

EIGHTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY FOR LATIN TEACHER

Dr. Julian D. Taylor Holds
New England Record
For Service

HEAD OF FACULTY

Dr. Julian D. Taylor, '68, Professor of the Latin language and literature and chairman of the executive committee of the faculty in charge of the administration of the college celebrated his eighty-second birthday on Sunday, January 22, at his home on College avenue.

Dr. Taylor is now in his sixtieth year of teaching at Colby and is thus New England's oldest professor in point of service. His record is approached only by that of Professor Charles E. Fay, dean of Tufts Graduate School and professor of modern languages at that institution. Dr. Taylor's record is all the more unusual since he has passed his entire career of service at Colby from which he graduated in 1868, when it was known as Waterville College.

Born in Winslow in 1846, Dr. Taylor took his degree of Bachelor of Arts upon his graduation with the class of '68. He was immediately elected a tutor in the college and served in that capacity for five years until he was appointed to the professorship of the Latin language and literature. When the chair was endowed in 1918 he became Taylor Professor of the same subject. He received the further degrees of Master of Arts in 1871 and Doctor of Letters in 1900, from Colby. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the National honorary scholastic society.

Because of the illness of the late President Roberts, Dr. Taylor, as senior member of the faculty, presided at the 106th annual commencement exercises of the college last June. When the trustees of the college found it necessary to appoint a committee to assist the President, Dr. Taylor was made chairman of the executive committee of the faculty which assumed complete charge of the affairs of the college upon the death of the president.

In his eighty-third year, Dr. Taylor enjoys excellent health and seldom finds it necessary to give his classes a "cut." Besides the three courses which he offers each semester he is active in many civic and business enterprises. He is a director as well as vice president of the Ticonderoga National Bank of Waterville and is regarded as an expert on investment securities. The Waterville Rotary Club claims him as one of its most prominent members.

Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Clarence White played several piano solos at the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. held on Tuesday, January 31. Mrs. White was introduced by Miss Florence Young, president of the Y. W. C. A. After a short sketch of the careers of each composer, Mrs. White gave three selections by each of the well-known musical composers, Schubert, Chopin, and Macdowell.

Mrs. White has often delighted the Y. W. girls and is always welcomed by them.

Alpha Tau Omega Five Leads Procession in Interfraternity Basketball League

By virtue of a crushing victory over the Lambda Chi Alpha team yesterday afternoon, the Alpha Tau Omega hoop quintet now has the technical edge in the interfraternity basketball league competition.

Although still in a quadruple tie for the sun berth position with the Phi Delta Theta, Delta Upsilon, and Non-Fraternity fives, the A. T. O.'s have now won three straight victories to two Phi Delta triumphs and a victory apiece for the D. U.'s and Non-Fraterns. The two last named teams are scheduled to meet this week, but the other phibic crew will not be brought together until later in the season.

Because of playing more games, the A. T. O.'s are also far in the lead in the scoring of points as they have rung up 152 counters to 47 for their

STUDENTS CELEBRATE END OF MID-YEARS

Many Attend Dance in Gym
Given By Council Of Men's Division

Attended by 250 Colby men and women, an informal dance sponsored by the Student Council, was held in the gymnasium last Monday night from 7.30 to 11.30. This dance which was a celebration of the end of the examinations and the beginning of the second semester, proved very successful.

The patrons and patronesses were: Professor Lester F. Weeks, Professor and Mrs. C. Harry Edwards, Dean Erma V. Reynolds, and Miss Corinne B. Van Norman.

The Student Committee in charge consisted of Augustus M. Hodgkins, '28, of Farmington Falls, chairman; Harold E. Carson, '28, of Hodgdon; and Thomas B. Langley, '31, of Cambridge, Mass.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA HOLDS RADIO PARTY

Bridge And Dancing Enjoyed At After-Exam Affair

The Colby Chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity observed a fitting close to the strenuous week of mid-year examinations, by holding a Radio Party at their Chapter House, Saturday evening from eight o'clock until eleven-thirty.

