:: LAW ::

The Boston University Law School

Trains students in the principles of the law and in the technique of the profession so as to best prepare them for active practice wherever the English system of law prevails.

America's new place in international politics and commerce challenges the young American.

He must equip himself for new world conditions with a knowledge of legal fundamentals.

LAW—Its principles and application to all business is almost as necessary to the coming business man as it is indispensable to the lawyer.

Special scholarships ($75 per year) are awarded to college graduates.

Course for LL. B. requires 3 school years. Those who have received this degree from this or any other approved school of law may receive LL. M. on the completion of one year's resident attendance under the direction of Dr. Melville M. Bigelow. Several $25 and $50 scholarships open in this course.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB MAY 3

The "home concert" of the Colby Musical Clubs will be given at the City Opera House, Tuesday evening, May 3. The clubs this year have had a most successful season, and the Waterville concert should be the best that has been given here in several years. Tickets are on sale at the various fraternity houses. These may be exchanged for reserved seats, later, at DeOrsay's Drug Store.

COLBY BAGS OPENING GAME

Reported by "Spigot"

Colby walloped the University of Maine yesterday afternoon on Seaverns field, by a 9 to 6 score. The game was loose, both teams showing the effect of the winter's relaxation. The first inning was a hitting contest between the two teams, nineteen men coming to bat, eleven of whom crossed the plate. Five of these were from Orono, and six were Colby's. Wood, first up for Maine, found Daniels' delivery, and slammed out a three bagger. Sargent went to first, and the two came home on Johnson's homer. Lunge and A. Johnson hit safely and made home on errors. Steins whiffed, and Rusk made the bag. The next couple, Prescott and Newell, went out at first on throws from pitcher's box and centerfield. The score stood 5 to 0, and Colby's hopes looked rather vain. Captain Taylor got to first on a hit to right center and stole second. He was advanced to third when Newell walked Wills and Moran. Lampher also drew a pass, and Taylor came in with Colby's first tally. Fitzgerald got a two-bagger to right center, sending in Wills and Moran, and advancing Lampher to third. Williams was hit by the pitcher, and the bases were full. Azzara drew a pass, forcing in Lampher. Ray and Maurice Daniels fanned. Taylor came up again and got to first on center's error. Fitzgerald and Williams came in. Azzara was caught at the plate by a throw from first to catcher, and the inning was over. Score 6 to 5.

The rest of the game was not so fast. Colby put men on with ease, until Jewett went in in the sixth for Nichols, who supplanted Newell in the second. Maurice Daniels found himself after the first, and with better support had things his own way, fanning four and getting several assists. Tarpey took his place in the sixth, and kept up the good work except in the ninth, when Wood, who had hit safely stole two bases and came in on a wild pitch.

There was a good sized crowd out, some five or six hundred being present. The cheering section was in action to some extent, but was not very noisy. The score:

LAMBDA CHIS CAPTURE BOWLING CUP

After trying once before, at the end of the winter term, the Phi Delts and the Lambda Chis succeeded last Wednesday afternoon in breaking the tie in the college bowling league. The cup went to the Lambda Chis by three to one. The match was hard fought, and was close all the way. Odom was high man, getting some wonderful breaks. Haines, who was against him, was somewhat disabled by a strained ankle, sustained in track practice. The summary:

	Lambda Chi Alpha
Hodges,	69	85	88	242
Odom,	120	94	84	312
Coulman,	73	80	84	237
Lovely,	89	83	84	256

Dunnack,	92	86	82	260
Smith,	86	70	76	232
Totals,	446	424	427	1279

The standing in the league at the end of the season was as follows:

	Won	Lost
Lambda Chi Alpha,	51	21
Phi Delta Theta,	49	23
Delta Upsilon,	44	24
Alpha Tau Omega,	34	38
Delta Kappa Epsilon,	33	39
Zeta Psi,	28	43
Pi Delta Phi,	7	61

