Professor, Lecturer, Preacher--He was Loved Member of Colby Faculty.

Professor Henry William Brown, M. S., died at his home, 20 Boutelle avenue, Friday morning, February 2, after an illness of six months.

Professor Brown was born in Camden, Maine, on March 30, 1861. He entered the University of Maine and graduated with high rank in the class of 1880. He pursued graduate work in Yale University, specializing in art. After leaving Yale, he followed up his special training in art by doing crayon portrait work, at which he showed marked genius.

Active in College Life In September, 1912, Professor Brown was appointed to the faculty of Colby college, with work in the English department, at first as an instructor, but later he was elected as an assistant professor in English.

Founded Wantonit Club Professor Brown was an exceedingly active man, his hours of teaching in the college being the least part of his work. During the summers he was actively engaged in boys camp work, for many years conducting classes in nature study or out-door chemistry at Camp Beckett.

Faithful and Earnest Professor Brown possessed many worth-while characteristics that make his passing a matter of infinite regret. It is doubtful if the college ever had on its faculty a teacher who was more faithful in the performance

Hockey Team Wins 4-2--Vale Back in Game.

The Colby hockey team defeated the University of Maine aggregation in a hard, rough game on the Colby rink last Saturday. The Colby team showed good form in all departments of the game and easily excelled their opponents.

Vale and McBay starred for Colby and Elliott and Stone for Maine.

The Colby lineup was changed owing to the return of Vale, who has been out of the game thus far. Vale took the center position while McGowan was shifted to left wing and Huhn replaced Millett at left defense.

Maine scored in the first two minutes of play when the puck bounced off the pads of McBay and slipped past Berry into the net. This lead was not held long for McGowan soon placed a corner shot into the cage.

Maine scored her second point in the final period when a Maine man broke through and drove the puck past Berry. The final score was 4 to 2 in favor of the Blue and Gray.

Captain Stearns of Maine and Vale of Colby were dismissed from the last few minutes of the game for rough playing.

Colby meets Maine at Orono next Friday afternoon. The winner of this game will meet Bates at the Augusta Carnival.

The Colby relay team won an easy victory in a triangular one-mile relay race in the Millrose games at Madison Square Garden on Wednesday evening, January 31st. The two competing colleges were Fordham University and New York University.

Colby was the only Maine college to be represented at the New York games. Coach "Mike" Ryan says that the Colby runners are easily the best aggregation the college has presented during his regime as the Blue and Gray track mentor.

ROBINSON, '24 DIES FROM PNEUMONIA

Was Popular Man in Class.

The death of Ralph S. Robinson, '24, at the Sisters' Hospital on Monday night came as a shock to the student body. There have been many who have been subjected to the prevalent grippe but the death of Robinson has been the first fatality. He will be sadly missed about the campus as he was one of the most popular men in college, and consolations are extended to the members of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and to the members of the deceased's family.

Ralph S. Robinson, '24, of Nashua, N. H., died Monday evening at the Sisters' Hospital from double lobar pneumonia. He was taken to the hospital on January 28 suffering from a bad cold and congestion of the lungs. He grew steadily worse and his folks were notified. His mother came and was with him until the time of his death. The case was an unusual one and was aggravated by a poor condition of the lungs due to the fact that during the recent Lambda Chi Alpha fire that he inhaled a great quantity of smoke. Robinson was the first man in the Lambda Chi House who awoke and it was through his efforts that the men were able to awaken and escape. He has not been at all well since he came back from the Christmas vacation and was in poor condition to take up his studies. When he was stricken with pneumonia he had not the strength to rally and fight it off.

