

BLUE AND GRAY MUSICIANS WILL JOURNEY NORTH

Extended Trip to Aroostook
County Week Following
Mid-year Exams.

GIVE FOUR CONCERTS

The Combined Musical Clubs of the college consisting of twenty-eight men under the leadership of Ralph H. Ayer of Lynn, Mass., will leave Monday, February 6th, the holiday following mid-year examinations, for a five-day tour of Northern Maine.

The clubs this season are well organized and at the presentation of their opening concert at Clinton, January 17th, exhibited a well balanced program of exceptional nature.

The trip to the northern section of the state will be a diverse experience for the Combined Colby clubs of recent years as the usual extended trip has been made during Easter, visiting towns and cities in the central and southern section of New England. Strong support, however, is assured from the towns to be visited in Aroostook county and much enthusiasm has been manifested towards their appearance.

Two novel features have been introduced this year worthy of special mention. One is a clog dance by Charles M. Giles, '30, of Damariscotta, accompanied by the Midnight Sons Jazz orchestra which won much applause and several encores at the opening concert at Clinton. The other is a new feature consisting of the rendition of a song in French dialect by John R. Richardson, '29, of Waterville, also accompanied by the Midnight Sons.

The first concert of the tour will be given Monday evening at Smyrna Mills. On Tuesday evening a concert and dance will be given at Caribou and on Wednesday evening at Houlton. The final concert will be given on Thursday evening at Millinocket and the clubs will return to Waterville on Friday.

Following is the program which will be carried out:

Part one: "Marcheta," and "Bells of St. Mary," Glee Club; Banjo Sextette, Messrs. Joseph Cooke, Arthur Snyder, Edmund Marsland, John Nasse, Arthur Stebbins and Bernard Shaw; Selections from "Queen High," and "Giannina Mia," from "The Firefly," Concert Orchestra; Reading, Cecil E. Foote; "Invictus," Glee Club.

Part Two: Saxophone Quartet, Messrs. Edmund Marsland, George Allison, Stanton Weed and Deane Quinton; "The Big Brown Bear," "Water Boy," "Serenade," "My Blue Heaven," Male Quartet, John Chadwick, Clyde Mann, Arthur Stebbins and Clarence Arber; Trombone Solo, Henry McCracken; Reading, Cecil Foote; "Miss Annabelle Lee," "Cherita," "A Night in June," "Barbara," Midnight Sons of Colby with Mr. Charles Giles; "When Day Is Done," "Alma Mater," Glee Club.

The Combined Clubs consist of the following men, all of whom will make the trip: John B. Williams, Jr., '30, Fall River, Mass.; Dana M. Simmons, '30, Oakland; Arthur L. Stebbins, '30, Colchester, Conn.; Murray A. Coker, '29, Fairfield; Clyde L. Mann, '28, Livermore Falls; Edmund H. Marsland, '31, New Britain, Conn.; Clarence H. Arber, '30, Dorchester, Mass.; John A. Chadwick, '30, Edgewood, R. I.; Arthur H. Snyder, '29, Portland; George A. Allison, '30, Wollaston, Mass.; Donald A. Anderson, '31, Jentland; Bernard C. Shaw, '30, Waterville; Gerald A. Johnson, '30, Waterville; Deane R. Quinton, '30, Waterville; John R. Richardson, '29, Waterville; Carroll J. Cooke, '29, Morridon, Conn.; Lester R. Nesbit, '28, Revere, Mass.; Stanton S. Weed, '30, (Continued on page 4)

COLBY MUSICIANS GO TO SKOWHEGAN

Several Members of College
Musical Clubs Entertain at Women's Meeting

Eight members of the college Musical Clubs presented a fine program of entertainment at the Consolidated Women's Club meeting in Skowhegan held on Tuesday evening, January 24.

