

MCLAUGHLIN TO BE NEXT CONCERT ARTIST

Noted Baritone to Be Assisted by Jose Da Costa at The Piano

The third and final concert of the Colby Concert Series will be given at the Alumnae Building at 8.15 next Tuesday evening by Thomas McLaughlin, baritone, assisted by Jose Da Costa, pianist. This third concert with its double feature of singer and pianist presents an unusual opportunity to Colby and the citizens of Waterville. Tickets have been distributed throughout the college, and may be obtained from representatives in each of the fraternities, priced one dollar for general admission and seventy-five cents for students.

Thomas McLaughlin, although one of the younger groups of artists, has already achieved country-wide recognition. He was born in Los Angeles, Calif. As a young man the remarkable qualities of his voice were discovered. After graduating from Loyola College he made his first appearance on the concert stage where he was featured as "the world's youngest baritone." His later training was received under the tutelage of William L. Whitney of New York and Boston. It was under the guidance of Mr. Whitney that he made his greatest advances, and within the last three years he has had appearances in all the concert centers of this country. A brief list of his appearances include: Washington, Baltimore, Chicago, Los Angeles, Youngstown, Cleveland, Toledo and Boston. Reports from leading musical critics testify as to his success.

The Los Angeles Examiner says: "The operatic aria which Mr. McLaughlin sang served to show whether a singer can declaim fluently and sustain a melodic phrase. He stood the test nobly and showed his voice and musicianship to be of the highest order."

A critic from the Detroit News says: "Thomas McLaughlin has a glorious voice of brilliant color and range."

From the Wheeling, West Virginia Register: "Seldom has any artist given the pleasure and thrill to the concert-goers of Wheeling as did Mr. McLaughlin last night in his artistic program."

French Club Hosts To Professor Viles

Professor George B. Viles was the guest and speaker at the French club in the Alumnae Building, Tuesday evening, March 4. While Professor Viles teaches only German at Colby, he is also a master of Spanish, Italian and French. His knowledge of this last he proved in his lecture on the life of Alfonso Daudet and the reading of Daudet's famous "La Dorine de Classe."

The members of the club also took part in a guessing game. The name of some historical character was pinned on the back of each. This name was to be guessed by asking only one question from each player. The game caused much hilarity when such names as Bluebeard or Dollah appeared.

Refreshments of ginger ale and sandwiches were served.

COLLEGE ATHLETES MUST PICK JOBS

Will be Accused of Professionalism if They do Not Use Discretion in Job Picking

"Athletes have to be careful about their jobs, because snoopers are always ready to charge them with professionalism," says Ralph Cannon in a survey of "Vacations, So-Called," in a recent issue of College Humor. "Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics of the Western Conference, keeps a list of the summer jobs of all the athletes in the Big Ten, and many of the other conferences follow a similar custom."

"Fred Stuttle, a track man at Illinois, with his chum, Ben Twitchell, worked their way over tending mules. Athletes usually try for the more strenuous jobs in an effort to keep in training. The majority of them who don't serve as lifeguards or instructors in boys' camps go in for back-breaking manual labor, such as farming, shoveling concrete mixture, working on hard roads."

"Red Grange gave the summer job full notoriety when he was the ice-man of Wheaton, Illinois. Before him, Charlie Higgins, a famous tackle and fullback of the University of Chicago eleven, bossed the stake drivers of a circus. George Spradling,

COMBINED MUSICAL CLUBS CONCERT PROVES TO BE A DECIDED SUCCESS

Students Under The Direction Of Mr. John Thomas Give Very Able Performances

The first concert of the Combined Musical Clubs presented last Thursday evening at the City Opera House was a decided success in every way. A very pleasing and varied program, perfectly arranged, was given before an audience which nearly filled the auditorium.