The newly renovated reception room presented a very attractive appearance and cards and dancing were enjoyed. Only members of the fraternity attended, and music was furnished by a large Radiola and also by Victrola. Refreshments of punch, ice cream and cookies were served.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Cecil H. Rose, '28, of Waterville; Horace P. Maxey, '29, of Rockland; and Harold D. Phippen, '30, of Islesford.

The patrons and patronesses were Denn Erma V. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Rose of Waterville, Mrs. Phillip Hall and Mrs. Cecil A. Rollins.

Joint Deputation Team at Augusta

A joint deputation team from Colby led the services at the Congregational Church in Augusta last Sunday. The four students who made the trip were: Florence C. Young, '29, of Brockton, Mass.; Alberta L. Brown, '30, of Waterville; Gardner D. Cottle, '28, of Fall River, Mass.; and Lawrence A. Penkes, '28, of Poultony, Vt.

Cottle was in charge of the team which led a very successful social in the church parish house on Saturday evening. Penkes spoke in the Sunday morning service; Cottle presided, Miss Young read the scripture, and Miss Brown sang a solo. The team also took part in the Sunday School exercises, and were in charge of a union meeting of the Augusta Young People's societies in the afternoon at which Miss Young was the principal speaker.

The subject of "City Welfare" was interestingly discussed by Mrs. Wallace, secretary of the Waterville Chamber of Commerce, at the Y. W. C. A. meeting last evening.

COLBY TRACK STARS PERFORM CREDITABLY IN INDOOR CONTESTS

Sansone Second In Fast Race, Seekins Ties In High Jump

RELAY MEN LOSE

Track Captain "Eb" Sansone and Mayo Seekins carried the Colby silks to prominence in the K. C. and B. A. A. indoor meets which have been held in Boston on the last two Saturday evenings.

By taking second place in the Bishop Cheverus 1000-yard run, Sansone was the only Blue and Gray runner to come through at the William C. Prout Memorial games which were staged in the Mechanics Building by the Massachusetts Council, K. of C. The following week, Seekins leaped 6 feet and 1 1/2 inches into a third place tie in the high jump at the Boston Athletic Association meet in the Arena.

K. of C. Meet.

A Colby alumnus and ardent follower of the sporting activities of the college was present at Mechanics Building, when the spiked shoe artists made their first appearance of the season. The accomplishments of the Colby men in that meet were summarized by him: "Colby had a fine relay team running, but was nosed out of victory by a small margin by Worcester Polytechnic. Sansone ran in a very fast 1000 yard race and took second."

That was just the size of the whole meet as far as Colby was concerned. Seekins was entered in the high jump and 45 yard high hurdles, but failed to place in either. Charles Towne ran in a three mile race, but found the competition too fast while Christie, a freshman prospect, participated in a jaunt over the mile route, but did not place in the money.

The relay team composed of Captain Alden Sprague, Deane Quinton, Webster Brown, and Elmer Rivkin made a good showing in a race which was in doubt until the last stride. But the boys from Worcester Polytechnic Institute proved to be a bit too fast for the Colbyites and nosed them out by the narrowest of margins. The time for the 1500 yards was 3 minutes 19 2-5 seconds.

The 1000 yard run was won by Bob Dalrymple of the B. A. A. Until the last lap John McLaughlin of Boston College was out in front followed by Brennan of Holy Cross, but on the last turn Dalrymple went into the lead with Sansone after him. The pair then stepped away from the rest of the field with the former Dartmouth runner beating the Colby entry by a scant few yards. The time for the distance was 2 minutes, 23 4-5 seconds.

B. A. A. Meet.

Seekins' performance in the high jump in the B. A. A. meet was the most brilliant in his track career. It takes real ability to jump from scratch into a tie with such men as Robinson of the Newark A. C., C. V. A. Wolfe of Yale, and Charlie Major of St. Bonaventure. Major, the former Colburn track star, who is rated as one of the best in the country, won the event the previous week at the K. of C. meet.

