MYSTICS PLAN FOR WIDER ACTIVITY

To Serve as Colby Reception Committee.—Bids Are Announced.

At a meeting held Friday, Jan. 16, the Mystics, the Sophomore Honorary Society, voted to take steps to become more than an inactive organization. Its present plans constitute a revision of its activities in as much as to act as a welcoming committee to visiting teams in athletic competition with Colby. The members also voted to have a meeting on the first Thursday of every month.

The primary function of this committee of welcome is to see that visiting teams are properly put up and are extended those privileges which a guest of the college should have. This is a great step forward in athletics and scholastic circles and will be of great influence in creating a much finer and better spirit between Colby college and those colleges which send representatives here.

The plan is accepted with splendid enthusiasm without which an organization of this character can never succeed. Dr. Harry Edwards, head of the Physical Education Department at Colby College, and a member of the Springfield White Arrow club, an organization of similar character offered his approval and support, in making it a decided factor in Colby inter-collegiate activities.

Bids have been proffered to two members of each of the six oldest fraternities. Those which have been accepted are:

William A. Macomber, '27 of Fall River, Mass.

Ralph C. Lewin, '27, of Houlton, Me.

John D. Johnston, '27, of Norwood, Mass.

Waldo L. McPherson, '27, of Abington, Mass.

INSPECTION OF HEDMAN HALL.

The inspection by Prof. Carl J. Weber of the rooms in Hedman Hall has kept the hall in a clean and orderly condition most of the year. However, Professor Weber says that the men have not yet formed the habit of keeping the rooms clean and orderly, but do it more from a sense of duty than from the desire to keep them in good condition.

Criticism has been made that the rooms lack refined decorations but, considering that the average freshman has not had much instruction in interior decorating, they are as a whole fairly good.

COLBY WHITE MULE TO KICK AGAIN

Completely Renovated and Groomed by Faculty Committee.

The winter issue of the "White Mule" will be placed on sale the middle of February. One might almost be able to term the edition the "Ivory Soap Number" for its editors assure that it will be as pure as the driven snow; verily 99 44-100 per cent.

A committee of faculty advisors will in the future pass final judgment upon the publication, and nothing objectionable will be printed within its pages. Truly the magazine will be properly censored.

In the face of the fact that the "White Mule" is being scrubbed and scoured, those responsible for its periodical appearance assure the student body that the curry-combing which the Mule is undergoing will in no way alter the effectiveness of her kick. It is believed that the animal will evince a spurt of speed hitherto unknown among the species, and, awakened to renewed vigor, will outstrip the saying, "The old White Mule ain't what she used to be."

WILKINSON SPEAKS ON COUNT TOLSTOI

Leader of Last Sunday's Vesper Service Tells of His Life and Work.

Professor William J. Wilkinson, head of the History department, was the speaker at the Vesper service in the chapel Sunday afternoon. There was a large attendance and the lecture on "Count Leo Tolstoi," which was one of the best we have heard, made a good impression on his attentive audience.

Professor Wilkinson gave a brief sketch of the philosophy of this Russian who was condemned for his religious views and was excommunicated from the church. He said that Tolstoi had been ranked by a prominent man as one of the outstanding figures of the nineteenth century.

After Tolstoi's excommunication he decided to find out something about himself and the reasons for his being. He resorted first to science and then to philosophy and failed in both. Finally he found that religion was the answer to his great question but it had become so marked and distracted that he had failed to recognize it. He adopted the Sermon on the Mount as his creed. Each day he worked a while with his laborers on his estate. He believed that each person should do a part of the drudgery and disagreeable work. Tolstoi believed in the abolition of government. He was a man of genius and had a deep sympathy with his fellow beings.

Coburn H. Ayer was in charge of the service, Hilda Fife read the Scripture lesson. Rev. W. A. Smith, pastor of the Congregational church offered prayer. Miss True Hardy gave a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Eliza F. Tarrent and selections were rendered by a quartet consisting of Coburn H. Ayer, Stanley C. Brown, C. Barnard Chapman and Joseph R. G. Bradgdon.

PROF. CARTER BETTER

The many friends and students of Professor Carter here in college will be pleased to know that he is steadily recovering from his recent operation and consequent illness. Mr. Carter is at present convalescing at Phillips House in Boston. He has been up and around several times and may be expected to return to this city some time within two or three weeks.

FROSH SEXTET
TIES COBURN

Yearlings Battle Institute Pucksters to Scoreless Tie on South End Rink.

On Monday afternoon the delayed hockey game between Colby Freshman and Coburn teams was played off to a tie score, 0 to 0, on the South End rink.

It was on the whole a fair game but both teams showed lack of team work. Individual starrng was evident at all times and many fouls were called. Weston, the husky Coburn defenseman, was in the game every minute and shot time after time at the Frosh's goal. West was on the spot every minute and made several flashy stops, both from Leary and Weston.

Gould played a fast hard game at center for the first year men while Drummond, former Coburn star, put up a game fight against his former teammates.

The game, although played on bad ice and one of the coldest days of the season kept the meagre crowd, who were loyal to attend, on their toes with interest.

