

PRESIDENT JOHNSON SPEAKS ON THE PROGRESS AND PITFALLS IN EDUCATION

College Head Bases First Speech to Students in Long
While on Lectures by Sir Michael Sadler

President Franklin W. Johnson addressed the men's division in chapel last Monday morning for the first time in several weeks and spoke on a very interesting and instructive subject. He spoke on the general subject of progress and pitfalls in secondary education and gathered his material from a lecture given by Sir Michael Sadler, a member of the British commission to study educational systems in other countries and also the president of University College at Oxford.

A brief comparison was made between the students of Europe and those who visit Europe as the Americans. The American students gain by mixing with the students of France, England and Germany and the European students also gain from their contact with the American students. The German student is a particularly keen observer, is quick witted and now is able to express himself in English unusually well. He likes art and is appreciative of good literature. On the other hand the American student is somewhat lacking perhaps in intellectual pursuits and interests but is more practical and has established the reputation in Europe of being quite capable of handling the situation, no matter how difficult, in a straightforward, earnest, businesslike manner. This trait is very much admired in England and other nations and is the marked characteristic of the American student in Europe.

The speaker then went on to mention some of the changes in education which have pervaded the world in general during the last few years. Expansion has been the marked feature. There has been also a tendency to move groups nearer together for purposes of more efficient education in the secondary schools. In England the term "secondary" is used to apply to all educational systems including the school that we call "college" in this country. In England this tendency towards compactness is becoming more and more noticeable every day.

Several years ago education was more or less confined to the higher classes and those of high birth or of wealthy parentage were the only ones allowed to gain the benefits of a college or university education, especially in England. Then the change came about gradually towards more democracy in education and the gates of the colleges were no longer barred because of lack of high birth or lack of money. America was the pioneer in this movement and is the outstanding example in the world today of a nation of democracy in educational ideas. England has changed somewhat from her old position of education only for the higher class but has in no way kept step with this country in this respect.

The speaker then brought Colby into the subject of his remarks and endeavored to relate this college to the best type of American college of today. The latest cry in education today is: "Education must produce an elite." The president spoke of the conflicting views of what the outside world looked for in a college graduate. Some looked on the average graduate as typical of the output of the American college while others maintained that the outstanding men from each class in each college must be the subject of their opinions and judgements. This idea of the desire of the elite in the college graduate is a very recent one and the term must not be taken to mean what is often

He is a normal man in hockey, a member of Upsilon Beta, freshman honorary society, and a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity. ## RIHANI VERSED ON NEAR EAST

Has Had Wide Experience
In International Affairs

Ameen Rihani, noted Arabian lecturer and poet, who is to speak at Colby on May 6 under the auspices of the college Y. M. C. A. has delivered addresses and lectures in many colleges and universities throughout the United States. The International Relationship Committee of the "Y" considers it fortunate that a man of so great experience and reputation has been secured to speak to a Colby audience.

Ameen Rihani is a man thoroughly familiar with not only the Near and Middle East, but with his occidental hearers and readers and their environment.

Brought by his father to New York from their Syrian home at Fricke, while but ten years of age, Rihani early experienced the rigors of a struggling immigrant family. From the tawdry surroundings in Washington street and the meaningless routine of his father's shop, he found a refuge in books bought at second hand stores with scanty savings. At seventeen he sought escape with a travelling stock company which ran out of funds in the middle west. Two years later he was admitted to the New York Law School, but the state of his health was precarious and his physicians advised his return to his native land.

There followed five years of study of his native tongue, largely forgotten during the ten years of his sojourn in America, of wide reading in the Arabian classics, of writing in both Arabian and English, both of prose and poetry. Following his return to this country he pursued his career as a writer and interpreter of two cultures, adding to his acute insight a facility of expression which has brought him wide recognition.

In 1922 Rihani set out upon a trip through the countries of the Near East, not as an observer merely, but with the hope of bringing about an understanding between the rival Arab kings which should result in the cessation of conflict among them and the building up of a united Arab Empire, autonomous and presenting a concerted opposition to occidental encroachments. King Hussein of the Hedjaz came down from Mecca to Jeddah to spend three weeks with Rihani, talking over his problems with the greatest intimacy. The Imam Yahia acceded to Rihani full military honors and after several long interviews empowered him to negotiate a treaty with the ruler of Hedjaz.