The program was of an hour and a half duration and consisted of instrumental and vocal solos, trios and male quartet selections. The instrumental trio was composed of Roy E. Smith, '29 of Waterville, piano; Arthur L. Stebbins, '30 of Colchester, Conn., violin; Edmund B. Marsland, '31 of New Britain, Conn., saxophone. Two vocal numbers were given by Clarence H. Arber, '30 of Dorchester, Mass., and solos were also given by Messrs. Stebbins and Marsland.

Four selections were rendered by the College Male Quartet which consists of Messrs. Stebbins and Arber, first and second bass; Clyde L. Mann, '28 of Livermore Falls, second tenor and John A. Chadwick, '30 of Edgewood, R. I., first tenor.

The members were accompanied on the trip by Ralph H. Ayer, '28 of Lynn, Mass., leader of the Combined Musical Clubs of the college.

Gymnasium Fund Has Reached The Fifty-one Thousand Mark

With the addition of four thousand dollars, the amount received since Christmas, the fund for the new gymnasium has reached the fifty-one thousand mark, according to a statement made recently by Dr. Herbert C. Libby, '02, professor of public speaking and journalism, and chairman of the fund committee.

During the Christmas vacation period the committee sent out a thousand personal letters to the alumni and friends of the college, soliciting their subscriptions to the fund. These letters contained a description of the present cramped conditions and meager facilities of the old gymnasium, and explained the absolute necessity of a new structure with all the benefits that it would bring to the college.

Professor Libby reports that the response to the appeal of the committee is very satisfactory, the classes of 1925, 1926 and 1927 being heard from more often than the others. Especially have those who graduated last June shown their generosity. However, the class of 1901 still heads the list, as its members have contributed the most thus far toward the gymnasium fund.

MARRINER ADDRESSES DELTA SIGMA CHI

Gives Advice to Students
Who Contemplate
Teaching.

The regular meeting of Delta Sigma Chi, women's honorary educational society, was held on Tuesday evening, January 17, in the Pess Hall assembly room.

After several piano solos by Miss Edna E. Turkington, '28, Miss Betsy Ringdahl, '28, introduced Professor Ernest C. Marriner as the speaker of the evening.

"Pep, a large amount of tact, and profound scholarship make a good teacher," said Professor Marriner. Perhaps the one greatest asset that a teacher may have is the power of adjustment. Many young teachers go out with firmly established, preconceived idea of the teaching profession that are wholly wrong. The mind should be kept open, for the whole difficulty is failure to adjust oneself to environmental conditions. One who can quickly adjust himself to unfamiliar circumstances has, thus, a great advantage over the one who lacks this power. Begin adjustment before teaching; consider your salary carefully. Remember that contrary to belief the teaching profession offers its highest financial returns right out of college. The scale of salaries is wrong, for it is too low at the top, and too high at the bottom. The Maine Teachers' Association hopes to remedy this difficulty by establishing the Tenure of Service Law in Maine. This law, once passed, would provide better salaries for those rendering long service, and would provide pensions for aged teachers.

Conditions for helping seniors at Colby to secure positions have been greatly improved this past year. There has been more cooperation between the teachers and students.

A good teacher needs a general knowledge of his subject, and he must also have a thorough understanding of technique and the text material. In concluding, Professor Marriner said, "Read nothing but the headlines of a newspaper, when busy, and read a good magazine once a week. Read also some of the good books you have always intended to."

FROSH REGISTER SECOND DEFEAT TO COBURN TEAM

Maroon and Gold Outfit
Bow to 11-2 Counter
on Tuesday.

The Colby Frosh outfit again took the Coburn team into camp by defeating the Maroon and Gold outfit on the Community rink yesterday afternoon 11-2.

Seamless and Lovett put up an unstoppable passing attack and the Freshman defense held the opponent's score down well. Lovett scored six goals and Seamless four. Pollard came in for one counter during the match.

In conformity with the usual custom there will be no edition of the ECHO next week owing to the fact that it is the regular period of mid-year examinations.