Chase proved himself a man of no mean ability and should be a strong addition to the varsity next year.

The ice fans are looking forward to a return match between these two teams, which should be a corker on account of the tie game played on Monday, both teams being sure to do their best to win the title to supremacy.

The summary:

Coburn (0)	(0) Colby
Burnham, lw	Chase
Howland, c	Gould
Ellis, rw	Foss
Leary, rd	Drummond
Weston, ld	Snow
Williams, g	West

Substitutions: Snow for R. Snow, Weddellon for Snow and Nelson for Chase; Mitchell for Burnham, Mason for Howland. Referee, Days. Time, 4-10's.

DR. LIBBY IN SKOWHEGAN

Dr. Herbert C. Libby was the guest of the Skowhegan Rotary Club, at a meeting in Grand Army Hall, January 20.

Dr. Libby, who is Governor of the eighth district of Rotary Clubs, spoke to the Skowhegan members on International Rotary and the high ideals of Rotary service. He emphasized the service which individual clubs are doing in community work especially among the younger men. He also mentioned the fact that Rotary stood for the ideals of World Peace and is doing all in its power to further this cause.

DEKES DEFEAT ALPHAS AND PHI DELTS BEAT D. U. FIVE

Alphas Go Down to Tune of 27-11.—Phi Delta Thetas Take Firm Hold on Top Place in Victory Over D. U. Team.

The Colby gym was the scene of two lively basketball games yesterday afternoon when the Dekes won a decisive 27 to 11 verdict from the Alpha team and the speedy Phi Delt aggregation unleashed another deluge of baskets, swamping the luckless D. U. quintette 57 to 13. The largest crowd of the season gathered in the gym to watch these two battles and lend vociferous support to their favorites. Both games were well handled and fast, allowing the onlookers no idle moments.

INTER-FRATERNITY BASKETBALL LEAGUE STANDING.

Non-Frat.	0	1	.000
Lancers	0	1	.000
D. U.	0	2	.000
Alpha	0	2	.000

In the opening fray of the afternoon, the Delta Kappa Epsilon team proved their superiority over the Alpha five in a decisive manner. Although the winners maintained a good lead at all times, they were constantly threatened by the Alphas, who kept up the battle until the final blast of the whistle.

Macomber and Cook proved the two shining lights in the Deke lineup. Both of these men had their eyes on the hoop, and together they garnered a goodly share of their team's points. Macomber displayed some clever footwork and proved specially adept at weaving his way down under the Alpha basket and netting the ball. Cook, jumping center for the victors, uncorked some real bursts of speed and teamed up with Macomber prettily, offering a threatening scoring combination.

Road also figured quite prominently in the winners' scoring, while the two guards, Roach and Thiel, prevented the Alphas from piling up a dangerous score.

Marr put up a sterling game for the losers. He was all over the floor, breaking up the Deke offence and instigating several scoring sallies into Deke territory.

The summary:

D. K. E.	Alpha

HOCKEY TEAM
LOSES TO BATES

Slow Game on Colby Rink Results Disastrously for Local Pucksters.—Score 4-0

In a rather slow and uninteresting contest, the Colby varsity sextet lost the first state series hockey game to Bates on the college rink. The score 4 to 0 does not signify the real supremacy of the Bates team for two of their scores were of the luckiest variety. One of Corey's long distanced lifts caromed off a Colby defenseman's skate and bounded into the net; another of the Bates' markers was scored after a mixup around the Colby goal. The puck slid by Fagorstrom's stick after Stanley had worked his way behind the goal and in position for a shot.

The Colby team did not seriously threaten to score throughout the game, but many times one of Colby's forward men would carry the puck down the ice with no one to pass it to at the goal. The team seemed to be playing a defensive game and on the whole the defense was fairly strong. Greatly weakened by the loss of Millett, the Colby defense men turned in an afternoon's work worthy of mention. Captain McGowan also worked hard to score but Wyllie, the Bates goalie, stopped all of the drives at him in the contest. Fagorstrom turned in an excellent game considering his inexperience. (Continued on page 3)

The Phi Delta Theta court team added more laurels to their crown in the second game of the afternoon program by trouncing the D. U. five soundly. The Phi Delt sharpshooters were away off form in yesterday's encounter as they amassed but 57 points to 13 for their opponents. The onlookers hoped to see the classy Phi Delt team top the 100 mark yesterday but they were quite contented with the fine passing exhibition displayed by the victors.

Individual stars were a minus quantity on the conquering aggregation. Each man played great basketball and they moulded their efforts into as fine a display of teamwork as has been witnessed on the Colby court for some years. Capt. Jake Shoemaker was ever to the fore and topped his teammates in the scoring line. Fiedler contributed some excellent work as running back, dropping in four baskets from the floor.

"Punk" Keith of football fame played well for the D. U. team. MacDonald and Potter also played hard games but it was a case of the handwriting on the wall when the Phi Delt team broke loose.

