

BLUE AND GRAY DEBATERS
MAY GO ON WESTERN TRIP

Plans Being Made to Send Team to Colorado
--Colby Will Debate B. U. in March--Marden, '21, Assisting in Coaching.

That Colby will send a debating team to Colorado to take part in the convention of the national honorary forensic society, Pi Kappa Delta, is almost a foregone conclusion. Every effort is being put forth to make the trip possible. Financing the trip is the one great obstacle but ways and means are being found.

If the trip is taken, Colby will debate on its return home, Ripon College in Wisconsin. This will doubtless be the most important forensic contest held in that state this year, for it is the only home debate of the season for the famous Ripon intercollegiate team. It is worthwhile noting that Ripon selected Colby for this important contest because of the delightful forensic relations existing between Colby and Ripon. The Ripon debaters, on the occasion of their visit to Colby two years ago, said that they had met no college that evidenced such a spirit of good sportsmanship as did Colby, and each member of the team declared that he desired to entertain the Colby men on the Ripon campus.

Plans are already in the making to debate a number of colleges in the states between Maine and Colorado. The team will leave soon after the opening of the spring recess and will return a few days after the college opens in April. The question to be debated will be that of the giving of power to Congress to regulate child labor.

Professor Libby has recently received word from Professor Nichols, founder of Pi Kappa Delta, who is just now studying for his doctor's degree at Oxford, saying that he desires to have his California debating team meet the Maine debaters in joint debate at the Convention. The details of this are being worked out.

The convention, held on March 29 to April 1 will be attended by many hundreds of college men from over 100 American colleges. It will undoubtedly be the largest gathering of its kind ever to be held in this or any other country. Opportunity will be afforded not only to engage in debating but in oratorical contests and the Colby men, as soon as they are selected, will be set to work in preparation for these contests.

Colby will also have several debates at home and with colleges in this part of the country before the team leaves for the West.

The schedule for the Colby teams, as far as it has been arranged at present, is as follows: February 25, dual debate with the University of New Hampshire; February 26, joint debate in Waterville with the Massachusetts Agricultural College; March 11, dual debate with the University of Maine; March 12, joint debate in Waterville with Middlebury College; and March 17, joint debate in Waterville with the University of Vermont. The debates with the Massachusetts Agricultural College and with the University of Maine are on the Federal uniform marriage and divorce law question, while the other three debates are on the question of government ownership and operation of the coal mines. Several debates with other New England colleges are also pending.

It is thought now that the last contest Colby will have in the East before leaving for Colorado will be with the strong Boston University representation.

Colby will meet Boston University in debate sometime in the middle of March. This announcement has been made by the Debating Society. This is the first time that Colby has matched wits against the Boston University, and it is likely to be a battle royal. Last Sunday's Boston Herald gave much space to a description of the debating squad at Boston University and in mentioning its record in debate stated that its team had won 18 straight victories. The men composing its teams are selected from all departments of the University and this of course gives them a wider field to choose from and gives them the advantage of being able to select men with the best sort of preparatory school training.

The proposition to be debated is the same as that to be used on the cross-country trip, namely, to give Congress power to regulate child labor. The three men selected to meet Boston University are Paul M. Edmunds, '26, Gabriel R. Guedj, '26, and Donald E. Sprague, '26. These men are already at work upon the proposition.

Because of the great amount of extra work required of the department of Public Speaking in getting the teams ready for the intercollegiate debates, Mr. Harold Chesterfield Marden, graduate of Colby in the class of 1921, also graduate of the Harvard Law School and a practicing attorney in Waterville, has been engaged to assist Professor Libby. Mr. Marden was prominent as a debater and public speaker while in Colby.

Students enrolled in the course in Advanced Public Speaking are to give fifteen minute addresses this week before the students of the schools of Waterville and vicinity. The subject will be "Lincoln." The giving of these addresses is one of the requirements of the course.