The following are the bowlers by teams, with their respective averages: Alpha Tau Omega—Umphey, 90; Dolbeare, 83; Cushman, 85; Gross, 89; Levine, 88. Delta Upsilon—Kemp, 90; Perkins, 92; Weymouth, 82; McKay, 83; Loeffler, 88; Howard, 87; Merrill, 94; Royal, 88. Delta Kappa Epsilon—Hearon, 90; Wilson, 86; Gow, 90; Barnes, 80; Weise, 82; Ware, 85; Drummond, 83. Lambda Chi Alpha—Lovely, 93; Little, 88; Seekins, 80; Coulman, 89; Odom, 88; Hodges, 89. DELTA UPSILON INFORMAL DANCE

About seventy-five couples enjoyed an informal dance as guests of the Delta Upsilon fraternity at new Elks Hall, Monday night, April 18. The hall was attractively decorated with various fraternity and college banners and the D. U. escutcheon occupied a conspicuous place on the balcony. Dancing was enjoyed to excellent music furnished by the college orchestra with Mr. Provenci, substituting for Ray Daniels at the piano.

The chaperones were President and Mrs. Arthur J. Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. J. Wm. Black, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Libby, and Dean Nettie F. Runnals.

The committee in charge of the dance was composed of Paul Brooks, '21, Harold Lord, '22, and John P. Tilton, '22.

TENNIS SEASON OPENS

At a meeting of the tennis candidates, Monday afternoon, Captain Gow announced plans for the year. In addition to the Maine Intercollegiate Tournament, there will be two dual affairs—one with Bates and one with Bowdoin.

Already practise has begun and it is to be hoped that a team can soon be picked for the contest with Bowdoin, on May 5. The club house courts have been secured and every facility for a winning team is afforded.

GIFT TO LIBRARY BY BASSETT

Norman L. Bassett, Esq., of the Board of Trustees, has recently sent to the college library a copy of "Alton Trials," published in New York in 1888. This volume is an account of the trial of Winthrop S. Gilman, who was indicted with eleven others "for the crime of riot, committed on the night of the 7th of November, 1837, while engaged in defending a printing press, from an attack made on it at that time, by an armed mob," also the trial of John Solomon and seven others, indicted on a similar charge for "unlawfully and forcibly entering the warehouse of Godfrey, Gilman & Co., and breaking up and destroying a printing press." These trials were the outgrowth of the attack on Elijah Parish Lovejoy, and the book forms a valuable addition to the collection of books about Lovejoy in the college library. The book was sent to the college through Mr. Bassett by C. A. Caldwell, Esq., President of the Alton National Bank, Alton, Ill.

"FRAT" PINS

Almost any lovely lady is satisfied with a string of pearls, a diamond brooch or a diamond glinting somewhere between her jewelled comb and her cut steel buckles. She cares no more for ornaments than Omar did for hooch, which is where lovely women differ from the stalwart of the species. A man is satisfied with one pink frat pin.

No man has made the most of his education unless he comes from collegé drooping with a frat pin on his chest. A bird that spends four years in the front-line benches without bagging a campus croix-de-guerre is skipping close to the nix column. He must face the world without a fancy hat-band, without a mystic grip to slip all comers and without the Greek alphabet peeking from his vest. And that's some handicap. Since sport shoes have come down to six dollars a pair, it's getting harder than ever to distinguish the college guy.

There are 11,926,012 combinations of the Greek alphabet and just that many frats. Everything secret now-a-days is labelled Alpha or Omega, including salad dressing and linament. Any guy that hops through college without getting tagged for some Greek outfit is a Dud with a capital D and a missing fuse.

The frat guys are the outstanding gazinks of the dear old Alma Mater, the boys that drink the midnight fusel oil. The collegiate Klu Klux is the real thing in the mystic department. And the Greek letters are code language for something hidden and unseen, as for example Bona Voaka Delta for B. V. D.'s. The boys that peddle the hush dope make a moonshiner look like a public character.

All the big folks have been tagged for honors. George Washington belonged to the Kanna Tella Li fraternity, Babe Ruth has joined the Hitta Lotta Runs and Ponzi belongs to the I. O. U.'s.

