

PROFESSOR BROOKE PHI BETA SPEAKER

Prominent Yale Teacher
And Noted English
Scholar to Be Here
April 4th

Professor Tucker Brooke of Yale University will be the guest of the Colby chapter of Phi Beta Kappa and will deliver an address at their annual banquet on April 4th, according to an announcement made today by Professor Carl J. Weber, secretary of the chapter. Seven members of the senior class at Colby will be initiated into the society at this occasion and there will be present delegates from the other Maine colleges, as well as members of the Colby chapter and their guests.

Professor Brooke is perhaps the most prominent member of the department of English literature of the

PROF. TUCKER BROOKE.

Graduate School of Yale University, being an authority on Christopher Marlowe and other Elizabethans. He is editor of the Yale Shakespeare editions and author of several scholarly books upon this period of literature. After graduating from the University of West Virginia in 1901, he went to Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar, being the first to be chosen from that university. He has been at Yale since 1909, with the exception of the year 1920, when he was Exchange Professor at the University of London. These facts indicate that Professor Brooke, will meet the high standard which has been set for Colby Phi Beta Kappa addresses in recent years.

Chi Omega Initiation Held At Elmwood

The Colby chapter of the Chi Omega sorority held its twenty-sixth annual banquet last evening at the Elmwood hotel. The banquet was preceded by a tea in the sorority hall Friday afternoon.

Miss Doris Hardy, '25, toastmistress, introduced the following speakers by stanzas, the first letters of which spelled the word "Loyalty": Viola Rowe, '32, choragus; Mary K. Waggatt, '30, president of the sorority; Carola M. Loos, '33, freshman speaker; A. Stephanie Bean, '31, junior speaker; Helen A. Simmons, '32, sophomore speaker; Rena J. Mills, '30, senior speaker; Ethel M. Weeks, '14, alumni speaker. There were impromptu speeches by the delegates from the University of Maine and the University of New Hampshire.

The fourteen initiates are Florence Benton Allen, Portland; Jane Colburn Bolcher, Maplewood, N. J.; Florence Edna Blodgett, Andover, Mass.; Alma Scott Fones, Meriden, Conn.; Norma Lillian Fuller, Waterville; Barbara Caroline Hamlin, Milo; Katherine Phyllis Holmes, Calais; Barbara Elizabeth Johnson, Waterville; Barbara Burrell Keene, Clinton; Carol Maynard Loos, East Orange, N. J.; Anne Orlenton Nilsson, Waterville; Marjorie Louise Rolx, Waterville; Faith Rollins, Waterville; Ruth Louise Weston, Keene, N. H.

The following alumnae attended the banquet: Mrs. Frances Tweedie Groux, Portland; Eleanor P. Taylor, Vassalboro; Cornelia Adair, Brownville Junction; Marjorie M. Pierce, Oakland; Mrs. Clara Carter Wobor, Mrs. Ethel Morrill Weeks, Mrs. Harriet B. Rogers, the Misses Doris W. Hardy, II. Hope Chase, Claire J. Richardson, Mary Warren, Flora Harriman, Grace Morrill, and Frances Nason of Waterville.

Shows Students Part It Plays
In Modern Business

Continuing the bi-weekly series of vocational lectures, Omar K. Bradbury, local portrait photographer, gave an instructive talk of the vocation of photography in the college chapel before the regular Assembly of the men's division Friday morning.

Mr. Bradbury is a graduate of Colgate University and has studied photography for a number of years. During the war he served in the army in special aerial-photography work. He is the director of the Preble Studio in Waterville at the present time.

Mr. Bradbury began his talk by telling some interesting facts in regard to the history of photography. In 1827 the first picture was taken by photographic means but it required eight hours for the exposure and was far from being practical. But in 1839 Daguerre, a French inventor, made what is recognized as the first real photographic exposure. In this shot the lens were open but six minutes and from this start the daguerotype was developed and became generally known. From that point the industry expanded rapidly until today there are over a hundred different classifications of the business, and an exposure can be made in one one-thousandth part of a second. Recently the projectiles from large guns have been photographed, taking the ten-thousandth part of a second for the operation. Photography in Waterville was started about 75 years ago by Simon Wing.

