COLBY WINS AND LOSES

At Waterville and Worcester

The judges rendered a unanimous decision for the affirmative team of Colby at the debate last night in chapel with a team from Tufts. The proposition was: Resolved: "That it would be the best policy for the Federal Government of the United States permanently to acquire and operate the railroads of the country as one unified system of national transportation." Wolstenholme, '22, Marden, '21, and Tyler, '20, spoke for Colby; L. A. Owen, H. M. Bailey, S. V. Gilman for Tufts. President Roberts presided. The judges were Melvin S. Holway of Augusta, Arthur L. Thayer of Bangor and Thomas C. Ingraham of Augusta.

The speaking was of a high order. The affirmative team perhaps had the more finished delivery; the negative team introduced much extemporaneous rebuttal into their main speeches. The work of S. V. Gilman for the negative was notable.

The Colby negative team lost the debate at Worcester with Clark College, according to the report which came last night. The members of the team were Leonard, '21, Urie, '20, and Choate, '20.

Clark, upholding the negative at Medford last night against Tufts, won the debate.

BATES BEATS COLBY

As far as score is concerned, the game last Saturday with Bates began and ended in the first inning. Wiggin, the first man up to bat, fanned. The next two men, Dillon and Von Vloten, both reached first because of Greenlaw's failure to field their in-field hits in time. The next two men were passed by Bucknam and so one man was forced home. Sauvage fanned and Burns, immediately after, hit to Good who threw to Wills at first. Wills dropped the ball and then made a wild throw to home. The ball rolled in under the bleachers while the three men on bases crossed the plate making a score of Bates 4, Colby 0. From the first inning the game was in a large measure a pitcher's battle with Captain Bucknam receiving very poor support while the whole Bates team was playing good ball. The work of both pitchers was very good. Bucknam struck out six men and allowed one hit and two passes. Johnston struck out nine men and allowed three hits and three passes. Lampher played a very good game behind the bat. Several times after the first inning both Colby and Bates staged rallies but were unable to score.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES FOR COLLEGE MEN

The big merchants of New York are anxious to get college men into their ranks; they realize the ability of the college trained man and are willing to meet him halfway.

As an illustration of this general trend, twenty of New York's largest department stores have cooperated with New York University in establishing a training school for the purpose of training college graduates as teachers of salesmanship, directors of training, personnel managers or for other numerous executive positions in the store.

The course requires two years for completion and the phase of the work which should appeal to the college man is the opportunity for practical business training in the stores every day. One half the day is devoted to classroom study and lectures on the various aspects of merchandising while the remainder of the day is spent in actual work in the co-operating stores.

The students not only get two years of thorough practical training, but they are paid on a uniform salary basis for the time spent in the store through a Graduate Training Fellowship worth from $700 to $1,000.

SONG

(From the German of Theodor Storm)

The Gypsy Girl sings:

"Today, and but today alone

My charms can last:

Tomorrow, that today is gone,

All will be past.

So few the hours—alas! I cry,

Are you my own.

And O to think that I must die—

And die alone!"

ST. ANSELM'S-COLBY GAME

It was a well played game of ball in which St. Anselm's defeated Colby 1-0, on Alumni Field last Wednesday. Neither team was able to score until the first of the ninth inning when Downey of St. Anselm's reached first on a hard hit ball that Klain stopped but was unable to handle. A bad throw by Greenlaw to first allowed Downey to reach second. He stole third on Klain's wind up and scored the only run of the game on Sullivan's sacrifice fly to center. The feature of the game was the successful hold-up of St. Anselm's rally in the sixth by a fast double play by Greenlaw and Lampher. Both teams played very good ball with comparatively few errors. The excellent work of both Klain and Laughery in the pitcher's box is well worth mentioning. But the game was not solely a pitcher's battle for both teams gave their twirlers good support and practically every man was playing at or above par all of the time.

PRESS OF THE CITY JOB PRINT

COLBY For COLBY MEN For COLBY

On to Lewiston!

We extend a hearty welcome to the Lyford speakers, who come here this week-end from the high and preparatory schools of Maine and New Hampshire. The campus will belong to them for a day or two. Let us do all in our power to make them feel at home at the old college.

A short time before the outbreak of the Great War, Henry Newbolt wrote a poem called "Play the Game." It met with popular favor at once and its popularity has since steadily increased. It consists of but three verses, the last line of all three being "Play up, play up, and play the game." It is this compelling line that summarizes the whole poem.

It is this line that applies directly to you. You are in college for a purpose; if you are not, then Colby would be better off without you. Don't forget to "play the game" all thru your college course. No matter what it be—whether on the diamond, the gridiron, the cinder path, the forensic platform, or what not—"play the game." Observe all the rules of the particular "game" you are interested in, vow to do your level best, and play for Colby. Whatever you are tempted to do, don't break training; a man who does is nothing less than a traitor to his college. Colby has an urgent need of "coming back" this year, in athletics especially. It's up to us all, as individuals, to "play the game."

R. H. S.

It is a source of gratification to many Colby men that there is at least one morning when they really "get together"—at the "sings" on Tuesday mornings. It gives a touch of the old-time Colby spirit when the chapel rings with the strains of "On to Victory" and "Alma Mater." Altho there may be more harmonies, yet there is no better music than this blending of over 200 voices uplifted in the anthems of Colby. As President Roberts said, such "sings" are fine things and everyone should make it a special point to be at chapel every Tuesday morning.

R. H. S.

MAINE INTERCOLLEGIATES

Next Saturday afternoon the Maine Intercollegiate Track Championships will take place at Lewiston. A Colby track team will take part for the first time since pre-war days.

Although we cannot expect it to break any records, Coach Ryan and Captain Mayo believe that there is an exceptionally good opportunity to win in four or five events, provided that the men can rise to the occasion.

A large number of men plan to go, and perhaps a special train will be secured. The faculty has voted to excuse Saturday cuts.

Training College Men for Business

The Graduate School of Business Administration of Harvard University offers a two-year course to college graduates. The course is designed to give a broad fundamental training for business together with specialization in those fields in which the student is most interested.

College men, looking to business as a career, feel the lack of adequate preparation which enables them to deal effectively either with general business problems or with the problems in their own special fields. The Harvard Business School aims to fill this need.

Special emphasis is placed upon the application of business theory to actual business problems. For this purpose the "problem method" of instruction is used. The Boston territory affords an excellent business laboratory.

Courses offered: Accounting, Business Law, Banking and Finance, Marketing, Advertising, Industrial Management, Employment Management, Business Statistics, Foreign Trade, Transportation, Insurance, Lumbering, Income Taxation, Office Organization, Printing and Publishing.

Completion of the two-year course leads to the degree of Master of Business Administration.
