

DR. TAYLOR SHARES SERVICE RECORD

Colby Professor and Dean of Vermont University Have Taught 55 Years in Respective Institutions.

Colby College rises en masse to refute the statement of the University of Vermont that "54 years of continuous service in one institution gives Dean George Henry Perkins of the University of Vermont a record for active teaching, the equal of which probably can not be found in any American college today."

Colby College also stands firm in its belief that the utterance that "When four years ago, Dean Perkins celebrated his 50th anniversary at

Dr. Julian D. Taylor

Vermont, there was but one other professor in the country who had as enviable a record, and it is now believed that the Vermont professor stands alone in this high distinction."

Four years ago, Dr. Julian Daniel Taylor, head of the department of Latin, most respected and honored member of the Colby faculty group, had a record equal to that of his University of Vermont contemporary. Today Dr. Taylor still ranks with Dean Perkins of Vermont as the oldest professor in the United States in point of service.

Dr. Taylor was graduated at Colby College in the class of 1868. He was granted an A. M. in 1871, an LL. D. in 1900. During the year 1868, Dr. Taylor became a "tutor" at Colby. The position is now that of instructor. He served in that capacity for five years until 1873. He became professor of Latin Language and Literature in 1873 and remained at the head of the department until 1918 when the chair was renamed the Taylor Professorship of Latin Language and Literature. He still holds his classes and it is the hope of all Colby that he will remain with the college for many years to come.

Dr. Taylor has for many years held a high position in the affairs of Colby College. At each Commencement, he is the member of the faculty with whom the returning graduates wish first to talk. He has witnessed the growth of Colby from a small institution to one which stands high among its sister colleges and universities in New England. He has been active as a professor at Colby for 55 years, equalling the time of service

OVER EIGHTY FOR WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

In response to the call issued by Miss Mabel L. Davis, '23, for candidates for the various musical clubs over eighty members of the women's division have signed up to try out for some branch of this college activity. This means that there will be great competition for the various parts, and should result in one of the best clubs of recent years.

Last year's graduating class took with it many of those who participated in the 1922 concerts. There are no experienced readers left and the orchestra is greatly depleted. However, the mandolin club will have nearly the same members, and, with such a large number of candidates eager to win places, the various leaders are very enthusiastic.

MUSICIANS WIN LAURELS ON TRIP

Concerts at Winthrop and Portland Well Received—Boys Make Friends in Both Places.

The Colby Musical Clubs started on their first official trip on February 13 amid a bluster of snow. A bold, daring aggregation of musicians, it was, that boarded that ice-bound train. So the conductor must have thought, because he gave them a private car in order that none might be disturbed. This privacy was soon intruded upon by a large audience, who were strangely entranced by the soulful melody, rendered by Messrs. Nichols, Hoxie, Smith, Davis, Hebert, and Bragdon, aided by a few other "Messing" amateurs.

Arriving at Winthrop, their musical ardor was somewhat cooled. A group of high school girls, mixed with a cold, icy atmosphere, greeted them at the station and accompanied them to the town hall, which was not warm or even nearly so. There the clubs rehearsed their selections while "Ted" Bramhall and Bragdon conversed with the young ladies who seemed much impressed with their collegiate air. After a pleasant afternoon spent in shivering, and laughing at "Eddie" Baxter's impersonation of a small boy, all were conducted to the homes where they were to be entertained.

The concert was well attended, over a hundred being present, and all the numbers were given generous applause, especially "Eddie" Baxter's

ALPHA DELTA PI IN ANNUAL FEAST

Many Undergraduates, Alumnae and Delegates Gather at Elmwood.

The Alpha Delta Pi chapter of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority held its eighth annual initiation banquet at the Elmwood Hotel Saturday evening February 17. The menu consisted of grape fruit au maraschino, tomato bisque, quon olives, Boston celery, roast native chicken, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, green peas, hot rolls, Alpha Delta Pi fruit salad, fancy ice cream, Hunter cake, and demi-tasse. The place cards were blue birds, and violets, the sorority flower, were at each plate. Favors were in the form of stationery with the sorority crest.

FEATURE GAME OF BASKETBALL SERIES

Phi Delt's Win Hard Fought Game from D. U.'s by One Basket—Burke and Lanpher Star.

