

KEMP ELECTED TRACK CAPTAIN

Pole-Vaulter Chosen to Fill Cook's Shoes.

At a meeting of the track team this afternoon, Chilton L. Kemp, '23, was elected captain for the rest of the year to fill the vacancy made by the absence of Leslie H. Cook.

Kemp is another example of Mike Ryan's work. He entered college three years ago absolutely without any athletic record. At Higgins he had played on the basketball and baseball teams but without any notable success. Under Ryan's tutelage, he went to work at pole-vaulting and today he holds the college record in that event. Last year, he tied for second place in the state meet and this year he should go even better.

He is optimistic about Colby's chances in the meet this year and the student body has confidence peculiarly in him as a man on whom it can count to do better than his best if necessary. His feat last year at the meet in vaulting some ten inches higher than he had ever done before was calculated to inspire that confidence.

F. A. SHEPHERD ADDRESSES CLASS

Colby Man Speaks on "Journalistic Sidelights" —Discusses Requisites for a Newspaper Man.

Frederick A. Shepherd, local correspondent of the Kennebec Journal, addressed the journalism class last Friday morning on the subject, "Journalistic Sidelights." The speaker, long associated with newspaper work, gave many interesting incidents connected with his work and gave an interesting discussion of the prerequisites of good journalism. A photographic brain, a complete education, the possession of broad humanitarian impulses, the characteristics of a fighter, and reliability are the qualifications and attributes essential in the makeup of a news writer according to the speaker.

In the course of his remarks the well known newsman said that journalism is the field in which man can accomplish the most good for his fellows with the possible exception of the pulpit and the classroom. These three are the great service vocations open to the young men of the present generation. How can man serve in the capacity of useful endeavor better than to devote his life to the fulfillment of the ideals of the press and the uplift of mankind?

The press exerts a tremendous influence over that great public institution, public opinion. By means of carefully thought out editorials and policies, the newspapers of the present render decisions and advocate movements and enactments for the public good. These ideas and opinions are accepted by the majority of the readers as correct and they maintain a power for good or evil which cannot be underestimated.

That the responsibility of the press is great, that the importance of the newspaper in guiding public opinion is infinite and complete is not to be denied. By the idle pratings of an uninformed reporter, the thought of thousands of well minded people may be directed into the wrong channels.

The press is as important in influencing the mind of the young people of the country as the teaching of the elementary schools and the loving care and instruction of the parent. The press is responsible to a great degree in the successful bringing up of the young men and women who will not in their future lives in a manner that will continue the progress and development of the state and nation.

Reporters must not consider their paper, their position, and their work as merely a commercial enterprise. If they do, the press will sink to the level of the yellow journal, the prestige of the pen will suffer, and the part played by the press in the moral, spiritual and intellectual well being of the na-

Many interesting stories were told by the speaker in narrating a few of his experiences in the newspaper field, stories that showed the things that must be overcome by the successful journalist in carrying on the work in a manner that shall cause credit to accrue to his profession and reputation to his paper.

In closing, Mr. Shepherd emphasized the importance of accuracy in the writing of articles which shall come before the eye of the public. Incomparable injury may result from inaccurate statements appearing in the paper when a little more effort on the part of the reporter and a little more discretion would have eliminated such carelessness. The men in charge of our papers must be conscientious, trustworthy and disinterested. They should be respectful of the responsibility bestowed upon them. They should be ever mindful and cognizant of the importance of their positions and should remember that the daily bulletins are primarily the heralds of intellectuality and the guide posts of advancements.

SENIORS WIN GYMNASIUM MEET

Annual Event Won for The Second Time by Women of '22—Other Events in Girls' Field Day.

The second annual gymnasium meet was held Wednesday, May 3. The Seniors were the winners of the meet by but two hundredths of a point. The class coming next in the number of points was the Freshmen. Last year a cup was presented by Mrs. William Gardiner of Augusta to the winners of the meet which was won by this year's Senior class then Junior. The class obtaining the highest number of points before field day will receive the cup for this year's work.

The program for Wednesday consisted of gymnastic exercises, apparatus work and aesthetic dancing.

The judges for the meet were Professor Harry Edwards, Miss Nellie Jordan, head of the state department of physical education, Mrs. Edward R. Risley and Miss Evelyn Manchester.