No frat brother is complete without a triangle of platinum pinned where he spatters his breakfast's eggs. The real thing in frat fixings is a couple of spare parts of the Greek alphabet enclosed by a barrage of baby pearls and Attleboro diamonds. The creak that carries one of those hokey-oppo-keys over his fifth rib is a loud bang in frat circles. And every year they murder 120,000,000 oysters just to get pearls for the edge of those pins.

The big minute in a frat guy's life is when he gives a gal that pin. The skies quiver and the gods halt till the safety clasp pierces the dame's georgette. According to all the by-laws and umpty-umpties of the sacred frat the lady is now engaged to the yep that just gave up the pin. It is a thrilling moment, especially for the jane who can't read Greek.

Another star-spangled ceremony connected with the Balkan alphabet is slipping the old frat grip. The grand and solemn hand clasp has all the finger movements of a cornet solo without the cornet. When Greek meets Greek then comes the tug of paws. There is no thrill like feeling the authorized squeeze of a brother frat hand, and there are more victims of the Greek grip than there are of Spanish influenza.

The intricate moves of the Greek hand clasp makes the Bertillion system look like a rough description. But even so the grip's a good thing for the college boys. It's the one kind of manual labor they fall for. And that's our argument. You don't have to be a frat guy to get by in life but it helps. When you're broke and starving miles from home, you can always hock the frat pin.

—NEAL O'HARA, Boston Post.

PRESS OF THE CITY JOB PRINT

We are often told that the college is represented by her athletic teams. It is. But it is also represented by the student body—the rooters. We hear of the sportsmanship of teams. How about the sportsmanship of those in the bleachers?

Personal remarks about opposing players are not indicative of a proper college spirit. They are not worthy even of a respectable high school. Certainly they have no place in a college man's vocabulary. No matter what a man may be in private life, it is his duty to act the gentleman when he is a public representative of Colby. If he does not know how he should act, let him observe a Colby man who does. We are instinctively incensed against the public speaker or debater who indulges in personalities. Let us also show our disapproval of the over-zealous Colby rooter who uses questionable language at our athletic games.

C. E. R., R. H. S.

COMING! COMING!

This Friday, Saturday, and Sunday the Student Conference is to be held in Waterville. The four hundred boys coming here, the majority of whom are of "prep" school age, are sure to be interested in looking over Colby,—the campus, buildings, and students. Every one of us should be ready to show the boys around and help them out in any way we can. Invite them up to the fraternity house; make them feel at home. Their impression of Colby will be their impression of the student body. What YOU do can make their memories of Colby pleasant or otherwise.

We want as big a delegation at the Conference as we can possibly assemble. The registration fee is one dollar—a good investment. All those desiring to sign up, see "Dad" Moreland, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. immediately. Colby had the largest delegation at the Harvard Congerence. Let's repeat!

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Tuesday, April 12, the annual Y. W. C. A. banquet was held in Foss Hall. Mrs. Parmenter, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Libby, Mrs. Ashcraft, Mrs. Bessey, and Mrs. Smith were present as guests. Miss Grace R. Foster, retiring president, introduced the following speakers: Dean Runnals, Mrs. Brown, and Miss Hazel G. Dyer, the new president.

Following the banquet an impressive installation service was held. The officers installed for 1921-1922 are president, Miss Hazel G. Dyer; vice-president, Miss Louisa Tilley; treasurer, Miss Daphne M. Fish; secretary, Miss Louise L. Steele.

Miss Oolooah Burnor will be with Colby Y. W.

C. A. from Saturday until Monday. She will be present at several Round Table discussions on the subject of "Christian Fundamentals." It is a very great privilege to have her here.

Tuesday evening, April 19, the Y. W. C. A. meeting, lead by Misses Adelle McLoon and Marjorie Hornung, was in the form of an open forum. "Ideals of Christian Achievement" was the topic.

On Saturday afternoon try-outs for the Junior play, "The Merchant of Venice," which is to be given Ivy Day, were held. Miss Exerene Flood, who is to coach the production, has selected the cast and rehearsals will begin immediately.

Rita Shorey of Boston, Mass., is visiting Naomi Maher, '22.

Bertha Norton, '21, went to Orono Monday, where she attended the Freshman ball.