The summary:

P. D. T. (57)	(13) D. U.
Holcomb, lf	Saucier
McCroary, rf	McDonald
Shoemaker, c	Johnson
Fiedler, lg	Fotter
Marr, rg	Carson

Substitutions: (D. U.) Keith for Saucier, Weymouth for Johnson, Larabee for Carson. Goals from floor, (P. D. T.) McCroary 4, Holcomb 4, Shoemaker 8, Fiedler 4, Marr 1; (D. U.) Fotter 1, Keith 2, Johnson, Weymouth 1. Goals from fouls (P. D. T.) McCroary 2, Shoemaker 3, Fiedler 8, Marr 2; (D. U.) Saucier, Keith, MacDonald.

TRACK MEETS LISTED

The Colby relay team will open its winter activities at Boston on January 31, against the crack teams of Boston University and Tufts College. This will be one of the events of the annual B. A. A. meet at the Boston Arena. This same trio of teams met twice last year. At the race in Boston, Colby barely nosed out Boston University for first place and at the second meeting at the Portland games, Colby won again after a heart-breaking race. Both of the Boston colleges have veteran teams and as Colby also has a veteran team, the race this year should be closer than ever.

The relay team will again at the meet in Portland against an opponent to be selected later. An attempt is being made to schedule the University of Maine flors at the Portland meet and if the Maine team is booked, the race is sure to be a hot contest. New Hampshire State is also being considered as an opponent.

THE MYSTICS UNDERTAKE REAL JOB.

A service for which a need has long been felt at Colby has been undertaken by the sophomore honorary society, the Mystics. That is the greeting and entertainment of visiting teams. It is a real job and will require much time and effort. Previously, whatever little entertainment has been undertaken friends of the visiting teams or managers of the various sports had to give. Obviously the managers have not the time to spare for this duty, especially the day of a game. A society properly organized to perform this task will be an invaluable asset to the college as a whole. Especially, it will assist the athletic department and give our rival teams a better idea of Colby hospitality. The fraternities should heartily cooperate in helping the Mystics give this really worth while service.

Wednesday night is fraternity night. Its sanctity as such should be always preserved and no other college activities allowed to interfere.

A BAND.

We are glad to see the student council take up the battle for establishing a real band at Colby. This is one of our biggest needs. It would be especially appreciated at the time of the track meet in the spring. Other colleges have first class bands and there is no reason why Colby shouldn't.

YOUR TEN BEST BOOKS.

Last week we published the results of balloting in the Bibliography class on the ten best books by American authors. The list contained some real surprises. It would be interesting to know what the classes in English would choose as the best American books. Also the Echo will be glad to publish the selections of any students enough interested in literature to make a selection.

ARE COLLEGE FRATERNITIES A DETRIMENT?

Last week in a debate in the college chapel on this question, the judges awarded the decision to the affirmative team, claiming that college fraternities are a detriment. The question has long been the subject of much discussion and disagreement. Like most big problems it has more than one side.

President Kirk of Southwestern College in Kansas says that the unity of a college is one of its greatest assets and that fraternities break up this unity, transferring the center of loyalty from the college to the individual chapter. Another criticism of fraternities, expressed by "The Wyoming Branding Iron," is that fraternities are detrimental to the college "as long as they remain suspicious of each other, participate in better political wrangles and seek their own advancement regardless of the welfare of others and of their relation and obligation to the college itself." The merit of such a criticism can not be questioned.

Nevertheless, how many of us would do away with the fraternities at Colby? How many would say they are a detriment? We do not believe they are. Any suggestions to do away with them would arouse a storm of indignation. As in everything else, we are bound to find bad spots in the good, but one can not justly condemn the system for the shortcomings of the minority. The evils most commonly advertised in connection with the system, its defenders can truthfully point out, are due to the occasional individual member and not inherent in the system itself.

A committee of the Interfraternity Conference of America presented a report to the Convention held in New York last November, based on more than a year's investigation of 51 fraternities, representing a membership of 398,000 men. It found fraternities to be intensely patriotic; found they "promoted concord among groups of different religions, racial and political backgrounds," and that they "taught the duty and privilege of service to mankind, and denounced snobbery and the fetish of social demarcation on the basis of wealth or family."

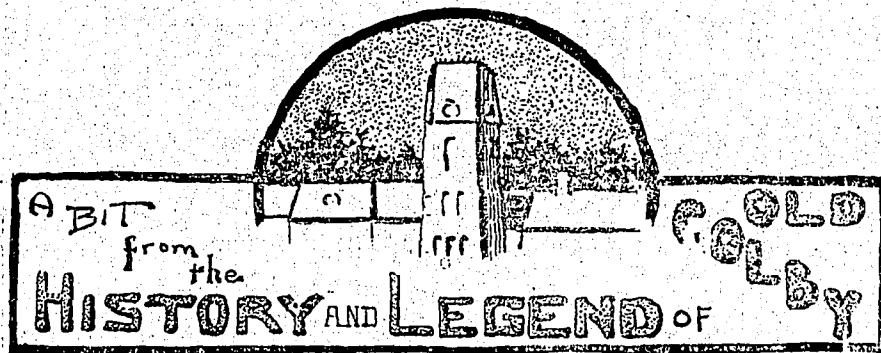

On the score of study, regular scholarship reports keep the members posted on their standing. Upperclassmen are usually delegated to act as advisors and tutors for pledges and considerable incentive to study is offered which is not received outside the fraternity. On the other hand fraternity men do not become bookworms. Fraternities are a balancing power. They furnish that "broadening, softening and beneficial influence of the spirit of brotherhood which lives in its highest degree in the college fraternity." Let us keep them close to the high aims and ideals of belief in God, moral living, friendship, honesty, charity, high scholarship, participation in campus activities and college loyalty for which most of them avowedly stand!