Services for Robinson were held at the home of President Roberts on Tuesday morning, with Rev. J. H. Yates, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, officiating. President Roberts spoke telling of the sorrow of the members of the college and extending the consolations of the college to the bereaved family. Directly after the ceremony the body was taken home accompanied by the parents and representatives of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Robinson was one of the leading members of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and has always been a hard-working, conscientious student. During his college course he has been Bursar of Upsilon Beta honorary freshman society, assistant to Dr. H. C. Libby, when he was registrar, and an active member of the ECHO board for two years. He will be greatly missed about the campus for he was a warm and faithful friend of every one, and greatly admired and respected by all with whom he came in contact.

OUTING CLUB PUBLICITY

One of the Outing Club photographs taken at Moultonskoo Lake last year was published in the Rotogravure Section of the Boston Traveler, Saturday, January 27. Any who have winter sports pictures suitable for publication are requested to see Joseph C. Smith, '24.

SENDS GIFTS TO FIRE SUFFERERS

Letters of Sympathy and Appreciation Received From Mt. Union College.

The national wide sympathy which was felt for Colby college as a result of the fire is shown by a contribution which President Roberts received from Mount Union college in Alliance, Ohio. The Student Senate of this college took up a collection for the Colby sufferers and forwarded an amount equal to about $50.

The affair was brought to the attention of the Mount Union students by E. C. Ramette, now a professor of French at that college and formerly a member of the Colby faculty. President W. H. McMaster, after referring to Mr. Ramette, says, "We wish you to know that our hearts are with you in sympathy for your loss and in profoundest admiration of the heroism and good sportsmanship of the four boys who gave their lives in this disaster."

Such sympathy and material assistance is most wholeheartedly appreciated by the students and faculty of Colby college. That a college so far away as Ohio should render a sister college in Maine, assistance in her time of need speaks well for the Ohio college. Colby men will always remember Mount Union college with a most grateful and friendly feeling.

Appreciation from Secretary of Lambda Chi Alpha.

Another letter of great interest concerning the fire was received by Mr. Eustis as president of the Student Council from Bruce H. McIntosh, Administrative Secretary of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Mr. McIntosh says, "It is impossible for me to express adequately the sincere gratitude which Lambda Chi Alpha, as a national organization, feels toward the student body of Colby college, toward the Student Council, the fraternities, and the students individually, both in and outside of the fraternity, for the generous sacrifices they have made to help the Colby chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha. The material aid given was splendid, and fulfilled a serious and pressing need, but the moral backing, the inspiration of unselfish friendship, the reassurance of disinterested aid and brotherly solicitude at the time of tragedy are the things which have made it possible for the boys to return to college and bear their loss so bravely.

"The national fraternity is honored to have a union in an institution where such wonderful spirit prevails. It is a privilege to convey, through your kindness, to the students of Colby college, the heartfelt thanks of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity."

DR. BLACK LECTURES ON PASSION PLAY

Illustrated Talk Given in Baptist Church.

Dr. J. William Black, professor of history, gave an illustrated lecture before an audience of 200 people in the First Baptist Church Thursday evening, February 1. He gave a detailed account of his visit to Oberammergau last summer and described the Passion Play which he witnessed. A display of postcards by projecting lantern added the audience in following the account of his travels. The lecture was exceedingly interesting as well as instructive and was much appreciated.

FIRST WINTER SPORTS CARNIVAL BIG SUCCESS

Exhibition of Ski and Snowshoe Races and Ski-Jumping Furnish Thrills to Big Crowd.

Half Over. Gus Paulson Turning Somersault from Ski Jump

The first Winter Sports Carnival of Waterville began Thursday night, January 25, and continued throughout Friday and Saturday. The Thursday night parade was held in spite of the bitter weather but the exhibition skating was postponed. The Colby Outing Club occupied a prominent place in the line and lighted up the snow with their torches of red fire.

Friday morning was taken up with snowshoe races and trap-shooting. The ski-joring races in the afternoon promised excitement but the bad condition of the snow made it advisable to call them off after one or two accidents. The only event in which Colby was represented was the Free-for-all Ski Jumping Contest. Warren Daniels, Dartmouth '22, was easily the star in this, showing wonderful form and getting good distances. Two members of the Colby Ski Team were entered: Cranston H. Jordan, '24, and John E. Nelson, Jr., '26. Two men from the University of Maine also jumped. Daniels won the first prize on points; Christopherson, second prize; and Hay, third prize. The longest single jump, however, was made by Nelson of Colby who made 34 feet, 10 inches.