The interfraternity basketball league produced one of the best games seen around Waterville this year when the Phi Delt's defeated the D. U.'s by the close score of 28 to 26. The game was the only one played on Tuesday due to some misunderstanding among the other teams. But what the program lost in quantity it more than made up in quality. That game should go down on the records as a classic!

Both teams were considered the ace outfits of the league. Each one had a clean slate thus far for the season. The winners of the game would without doubt be the winners of the trophy given to the victorious team by the basketball league at the end of the season. Knowing this every man played for all he was worth and then kept on. The close score tells the story. At no time through the entire game were the teams more than four points apart and in the final period the score was tied up three different times. But the best man or team always wins. Thus the Gods decreed in the dim ages of the past.

The game was fast and furious with much good basketball mixed in with a little that was not so good. The star of the afternoon was Capt. Johnny Burke of the Phi Delt's. He could not be stopped and made high score for the afternoon with a total of 24 points. With a word of encouragement to his teammates he seemed to be all over the floor. Johnny was there on the offense and his defensive work was steady and dependable. The best part of it all was that he came through in the pinches. His eye from the foul line was way off from its usual form. Until that game a foul called was as good as a point. However, Johnny kept right in the battle, shooting all the time, missing some and caring others, and had the satisfaction of making the winning basket.

The lesser satellite was Johnny Lanpher of the D. U. outfit. He played a slashing game all the way through, accounting for 12 points. The superior defense of the College Avenue crew kept the shooting in the middle of the floor, and as a result Lanpher was unable to count as often as he had in previous games. T.

OFF-SIDE LEAGUE GETS UNDER WAY

Alpha Tau Omega Wins from Delta Kappa Epsilon in New Hockey Series.

In the first game of the newly organized Off Side Hockey League of Colby college, the Alpha Tau Omega sextet defeated the Delta Kappa Epsilon pucksters in a fast game by the score of 6 to 1.

The game was played as the initial encounter of the new inter-mural league which will have in its ranks seven fraternity and one non-fraternity aggregations. The league is to be known as the Colby Off Side League and the games between the various teams will be scheduled so as to play off for the championship of the college. The name of the league is derived from the so-called off side rule is the ice game whereas no player is eligible to receive a pass unless he is in back of the puck at the time of the starting of the pass. In the league, this rule is to be neglected as it is claimed that the new men out for the sport find that they have a great deal of trouble in following the said rule.

The Deltas appeared with two varsity squad players in the lineup, yet nevertheless were unable to turn the tide of defeat against the winners. Louis McBay appeared in a new role when he essayed the goal keeping assignment. Louis had a busy afternoon and did a fine job.

CHAPMAN RECORDER PORTLAND COURT

Colby Graduate in Class of 1912 Receives Important Judicial Appointment.

Gov. Percival P. Baxter appointed Wilford G. Chapman, Jr., a graduate of Colby in the class of 1912, recorder of the Municipal Court of Portland on February 2. The office of recorder was made vacant at the expiration of Sidney Thaxter's term. Gov. Baxter nominated Harry E. Nixon of Portland, to fill this position but the Executive Council refused to confirm his name. Consequently His Excellency presented the name of Mr. Chapman. The Council, recognizing the sterling qualities of this son of Colby, immediately confirmed his appointment.

While at Colby Mr. Chapman was an active participant in the various activities of the college. He was a member of the ECHO Board for three years, serving as Editor-in-Chief during his senior year. In his Junior year he was elected to manage the track team. He was also the Senior councilman of the Athletic Council of the Colby Athletic Association in his fourth year. He was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Mr. Chapman is a brother of Alfred K. Chapman, '25, of Colby, who seems to be following in his brother's footsteps.

NATHAN BUTLER, '54 OLDEST COLBY MAN

Is Over 91 Years of Age—Has Performed a Difficult Work for Government.

Nathan Butler, of the class of 1854, is probably the oldest Colby man now living. He is not, however, the oldest living graduate because ill health forced him to leave college at the end of his third year.

On November 5, last, he celebrated his 91st birthday. His life has been a life in the open. In 1856, he went to Minnesota and from that day to this has been engaged in surveying and engineering work. He has executed some of the most difficult government surveys in Minnesota. He made a topographical and soil survey of the Great Northern Railroad land grant from St. Paul to St. Vincent and of the Northern Pacific Railroad from Minnesota to the Big Horn River in Montana.