There are a few differences in conditions for photography now from the conditions of 75 years ago. The first years of picture taking were spent in working under adverse conditions. Lighting was very poor and instead of the powerful electrical equipment that is now used there was nothing but candles and oil to be used after dark. The organization of the business of photography has changed considerably in recent years. Instead of an infinite number of studios, all separately owned and operated, there are chains of studios, efficiently operated under a general head.

Mr. Bradbury went on to explain to the students the vast business of photography today. He especially mentioned the fields of advertising and motion picture photography. He mentioned the difficulties encountered by the studio manager in the business of taking personal portraits and spoke humorously about experiences that he had met with in taking pictures of children.

The speaker finished his interesting talk by telling of the several opportunities in the profession today and of the chances opened to college graduates in the various fields of photography.

DEBATING TEAM TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Three Men Will Attend
Gathering of Forensic Society

The Colby debating team will leave Wednesday, March 26, to attend the biennial Pi Kappa Delta convention which is to be held this year at Wichita, Kansas, from March 31st to April 4th, as was announced today by Professor Herbert C. Libby. The men who have been selected to make the trip are Norman D. Palmer, '30; F. Donald Poulin, '31; and Harold F. Lemoine, '32.

This is the first time since 1922

that a Colby debating team has traveled such a distance as will be covered by these men next week. It is estimated that the team will travel over 4000 miles and will pass through ten different states.

The debating team will leave Waterville at 8.25 A. M., Wednesday morning, and will take the Minute Man Express from Boston at 3 P. M.

On Friday afternoon the Colby debaters will leave St. Louis, where they will go enroute to Emporia, Kansas. On Saturday the 29th, the Colby men will debate the college of Emporia, upholding the negative of the disarmament question. After being entertained by that institution, the team will journey to Wichita.

The Colby team will debate at least five teams at the convention. Besides participating in the debating contest, two of the men will enter the other two contests which are conducted by Pi Kappa Delta, namely the oratorical contest, and the extempore speaking contest. Norman D. Palmer will represent Colby in the former, and Harold F. Lemoine in the latter. Palmer has the choice of any subject in his contest, while Lemoine is limited under the general subject of "College Athletics." An hour before the contest is to be held the contestants draw sub topics and in that allotted time they must prepare a ten-minute speech on the subject which they have drawn.

The delegates to the convention will probably number four to five hundred and will represent 130 colleges and universities who are members of Pi Kappa Delta. The headquarters for the convention delegates is to be at the Hotel Broadview. Through special arrangement with the manager of this hotel all delegates will be able to be under one roof. Wichita University is the host of the 1930 convention. It is in these college buildings that the debates and contests will be held.

The convention will close with a banquet on the evening of April 4th. On the following night the Colby team will support the negative side of the disarmament question against a team representing St. Louis University. Then on the next day the Colby men will commence their return journey.

Representatives from twenty-five colleges attended the conference, coming from as far west as Pennsylvania and as far

PRESIDENT JOHNSON SPEAKS ON PROMINENT COLBY ALUMNI

Shows The Growing Demand There Is For Small College Graduate

President Franklin W. Johnson spoke to the men Monday morning in his regular weekly assembly address.

He told first about some of the recent alumni meetings that he has attended in New York and Boston. From all that President Johnson observed there of Colby graduates, it was brought to his attention that Colby is adjusting itself to the demands of modern times. This is more or less of a direct contrast with Colby in the old days although it is the times that have changed and not Colby, the speaker declared. The man who has been out of college thirty or forty years is the typical Colby graduate of the old type. Looking at this group the president found that for the most part they were teachers, lawyers of the general type, ministers, and doctors. In Boston Colby has three or four men in prominent educational positions and one superintendent of schools in greater Boston. All over New England, in fact, Colby is well represented in the field of education. There are also a large number of ministers and lawyers among the older graduates.

But coming down to the graduate of but ten or a dozen years ago, the president noticed a change in the general type of Colby alumni. They represent a broader field of activity and have broken away from the old professions to a marked degree. There are several of the more recent graduates engaged in the banking business in various positions. There are lawyers, and these lawyers are not the same sort of lawyers as those of the older alumni type. To illustrate the difference President Johnson spoke of Neil Leonard, a Colby graduate of recent years who is engaged as a lawyer with the Shell Union Company.