Intercollegiate Events Saturday morning, the Bates and Maine teams arrived and one man from Bowdoin who was able to get away from his examinations. There were many grammar school and high school events going on so there was plenty to watch every minute.

The first college event was the Cross Country Snowshoe race over a three mile course. Patten of Barnes, Libby, Tash; Bates, Tiffany, Huntington, Gilpatrick and Chadbourne.

Snowshoe obstacle race, 75 yards, finals won by Patten of Maine, second, Tiffany of Bates, third Gilpatrick of Bates. Entries, Maine, Wilson, Patten and Curtiss; Colby, Barnes, Libby and Tash; Bates, Tiffany, Chadbourne and Gilpatrick; Bowdoin, Spear. First heat: first, Barnes of Colby, second, Patten of Maine; second heat, first, Tiffany of Bates; second, Gilpatrick of Bates.

The Ski Jumping Contest attracted a great deal of enthusiasm. Entries represented all four Maine colleges. Jordan, '24, and Nelson, '26, were the Colby competitors. Other Colby men were prevented from competing by broken skis or ski harness. Nelson, too, was jumping in spite of the doctor's advice, but was not at his best and did not place. The skiers from University of Maine showed very good form. Jordan of Colby, one of last years veterans, did very well and placed third.

First place won by Elliot of Maine, total distance 113 feet, 3 inches; second, Christopherson of Maine, 98 feet, 10 inches; third, Jordan of Colby, 93 feet, 10 inches; fourth, Hay of Maine, 87 feet, 3 inches. Longest standing jump by Elliot of Maine, 35 feet, 5 inches.

An exhibition of turning somersault on skis was given by Gus Paulson of Boston. The crowd held its breath while he sped down the chute, threw himself off the take-off, and turned over in the air landing on his skis on the landing hill. It was

Colby Hockey Team on Carnival Rink

Maine was the first to cross the finish with a fifty yard lead. The race for second place was a hair-raiser. Two men came in sight about five yards apart. The latter was soon seen to be Laughton, '25, of Colby. He started to sprint and in spite of a desperate burst of speed by the Bates man Laughton just managed to cross the line ahead amid the cheers of the crowd. Smith of Maine came in fourth. The other members of the Colby team were Barnes, '24; Libby, '24; and Tash, '25. Team scores: Maine 11, Colby 17, Bates 17. Skill race, cross country, three miles won by Palmer of Bates, second, Elliot of Maine, third, Gilpatrick of Bates, fourth, Switzer of Maine. Team totals, Bates, 4; Maine, 0; Bowdoin, 18; Colby, 13. Entries, Maine Elliot and Switzer; Colby Tash and Jordan; Bates, Palmer and Gilpatrick; Bowdoin, Spear.

Relay snowshoe race 100 yards, won by Maine, Patten, Smith, Switzer, and Wilson; Colby, Laughton, a thrilling stunt and much applauded. In the evening, the Independents made up from some of the Colby Hockey players, were defeated by the Icebirds in a fast but rough contest by the score of 5 to 0.

THE GOOD OLD WINTER TIME

We are now in that solstice midway between the gaudy autumn and the balmy spring when a certain proportion of our little community are wont to spend their spare hours manipulating ivory spheroids over a green table, or shuffling pasteboards in a smoke-filled room, or devouring some dusty tome in the lee of a steam radiator.

That proportion, however, is happily diminishing. More and more are finding delight in the stillness of the winter woods, and succumbing to the lure of the frozen trail. Many are tasting the joys of ice skating, that most graceful form of human action, or the thrilling uncertainty as one shoots over the brow of an unexplored hill on swift-flying skis, or the ecstasy of the breath-taking sweep down a glassy slope on a toboggan.