COLBY PROFESSOR ADDRESSES SCHOOL

Speaks at Fairfield High
Friday on College Entrance Requirements

In an address before the first general assembly of the term at the Lawrence High School in Fairfield, Friday morning, Professor Ernest C. Marriner, '13, librarian of the college, emphasized the necessity of good preparation in English, mathematics, and foreign languages for college entrance.

Professor Marriner took for his subject "College Entrance Requirements," and applied his topic to the needs and requirements of the respective candidates for admission from Lawrence High School. These requirements he pointed out, apply to all secondary schools in the state. He prefaced his remarks by saying that he was well aware that there were many in the group who at present had no intention of going to college. However such students sometimes discover later that they are desirous of a college education.

From this point Professor Marriner went on to explain what is meant by, and what is necessary for admission by certificate. As the rating of every high school in the country depends upon the work done in the first semester of the freshman year at any college attended by entrants from that high school, the student has the standing of his school to consider as well as his own, since his failure may cause the loss of the certificate privilege for three years.

In addition to certification, however, students may enter college by the satisfactory passing of the written examination which may be taken in June or September.

As a warning to those who consider taking the pre-medical course Professor Marriner said, in closing, that they should be aware of what to expect and should not contemplate the pursuit of such a course unless they had attained an "A" or "B" in the sciences and had a leaning toward medical subjects.

DAUGHTERS OF COLBY INITIATE NEW MEMBERS

Six Eligibles Enter Membership Tuesday Evening, January 17.

Initiation of six freshmen to the Daughters of Colby Society took place Tuesday evening, January 17, at the home of Miss Dorothy Daggett, on Pleasant street. The evening was spent with games and initiation stunts. After the freshmen had been properly initiated, refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and hot chocolate were served.

Members of the class of 1931 whose mother or father graduated from Colby were: Stephanie Boane, Florence Connors, Eunice Foye, Barbara Gurney, Alice Linseott and Florence Ventres.

Y. W. C. A. Paul Aldon, '18, spoke at a special meeting of the Y. W. C. A., Thursday evening, January 17. His subject was the opportunity for service afforded in the mission field. He spoke especially of the great need of missionaries in China, Japan and India. Friday noon Mr. Aldon spoke at chapel. At this time he gave interesting illustrations of graduates of Maine colleges who had entered the mission field. In many instances these young graduates had given up flattering business offers to enter mission work.

COLBY THREE MAN DEPUTATION GOES TO CHARLESTON

First Out-of-State Trip Undertaken by Y. M.-Full Charge of Services.

The longest deputation trip ever undertaken by Colby students was made last week-end when three representatives of the College Young Men's Christian Association went to Charlestown, Mass., to take charge of all of the Sunday services at the First Baptist church of that place.

This is the first time that a Colby deputation team has ever been sent out of the state. The only other out-of-state representation has been by individuals who have been delegated to the various intercollegiate conferences. The assuming of the responsibility for the entire Sunday program in one of the big churches near Boston is a totally new venture for the students. Through the efforts of Dr. Everett C. Herrick, '98, president of Newton Theological Institution, last Sunday was set aside as Colby Sunday.

The men who made the trip were: Gardiner D. Cottle, '28, of Fall River, Mass., Garth C. Koch, '28, of Springfield, and Lawrence A. Peakes, '28, of Poulton, Vt. As the program was carried out Peakes preached at the morning service, Koch at the evening service, and Cottle led the young people's meeting. At each service minor parts were taken by the two men who assumed leading roles elsewhere in the program. Entertainment was provided for the three delegates by former Colby students at the Newton Theological Institution.

This year the Deputation Committee of the Y. M. C. A. headed by Mark R. Shibles, '29, of Belfast, has been more active than ever before. At least one team has been sent out every Sunday so far, and engagements have been scheduled until very late in the spring. On several occasions two or three teams have been sent out, and the Young Women's Christian Association has cooperated in successful joint programs.

A second group headed by Professor C. Harry Edwards of the department of physical education went to Kents Hill preparatory school at Readfield, Sunday. Other places on the schedule announced by Shibles are Farmington, Belfast, Augusta, and Ricker Classical Institute.