He is in the industrial department and is an example of the highly specialized type of lawyer today. In journalism also Colby men are outstanding, as Ben Holbrook on the staff of the Boston Globe and others on the staff of the Boston Transcript.

A very marked change is seen in the unlimited field of business. Within the last week the American Telephone and Telegraph Company has offered positions to four men in the senior class and the W. T. Grant Company has offered positions to six men of the senior class. This speaks well for the college, as it is not certain as yet that any of the other Maine colleges have been so honored. There is more "breadth of experience, contact, and occupation for Colby now," declared the president. The college then has expanded to meet the needs of modern life.

"Thirty or forty years ago," said the President, "The state colleges began to grow and to become important in the educational system of the nation." They grew rapidly and reached so high a peak that it was thought that the small college had receded in importance. Some of the small colleges (Continued on page 3)

Freshman Society Recommendations

The Upsilon Beta society, representing the general opinion of the class of 1932, wishes to express itself on the question of freshman-sophomore relations.

The society would recommend that the method of enforcing Freshman rules used in 1928-29, which had as prominent features a Phi Chi society composed of the entire Sophomore class, and a system of weekly razors, be permanently changed to the following system.

1. The formation of a Phi Chi society, to consist of two representatives from the Sophomore class of each fraternity, and two from the non-fraternity group.

a. The Sophomore class president to act as one of the delegates from his fraternity and president of the society.

b. These delegates to be elected by the groups they represent, rather than selected by the class president.

c. The members of this society to have complete control of enforcing Fresh rules.

2. Bloody Monday night to be preserved as the only general razor for the Freshman class.

3. The rules to last until the banquet has been successfully staged, or in the event that it is unsuccessful, until Thanksgiving.

(The society would defend the present policy of a short, intensive period of strict observance, rather than a longer one which would make for greater laxity both in enforcement and observation of the rules.)

The proposed system was given a trial by the present Sophomore class, and deemed worthy of further trial and development.

The code of Freshman rules should stand as it is with the following minor modifications.

1. The rule regarding tipping the hat should be changed to "baring the head."

2. Seniority should be more strictly observed between the classes as units (as in the order of filing from Assembly).

The Fresh hat now used should not be changed for a new type of cap. It is peculiar to this college and is an institution.

Finally, the society would like to see instituted several competitions between the two lower classes, after the manner of push-ball contests and canoe races.

Dean Announces Dormitory Rules

Details of the freshman dormitory system to be in effect next fall were announced Monday by Dean Ernest C. Marriner. Beginning with the first semester of 1930-31, all freshman men, except those who commute daily between their homes and the college, will be required to room in one of the college dormitories. This announcement was made early in the year in the current college bulletin. Several details in regard to fraternities that own their own houses still remain to be settled and President Johnson stated Monday that adjustments would be made to make the system fair to all.

In the new system Hedman Hall and Roberts Hall will be reserved for use by men of the freshman class and each will be in the charge of a resident instructor who will have a suite of rooms in the hall. The buildings will be extensively renovated and the rates of room rents will be somewhat increased on a sliding scale, corresponding to the relative desirability of the rooms.

"It is expected," said Dean Marriner, "that the new system will have an integrating effect upon the freshman class and give them one year of close fellowship before they scatter among the various fraternity houses."

Non-fraternity men who are this year residing in the college dormitories have been informed of this change in order that they may make their plans for next year accordingly. The administration realizes the inconvenience which the new system will cause to the present upperclassmen, but they believe that the principle is right and that the students will be broadminded enough to see the action in the light in which it was conceived.

The spring schedule of social affairs as was released by Dean Ernest C. Marriner today is as follows:

April 11	(Friday)	Phi Delta Theta Dance.
April 18	(Friday)	Theta Kappa Nu Dance.
April 25	(Friday)	Lambda Chi Alpha Dance.
May 2	(Friday)	Lyford Spunking.
May 3	(Saturday)	Alpha Delta Pi Tea Dance.
May 6	(Friday)	Zeta Psi Dance.
May 13	(Friday)	Junior Prom.
May 20	(Friday)	Alpha Tau Omega Dance.
May 27	(Thursday)	Delta Upsilon Dance.
May 30	(Friday)	Kappa Delta Rho Dance.