NEW BULLETIN TO APPEAR

In a short time the college will have ready for distribution a new illustrated booklet briefly but comprehensively portraying the Colby of today. It will comprise a five thousand word description of the college and of its graduate and undergraduate life. It will contain at least fifty of the best views of the college which exist. The book will be printed on an excellent grade of paper, will be neatly bound, and of a size that will fit a small catalogue envelope. For a number of years all kinds of literature have been sent out to friends of the college and to prospective students in lieu of a booklet that contains all necessary information. It is to meet this need and to give the students a worthwhile memento of the college that this new illustrated booklet has been prepared. Dr. Herbert Carlyle Libby is the author of this new booklet and the college is publishing it. It will be known as the Colby College Bulletin No. 2.

Editor's Note: We have received the following communication from the "Boston Evening Transcript," and are very glad indeed to print it herewith.

Boston Evening Transcript,

To the Editor of The Colby Echo:

Will you please print the following, which appeared in the Boston Evening Transcript of Feb. 8:

"An apology is due, and here publicly made, Dr. Julian D. Taylor of Colby, all of his friends and none of his enemies—for he has none of the last. In these columns, on January 29th, was printed an announcement that Dr. Taylor, Taylor Professor of Latin Language and Literature at Colby, had retired on his eightieth birthday, which fell on that date, after having been an active member of the college's faculty for fifty-eight years. The announcement erred grievously. Dr. Taylor still leads his classes, as he has through all of these nearly three score years. The erroneous announcement was due to a particularly unfortunate mistake in the transmission of a telegram, sent to The Transcript by President Arthur J. Roberts of Colby, in answer to a request for information as to whether Dr. Taylor was to continue his active service at the college.

COUNCIL CONSIDERS
SECOND RUSHING PLAN

Another Tentative System
Presented Student Body—
Dance Calendar Closed.

At its meeting Monday night the Student Council allotted the last two open dance dates of the year. These were May 21 to the Delta Upsilon fraternity for a formal dance, and April 16 to the Epicureans. The Student Council calendar is now closed, and no more dance dates can be allotted, unless one of those already assigned is voluntarily cancelled.

A new "Fraternity Rushing and Pledging Agreement" was tentatively proposed and it was voted to submit this plan to the several fraternities for their approval or disapproval. The question will be discussed and acted upon at the next Student Council meeting.

The new tentative plan is as follows:

Foreword.

We, the undersigned Fraternities of Colby College, desirous of establishing and perpetuating harmony among the fraternities of Colby College; solicitors of securing and assuring the highest interests of the college and its several fraternal organizations; with a view of promoting uniformity in fraternity rushing and pledging, have chosen representatives and instructed the same to meet and agree in the name of and behalf of the fraternities of Colby College, to adopt and enforce the regulations concerning pledging of candidates as set forth in the following articles:

STUDENT FEDERATION
INVITATION ACCEPTED

College Joins for One Year
As Result of Council Vote.

The Student Council at its regular weekly meeting held Monday night received an invitation for the college to enter into the newly founded "National Student Federation of the United States of America," as a member of the New England area of the above organization.

The two purposes for which the Federation is primarily working for are: First—To secure an increased interest and influence upon national and international affairs in the colleges and universities of this country; second—To achieve a closer unity between the colleges of the United States, and to promote sympathy and understanding between the students of this country and those of the rest of the world. The actual means for attaining these ends will be:

First—the establishment of scholarships between colleges of America and Europe similar to the Rhodes and Davison scholarships which now exist. These scholarships would be for the duration of one year and would be held by Juniors who could return to their own colleges after being abroad.

Second—student tours of Europe during the summer to study the social, political, and economic conditions of Europe and to attend a short course at some European university.

Third—a central clearing house for all information regarding student conditions in Europe, and information on fellowships in this and foreign countries.

Fourth—cooperation between faculty and undergraduates in American colleges on matters relating to arrangements of courses of study, student government, and administration of discipline.

Fifth—a central bureau whose purpose will be to furnish colleges with prominent speakers on national and international problems.

Sixth—the creation of public opinion to militate against commercialism in college athletics.

Seventh—the encouragement of a spirit of individuality and initiative as opposed to the prevalent tendency toward standardized mediocrity.

These are, in short, the general ideas now before the Federation.

After some discussion the Student Council voted Colby should enter into the Federation, and instructed Mr. Paul Edmunds to notify the Federation's executive committee of its action.