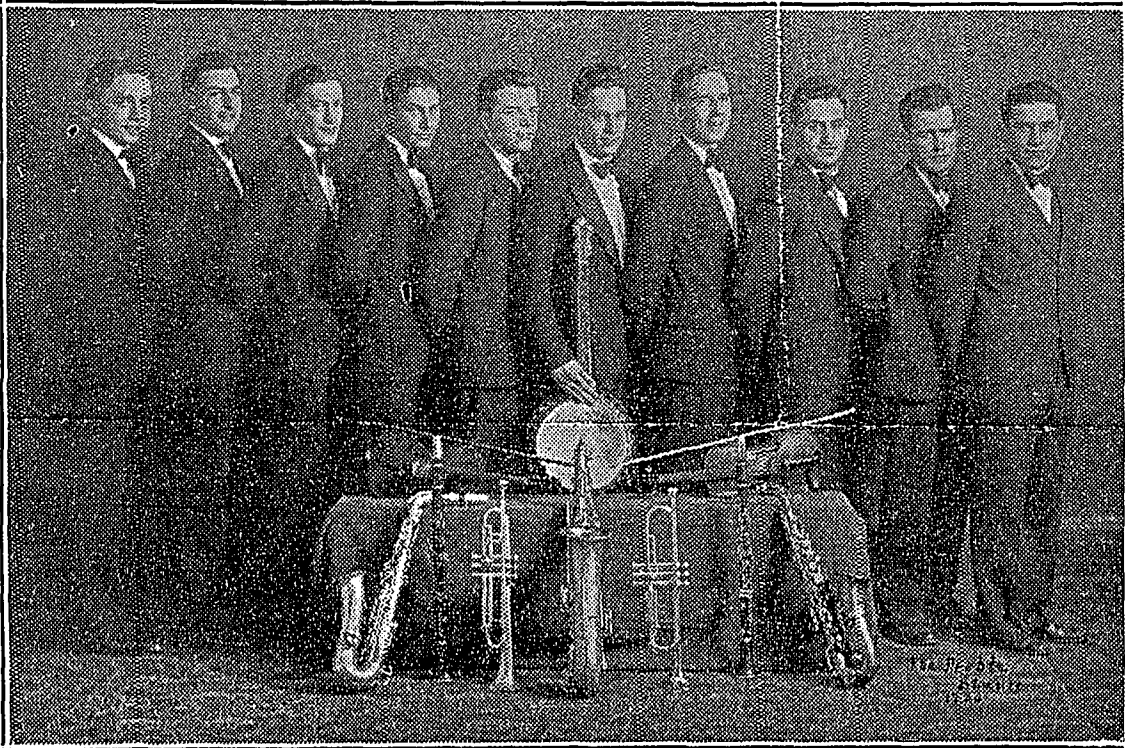

The expert guidance of both divisions of the musical clubs by Mr. John Thomas was evident in every number. Too much credit can not be given to Mr. Thomas for the great amount of work which he has done in moulding and blending the fifty individual voices under his baton into the marvelously finished unit which appeared on the stage of the Opera House.

The college is also indebted to Mr. Thomas for his beautiful arrangement of Colby's "Alma Mater." This was the first selection of the combined clubs. As the opening strains stole out into the auditorium from behind the curtain a hush came over the audience, and as the rising curtain brought the singers into view, the student body rose in tribute. After the second selection, "By Babylon's Wave," by Gounod, the Mid-most pleasing selections on the program.

After another dance tune by the orchestra, "Aren't We All?" with vocal refrain by the male quartet, Clod and Hopper entertained the audience with some clever tap dancing and "wise cracks." The Male quartet then offered an arrangement by Huntly of the old negro spiritual, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." Mr. Bernard Shaw then favored the audience with a trumpet solo, Casey's "Honeysuckle Polka." In this selection Mr. Shaw exhibited some fine triple-tonguing and was obliged by the audience to play an encore. He chose the beautiful "Perfect Day" by Carrie Jacobs-Bond.

The Men's Glee Club then returned to the stage for two numbers, "The Nightingale" by Tschalkowsky and "Goin' Home" from Dvorak's "New World Symphony." "The Nightingale" probably showed as well as any selection the expert direction of Mr. Thomas, as it is composed almost wholly of crescendo and diminuendo passages which were flawlessly sung by the glee club.

MIDNIGHT SONS OF COLBY

Purdue's great basketball ace, sold fountain pens. Alva 'Bo' Martin, a national champion in the half mile for Northwestern University, harvested wheat with hundreds of other collegians in Kansas, and defeated the 'local champ' in a match foot race, getting big odds because his time in a trial heat was slow, the course having been purposely mismeasured to make his trial heat distance two hundred and forty instead of two hundred and twenty yards!

"Harvey Olson, Purdue's football captain and center of 1928, acted as caddy master at a Chicago golf club. Butch' Nowack, All-American tackle of the 1927-28 Big Ten, champion Illinois, was a dance hall bouncer. 'Tubby' Griffin, two hundred-and-thirty-pound center of the Iowa eleven a few years back, performed as a detective recovering stolen cars. He would drift into a South Dakota town looking like a tramp and start fraternizing with the brothers of the frat unwashed. When he had picked up the dope on all stolen cars in the district, he would drift out, followed by officers working information he supplied.