The relay team met defeat when Sprague fell on the last leg of a mile race. The race was a triangular one. (Continued on page 3)

BANQUET DATES.

All arrangements for the sorority banquets, to be held during February and March, have been completed. The following dates are being reserved at the Elmwood Hotel: Alpha Delta Pi, February 11; Beta Chi Theta, February 18; Sigma Kappa, February 25; Delta Delta Delta, March 3; Phi Mu, March 10, and Chi Omega, March 17.

DRAMATIC CLUB.

Miss Cornelia Adair and Miss Edna Turkington were the hostesses at a meeting of the Dramatic Club on Monday evening, January 22. The meeting was held at the home of Miss Dorothy Daggett on Pleasant street. After a short business meeting there was a discussion of the play which is to be given at the Sanitorium at Fairfield.

The hostesses served refreshments of shrimp-wiggle, cookies, and coffee.

BASEBALL SCHEDULE INCLUDES EIGHTEEN GAMES THIS SEASON

Six New Teams Appear On Slate; First Game
On April 19

BALDWIN CAPTAIN

Eighteen games, seven at home and eleven on foreign diamonds, have been booked for this spring's Blue and Gray baseball schedule according to an announcement made recently by Louis P. Fourcade, '28, of Purchase, N. Y., the manager of the Colby nine.

Six new teams appear on the college schedule for the first time this year. These clubs are: Newport Naval Training Station, Trinity College, St. Michaels, Connecticut Agricultural College, New Hampshire University, and Dartmouth.

The slate calls for one of the hardest seasons in Colby's baseball history, but Captain Meade J. Baldwin should lead a talented crew of material when the diamond candidates are called out by Coaches Eddie Roudy and Bill Millett.

As usual the University of Maine comes to Seaverns Field for an exhibition game on April 19. The Blue and Gray bat wielders will make two out-of-state trips this year. One will be for four games and the other for three.

The slate follows:

- April
- 19—Maine (exhibition).
- 21—(exhibition) there.
- 25—Newport Training Station, there.
- 26—Providence College, there.
- 27—Rhode Island State, there.

Chemistry Society Outlines Program For College Year

A program providing for two meetings each month for the remainder of the college year was outlined at a meeting of Chi Epsilon Mu, the local honorary chemical society, held January 27, in the Chemistry lecture room of Chemical Hall. Students eligible for membership during the second semester were invited to join at the next meeting.

The first meeting of the month will be of a business nature and will be held on the second Tuesday of February. At this time a paper prepared by one of the members and dealing with some phase of chemistry will be read. The second meeting will be held some evening later in the month. A film will be shown at the evening meeting. It is proposed to follow this program throughout the remainder of the year.

At the next meeting of the society on Friday afternoon, February 10 all eligible students wishing to join will be initiated.

STATE INDUSTRIES TO HELP PLACE GRADUATES

The necessity for closer contact between college graduates in search of positions and the industries of the state was brought out in a conference of the representatives from the Pine Tree State colleges and from the Associated Industries of Maine which was held January 30, at the Columbia Hotel in Portland.

This meeting which was only of a preliminary nature, was held under the auspices of Stanley B. Lary, the director of the Placement Service branch of the University Club of Boston. A more important meeting will probably be held in May or June, as Mr. Lary has consented to come here at that time to consult with juniors or seniors who are interested in entering Maine industries. Students who desire a personal interview with Mr. Lary at that time should advise the Registrar, Malcolm B. Mower, who was the Colby representative at the Portland conference.

FRENCH TREATY WITH AMERICA DISCUSSED

Dr. Wilkinson Speaks About Peace Negotiations At Women's Club

Dr. William J. Wilkinson, head of the history department of the college, in his monthly talk on recent political happenings of national and international interest which he delivered last evening before the Women's club of Waterville, spoke chiefly on affairs which have transpired in Washington during the past few weeks.