Among those receiving honorable mention were: Eleanor Bailey, Beatrice Baker, Mary Brier, Ruth Goodwin, Catherine Larrabee, Laura Stanley, Dorothy White, Clara Wightman, Bertha Gillatt, Doris Dickey, Helen Libby, Elizabeth Griffin, Melva Mann, Helen Springfield, Myrtice Swain, Doris Wyman, Ruth Fifield, Doris Ackley, Ruth Fairbanks, Ervena Goodale, Ethel Harmon, Hazel Berry, Rosamond Cummings, Josephine Warburton, Helen Pratt, Hazel Dyer, Leonette Warburton, Carrie Baker, Ruth Allen, Bernice Robinson and Clara Harthorn.

During the afternoon Helen Libby, Helen Pratt and Ruth Allen were presented with health league monograms. This monogram is presented to the women who have won forty-five health league points by hygienic living and by their activities in all athletic contests.

Bertha Gillatt, the retiring president installed Doris Wyman as the new president, Helen Libby as vice-president, and Leonette Warburton secretary and treasurer.

The gymnasium meet ended the indoor classes for the present. Now tennis and baseball will complete the semester's work.

Vina Paront is manager of tennis and Julia Hoyt manager of baseball. Two new tennis courts have been made opposite Dutton house while the hockey field is used as a baseball diamond.

FINE WORK IN LYFORD CONTEST

First Award Goes to Cushing Academy Speakers.

The finals of the Thirteenth Annual Lyford Interscholastic Prize Speaking Contest were held in the Colby Chapel Friday evening, May 5, 1922. During the afternoon, the preliminaries were conducted, the 47 contestants being divided up between three groups, each with two professors as judges. In this way, the choice was narrowed to fifteen boys who spoke again in the evening before the public.

Several hundred people braved the rain and were in the chapel to hear the boys. Among these were a large number of friends and relatives of the speakers who had come some times from great distances. Prof. Henry E. Trefethen was the presiding officer. The judges were Rev. George Merriam, '79, of Skowhegan, Rev. Charles E. Owen, '79, of Waterville, and Rev. I. B. Mower of Waterville. Prayer was offered by Dr. Mower.

The first speaker was Aubrey L. Fenderson of Aroosook Central Institute who gave the "Plea for Defense in Haywood Trial." It was a stirring subject and well handled.

Benjamin Butler of Farmington High School gave "The Message to Garcia." This he gave in a restrained and yet effective manner.

Augustus Hodgkins also of Farmington High gave Baker's "Reply to Breckinridge." He did this with commendable snap and energy.

"Makers of the Flag," by the late Franklin K. Lane was very well given by William C. Cusack of Cushing (Mass.) Academy. This beautiful bit of prose was delivered in such a way as to bring out admirably the beauty and significance of the subject.

Waterville's only representative, Philip J. Nagem gave an extract from Roosevelt's speech on "The Rights of Mankind."

Robert W. Coyne of Bangor High School gave "The Meaning of the Declaration of Independence," by Wilson. His delivery was forceful and well suited to the selection.

Perhaps the most appropriate subject of the evening was Gifford Davis's comment on "The Weather," written by Mark Twain. This whimsical dissertation on New England climate took on a special significance as the audience listened to wind and rain beating against the windows.

In direct contrast to this was "The American Infamy" by Glenton Thompson of Phillips High School. It was a stirring denunciation of the lynching evil of our South.

Maurice A. Bowers of Camden High School gave in dramatic fashion that episode at the signing of the Declaration of Independence, "The Unknown Speaker" by Lippard.

Also from Camden came Arnold S. Calahan who gave Bryan's thoughtful essay on "The Dreamers." It was an interesting subject and well handled.

"In the Firmament of Memory" by Wilson was given by Don D. Irish from Leavitt Institute. He put a great deal of personality in his delivery.

Leon R. Townsend from Newport High School gave Honan's "Subjugation of the Philippines" in a very forceful and direct manner.

One of Roosevelt's characteristic doctrines, "The Strenuous Life" was delivered by Robert Scott of Old Town High School.