"One Yale star piloted the Baltic as quartermaster on a ship. A Nebraska phenom made good money staging a rodeo in his home town. Nick Kutsch and Lowell Otto, former Iowa gridladers, rode ponies herding cattle in the Omaha stock yards, and Frank Foss of Cornell, former holder of the world's record in the pole vault, was a buyer in the Chicago stock yards."

"Some football squads gather intact at a boys' camp to work out throughout the summer. Various University of Minnesota football men gather at Emil Iverson's camp at Vermillion Lake, Minnesota, and Sonabright, New Jersey, is a rendezvous of Pennsylvania and other Eastern footballers."

Rehearsals of Men's Glee Club Thursday afternoon at one-thirty. —Arthur Stoklins, president.

The first half of the program closed with the combined clubs singing "The Long Day Closes" by Sullivan. This is a comparatively new composition which has become very well known in the last two years and was very effectively presented by the singers.

The second half of the program was opened by the Women's Glee Club with two popular and melodious love songs, "Where My Caravan Has Rested," by Lohr, and "The Moon Goes Drifting," by Grinn. These numbers, being especially well-suited for women's voices, were two of the

The orchestra then played a lively number, "I Gotta Have You," which was followed by the closing selection by the Combined Glee Clubs, Wagner's magnificent "Pilgrim's Chorus" from "Tannhauser." No more fitting number could have been chosen to end this fine program. Sung with the utmost exactness, its soul-stirring climax being developed to the fullest, it left the audience with a feeling that Colby has full reason to be proud of its musical clubs.

DR. BESTOR WILL BE COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Chautauqua President To Deliver Address To Seniors

The address at Colby's 109th Commencement on June 16th will be delivered by Arthur E. Bestor, LL. D., of New York City, who for many years has been president of the Chautauqua Institution, as was recently announced by the Commencement committee. Dr. Bestor is a graduate of the University of Chicago and received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Colgate. He has been a lecturer in the departments of Political Science at Franklin College and the University of Chicago.

During the World War, Dr. Bestor served on the Committee of Public Information as Director of the Speaking Division and also was active in organizing the entertainments and lectures in the training camps as a member of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. He is an educator of note, representing the United States on the council of the World Association for Adult Education and being a member of such bodies as the League for Political Education, National Institute for Social Sciences, American History Association, Academy of Political Science, the Lake Placid Club Educational Foundation; and is on the administrative committee of the Federal Council of Churches.

Dr. Bestor was graduated from the University of Chicago in the class of 1901, is married, has three children, and maintains a home in Chautauqua, New York, as well as in New York City. He belongs to the Delta Upsilon fraternity and the honorary society of Phi Beta Kappa.

Colby Debaters To Meet Violet Team

Next Wednesday evening the Colby affirmative debating team will meet the strong New York University team in the college chapel at 8.15. The N. Y. U. team is making an extended tour through New England and could debate Colby on no other day. On Tuesday they will debate the University of Maine and on the 13th they will meet Middlebury.

Because of the crowded schedule the Colby manager finally decided to hold the debate on Wednesday evening at an hour when the fraternity and sorority meetings will be concluded. A return debate will be held in New York in April when the Colby team returns from the Pi Kappa Delta convention which is to be held in Wichita, Kansas, from March 31 to April 4.

On Friday, March 14, the Clark University team will debate the Colby team here. This is a revival of former forensic relations with Clark which have been discontinued during the last few years.

If present plans materialize the debates which were cancelled last week will be held on next Monday and Tuesday. It is planned to hold the dual debate with Norwich University on Monday, March 10, and the debate with Massachusetts Agricultural College on Tuesday, March 11. The Colby negative team will travel in the event that the debates are held. The question in all of these debates is the official Pi Kappa Delta question: "Resolved, That the nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, excepting such forces as are needed for police purposes."

Last evening upon the request of the University of Maine the dual debate between Maine and Colby which was scheduled for March 18, was postponed until some date in April.

NOTICE.

Representatives of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, acting for the entire Bell System, will be at Colby on Tuesday, March 11, to confer with any seniors who may desire information about the Bell System with a view to seeking employment in it.

On Wednesday, March 12, a representative of the W. T. Grant Company, nation-wide department stores, will be at the College for similar conferences.