FRAT WINNER WILL BE CROWNED THURSDAY

Game Promises To Be Close With No Favorite Apparent

The Colby interfraternity basketball league will be brought to a close tomorrow evening at 7.30 when the Alpha Tau Omega team meets the Delta Upsilon quintet in the Alumnæ Building for the college title.

As things look now there is just about a 50-50 chance for each team. Were it not for the fact that John Wisnoski, generally recognized to be the best of the hoopsters at Colby, was in the hospital and unable to play, the D. U.'s would have a decided advantage. But with Wisnoski out of the lineup the Delta Upsilon crew will have to work wonders to beat the strong Alpha Tau five. Without Wisnoski, Waldo Slosek, diminutive forward for the D. U.'s is not so brilliant and the entire passwork of the D. U.'s will be upset considerably. However they have two reliable men to fall back on in the persons of "Cracker" Thornton and Andy Klusick. Thornton has been a shining light in the D. U. offense for the last three years as forward and center. Andy Klusick is easily the best defensive man in the college and has been the defensive mainstay of his team for four years. The rest of the Delta Upsilon team will be made up of Slosek and Keay at forwards and Hank Pearson playing guard with Klusick.

The Alpha Tau Omega team did not start out so well at the start of the season but the team has improved with every game and they have been fortunate in not having any men injured during the season. The A. T. O. outfit will be the heavier of the teams tomorrow night and it will be a case of the fast, snappy D. U. offense opposed to the slow, deliberate method of attack used by the A. T. O.'s who will probably put up the best defensive game of the two teams. The Alpha Taus, were reinforced after midyears with the return to college of Shorty Davis, keen-eyed forward who played a major role last year in the downfall of the D. U.'s.

The hope of the A. T. O.'s lies greatly with Tom Langley, big forward who has proved himself to be one of the best all around courtmen in the league both this season and last. Langley and Davis work well together at the forward berths and can be counted on for some good teamwork under the hoop. Big Snub Pollard will be jumping center for the A. T. O.'s but will have all that he can handle in playing against Thornton.

A. T. O.'s guards will probably be "Woppy" Deetjen and Joe Yuknis with Mose Johnstone almost certain of seeing some service. Deetjen has not played with the team very much throughout the season but is an experienced, valuable man and his long shots are sure to count. Yuknis is a steady, accurate passer and has played a consistent game for the last two seasons. Coaches Roundy and Millett will referee the Thursday night encounter.

Looking back over the past season it is hard to compare the two teams because the D. U.'s with Wisnoski and without are two different teams. The A. T. O.'s just managed to squeeze out a win over the Kappa Deltas in the last minute whereas the D. U.'s wallowed this same outfit by over thirty points—but Wisnoski dropped in no less than 28 counters in this same clash. The A. T. O.'s took over the Phi Delta five easily enough while the D. U.'s without Wisnoski this time, beat out the same team in the last half by none too large a margin.

The interfraternity league has had a successful season and some close games have been played. The general run of games leaves as last year, the final game to decide the title. Only last year the A. T. O.'s had to win in order to tie for the championship which they did 37 to 35 in as hard fought a battle as the college has seen for some time. The non-fraternity team defeated the A. T. O.'s last year but the latter team is undefeated thus far this season.

Phi Delta Theta has dropped a couple of notches this year for the first time in several years. They fared no better than a .500 average this season with four games won and four lost. The Zeta Psi team made out much better than in past years by taking third place in the standing with six games won and two lost. The K. D. R. outfit had a better team than usual this season and came from seventh place last year to fourth this year. With the loss of Wisnoski and Slosek, non-fraternity players last year, the non-frats were hopelessly out of the running and lost every game. The standing before the championship game:

	Played	Won	Lost
Delta Upsilon	7	7	0
Alpha Tau Omega	7	7	0
Zeta Psi	8	6	2
K. D. R.	8	5	3
P. D. T.	8	4	4
L. C. A.	8	3	5
T. K. N.	8	2	6
D. K. E.	8	1	7
Non-Frat.	8	0	8