He first gave an account of the diplomatic negotiations which have been in progress between Secretary of State Kellogg and Mr. Briand, the foreign secretary of France. Briand, he explained, proposed a treaty arrangement with the United States which would outlaw war between the two countries. Mr. Kellogg, a month ago, responded to this offer by offering to make such a treaty, not only with France, but with all the leading nations.

Briand hesitated because he feared the Kellogg proposals would conflict with the French obligations to the League of Nations. After considerable exchange of diplomatic notes a former treaty was then extended to which has been added a preamble which it is claimed by Briand will have the effect of outlawing war between the two nations. The State Department at Washington, however, does not interpret the new provisions in quite that fashion, describing it as just the preamble to a regular arbitration treaty and not covering the substance of the proposals made by Briand last June.

In the meantime, Senator Borah has given enthusiastic support to Secretary Kellogg's all-embracing treaty proposals. He contends that acceptance of the American plan to outlaw war is not in conflict with other agreements, such as the League of Nations and the Locarno Treaty, but that its acceptance will allow all the peace machinery now in being to function more readily.

In connection with the treaty signed Monday between France and the United States, Professor Wilkinson called attention to the fact that it (Continued on page 4)

PI GAMMA MU TO STUDY IMPROVEMENT OF TOWNS

In an effort to determine the amount of progress between the years of 1910 and 1925 in Maine communities of less than 1000 population, the Maine Alpha chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, the national social science honorary society, is planning to conduct a program of comparative study and research work into rural conditions throughout this state.

The decision to adopt such a program was made at a recent meeting of the Colby chapter of the society which was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Curtis H. Morrow. The chapter will also make an effort to contribute acceptable material to every issue of "Social Science" the official organ of the national organization. Membership requirements in the local chapter was also discussed.

The following committees were elected at the same meeting: Program, Claire J. Richardson, '28, of Waterville, chairman; G. Vinton Jones, '28, of Monticello; and Arthur B. Levine, '28, of Waterville; banquet, Ralph H. Ayer, '28, of Lynn, Mass., chairman; Olive E. Richardson, '28, Waterville, and Ella L. Vinal, '28, of North Scituate, Mass.

Semester Courses in Advertising, Ethics, Imperialism, and Contemporary Religions

Four new courses are being offered this semester in as many different departments of the college.

Professor Arthur G. Eustis in the department of Business Administration is offering a course in advertising which is elective for sophomores, juniors, and seniors which comes on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at eight.

The department of History is offering a semester course in Imperialism and World Politics, which will be given by Dr. William J. Wilkinson on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday at ten o'clock. This course which includes the writing of a long thesis is open only to a picked group of up-

BOWDOIN TEAM DEALS OUT 5-2 HOCKEY DEFEAT

Both Crews Lack Teamwork
With Blue And Gray
Outclassed

SCANLON SHINES

A strong skating, smooth passing, hard shooting Polar Bear hockey outfit climbed over the boards to the college rink to emerge the victor 5 to 2 of a desperate battle with the White Mule sextet in a State Series encounter last night. The Colby team that crossed sticks with Bowdoin was far inferior to the organization that twice vanquished the strong Bates sextet; the let down in practice and competition during the mid-year examination period evidently had a marked effect. Eddie Sturhahn, although showing traces of his old brilliancy at times, was far from the performer who rose to the occasion and flipped the puck into the netting for winning scores in both the overtime encounters with Bates. Neither Captain Dick nor Bobby Scott could seem to exhibit their usual skill on the steel runners. West played a good game as guardian of the network but was unable to weather the storm of pucks which came in his direction.

The game marked the first appearance of first-year men in varsity togs, the ban on freshman participation having been lifted after mid-years. Two of the stars from yearling ranks got a taste of State series competition and one, Dan Scanlon, measured up well with the veterans. It was he who drove the puck by the Bowdoin goalie for Colby's first score. Drummond flipped the puck out from behind the net for Scanlon's shot.

The game started off as if slated to be a close encounter and the first period was nearly over when Dick Thayer flashed down the right side of the ice and passed to Rice who succeeded in slipping it by West for the first score of the game.