It is estimated that he located and appraised a million dollars worth of land for the Great Northern Co., in the State of Washington in the year 1893-1895. He is regarded as an expert in finding and locating lost government corners and lines and in the laws governing the survey and subdivision of government lands.

The home address of the oldest Colby man is 1819 7th street, Minneapolis.

JOURNALISM LECTURE.

Oliver L. Hall, '03, editor of the Bangor Daily Commercial, gave the second of a series of newspaper talks to the class of Journalism last Monday. His subject was "The Newspaper of Today and of the Future." He characterized the first modern newspaper man: James Gordon Bennett, Horace Greeley, Charles E. Dana and others, showing the influence of each upon the great New York newspapers. The enormous organization and equipment necessary for a metropolitan daily was described. He said that the future would depend largely upon the public. Whether the grade of journalism is raised or lowered depends upon the appreciation shown by the readers. The paper must supply what the people demand. The lecture was a comprehensive review of modern journalism and interspersed with anecdotes from Mr. Hall's own career.

SECOND ANNUAL CARNIVAL AT AUGUSTA IS A SUCCESS

Colby Outing Club Participates in the Collegiate Events—Nelson, '26, Wins Second in Ski Jump—Colby Takes Third Place in Final Score.

The State of Maine Winter Carnival at Augusta came to a triumphant close Saturday, Feb. 17. In spite of the intense cold about 3000 people witnessed the winter sports between Maine colleges. In the morning at Ganneston Park the Maine amateur ski-jumping contest, inter-collegiate ski-jumping contest, and ski and snowshoe cross country races were conducted. The King and Queen of Colby won second individual prize as well. The total distances for the three jumps of the competitors were as follows: Elliott, U. of M., 108 feet, 10 inches; Nelson, Colby, 107 feet, 3 inches; Hay, U. of M., 105 feet, 7 inches; Smith, Colby, 102 feet, 2 inches; Stubbs, Bowdoin, '99 feet, 7 inches; Bergenstrable, Bowdoin, 81 feet.

The Colby snowshoe team was crippled the carnival with their royal retinue visited the sports and received quite an ovation from the crowd. Later they looked from a balcony of the Norwegian sports house while the crowd danced on the icy snow to the music of the audiphones which broadcasted victrola music all over the grounds.

In the afternoon, the sports were held in the big park in front of the State House. Among the events were inter-collegiate ski and snowshoe dashes and ski relay race, trap shooting tournament, exhibition skating, and two hockey games. In the first, Westbrook Seminary won the prep school carnival championship by decisively defeating Cony High School to the tune of 10 to 0. Later the University of Maine hockey team surprised everybody by defeating the much touted Bates sextette by 2 to 1 in a close game. The carnival closed with a dinner dance at the Augusta House which was well attended.

College Events.
The first event in the morning's program was the ski jumping which included the Maine Amateur contest for the Gannett trophy and the college competition. The latter was won by University of Maine, Colby second and Bowdoin third. Nelson, '26, pledged by the loss of Laughton, '26, who was unable to compete. A three man team consisting of Barnes, '24, Paine, '24, and Tash, '25, ran in the one and one-half mile cross-country race. This was won by Maine with Bowdoin second. Time: 6 minutes, 29 seconds.

In the cross-country ski race over the same course, Felch, '24, Smith, '24 and Nelson, '26, represented Colby. The result was Bowdoin first, Maine second, Colby third.

At the State park in the afternoon, Plummer of Maine won the 220 yard snowshoe dash, Eastman of Bowdoin second, Barnes of Colby third. Time: 36 seconds.

The 220 yard ski dash was in soft snow which caused slow time to be made. Elliott of Maine won it with Stubbs of Bowdoin a close second and Nelson of Colby third. Time: 41 3-5 seconds.

In the half mile ski relay race the Colby team was composed of Felch, '24, Gorham, '25, Smith, '24, and Nelson, '26. It was won by Bowdoin in 2 minutes, 34 seconds.

The final total of points gave Maine the second leg on the Baxter trophy. The colleges scores were: University of Maine, 60; Bowdoin, 35; Colby, 10.

SEVERAL FEATURES FOR JUNIOR PROM.

Committee Hard at Work on Important College Function—Date Set for April 20.