Although playing with a seventh place team Harry Williams of the Lambda Chi leads the scorers for the year not considering the final game. He has played a heavy scoring role in nearly every game to pile up 63 field baskets and 16 foul goals for a total of 142 points. Williams had his best days against the Zetes, Dekes and Non-frats, piling up 27 counters against the Zetes and scoring 26 points in each of the other two games. Wisnoski would probably have won the individual scoring crown except for his injury keeping him out of two games. He accounted for 60 field baskets and eight fouls for 128 points to take the runnerup honors unless Thornton augments his total of 103 points against the A. T. O.'s. The ten leading scorers:

	Field	Foul	Tl.
Williams, L. C. A.	63	16	142
Wisnoski, D. U.	60	8	128
Thornton, D. U.	49	5	103
Slocum, K. D. R.	35	3	73
Crabtree, Z. P.	29	8	66
Hansen, P. D. T.	28	6	62
Langley, A. T. O.	27	6	60
Ferguson, P. D. T.	22	6	50
Stewart, K. D. R.	20	9	49
D. Allison, D. K. E.	21	7	49

With but few more games left to bowl in the interfraternity league the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity has a good lead, with Delta Upsilon in a sure second place. No records were broken in the matches run off last week. The standing of the league after last week's results is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Lambda Chi	48	8
Delta Upsilon	40	12
A. T. O.	34	14
Kappa Delta Rho	29	29
Dekes	27	29
Non Frats	19	33
Zetes	18	34

PRESIDENT JOHNSON.

leges then attempted, very foolishly, to imitate the large university in its practices. At the present time the situation is somewhat reversed as the larger universities are endeavoring to divide their departments so as to bring about more unity and compactness. The best examples of this tendency is the recent Harkness' gifts to Harvard and Yale.

Some of the small colleges, as Colby, have maintained their old ways and refused to change when the period of the large university was at its height. Colby has kept to the old ideals and traditions for which it was founded and it is now proclaimed by business men throughout the country that the best training for the life after college is a general education obtained at a liberal arts college. "It should be our purposes and aim at Colby today," said the speaker, "to make our college better with what we have. We want, not a bigger Colby, but a better Colby." He mentioned other small colleges which were typical of what educators consider the ideal small college—Swarthmore, Antioch, and Middlebury.

President Johnson went on to tell of numerous cases where men in cities desire to send their sons to small colleges situated out of the city rather than to large city universities. He cited the case of a prominent educator at Leland Stanford University who recently told President Johnson that he was considering sending his son to Colby. A member of the staff of Columbia University also talked to the Colby president about sending his son to Dr. Johnson's college.

In the concluding part of his address, the president brought out the fact that the students of Colby should exert themselves to develop the college as it is and to concentrate their efforts on a better Colby, not a bigger Colby.

President Franklin W. Johnson was the sponsor at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Waterville, Monday evening. His subject was on the general topic of education, speaking in particular on that part of education which has to do with health. President Johnson told in a very interesting way of the great improvements that have been made in the teaching of health habits in the public schools of the country and of how it will result in much improved conditions later in life. He also discussed the value of athletics, stating that we are placing too much emphasis upon the winning of the game and not enough upon the playing of the game for the value of it in health building. Dr. Johnson told of his visits to several schools where the new kind of health education was being given and of the interest that the young people took in it.

He showed how the habits learned at that time would result in good habits continued to old age. He then discussed the English system of athletics as compared with the American system, saying that the Englishman played the games that he could keep up through life, and that the games of the English seemed too slow for the American. He made a plea for more interest in the training of the body for better health.

DEBATING TEAM ON TRIP.

steps connected with the trip is a means through which the expenses of the trip are to be partly financed. Under the auspices of Pi Kappa Delta an old fashioned "spelling bee" is to be held in Alumnae Hall next Wednesday evening between Waterville and Winslow High schools. A small admission will be charged, and the proceeds will be used to defray expenses incurred on the cross-country trip.

Norman D. Palmer, '30, of Hinkley, is the veteran debater on the team having participated in forensic work for the last three years. He is this year's president of Pi Kappa Delta, Maine Alpha chapter of the national forensic society. He graduated from Good Will High school in 1926, where he had participated for two years in high school debating. He won the first freshman scholarship for men, and took second prize in the freshman speaking contest of 1927. He has been on a winning team in the Murray Prize Debate and has been a contestant in the Hallowell Prize Speaking Contest. During his sophomore year he won the German Prize. He was the speaker for Colby at the Maine College Economic Conference held at Augusta, and was a delegate to the sixth Personnel Conference of the Department of Education and Vocational held at the University Club in Boston last year. He is a member of the N. E. Field Council of the Y. M. C. A.