The official entrance of a college means nothing more than that the college is interested in permanent organization to the extent of considering it at least for one year. When a sufficient number of colleges and universities of New England have enrolled, the actual work outlined above, will begin.

Colby is now a member of the National Student Federation for the period of one year.

Mittelsdorf with his usual consistency brought Colby colors to the fore both in the Millrose A. A. games and the Boston A. A. games. In each meet he was pitted against the best sprinters of the nation and in each meet he showed his heels to a great majority of the participants in the 40 yard dash. Much has been said of him, too much can not be said of him. It is sufficient, however, to say that he is the greatest sprinter ever to have worn Colby colors, the capable charge of a capable coach.

DR. JULIAN DANIEL TAYLOR, '68,
OBSERVES EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY

Beloved Professor Receives Profusion of Flowers and Congratulations--Students, Alumni, Faculty and Townspeople Join in Wishing Him Well--All Look Forward to His Memoirs Being Published.

Julian Daniel Taylor, '68, Colby's well-known and esteemed professor of the Latin language and literature, celebrated in his quiet way his eightieth birthday anniversary Friday, January 29. It was his intention to pass the day as usual, but his friends presented him with a bouquet of eighty carnations and the faculty gave him a large bunch of roses. To express their appreciation of his services and character the Board of Trustees of the College sent him the following expression of sentiment:

DR. JULIAN DANIEL TAYLOR

Board of Trustees,
Colby College
Office of Secretary.

Waterville, Me., Jan. 29, 1926.

By unanimous vote the trustees of Colby College would express to Professor Julian Daniel Taylor on his anniversary their appreciation and their gratitude for each and every year of his connection with the College.

The quality of his teaching always has been of highest educational value and has brought name and fame to the College.

The clearness and depth of his insight has given to his pupils vision of the full meaning, not only of words and literary forms, but of things, events, and life. His requirement for faithfulness in work and accuracy in recitations served well his students when they translated it into experience.

In accord with the best New England tradition, the personality of the Professor has been his highest gift to his students.

In these days of frequent faculty changes, the length of Professor Taylor's service has been no small element in its value.

The trustees regard as ideal the relation that has existed between Professor Taylor and themselves, and hope there may be many more years of mutual service to the College, whose enlarged prosperity his remarkable devotion has done so much to secure.

With high honor and lasting affection of every member of the Board of Trustees, and by their order,

(Signed)
Edwin C. Whittemore,
Secretary.

Professor Taylor's connection with the college has been long and faithful. He was engaged as tutor in Latin the year following his graduation in 1868, was made professor in 1873, and has served in that capacity ever since. In 1918, as a mark of respect toward him the professorship of Latin at Colby was named the Taylor Professorship of the Latin Language and Literature. Although far in advance of many of his contemporaries Professor Taylor is not at all limited in his interests but is exceptionally versatile, being a scholar of Latin, Greek, German, French and English, a student of politics, a keen financier, in which capacity he has been and is an invaluable aid to the college, a profound thinker, and by avocation, a scientific farmer. Perhaps, more than anything else, he has the ability of understanding his students. His life may be summed up in his own words (Speaking of Colby College):

"Within sound of its bell I was born, in hope and aspiration toward it my childhood grew up; my youth was moulded and shaped by it; within its walls my life work has been done and under its eaves I expect to spend my remaining days; and at the last, if there is anything left in my ashes, any living spark, it will be my love for my college and for my old college friends."

Professor Taylor's publications have been very few, for he has chosen to leave the impression of his personality upon the minds of his students through his classes rather than to add to the ponderous weight of literature saddled upon (as he styles it) the already overburdened world. Yet it is to be regretted, for, as a master of style and clearness of thought he is among the envied few. For several years it has been the wish of all friends of Colby that the Taylor memoirs should be written, that Colby college might have its name broadcast, and the world might have a noble book. It is well understood that Professor Taylor's fame rests on a sure foundation of achievement but we cannot refrain from repeating that injunction of Pliny: "Relinquamus aliquid quo nos vixisse testemur."

The Echo joins its wishes to those of the trustees, faculty and student body for continued good health to Professor Taylor and for many more years during which he may instill in the minds of his students the ideals and thoughts so dear to him.

MARRINER SPEAKS TO DELTA SIGMAS

Explains Library Material in Field of Education.