MUSIC AND EDUCATION.

Over five hundred students in Harvard University are engaged in some kind of musical activity. Two hundred students are taking regular courses in music in the department at Minnesota, and six hundred take part in musical activities directed or coached by faculty members. Reviewing the expansion in this field, at Harvard and elsewhere, Professor W. R. Spalding says, in the Harvard Alumni Bulletin:

"President Eliot and other authorities have always insisted that music was one of the most stimulating educational subjects by reason of the varied powers it calls into play,—the ear, the eye, and brain, the imagination, the emotions, the hands, and often the feet. Music also cultivates the taste and the ability to draw fine distinctions. . . . Whenever human beings are singing or playing together, or even brought under the influence of music made by others, for the time being they are in accord and in sympathy with each other,—all their animosities, jealousies, and hatreds obliterated, and they themselves carried into a higher realm. As Addison says, 'Music can manage all the man with secret art.' In the modern world nothing is more sorely needed than brotherly love and sympathetic toleration. A force which can generate these feelings, as music actually does, is not to be ignored."

HOW BEN BUTLER PUT ONE OVER.

Another Ben Butler story was brought to our attention the other day which an Echo reader found in the Boston Sunday Globe. Ben Butler's student days have furnished many an anecdote in Colby history and this is one of the best. The story goes as follows:

Although 80 years or so have passed since Gen. Benjamin F. Butler was graduated at Waterville College, now Colby, tales of his student days still are rehearsed.

Athletics were not then on the card, so the high spirits of the boys sought other avenues of expression. One night a fairly expensive sign disappeared from a store front downtown.

The solitary night watchman, an old man who was accustomed to make his rounds armed with a heavy cane and a lighted lantern, did not see fit to report what little he knew of the affair until after he had had his nap the next day, so it was evening before the president of the college learned that the sign was undoubtedly somewhere on the campus and the college authorities were expected to produce it.

A committee of investigation, consisting of the president and two professors, was assembled. They decided to visit every student's room—no great task, as there were only 30 or 40 of them, all told.

AIN'T IT SO?

The other day I WAS IN one of COLBY'S best-loved BUILDINGS AND A fellow came in,— A COLBY man I thought BUT I wonder NOW. BECUZ he asked, he did: WHAT IS this door here, on the right? And I sez the Old LIBRARY AND THEN he sez: what's this room IN here? sez I THE chapel HE'd been in college 5 mos.—i.e., HE ought to've been. and I began to wonder if he's a REAL COLBY MAN yet. I've heard tell of a freshman THAT took a forty W lamp to the CENTRAL Maine to get another the same size, and went hunting for the PHI beta house, and looked FOR a log-stretcher, but I never HEARD of a REAL COLBY man who didn't KNOW the chapel and the library. WHAT WE need is a course IN transportation to take studies around and shows them the real COLBY. Ain't it so?

THE COLLEGE WOMAN IN BUSINESS.

We have noticed within the last year a reaction against the college woman in business. Whatever the cause, the fact is forced upon us from day to day as we talk with business men, that they are unwilling to

Now, the missing sign happened to be in young Butler's room. As soon as the search began, however, he learned of it. Seizing his ax—every student was supposed to cut up his own wood in those days—he smashed the sign in two or three pieces and threw them on the fire in his wide fireplace.

Before the flames had fairly reached them the search committee neared the door of the room. The president had raised his hand to rap and demand admittance, when his attention was arrested by the sound of a vigorous voice within the room. The occupant obviously was engaged in prayer. When the sign as no longer recognizable the prayer ended: "And, O Lord, we especially implore Thy mercy for this present generation of vipers. As Thou hast taught us in Holy Writ, it is truly a wicked generation seeking after a sign, but no sign shall be given it except the sign of the prophet Jonas."

The president's arm had dropped to his side. To disturb a student at his devotions was under no circumstances to be thought of. Followed by the others of the committee, he tiptoed away.

Another tradition has it that Butler found the price of the sign duly entered on his term bill, and cheerfully paid it.

take the college woman on her record of past experience, but will bring her into their organizations on their estimate of her present worth to them as a "green hand." This means that she will receive a salary equal to that paid a high school graduate in a similar position, until she demonstrates that she is able to earn more. In some instances we have found a decided aversion to employing the college woman at all. It was within a week that a young woman reported to us an interview she had had with the head of one of the largest advertising concerns in the country, in which he had said that he was "through" with the college woman in his business. While this attitude is not general, we feel that it not without justification, and it is an attitude which must be realized and met by the college woman. She must recognize that the competition between herself and the high school graduate is much keener than it was during the war, and if she is going to pass her younger sister in the race she must show herself willing to run side by side with her over the rough and unlovely part of the road which spells hard work. We are not pessimistic concerning the future of the college woman in business. Ability to work plus a trained mind is bound to come into its own in the business world as in other fields but we do say that a trained mind minus the willingness to work and work harder than she has ever worked before is not going to carry the college-trained business woman very far along the road marked "Success."—Edith O. Robertson, in the Smith Alumnae Quarterly.