He has been on the Honor Roll and Dean's List for the four years he has been in college and is this year one of the four honor students who has been selected to do independent work during the second semester. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa at the end of the first semester this year. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

F. Donald Poulin, '31, of Fairfield, is the junior member and second speaker on the team. He was graduated from Lawrence High School in 1927. He took part in debating in high school as well as in other forensic work such as dramatics and prize speaking. He was a representative and a prize winner at the Lyford Contest of 1927. He participated in and won honors in the Hamlin Prize Speaking Contest during his freshman year at Colby. During his sophomore year he was a participant in both the Hallowell and the Goodwin Prize Speaking contests. He has been a regular member of the varsity debating team for the last two years. He is the secretary-treasurer of Pi Kappa Delta, forensic society, and a member of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity.

Harold F. Lemoine, '32, of Kennebunk, is the sophomore member of the team. He is the manager of debate for the college debating teams this year and is a member of Pi Kappa Delta of which he was secretary-treasurer last year. He has been on the debating team for the two years he has been at Colby. He won the Lyford Prize Speaking Contest in 1928. He has participated in the Hallowell and the Goodwin Prize Speaking contests. He attended Boston University for one semester before coming to Colby and received some of his public speaking training there. This last season he took a leading role in the first college dramatic production "The Queen's Husband," with good success. He has been active also in deputation work for the college Y. M. C. A. He is a member of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity.

Colby Debaters Win Two Close Decisions

Colby was the winner in two intercollegiate debates last week, the affirmative team receiving a 2 to 1 decision of the judges over the strong New York University team last Wednesday evening, and the negative team winning by unanimous vote of the judges against Clark University last Friday evening. The question in both debates was the official Pi Kappa Delta question of the year: "Resolved, That the nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament excepting such forces as are needed for police protection."

The Colby team in the debate with New York University was made up of Norman D. Palmer, '30, of Hinkley, Frederick R. Knox, '31, of Concord, N. H., and Harold F. Lemoine, '32, of Kennebunk. In this debate Palmer delivered an excellent rebuttal which had much to do in winning the decision of the judges. Lemoine was also outstanding for Colby with his main speech in which he outlined the plan for disarmament. This was the first intercollegiate debate in which Knox has participated and the winning of it makes him eligible for membership in Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic honorary society.