Colby threatened several times before the period was over but failed to score. It was but a few minutes after the start of the second period that Drummond succeeded in getting the rubber out to Scanlon who evened the score when he brought up the flag. The Colby rooters had hardly got through cheering Scanlon's act when Stone, Bowdoin's defense man, slipped by the Colby secondary line and tallied with a shot by West.

The Blue and Gray crew buckled down to an earnest effort to even the score again but Bowdoin added another to her total when Walsh scored unassisted. The Polar Bear's score received another addition when Bob Thayer and Lovett got in a mixup near the Colby goal. West went out to bat the puck out of the danger zone but the black disc found its way into the netting in some unexplainable manner.

Near the end of the third period another score was registered, and then for Colby. The Blue and Gray crew had been making desperate efforts to score and succeeded in keeping the puck in the enemy's territory until Tattersall was able to pop one by Howland to make the count 4 to 2. After the next face-off, with minutes left to play, five Colby players rushed down the ice in a futile effort to tie up the count, but Dick Thayer succeeded in gaffing the disc and tearing down the center to score unassisted after West made a brave attempt to prevent the tally.

The second semester begins: Colby's Revival of Learning is over.

There's a reason for the sudden epidemic of cigar smoking by members of the faculty.

COLBY PLEASE COPY.

According to the New Student, six honorary societies at the University of Nebraska are on the verge of death, their fate now resting in faculty hands.

Their abolition was recommended by the student council, following long agitation against purposeless organizations by The Daily Nebraskan. The faculty has delayed action to permit defense plans. In announcing the council action The Nebraskan said editorially:

"There was little justification for these societies which had existed solely because certain ambitious men and women students wished to have important sounding club names placed among their achievements in college activities."

The Nebraskan used the past tense because it expected—and hoped—that the faculty would impose death immediately.

The honoraries in question are distinguished by such fine names as Vikings, Silver Serpents, Iron Sphinx, Xi Delta, Green Goblins, and Mystic Fish.

INTELLECTUAL HONESTY.

(N.S.S.) Kirby Page, the editor of "The World Tomorrow," who is to speak here at Colby March 6-8, completed his Pacific Coast tour with little mishap, save for cancellation of his talks at Oregon State College, and a threat at the University of California at Los Angeles.

At the latter institution Director E. C. Moore, while denying that he had made statements unfavorable to the pacifist lecturer, was careful to add that "Mr. Page has not been invited by the University to speak here, and what he does off the campus is his own concern." Page spoke at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Moore also added that "it may be necessary to take some action if Mr. Page should attempt to belittle military training." However, at last reports Page had spoken.

Oregon State College, a few days after barring Page, closed its radio station to a University of Oregon debater who was to give a talk on Nicaragua, as part of a grange radio program.

When it became known that the talk would in part criticize American intervention in Latin-America, Prof. W. L. Kaddery, in charge of the station, summarily put an end to the proceedings. The grangers were indignant over the college's censorship, although their only recourse lies in resolutions of protest.

Ye Gladiator Column

Dear Gladiator:

When the Chi Gamma Theta honorary society was founded it was with the idea of encouraging activities in athletics among the women.

The members of the women's division are not permitted to have intercollegiate matches in various athletics as are the men's division; so undoubtedly the fact that most of the outstanding athletes in the women's division are Chi Gams is unknown to the Editor.

If the Editor desires facts perhaps the following will convince him that the members of Chi Gamma Theta are doing something besides sitting for the "Oracle," surrounded by Cligquot ginger ale and chocolate doughnuts. The president and vice president of the Colby Health League are members of Chi Gamma Theta. The sophomore and junior class health leaders are also Chi Gams.

On the sophomore class hockey team there are five Chi Gams; on the junior team there are six. These same six girls were on the championship team of 1926-27. There are two Chi Gams on the senior class team. The manager of the sophomore team last year was a Chi Gam and the managers of the junior and senior teams of this year are also Chi Gams. On the volley ball teams of last year and also the soccer teams of last spring the outstanding girls were Chi Gams.