Seniors who desire to confer with either of these representatives should make the necessary arrangements by leaving their name at Dean Marriner's office before the end of the present week.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON SPEAKS ON MORALE

Lauds Fine Spirit of Cooperation Between Students and Faculty

President Franklin W. Johnson in his Monday morning address to the men's division spoke generally of the fine morale of Colby students and the apparent spirit of cooperation between students and faculty here.

The president first mentioned the visit of Dr. Eliff to the college several weeks ago. Dr. Eliff is on the faculty at the University of Missouri and is the official college examiner for that section of the country. While at Colby he made a thorough investigation of the administration of every department of the college, visiting classes and studying the entire situation in order to prepare a survey report. The visitor said to President Johnson upon the conclusion of his work here that the morale at Colby was better than at any college he had visited except one. And his survey of the college proved most satisfying in many other respects. Since Dr. Eliff has visited a great number of colleges all over the country, his report was a decided compliment to Colby. By morale the visiting professor meant the obvious attitude of the students toward the better and more serious things of college life. He stated that the Colby student evidenced an earnest purpose to get all that he could out of his education. President Johnson said that he himself had noticed these qualities and was pleased to sum up the general student attitude as one of sincerity.

This aspect of Colby student life has been noticed and commended by the president all through the present college year. It was noticeable first during the football season when the football squad together with the student body took the matter of playing through a hard schedule seriously and gave their utmost to make the season a successful one.

The dramatic performance of "The Queen's Husband" was something of a different sort which also reflected the sincerity and earnestness of Colby students. The most recent exhibition of this spirit was shown in the musical club program last week. This affair was very satisfactory to President Johnson who has received many letters from persons whose opinion (Continued on page 4)

Colby Man Re-elected To Mayor's Office

F. Harold Dubord, who was last Monday re-elected for his third term as Mayor of the City of Waterville by a large majority, is a Colby man

HON. F. HAROLD DUBORD.

In the class of '14, Mr. Dubord was active in undergraduate affairs as leader of the Colby Glee Club for 1912, member of the Dramatic Club two years, and manager-elect for 1913. Mr. Dubord was also an organizer of the "Mystics," the Sophomore honorary society, which was founded in 1912. In addition, Mr. Dubord is a charter member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity of Colby and of the legal fraternity of Phi Delta Phi of Boston University Law School where he studied law after receiving his A. B. from Colby.

For the past seventeen years Mr. Dubord has been prominent in Waterville politics, having been a member of the City Council in 1912; Board of Education, 1918; and City Treasurer and Tax Collector in 1917. He has served as mayor of the city since 1928, when the position was vacated by Professor Herbert C. Libby of the college.

THE ECHO CUP.

Attention is called to the Literary Column on this page in which an anonymous donor announces that a cup—to be called THE ECHO CUP—will be awarded each year to the author of the best verse submitted to the column. The rules governing this award state that the contest will be open to the members of the three underclasses of both divisions. The cup is to be a personal trophy to be retained by the winner for a year until the next contest is closed.

The purpose which actuated the donor to plan such a contest is made clear in the letter of explanation which accompanies the rules. The interest which a large number of contributors have shown—impulsive though it may be—has indicated that there are many undergraduates of the college who have talent and ambition in the literary field. The contest aims to foster such talent and ambition and to stimulate work of a better quality.

The ECHO contest is the only competition that is open to the men—though the women's division has for several years contested for the Mary Lowe Carver Prize. Last year when Norris Potter made a collection of Colby verse which was published in anthology form, several who are now in the undergraduate body of the men's division contributed a rich share. The contest for the ECHO CUP will undoubtedly call forth more talent from seclusion. And the women—it is in their nature to fight for pretty things.

Certainly, the ECHO will take on the new role of sponsor to such a contest. It but commends a worthy cause.

SUGGESTIONS.

Last week the ECHO advanced for President Johnson's consideration the practical suggestion that Colby Songs would be most appropriate and desirable for Assembly singing. We again ask a trial of this proposal and are confident that the administration will give it attention.

we are pointing the method of attack. If there is a betterment to be made, suggest it. Write a letter to the President and outline your plan. Your ideas may be the exact solution.

You say that you are paying the college for an education. Why should you bother yourself in puzzling out its problems? The answer is this—if none but a selfish reason will appeal—that it is only by confronting and attempting to solve a difficult problem that real learning is attained. The process itself is a mental exercise and a good one.

President Johnson awaits practical suggestions.

THE GLORY OF YOUTH.

Youth has sailor's eyes,
And Youth can see beyond the horizon.