Over at St. Moritz, people have congregated from the ends of the earth to indulge in winter sports. But, why go to Switzerland? Thoreau wrote a whole book on "that grand old poem called Winter" using merely the scenery of a New England village. The grandeur of the Alps is no more inspiring than the delicate beauty of a frosted bush or snow laden pine scintillating in the clear sunlight. The snow of Switzerland is no whiter than our "pure garment, as of white watered satin, over all the fields." The exhilarating air of St. Moritz will not make one tingle with more of the joy of life than the air of the Pine Tree State. Surely, we can find more congenial companionship here than in far-off Europe. And, strange as it may seem, both places have the identical moon!

Don't hibernate, live!

THE WINTER CARNIVAL

The development of intercollegiate winter sports in this state is one of the finest things that can happen. No form of athletics is more wholesome than hockey, skating, snowshoeing and skiing. These activities have all the qualities of the so-called "major sports." They require nerve, stamina, and skill, and are certainly as spectacular as any. They can be more generally participated in than football or track athletics and they are activities that can be carried over into one's life after graduation. Certainly, situated as we are in northern New England, it is absurd not to utilize the great advantages of our winters.

Competition between the Maine colleges was inaugurated at the Augusta Winter Carnival last year where Governor Baxter offered a beautiful trophy to the college outing club making the highest score in ski and snowshoe events. The cup will become the permanent property of the first college winning it three times. Last year the University of Maine won the meet.

The contestants who represented Colby came back from Augusta determined to back winter sports to the limit so that this year a team could go to Augusta with a good chance of bringing back the cup. The biggest problem was a ski-jump. When the Waterville Community Service announced its intention of building a jump and holding a carnival, therefore, the Outing Club members were very optimistic. A few men started regular ski and snowshoe practice and at the Waterville Carnival Colby was represented in every event. The results, however, were not entirely satisfactory. We must improve before we can hope to win the Baxter Trophy. There must be a great many more men in college who are capable of becoming skillful performers on the snow. Every place on the team is open and nothing improves a team so much as competition for the positions.

It is not yet too late. We can still develop a crack carnival team, but we must get behind it and work.

The Waterville Winter Carnival and the community park with its facilities for winter sports are a distinct asset to Colby and the college owes much to the Community Service of Waterville.

Many are cold, but few are frozen.

New Year's resolutions are as nothing compared with the good resolves we make at Mid-Year after vainly trying to digest four month's work in four hours.

President Harding announces that instead of a threatened Treasury deficit of over eight hundred million, the expenses of the government will probably break even by the end of the fiscal year. Since the credit for this belongs largely to the Director of the Budget, General H. M. Lord, '84, it seems to us only fitting that Colby should get a million or two as commission.

Outing Club members and ski enthusiasts will be interested in an article in the National Geographic Magazine for February, 1920, on the Dartmouth Outing Club and illustrated with thrilling photographs of ski jumping and other winter sports.

Few things have touched us more than the spirit shown by Mt. Union college, whose gift to the fire-sufferers is mentioned in another column. It is just such incidents as this which serve to lighten the blow, if such a thing is possible. Our sister college may be far away in respect to miles, but we will ever be linked close together in the bonds of friendship. More power to Mt. Union!

LIBRARY RECEIVES INTERESTING BOOK

John Hays Hammond Gives Autographed Volume to Colby.

The Colby College Library recently received a copy of "The Engineer" by John Hays Hammond with an inscription by the author. John Hays Hammond, it will be remembered, is probably the most famous mining engineer in the world today. He helped Cecil Rhodes develop the South African gold fields and diamond mines. Since then, he has supervised projects all over the world and has achieved an international reputation. He was recently chosen by President Harding to serve as chairman on the United States Coal Commission, a board of seven men who are investigating the coal situation. On this board also is George Otis Smith, Colby 1893, through whom Mr. Hammond presented his book to Colby. Mr. Hammond is being prominently mentioned as a possible successor to Secretary Fall of the Department of the Interior.