The youngest orator of the evening was Donald W. Wobber from the Edward Little High School. He gave Elihu Root's eulogy on Theodore Roosevelt in a simple, unaffected manner, yet did full justice to the subject.

The last speaker of the evening was Prescott W. Emory who delivered Pres. McKinley's "Address to the South."

The judges then retired for consultation and in the meantime the audience was led in singing Colby and other popular songs. As the judges

ENTIRE COLLEGE ON TIPTOE AS DAY OF TRACK MEET APPROACHES

Big Event of Year Being Predicted by Dopesters—Men of Every College Especially Strong This Year.

Next Saturday, the biggest sporting event of the year in Maine will take place on Seaverns field when the Maine college athletes congregate for the Maine Intercollegiate Track and Field meet. At no other time probably is there such intense rivalry and keen spirit as at a track meet, and those who know say that so far as enthusiasm is concerned these Maine contests are unique. Because every Maine college is a rival of every other and because the number is small, there is always excitement plus at a track meet.

This year probably the rivalry is greater than ever before. Every team started with championship hopes. Every team has suffered some losses—ineligibility, injuries, or other disqualification. But every college is standing to, on tiptoe to see their men put up the big fight in history—next Saturday.

With new grandstand and track, Colby is prepared to provide the equipment for just that kind of fight, and with good weather it will be a memorable day.

No one can figure a team's chances before a contest. Everyone likes to try to. Let us look over Colby's entry list:

100 yard dash—Brier, Eustis, Hearon, Vale, McGary.

220 yard dash—Brier, Eustis, Hearon, Vale, McGary.

440 yard dash—Brier, Perkins, Foran, Hearon, McGary, Hathaway.

880 yard run—Perkins, Whittemore, Hathaway, Harvey, McBay.

Pole vault—Kemp, Lyon, Berry, Treworby.

Shot put—Frude, Berry, Morse, Pottle, Treworby, Wentworth.

Hammer throw—Frude, Berry, Morse, Pottle, Treworby, Wentworth.

Discus throw—Frude, Berry, Morse, Pottle, Koff, Wentworth.

High jump—Fasee, Seifert, Mayo, Paine, Wallace.

Two mile run—Fasee, Laughton, Roy, Paine, Nardi.

High hurdles—Soule, Kittridge, Dolbeare, Kemp, Young.

Low hurdles—Soule, Kittridge, Dolbeare, Kemp, Young.

Broad jump—Brier, Hearon, Jordan, Soule, Kittridge.

In all this aggregation of track men, it would seem that there would be some point winners. Nevertheless the different dopsters have conceded to us scores varying from 2-3 to 9 points. The Lewiston Journal, for instance, gives us second in the pole vault, 0 to 3 points in the two mile, and 1 to 0 points in the 440, making a grand total of between 3 and 7 points. The Boston Globe is more lenient and allows 8 points, though not specifying how they will be won.

The Kennebec Journal gives us an absolute maximum of 8 points. The Portland Press-Herald expects us to get second place in the 220, two mile, and pole vault. Most of the other papers have similar views but they have one thing in common, they all qualify their statements with some such expression as the following, from the Lewiston Journal: "We prophesy a close struggle between Bates and Bowdoin with Maine a poor third and Colby in the rut. For several years, however, Colby has been depicted as a possible gatherer of from 2 to 10 points and each time has come through with unexpected strength. What will happen in 1922?"

Mike Ryan has a reputation as a breeder of dark horses, and has a habit of upsetting dope. So, bearing in mind that we are leaving out those dusky equines, we will proceed with dope that has been released by the Committee on Public Misinformation.

In the sprints, Butler of Bowdoin is probably the best man. Landers of Bates is also a fast man, but is inexperienced. Mason of Bowdoin is very good. Maine has two fast men in Pinkham and Thomas. The latter will probably place at least third in the 100. Brier of Colby sprained his tendon badly last Monday and so probably will not be able to run, much less place, next Saturday.

The 440 seems to be cinched by Archibald of Bates, with Mason of Bowdoin second. Bates of Bates and Lawrence of Maine with possibly one of Colby's quartermilers will have a fight for third.

Hunt of Bowdoin who won the 440 last year, will probably enter the half and beat out Sannella of Bates, whom some dopsters have picked. McBay or Harvey, although having never competed in intercollegiate company, may prove to be among Mike's dark horses.

