

FAMOUS ENGLISH NOVELIST AND POET TO LECTURE HERE TUESDAY

Cecil E. M. Roberts Will Speak In Chapel On "The Art Of The Novelist"--Is On Third Tour To America--Meeting Will Be Open To Public.

Cecil E. M. Roberts, brilliant English poet and novelist, will speak in the chapel Tuesday evening, March 8 at 7.30; his subject will be, "The Art of the Novelist."

Mr. Roberts is on his third tour in America, having visited this country in 1919 and again in 1924. Both times he won the admiration and respect of all who heard him, and he has met with a warm and hearty reception this year.

Although the lecture is intended primarily for college students, the public may attend free of charge. It is evident that a large gathering will take advantage of the rare opportunity to hear this famous young man who has so impressed his audiences wherever he has lectured.

Mr. Roberts is gifted with an inspiring voice and attractive personality; reading entirely without notes or manuscript, he makes every sentence a model of literary style. He excels especially in reading from his own verse, which show that he possesses a deep understanding and a keen interpretive faculty.

Mr. Roberts was born in 1892. For three years he was literary editor of the "Liverpool Post," and for five years he edited the "Nottingham Journal." Although he is scarcely over thirty, he has become widely known on both sides of the Atlantic. Among his most notable books are "The Love Rack," "Sails of Sunset," and "Scissors."

Mr. Roberts' previous college and university engagements have been occasions of great enthusiasm. For example, at Waco University in Texas, his hearers,--students, faculty members, and townspeople,--jammed the lecture hall, which was lined with listeners who stood for an hour and a half, captivated by the sense of humor that made the lecture sparkle and draw laughter and applause from the engrossed audience.

The report comes from Greensboro, North Carolina, that "the six hundred students of the North Carolina college have done nothing but talk about this brilliant young Englishman. He held them spellbound during his lecture,"--which was the same one he is to deliver in Waterville.

Mr. Roberts has lectured at Harvard, Columbia, Vassar, Bryn Mawr, Brown, and many college clubs.

The Chicago Tribune remarked, after Mr. Roberts had spoken in Chicago "In a fortnight here, Cecil Roberts has made a name to conjure with. His audience was vociferous at the close of a splendid lecture. Why don't we produce young men like this?"

The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin remarked: "If all British authors could talk like Cecil Roberts we should hear no complaints about any of them as lecturers."

And the New York Evening Post joined the chorus of praise, with the following: "If Cecil Roberts had not made his name as a brilliant novelist, poet, and essayist, a splendid career would have awaited him as a magnificent orator. It must be a dilemma for him to know which art to cultivate."

FIRST CALL ISSUED FOR BASEBALL MEN

Ten Pitchers and Four Catchers Respond--Roundy Starts Light Work-Outs in Gym.

Coach Eddie Roundy issued his first call for baseball candidates Thursday. Ten pitchers and four catchers responded to the call Friday afternoon and light workouts started in the gym immediately.

Coach Roundy plans to give his men inside work for a month or until weather conditions enable the squad to move onto the diamond.

Johnnie Trainor, veteran of last year's outfit, is the leading candidate for the pitching staff. Trainor has played two years on the college field and some summer ball besides.

Anderson, another veteran, will be seen in action again this season. Andy proved very brilliant at times during the last season and more experience may make him the mainstay of this year's aggregation.

Heal, varsity football tackle, is another good pitcher and will prove valuable. Heal is big and powerful but needs some polishing.

Brown, a freshman, comes from Hebron with an excellent record and should work into some of the games as reserve material.

ANTIOCH PLAN IS REVOLUTION

(The New Student.)

Antioch College is pioneering again. When plans now under way are completed, she will be experimenting with methods of teaching and study long hoped for by students but never dared by colleges. Classes (for all but freshmen) will almost completely give way to conferences, and mass lecturing to individual advice. The authentic details cannot yet be published because they are still being worked upon by faculty committees, but indications are that the changes will be the most revolutionary in American college practice since Antioch's original innovation of combining education with direct experience in industry.