"The world of education is just as much filled as any other with professional reading," said Prof. Ernest C. Marriner, librarian of the college, in an address on "Books" before the Delta Sigma Chi education society at a meeting held in Foss Hall, Friday night. Prof. Marriner gave a list of the best professional books for high school teachers and spoke briefly about each one. He considered English: Principles of Secondary Education and Johnson: Administration and Supervision of the High School as the two most valuable books for high school teachers. The other books for all high school teachers about which Prof. Marriner spoke were Mills: Teaching of High School Subjects, Bagley and Keith: Introduction to Teaching, Colvin: Introduction to High School Teaching, Thorndike: Educational Psychology, Brief Course, Hall-Quest: Supervised Study, and several books on high school subjects such as: Thomas: The Teaching of English, Handschirm: Methods of Teaching Modern Languages, Gamet: Teaching High School Latin, Tryon: The Teaching of History, Smith: The Teaching of Geometry, Thorndike: The Psychology of Algebra, and Twiss: Principles of Science Teaching. Prof. Marriner's talk was very interesting and very helpful to the members of the society who are preparing for the teaching profession. He closed his address by saying, "Whereas education used to be based on opinion, it may now be determined by facts."

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1926.

We viewed with mingled feelings of contempt and revulsion, the exhibition of saffron journalism displayed by one of our large metropolitan daily newspapers, when the sheet was called to our attention during the past week. It is appalling indeed to contemplate the depths to which some of our contemporary daily newsheets are sinking in the field of common journalistic ethics, in trying to satiate the lust of the hoi polloi for the sensational, the gruesome, and the bizarre, a lust which they have, and are continuing to deliberately cultivate.

Why a newspaper situated some two hundred miles distant should feel that their readers would feel any concrete interest in the minor disciplinary problems of Colby College is beyond our wildest flights of imagination. That they should deliberately undertake to malign and muckrake an old and noble institution such as Colby, if indeed that was their intention, is disgusting, to say the least.

It is ludicrous indeed to think that because two Colby co-ords commit an indiscretion, any city editor should think the incident of such importance as to place an account of it on his front page amid the national news of the country, and the international news of the world, embellished with a sixty point headline.

That a glowing account of some incident relative to a rival college of ours should accompany the article on the same front page is probably mere coincidence. The fact that such an article accompanied a similar polemic a year ago, is also probably a coincidence. We accuse no one of malice or of having an ulterior motive,—however, our thoughts remain our own.

As for the girls involved,—we hold no brief for them, they committed an indiscretion and paid for it. They are young—most of the students in our college are young. And when one gets six hundred and forty-four young people assembled in one school it is evident by the law of averages that some of them will not have the normal sense of propriety that most of them have.

This particular case seems to be one for sympathy rather than howling condemnation and ridicule. After all what is the situation? Merely two young girls who made a pathetic attempt to be engagingly "wild,"—bungled the job and paid for their indiscretion.

We trust they have a lesson learned, and wish them better luck,—some other day, some other place.

Now that we have reached mid-winter, the time when the theatrical season, both amateur and professional, is usually at its height it occurs to us that Colby has no active Dramatic Club. It seems strange that Colby has never had a mixed dramatic club with the abundance of material we have here in college at the present time. We realize of course that the women's division puts on a play now and then in which they endeavor to play the parts of men. Far be it from us to say that they do not do it well. We merely feel thankful that the men do not attempt to reciprocate and play female roles. But why should either one of these absurd situations be necessary? Why can't we get together and form a Dramatic Club composed of members from each division? Surely we have a wealth of talent at hand that could produce some real drama and give these choice bits of the 17th century, charming and appropriate as they are for some occasions, a rest.