In the mile, we will lack the services of Mercer who last year left Baker in the distance. Maine is about as strong in milers as anybody and both Webster and Ames stand a good show of placing. Sargent of Bates is good, and if Baker starts he can undoubtedly win.

For the two mile, last year's race may be duplicated so far as Paine and Baker are concerned, with Butler of Bowdoin somewhere near the top. With good weather and track, whether Paine or Baker comes home in the van, the existing state record 9:54 2-5 will be knocked for a row of grandstands.

In the hurdles, Colby is badly jinxed. Weise will be warming up the new stadium because of his inability to leap all his courses, and Dolbeare is having trouble with two ribs he cracked last fall in football. Hardy and Wentworth of Bowdoin seem to be indicated for first and third in the highs, with Burrill of Bates as second man. Dunn of Maine has a good reputation in the low hurdles, and Jenkins and Burrill of Bates with Sweet of Maine will run up for the next two positions.

Bowdoin is particularly strong in the weight events and should have no difficulty in cleaning up in that department. Tootell has a chance for making three first places with Charles, also of Bowdoin, runnerup in the shot put. Cohen of Maine would undoubtedly have placed if he had not been protested on account of professionalism. Frude is the most experienced of the Colby hurdlers, and has the dopsters guessing.

In the hammer, Strout of Maine, last year's winner, and Mason of Bowdoin seem to cop the other two places although Ross of Bates has sometimes sent the weight away for a long journey.

Luce of Bates is expected by some to beat out Tootell in the discuss with Bishop of Maine and Charles of Bowdoin fighting it out for third.

Phillbrook of Bowdoin won the high jump last year and is naturally expected to repeat this year. Hearon, unless too far spent by his dashes, may be able to place. Small of Bowdoin and Boydon of Maine are also good jumpers.

The running broad jump is somewhat of a problem since none of last year's point winners will be entered. Pinkham of Maine has cleared the most this year, while his team-mate Burdick was not very far behind. Bates of Bates has also done well. This is more or less of a dark horse event and anything over 20 feet is liable to place, so it defies prophecy.

In the pole vault, if Capt. Kemp outdoes himself as much as he did last spring, he will give Bishop a good fight for first place. Wilson of Bates may get third place with luck.

To sum up, Bowdoin will win the meet mainly on her scores in the field events while Bates will outscore every body on the track. However, this will depend largely upon how she enters her men. Maine will be scoring here and there, and as for Colby, let Saturday tell its own story. In the meantime, just look over the above dope carefully, and then laugh.

Ashley L. Bickmore who has been confined at the Sisters' hospital for the last two weeks, by a bad case of pneumonia, has left for his home in Charleston. He is rapidly convalescing and expects to return to college shortly.

LET'S PHILOSOPHIZE A LITTLE.

Let us face the situation. A perfectly good track team appears to have received a serious set-back in the last two weeks. Even so, the damage is done. Many and various people have committed many and various sins of omission and commission, but they have been committed and the damage is done. We have been deploring the situation long enough. There will be plenty of time after next Saturday, if we want to talk it over still more. But for the present, let's take a deep breath and face a disagreeable situation like men rather than whining children.

There is much in the present state of affairs that is not creditable to the college. It is unfortunate that any men should ever flunk courses or overcut. It is unfortunate that those men did not take interest enough in their work to know it when they are in difficulties. It is unfortunate that the faculty should ever allow men to get as far along on the road to ruin as these men did, without notifying the men, the coaches, the fraternities, and the rest of the college, if necessary.

But none of these unfortunate conditions can be remedied this year. Let us forget for just one week all our troubles. Let us show some real Colby spirit. Let us back that track team to the limit. Colby spirit—not the fair weather kind, the real article—is in demand this week. The track team deserves your support now more than ever. Are you going to give it? It is easy enough to be loyal when the championship has been won. The time when loyalty is needed is in the fight itself. Then Colby needs you. Will you be there?

OUR POWERLESS COUNCIL.

Spring should be the time for planning for next year. Then the experiences of the past are in our minds, and we can plan as at no other time with the results of our experience to guide us.