Unsophisticated Soph: "She is very truthful. I don't believe a lie ever passed her lips."

Cynical Senior: "Well, no wonder, she talks through her nose."

PHI DELTS AND ZETES WIN OVER NON-FRATS AND LANCERS

Non-Fraternity Team Falls Before College Avenue Aggregation, 96-2.—Zetes vs. Lancers, 41-21.

Piling up a total of points that would look far more natural on a bowling score, the Phi Delta Theta basketball team rode roughshod over the Non-Fraternity quintet last Wednesday afternoon. The crack Phi Delt aggregation played fine basketball throughout the game, and shot baskets almost at will. After the final score was computed by the perspiring scorekeeper it was announced that the Non-Frat five were on the short end of a 96 to 2 score.

Although the Non-Frat court team offered hardly any competition to the well-oiled Phi Delt team, the game was well worth watching as the brand of basketball displayed by the winners would grace any court. They brought into play a passing attack which is dazzling to say the least, while their shooting left nothing to be desired. So puzzling was the teamwork exhibited by the Phi Deltas, that their opponents could not do much more than stand agape at the flashy display.

Shoemaker was by far the outstanding player of the game. The elongated Phi Delt jumping center was credited with 12 baskets from the floor. The winners' passing attacks centered around Shoemaker and his floor work was a sight for sore eyes. The entire winning team played like clockwork and it was difficult to pick any outstanding star.

The Non-Frat team made a sorry showing, as both their points came as a result of free tries. However, it must be taken into consideration that it was the first time the losers had ever played together and to be confronted by the smoothworking Phi Delt quintette was a little too much for the inexperienced losers.

Freshman Lamentation.—When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I felt as a child, I thought as a child; now that I have become a man I do the same thing.

In the second game, the Zeta Psi team conquered the Lancers by a 41 to 21 score. It was a merry battle in the first half, but in the second half the Zetes ran away with the game, scoring 32 points while the Lancers amassed only 7.

The Lancers started off in earnest and, through some stellar playing by Caulfield and Fasce, maintained a lead throughout the opening period. At the half they held a 14 to 9 edge over the Zetes. However, the tables were turned in the concluding period when the Zeta Psi quintette played rings around their opponents, garnering a lead which assured them of victory.

The Lancers, of whom little was expected on the court this season, showed much latent power and, could a couple of players be developed to team up with Caulfield and Fasce, they should give the other contenders plenty to think about. Caulfield had his shooting eye well gauged in Wednesday's encounter, hooping five floor baskets as well as a duo of fouls.

Charlie Abbott, flashy Zeta forward, copped the shooting honors for the game by caging eight floor shots and two foul tries. He played clever basketball at all times and was accorded fine support by Bill Powers. The Zeta defense was rather weak the first half, but tightened considerably in the final half, holding the Lancers' score well within bounds.

A. T. O. WINS FROM PHI DELT SEXTET

"Feldy" Flynn's Ice Birds Take Capt. Sullivan's Puck Chasers into Camp.

Colby's intramural ice programme was inaugurated last Wednesday with the Alpha Tau Omega sextette, under the skilled leadership of "Feldy" Flynn, emerging victorious over the Phi Deltas after a gruelling game which was featured by the classy hockey displayed by both teams. Although the game was hotly contested throughout, the A. T. O. puck chasers showed a much superior brand of hockey which was clearly indicated in the final score of 10 to 3.

Quite a gathering of ice-enthusiasts were at the Colby rink to witness the opening battle in the fraternity league and, if Wednesday's game was any criterion of the coming ice-tilts, the hockey followers will be privileged to watch some exciting contests.

The Phi Delt aggregation were first on the ice and drew a big hand with their new uniforms. They were speedily followed by the Alpha Tau Omega team lead by the doughty Captain Flynn. For the first few minutes the battle waged hot and furious, but soon the clever puck ragging of Capt. Flynn led to a safe lead for the A. T. O's.

Captain Sullivan brought hope to the Phi Delt followers with his scintillating spurts down the ice. Flanked by Steigler and Greason, two speedy wings, the Phi Delt leader offered an imposing offense. However, the A. T. O. defense men were equal to the occasion and aided by Flynn's clever checking offered a nearly impregnable defense.

Captain Sullivan broke loose in the last period and tallied twice with difficult side shots. Inspired by their leader's gallant play, the Phi Deltas rallied, but the big lead garnered by Captain Flynn's men proved insurmountable.

Nickerson and MacPherson displayed some clever hockey for the winners while Sullivan, Baxter and Greason played fine hockey for the losers.

MILLER RELATES KENTUCKY WORK

Donald W. Miller, '25, was the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. meeting last night. He gave a very interesting talk on what the churches are doing in the mountains of Kentucky. Miller has but recently returned from that region where he has been teaching. Consequently he knows a great deal about his subject and was able to present the facts.