Midyears have come and gone and some who were with us last semester are not with us now. One of life's minor tragedies,—yet in the case of freshmen it presents one of the gravest social problems that the fraternities have to cope with. Why are some young men, apparently of sound mind and understanding, possessed to live their lives in the first few months of their college career? Why are they so determined to drink of the cup of life from the froth to the dregs without a thought of the morrow, in spite of all the examples cited to them by their pledged brothers? Why, in spite of all the counsel and advice given to them by the upperclassmen in their houses, and by their friends, the members of the faculty, in the classroom, are they obsessed to go straight to the unmitigated bow-wows, knowing as they must that they will of necessity slunk out because of it? Knowing as they do, but all too late, that somebody's heart may be broken if they fail to make good in college. And what can we do to stop it more than we now do? We can give them a good example, we can even keep them straight by physical violence if necessary, but how can we control their minds, their thoughts? Experience has taught us that a man cannot maintain his scholastic standing with two interests diametrically opposed to each other. One of the two must suffer and too often it is his studies. We know the cause, but what of the remedy?

Experience is a hard teacher, but the bitter part of it is, these men are not fools, and therein lies the tragedy.

It seems as though we must carry the burden right back to the home. It is unfortunate indeed that in this day and age some parents cling to, and maintain their children are in an atmosphere similar to that of a cloister and quite as enlightening. This continues until their pride and joy graduates from the secondary school. Whereupon they send him to college, sometimes at a great sacrifice on their own part. But how do they turn him over to us? Too often as innocent as a newborn babe as to the ways of the world, and yet they expect us to see that he confines his mind and principal efforts to his studies. Science teaches us that the greater the compression the greater the explosion. These poor misguided families supply all the compression, and expect us to control the explosion. We don't; we can't. Yet they then cry to high heaven because we have led their boy astray and the fraternity system receives another black eye. They little realize that their son was probably the principal worry of the officials of the fraternity over a period of some four months or more, and that in all likelihood every effort at its command was brought to bear to keep their son in college. We sigh, and take the blame, but in the final analysis who is the greater loser?

CHI GAMMA THETA DANCE A SUCCESS

One Hundred Students Enjoy Dancing.

The members of the Chi Gamma Theta society held a very enjoyable dance at the Tacconet Club house on Saturday evening, Feb. 6. The decorations were most attractive. The windows were designed in curtain effects of crepe paper in red, green and black, the colors of the society. A long string of blue, red, yellow and lavender balloons extended across one end of the hall and large bunches of them hung at either corner of the balcony. Banners representing the various sororities decorated the walls, also Colby banners, and that of Chi Gamma Theta which had a very prominent place at one end of the hall on a white background.

About fifty couples enjoyed the program of sixteen dances which was printed on artistic dance orders designed by Miss Ruth E. Hutchins, '28. The music was furnished by Babe Harrington's orchestra. At intermission refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served. A great deal of credit is due the chairmen of the various committees for the success of the affair. Miss Ruth M. Tilton, '28, president of the society, was general chairman. The heads of the other committees were: Favor committee, Miss Ruth E. Hutchins, '28; decoration committee, Miss Marjorie G. Dunstan, '27; refreshment committee, Miss Helen A. Wyman, '28; music committee, Miss Harriet E. Towle, '28.

The patron and patronesses were Professor and Mrs. Cecil A. Rollins, Dean Nettie M. Runnals and Miss Corinna B. Van Norman.

Y. W. C. A.

The Coburn girls' Christian organization conducted the Y. W. C. A. meeting Tuesday, Feb. 2. Miss Margaret Rice, director of religious education at Coburn, helped the Coburn girls with their program. The meeting was given over to the interpretation of hymns. The program was as follows: Piano solo, "To the Spring," by Miss Sally Cherry; story of the writing of "Oh For a Thousand Tongues to Speak," by Miss Ruth Hurd; interpretation of "My Jesus, I Love Thee," followed by the singing of this hymn by Miss Alberta Brown; devotional service led by Miss Muriel MacDougal; "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind," sung by the Coburn girls; interpretation of "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," by Miss Katherine Turbyne; interpretation of

"I Love to Tell the Story," by Miss Florence Grindall; the same hymn sung by Miss Muriel Wood; review of "How Firm a Foundation," by Dorothy Hutchins; interpretation of "The Broken Pinion," by Miss Helen Simmons; reading of the poem by Miss Faith Rollins; "Follow the Gleam," sung by all present.

Y. M. C. A.

Before the largest gathering of the year Herbert C. Jenkins, '27, chairman of the deputation committee delivered a splendid talk on "The Reasonable Service," at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Tuesday evening. Mr. Jenkins had full charge of the meeting and had prepared a fine program. The usual song and prayer services were interposed with selections by a quartet composed of William E. Garabedian, '26, Herbert C. Jenkins, '27, Warren F. Robinson, '28, and Roy H. Short, '26.