Then Asir, just north of Jaman, received him with equal fervor, after which he made his way against many obstacles, both of terrain and climate, as well as those imposed by the British, to Ibn Saud, the ruler of the great central portion of Arabia known as the Nejd. Then north to the British mandated territory of Iraq and west to his native Syria, where he watched Arab nationalism rise in rebellion against the French mandatory authorities. Sources of information which would never be accessible to European travellers were everywhere open to him, and he speaks today of the Near East and its problems with an authority and comprehensive understanding seldom approached by others.

Twelve Students In Hallowells

Twelve Colby students survived the preliminary speaking contest and will take part in the finals of the annual Hallowell Prize Speaking Contest which will be held in the College chapel at a date to be announced later.

The names are as follows:
Linwood L. Lagerson, '32, Cumberland Mills; Roland J. Poulin, '31, Waterville; Lucius V. Lobdell, '31, Hartland, Vt.; Harold L. Grant, '30, Waterville; Vaughan A. Shaw, '31, Houlton; Leo F. Brackett, '31, Bolgrade Lakes; Stanley L. Clement, '32, Milo; Joseph B. Yukins, '31, Bridgewater, Mass.; B. D. Snell, '32, Fairfield; James E. Poulin, Jr., '33, Waterville; Charles C. Hicks, '31, Columbia Falls; Henry G. Bonnell, '31, Waterville.

They will contest for four prizes, aggregating one hundred dollars, which are the gift of Florentius Morrill Hallowell, of the class of 1877. The preliminary contest was open to all students electing the course in Public Speaking 0.

NOTED HUMORIST WILL BE HERE FIRST OF MAY

Captain Irvin O'Hay Will Speak at Alumnae Building
For Benefit of Debating Team

Captain Irving O'Hay, humorist, traveller, and thinker, is to appear before the Colby student body in the Alumnae Building, Thursday, May 1, under the auspices of Pi Kappa Delta. This will be Captain O'Hay's second appearance in Waterville, as he spoke before a packed auditorium here in 1925. His address then was generally acknowledged to be the most popular address ever presented to a Waterville audience, being two hours of the "rarest wit and humor that one could hope to hear."

Captain O'Hay has won for himself an enviable and unequalled reputation as an after-dinner speaker. He is famous throughout the country and is given the finest of references. He has a fund of wit and humor of the spontaneous kind that makes men think and laugh. He uses humor not merely for entertainment, but as a lever to open the way to men's minds and hearts. It is said that "his humor sweetens and his philosophy enlightens."

His strong personality, rich and eloquent voice, animated and impressive delivery, have combined to give him an enthusiastic hearing wherever he has appeared and a welcome return engagement.

Irvin Cobb describes Captain O'Hay as a "connoisseur of wars." O'Hay having served in the following wars: Cuba, 1897—Insurrectos under Maximo Gomez; Cuba, 1898—Roosevelt's Rough Riders; South African Boer War, 1899-1902; Balkans, 1905—Foreign Legion of the Serbian Army; Honduras, 1907—Revolutionary Forces under Lopez; Nicaragua, 1907—Revolutionary forces under Zelaya; Mexico, 1910—Revolutionary forces under Madero; Canadian Expeditionary Forces, 1914, 1915, 1916; France—enlisted as a private in 1917 U. S. Army (regular) retired as a Captain in 1920.

He has been wounded, decorated and has been all ranks from private to general.

The faculty committee on visiting lectures had in mind bringing Cap-

FOUR COLBY ALUMNI TRUSTEE NOMINATIONS

Will Choose Two Out Of Groups For Vacancies
On Board

Four Colby alumni: Hugh Dean McLellan, '95, of Boston; Colin Henry Dascomb, '99, of Plainfield, N. J.; Wilford Gore Chapman, '12, of Portland; and Arthur Harvey Knight, '14, of Trenton, N. J.; have been nominated for the two positions of Alumni Trustees, according to the ballots being sent out today by Dean Ernest C. Marriner, secretary of the Alumni Association.