He gave a brief outline of the conditions under which these people lived, describing their small, one-room log hut, with glassless windows and with very little furniture, the lack of sanitation and lack of all modern conveniences including medical service. Until recently they have had no schools and grown mountaineers have minds inferior to those of normal eight-year old children. However, when given an opportunity the children learn very fast and the speaker cited instances where several have made good in colleges.

Miller said that the churches were able to make hardly any progress there. There would be only about four old women in the church at a service while outside the church would be one or two hundred mountaineers swapping horses and selling moonshine. However, schools are being built where the young folks are taught practical things, how to farm properly, how to take care of the sick, and how to live sanitarially.

There was a fair attendance at the meeting, considering the extreme inclemency of the weather, and all present pronounced it one of the most interesting talks there have been at the "Y" meetings this year.

The awkward waiter dropped the steak on the restaurant floor.
"Now I've lost my lunch," said the angry customer.
"No, no, sir," said the waiter. "I've got my foot on it."

ATHLETIC COUNCIL WORKS FOR COLBY

Very few Colby students know anything about the internal workings of the Colby Athletic Association, what it does for the college, and how it does it. This quiet, powerful machine which controls our athletics plays an important part in Colby life.

Every Colby student is a member of the Athletic Association and has his full share of power in electing representatives to carry on the business of this organization. Perhaps a few parts of the constitution would be well to note.

The Colby Athletic Association was formed for the purpose of directing and controlling all athletic sports and contests and having charge of the athletic field and all other properties belonging to the association. This includes Seaverns Field, all uniforms and other paraphernalia for the various athletic teams.

The Athletic Council is the executive committee and consists of eight members: two members from the faculty; two from the alumni; three from the student body; and the Athletic Director.

Ellsworth W. Millett, '25, is president for the season of 1924-25. "Bill" is one of Colby's most popular men, a star fullback and a man of excellent qualities as head of the association.

William W. Hale, '25, is the senior representative from the student body. Hale showed his abilities as manager of the baseball team last spring and is well informed as to the procedure of the Council as he attended a good many meetings last spring, representing the baseball team.

Daniel Shanahan, '26, is the junior councilman and incidentally secretary of the association. "Dan" is untied as yet but we are sure that his qualities are sterling.

Dr. George F. Parmenter is one of the faculty representatives and it was largely through his efforts that the new freshman one semester ruling was introduced at Colby last spring.

Dr. Ashcraft is the other faculty member and also treasurer of the association. He manages all the financial affairs of the association and it is his altogether too thankless duty to keep the association from plunging into debt.

Perhaps the moving spirit of the whole association is our Athletic Director, Dr. C. Harry Edwards. "Doc" has general oversight over the whole organization and nothing new is ever attempted except on his recommendation or approval. Just now he is working on plans for a new gymnasium and we know that it is a sure thing sooner or later with such a "promoter" as Professor Edwards.

The Alumni members are Albert F. Drummond, '88, and George Fred Terry, Jr., '22.

Captains and managers of the varsity teams attend Council meetings in their season and the captains recommend those men who have earned letters to receive such while the managers render their reports and notify the council of elections for captain.

We see from these facts that all Colby athletics are under the direct supervision of the Association and although, as has been already said, it works quietly and smoothly, yet it is perhaps the most important of all Colby's outside activity organizations.

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR REAL BAND

Colby's interests in the State Track Meet this spring will be boosted by a real, honest to goodness band, if the present plans of the Student Council materialize as they give great promise of doing. Those of Colby in charge of the project intend to make a thorough canvas of the fraternity and non-fraternity men in the near future in order to fully determine the number of band men available.

The present plans provide for a permanent organization of a twenty piece band, including a president, treasurer, and faculty advisor. Plans are matured for a vigorous campaign among the alumni of the college in view to raising $700 that the organization may purchase uniforms, and such instruments as will be absolutely necessary.

Negotiations are underway with the proper authorities for the arrangement of giving P. T. credit to those serving. An insignia will be offered to those men serving in the band much the same as to those serving Colby in any other capacity.

Cornell University is protesting the presence of co-ed rooters at their football games. The deplorable condition of Cornell yelling has been blamed on the fair co-eds.

LOSE FIRST OF LOCAL GAMES

Blue and Gray Defeated by St. Jeans Hockey Team, 4 to 1, in First of City Series.

In the opening hockey contest of the season, the Colby varsity lost to the fast St. Jeans of Waterville on the South End rink. The St. Jeans presented a well balanced lineup with such men as "Art" Rivard and Maltais, two of the stars in past seasons of the Berlin Hockey Club. The score was 4 to 1 and Rivard scored three of the St. Jean goals. The other tally was sunk by Cariveau, considered to be the fastest man on skates in the state of Maine.

In the opening period, after three minutes of play, Rivard tore loose and whizzed one past Fagerstrom for the initial score of the game. A few minutes later Cariveau registered, and it seemed as if the varsity were in for a fine hooking. Close to the end of the first period, however, Jack McGowan lifted one from center ice that Maltais failed to stop and the score stood 2 to 1.