Immediately after the "Y" service, the cabinet met for a short session under the leadership of President Kenneth J. Smith, '26. The committee on delegates to the University of Maine "intercollegiate Y. M. C. A. Conference," reported unusual interest and 14 of the delegates have already been selected. Every indication is that the number of delegates will greatly exceed the quota of 18. The conference comes February 26, 27 and 28.

COUNCIL CONSIDERS.

Sec. 2. Envelopes and bids shall be of uniform size, issued by the Conference.

In the case of non-acceptance of all bids by a new man, he personally shall return these bids to the respective fraternities.

Sec. 6. From the end of Christmas vacation until June 1, 1926, any fraternity may rush and pledge any unpledged man.

Sec. 7. No man who shall break his pledge is eligible for bidding by any fraternity for the period of one year.

COLBY SENDS BIG DELEGATION TO TRACK AND FIELD CARNIVAL

Ryan Taking Twenty-one Men to Portland— Track Men Pitted Against Country's Best—Mittelsdorf Matched Against Hussey.

Colby's indoor track team will get into action once more next Monday the 15th when Coach Ryan will take some of his most promising spike donners to Portland to participate in the 3rd Annual Track and Field Carnival held under the auspices of the Harold T. Andrews Post of the American Legion at the Exposition building. This meet will afford the first real test of the year for the Colby track aspirants and the popular Blue and Gray mentor will spend much time in training his pupils until the time that the meet takes place. The Legion meet is one of the largest held in New England and many of the country's finest track performers will be on hand to furnish competition. The largest indoor team that has represented Colby this year will get into the fray because of the fact that a great team was graduated last year from Colby and every opportunity is being given to the new men to obtain the much needed experience. The eyes of all Colby sport lovers will be cast toward Portland on Monday night to see what the Blue and Gray boys are capable of in big open competition and it will be the first test to show the strength of the Colby team for the Maine Intercollegiate track and field meet that will be held in the spring. Twenty-one athletes, the coaches and managers will represent the Blue and Gray, and they will pit their skill, speed, and stamina, against some of the greatest athletes in the various events that comprise the program.

The Colby team will be headed by the Captain, Russell F. Brown, a sterling middle distance runner and a fine leader, who made a great impression by his excellent work at the relay races in Boston and New York last week. Captain Brown will be ably assisted in his efforts to bring honor and glory to the Blue and Gray at Colby by the veteran and capable George L. Mittelsdorf, Maine and New England sprint champion. Charlie Sansone, the new sensational mercury footed lad from Norwood, Mass., who has been brought out and developed by Coach Ryan in the past year, and from whom great things are expected, will carry the Colby spangles in the one mile relay race and will also be a starter in one of the other middle distance events that are on the program. He is entered in the 600 yard special invitation scratch race against Clarence Archibald, the former Bates flyer, Bill Dooley of Boston, the New England half-mile champion, Allan B. Helrich of the New York athletic club and National half-mile champion, and several others of national reputation. He is also entered in the three-quarter mile special against such well known flyers as Jimmy Connolly, former big intercollegiate mile champion who recently won the Hunter mile race at the B. A. A. games and the Rodman Wannamaker mile at the Millrose games in New York which are the two largest cup races in the East; George "Shrimp" Masters, the former Georgetown star and intercollegiate half-mile champion, and now wearing the colors of the New York athletic club; Willie Goodwin of the New York athletic club and Metropolitan champion; and William Baldwin of the B. A. A., and New England champion over the eight furlongs. Sansone will compete in either one of these races to be determined by the amount of time that elapses and the race selected.

Jimmy Budno will be another one of Colby's dependents who can be depended upon to give a good showing in either the half-mile or the mile race. The Colby record holder has been going great guns this season and should have an even more successful season than he did last year.