The nominations were made by a committee, of which Leon C. Staples, '03, of Plainville, Conn., was the chairman. Two trustees are to be elected at this time for a term of five years ending June 30, 1935. The polls will close at midnight of Tuesday, June 10, 1930.

Hugh Dean McLellan was born in Belfast, Me., and received the degree of A. B. from Colby in 1895 and LL. B. from Columbia University in 1902. He was principal of the Belfast High School from 1897 to 1899 and in the Evening School, Brooklyn, N. Y., 1899 to 1902. Since that time he has practiced law in Boston, being the senior member of the McLellan, Brickley and Sears firm.

Colin Henry Dascomb was born in Wilton, Me., and received the degree of A. B. from Colby in 1899. He was engaged as a merchant in Wilton from 1899 to 1914, and as a manufacturer in Plainfield, N. Wilford Gore Chapman was born in Portland, Me., and received the degree of A. B. from Colby in 1912. From 1915 to 1919 he served as a Lieutenant (J. G.) in the U. S. N. R. F. He has practiced law since 1919, now being a member of the firm of Semmel, Knight and Reese, of Trenton, N. J.

Trials Begun For Commencement Play

Trials for parts in the Commencement Play, "Mr. Pim Passes By," by A. A. Milne, began this afternoon. Forty men and women appeared as candidates for the seven parts, giving a wealth of material for an excellent cast. The play, to be given this year on June 13 and June 14, is always a feature of the Commencement program. Professor Cecil A. Rollins of the English department is directing the production.

"Mr. Pim Passes By," is one of the most interesting works of A. A. Milne, the English writer known to all for his popular plays and verse. "The Dover Road," was played at Lakewood last season, to mention only one recent production: "Michael and Mary" is still appearing on Broadway; "The Perfect Alibi" was one of the season's hits of last year; and Milne's book of children's verse—particularly "When We Were Very Young"—have taken the literary world by storm. "Mr. Pim Passes By," after two British runs, was introduced to America by no less distinguished a producing group than the New York Theater Guild. Following its professional success, it went into stock and the amateur theater, where it has won equal success. The play is given by special arrangement with Samuel French of New York.

Powder and Wig, men's dramatic society, and The Masque, women's dramatic society, are cooperating to the full. Professor Rollins has directed productions at Colby for the last six years and has many successes to his credit. He touches the college course in drama, and has spoken in many parts of the state on educational and dramatic subjects.

Hitting of Donovan And Ferguson Features—Brown Pitches Well

By R. Pape, '30.

The Colby ball team outplayed, outhit, and played ring around a rosie so well Saturday against Maine that the outcome was as certain as a poll-vote in Mexico. The longest hit of the game came in the fourth inning when Wells, the Maine catcher, lifted a fly that was higher than a diamond necklace at Tiffany's and which landed in back of the fence skirting the track near Shannon Hall for a home run.

Ferguson, Donovan and Hedderic of the Mules each got two hits apiece. The game at the start had every complexion of a loosely played contest, but ere long it became tighter than a Pullman car window.

In the first inning Lathrop fanned, Corbett flied out and Wells was thrown out by Deetjen. In the Colby half, Roberts drove out to Smith Maine's first baseman. Karkos struck out. "Red" Lovett, the slugging kid, drove out a rain-producing fly and was retired when Lathrop snagged it.

In the second Hinks doubled, Plummer flied out to center field. Kiazonak doubled to center field, scoring Hinks. McCabe flied out to Roberts, whereupon Roberts doubled Kiazonak who had skipped a little too far from second. With Colby at bat, Klusick drove to first and was thrown out after a pretty stop by Corbett. Donovan got aboard when Corbett let the grounder get away from him. Not content with a "life," Donovan essayed a steal of second and continued on to third when Wells' throw to second base was poor. Fergie hit to right center for a double while Donovan scampered home with the tying run. Deetjen was passed and Hedderic sacrificed Ferguson home. The inning ended with Deetjen on third and Brown on second when Roberts died at first.

In the third inning two more counters were registered for Colby when "Mike" Karkos was passed and advanced by Lovett's sacrifice. Corbett robbed Klusick of a second hit. This

Student Council Passes Tax Plan

The Student Council at its weekly meeting last night passed the plan of blanket-tax for student activities that was proposed and favorably discussed at the last meeting. The plan had been submitted to the fraternities and the vote taken last night showed that the student opinion was for this more efficient way of supporting the college activities.