Youth has a magic lyre:
And when he strikes the golden, glittering strings,
The music, sad and gay, and full of love,

Is clearly heard on the farthest star.
And he is a mighty warrior:
His body is strong and supple,
And his keen-edged sword

Is as quick as a scurrying mouse.
He has flung his dreams at cities
And leveled them unto dust;
Kings have trembled with fear.
When he lifted his voice in song,
For his singing words have a million fingers

To rip the regal robes from kings.
Youth is naked, and Youth knows
That regal robes are bathed in sweat and blood.

Truly, Youth is a mighty god.
But women are not afraid.
And he can see no guile,
For he has sailor's eyes.
Stay! stay, Youth!
Do not sell your dream
For a harlot's kiss!
Nor the sea-blue of your eyes
For a wise and weary look.

Ye Gladiator Column

Letters in the Gladiator Column are expressions of opinion by individual contributors to that column and the editor assumes no responsibility for any statements, allusions, or assertions made in them. The column is a free-for-all and student contributions are solicited.

Gladiator Dear:

"When the archer misses the center of the target he seeks the cause of his failure within himself," counseled the sage Confucius, President of the American Federation of Chinese Laundry Workers excellent advice, as there is even a chance that one out of 50 million French musicians might be wrong.

If all the hot-air wasted in "fault-finding" articles were put into practice on a musical instrument, even Rudy Vallee would have cause to worry!

Colby supports a musical organization in the fall for anyone who owns an instrument, but they can't expect to be carried all winter. Maybe someone couldn't get in the orchestra because he didn't own a piano!

If some of the boys want to join a charity organization, perhaps the Salvation Army would give someone a job.

Read a few articles from the Gladiator column. It does not take a Sherlock Holmes to see that one need not go "back to the farm" to be a Spanish athlete!

A certain Mr. Fielding is quoted as having said, "Some folks rail other folks because other folks have what some folks would be glad of!"

Most "musicians-of-notes" find that they not only have to read music but have to play it! Timothy-hoy-hoy might think this over and profit thereby.

R. E. Bound.

To the Editor:

Your editorial last week suggesting the use of a Colby song in the assembly is just what I have wanted for a long time. Of course "On to Victory," which is a great football song, would be out of place there, and it is a pity that so few Colby men know any other. "Alma Mater" is a beautiful piece and should be sung at the close of every Colby Night and other college functions. But the song which I have always thought would be fine for daily chapel is "Hail, Colby, Hail." It has a fine old tune, well suited for men's voices, and the words are dignified and appropriate.

Yours for better singing,

Cup To Be Given For Best Verse

Editor of the Colby Echo:

Dear Sir: We have been speaking, my friend and I, of the false modesty of the undergraduate, of the tradition of upper class superiority, and of the reluctance of undergraduate composition. We both feel that we would like to encourage, in some way, undergraduate composition at Colby. Since the columns of the ECHO are especially adapted to the reproduction of verse, we have hit upon the hackneyed idea of offering a silver loving cup for the best poem submitted to the literary column, during the year.

Our only stipulation concerning the cup is that it is to remain at Colby, for we feel that it will promote college spirit to have it always on the campus or in the Colby dormitories. Each year, engraved with the winner's name and the date, it is to be awarded to the student of the three under classes who submits the finest verse to the Literary Editor of the ECHO. It is to remain in the student's possession until it is won the next year.

For judges, we suggest, that the Literary Editor and two members of the faculty, who are known to the students as men or women, sensitive to verbal beauty, and especially interested in the creative aspirations of youth.

To the ECHO board, who are more familiar with rules, appropriate for such a contest, we leave the particulars.

In addition, we ask this favor, that we as beings of little importance in this matter may blush unseen.

An O'nyomous.

The ECHO has drafted the following rules for the ECHO Cup Contest:

1. The ECHO Cup Contest is open to any student of the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes.
2. No poem shall have had previous publication.
3. There is no restriction of subject. The number of lines shall be not less than six or more than 130.
4. Each year the contest shall close May 1.

As judges of the ECHO Cup Contest, the ECHO has selected Professor C. A. Rollins and Professor E. J. Colgan as men most nearly meeting the suggestions of the donors. Mr. Stebbins, this year's literary editor, will serve as the representative of the ECHO Board.

Colby Graduate At Princeton Uni.

Colby college has one graduate at Princeton Theological Seminary this year, it was announced at Princeton today. The Seminary is an institution of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., according to a statement sent out from their publicity bureau.