JUNIOR CLASS MEETING HELD FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Plans Discussed Relative To Week-End Exercises
in May.

At a meeting of the Junior Class held last Friday afternoon in the college chapel, reports of the class treasurer and the committees on the Junior Week-end program were heard and the matter of selecting a class symbol was discussed.

Carl T. Clough, '29, of Houlton, chairman of the Junior Prom committee, announced that date selected for the prom had been approved by the Student Council and that the question of favors and orchestra were still being considered. Charles A. Cowing, '29, of West Springfield, Mass., chairman of the Junior Week-end committee reported that no speakers had as yet been secured, but that a general outline of the program had been drafted by the committee.

After some discussion on the subject of class blazers a motion was carried empowering the president of the class to appoint a committee to report symbols available for class use.

The meeting was presided over by Oscar M. Chute, '29, of Beverly, Mass.

PROF. WILKINSON ADDRESSES NEWLY ORGANIZED CLUB

Meeting of "Libby For Governor Club" Held in Chapel Friday.

NELSON PRESIDENT

Speaking before the student body assembled in the college chapel for the purpose of the formation of a "Libby-for-Governor-Club," Friday evening, Dr. William J. Wilkinson, professor of history and political science, said that if more college men and graduates took an active part in politics much that is evil in the administration of public affairs would disappear.

During the course of his remarks in the support of Professor Libby's candidacy, Dr. Wilkinson had much to say about leading educators in the United States who had attained prominence in public life. Senator Bingham, a member of the Yale faculty, Professor Shotwell, and John Bassett Moore of Columbia were cited as examples of college or university teachers in public life. Garfield and Wilson were both college presidents. Andrew White of Cornell, and Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia are further instances of men who have been conspicuous leaders in academic affairs and of the state as well.

Professor Wilkinson then proceeded to show how the college graduate has had a far greater share in politics than is commonly supposed. "President Coolidge," he said, "once made the statement that the college graduates form less than one per cent of the population, but hold more than fifty per cent of the offices."

Quoting Professor Munro of Harvard, the speaker said that "Among the thirty presidents of the United States no fewer than nineteen have been college graduates; the present cabinet of ten members contains only two who are not college graduates; in the senate of the United States they have regularly numbered a majority, and in the House they have usually done so too. Among governors of the states the percentage is substantial."

Dr. Wilkinson took issue with a popular fallacy that students of high rank do not attain high places in the practical affairs of state. Again quoting from Professor Munro, he said: "During the twenty years 1901-1921 the United States had three presidents. All three were university graduates—Roosevelt of Harvard, Taft of Yale, and Wilson of Princeton. All three displayed intellectual qualities of a high order before they were twenty-one years of age. Years ago four distinguished statesmen were named to represent the United States at the Disarmament Conference—Henry Cabot Lodge, Charles E. Hughes, Elihu Root, and Oscar W. Underwood. No one thought it worth while to remark that all four were men who had attained high rank in their college studies. No newspaper (Continued on page 2)

MISS JACKSON HERE FEB. 15

Miss Florence Jackson, the vocational advisor at Wellesley College, will be here on February 15th to give Colby women advice and information in connection with vocations and avocations. This is a valuable service, and Dean Reynolds urges the girls to give thought to their vocational problems and to be prepared to ask for definite information. Miss Jackson is a specialist in vocational guidance, and there is no part of her field about which she is not fully informed. Any girl will be permitted to have a personal interview, and a general talk will be given in chapel.

NOTICE

No changes may be made in any courses for next semester after the fifteenth of February, according to a recent faculty ruling. Anyone desiring to make any changes must meet the registrar before the above date. All deficiency examinations will be held in the Mathematics Room of Chemical Hall, Saturday morning, January 28th at nine o'clock. The registrar must be notified at once by all intending to take these examinations.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1928

DR. ANTON MARQUARDT.