The following items are to be included on the term bills beginning next semester: Athletics, ECHO, Class dues, Y. M. C. A., Debating, and Oracle. For each of these items an amount which has been voted upon by the Council will be charged the student. On the first semester term bill the regular $7.50 for athletics will remain unchanged; $2.00 will be collected for subscription to the ECHO as in past years; $1.00 will be charged as half payment on the class dues; $1.00 will be charged as student contribution to the Y. M. C. A.; and 50 cents will be charged for support of the debating organization. The total for student activity tax for the first semester will come to $12.00.

The second semester term bill will include a blanket-tax for $14.00, which will include the customary $7.50 for athletics, $5.00 for the Oracle, $1.00 for support of the Y. M. C. A. and 50 cents for debating.

The only new additions to the regular term bill collection are the items of class dues, Y. M. C. A. support, and debating support. For this reason it was felt that the plan should receive the consideration of the student body and therefore it was presented to the fraternities. It is felt that the new plan will greatly facilitate the financing of the organizations included since the collection is to be made officially by the college in an efficient way.

TO THE SENIORS.

Few weeks remain before Commencement and the week when the members of the Senior Class bid farewell to the old college. They entered Colby as green freshmen; they advanced through their second year with the usual sophomore swagger. The junior year was a year of increasing endeavor and of the characteristic waking up to the knowledge of what college really means. There the peak was reached and since then most of the class has been marking time, carrying on, and constantly looking ahead to the final week at which time the world and its opportunities will be opened for them to seize.

On the whole the class of 1930 can take just pride in its record. It has included in its number its share of brilliant students, good athletes, and constructive builders. It has included also several of the other types to be sure but the average curve is normal and the prospects for the class as a whole are sound.

Every class passes through the same process—the median line eventually is drawn in the same place.

The class of 1930 saw the last of President Roberts' administration. It watched the college struggle for over a year without an administrative head. It now watches with enthusiastic interest the new work under President Johnson. The class has faith in the Colby that is to come. The class feels itself an integral unit in the forces which are working to bring that Colby into realization. Now as seniors, the members of the class are characteristically short-sighted and can look no farther ahead than the prospects for employment. But in general it is safe to say that the class contains good material for the great body of Colby alumni.

The class that has witnessed the last of the old and the first of the new—the class that has grown up with Colby to newer and finer realizations—this group is veteran and this group will therefore be loyal.

As freshmen, leaving the shelter of the home for the new adventure of college, approach with expectancy and doubt—so the seniors are taking their farewell to the fostering influence of Colby and advancing towards the new fields to conquer. The new quest has the same romance and adventure. May our reception be as warm as it was four years ago.

Music Features

Y. W. Meeting

A musical program was the attractive feature of the Y. W. C. A. meeting on Tuesday evening. The first number on the program was a vocal solo, "Roses of Picardy," sung by Marion Lewis, '32. Dorcas Rattenbury, '33, next entertained her listeners in a rather novel performance, whistling a "Valse," in a very creditable and clever manner. A saxophone solo was the next number by Ruth Brown, '32, who played the familiar "Mighty Lak a Rose." The concluding number was a piano solo "Shadow Dance," by Macdowell, played by Viola Rowe.

'32. All of the numbers were very well done and greatly appreciated by the audience.

Concert Board Votes On New Officers

The Colby Concert Board met yesterday in the chapel and the Board for next year was elected. The Colby Concert Board has had a very successful year and during the months of January, February and March, put on three concerts of extra high calibre. In January the board was responsible for the appearance in Waterville of Miss Ruth Webb, pianist. In February, Baldassare Ferlazzo, violinist, was brought here, and in March Thomas McLaughlin, internationally-known baritone.

The new board consists of six undergraduates under the chairmanship of Professor Everett F. Strong, professor of Romance Languages at the college. Those chosen are: John Allen Webb, '31, of Brockton, Mass.; Richard Cummings, '32, of Newton Centre, Mass.; Donald G. Smith, '32, of Waterville; Eleanor H. Rogers, '32, of Haverhill, Mass.; Justina M. Harding, '32, of Washington, D. C.; Rebecca M. Chester, '33, of Waterville.