The purpose of this book is to make clear to the young man who is interested in engineering the advantages and shortcomings of the profession and what determines his mental and temperamental fitness for it. The necessary native qualities of the engineer in general are carefully outlined; following this the mechanical, electrical, mining, civil, chemical, military and marine branches are taken up in detail with special attention to the opportunities of each. Mr. Hammond speaks with authority and any man in Colby who is contemplating this profession should look over this book.

TECHNICALITY TAKES WIN FROM COLBY

Judge Presents Bates With Medals.

The Colby relay team returned to Boston after the Millrose games to participate in the B. A. A. races on February 3rd. This left them ample time to recuperate from the effects of the New York race. At Boston Colby was entered in another three-cornered relay race with Boston University and Bates College. Colby won this race in the fast time of 3.36 1-5 but the judges awarded the decision to Bates because of an alleged foul. This time was the second fastest of the evening. The Bowdoin team won from Maine in 3.38 2-5 which shows that Colby was better than the other Maine colleges.

Foran was the lead-off man for Colby and ran a pretty race against Landers of Bates giving a slight lead to Hearon who ran against Samella of Bates. Boston University was not really in the race from the start. Hearon passed the baton to McGarry about 5 yards behind the Bates man. Simpson of Bates lost ground against McGarry and Fransen got a lead of about 5 yards ahead of Archibald, anchor man for Bates. Fransen ran a wonderful race but Archibald managed to close up the gap and in the final spurt for the tape the Colby man was just ahead of the Garnet runner. Both men were nearly finished when Fransen swerved a bit forcing Archibald onto the outside of the track. The Colby runner did not touch the Bates man but Archibald lost control of himself and crashed into the boards. Fransen broke the tape, a winner in the fast time of 3.36 1-5 but the judges awarded the decision to Bates on an alleged foul. Colby was given last place but the time given out was that of the Colby man.

It is not understood why the officials broke the rules and gave Bates the decision instead of B.U. which was the legal winner. The Bates man has not crossed the finish line yet.

It is hoped that Colby and Bates may meet again at the K. of C. games in Boston on February 17th. This race would be a big drawing card for the meet.

They Weighed Air—and Charles II Laughed

AMUEL PEPYS says in his diary that Charles II, for all his interest in the Royal Society, laughed uproariously at its members "for spending their time only in weighing of air and doing nothing else since they sat."

This helps to explain why Charles has come down to us as the "merry monarch."

The Royal Society was engaged in important research. It was trying to substitute facts for the meaningless phrase "nature abhors a vacuum," which had long served to explain why water rushes into a syringe—the commonest form of pump—when the piston is pulled out.

Denis Papin had as much to do as anyone with these laughable activities of the Royal Society. Papin turned up in London one day with a cylinder in which a piston could slide. He boiled water in the cylinder. The steam generated pushed the piston out. When the flame was removed, the steam condensed. A vacuum was formed and the weight of the outer air forced the unresisting piston in.

Out of these researches eventually came the steam engine.

London talked of the scandalous life that King Charles led, and paid scant attention to such physicists as Papin, whose work did so much to change the whole character of industry.

The study of air and air pumps has been continued in spite of Charles's laughter. In the General Electric Company's Research Laboratories, for instance, pumps have been developed which will exhaust all but the last ten-billionth of an atmosphere in a vessel.

This achievement marks the beginning of a new kind of chemistry—a chemistry that concerns itself with the effect of forces on matter in the absence of air, a chemistry that has already enriched the world with invaluable improvements in illumination, radio communication, and roentgenology.

Two Chinese Students Enroll—Friends of Robinson, '06, Y. M. C. A. Worker in China.