Margaret White, '24, had as her guest over the holiday her sister, Mary White of Augusta.

Mrs. J. E. Davis of Livermore Falls visited her daughter Marcia, at Dutton House recently.

Rita Bell and Mabel Waterman of South Portland are visiting Helen Dresser and Evangeline York.

Kathryn Larkin of Augusta attended the Glee Club concert Friday evening. While in Waterville she was the guest of Naomi Maher.

Agnes McBride, '24, who has been ill at her home in Lubec, has returned to college.

Marion Waterman, '20, was in town for the game Tuesday.

Both the Sophomores and the Freshmen celebrated the holiday by having picnics.

Mrs. Baker spent the week-end with her daughter, Beatrice.

Mrs. Goodhue visited her daughter Kathleen, last week.

The Junior delegation of Sigma Kappa had a birthday feed in the sorority hall, Tuesday noon.

Ruth Banghart, '22, had her mother as a guest over the week-end.

Mary Carl, '22, spent the week-end at her home in Bingham.

Alice Clark, '21, and Edna Chamberlain, '22, are ill with the grippe.

BUTLER REMINISCENCES

No less a personage than Gen. Benjamin F. Butler taught two or more terms in the little schoolhouse in Cornville, Maine. Butler was a native of New Hampshire but studied for a time at Colby college. Being poor he worked his way through college by teaching school. That is how he came to be a resident of Cornville. Ben was a picturesque character even in his youth with the same lop-eye he carried in older life, which gave an uncertain, quizzical expression in his facial landscape, and kept the college from being dull. Calvinism held full sway at Colby when he was a student, and absence from prayers or sermons was a heinous offence. The faculty consisted of nine doctors of divinity and with the student body numbered about 100. The president one Sunday in preaching about the elect calculated that only about six of 100 souls could enter the kingdom of heaven, wherefore Butler petitioned to be excused from further attendance on divine service, because he said with the nine doctors of divinity in his 100 he stood no chance. Only the audacious sarcasm for which he was always noted saved him from expulsion for such sacrilege.—Lewiston Journal.

Who Was Moseley?

HE was a young Oxford man, only twenty-seven when he was killed at Gallipoli. Up to his time, man had never seen the inside of an atom. He turned the X-rays on matter—not figuratively but literally—and made them disclose the skeleton of an atom just as certainly as a surgeon makes them reveal the positions of the bones of the body. Moseley proved that all atoms are built up of the same kind of matter. He saw, too, just why an atom of copper is different from an atom of gold.

Atoms are built up of electrons. Each atom consists of a nucleus, a kind of sun, with a certain number of electrons grouped about it, like planets. Moseley actually counted the number of electrons of all the metals from aluminum to gold.

When you discover what gold is made of or a new fact about electricity, you open up new possibilities for the use of gold or electricity. For that reason the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are as much concerned with the "how" of things—atoms and electrons, for instance—as they are with mere applications of the electric current.

Hence Moseley's work has been continued in the Research Laboratories, with the result that more has been learned about matter. How does water freeze? What is lead? Why are lead, iron, gold and tungsten malleable? Such questions can be answered more definitely now than ten years ago. And because they can be answered it is possible to make more rapid progress in illumination, in X-ray photography, in wireless telegraphy, and in electrical engineering as a whole.

There would have been no coal-tar industry without the vast amount of research conducted in organic chemistry, and no electro-chemical industry without such work as Sir Humphrey Davey's purely scientific study of an electric current's effect on caustic potash and caustic soda. Sooner or later research in pure science always enriches the world with discoveries that can be practically applied. For these reasons the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company devote so much time to the study of purely scientific problems.

STORE with the WHITE FRONT

: BOYS :

This is the College Store

NEVER in the history of over 30 years in business has this store recorded so many sales of Clothing to the College Boys as it has this past year.

We would like to say that this store is today selling mdse. at 30 to 50% under price of four months ago. We are buying clothing every day and selling it over our counters at a considerable saving to those who buy. High prices have gone, and this is one store, regardless of what we paid, dropped our prices when the market dropped.

Boys! Make This Your Store