Webb has been prominent in the work of the board this past winter, and was mainly responsible for the appearance here of Ruth Webb. He aided greatly in the procuring of the advertising matter for the programs during the 1930 series. Webb is also active in the work of the Y. M. C. A. and is a member of the Powder and Wig society, having taken a part in the Powder and Wig productions of the last two years.

Cummings will also serve on the board for the second year, as he was a member this year and served on the publicity committee as well as on the finance committee. Cummings is ex-secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is a member of the college glee club and a member of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity.

Smith is a Waterville boy and transferred to Colby last September. He is interested in musical work and will make a valuable man on the concert board next year.

Miss Rogers was the outstanding member of the women's division to serve on the board this year. She is a member of the ECHO board and a member of the Sigma Kappa sorority.

Miss Harding is on the board for the first time. She is active in the social work of the women's division and is a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Miss Chester will be the sophomore on the concert board next year. She was a Dean's list student and is a member of the Sigma Kappa sorority.

The retiring board consisted of John A. Webb, Richard Cummings, Eleanor Rogers, Edgar B. McKay, and Mary K. Wasgatt. This board will be the hosts to the new board at a banquet to be held in the near future.

Dear Gladitorial:

Never have I been so homesick as I have been the last two weeks. First I thought it was spring; then, this being rejected, I hit upon the true cause. You see I live on a farm and the constant braying of so many jackasses makes me homesick.

Poor beasts! You brayed for a leader long enough and now that you have one—one incidentally that any college would be proud to follow—you still make your loud unpleasant noises. Oh yes, I signed your petition, because there was a small multitude urging me to, but I don't know what the petition petitioned. Rather work, of course—but how many did the same thing?

I suppose one must petition about something however, so may I make a suggestion. Why not petition that the Lower Library open at 8.30 instead of 9. If you do this, I'm Yours, for bigger and better braying.

Dear Gladitorial:

The great collegiate office-seeking season is upon us. During the next few weeks fraternity "combinations" will be made, class officers will be elected, editors will be "made" for next year, and presidents of various organizations will begin their respective regimens. The chief qualifications for success in this modality of collegiate political life are skill in manipulating votes and personal popularity. In other words, like our very estimable elders in the great arena of national politics, we subsidize popularity and mediocrity at the expense of real leadership and talent.

The suggestion has been made, however, that office-holding in college might be placed on some sort of a civil service basis, giving due recognition, of course, to services rendered. Perhaps this is too much for us to swallow at once, but it seems that such a plan could well be made the basis for future office-holding in Colby.

However, spring is here and we will go on in the old ways for this year. Another series of popularity contests is about to open.

Mr. Zero.

At a recent Nassau club luncheon given at Princeton, Dean Gauss announced on behalf of the university that all war orphans passing the entrance examinations would be educated at Princeton free of charge.

MILLETT PRIMES FROSH CREW FOR HIGGINS

Clever Combination Looms Up For First Year Men.
Davan and Thomas
with Varsity

Coach Bill Millett is working his charges hard in order to get them into shape for the game with Higgins Classical Institute which will be played in Charleston, Saturday afternoon. As usual the frosh will have some outstanding players and the team is expected to be one that will give any high school or prep school team in the state a good game. Last year the freshman team idea was tried as a change from the junior varsity scheme which was used two years ago.

Two outstanding freshmen may not see any service with the freshmen crew as they have been working out with the varsity squad where they will receive more valuable training for future years. Paddy Davan, star shortstop at Coburn Classical Institute last year, is being used as a general utility man on the varsity crew this year and is being groomed to fill the shoes of Andy Klusick when the captain graduates this June. Tillson Thomas is also working out daily with the varsity men as an understudy to Charley Hedderieg. Thomas was with Higgins last year and has been one of the outstanding athletes in the freshman class at Colby this year. He held down the fullback berth on the frosh eleven last fall and played defense on the hockey team this winter.