Our registrar has just enrolled two new students at Colby, Mr. Li Su of Tientsin and Mr. Li Fu Chi of Peking, China. They were sent here by Mr. Arthur G. Robinson of the class of '06, who is a Y. M. C. A. secretary in China. While in college Mr. Robinson, in addition to other activities, was active in the Y. M. C. A., a member of the track team, and editor-in-chief of the Echo. It is through his efforts that these two young men have come from the other side of the globe to become sons of Colby. In spite of the fact that they have classmates at New York University and that there are many Chinese students at Princeton, the Li's chose Colby as the college where they could learn the most representative type of Americanism. Both of them are planning to major in economics so as to fit themselves to take a constructive part in the industrial and political awakening of their country. They say that there is a great and growing opportunity for the trained man in China and that the country is progressing both in industries and national spirit. A great number of factories are being built and the Chinese are now manufacturing many things which a few years ago were imported from Japan or the West.

Mr. Li Su has attended Peking college and is a graduate of the Peking School of Commerce and Finance. He was for a year principal of the Y. M. C. A. middle school at Tientsin and plans to resume this position after getting his degree from Colby.

Mr. Li Fu Chi is a farmer's son. He has attended Chinese preparatory schools and, like his chum, is fitting himself for economic work in his own country. For a time he held a position as filing clerk for the Chinese International Famine Relief Commission in Peking.

It is indeed inspiring to talk with these fellows and see the almost religious zeal with which they study and plan for service to their country. From childhood their fondest dream has been to go to America, the land of opportunity, and to bring back some of her learning and science to their mother country.

JOURNALISM CLASS TO HEAR LECTURES

Editor Hall, '93, to Give Series of Newspaper Talks

A series of lectures on the general subject of Journalism will be given before the class in Journalism at Colby on five successive Mondays, beginning on February 12, by Oliver L. Hall, of the class of 1893, of Bangor. The dates and subjects are as follows:

- February 12. "The Beginnings and Development of Newspapers."
- February 19. "The newspaper of Today and of the Future."
- February 26. "Ethics and Essentials of Newspaper writers."
- March 5. "The Editorial Page, the City Room, and the Business Office."
- March 12. "Literary Requirements and Rewards of Journalism."

In previous years Mr. Hall has lectured before the class at Colby as well as before the class at the University of Maine. This is the first year, however, that he has given this series of addresses.

Oliver L. Hall was a member of the class of 1893. Immediately after his college course he entered the field of journalism, editing for a time the Waterville Sentinel in the days when it was a weekly publication; later he edited the Rockland Star; and in 1900 he became staff correspondent of the Bangor Daily Commercial, and since 1911 its managing editor. In 1914 Colby conferred upon him the honorary degree of Master of Arts.

of his duties than was he. It was characteristic of him not to wait to be shown work to be done, but to do with a will whatever judgment told him he could do well. He literally gave himself body and soul to his profession, drawing heavily upon his physical and mental reserve that his endeavors might count for the general good. Many students in the preparatory schools of New England will remember Professor Brown for his enthusiasm and for his helpful advice, and many college men in New England institutions have to thank him for arousing in them a desire to go higher in their education.

Perhaps his chief characteristic was his desire to be of real service to his fellowmen, and in carrying out his purposes he found his most helpful field in the church and its allied organizations. A call for service from each and all was answered with marked cheerfulness even when such calls meant extra heavy burdens, and to each and all he rendered a service that was at once conspicuous for its strength and its wisdom.

DEPUTATION TEAMS IN FULL SWING

Several Services Held in Oakland and Waterville—Colby Men Well Received.

Sunday evening, January 14, was Colby night at Oakland. The C. C. A. was represented by deputations at both the Baptist and Methodist church, both of which presented very interesting programs.