'Tis a time of memories, for just a year ago yesterday Colby suffered a severe blow in the loss of Dr. Anton Marquardt, Professor of the German Language and Literature. Dr. Marquardt had been teaching at Colby for thirty-five years, and to the host of men and women who had, during that time, studied under his guidance, his death came as a terrible shock. To those who returned to last year's commencement exercises, the absence of Dr. Marquardt's cheerful face was as though some tangible part of the college had been wiped out. Even now we have not fully recovered from the effects of his loss, and happy memories of "Dutchie" and his inimitable "war-cries" are tinged with sadness by all who knew and loved him.

He was not only a teacher but also a scholar and philosopher of the old school. I never read the "Wanderer's Nachtlied" now without seeming to hear Dr. Marquardt's rich and tender voice and I cannot prevent a lump from rising in my throat.

And yet, why should our memories of those days be tinged with sadness? We should be happy and proud that such a man was able to help mold the characters of two generations of Colby men and women. There is no doubt that all who came under the influence of his intense loyalty and devotion to the college and to his many pupils, went out from his presence with a deeper and keener understanding of the worth of those qualities. From his faithfulness to duty we all can take a lesson, and to his patience, optimism and friendliness many of us owe our liking for the language he loved and taught so well.

DEMOCRACY, EDUCATION AND WHAT!

Are criticisms of the American educational system just?

Again and again educators call attention to the fact that there is too little opportunity offered the interested and serious student to follow his inherent cultural inclinations. The English system as exemplified in the University of Oxford is held up as the peak of perfection. But can such a system warrant the loud commendation that it receives in a country where higher education and democracy in super form are almost synonymous?

All too frequently, it seems, discussion of this sort brings forth statements that can hardly receive the support of careful and critical thinkers. Many are prone to see first the ease and the more or less desultory manner in which studies may be pursued under the English method, and its educational advantages last. In other words, freedom from classroom requirements might be used as moral support for laziness.

But when eminent educators find the English system preferable to the American, they are of a type of liberals that do not appreciate the difference between British and American democracy. That education and democracy do not even approach similarity of meaning in Great Britain is quite evident. One would have to go back only a few weeks to the National Conservative Convention for proof of this. The Conservative Minister of Education assumed the attitude that there already exists too much of this thing called education—a typically high caste English conclusion in high caste English logic. Oxford and Cambridge if not high-brow are at least bourgeois institutions. How radically different is the American attitude!

A further distinguishing feature is the machine-made product of the American college. Democracy is carried to the extreme. Aristocracy seems to have no place in our educational category—not even an "aristocracy of brains." With an abundance of mediocre material the American system can exist only by the relentless use of stringent requirements. The question then seems to be whether or not we might profitably imbibe a few "high-hat" ideas.

A MID-VICTORIAN REVERIE.

Love is blind, I've heard them say,
But what is Life when Love's away?

Better to love and lose, they say,
But what is Life when Love's away?

MORNING.

Once I woke up very early,
Stretched, and yawned a yawn or two,

Tiptoeed out to meet the sunrise;
Scampered barefoot in the dew;
Found a fragrant, virgin morning;
Found a young and tipsy breeze,
Staggering gayly through my garden
Pelting all my flowers with bees.
Found the shaven lawn bejewelled
With the ransom of a king.

Where the lush grass grew the greenest
There, I found a fairy ring.
And within the pearly circle
Lay a dainty spangled gown.
Had some fairy lady lost it?
Breathlessly my hand crept down,
Touched the lovely shining garment
Yes! A fairy robe no doubt.
But a bandy-legged spider
Came a-bandy-legging out.

PROFESSOR WILKINSON

commented on the fact that two of them were 'first scholars' at graduation. Of course nobody commented on this, for nobody is surprised when a man fulfills the promise of his early life. But when a man attains eminence without having shown ability in his youth, everybody comments upon it.

"England, during the two centuries 1722-1922, had thirty-seven prime ministers. Thirty-one of them were university graduates—which is a remarkable proportion and an impressive tribute to the part which the universities have played in English political life. The majority of the thirty-one were 'honors' men."