To be sure we have not undertaken any such enterprises as have the Epureans but how successful would our enterprise be if we should undertake it? The men's division never support the undertakings of the women's division in spite of the fact that the women give their whole-hearted support to all the men's enterprises. The faculty, too, are not as ready to help the women's division as they are to aid the men.

I hope this short note has convinced Ye Editor that Chi Gamma Theta is something more than a picture.
 A Chi Gam, '29.

Dear Myself:

Because, willy-nilly, I have to peruse all the epistles that come to this column, I've finally decided to enter one of these engrossing pen and paper brawls. Herewith, I officially come to the aid of the editor in his lone struggle against the world in general and Colby's honorary societies in particular.

"A Chi Gam, '29," writes of health leaders and players and managers of the hockey, volley ball and soccer teams who are members of the sophomore women's society. From the tenor of her letter, it is evident that Chi Gamma Theta seeks to be a true honorary society. It's only a simple question, but are not these girls Chi Gams because they are good athletes rather than good athletes because they are Chi Gams?

Furthermore, if the society wishes to be truly representative of the outstanding girl athletes, why is the sorority (allied by the editor—"hierarchy") system of election still used? Would it not be better to choose new members from the women's division as a whole? Does every sorority have two outstanding athletes every year? And only two?

Although only a columnist, I'll wager that "ye editor" is not convinced.

With egotism,
 The Gladiator.

DELTA SIGMA CHIS HEAR MISS BONNETTE

The regular meeting of Delta Sigma Chi, women's honorary educational society, was held last evening, in the Foss Hall assembly room.

After a short business meeting, Miss Betsy Ringdahl, '28, introduced Miss Anne Bonnette of the Teacher Training department of music, at Coburn Classical Institute, as the speaker of the evening.

Miss Bonnette chose as her subject The Differences in Music Appreciation at Home and Abroad. In America there has been a vast improvement in public musical instruction during the past few years. Music should be taken up during early childhood if the best results are to be attained. However, this instruction must not be too difficult, it must be within the child's range, if it is to be appreciated. Radio concerts, given for school children, are being adopted in many of the better institutions of this country. America, as a nation, does not appreciate good music. We lack a background of vital feelings in our songs. It is really an age of jazz. We should, however, consider music as a necessity rather than a luxury and try to develop a finer appreciation of the best it can offer.

Music is treated very differently in the foreign countries. Most children abroad have musical training. French children begin school at the age of three and a half and German children nearly as young. Thus, their musical education is begun in childhood. Training does not consist solely of piano, but of many other instruments. Nor are Europeans suffering from a jazz craze. Their folk songs do not grow old quickly as does American jazz, for one generation after the other sings the same songs.

Miss Bonnette concluded her talk by several piano selections. The first was of the 17th century type, very restricted as to range and tone. The second number was Chopin's Waltz in A flat, and the last a modern Russian Folk Dance.

U.S.S. Saratoga

A Marvel of National Defense

From this 2½-acre deck, Uncle Sam's battle planes can now leap into action—sure of a landing place on their return, though a thousand miles from shore.

This marvel of national defense was accomplished—and duplicated—when the airplane carrier, U.S.S. Saratoga, and her sister ship, U.S.S. Lexington, were completely electrified.

In each, four General Electric turbine-generators deliver, combined, 180,000 horsepower to the propellers—enough to drive the ship at 33 knots (39 miles an hour)—enough to furnish light and power for a city of half a million people.

The design and construction of the electric equipment for the U.S.S. Saratoga and the U.S.S. Lexington, to which college-trained men contributed in great measure, exemplify the part General Electric plays in promoting the welfare of the nation.