The following report is not guaranteed for accuracy but will be followed by the exact facts when the development is completed. Under this system, according to President Arthur E. Morgan, the semester's work in each subject will be carefully outlined and the student allowed to master it in his own way. Oral and written examinations will be given regularly, and at the end of the five or six year course, candidates for degrees must pass a comprehensive examination.

Class-Rooms into Study-Rooms.

Lecture rooms will be turned into study rooms where instructors and student assistants may work with students requiring help on some particular problem. No student, however, is to apply for aid until he has done all he can for himself. Lectures will be scheduled occasionally in all courses but attendance at them will be optional. Conferences may be arranged with instructors at any time and informal group discussions will be held as occasion demands.

CHINESE STUDENTS ARE GYNICAL ABOUT POLICY

(The New Student.)

"The same old promises"--this in brief is the Chinese students' reaction to the recent Coolidge-Kellogg statement of policy toward the Far East, in which America voiced its willingness to revise the unequal treaties as soon as China could agree upon representatives. It was pointed out that America had no concessions in China; but that a small naval force was being dispatched solely to protect American lives and property.

Chinese students are anxious to have Americans realize that the "unequal treaties" were forced on China at the point of the gun. With the modernization of Chinese law code and practices and with the improvement of the tariff practices has passed off whatever excuse there may have been for this invasion of China's rights as a sovereign power. While European powers have been chiefly guilty in waging the wars by which these treaties were originally forced on China, the policy of "opportunism" has resulted in America's securing the same privileges accorded other nations.

That the foreign governments which have demanded a "representative government" in China as a prerequisite to the abrogation of the "unequal treaties" are in the position of a man who throws another to the Learning by Teaching.

Associated with the autonomous plan of study is an arrangement whereby each student will devote five hours a week to educational work in his field of special interest. This experience as student assistant, laboratory assistant, tutor, or paper-grader is expected to give him the benefits of learning through actual teaching or quasi-teaching activities.

In the freshman and sophomore years individual instructors will be at liberty to introduce the autonomous plan as far as they see fit. In laboratory courses a definite schedule will be kept but students will be able to spend more than the usual amount of time in this part of their work.

Time for Study, at Last!

The two principal points in favor of the autonomous plan of study are, first, that it develops the student's

HONOR ROLL

The honor roll for the past semester has just been announced by the registrar, Malcolm B. Mower. The minimum requirement for a student to become a member is an A grade in at least nine semester hours, which means that the student must have received a grade of A in three of his courses which come three or more hours each week. A grade of A in four courses gives the student a total of 12 hours; a grade of A in five courses gives the student a total of 15 hours, etc.

The list of honor students is as follows:

Table with columns for Men's Division (Class of 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930) and Women's Division (Class of 1927). Lists names and hours for each student.

FIVE CONCERTS PLANNED BY COWING FOR CLUBS

U. Cleo Cowing, manager of the Combined Musical Clubs, has announced that plans are being arranged for five concerts to be given by the Glee club orchestra and Banjo club.

The annual Massachusetts trip is still tentative. Arrangements are being made for the clubs to leave a few days before the Easter recess with engagements covering the entire vacation period.

The final concert of the season will be at Waterville on April 30, the eve of the dual track meet with Brown University. Between the time of the Massachusetts trip and the Waterville performance the clubs will give entertainments at Hallowell, Oakland, and Clinton. Other Maine trips are tentative.

Under the direction of Harry Smith of Waterville the Glee club is fast becoming a polished organization. Mr. Smith has a wealth of material with which to work and his coaching promises good results. The orchestra is under the able direction of Kenneth R. Copp and regular rehearsals have been held for the past months. By the time of the initial concert this part of the organization will be up to the standard of previous years.

The Banjo club which is under the leadership of John T. Nasse held its first try-out last week. Although late in getting under way the success of the club is assured by the number of experienced men of last year who compose its membership.

At a recent meeting of the combined clubs two new officers were elected: Edwin W. Harlow, president; and John T. Nasse, leader of the Banjo club. The present officers of the organizations are as follows: Edwin Harlow, president; U. Cleo Cowing, manager; Robert LaVigne, assistant manager; Kenneth R. Copp, leader of orchestra; Harold E. Clark, leader of Gleeclub; and John T. Nasse, leader of Banjo club.