One of the biggest questions that the students of Colby face today has to do with student government. Today, the students at Colby, almost alone among American colleges, have absolutely nothing to say in regard to their government. Men who in a short year or two will be acting as teachers and helpers of young people now have absolutely nothing to say in the management of their own student government.

We have a student council and it is a joke. We blame that student council for a good many things. Why? The council has not even the semblance of any power. How can it be expected to do anything for Colby? It can create public opinion. But public opinion can not accomplish anything unless that public opinion can be expressed in law. Public opinion is opposed to murder, but until that public opinion expresses in the law of the land, murderers will be committed just the same. Public opinion urges that athletes study, that boys do not get drunk, that officers of college activities do not loaf, but until that public opinion can find some expression other than being "published in the ECHO," that public opinion will affect the life of this college very little.

With this issue, we publish the constitution of the student council for the edification of our readers. Every Colby man who has any interest in his college, should attempt to find a solution for this—one of Colby's greatest problems, so far as concerns the undergraduate—in the next few weeks.

COLBY MEN OF THE FUTURE.

Colby wants a good entering class next fall. High school boys ought to have a chance to see what college is like. These two facts ought to mean that Colby follow the example of most of the other colleges in New England and hold a sub-freshman day.

A sub-freshman day would be good for the college in several ways. It would be a spur to the men to get the college into as good shape as possible, for the visitors. It would give the students a chance to talk Colby, and that would be a very real benefit to a good many Colby men as well as to the sub-freshmen. And it could not but increase the enrollment next fall.

The benefits to the high school boys of the state would be no less. Every boy would like the chance to see a college. Ordinarily, he has no opportunity unless he knows some present student. A day like this would give everybody a chance to meet all the college men. It would mean that he would see the college at its best and that he would taste real college life and spirit and atmosphere as he could at no other time.

A sub-freshman day would be eminently practicable. A circus and a baseball game would be enough entertainment. The fraternities could arrange to keep the boys as they did the contestants for the Lyford contest.

If the thing is desirable and practicable, why not have it—this year?

OUR MAIL BAG

To the Editor:

We need some sort of a new advisory system here in Colby. This fact is brought home to all of us when we see the number of men who are ineligible for the state track meet. Had there been a dean or an efficient corps of advisors the men, now unable to compete, would have been warned of their low standing and efforts made to assist them. As it happened, nothing definite was known until it was too late for them to raise their marks.

The present advisory system, if one does exist, is woefully inefficient. The student seldom, if ever, sees his advisor from the time he decides upon his course until he has to repeat the process. With a dean whose duty it would be to watch the marks of the students and issue warnings to those whom he might find doing unsatisfactory work this condition would be changed.

The Student Council made some talk about a new advisory system last fall. Nothing has been heard from that body since that time. The student body is behind their council and would support any reasonable demand made by them to the faculty. Get going, Student Council! We don't want any ineligibles when the next year's meet comes around!

BOWDOIN HAS EDGE IN GOOD FIGHT

Parent's Team Shows Flashes of Good Baseball but Untimely Errors Spell 4-0 Defeat
—Howard Pitches Pretty Game.

Colby lost its first state series game of the year on Wednesday when Bowdoin, the state champions of 1921, shut out Parent's men to the tune of 4 to 0. The Colby team with Howard in the box looked better than at any time this season but there is still room for much improvement. After the first two innings in which Bowdoin scored two runs the Colby team settled down and played good baseball. In the first inning two errors and a lucky home run by Needleman of the White crew who smashed through second base when Nichols was playing close to first to cover an expected bunt annexed two runs. Thereafter the visitors were extremely lucky to score at all as Howard kept the hits well scattered with the exception of the fourth inning when a run was scored after two torrid doubles by the Brunswick men.

Walker handed in eight strikeouts as a part of his afternoon's work, and also collected a single and a double off the slants of Howard. Needleman was the individual star of the performance, scoring two or the Brunswick runs. In the first inning he knocked the longest hit of the year, scoring himself after Morrell who had preceded him to the initial sack. In the fifth landing he chased Fransen's club to the bleachers and with a remarkable one handed stab robbed the Colby shortstop of a sure double.

Howard of the local team was in fine form but was unable to hold the down state batters to less than nine hits. His mates were decidedly off form behind him and made five errors, three of which came in the first two innings. After the first part of the game he was given good support and the game was well played from that time on. It was one of the fastest exhibitions that has ever been staged on the college field and was interesting throughout.

Lanpher, although making an error in the seventh when he pegged wild to catch Smith stealing, played a steady game behind the plate and made one catch of a foul from Small's bat in the fourth that was a gem. Fransen, after his terrible bobble in the first off Smith, was the best man in the Colby lineup, and fielded his position in flawless style thereafter. Sullivan looked good in the right garden, where he played for the first time this year, but was weak at the bat as were the rest of his mates. Royal with two hits to his credit was the only one of Parent's charges who seemed to be able to hit the Walker's twisters.

Bowdoin opened the scoring in the first inning when two runs garnered. M. Morrell secured a life when Williams dropped his high fly to center. Nichols expected a bunt with none out and played near first base with the result that when Needleman smashed a torrid hit through his position, there was no one to field it. The ball was met on the nose and sailed on a line through the diamond and out between Williams and Sullivan who could not cut off. Needleman raced madly around the paths and scored ahead of the relayed throw. Bowdoin added one more in the fourth. Hill bounced to the pitcher but Williams dropped Handy's fly. Small fouled to Lanpher and Walker singled prettily to left. Jones was passed filling the sacks and when Howard uncorked a wild pitch, the Bowdoin catcher walked home. In the fifth Bowdoin annexed her fourth and final counter, successive doubles by Needleman and A. Morrell doing the trick.

CONSTITUTION OF THE STUDENT COUNCIL.

The student council constitution was ratified in 1917.

ARTICLE I.

Name.

This organization shall be known as the student council of Colby college.

ARTICLE II.

Purpose.

It shall be the purpose of this council to promote the welfare of the student body of the college.

ARTICLE III.

Membership.

Section 1. The Council shall be composed of eleven members: viz. The presidents of the four classes; a senior from each fraternity; and one senior from the non-fraternity body, who shall be elected by the other members of the council at their first meeting.

Sec. 2. The fraternity representatives shall be elected by their respective fraternities, on or before the third Wednesday of each academic year.

ARTICLE IV.

Officers.

Section 1. The officers of the council shall be a president, vice-president, and a secretary.

Sec. 2. The president of the senior class shall always be the president of the student council.

Sec. 3. The vice-president and secretary shall be elected by the members of the council at their first meeting.

Sec. 4. The duties of the officers shall be those usually pertaining to their respective offices.

ARTICLE V.

Powers.

Section 1. The council shall serve as a court of arbitration for the settlement of differences between classes and other college organizations. It shall also serve as a medium of communication between the student body and the faculty.

Sec. 2. It shall endeavor to arouse and maintain a healthy college spirit.

Sec. 3. It shall endeavor, after careful consideration, to mould a sane public opinion upon matters of college policy. To this end it may insert its opinions or recommendations in the ECHO or call meetings for the purpose of public discussion.

ARTICLE VI.

Amendments.

This constitution may be amended by a majority vote of the council, followed by the ratification of three of the four classes.

ARTICLE VII.

Effect when ratified.

This constitution shall go into effect when ratified by each of the four classes.

MEETING THE DEMAND FOR RADIO THAT GREW UP OVER NIGHT.

An interesting and rather specific statement bearing on the present day shortage of radio broadcast receiving apparatus with special regard to vacuum tubes—the very “Heart of radio”—is made by the Radio Corporation of America. It is stated that the April production of vacuum tubes, used in radio transmitting and receiving sets, will reach 150,000. The production schedule for May calls for a total delivery of 175,000 vacuum tubes. Program will reach 200,000 a month or more in June, according to public and trade requirements.

Crystal detectors served the purposes of the larger number of amateurs in the early days. The great demand for vacuum tubes is a development of the past six weeks, due entirely to the sudden popularity of Broadcasting. Although machines play a part in the major processes of manufacture, tubes are still largely made by hand. Hand work plays a far more important part in making vacuum tubes than in any other piece of electrical apparatus with which the public is familiar. Manufacture of the delicate vacuum tubes used as detectors, transmitters and amplifiers, has been subject to the usual difficulties in bringing about quantity production.

During the first eleven months of 1921, the factories produced for the Radio Corporation of America an average of 5000 tubes per month. This rate of production, small as it seems now, was gradually producing a surplus. Then, suddenly, in one or two territories, broadcasting jumped into popular favor over night. On December 30, the production schedule was increased to 40,000 tubes per month. In January of this year, the Radio Corporation of America pushed the schedule to 60,000 per month—a figure largely in excess of the demand at that time.

WHY THEY HAVE “SLANG WEEKS.”

She sat alone.
The bright lights and fixtures of the room brought out the delicate texture of her skin. Her soft brown hair was like the shimmering waves of the ocean, her eyes as blue as the azure sky. Every line of her evening gown spelled culture and refinement. Surely she must be one of the “400.”

Would this exquisite piece of femininity dance with him? Hesitatingly he approached and bowing low asked for the dance.

Coldly she surveyed him and then in a voice that sounded like the musical ripple of a brook, she answered: “Now, I’ll dance with the guy what brung me.”

ARBUTUS.

Sweet little flower,
A symptom of spring,
Oh, what a welcome
Of gladness you bring.

You grow on the hillside
And down in the glen,
You have been sought for
By millions of men.

Your fragrance is blended
By the fresh morning dew,
Fair little blossom
Here’s a welcome to you.

Trailing arbutus
Sweet token of spring,
Oh what a message
Of gladness you bring!

Did they lather with Soapstone in the Neolithic Age?

CAVE men had whiskers. Then one day John W. Troglodyte hacked them off with a hunk of sharp bronze and discovered—that men had faces.

Faces are more popular than whiskers. Williams helped. The J. B. Williams Company made the first real shaving soap ever manufactured in this country.

Jones '77 used Williams—no other. And now Jones '22 uses one of the finest Williams' Shaving Soap that Williams knows how to make—Williams' Shaving Cream.

Lather? Rather. Rich and thick and quick. Once over is usually enough if you use Williams'.

You'll like the smooth, cool “feel” of your face afterward. No complexion soap is more wholesome.

Try it—

HALLOWELL SPEAKERS

The contestant for the Hallowell Public Speaking prizes were chosen recently. The contest is to be held on May 13. Prizes aggregating one hundred dollars, the gifts of Florentius Merrill Hallowell of the class of 1877, will be awarded as follows, first prize, fifty dollars; second prize, twenty-five dollars; third prize, fifteen dollars; fourth prize, ten dollars. The ten men chosen to take part are: William J. McDonald, '24, Ivan M. Richardson, '24, Percy G. Beatty, '24, John A. Coyne, '23, Everett L. Marston, '24, Merton E. Laverty, '23, Wendall F. Grant, '23, Marlin D. Farnum, '23, Tilson F. Maynard, '24, Forrest M. Royal, '23.

LITERARY SOCIETY MEET

A meeting of the Literary Society was held Friday, May 5. A study of John Masefield's life and works was the program of the meeting. Avis Barton gave a very interesting account of his life and Gladys Briggs read several of his plays in a most charming way. The officers of this society for the coming year have been elected and are Myrtice Swain, President; Celia Clary, vice-president; Genevieve Clark, secretary; Marguerite Starbird, treasurer; Marjorie LeBroke, sergeant at arms.

BARNES, '92, TO BE GUEST OF SENIORS

The Hon. Charles P. Barnes, '92, speaker of the Maine house of representatives is to be the guest of honor of the senior class for commencement week, according to a recent announcement of William P. Cushman, chairman of the senior class committee.

Mr. Barnes is a very happy choice for the position, as he has been becoming increasingly prominent in the last few years. His home is in Houlton, but during his sojourn at Augusta, he has been attracting more and more attention from outside the state.

While in college he was active in many and varied activities—baseball and the ECHO demanding a good deal of his time. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON

The chapel service on Thursday morning was conducted by William A. Johnson, better known as "Pussyfoot" Johnson. In his opening remarks he said that he was used to being introduced to his audience as Pussyfoot Johnson, as folks rarely heard him called William or "Bill." He recounted the vast improvements which this generation had accomplished for society along moral and spiritual lines and then made an eloquent plea to the students, the coming generation to uphold the standards handed on to them and to help make the world a better place for future generations. The college chapel was crowded as everyone was anxious to see and hear this speaker of international fame and he was loudly applauded at the close of his talk.

NOTES ON NEIGHBORS

Helen Dresser, '23, recently entertained Mrs. Leon Dresser and Miss Clara Ferguson at Mary Low hall. Agnes Cameron, '23, spent the week end at her home in Canton. Lona Fowles, ex-'23, who is teaching in Abbot, Mo., was the week and guest of her parents in Oakland. Lenora Hewett, '25, recently entertained the Freshman delegation at a May party held at the Delta Delta Delta rooms.

Mrs. Donald Flood, '17, with her daughter, Martha Ann, is the guest of her parents on College avenue. Sigma Kappa Sorority announces the plodging of Pearl Thompson, '24. Miss Harriett L. Sweetser who is now teaching at Wakefield, Mass., called on friends at the hall last Wednesday.

Allice Bishop, '20, has been the guest of her sister Elsie Bishop, '25. Louise Tilley has returned from Hot Springs, Ark., where she attended the national convention of the Y. W. C. A.

Myrtice Swain spent the week end at Modford, Mass. She went as a delegate from Beta chapter of Chi Omega to the annual dance of Chi Alpha chapter, Jackson college.

The Senior class has elected Eleanor Bailey, Edna Chamberlain, and Edna Briggs to serve on the Ivy Day Ode committee.

Clara Wightman, '22, is teaching as substitute at Cony High school, Augusta.

William May visited his daughter Betty recently.

Miss Annie Bradbury was the guest of Marion Bibber Sunday.

The Misses Evelyn Kellett and Christine Booth of Lawrence, Mass., were visitors at Foss Hall recently.

CAMPUS CHAT

The D. U.'s are profoundly grateful to Prof. Marquardt and Mr. Nelson for their services in decorating the D. U. lawn. The trees planted by the professor and his colleague should do much toward beautifying that portion of the campus. They (the trees) are three in number and are quite large, although probably several years will be required before they afford any great shade. It is rumored—though there is no very specific foundation for the report—that the dedication of the trees will be an important feature in the D. U. reunion.

C. B. Chapman, '25, was initiated into Lambda Chi Alpha, last Wednesday.

Y. W. C. A.

"The College Girl and the Industrial Girl" was the subject of last week's meeting. Clara Wightman, who lead the meeting, gave an interesting talk on the subject. She said that the college girl is, to be sure, a fortunate individual, but she is judged, not by the opportunities that she has had, but by what she makes of her opportunities. The industrial girl has not had the college girl's opportunity to develop herself. She has a yearning for education, for enlightenment, and it is the duty of the college girl to help her satisfy that desire. An open forum discussion of the subject followed. Louise Tilley spoke on the cooperation of the college girl with the industrial girl, and Lucy Osgood spoke on the relation of the Colby girls with the industrial girls of Waterville.

CARNIVAL OF FLOWERS TO BE HELD.

The alumnae have decided on June 3 as the date for the "Carnival of the Flowers" which will be given in Monument park. The proceeds of this carnival will go for the new recreation building. Colby girls will assist in many ways. They will have charge of an apron table and also of a novelty table. The committee in charge of the novelty table is Ruby Dyer, Ruth Allen and Hazel Dyer.

were rather long in rendering their decision, local talent was sought out and Marion Cummings, '24, was finally persuaded to give one of her readings, which she did to the great delight of the crowd.

Rev. Geo. Moriam finally returned with the decision and mounted the platform. When he was just about to announce the names, he was switched off onto another subject, thus keeping everyone in suspense and especially the speakers who were particularly anxious. This he did several times to the great amusement of the audience. Then he presented the winners with their prizes as follows: First prize of fifty dollars to William C. Cusack of Cushing Academy; Second prize of twenty-five dollars, to Donald W. Webber of Edward Little High School; Third and fourth prize were divided equally between Robert W. Coyne of Bangor High School and Leon R. Townsend of Newport High School.

After the contest was over the speakers and guests were tendered a reception in Chemical Hall by the members of Pi Kappa Delta, the honorary forermost society of the college. Refreshments were served and the prize winners had an opportunity to show their oratorical abilities in extemporaneous speeches.