Practically every leading college in the country has representatives at Princeton this year, the report on enrollment indicates. Among the outstanding colleges with students at Princeton Seminary are Princeton, Columbia, Harvard, Lafayette, Lincoln, Colgate, Westminster, Washington and Jefferson, Pittsburgh, Wheaton, Richmond, Maryville, Lebanon Valley and Asbury.

Fifteen foreign colleges are represented, and six foreign seminaries have also sent students to Princeton. There are seventeen foreign countries, with a total of 37 students, represented at Princeton Seminary this year, as against fifteen foreign lands last year.

The total enrollment is 177. The student from Colby who is studying at Princeton Seminary is Edward Capen Dunbar, who was entered in the class of 1919 and who left college when a sophomore to enlist during the war.

Six Colby Students Attend Conference

Colby was represented by six delegates at the fifth annual joint mid-winter conference held at Poland Springs, February 28 to March 2, for colleges of Eastern New England. John L. Davidson, '31, Richard D. Hall, '33, Robert J. Finch, '33, and Sumner H. Roberts, '33, of the men's division, and Hope R. Pullon, '31, of the women's division made up the delegation.

The theme was, "The Balancing of Thought, Feeling, and Action." The discussion was centralized about a creation of individuality leading to power and efficiency in life. Proportion of beauty and radiance was stated to be an essentiality in developing character.

The religious programs of the various colleges were brought under discussion. Emphasis was placed upon the advisability of practicing a definite type of work. The methods employed at the present time are of but two distinct types. One is to indulge in activities of an immediately practical and resourceful nature. The other is to endeavor along more religious lines for the promotion of ideals leading to a broader and more implicit belief in life. The dominant feature of an individual is creative, and attributable to one source only—his relations. The aims and endeavors of the Christian Associations should be to instigate lines of work in which this moral uplifting and broad outlook can be brought to the fore in our colleges.

The representatives report on the trip that the Poland Springs Conference is of extreme value to the Colby organizations, which are doing a great deal this year in deputation work.

Library Collection Enriched by Artist

The collection of historical material relating to the college has been enriched this last week by the original drawing of a caricature by Atwood of General Benjamin Butler, the famous Civil War general and Massachusetts governor, a graduate of Colby (then Waterville College) in the class of 1838. The sketch was sent to President Johnson by Mr. Charles Hovey Pepper, of the class of 1889, the well-known artist who painted the portrait of President Roberts which hangs in the chapel.

The drawing is the pen-and-ink original which was reproduced in Life many years ago. Mr. F. G. Atwood was for many years one of the staff cartoonists for that magazine. The picture depicts General Butler, clad in night gown, sitting up in bed and talking with great fervor to an angel who is standing upon a cloud at the foot of the bed. The caption has been erased, but may be faintly discerned as "Abou Ben Butler." The drawing is very delicately done and the whole is a most amusing piece of work.

Phi Delt Dining Club Gives Dinner

The Phi Delt Dining Club was formally opened Sunday afternoon, when dinner was served to the chapter and alumni. Doctor John G. Towne furnished the wit of the afternoon admirably assisted by Jack Vigue and Harold Kimball of the alumni. Dan Shanahan, Don Smith, Dutch Bernhardt, Judge Atchley, Charles Baxter and Jack Choate enjoyed themselves to the utmost while the undergraduates were quietly absorbing the abundance of knowledge and humor that was poured forth.

A healthy meal was served by "Chef" and no one had need for further repast the rest of the day.

COLBY BEATS P. A. C. IN OVERTIME PERIOD

Thornton is High Scorer with Wisnoski Best Man on Floor—Flaherty Shines for Visitors

In a thrilling overtime contest in the Alumnae Building last Saturday evening, the Colby basketball team took over the Portland Athletic Club 42 to 33. The Colby quintet thus turned the tables on their opponents and took revenge for the 45-33 trimming received by their hands last week in Portland.

The game was absolutely the best seen in Waterville this season. It proved that Colby has a team capable of playing against any amateur team in the state. The Mules' pass-work was fast and accurate with Langley as guard constantly supplying Thornton and Wisnoski with passes which meant baskets.

The first quarter found the two teams playing on even terms. Both played a five-man defense which was strong enough to prevent the opposing team from getting through to score at close range. Both teams counted six points during the quarter. Plenty of long shots were missed and each team was slow in taking advantage of openings.

The second period was a big one for the collegians. Scoring 14 points to their opponents 6, the Roundy-coached crew completely out-played the Portland club. Thornton and Wisnoski started the fire-works by slipping in a couple and the Colby defense functioned well all through the quarter. The half ended with the college team on the long end of a 20 to 10 score.