ELECTIONS TO PHI BETA KAPPA ARE ANNOUNCED

Professor Weber, secretary of the Colby Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa Society today announced the following names of the members of the Class of 1927 who are eligible for membership in the society, having attained an average rank of ninety per cent or higher during seven semesters of their college work: Justin O. Johnson of Fairfield; Bassford C. Gatchell, Needham, Mass.; H. True Trefethen, Waterville; Harriet M. Fletcher, Waterville; Miriam E. Rice, Dover-Foxcroft; and Ruth E. Dow, Wayne.

Initiation will be held on Friday, March 11, at 6.30 p. m., in connection with the annual banquet of the chapter. The principal address will be given by Professor Frederick Potte of Yale University and the subject of his theme will be "The Satisfaction of the Scholar's Life."

The Student Council has again drawn up a set of rushing rules in an attempt to correct the present cut-throat system. The committee in charge of the work has attempted to follow the suggestions and corrections advocated by the various fraternities in reference to the former plan. The new set of rules, which is to be submitted to the fraternities tonight for their approval are as follows:

Proposed Rushing Rules.

1. No man, not a regularly registered student at Colby College, shall pledge or promise to pledge to any Colby fraternity.

2. There shall be no pledging of, or exacting a promise to pledge from any student in Colby College until after the third Wednesday in October.

3. No unpledged student shall live or board in a fraternity house after the first Monday of college.

(The words "board in a fraternity house" in Article 3 shall be interpreted to mean eating more than four meals a week in a fraternity house.)

4. The penalty for breaking any of these rules shall be as follows: (1) All members of the fraternity which violates any of these rules shall be denied the right to vote in any college election, except for an athletic captaincy, for the period of one year.

(2) No member of any fraternity which violates any of these rules shall be allowed to hold any college office for the period of one year.

(The word "office" in Section 2, Article 4, shall be interpreted to mean class officers, managers and assistant managers, of athletic teams, representation on Student Council, representation on Athletic Council, representation on College Publications, representation in class honorary societies, and any other college office, with the exception of an athletic captaincy.)

5. This penalty shall be invoked by a unanimous vote of a committee of three men, in no way connected with Colby College, or with any fraternity having a chapter at Colby, and chosen by a two-thirds vote of the fraternity delegates on the Student Council.

6. The president or delegate of each fraternity shall pass in its bids to this committee, mentioned in Article 5, before 8 o'clock in the evening of the day preceding the formal extension of bids.

7. Upon the third Wednesday of October each unpledged student shall receive at 1.30 p. m. in the college chapel an envelope containing bids extended him, or in case of no bid being extended a piece of blank paper.

8. Each student must remain in the chapel and shall not talk to an upperclassman until he has handed his choice to the committee.

9. This committee shall notify each fraternity as to which men have accepted its bids by 8 o'clock in the evening of the same day.

10. The decision handed to the committee shall be considered binding.

11. Any man breaking a pledge cannot be pledged to another fraternity for a period of one year from that date.

12. These rules may be amended by a unanimous vote of the fraternity delegates to the Student Council.

13. These rules shall be published every year in the first issue of the Colby Echo and in the Colby Handbook.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2, 1927.

At Tulane University, Louisiana, a debate was held between the men's and women's debating teams on the proposition: "Resolved, that all college professors in general and Newcombe and Tulane in particular, be subject to recall by the students." That's a new one.

An unusual opportunity will be given Colby students when Cecil E. M. Roberts speaks in the College chapel next Tuesday evening. Every student in Colby should attend if possible.

"A nation consists of its manhood as well as its wealth," was the central theme of a recent talk on Lincoln by Dr. William E. Barton.

THE FACULTY.

Last week we printed a letter addressed to our Letter Box Editor which said in part:

"So far you have printed only the point of view of the students on various subjects. But it seems to me that in a good many cases an expression of the faculty's point of view would help some."