The Junior Promenade committee reports good progress and it looks as though the event this year would be one of the best ever held. The date set for the dance is Friday, April 20. This date follows the custom of past years.

If plans, now pending, materialize the week end will be one long to be remembered. Thursday, April 19, will see the opening festivities. On that date Colby and the University of Maine will play their annual exhibition game on Sonvern's Field. It is expected that the various fraternities will hold open house on Thursday after the game. On Friday, the twentieth, comes the big formal dance of the year, the dancing at Elks hall, to start at 8.30 P. M., and last until 2.00 A. M. The orchestra has not as yet been definitely chosen.

Saturday will also be a banner day. Prof. Edwards has agreed to cooperate with the Prom committee in putting on the big circus which was postponed last year.

COLBY ZETES IN ANNUAL BANQUET

Initiation Feast Brings Together Many Well-Known Alumni.

Chi chapter of the Zeta Psi fraternity of North America held its 72nd annual banquet at the Elmwood Hotel, Monday evening, February 12, 1923.

Prof. H. C. Libby, class of 1902, acted as toastmaster. Among the speakers were Oliver Leigh Hall, '03, of Bangor, a man well known in the newspaper world. Rev. C. E. Owen of the Civic League, Frank B. Hubbard, '84, treasurer of Colby college, William J. Brown, '23, and Paul M. Edmunds, '20 who spoke in behalf of the neophytes.

Special vocal solos were rendered by W. J. Brown, '23, W. A. Smith, '20, gave some piano selections and George W. Davis, '24, played several numbers on the violin.

Representatives of Lambda chapter at Bowdoin attended the banquet and were among those called upon to speak.

Credit for the success of the affair is to be given to the following committee which consisted of Kenneth I. Wentworth, '25, chairman, Benjamin

COLBY IN WINTER CARNIVAL.

The season of winter carnivals is nearly over. What part did Colby take in these carnivals? Everyone is aware that Colby was forced into the rear seat of the last car. And why? Who is to blame for this unfortunate state of affairs? Not the men who were participants! They gave all they had to uphold the traditions of the "Old College on the Kennebec." Not Physical Director C. Harry Edwards! He backed the team to the limit of his ability. Who then is to blame? The final analysis shows that the blame rests on that portion of the student body who were unwilling to forsake their pipes and warm rooms to ascertain whether they had ability on either skis or snowshoes, who dared not brave the forces of King Winter and get the sensations which come to one after active participation in real winter sports.

While Colby may not have the out-of-door facilities of colleges like Dartmouth and the University of Maine, still she is not hampered like the colleges in larger cities. It is only a short walk from the Colby campus to the Waterville Carnival grounds and the open fields beyond. Lack of ambition is the greatest difficulty we have to contend with here at Colby. Too many of us are afflicted with inertia. Once this is overcome the Colby teams will be able to compete on equal terms with any teams in the state.

Many comments have been heard on the campus about how, "I could do better than — on skis, or on snowshoes." How could that person know he had so much ability without first testing himself? The leader of the Outing Club teams was severely handicapped by lack of material for real competition within the college. He had no way of judging who was the better man for this or that team. It was rather a matter of finding someone who was willing to represent his college. Willing to represent his own Alma Mater! Let me cite a case to the point. Before the Augusta Carnival, the team director had only three men available for the skii relay team, due to the sickness of one of the men. After scouring the entire men's division at last a man was found who could be persuaded to go. This same man in the race made the distance in better time than one of the regular members of the team. No one was aware of his ability until that race simply because he had not been out trying for the team.

It is too late now to do anything about the proposition this winter but it is not too late to begin preparations for the next carnival season. The only way to accomplish this is through inter-mural competition. Let's have an intermural carnival all our own next winter with interfraternity races! Interest can thus be aroused and latent ability discovered. Then Colby can crash through in real style and show the other Maine colleges that the sporting blood at Colby has not entirely disappeared.

HOCKEY AT COLBY.

The student body has shown enough interest in hockey to assure its continuance as a recognized sport at Colby. The editors are glad to note this. In previous years there has been a dearth of winter sports in the college. Basketball is an excellent sport in its place but it does not have the same effect that out-of-door sports do. With the new rink established, intermural and intercollegiate hockey games have taken care of this lack of out-of-door exercise during the long Maine winters.