The third quarter was the best played of the game with the visitors gradually creeping up to within a couple of points of tieing. In the final period they put on a spurt and with Flaherty doing the heavy part of the scoring, tied the count at 32 all as the game ended.

In the overtime period Colby played rings around the Portland ball tossers and found the baskets for five fields and ten points. The only scoring on the part of the Portland club was a lone point for a foul shot. Thornton again was the shining light in this period and rung in two of the winning baskets.

Doc Edwards, head of the P. T. department of the college, handled the game in an efficient manner and the game was cleanly played throughout. Thornton with 18 points to his credit was easily the best man on the floor and Wisnoski and Flaherty also played a sensational game.

Zetes and K. D. R.'s Win League Games

Two games were played in the interfraternity basketball league Thursday afternoon with the Zetes beating the Theta Kappa Nu's 44 to 20 and the Kappa Delta Rhos winning over the Dekas 20 to 20.

In the first game it was remarkable how the Theta Nus held the powerful Zete quintet in check. At the end of the first half the Zetes were leading only 20 to 21. Crabtree and McNamara both had off days and had difficulty in locating the hoop. Allen and Calhoun played the best game for the losers while McNaughton starred for the winning team.

The second game was loosely played by both teams. After running up a ten-point lead in the first quarter the Kappa Deltas took things easy and with a second string line-up in the game allowed the Dekas to creep up. The first stringers went back in the third quarter but were none too good and the game ended with the Kappa Deltas only nine points ahead. Don Allison was the best man on the floor with twelve points to his credit while Bob Curtis played the best game for the winners.

The league standing remains the same as was announced last week, the Zetes strengthening their hold on third place in the league and the Kappa Deltas by virtue of their win Thursday holding fourth place, for which they were tied last week with the Phi Deltas.

Colby Graduate Dies At Houlton

Mr. Albert K. Stetson, 1907, of Houlton, editor of the Aroostook Pioneer, president of the Maine Press Association and Recorder of the municipal court, dropped dead early yesterday morning.

He collapsed while dancing with Mrs. Stetson the last waltz at the annual ball of the Elks lodge of which he was secretary. Physicians, who were present, said that his death had been instantaneous.

He was 44 years of age. Graduating in the class of 1907 from Colby with an A. B. he became in 1909 Associate Editor of the Aroostook Pioneer. In 1915 he became treasurer of the Pioneer Publishing Company and in 1918 he became editor of the publication. He was one of the most prominent men in Houlton and was influential throughout the state. He was a member of the Board of Education of the town and a trustee of the library. Mr. Stetson is survived by a widow, a daughter and a sister, Mrs. Walter Morse of Houlton.

Women Musicians Give Chapel Program

The program in chapel on Tuesday, March 4 was presented by several of the talented musicians among the girls. The first number was a piano solo by Pauline Russell, who played a classical composition with great skill and unusual feeling. Vivian Russell then sang the lovely lyric, "I Heard You Singing." She was accompanied by Helen Paul. The final number on the program was a popular song played exceedingly well by the "Colby Women's Orchestra," which consists of Marian Lewis, drums, Ruth Brown, saxophone, Stephanie Bean, violin, and Viola Rowe, piano.

In a preliminary announcement Dean Rannels said that Mrs. Manter would again be present in chapel on Saturday, and urged a large attendance. Mrs. Manter has consented to come once a month for the remainder of the year to lead the girls in singing.

Alpha Sigma Delta Holds Initiation

The Gamma chapter of the Alpha Sigma Delta sorority held its second annual initiation and banquet on Saturday, March 1. Twenty-five attended the banquet, which was held at the Elmwood Hotel.

Table decorations were large bouquets of yellow jonquils and white carnations, and yellow candles in silver candlesticks. Favors were hammered silver Alpha Sigma Delta seal rings.

The toasts were given by speakers who fitted their themes to the court titles conferred upon them by the toastmistress, Miss Mildred M. Pond, '30, the court jester. Pauline S. Gay, '31, welcomed the group. The following titles were given the speakers: Herald, Dorothy A. Powers, '33; page, Ethel A. Watt, '32; queen of hearts, Flora H. Trussell, '31; queen's crown, Edith M. Woodward, '30; queen of diamonds, Jessie G. Alexander, '29; choragus, Barbara Heath, '31. Janet D. Locke, '31, sang two solos, "Just Like the Dawn," and "Just A-Wearin' For You." Mrs. E. J. Colgan, a patroness of the sorority, gave an informal talk, emphasizing this truth—that one gets out of any organization just what she puts into it. The speeches were given between courses.