We would like very earnestly to urge the members of the faculty to make use of our column as a medium through which their views can be expressed. We do not wish to see one side only; we know that there is another side but we cannot discover what it really is until we are informed; the best that students can do is guess at the faculty attitude. May we very earnestly invite every member of the faculty to make use of THE ECHO whenever he desires. It seems that more light on student matters could be obtained in that way than by statements and letters which we are requested not to print.

SORORITY NOTES.

We have received the following letter, apparently from a member of the freshman class of the women's division:

"When the women's division all subscribed to THE ECHO in order to help the paper out of its financial difficulties, we were promised the back page as Fraternity page. Although this was promised to us long before the Christmas holiday, we have not, as yet, noticed any such section in our weekly paper. I should like to know why we have never received our part of the bargain."

We have heard this rumor of a promise before but never realized that anyone really believed that such a promise was made. The editor-in-chief made no such promise, and neither the editor of the women's division, the managing editor, nor the business manager made such a promise. The mistaken impression has arisen that this promise was made but, whatever else we do or fail to do, we keep our promises; and if such a promise had been made it would have been kept.

For several years the staffs of THE ECHO have been gathering their courage to abolish the worthless fraternity and sorority notes. This year, upon the most urgent recommendation of last year's board, the change was made. We believe it was for the best interests of the college.

We have adopted the policy of giving the women's division all the space which they can fill with news of any sort; that has not always been the policy. Any item worth printing, we believe, is worth giving the space of a news article. What is put into sorority notes and campus briefs in other papers is given a separate story in THE ECHO. That, we believe, is for the best interests of the college, the paper, and the women's division.

A few actual quotations from last year's sorority notes follow. Will you give your honest opinion on whether or not they belong in a college paper?

"Those who attended the Chi Gam dance Saturday evening reported a very pleasant time."
 "Miss Dorothy Farnsworth, '27, spent the week end at home."
 "Miss Edna Huff, '29, was at her home in Farmington over Sunday."
 "Laurice Edes, '28, went to her home in Sangerville for a day or two last week."
 "Miss Helen E. Merrick, '28, spent the week end at her home in Augusta."
 "Miss Lonni Drisko spent the week end at her home in Belfast."

"Irma Davis, '26, spent the week end at her home in Burnham."

"Miss Hope Chase is recovering from a very bad cold." Etc., etc., etc., ad infinitum.

We would welcome correspondence regarding this matter, but will you be so kind as to sign your names? Otherwise we are unable to answer your queries.

STRONGER THAN TREATIES.

"I hate that man!" exclaimed Lamb one day.

"Why Charles, you do not even know him," returned his sister gently. "Of course not! If I knew him, I could not hate him," was the answer.

How true this is of relations between different groups! Whatever we may think of Bowdoin, Bates or Maine as colleges, whatever blood-thirsty wishes we may utter during a football game, however we may typify their student bodies, the fact remains that the few individual men in those colleges whom we actually know seem like pretty decent chaps after all. Usually, to know is to like.

If we widen the picture, the same holds true. The French university man, for example, has no better opinion of the German student than his country at large has for the other country. The young Austrians hate the young Italians just as fervently as their respective elders hate each other. Most European students have little love for the American college man. And yet, whenever they get acquainted, it usually happens that each discovers that the other is really quite a good sort after all.

But how can they become acquainted? That is the problem which is being tackled by an organization known as the Student Friendship Fund. Summer conferences are held in various parts of Europe where college students of all nationalities, including Americans, camp out together and rub elbows with each other. Naturally, their prejudices begin to evaporate and their tolerance expands. They gain a sympathy for the aspirations of other nations and a capacity for comradeship which flows across national borders.

But how much good will it do? Who can tell? Yet it is certain that twenty or thirty years hence, many of the students of today will be in seats of power. If, at any of these camps, the future leaders conceive a feeling of friendship for their fellow students of all nationalities, will not their influence help to keep the nations living together as neighbors, not as jealous tribes.

International student friendship deserves to be cultivated. It is a power for good. It goes deeper than disarmament. It is stronger than treaties.

Joseph Coburn Smith.