But, if hockey is to be continued as a recognized sport, sufficient funds must be furnished for its support. During the past two seasons, ample appropriations have been lacking. For the love of the sport, the members of the team have furnished the necessary cash out of their own pockets. However, they cannot be expected to outfit themselves in the future, nor will they be willing to furnish their own meals while away on trips. It is up to the Athletic Council, as representatives of the Athletic Association of Colby, to devise some means of obtaining this money. Upon their wisdom and discretion rests the future of this typical Maine sport.

BOX FOR ECHO MATERIAL.

Do you know that there is a box in the college library kept there for the express purpose of furnishing a convenient medium for the students to place articles for the ECHO where the editor might find them? If you do not, then have Prof. Chipman point it out for you. It is there, and has been for a number of years but the contributions to it have been few and far between.

We hope that this box will be utilized more extensively in the future. While the ECHO has a board of editors whose duty it is to edit the college paper, nevertheless these same editors are always glad to receive aid from the student body. If you have a bit of news about the college or the alumni that would be of interest to the rest of the students, don't fail to find the ECHO box and deposit said article therein. The editors will accord any such article the consideration necessary and the writer may be assured of its publication, if space permits. All contributions must be signed to show the good faith of the contributor.

TWELVE CLASSES TO HOLD REUNIONS

Members of 12 classes, graduated from Colby college, will hold reunions at the annual commencement in June next, they are: 1863, 1868, 1873, 1883, 1888, 1893, 1898, 1903, 1908, 1913 and 1918. The class of 1863, which will hold its 60th anniversary, will have present only George Boardman Illsley, his classmate, William Penn Whitehouse, having passed away recently. The class 1868, to which Professor Julian D. Taylor and Reuben W. Dunn, belong, will marshal several other members in the celebration of their 55th anniversary. The class of 1873 will muster not over three members, ex-President Butler, A. H. Kelley, and Jefferson Taylor, with two or three from the non-graduate ranks. The class of 1878 will have back D. T. Wyman, H. M. Thompson, C. A. C. Chase, A. C. Getchell, C. L. Phillips, and D. W. Pike.

The class of 1883 will celebrate its 40th anniversary and there will be a large number back as their numbers are very nearly intact. There is also a large number of the classes of 1888 and 1893 left and the officers of these groups are already making arrangements for adequate celebrations. The class of 1898, one of the largest that ever graduated from Colby, will celebrate its 25th anniversary and is making special arrangements for the occasion. The classes of '03, '08, '13 and '18 are of such recent years, as classes go, that their numbers at commencements will be very large.

Efforts will be made to make the commencement exercises this year very attractive and plans are already under way to get as large a number of the graduates as possible to live again for a short time in the atmosphere of their graduate days and to keep in touch with the traditions of the College.

of Dean Perkins of the University of Vermont.

Dean Perkins of Vermont has witnessed the same changes in school life and work as has Dr. Taylor of Colby. There is one great difference in the records of the two men. Dean Perkins was graduated from Yale University, whereas Dr. Taylor is a Colby graduate and has remained in the service of his Alma Mater ever since receiving his diploma.

The following letter, taken from the New York Times of February 18, is written by one of Professor Taylor's former pupils, Miss Louise H. Coburn of the class of 1876. She writes:

"Professor Taylor has devoted himself to one branch of study, the Latin language and literature, but together with that he has taught exact thinking, the kind Lincoln meant when he said he was never easy when he was handling a thought till he had 'bounded it north and bounded it south and bounded it east and bounded it west.' This is the sort of thinking Professor Taylor has taught along with Latin, and he has taught also the expression of thought in well-modeled etymological English, with the finer shades of connotation. Judges, congressmen, scientists, preachers, and writers have gone out from under his instruction, but especially educators in large numbers. 'Now, in his fifty-fifth year of college teaching, Professor Taylor is still guiding students along the classical road to clear thought and good English, and in the summer time retires to his 'Sabine farm' on the Kennebec, where the 'res rustical' are happily combined with those humanities which delight his age as they nourished his youth.'

LAW STUDENTS THE BOSTON UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL

Trains students in principles of the law and the technique of the profession and prepares them for active practice wherever the English system of law prevails. Course for LL.B. requires three school years.

Beginning in the Autumn of 1923, one year in college will be required for admission. In 1925 the requirement will probably be two years in college.