PHI DELTS TAKE 38-14 GAME FROM LAMBDA CHI

Grady, Giles, And Fiedler
Star For Victors

With Grady and Giles tossing the leather in from all angles and with Fiedler playing a clever defensive game, the Phi Delta Theta quintet kept its basketball record clean by taking a 38 to 14 battle from the Lambda Chi Alpha outfit in a featureless game which was played before the mid-year exam period.

The game marked Grady's initial appearance on the court this season. The Phi Delt right forward played a whale of a game, sinking the ball through the hoop for a total of 13 points which took the high scoring honors for the encounter. Giles, at center, was another off-campus star. Miller, Hines, and Hannifen played a good game for the Lambda Chi outfit, the trio snaring all except one of the loser's points.

The superior passing attack of the Phi Delt forwards coupled with the fine guarding of Fiedler was the big factor in their win. They were out in front 19 to 5 at the half-way mark, and the Lambda Chi's never had a look-in, though they put up a much better game during the second half.

DEKES COP EASY 36-21 GAME FROM K. D. R. TEAM

Victors Never In Danger In Listless Contest

The Delta Kappa Epsilon basketball five copped an easy 36 to 21 victory from the Kappa Delta Rho outfit in a slow interfraternity league game which was played just before the end of the first semester.

The Dekes assumed a comfortable lead at the start and were never in any danger. The first quarter found them out in front to the tune of 9 to 2. The scorebook read 17 to 7 as the half ended, and a little flare-up of energy made it 27 to 15 at the three-quarter whistle. The game ended without any strenuous exertion on the part of either team.

Cooke, with 14 points, was high scorer for the day, with Fourcade, the runner-up, with 13. Bailey and Blakeslee looped in nine and seven respectively for the K. D. R.'s. Dexter played a good defensive game for the victors.

The summary:

PROSPECTS FOR FENCING SQUAD VERY FAVORABLE

Advanced Men To Instruct
The New Recruits

Prospects for a fencing team in the near future are very good, according to an announcement of Dr. George B. Viles, acting professor of German, who is giving instruction in this sport. Owing to Dr. Viles' limited time and the number of men that wish to take up this branch of athletics, special attention is being given to the most advanced members of the class who will serve as assistants to instruct the new recruits. Students interested should apply to Professor C. Harry Edwards. The only expense involved is the price of the necessary equipment: mask and foils.

Dr. Viles has had much experience as a fencer having been president of the Cornell Fencing Club. As a member of the team at that institution he won first place in competition with many prominent fencers. He took many private lessons in addition to the regular club instructions and frequently gave exhibitions with the fencing-master in addition to acting as judge in fencing meets.

While at the University of North Carolina he organized and taught a fencing class there. In preparation for his present class Dr. Viles devoted his Christmas vacation to training with the Harvard fencing-master.

FRENCH TREATY.

was exactly one hundred and fifty years ago that Benjamin Franklin successfully negotiated a treaty with Vergennes, the Minister of Louis XVI. That treaty has been described as the most important diplomatic document in American history, because it marked the first official recognition of the new republic by one of the leading nations of Europe. Exactly one hundred and fifty years after this historic event Bland, the successor of Vergennes, has completed an epoch making treaty with the diplomatic successors of the great Franklin.

Quality sent P.A. to the head of the class

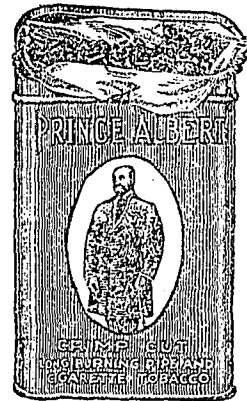

YEARS ago, P.A. showed a clean pair of heels to the field of smoking-tobaccos. It has maintained its lead ever since, putting more distance behind it every year. There must be a reason why P.A. is the world's largest-selling brand.

There is! Open a tidy red tin and get a full breath of that class-by-itself fragrance. Then tamp a load into the bowl of your pipe and light up. The first pull tells you why more men smoke P.A. than any other brand. Cool and smooth and mellow and mild—not for one pipe-load, but always. Try this long-burning tobacco, Fellows. You'll say so!