Dancing and singing of popular, college, and sorority songs followed the banquet.

Those initiated this year into the sorority are: Lois E. Dean, '33, of Westboro, Mass.; Ina F. Hussey, '31, of Vassalboro; Eleanor E. King, '30, of Augusta; Frances E. Libby, '31, of Richmond; Beatrice Mullen, '30, of Corinna; and Dorothy A. Powers, '33, of South Danbury, N. H.

Alumnae present at the initiation and banquet were Claire A. Crosby, '25, of Kingfield; Jennie L. Nutter, '26, and Geraldine Priest, '26, of Hinckley; Ena Page, '28, of Tenants Harbor; Jessie G. Alexander, '29; and Marion D. Cooke, ex-'31, of York; Alice B. Jewett, '29, of Head Tide; and Methy F. Page, ex-'31, of Waterville.

The banquet committee was made up of Evelyn L. Bell, '31, Ada M. Cram, '31, and Flora H. Trussell, '31.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON SPEAKS.

are valued to the effect that the concert was an exceptionally fine one.

This evidence of sincerity has been noticed in the chapel this year according to President Johnson and others who have spoken in chapel during the year. This was one of the outstanding items that Dr. Bliff made mention of in his report.

The type of student that Colby attracts was then discussed by the president. It seemed to him that the type of student drawn to Colby was the sincere, earnest student, who came to college not for a good time alone, but with the main purpose to make his life richer and better. The men at Colby who are outstanding in their respective groups offer a fine basis for the judgment of the Colby type. The president said that he would be willing to let a rating of the college be made on the representation of the class presidents, the team captains, the fraternity leaders and those who are at the top in the other activities of the college.

President Johnson then told of the days when he was an undergraduate at Colby and said that it was true then as it is now that the most suc-

NOTICE.

Professor Cecil A. Rollins will speak at the meeting of the Dramatic Club to be held in Alumnae Hall Friday night at seven o'clock, on the subject of "Play Production." This is an open meeting and anyone, man or woman, who is interested is cordially invited to attend. Those who attend are requested to bring note books and pens.

There will be a meeting of Kappa Phi Kappa, Thursday evening, at the Kappa Delta Rho house. An initiation will be conducted and all members are urged to be present.

There will be a meeting of the Mystics, sophomore honorary society, Friday at 7.30 in the college chapel. Red Williamson urges all junior members to attend.

Successful men in after life are those men who were the best men in their classes when in college. He gave several examples of alumni who were leaders in college and who were now influential in their professions. On the other hand those who were not outstanding in college were most likely not to be outstanding after graduation.

In connection with this thought the president spoke at some length on the character of ex-President Taft who was an outstanding man in his class at Yale. He was extremely popular and was known by nearly every undergraduate. His room was a meeting-place for the leaders of the college and formed the nucleus for nearly all of the undergraduate activity while he was a student. But Taft, though he was a hail-fellow-well-met, maintained his earnest purpose to do well in his studies and with this purpose reserved a good portion of his time for serious work in his courses.

Portugal. He comes to the United States with a splendid reputation as a concert artist and teacher. In the short space of a year he has established himself as one of Boston's leading musicians. Mr. Da Costa is an exponent of the folk music of Portugal, and he is an authority on Portuguese musical tradition. Part of Mr. Da Costa's programme will include a group of the folksongs of Portugal.

Concerning the series as a whole, the secretary of the concert board said this morning: "The success of the Colby Concert Series is due to the large and enthusiastic support of the student body. We have tried to bring to Colby something of lasting value, and present it to Colby and to Waterville in a dignified manner, relying on the merit of the movement itself to furnish the momentum to carry it through. The various committee chairmen have done their work well and to them we are indebted for the carrying out of this project."

Miss Eleanor Rogers, chairman of the women's ticket committee stated this week that the women's division of the college has supported the series with practically one hundred per cent attendance. Miss Rogers organized the student sale of tickets and assisted in the planning and carrying out of the series. She is a member of the Sigma Kappa sorority.

"Nowhere is the color or racial line more closely drawn than on the campus; nowhere are opinions more easily formed or actions molded; nowhere can militaristic fervor or racial prejudice be initiated with less effort."—Carnegie Tartan quoted in What the Colleges are Doing. Is this the situation among the students of Colby?

Reality.