Special Scholarships $75 per year to Colby graduates.

NEW NAMES ADDED TO MYSTIC ROSTER

Twelve Men from Sophomore Class Elected to Honorary Society.

The Mystics, the Sophomore Honorary Society, held a meeting recently for the purpose of electing the 1923 members. The active members were well represented at the meeting. Out of the twelve members of the 1924 delegation, eight returned to college this year. The meeting was presided over by Fred E. Chase, '24, of Skowhegan, Me.

The Mystics choose two of the popular men in each of the fraternities, with the exception of the Alpha's, who have not as yet been admitted to this society at Colby. The following were elected to membership:

Delta Kappa Epsilon, Lloyd M. Dearborn of Bangor and Joseph P. Gorham of Houlton; Zeta Psi, Benjamin E. Soule of Gorham and Robert H. Hawkins, Jr., of Bridgeport, Conn.; Phi Delta Theta, Melville G. Kilborn of West Orange, N. J., and Charles W. Shoemaker of West Orange, N. J.; Alpha Tau Omega, Edward T. Moynahan of South Hadley Falls, Mass., and George E. Tash of Farmington; Delta Upsilon, Philip E. Keith of Millinocket and Lionel Herbert of Van Buren; Lambda Chi Alpha, Robert F. Fransen of Lynn, Mass., and Carlton F. Wiley of Waterville.

The Mystics plan to hold their initiation sometime during the next two weeks. This initiation is of a quiet nature, much different from that of the U. B.'s in the spring time.

FEATURE GAME OF BASKETBALL SERIES.

Emery, the diminutive back of the D. U. team, also comes in for a lion's share of the praise. He seemed to be dwarfed beside some of the Phi Delta boys, but was large enough to prevent a good many scores.

Both teams were somewhat weakened by outside occurrences. Hebert and Weymouth, two dependable men of the D. U. aggregation, were absent with the college musical clubs. The Phi Deltas felt the loss of Bauman and Rood who disappeared via the mid-year route. But on an outsider the loss of these men did not detract one whit from the playing of either team.

The score by periods gives the best account of the closeness of the encounter. At the close of the first quarter the score stood 6 to 2 with the Phi Deltas leading. This lead was lessened to 12 to 10 when the whistle blew for the half. The D. U.'s staged a rally in the third period and came out with a one point advantage, 19 to 18. The final period was the prime event. First one team and then the other would jump ahead. Three minutes before the end the count was tied. Finally Burke broke away and caged the sphere from the center of the floor. The Phi Deltas held this lead until the final whistle.

The summary:
F. D. T. (28) (26) D. U.
Burke, lf lf, Royal
Shanahan, rf rf, Lanpher
Shoemaker, c c, Keith
Haines, rb rb, T. Emery
S. Holcomb, lb lb Beatty
Substitutions: Bither for Beatty.

The Wednesday games were three in number. Four of the teams were of the second division, and as a result the attendance was not very large. Low scores were the fashion with the exception of the A. T. O.-L. C. A. contest, in which the Taus rolled up the big score of the year. The Non-Fraternity outfit won its first game

Scott of the Alpha Taus annexed a high point score for the afternoon when he gathered 24 points for his team, shooting all his points from the running back position. Callaghan, captain of the winners, had to leave the game near the end of the first half owing to a sprained ankle. The Lambdas were not in the running except for a few moments at the opening of the game when they piled up a slight lead which did not last long.

The Zeta Psi team failed to impress against the Alphas, though winning by the comfortable margin of 8 points in 15 to 7 record. The Zetas were way off in their shooting but passed with good effect throughout the game. Schenck was back in the game after sustaining a sprained shoulder last week. Marr and Cole played consistent games for the Alphas.

The summary:

"Dusky" Stevens was star of the Non-Fraternity win over the Dekes. He stopped the fast Peabody and held him scoreless and was generally good on the defense through the entire battle. Roy Hearon, Mike's protege, played center for the Dekes and accounted for all but two of the points tallied by that five. It was a close game throughout, the Non-Frat men clinching the contest during the last few minutes of play.

Bill Millett, hero of the Dekes-Phi Delta game when he registered five out of six goals for his fraternity which won the conflict, was held down Saturday by McPherson who scored three goals on his own hook. Captain Tommy Callaghan of the Alpha Taus was unable to play owing to a turned ankle received in interfraternity basketball last week. "Ponzi" Eustis and "Shoriff" Grant provided much entertainment for the small handful of students who braved the cold to witness the battle. Summary:

French-Canadian dialect stories, and Ralph Bradley's recitation of Rudyard Kipling's "Boots."

The next day the club boarded the train for Portland and there resigned themselves to the care of John Tilton, who seemed to know the city. John succeeded in consigning everyone to homes much more speedily than Bramhall had done in Winthrop, but of course we must allow for the fact that there were no fickle girls there to retard him. All the members were then broadcasted through the snowy streets of Portland, some being sent out into the country where Tilton lived. All managed to get back in time for the concert however, with their faces washed and their white bows well tied.

The concert was a huge success. Bradley's "Boots" was impressive and Eddie Baxter received several encores, after which he was presented with a token of the love and admiration of his fellow members in the shape of a beautiful emerald-studded cabbage head amid the approving plaudits of the audience. The Mandolin Club also had very winning smiles which brought down the house. This concert, given for the benefit of the Colby Alumnae fund, was a financial success. Several alumni were present and they came forward after the concert to congratulate the members on their fine work. It was a real Colby night.

The next day the club straggled into Waterville, quite weary but, nevertheless, proud of their hard won laurels. The only ones who expressed any regrets were Bradley, who had carried his camera all over Portland without having taken a picture, and Bragdon, who wished he could have tried the tobogganing with that girl in Winthrop.

YEAR BOOKS OF EARLY '60'S FOUND

Professor Chipman Unearths Some Interesting Documents for the College Library.

Prof. Chipman recently discovered original copies of the first attempt at a Colby year-book while examining some of the ancient college papers. He has had these copies bound and they may be found in the college library. These are the predecessors of the Colby Oracle of today. They are printed in the style of the ECHO on news paper without any covers.

The first issue was published in 1862 and was called "The Watervillean." The following year the name was changed to "The Watervillean" and it was published under that name for four years. These five copies make very interesting reading. The material contained in them is much the same as the Oracle except that they had no cuts and there was no literary department. The object of these first yearbooks as expressed by the editor was, "to be a faithful expositor of all college matters and to portray correctly its life and proceedings."

An interesting feature of the '64 issue is the Roll of Honor of the Civil war. Nearly 150 members of the alumni and student body of Colby participated, the ranks ranging from private to major general. This number was over one-third of the entire student body. This percentage corresponds almost identically with that of the quota which Colby furnished in the World War. In the last war 645 Colby men were in the service out of a total of 1943 living alumni and undergraduates.

DR. MARQUARDT SUCCUMBS

German Professor Gives Up Classes for First Time in 14 Years.

Grim winter has won a notable victory! Thirteen Maine winters have failed until this one. But success has come at last. Dr. Marquardt, the victim, has hied himself to his bed.

Dr. Marquardt has given fewer cuts to his classes than any Professor in Colby. Campus comment rumored that he had not cancelled classes for 14 years because of his own ailments. But Wednesday the blow fell. Dr. Marquardt said that he would not be able to resume book relations with his classes for a week. The prevalent illness, la grippe, is the cause. How many college Professors can show a better record for consecutive service? Colby has reason to be proud of its old German Professor.

Y. W. C. A.

At the regular meeting at the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday evening, Prof. H. L. Newman gave the second of his series of lectures. The subject was, "Who is Christ?" The meeting was in charge of Louise Steele, '23. Prof. Newman brought out the relation of Christ and God, and emphasized the fact that Christ was a God-Man. During the service a violin solo was rendered by Marion Johnson, '25. The meeting was closed by singing "Follow the Gleam."

On Thursday evening, February 15, the second meeting of the Eight Weeks Club was held in the library at Foss Hall, with Miss Lucy M. Osgood, '23, chairman of the Social Service committee, as leader. Those who were present found the meeting very interesting and helpful. The purpose of the Eight Weeks Club is to furnish training for girls who wish to form clubs among the children of rural communities, during the summer, with the idea of promoting supervised recreation. The plan is to have six more meetings held on Thursday night of each week. The course of study will include the plan of organization for Eight Weeks Clubs, nature study, story telling, and different types of games. Miss Donnie C. Getchell, '24, will lead the meeting for February 22.