Coach Ryan has entered the men in the various events and the list of the men that will be found wearing the Blue and Gray silks will be found in the events that are mentioned with their names. The 40 yard handicap dash will find Mittelsdorf, Sprague, and Severy entered. These men will meet some of the premier speed merchants in the country. Among the men that will furnish the competition for the Colby sprinters are: Hussey of Boston College and Olympic fame; Al Miller of Harvard and one of the best dash men in the country; Farrington of Bowdoin; and a host of others.

The 45 yard high hurdle scratch race will have as Colby entrants the following men: Seelkins and Nowhall, Harold Littlefield, Bowdoin track captain and former Maine and New England hurdle champion, and John P. Murphy of Boston college who last week equaled the world's record in a trial heat will be two of the men that the Blue and Gray timber toppers will be pitted against.

Colby will have as entrants in the 880 yard run handicap these men: Russell F. Brown, the captain; Baker, Everett A. Fransen, Gilbert Lines, Sansone, Budno, "Gus" Hodgkins, and Leroy Johnston. Dooley, New England title holder for this distance; Sonny Watters of Harvard, former intercollegiate champion, and several others equally as prominent will be matched against the Colby men.

The one mile handicap run will find Sullivan, the newly elected cross country captain and Charles Towne dressed in the Colby colors. Budno, Sansone, Lines and Johnston will also be entered in this race, and if enough time is allotted between races these men will also start at the bark of the starter's gun.

Four Colby entrants will vie for honors in the 10 pound shot put handicap event. The men that will attempt to put the shot for places are Getchell, Bagnall, Hoald and Seok-ins. Coach Ryan has been working with all of these men all year and it is expected that the quartet will give a good account of themselves.

John D. Johnston of Norwood, Mass., and Seelkins of Pittsfield will meet some of the best leapers in the country in the running high jump handicap and they, without question, will experience a very busy evening if they are to take the places away from such well known performers as Charles Major of Coburn; Flahive of the Boston Athletic club, and Otis Kendall of Bowdoin.

Sid Snow will be Colby's lone entrant in the pole vault and he will be pitted against no less a performer than Charley Hoff, the colorful Norwegian athlete who is the world's record holder for the event and the sensation of the present indoor campaign. In his two starts in the East Hoff has broken the world's record for the event, clearing the bar at the stupendous height of 13 feet 1-1/2 inches at the Boston arena last Saturday evening.

Of no small interest in this meet is the one mile relay race between Colby and the University of New Hampshire. It will be the first time that the two teams have ever been brought together in a relay race and both quartets are out to score the initial victory. Judging from the performances of both teams in the B. A. A. meet last week, they are very evenly matched and victory should result by a very small margin to the winning team, only after a great race. The Colby team will be selected from the following men: R. F. Brown, C. J. Sansone, E. R. Newhall, F. E. Baker, E. A. Fransen, and G. J. Lines. The men that have been mentioned are the wearers of the Blue and Gray silks in the largest meet of the indoor season for the Colby team and it can be safely said that Colby will have to be reckoned with in the final scoring of the meet.

FOSSELITES HOLD SKATING CARNIVAL

Health League Sponsors First Annual Event.

The Health League of the women's division sponsored a skating carnival which was held on the Foss Hall skating rink on Friday evening. This was the first affair of its kind ever held at Colby and was found to be most successful. About one hundred participants and spectators enjoyed the fun and merriment. The carnival was officially opened with a grand march, led by Miss Corinne B. Van Norman, physical education instructor, and Miss Christine Booth, '26, president of the Health League. General skating was interspersed with fancy skating and obstacle jumping executed by Leonora Hall, '27, Emily Randall, '27, and Harriet Kimball, '29. An interesting part of the evening's entertainment was a hockey game between "Norway" and "Sweden." The "Norway" team, consisting of seniors and sophomores, defeated the "Sweden" team, made up of juniors and freshmen, by a score of 8 to 1. Excellent skating and team work were shown by the skaters. After the hockey game refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served by a capable committee, consisting of Christine Booth, '26, Dorothy Giddings, '27, Bernice Green, '27, Ruth Dow, '27, and Julia Mayo, '27. The occasion was one which will always be remembered by the Foss Hall girls.

LAMBDA CHI'S PLAN COMBINATION SMOKER

Entertain Several Professors at Annual Occasion.

The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity will hold a combination Smoker and Bridge Party at the house on Thursday evening of this week. Professors Aulinger, Bartlett, Brown, and Kelley, and Coach Roundy will be the guests of honor. The evening's entertainment will be opened by a form of minstrel show given by the freshmen of the house. It is the annual custom of the first year men to entertain the upper classmen at some occasion during the year and added color will be given to the affair to be held at this time. The program will consist of chorus selections, jokes and specialty acts. The members of the cast include Robert Chandler, Kenneth Miller, Russell Butler, Horace Maxey, Arthur Sanborn, Stewart Duncan, Donald Rollins, Webster Brown and Arthur Snyder.

There will be eight tables of cards and the losing players will drop back to the table below. Two prizes will be given to the highest score men for the evening and a booby prize will be given to the lowest. Refreshments will be served.

The affair is in charge of Ralph H. Ayer, '28, of Lynn, Mass.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA—ALPHA.

Saturday afternoon the Alpha Tau Omega five swamped the Alpha fraternity quintet by the score of 57 to 15. The game was decidedly uninteresting from the standpoint of a spectator. Some wonderful exhibitions of floor shooting were given by Callaghan, Trainor and Nickerson. Callaghan, who can both shoot and feed them, starred for the Alpha Tau Omega. Trainor was a close second for individual honors with six baskets to his credit. Chilson and Adams carried the brunt of the Alpha attack.

DELTA UPSILON—L. C. A.

In a game in which wild shooting featured with speedy floor-work the Delta Upsilon quintet trounced the Lambda Chi five to the tune of 52 to 32, last Friday evening. In clever passing, fighting spirit, and in the possession of two dangerous shooters, Keith and MacDonald, the Delta Upsilon outfit proved itself worthy contenders for inter-fraternity honors. MacDonald, with nine baskets to his credit, was high scorer. Keith, playing a tight defensive game, sank 8 hoops. Hannifen stood out as the most dangerous floorman the Lambda Chi representatives put forward. He was responsible for 6 of the 14 baskets credited to his team.

NON-FRATERNITY—LANCERS.

Saturday evening, in forty minutes of the most gruelling basketball seen in the league this season, the Non-Fraternity five won a close victory over the scrappy Lancers aggregation. It might be said that this has been the only real game played thus far. The teams were remarkably well-matched, and the final outcome was in doubt up to the very last few minutes of play. At the end of the first session the game was tied. Either team deserved victory, and a last, final spurt won for the Non-Frats. Maller and Gunnarson starred for the Non-Fraternity five while Caulfield and Clements were the important cogs in the Lancers machine. Maller, with five baskets from the floor and with two fouls was the high-scoring man of the evening.

LARGE SQUAD OUT FOR WINTER SPORTS

Last week Physical Director C. Harry Edwards issued a call for material for the Colby winter sports team which is slated to appear at the Bowdoin, Bates and University of Maine carnivals. The response was more than satisfying for a squad of from eight to fifteen men has reported every day for practice this week.

Rollins, Jones and Hawes show much proficiency on the skis. All are speed merchants with Rollins holding a slight edge on the field. Rollins has had considerable experience and holds the record for the 100 yard ski dash at Augusta winter carnival, which he established last year.

Giles, Fourcade and Potter are clever on the web-foots and should give the other snowshoe artists much competition for places on the team.

On Wednesday the finals are to be held and the men who are to make the team will then be selected.

The Bowdoin carnival comes on February 12 and the Bates on February 13.

When it's a rainy night—and with three crafty bridge players your luck is running wild
—have a Camel!

Camels represent the utmost in cigarette quality. The choicest of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos are blended into Camels by master blenders and the finest of French cigarette paper is made especially for them. Into this one brand is concentrated all of the knowledge, all of the skill of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men.

WHEN the dark skies are pouring rain outside. And fickle fate deals you hands at bridge that you play with consummate skill—have a Camel!

For Camel is the silent partner that helps every deserving player win his game. Camels never hurt or tire the taste, never leave a trace of cigarette after-taste. Regardless of the gold you spend, you'll never get choicer tobaccos than those rolled into Camels.

So this evening as you ply your unerring skill, evoke then the mellowest fragrance that ever came from a cigarette.

Have a Camel!

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette, single or in bulk, at any price.