LITERARY COLUMN

Due to a widespread desire among the student body to know what books are being added to the library Professor Marriner has kindly offered to prepare each week a list of new books, which will be printed in this column. The list for the week ending February 26 is as follows:

Fiction—Added by Gift.
 VanDine: Benson Murder Case.
 Masterman: Wrong Letter.
 Miller: Colfax Bookplate.
 Walpole: Harmer John.
 Forbes: Genteel Lady.
 Conington: Death at Swaythling Court.

Non-Fiction—Added by Purchase.
 Beach: Outlook for American Prose.
 Copeland: Problems of Marketing.
 Nearing: Dollar Diplomacy.
 Seitz: Horace Greeley.

SUCH ARE THE POETS.

Has seen the bit of square cut glass
 That splits the common day and splashes it
 In rows of colored splendor on thy wall?
 Has seen the little lense that brings
 Within thy bounded sight fair vision-ings
 From far horizons, from the unknown sky?
 Such are the Poets.
 Has heard the harp, that compasses
 In few and slender strings the beat of seas
 The harmonies of winds, of earth, of men?
 Has heard a song that stirs thy heart,
 That wakes thy memories of days long gone,
 That rouses thee to hope in days to come?
 Such are the Poets.
 Has known a night of mystic madness
 When singing moonlight spanned the forest ways
 And filled the souls of men with longing dreams?
 Has lived a day of burning strong-
 ness,
 That armed thy breast with secret, potent steel
 To deeds of valor, suffering undaunted?
 Such are the Poets.
 Has watched a man, who, knowing all,
 And by all known, yet gloried not,
 nor laughed,
 But found in each his proper meed of good?
 Has loved a man who struggled on
 Before the plodding herd, who struggled on,
 Alone, to trace a dream yet veiled to others?
 Such are the Poets.
 Cynicus.

OUR OLD IDEALS.

I saw a daisy in a meadow,
 All alone beneath the sky,
 And I wondered why its petals,
 Always must grow old and die.
 Always dying, losing beauty?
 Youth has built and built in vain?
 Is the meadow always thirsting,
 For the freshness of the rain?
 There's a light along a road-way,
 Where the morning-glories grow;
 Changing shades of a devotion
 To a hope I need to know.

Just a feel of shifting grasses,
 Just a river rushing free,
 Oh I love to hold these treasures,
 Which my youth has left to me.

Time may change with each tomorrow,
 But the evening's whip-poor-will,
 Yet will call to me to follow
 Thru the leaves and up the hill.
 E. D. M., '29.

CERTITUDE.

When the last iv'ry tower has toppled
 To dust in the torrid noon,
 Weep not for the tumbled timbers
 That lur'd 'neath the lying moon.
 When the last iv'ry tower has toppled
 And void is its futile space,
 Return to the grimness, the surness—
 Get back to the market place.
 Cynicus.

BOYS' CLUB VS. L. C. A.
The Waterville Boys' Club continued to humble the Colby fraternity basketball clubs when the locals defeated the Lambda Chi's Saturday evening by the score of 43 to 18. The contest was loosely played throughout and the locals were never headed by the college team. Larsen of the Boys' Club and Hannifen of the Lambda Chi's were the leading scorers of the affair.

THIRD DEBATE SATURDAY.
men selected they are all excellent speakers and have studied their subject thoroughly. Mr. Higgins and Mr. Lord are two of the men chosen to participate in the Murray Prize debate and are exceptionally powerful speakers.

The Colby teams were defeated in the two debates in which they have participated thus far this season, Marquette and George Washington Universities being awarded winning decisions. It is hoped that the Colby men will be successful in the coming debate and thus set a precedent for the remainder of the season.

The present debating squad, under the instruction of Professor Herbert C. Libby, numbers about twenty-four members. Each member is expected to appear in at least one intercollegiate debate during the year. In this way a number of men are given experience who will form the nucleus for the next year's squad. This is contrary to the custom in vogue in many institutions who are represented in their debates by a limited number of men that are prepared on several subjects.

You are an experienced smoker and you know your brand!