In conclusion, Dr. Wilkinson took occasion to urge upon the students not only to give their active interest and support to Professor Libby in the present gubernatorial contest, but after graduation to consider their obligations and opportunities to participate in other forms of political and civic activities.

Other speakers for the occasion were Charles P. Nelson, '28, of Augusta, who, in representing the student body, urged that Colby men and women show their esteem for their mayor-professor by supporting Dr. Libby's candidacy for the governorship, and Chester W. Getchell, city treasurer of Waterville, who said that the passive element among the voters were dissatisfied with the candidates previously in the field and have been waiting for a man of Dr. Libby's type to enter the gubernatorial race.

Charles P. Nelson, '28, of Augusta, was elected president of the club and a permanent executive committee consisting of J. Louis Lovett, '28, of Hudson, Mass.; Robert C. Chandler, '28, of Columbia Falls; Irma G. Sawyer, '28, of Canton; and Janet Chase, '28, of Augusta, was also elected. A resolution committee was elected that reported immediately the following resolution which was unanimously adopted: We, the students of Colby College, in token of our high esteem and regard for Dr. Herbert C. Libby, hereby tender him our hearty and sincere support in his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination.

J. Louis Lovett, '28, of Hudson, Mass., presided over the meeting.

COUNCIL TO ABOLISH WINTER CARNIVAL

Decision Reached Because of Lack of Interest by Student Body.

Decision to abolish the State Inter-collegiate Winter Sports Carnival which was scheduled to be held here early in February, to award a trophy to the winner of the interfraternity carnival, and to hold a Gym dance, Monday evening following the mid-year examinations were important results of the Student Council meeting held last Monday night.

According to the decision reached, which met with the entire approval of the athletic department, arrangements for the Intercollegiate Carnival are to be abandoned because of the utter indifference and lack of interest on the part of the student body, amply illustrated by the fact that only five or six men have reported for this activity. The inter-fraternity carnival, however, will be held as planned on the afternoon of February sixth. The council voted to award a trophy to the winner "proportionate with the interest shown." A cup to become the permanent possession of the first fraternity winning it three times was considered. A proposal to award one similar to the basketball or track cup was discussed but the matter was postponed to the next meeting.

The council also voted that a dance be given in the gymnasium on the night of Monday, February sixth, following the inter-fraternity winter sports carnival and preceeding the second semester.

A resolution was passed that the class treasurers be requested to make their financial reports to the council at the first meeting of next semester. This is in accordance with a rule adopted by the council last year.

WATERVILLE ICEMEN VICTORS OVER FROSH

High School Boys Superior
To First Year Men
--Score 8 to 3.

The Waterville hockey sextet, with Pooler, Leighton and Pomerleau doing the weight of the puck-carrying and Raymond playing a stellar game as goalie, had an easy time conquering the fast Freshman outfit to the tune of 8 to 3.

The high school lads outplayed the Frosh outfit in every department of the game, displaying a brand of hockey which is seldom seen in Maine schoolboy circles. Leighton was easily the outstanding player on the winning team. He was lightning fast on the steel runners and handled his stick like a veteran. He played a defense position and was instrumental in checking many advances of the Freshmen down the ice. Time and again he slipped the puck from some advancing opponent and worked through the Frosh defense. He was well assisted each time by a couple of teammates in his excursions, and thereby succeeded in making things hot for James, Frosh goalie.

Captain Pomerleau and Pooler teamed up well with Leighton to make up a strong combination. Pomerleau is a brother of Rudolph, member of the Colby Varsity squad and capable performer on the glazed surface. He is a promising young hockey star and materially assisted his crew in winning by scoring two counters. Pooler performed skillfully and was able to sift through the Frosh defense many times. He slipped three counters into the netting.

Scanton seemed to be the only Freshman who could work to any effect against the high school team and he scored two of three points for the yearlings. Pollard played a steady game and worked well with Lovett and Dow to make up an offense, although they showed a weakness at passing.