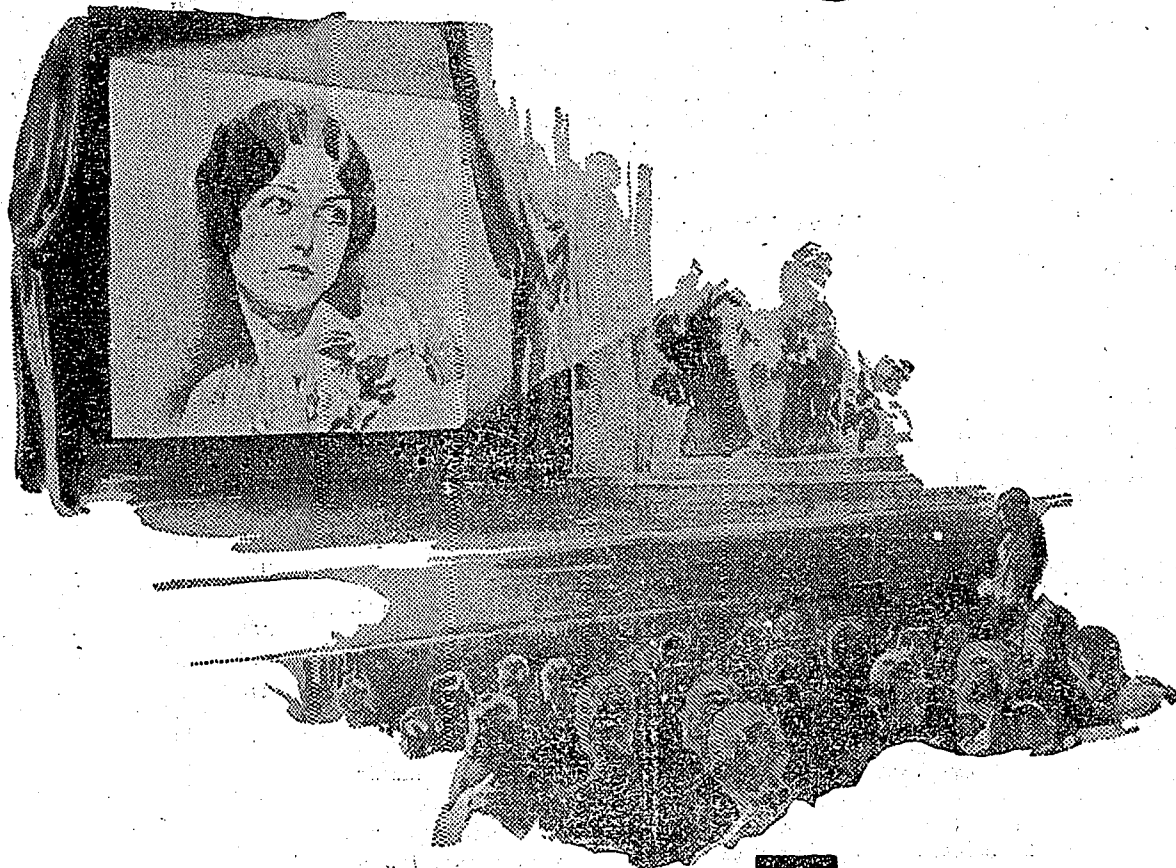

The New York University team was as follows: Arthur Kreidman, Harold Friedman, and Bernard Strauss. All were clever and effective speakers and it was judged that they outpointed the Colby team in speaking merits while Colby won the decision by presenting the better argument.

The judges were: Rev. Leonard J. Campbell of Fairfield; George D. Harty, of Waterville; and Rev. J. S. Pendleton, of Waterville.

Following the victory of the Colby affirmative team over New York University, Wednesday evening, the negative team opposed and defeated the affirmative team from Clark University last Friday evening. The question was the same that had been used in the previous debate, "Resolved, That the nations should adopt a plan of disarmament excepting such forces as are needed for police protection."

The Colby team was an entirely different one from that which opposed N. Y. U. and consisted of Rupert L. Loring, '31, of Center Ossipee, N. H.; Arthur T. Wasserman, '33, of Boston; and George F. Sprague, '31, of Danforth. The Clark University team was represented by John J. Moran, George Howarth, and Edward B. Brady, who spoke in the order given. Professor William J. Wilkinson of the History department of the college presided over the debate.

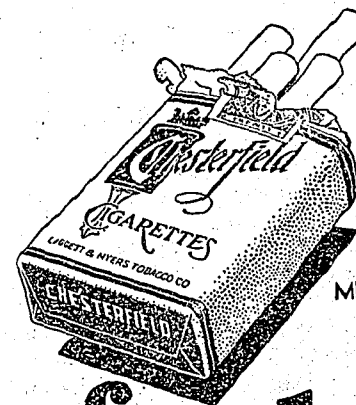

This debate was easily a victory for the Colby team which excelled by far the Clark team in both preparation and speaking ability. Sprague was probably the outstanding speaker for the Colby team while Loring and Wasserman showed fine ability also. All three men are now at debating and this is the first intercollegiate contest that any of them has participated in. The winning will make each of them eligible for membership in Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic honorary society. Mr. Brady with his final speech for the Clark team was the best speaker for the affirmative side. The board of judges was made up of Hon. Ernest B. Finkmore of Waterville, Rev. Lester L. Lewis, of Waterville, and Hugh Travers of Waterville. The time keepers were Norman D. Palmer, '30, and Harold F. Lemoine, '32, members of the Colby affirmative team.

...on the screen it's CHARM!...in a cigarette it's TASTE!

"MERIT IS SURE to rise." Make a cigarette of better quality, of richer aroma and finer fragrance—and all the world will find it out.

Witness Chesterfield's popularity, growing every day. No flash in the pan, but enduring popularity—earned by giving smokers the one thing they want:
