

ALUMNAE HOLD A FLOWER CARNIVAL

Baptist Church Scene of Charming Festivities During Gala Event.

The Carnival of Flowers held under the auspices of the Colby Alumnae of Waterville was a great success in spite of the opposition of the weather.

Each booth was artistically decorated in crepe paper, flowers and butterflies. The apron table was done in a dainty egg-robin blue and presided over by the Misses Eva Alley, chairman.

There were three miscellaneous tables of novelties and miscellanea. The first was under the management of Mrs. Grace Wells Thompson, assisted by the Misses Esther and Annie Murray.

The soap table was presided over by Miss Meroe Morse, assisted by Mrs. Robert Austin and Miss Ellen Pillsbury.

The Grab Bag was conducted very cleverly and the same care was taken to keep the flowered effect. It was in charge of Mrs. Esther Cunningham, assisted by the Misses Flora Harriman, Doris Hardy, Carolyn Boyer and Ethel Childs.

The committee in charge of the Carnival consisted of Mrs. Benj. Carter, chairman, Mrs. Harriett Bossey, president of the Alumnae Association.

The supper which was served from 5 to 7 was under the care of Mrs. S. E. Whitcomb. The supper was solicited from the various church parishes.

These prizes aggregating one hundred dollars are the gift of Mattie E. Goodwin, of Skowhegan, in memory of her husband, Forrest Goodwin, of the class of 1888 and are for the purpose of encouragement of public speaking.

IVY DAY PROGRAM A GREAT SUCCESS

Annual Event is Largely Attended and Events Welcomed.

NAN BURGESS MAKES ADDRESS

Ivy Day in the Women's Division was a great success this year. The program began promptly at 2.30 with an excellent address of welcome by Miss Edna Briggs, '22.

The stage was very pretty with banked screens of evergreen and the costumes of the cast and dances added greatly to the beauty of the afternoon.

The Ivy Day was completed with the presenting of the "Mid Summer Night's Dream," by the Junior class. The play was a great success and presented a pleasing and delightful picture.

The acting of the Misses Mann and Davis was excellent.

The chairman of the Ivy Day was Miss Doris Wyman and much credit is due her and her committees for the success of the day.

WINNERS GOODWIN SPEAKING CONTEST

George B. Wolstenholme of Sidney Mines, N. S., won first prize in the annual Goodwin Prize Speaking Contest held in the college chapel last Friday afternoon.

The general theme for this year's speaking was "Orators and Oratory" and each man took some phase of this general subject.

Mr. Wolstenholme's subject was Oratory and the Proctor which he is well fitted to speak on and he displayed his usual eloquence which characterized him as one of Colby's great speakers.

Mr. Dunstan, winner of the fourth prize, spoke on Savonarola and did full justice to himself and his subject.

The other contestants were H. C. Whittmore, '22, A. C. Adams, '23, Clifford Peaslee, '22, William Wallace, '22, Walter Barry, '22 and O. P. Bonn, '25.

Prof. Herbert C. Libby presided and the judges were, Rev. E. A. Pollard Jones, Mr. Arthur A. Hoard and Prof. Henry W. Brown, all of Waterville.

These prizes aggregating one hundred dollars are the gift of Mattie E. Goodwin, of Skowhegan, in memory of her husband, Forrest Goodwin, of the class of 1888 and are for the purpose of encouragement of public speaking.

CONDON MEDAL NOT AWARDED

Seniors Cannot Agree As To Their "Best Citizen."

The senior class met Tuesday morning to vote for the man who should receive the Condon medal. Three ballots were taken but no choice was made so the medal will go back to its donor.

A word of explanation as to just what this medal is might be interesting to those who are not acquainted with its meaning.

Randall J. Condon, in whose honor the medal is given, has been for many years superintendent of schools in Cincinnati, Ohio, and it is rumored that he is the highest paid school superintendent in the United States.

GEOLOGISTS HIE TO BAR HARBOR

Dr. Perkins Takes Class On Exploring Expedition To Coast.

TRIP MADE BY AUTOMOBILES

The annual excursion of the Geology classes to Mount Desert Island was successfully and enjoyably executed during the Memorial Day recess.

The fleet pushed off at various intervals during Monday morning and made their separate ways to Bangor where most of us met after luncheon.

Supper was served at the beautiful Y. W. C. A. building and the crowd explored the city during the evening.

and there was an excess of pillows which proved to be the proper conditions for rather a tumultuous evening.

Sometime in the cold gray dawn, Prof. Perkins was said to have conducted a bird-hunting expedition, but the ECHO representative cannot vouch for this.

Our first expedition was to the top of Newport Mountain which rises out of the sea to a height of 1300 feet. It was a long tough climb; and the mosquitoes had great fun toying with us, but when we reached the top, the view was ample recompense for all our trouble.

The chaffeurs went back over the same route and brought the busses around the shore drive to Schooner Head where we were to assemble for lunch.

None of the party offered to duplicate Annetta Kollerman's dive so we came back and once more boarded our transports. All along, the scenery was of surpassing interest and several stops were made.

COLBY LOSES TO BATES IN LAST ATTEMPT TO AVOID CELLAR TIE

Medley of Hits And Errors Proves Disastrous in Colby's Last Game of The Season--Honors Are Even For Last Place.

Bates defeated Colby in the final game of the championship series on Seaverns' Field, Wednesday, June 7. This makes another tie in the state series, this time for the cellar position.

The visitors played good ball, being credited with only two errors during the game. The Colby team certainly had an off day.

Porter was off form today and struck out only one of the Bates men while the stocky little Bates pitcher sent eight Colby men back to the bench via the K. O. route.

Royal played a good game at third and was the one who tied the score in the early part of the game with his circuit clout between center and right field.

Dimlick had a good day accepting five chances without an error. Partridge handled the backstop position in great style holding the Colby men close to the bases.

Bates started the scoring in the second when Porter and Callaghan made a pair of costly errors, allowing M. Jordan to cross the plate.

Bates tallied two more in the third. C. Jordan drew a life when Millett booted the ball, stole second and third and scored on an error by Lanpher.

Colby had a chance to score in the third frame when Lanpher doubled to right. Williams reached first on error by Daker and Lanpher advanced to third.

There was no further scoring for either side until the seventh. Millett fumbled C. Jordan's hot drive, Porter passed Moulton, Cogan fled to Williams.

two men were easy picking for the Colby men.

In their half of the eighth Bates pushed two more men across the plate. Porter walked both Dimlick and Partridge.

Bates scored two men in the ninth when Daker pushed a homer over the fence in left center. The other run came on singles by Spiller and Dimlick and an overthrow at first by Porter.

DR. LIBBY TALKS TO THE LEGION

After the short business meeting of the George N. Bourque post of the American Legion Monday night, Professor Libby delivered an illustrated lecture of the western trip of the debaters.

Dr. Libby's lecture was the same one which was delivered before the student body a short time ago and proved very interesting to the members of the American Legion.

Single Copies, Ten Cents

It is with a feeling of nervousness that the new board takes up its duties for the coming year. To lead any publication is a job which requires skill and tact but upon those who attempt to pilot a college publication there seems even more than the usual amount of responsibility.

Now, we of the editorial staff are not of the opinion that the paper this coming year will be just about as the students make it. The editors and the managers can look after the publication but the paper can only express the sentiment of the student body as the student body expresses its opinion to those in charge. We invite constructive criticism.

COMMENCEMENT.

Commencement this year will be one of the greatest which Colby has ever experienced if plans go through as they have been thought out. The program, which will be found elsewhere in the ECHO, is second to none other save perhaps the great centennial celebration.

It seems a shame that so many of the students deem it necessary to go home before commencement for they should stay through if it is any way possible for their own benefit, if not out of respect for the seniors and alumni. Many of the alumni when they come back for graduation can only judge the college as they see it and if they see only a mere handful of under-classes they must necessarily lose some of their interest in Colby.

We are only in college a few years and before long we will be coming back and if we see only a few here then do you suppose that we will feel as interested as though the campus was teeming with life as it should be? Let us show a little more respect for our alumni and stay through commencement.

CHANGE IN FACULTY.

We are indeed sorry to hear that we are to lose three of our instructors. Professor Cecil A. Rollins is going to leave us for the year in order that he may take up graduate work in English. Dr. Hurd has accepted a position as professor of chemistry in another college while Professor Briscoe will leave us in order that he, too, may do graduate work.

We will miss those men who have always stood ready to help us and who have made our pathway to knowledge a little smoother. We wish them good luck in their new undertakings.

THE LETTER BOX.

One of the features which the Echo will endeavor to accentuate in the coming year is the letter box. This is the opportunity for every student to place his views on every subject before the rest of the college. We do not ask the students to hold our views on all subjects and sometimes through the right kind of criticism the paper may be much bettered. This is the object of the letter box. If you think that the editorial policy is wrong, tell us. We believe that we are open to conviction.

THE SAME OLD QUESTION.

While possibly there is nothing to say against the use of tobacco from a moral standpoint yet the following article may be of interest to those students who think that in order to be a real college man you must indulge in the weed. We are not radically opposed to the use of tobacco by others, but the students should realize that there is no necessity for the use of the weed in order to show that one is of college calibre.

"Why don't you smoke?" This question, asked some of the prominent men of B. U., brought forth a wide variety of answers. "When I reached the sophisticated age of five, I tried smoking corn silk behind a barn," said one C. B. A., junior. "After the barn got on fire I swore off. It was my first and last smoke."

"I never smoked until I was in a play last year," a member of the News staff said. "Then I had to smoke a cigar at every performance. Never again."

One of the Beanpot artists declares that if he smoked he couldn't draw a straight line—so he stopped.

There were no moral objections to smoking. The general reason for not smoking was, "I just never happened to start" or "I don't care anything about it, so why smoke?"

There are cases where the non-smokers are athletes, and do not smoke simply because they aren't supposed to. And there are cases— but these are scarce—where "if I smoke I can't concentrate on studies," was given as a reason.

She Was the Cause.

One blushing junior said, "Well, you see, I used to smoke; but the one and only girl didn't like it, so I cut it out. But you know I was going to stop anyway."

It surely proves that it isn't necessary to smoke to be "a big man" at college.

OUR MAIL BAG

Waterville, Me., May 20, Editor of the Echo:

Not being one who is prone to find fault I hesitate to express my views on some of those things which seem to be to the detriment of the college. But still we all want to see Colby the best little college in the world and if any of my constructive criticism can help then this letter will have reached its goal.

Music is supposed to be one of the arts and Colby confers the degree of B. A. upon all those who have completed the prescribed courses. Yet we see year after year those who have no appreciation for the fine arts of music. I do not mean that Colby should have a department in which the students of this college could become accomplished musicians, as fine as that would be, but rather that those might be added to the curriculum a course whereby the students of Colby might study a few of the great composers and that they might be taught to recognize good music when they hear it. With all the jazz of the present day, with the tendency toward canned music, and with the demand running toward that which is not so refined as it might be, it only seems proper that the place for a reform in this line to start is in college and if our college graduates can go out with a little better appreciation for that which is more refined than we have gone a great way toward bringing good music back to this place where it belongs.

Please forgive if I have ranted too much but it seems deplorable for a college man or woman to sit through a whole musicale and not know whether they are hearing Chopin or Jazz. 1923.

ALUMNAE ORGANIZE IN CONN. VALLEY

New Association is Headed by Selma Koehler, Colby '17—Building Fund Endorsed.

Through the efforts of Rose Adelle Gilpatrick, '22, and Alice Cole Kleene, '98, an invitation was extended to all the Colby women in the Connecticut valley, whose addresses were known, for an informal luncheon at the Hotel Bond in Hartford, Connecticut, on May 27. The purpose of this gathering was to organize a Connecticut Valley Colby Alumnae Association.

Alice Cole Kleene acted as temporary chairman of the meeting at which Colby affairs were discussed with marked enthusiasm. The principal topic of discussion was the Alumnae Building Fund for which there was a 100% subscription from those present.

Rose Adelle Gilpatrick, the guest of honor, gave an appreciative account of the campaign for the fund as carried on by various groups of Colby women and of the good fortune of the Women's Division in having the co-operation of such leaders as Dean Runnals, '98, Mrs. Bertha Andrews, and Miss Mildred Wright.

The charter members of the Connecticut Valley Alumnae association are: Linda Graves, '95; Alice Cole Kleene, '98; Helen Bowman Thompson, '99; Grace Bicknell Eisenwinter, '02; Mildred Bedford, '15; Mildred Greeley Arnold, '17; Lenora Knight, '17; Lucy Taylor Pratt, '17; Selma Koehler, '17; Winifred Greeley, '18; Katharine Hatch, '19; Lillian Dyer, '20; Elizabeth Carey, '21; Adelle McLoon, '21.

The officers for the ensuing year are: President, Selma Koehler; vice-president, Winifred Greeley; secretary-treasurer, Lucy Taylor Pratt.

The group leaders of the various sections are: Linda Graves, Springfield, Mass.; Mildred Greeley Arnold, Hartford, Conn.; Lenora Knight, Waterville, Conn.; and Elizabeth Carey, New Haven, Conn.

FOREIGN ACTS.

Big Feature of Walter L. Main Circus This Season.

The Walter L. Main Circus, now in its 43rd annual tour, will exhibit in Waterville, Thursday, June 15, and will present on this date, it is said, the greatest assemblage of noted foreign acts ever seen beneath a circus tent. The show's foreign agents were commissioned last fall to engage only the most sensational features now being shown with foreign circuses and vaudeville, and the result has been the bringing to this country for this season's tour a long list of European arctic stars. From Iceland come the original Johannes Josefsson Icelandic Glima Co., presenting an admirably effective and brilliant exhibition of agility in the art of self-defense, including scientific holds, grips and general elusiveness. There are seven people in the act, including two young ladies who introduce the native dances of their country. This is the first appearance of the act in America, and was brought here especially for this season's tour with the Main Show.

From Brazil comes what is said to be the greatest wire act in the world, presented by Miss Mianhusa de Ortega, who is claimed to be a wonderful performer both on the slack and tight wire and accomplishing not only the native dances of her country on the wire, but making what is said to be the longest swing ever attempted.

Sensational acrobats and a feature that is expected to create a positive furor, is the first appearance under canvas of the world renowned Mangon troupe, eight in number, whose feats of acrobaticism have been the wonder of all Europe for years. One of their sensational feats is the turning of a complete double somersault by one of the acrobats, from a spring board to the shoulders of his partner.

From France, the Mills troupe of acrobats will furnish the aerial thriller, and England's greatest riding family, the Wallatts, will present Miss Rose Wallatt, one of the prettiest, as well as the most accomplished bare-back riders now before the public.

The Walter L. Main Circus this season promises two hours of circus sensationalism and feature acts never before seen in this country.

COLBY COLLECTION MOST COMPLETE

Geology Department Shows Specimens From Every Part of the World.

The department of Geology at Colby has the most complete collection of Maine minerals in existence. A short time ago many new specimens were added. The greater part of these were the gift of the heirs of the late Henry M. Maline, a Portland, Maine, business man, whose hobby was the collecting and arranging these specimens. His collection contains not only specimens from Maine but since he travelled a great deal he gathered many from different parts of the earth. Among other things he succeeded in obtaining the most complete collection of Maine Tourmalines and purple apatites to be found anywhere. The collection of purple apatites is especially fine being unrivaled in its completeness. There are also three or four hundred specimens from the extinct volcanoes on Cape Blomidon, Canada, some of which are exceedingly rare. The whole collection is carefully arranged and classified in the most approved manner. Each specimen is mounted upon a wooden paper-covered pedestal. This required a great deal of work but it makes the collection very valuable.

A few specimens, mostly from Maine, have been chosen from this truly remarkable collection and are displayed at Memorial Hall. These few chosen at random give some idea of the extent and completeness of this collection.

UNDERGRADUATES

Plan to Stay for Commencement.

Commencement time is once more drawing near and it looks as tho the year's anniversary will be one of the best ever. A large number of alumni are planning to return and an unusually attractive program of activities has been mapped out. Commencement is the biggest event of the whole college year, not only to the graduates but to the undergraduates as well.

If you have never attended a college commencement, do so this year. If you ever have attended one, we know you will not think of missing this one.

You will get a new vision of college spirit and college loyalty as you meet the many returned graduates who have helped make the college famous.

To attend the various college exercises and fraternity reunions will give you some of the happiest and dearest memories of your college life.

You have got to hurry home to get to work? Say, you've been studying hard and you need at least a brief vacation. Furthermore, by staying over you will only miss three or four days and gain thereby the richest experiences of the year. Ask anyone who has stayed.

Stay! Before you decide to skip off home immediately after exams think this all over and count the untold benefits of staying over; then stay here for Commencement or part of it, at any rate!

Take the tip from us!

SOPHOMORES WIN IN HOT BATTLE

Foss Hall Grounds Scene of Exciting Ball Game Tuesday Afternoon.

Foss Hall was the scene of a closely contested baseball game Tuesday when the Juniors and Sophomores, winners in the preliminaries, played each other.

Preliminary games were held Monday afternoon when the Sophomores won from the Seniors 16 to 1, and the Juniors took the game from the Freshmen with the score of 30 to 1.

The final contest was held at 4.30 on Tuesday. The fight was hot and until the last inning the final result was doubtful. Both teams were in their best form and some real baseball was exhibited. Dickey and Allen, the rival pitchers, held the players down to a minimum number of hits. At the end of the required number of three innings the score was tied 3 to 3. Then the Sophomore batters got into their stride and piled up eight runs. In the last half of the fourth inning the Juniors got one run and the game ended with the score of 11 to 4.

Both teams showed good team work and the catching of Freeman and a home run by Allen were features of the game.

Lineup:

Juniors	Sophomores
Dickey, p	p, Allen
Freeman, c	c, Ackley
Todd, 1b	1b, Ford

Osgood, rf	rf, Harmon

Batteries, Juniors, Dickey and Freeman; Sophomores, Allen and Ackley. Umpire, Professor Edwards.

HEALTH LEAGUE HOLDS FIELD DAY

The annual Field day, held under the auspices of the Health League, was a great success. In the afternoon the finals in tennis and baseball were played off.

In both the tennis singles and doubles the Juniors won. In singles Miss Helen Freeman, '23, defeated Miss Ruth Allen, '24, 6-0; 6-2. In doubles the Misses Helen Freeman and Leonette Warburton, '23, defeated the Misses Ruth Allen and Mary Watson, '24, 6-0, 6-4.

The baseball final was held at 4.30. The Juniors and Sophomores again competing. The teams were very evenly matched and an extra inning was necessary in which the Sophomores seemed to find the Junior pitcher's balls and slammed out 8 runs, thereby winning by 11-4. The batteries were Juniors, the Misses Dickey and Freeman; Sophomores, the Misses Allen and Watson. Features of the game were a home run by Miss Allen and two catches by the Junior catcher, Miss Freeman. Prof. Edwards umpired.

After the finals the Health League assembled on the lawn in front of Dutton House for a camp-supper. After the meal the various awards were made by Mrs. Andrews. Girls who won the letters for gaining 45 points were, Seniors, Bertha Gilliat and Eleanor Bailey; Juniors, Leonette Warburton, Lucy Osgood and Elizabeth Griffin; Sophomores, Mary Ford, Anna Erickson, Doris Ackley, Marlon Cummings and Ethel Reed; Freshmen, Josephine Warburton, Marjorie Sterling, Rosamond Cummings and Betty Tarrant.

The loving cup was then awarded for tennis singles which Miss Helen Freeman of the class of '23, captured. Miss Freeman has been holder of this cup since her freshman year when she won it from Gladys Dow, ex-'21. Then the big event for which the annual Field Day is planned, was the awarding of the loving cup to the class having the most points. The present Seniors won it last year and popular opinion placed it between the Sophomores and Seniors, but all were pleasantly surprised when Mrs. Andrews awarded it to the Freshmen class.

The following a general good time with songs and cheers while all circled around a huge bonfire. It was a most successful and enjoyable day and one that has become a much looked forward to time in the Women's Division.

ORACLE APPEARS.

Big Year Book Contains New Features.

The 1922 Colby Oracle made its appearance on Friday of last week and was received with enthusiasm by the student body. The book is in every way distinctive and shows the untiring zeal with which the editor and his corps of assistants worked. The book is without a doubt one of the best that the College has ever produced. There are very many features which show the originality of those who have had charge of the publication this year. There are many surprises in it for both the student body and faculty.

Following the example of last year's book the cover is of semi-flexible fabricoid. The design of the cover is very distinctive. It is light blue with a large gray "C" in the center of which there is a reproduction of the new grand-stand.

The pictorial part probably has excited the most comment. The very realistic poses of the professors in their class-rooms is a very welcome change from the usual photographs which have appeared in previous years. The pictures of the A. T. O. fire and the cyclone were very good and will make the book all the more valuable for those who lost in the fire. The description of the fire as it appears in the literary section is exceedingly well-done.

The usual space has been given to the fraternities, sororities, and student organizations. A very comprehensive resume of all sports with pictures of the various teams is given in the sporting section.

Evan J. Shearman, who edited the book, and Walter D. Barry, business manager, deserve a good deal of credit for the success of the publication and it through their zeal and interest that such a book was made possible for the student body.

The Oracle this year was published by the Kennebec Journal Company of Augusta and it is printed on the best of paper while every page is decorated with a very artistic border. All in all it is a paper of which the Editor and the student body may well be proud.

A Gateway to Progress

There it stands—a simple forty-foot gateway but unlike any other in the entire world. Through it have come many of the engineering ideas that have made this an electrical America.

The story of electrical development begins in the Research Laboratories. Here the ruling spirit is one of knowledge—truth—rather than immediate practical results. In this manner are established new theories—tools for future use—which sooner or later find ready application.

The great industries that cluster around Niagara Falls, the electrically driven battleships, the trolley cars and electrified railways that carry millions, the lamps that glow in homes and streets, the household conveniences that have relieved women of drudgery, the labor-saving electrical tools of factories, all owe their existence, partly at least, to the co-ordinated efforts of the thousands who daily stream through this gateway.

Alumni Recall That Annual Physics Joke

DEFINE electricity' said the Prof. The class was mown down, one by one, like so many whiskers. And then—"no one has ever been able properly to define electricity since its discovery." And the smile dried on his face!

Since 1840 Williams' Shaving Soap has been defined by hundreds of thousands of college men with one word—perfection. And it doesn't dry on your face.

Example—Williams' Shaving Cream. At 7:50 you can whip up a creamy mellow lather that softens the heart of the toughest stubble. Your snickersnee slips along to a slick job and a glove-smooth face—in time to catch chapel at 8.

And the satisfaction afterwards is almost indefinable at that.

GEOLOGISTS HIE TO BAR HARBOR

an interesting talus slope. Wednesday morning, we visited the headquarters of the Lafayette National Park and one of the rangers consented to guide us. We went by car to Eagle Lake and from there walked in to Bubble Pond where we found the trail up Pemetic Mountain. This was the hardest climb yet, but well worth it. After resting and making notes, the party started down the Goat Trail marked on the signboard as "dangerous and precipitous." This fulfilled our fondest hopes, some of the descent being made down iron spikes driven into the side of the cliff. At last Jordan Pond was reached and the water level went down considerably before our thirst was somewhat appeased. About a mile further on we found the cars waiting and we hurried back to dinner.

We packed up all our duffle and started out. One view which had been recommended to us was not far out of our way so we went over to see it. This was on the high bluffs overlooking Echo Lake. While here, someone yelled "Colby" and from far off came the echo. This was on Wednesday afternoon and we mention it to show that for once, anyway, the COLBY ECHO was right on time. This was the last official stop and from here the procession hit it up towards Waterville arriving there at various intervals during the night.

TELLS WOMEN ABOUT BIRDS

Monday night Dr. Perkins addressed the Professional and Business Women's Club at Woodman Hall. His subject was, "How to Study Birds" and he spoke on it in a way which was very pleasing to the women. He spoke of the migratory birds and called the Arctic teal the greatest of all travelers since it winters in the Antarctic and summers in the Arctic. He told his audience of banding birds and having them return for seven or eight successive years. He also spoke of the routes which these migrating birds take explaining that, contrary to the popular theory, birds very often return by a different route than that by which they went.