In the second period, Rivard poked two shots into the Colby net that couldn't be stopped with a broom. This ended the scoring but in the final period Fagerstrom did a wonderful job at guarding the Colby goal. The defense men also did nobly.

The game was inclined to be rough but no penalties were inflicted. "Bill" Millett stopped the puck with his nose in the final quarter and will probably be on the sidelines for a few days. For the St. Jeans, Rivard was the star and for Colby, McGowan did the best work.

The summary:

The Class Endowment And How It Can Be Done Through Life Insurance

THE JOHN HANCOCK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY worked out this problem for the 1923 graduating class of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and ready to do it for others. Many graduating classes, wishing to benefit their Alma Mater have turned to the insurance life since it allows the participation of a large number of students.

This plan provides for the payment of a certain specified sum to the University at the end of 20 or 25 years, the members of the graduating class paying a nominal sum each year to create an endowment. In case of the death of a graduate before the endowment matures his full share is paid into the fund.

Every student is given a chance to put his John Hancock on the dotted line and become a contributing contributor to the future welfare of his Alma Mater. It has been successfully carried through in a number of cases, and it can be done with your institution.

The John Hancock organization will be glad to render any service to college classes and individuals; also to interested ambitious college men in life insurance work.

Washburn Hinds went to his home in Portland over the week-end.

Several of the Deke Boys went for a sleigh ride to Fairfield Center on Saturday night and all reported a wonderful time.

The Deke's are glad to announce that the two cripples, Harry Kaufmann and "Bill" Millett are nearly back to normal health once more.

On Monday night the D. K. E. basketball team journeyed to Skowhegan, and played the fast K. of C. team of that town. The game was a thriller, resulting in a 31 to 23 win for the Skowhegan team.

Plans are well underway for the Deke Ball, to be held February 20 and 21. The committee is planning to make this ball the best yet.

The church going population of Fairfield was held in breathless suspense last Sunday evening by the stirring sermon delivered by Raymond Grant, who it seems, is masquerading under the name of Dr. Libby. We hope however, that his success will not cause him to forget the dire consequences of such a false inspiration.

Coburn Ayer, '25, spent a quiet week-end devoted to nature study in East Vassalboro.

While Colby and Bates matched their wits for supremacy on the ice, students in Roberts Hall matched coins for positions nearest the windows.

Stanley Tanner, '28, has returned to his studies after a brief attack of chicken pox.

Claude Stinneford, '25, has postponed his tour of Florida until the thermometer rises. Cold feet seem to be his motive for postponement and he refuses to start with them cold.

The brothers at the Zete House had been looking forward for some time to the visit of Elder-brother William B. Perry, Brown, '91, who called at the home over the week-end. Brother Perry came from the Zeta Psi headquarters in New York to visit the chapter and gave the boys some very interesting talks.

Miles F. Carpenter, '28, spent the week-end with friends in Oakland.

Harry B. Thomas, '26, enjoyed the dance at Foss Hall, given by the Seniors of the Women's Division.

pretty popular at Foss Hall judging by the calls that Brothers Condon and Knofskie are continually making there.

Carl H. Crummett, '28, spent the week-end at his home in Clinton.

The Lancers miss the presence of Hiram B. Phair, '28, who has gone home to frozen Aroostook, the land of ice and snow.

"Red" Littlefield, "Bow" MacPherson, "Jack" Erickson, and Fred Baker attended the dance given at Foss Hall last Saturday night.

The A. T. O. basketball team will play Clinton town team at Clinton next Thursday night.

"Tom" O'Donnell officiated at a basketball game at Oak Grove last Friday night.

"Turk" Moynahan made his debut as a referee last Friday night. We wish him luck.

Captain "Feldie" Flynn wishes to have a return contest with Professor Sullivan's Phi Delta Hockey team.

The A. T. O. hockey team held a short practice on the college rink last Sunday morning.

The A. T. O. basketball team held a practice session with the Zeta team last Tuesday evening.

"Bow" MacPherson visited a friend at Newport last Monday afternoon.

"Eddie" Harlow is recuperating slowly from the effects of a dislocated shoulder.

The A. T. O. basketball game with the Phi Deltas will probably be postponed until the Saturday after mid-years.

Kenton McCubrey, '27, has been confined in bed for the past few days with a severe case of ptomaine poisoning.

"Wee Willie" Hale, our boy humorist from the frozen northlands of Caribou, was forced to beat a retreat from the "ram" merely because the temperature hovered around 40 degrees below zero.

After delving deeply into the magazine ads, "Buckie" Freeman has come to the conclusion that olive oil is the best preventative for baldness. Buck has been using the "oil" so much of late that he has merited the name of Olive Oil Freeman.

Barnard Chapman and Charles Ide, the Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean of the L. C. A. house, are holding a number of joint debates.

Although the date of the next debate has not been set definitely we are given to understand that "Absolutely Chappie" has accepted the challenge of "Positively Ide" to settle to their own satisfaction "Whether or not local labor is receiving a just return from capital."

"Paul Revere" Taylor and "English Eddie" Muir, the local boys, spent a quiet week-end at Orchard Slope Farm.