KAPPA PHI KAPPA TO MEET.

The regular monthly meeting of Kappa Phi Kappa recently postponed owing to the sickness of Professor Antonio Savides, faculty sponsor, has been set for Friday night. At that time, President Arthur J. Roberts of the college, will render the second in a series of talks on education and the teaching profession.

All members of the men's division who desire to attend the supper before this meeting will please notify E. C. Marston at the Alpha House before Thursday, February 22.

EXTENSION GRANTED COLBY.

President Arthur J. Roberts of Colby has announced that the general educational board has granted the request of Colby for an extension of time to complete the canvass for the Second Century Endowment fund of the College. The request was made after the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity house fire when it was impossible to continue work on the fund. By permission of the board, Colby has until April 1 to complete canvassing for the fund.

PHI DELTA THETA.

A. Chandler Farley, '23, has returned to our fold after a lapse of two years. "Dutch" after leaving Colby continued his work at the University of Michigan. He is now back with us again and hopes to graduate this June.

Plans are now under way for a straw vote to be held some time in the near future. Skowhegan or some neighboring town will undoubtedly be explored.

Initiation started Wednesday, February 21, and will not be concluded until the Wednesday before Easter.

Mark R. Thompson, '07, returned to Waterville to attend the funeral of his late uncle, F. Redington.

Elmer F. Moody attended the National Convention held at Kansas City, during the week of Christmas. George Dunnack, ex-'25, dropped into see the boys the other day. At present he is working for a prominent business house in Boston.

Harry Pondergast re-entered at mid-years, after being out for two years.

Many of the boys reported a very favorable time while on the Glee Club trip to Portland.

PROFESSOR CHENEY ADDRESSES C. C. A.

Professor Ralph S. Cheney, head of the department of sociology at Springfield Y. M. C. A. College, addressed the C. C. A., Monday evening. The subject of his talk was "Vocations."

He gave five points as the A, B, C, requirements of a vocation: A, it must be absorbing; B, it must be broadening; C, it must be worthy of our devotion.

The Y. M. C. A. is that kind of an institution, he declared. Twenty years ago there were sixteen hundred "Y" Associations in the country and fifteen hundred secretaries. Since that time the number of these associations has doubled, the number of leaders trebled, and yet we are only at the beginning. The association is still in its youth, and has yet to develop on lines that are untouched at present.

In speaking of the reason for the surprising development of the Association he gave two great sources of strength: first, the fundamental principle upon which it is built, the all round development of mind, spirit, and body; and second, its adaptability. Wherever found, whether among the lumbermen of the north, the colored men of the south, the soldiers, students or business men, there you will find the Y. M. C. A. at work, adapting itself to their special needs. This feature has made the Y. M. C. A. a universal success.

In looking for a vocation in which one can do the most good, the Y. M. C. A. offers great prospects. Men have gone out from Springfield college as leaders of boys, as physical directors, and as secretaries of Y. M. C. A. organizations; and the demand always exceeds the supply. Not only are Springfield graduates receiving good salaries, but they are holding strategic positions which bring them in touch with thousands of boys. Springfield, although famous for its athletic record, its invention of basketball, and the Y. M. C. A. triangle, counts, as still more valuable, the great spirit of love and fellowship among its student body. Not only is there a feeling of loyalty toward the institution, but there is a bond of fellowship inspired by a love for the great work which the college is forwarding.

Prof. Cheney gave an illustrated lecture following this inspiring talk. His subject was the Y. M. C. A. college at Springfield. The pictures shown gave the audience a glimpse of the college buildings and its athletic equipment. They were very interesting as well as instructive.

The regular meeting of the Literary society was held Friday evening in the assembly room. The subject for the evening was "The Ten Best Sellers." The meeting opened with a vocal solo by Miss Emily Heath. Miss Myrtice Swain, as president of the society, then introduced Miss Melva Mann, who gave an article on "The Ten Best Sellers Ten Years Ago." Following this Miss Mollie Seltzer of Fairfield, gave a very pleasing violin selection. Miss Helen Freeman spoke on "The Ten Best Sellers of Today." Current events by the Misses Elsie Bishop and "Bunny" Robinson followed, after which the meeting was closed by the president. An unusually large number attended and the meeting was full of life and interesting.