A delegation composed of C. Barnard Chapman, '25, Mark L. Ames, '24, Charles O. Ide, '26, and Stanley C. Brown, '26, presented the following program:

Song Service,
led by C. B. Chapman, '25
Devotions led by M. L. Ames, '24
Selections by Quartet
Addresses:

"What is a Christian?" C. O. Ide, '26
"Why it is Difficult to be a Christian?" S. C. Brown, '26
"What is a Christian for?" M. L. Ames, '24
"The Kind of a Christian God Wants," C. B. Chapman, '25

After the services refreshments were served in the vestry by the Oakland Society of Christian Endeavor which were very gratifying to the evangelistic appetites. Both the meeting and the refreshments were marked success.

At the Methodist church, of Oakland, a delegation composed of Percy G. Beatty, '24, Coburn H. Ayer, '25, and Kenneth J. Smith, '26, gave the following program:

Song Service,
led by C. H. Ayer, '25, K. J. Smith, '26, cornet
Devotions, led by P. G. Beatty, '24
Vocal solo, C. H. Ayer, '25
Address, "Stop, Look, Listen," P. G. Beatty, '24

An audience of over 80 was present which was very large considering the unfavorable weather. The program was very helpful, especially the address of Percy G. Beatty, '24, which was a strong, virile appeal in behalf of Christianity. The people of Oakland were deeply appreciative, and expressed a sincere desire that these interesting meetings may be continued in the future.

Methodist Church, Waterville.
The C. C. A. was represented at the Methodist church of Waterville, Sunday evening, January 21, by a strong delegation. Merton E. Laverty, '23, conducted the services, assisted by Percy G. Beatty, '24, Robert M. Waugh, '25, C. Bernard Chapman, '25, Kenneth J. Smith, '26, and a Colby quartet consisting of Floyd S. McIntire, '23, first basso, Stanley C. Brown, '26, second basso, C. Bernard Chapman, '25, second tenor, and Bert L. Merrill, '24, first tenor.

The meeting opened by a spirited song service, ably conducted by C. B. Chapman; Robert M. Waugh led the responsive reading; Kenneth J. Smith, read the scripture; and Merton E. Laverty led in prayer; Percy G. Beatty was then introduced as the speaker of the evening.

Beatty spoke on "Youth and Religion." Citing the examples of two Jewish kings, Amon and Josiah, who had come to the throne at an early age, he showed that lack of decision had ruined Amon, while a firm resolution had made Josiah one of the most powerful kings of his day. This contrast of two youths, who beginning with equal possibilities and made extremely different use of their opportunities shows how necessary it is that we start to develop our initiative at an early age.

We must begin in our youth to cultivate a faith in God and ourselves; an ambition to reach high; an enthusiasm and perseverance that will start things, and then finish them; a courage that will never yield; and lastly a deep love of God. Paul's success was largely due to these traits. He was active as a persecutor but still more active as a follower of Christ; for whatever he undertook he undertook with all his heart and soul. The same must be true of all those who will succeed. Each must start in his youth to cultivate these characteristics in himself.

Mr. Beatty's address was vivid and interesting and from beginning to end was replete with graphic illustrations which held the audience absorbed during the entire speech. The entire program was well conducted, and much credit is due to the entire team for representing the college so efficiently.

Oakland Baptist Church.
Sunday evening, January 21, the Colby Christian Association was represented at the Baptist church of Oakland by a delegation composed of Marlin D. Farnum, '24, John L. Dunstan, '23, Coburn H. Ayer, '25, and Lionel Hebert, '25. Marlin D. Farnum presided, while Coburn H. Ayer rendered a vocal solo, and Lionel Hebert gave a violin solo.

John L. Dunstan was the speaker of the evening. His subject "Practical Christianity" was direct and earnest. He showed that the example of the Good Samaritan is a worthy model for our religion today, pointing out the fact that many of us are forgetting to practice during the week what we learn on Sunday; but rather, making Christianity a Sunday affair, unrelated to our life Monday or Tuesday. People are looking for Christianity in your life, he declared, and unless you show it in your every day life it will never win others to Christ or bring the kingdom of God any nearer to realization.