James was a bit off his game at the goal tender's position and allowed some shots which were labelled "easy stops" to filter through for scores.

What we want to know is the object of the Greek temple stuck on top of Coburn Hall. It's as out-of-place as a derby hat on a freshman's head, and, to all appearances, as utterly useless as the freshman itself.

MULES DEFEATED BY NEW HAMPSHIRE

Visitors Score Each Period of Hard Fought Game
--Score 5-2

The University of New Hampshire hockey team succeeded in taking the hide from the Colby Mule last Thursday when they defeated the Blue and Gray puck chasers 5 to 2 in a hard, rough game. It began to look at one time as if the New Hampshire crew was taking that "hide-hunting" stunt quite literally for soon after the start of the second period a hockey stick in the hands of Percival, crashed over Bobby Scott's eye with such force that the plucky wingman received a painful laceration and was incapacitated for the remainder of the contest. The blow looked to be so far from an accident that Percival was given a five minute vacation in the penalty box.

From then on neither team played a real brand of hockey. Sturhahn flashed at times and brought the Colby supporters to their feet when he scored the first goal for the Roundy-men after taking the puck up the center of the ice and driving it by Rogers, New Hampshire goalie.

Tattersall, substituting for Scott, uncovered a dashing bit of hockey play. Although he is rather light he is fast and aggressive and follows the puck like a hound on a rabbit track. He scored the second Colby goal soon after Sturhahn did his solo act, by flipping the puck into the netting from a difficult angle after taking a pass from Drummond.

The visiting team scored in every period. They presented a fast and smooth working machine and their passing attack in the first two periods found the Blue and Gray pucksters bewildered. Percival scored in the first period when he skated down the side and slid a fast one by West, unassisted. In the second period West came out of the net to recover the puck from a scrimmage in front of the cage but Chandler gaffed the rubber and slipped it in for a goal. Garvey, a substitute, Winkler and Percival each scored one for the University squad in the third period.

Percival, playing center ice for New Hampshire, was the outstanding player in the contest. He was ably assisted by Wendon and Rogers who as goalie turned in a good day's work with some difficult stops.

Drummond played a hard game at center and did a large part of the puck carrying for the Blue and Gray hickory wielders.

FROSH WHITEWASH CONY AT AUGUSTA

Scanlon and Lovett Lead
First Year Men to Easy Victory.

While the Varsity hockey team was being defeated here at the hands of New Hampshire State, the Freshman outfit led by Scanlon and Lovett, were winning a 3 to 0 walk away over a fast Cony high team at Augusta. The Cony high school lads displayed a good brand of hockey with Bilodeau, Hunt and Morton leading the army of fast skating stick wielders, but they were unable to score against the Frosh combination.

"Snub" Pollard and "Lead" Marsers played a steady game and functioned in a manner characteristic of these ex-Coburn team-mates. Pollard registered one goal for the Frosh.

Five matches in the past week failed to make any major changes in the standing of the six teams which are attacking the maples with a vengeance in an effort to win a fine loving cup, which is being offered by the management of the bowling alleys to the team winning high average for the series of matches.

The Delta Kappa Rho outfit led by Captain "Doc" Cobb, by virtue of a 3 to 1 win from the Dekes and a tie with the Zeta Psi pin pickers, rose from the cellar position and now occupies fourth place.

Harlow of the Kappa Delta Rho outfit performed the only record breaking stunt of the week when he smashed Scanlon's three string mark of 313 by topping 310 pins in the K. D. R.-Zeta match yesterday afternoon.

VARSITY DEFEATS BRUNSWICK CABOTS

Down-river Team Plays
Good Game but Fails to Score Points

An effective passing attack, superior weight and stellar defense work enabled the Colby Varsity hockey team to pin an overwhelming 8 to 1 defeat on the Brunswick Cabots in a game played on the college rink last night. The game was played before a small gallery of spectators and proved to be a good game to watch. The Cabots displayed a fast brand of hockey but lacked the weight and teamwork to produce scores.

