Women; seventh, The Preparatory Schools; eighth, Colby's Benefactors; ninth, The Great War; tenth, Missions; eleventh, Colby Today; twelfth, The Crowning of Colby.

The title of the Pageant will be "The Torch of Learning," and Mrs. Lena Small Harris will take the leading part as "The Spirit of Learning."

The College has been extremely fortunate in securing Miss Lotta A. Clark of Boston as director. Saturday, April 3, Miss Clark addressed the members of the costumes committee upon the necessity of making a thorough canvas for antique and striking costumes for the occasion. Miss Clark and Miss Gilpatrick will be here from April 19 to April 24 for the first rehearsal of the Pageant.

COLBY For COLBY MEN For COLBY

Conditions in athletics appear to be improving. A new spirit seems to have been born. Let us foster it. There are approximately forty candidates for the baseball teams, one of the largest squads in recent years. Several new men have come out for track. It is Coach Ryan's ambition to have every Colby man working in athletics. We must build up this department. There is a place for everybody. It makes no difference whether you are a senior or a freshman. There is no class distinction.

Democracy reigns. A place awaits every two-fisted man.

Remember the schedule:

Maine Intercollegiates, May 15.

New England Meet, May 22.

National Meet, May 29 and 30.

Colby should be represented in all three meets and will be if the students will cooperate with the coach. Don't forget that the key of success is spirit and cooperation. You cannot follow a tangent. You must exert a force toward a definite purpose—a successful athletic season.

Come out and find your place. There is baseball, spring football practice, tennis, and track. If you are not in one of these groups, Coach Ryan will establish a walking club which can serve as a nucleus for a winter sports' club.

The first of a series of Wednesday afternoon athletic contests will begin this week. These will serve as elimination contests for the Maine Intercollegiates. If you don't take part, at least, be present.

Remember that the day of the parlor athlete has passed.

It is time to stop playing with words and to act.

PROFESSOR KIMBALL SPEAKS

Professor Ernest Kimball head of the department of economics at Smith College, delivered the second of a series of addresses, under the auspices of the International Relations Club, in the Chapel, last Thursday evening. The subject of his address was: "Constitutional Obstacles to International Comity." Professor Kimball explained very comprehensively the three types of government, their shortcomings, and the tendencies toward which they were moving.

Up to the time of the present war we thought that the world was approaching a condition of international comity. Practically all of the nations of the world, except Germany and her allies, were united by treaty. The League of Nations is an attempt toward this end—a union of states, limiting the sovereignty of the individual states by a covenant. Professor Kimball pointed out that the countries that are endangering international comity are those which have omissions and deficiencies in their own constitutions. There are three prominent evils in government; namely, secret diplomacy, lack of good leaders, and a lack of popular control.

Of the three types of government, the cabinet or parliamentary is the most flexible. It is the most responsive to public opinion. The executive is chosen by the legislature and may be reelected by it. The cabinet may be removed by this body. There is a possibility of legislative tyranny, however, as when the English Parliament of 1910, elected for a period of five years, remained in office until 1918.

In the presidential type, we have a rigid constitution, and the executive is chosen for a fixed term. The possibility of a deadlock is an important objection.

The ministerial type does not exist today. It is the despotic form of government typified in Germany and Russia before the war.

At the conclusion of his address Professor Kimball was tendered a rising vote of thanks.

Mississippi River Power Company, Keokuk, Iowa

A casting for one of the huge water-wheel driven generators installed in the Mississippi River Power Company's plant at Keokuk. This installation will ultimately consist of thirty of these machines, giving a total capacity of 216,000 kilowatts (800,000 horse-power). It is the largest hydro-electric development in the world. The General Electric Company builds generators for water-wheel drive in sizes ranging from 87½ to 32,500 kilowatts and the aggregate capacity of G-E units now in successful operation is in excess of four million horse-power.

Utilizing Nature's Power

ELECTRICAL energy generated by water power has grown to be one of our greatest natural resources—and we have only begun to reach its possibilities. It mines and refines our ores, turns the wheels of industry, drives our street cars and lights our cities and towns. The power obtained from Nature saves many million tons of coal every year. At first the field of its utilization was limited by the distance electricity could be transported. But, soon research and engineering skill pointed the way to larger and better electrical apparatus necessary for high-voltage transmission. Then ingenious devices were invented to insure protection against lightning, short-circuits, etc., which cause damage and interrupt the service. And now all over the country a network of wires begins to appear, carrying the magic power. The General Electric Company, with its many years' experience, has played a great part in hydro-electric development. By successfully co-ordinating the inventive genius of the company and its engineering and manufacturing abilities, it has accomplished some of the greatest achievements in the production and application of electrical energy.

The old mill wheel of yesterday has gone. Today the forces of immense volumes of water are harnessed and sent miles away to supply the needs of industry and business and the comforts of the home.