YOU'RE an experienced smoker. You know good tobaccos. You know taste and fragrance. And you insist on the best—that's Camels. Only the primest tobaccos grown are good enough for you—the experienced smoker. Whatever you do you are going to do right, if you know it. If Camels weren't the best, they would not be far and away the first. If Camels weren't quality supreme, they would not be the overwhelming preference of smokers who have tried every brand. Your taste tells you the tobacco difference in cigarettes and you're going to smoke the best. Your advice to others is—"Have a Camel!"

ANTIOCH PLAN.

power to think things through for himself and, second, that it is more adapted to the needs of the individual student than is the present plan. Concerning the first point, President Morgan says "the typical student does his daily task for his professor and gets most of his information from lectures or from standard textbooks. He seldom is required to think for himself. At Antioch it will be necessary for him to think his way through, with help in emergencies, or to leave college."

Concerning the second point, Mr. Morgan felt that the abler student can cut a year or more from the time regularly required to complete the course and that the slower students will have the opportunity to master their subjects more thoroughly as they go. Similarly, subjects that are more difficult than others for a student may be given whatever time is saved in studying the easier ones.

There will also be a certain efficiency in the organization of a student's time under this plan. He will be able to spend an entire week or more of uninterrupted study on a single subject or he may devote certain days to the study of certain subjects. In any case he will no longer be forced to take mental jumps from one subject to another every few minutes and the continuity of study thus obtained will count heavily.

President Morgan has always favored such a plan of study but was dissuaded from putting it into practice

"For we are very lucky, with a lamp before the door, And Leerie stops to light it as he lights so many more."

"The Lamplighter" Robert Louis Stevenson

The Lamplighter

GOOD old Leerie, the lamplighter, worked cheerfully to make the streets bright. And the lamps sputtered a friendly glow into the darkness.

The citizenis of the country have taken Leerie's job. They are the lamplighters of today, and they spend 3 1/2 cents of each tax dollar that their streets may be bright.

Good street lighting means more flourishing business sections, safe traffic, convenience, and protection.

Leerie, the faithful, has gone—but streets still need lighting. And in whatever communities college men and women elect to live, they should take a lively interest in civic improvements—including street lighting.

G-E products help light the world, haul its people and goods, turn the wheels of industry, and lessen labor in the home. Whether on MAZDA lamps, or on large or tiny motors, or on the multitude of other means of electrical service, you will find the G-E monogram wherever you go.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

at the time he established the cooperative system at Antioch in 1921. "Such a plan would never work successfully," he was told by many educators, but Mr. Morgan refused to dismiss the idea and has been experimenting with it.

CHINESE STUDENTS.

ground, sits on him and then says, "if you will only get up, I won't sit on you" is the universal opinion of Chinese students in this country. American students perhaps do not realize that no strong central government is possible in China until the Chinese are able, through the absolute control of their own tariff, to raise the funds necessary to support such a government.

The British policy, promising immediate, and if no general body representing China can be formed, unilateral action toward the abrogation of the unpopular treaties, is regarded as a step in advance of the American policy. London, Chinese students point out, is having no difficulty in finding a solution to the problem which Washington finds baffling, the problem of finding representatives with whom to deal.

The dispatch of large armed forces to China is something which Chinese students consider a puzzling contradiction to the proclamations of friendship and good intentions announced on both sides of the Atlantic. These squadrons have been dispatched "to protect foreigners" in China; Chinese students believe that this policy is based on a misunderstanding of the situation. There is, they assure American students, no anti-foreign movement in China; there is, however, a strong anti-imperialistic movement. Foreigners are safe, are welcome; foreign armadas are unwelcome and will only aggravate the situation. These naval forces are likely to be popularly interpreted as signs of renewed imperialism; and will do far more harm than good to those whom they seek to protect—such is the Chinese viewpoint.

BASEBALL.

Dany Shannahan will of course play behind the bat. Shannahan's ability as a catcher has never been equalled at Colby and he has hitting ability enough for any league. Shannahan's return to the Blue and Gray squad should boost Colby's chances to come out on the top again this year.