The only score of the Brunswick crew came as a result of a mixup in front of the Colby cage when Simpson flipped the rubber into the netting.

Captain Drummond gave his teammates something to work on in the first quarter when he made two solo trips down the ice for as many points. He met with plenty of opposition in his jaunts, but by a clever exhibition of skating and stickwork, evaded the defense and slipped the puck by Duchaine, Cabot goalie.

Sturhahn played his usual flashy game and scored three counters in the course of the game. Tattersall, taking Bobby Scott's position while he is out of the game with an eye injury, played a steady game.

The Mules stack up against the Bates Bobcat on the Colby rink, Thursday night. It will be their second encounter with the sharp clawed crew and Colby will be in there fighting to retain its position in the sun-berth which was gained by defeating Bates in the first encounter.

DEKES LOSE TO NON-FRAT TEAM BY SIX POINTS

Slosek High Score Man in Fast Game Played
Wednesday.

Displaying remarkably smooth forward cooperation the Non-Fraternity hoop team took over the Delta Kappa Epsilon quintet to the tune of 30 to 24, Wednesday afternoon in the Gym. It was the second defeat in as many starts for the D. K. E. five.

With Slosek and Wisnoski as forwards and Deitch as center the Non-Frat combination had things pretty much their own way. These three hoopers alone piled up sufficient score to win the game. Slosek with five floor goals to his credit was high point man for the day, although Wisnoski with two floor goals and five foul shots was only one point behind his teammate. Cooke and Good each scored eight points for the losers during the game.

The game was fast and well played. McKeon filled in well as center, but the Dekes missed the clever playing of Wally Donovan.

PHI DELTS EASY WINNERS OVER LANCER HOOPSTERS

Hansen Stars With Total of Seven Goals, Scoring Fourteen Points.

With Hansen playing a brilliant game at forward, and Fiedler and Ferguson as stellar guard performers, the Phi Delt had little trouble taking the Lancers Club into camp, 34 to 17, in a fast game of basketball in the gymnasium Saturday afternoon. Hansen scored nearly enough points alone to win the game with seven floor goals to his credit. The Phi Delt displayed a good passing attack and had the leather in their possession a large part of the time.

The Lancers, with McKee and Caulfield flashing at times, put up a good fight and kept the winners exerting themselves to retain their lead.

Arnold, a freshman and former Waterville High basket tosser, was injected in the Phi Delt lineup at the start of the second half and performed well, scoring four points with two goals from the floor.

Schick and Knofski played well for the losers; each scored four points.

The win puts the Phi Delt in a tie with the A. T. O. basketballers for leading position in the league, each having two wins and no losses.

Game--Score 39-5

Scoring 21 points for a season's record of counters in one game, Charlie Callaghan led his A. T. O. teammates to a decisive victory over a strong Kappa Delta Rho basketball outfit in a game played Thursday afternoon. The victors took the lead from the first whistle and were never headed during the contest. They displayed a fine brand of team work and aside from holding their opponents without a field goal during the major portion of the game, scored themselves, with apparent ease. Johnnie Trainor and "Doc" Tierney alternated at center position, and their play enabled the team to complete many plays from the tip-off. Langley was a power in a guard position and it was largely due to his work that the K. D. R. team scored so few points.

Blakeslee, Benson and Bailey were the best the losing quintet had to offer and they flashed at times to no advantage.

Although the Lambda Chi Alpha basket shooters built up a six point lead in the first half of a game with the Zeta Psi quintet they were overcome and defeated 41 to 30 in an Interfraternity League contest in the gymnasium Friday afternoon.

The Lambda Chi boys with the services of Hannifen and Miller, star performers, succeeded in showing their heels to their opponents until a Zeta Psi combination in the form of Larry Arber and Dana Simmons began to function, and put the game away in the Frigidaire by scoring 20 points to the 12 garnered by the L. C. A. crew in the second half of the game.

Simmons took high scoring honors for the afternoon with seven goals from the floor and three from fouls to his credit. Arber closely followed with 12 points.