"City Slicker" Nesbit spent a hectic Saturday night stranded in the wilds of Winslow.

Eugene V. Smith, ex-'23, was a recent visitor at the Lambda Chi house. Several much needed improvements were made on the campus during Christmas vacation. The first was the construction of a sidewalk from the northwest corner of the Lambda Chi house diagonally across the field to the street sidewalk by the tennis court. It is of interest to note that this was prophesied in last year's Freshmen issue of the Echo.

Professor Edwards succeeded in having the gymnasium repainted and the floor properly varnished. Consequently it looks much better and the psychological effect is much better.

Another improvement was the entire redecorating of the Phi Delta Theta house, making it much more attractive and convenient.

G. Vinton Jones and "Bill" Blake regret to report that they have lost their roommate, Perley Fullerton, who has taken a room at the Melchor.

"Nanie" Potter has been considering the purchase of an ice-boat to facilitate his nocturnal visits across the river.

"Jack" Erickson, "Windy" Ayer and "Joe" Cook represented Hedman at the senior dance at Foss Hall, Saturday evening.

"Eddie" Nae has inaugurated a campaign to uplift the musical plane of Hedman by installing a handsome phonograph in his room. "Eddie's" chamber is now a popular "rendezvous" for the Hedman music lovers.

The recent corduroy craze has gained a firm footing in Hedman and many of the boys are displaying the latest modes.

"Joe" Theriault and Wendell Grant are the leading contestants for the attendance prize at the Haines.

"Joel" McLann, the wrestling promoter of Hedman Hall, staged a match in his arena Sunday morning between "Doggie" Flaherty, the Norwood cop and "Nanie" Potter, the Islington Ice-man. The decision was a draw.

The white season is in full blast at Hedman. Coach Koonce has his charges out for nightly practice and from the size of the squad that reports for practice sessions a successful team should be developed by the Clinton card mentor.

"Lefty" Corbett, Wytopitlock's slippery fingered sharper, is showing great promise at the indoor sport, and under Coach Keene's able tutelage should develop into a whist star of the first magnitude. When "Lefty" teams up with "Red" Newhall, the celebrated pasteboard manipulator from Lynn, the cards get some mean handling. Mr. Hoyle himself would be surprised at the technique displayed by these rare players.

A petition is going the rounds in the hall, which has a goodly number of signers. It reads as follows: We the undersigned, do hereby request that the Messrs. Chandler and Richards, when in their discussions with Severy kindly remember that they are not frolicking in the blueberry fields of Washington county and that they moderate their voices accordingly.

"Prexy" O'Brien, the silvery-haired statesman from Hedman, has received an offer from the International Correspondence School, asking him to accept the presidency of that institution recently vacated by Andy Gump.

SIGMA KAPPA.

The Sigma Kappa sorority held a masquerade party in honor of its freshmen in the club rooms, at Coburn Classical Institute last Wednesday night. The rooms were decorated attractively in red and white. A play entitled "The Happy Day" was presented. Miss Betty Gross, '28, was awarded first prize for the most beautiful costume and Miss Clara Harthorn, '25, received first prize for the funniest costume. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening for which an orchestra furnished the music.

Miss Mary Drisko, '24, called at Foss Hall.

CHI OMEGA.

The Chi Omega sorority was entertained on Thursday evening, Jan. 17, at a dinner party given by the Misses Doris Tozier, '25, Frances Tweedie, '27, and Vina McGary, '27, at the Chinese restaurant, where the private dining rooms were opened. The tables were prettily decorated with candles, very attractive place cards, and favors.

Miss Edna Briggs, '22, who is teaching in Augusta, was the recent guest of Miss Flora Harriman, '25.

Miss Alice Wood, '26, spent the week-end at her home in Winthrop. Miss Merle Davis, '21, was the guest of Mrs. Carl J. Weber, last week.

Miss Irma Davis, '26, spent the week-end at her home in Burnham.

PHI MU.

Miss Marguerite Ames, '28, is able to resume her studies again after a short illness.

Miss Hilda Desmond, '27, has been called home by the illness of her father.

Wednesday evening the Sorority will entertain in honor of its patronesses, Mrs. Cecil Rollins, Mrs. Arthur Buckner, and Mrs. Henry Brown.

SENIOR GIRLS DANCE

Saturday evening, January 17, saw one of the most attractive occasions of the season, the regular annual dance given by the Senior girls in Foss Hall.

The main room was decorated to resemble a snow scene upon which the icy touch of Jack Frost himself could have expended no more artistic workmanship. A perfect shower of snowflakes, among which the chandeliers as mimic trees draped with icicles threatened the heads of those below,

About forty couples were present, and ten delegates represented the under-classes. The feature of the evening was the novelty dance, a typical snow-ball fight.

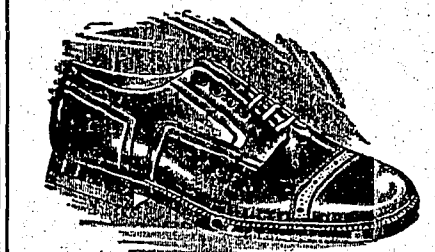

The refreshments were miniature snow-men as delectable as they were dainty.