In case Thomas is kept with the varsity squad Saturday, Maurice Zeserson will be behind the platter. Zeserson is a steady performer and is especially good at inside baseball. He played with West Roxbury high last year in the fast greater Boston school-boy circuit.

For pitchers Coach Millett has four good men from which to pick his starting flier Saturday. Childs, a big southpaw, is being used to throw them up for varsity batting practice and may not be retained with the frosh squad. The outstanding choice perhaps is Herbert Bryan from Washington, D. C., who has fine pitching form and a fast ball. Bryan has looked good in practice sessions so far will probably see plenty of service on the mound before the season is over. Irving Malsch is the other outstanding candidate for a pitching berth. Malsch has beautiful control and plenty of stuff. He has a puzzling side arm delivery and is an especially strong batter. He played with Crosby high school of Waterbury, Conn., before coming to college.

On first base Stan Hersey, local athlete and former Hebron Academy star, will hold out. Stan was captain of the frosh football team last fall and is reputed to be just as good a man on the ball diamond. For the keystone sack Coach Millett has Fairbrother, a clever fielder and a fast man on the bases. Fairbrother hails from Guilford, where he was an outstanding athlete. He is a numeral man in hockey and is expected to show up well on the diamond.

Tom Foley from Norwood, Mass., will probably be one of the bright lights in the lineup. He is a brilliant fielder and is a hard and consistent hitter. Foley has been holding down the short-field berth since the first of the season and will be a hard man to beat out for the job. At third base Bob Walker is expected to be just about the star of the infield, according to Coach Millett. The Vermont boy is a hard hitter and wings the ball across the diamond with plenty of speed and accuracy. He is counted on to be a strong man on the team throughout the season. In the outfield Holmes, Ackley and Sawyer are the outstanding candidates and will probably start the game Saturday.

Lovett Elected Hockey Captain

Walter B. Lovett, '31, of Hudson, Mass., was re-elected captain of hockey yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the letter men of the squad. Lovett was captain of the hockey team this year and led the "White Mules" through a successful season which placed Colby second in the State Series.

Lovett played halfback on the varsity football last season and was easily one of the best ball carriers on the Muleteers. He played wing on the hockey team all this season and all last and was rated as all-State material both years. He is now on the varsity baseball team and is probably one of the best hitters on the team. He holds down the position of right field. He is a member of Upsilon Beta, freshman honorary society, and of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Seventeen Men In Spring Football

Spring football practice has been underway now for about two weeks. Seventeen men from the freshman, junior, and sophomore classes have been working out every day for an hour in the afternoon. Coach Roundy is emphasizing the fundamentals of the game and is also drilling the candidates in several new plays. In this way these men will be more advanced in the sport when they report next fall and will have a better foundation of the game so that there will be less time spent in getting them ready for the regular season.

The candidates to date are: Class of 1931, French, Glazier, Sawyer; 1932, Allan, Howard, Gorman, Johnstone, Leno, Nickerson, L. B. Raymond, Webster; 1933, Austin, Belanger, Chute, Dyer, K. W. Raymond, Shibley.

COLBY WINS OPENER.

Corbett would catch a cold in Siberia. Donovan singled to right field and Karkos scored. Ferguson doubled again and Wally scored the last run for the White Mules. Deetjen was given a free ticket again and Hedderieg singled to center but Ferguson was killed at the platter in an attempt to score.

Maine countered in the fourth with its last run, a home run by Wells.

No further scoring was made from the fourth inning on, but the rest of the game was featured by some fine pitching by Brown who had as many curves as Ziegfeld's chorus. Mansfield who took up the chores after Brown left also handed in a nifty performance.

McCabe and Smith were retired on a next double play with bases full and one out in the fifth. Smith hit to Deetjen who threw to Klusick at second to Donovan, retiring the side and killing the rally. In the Colby half of the same inning Brown hit into a double play when Hedderieg was as safe at second as a quart of grape-juice at a college prom. Somehow the umpire couldn't get out of the fog and the play went down in the records as a genuine double play.

Mansfield and Black, who relieved Perkins, finished their assignments in good fashion, despite the dreariness of the day, two sections of the stadium were as crowded as a sophomore's runabout.

Incidentally, Brown of Colby allowed only five hits during his six inning sojourn.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON SPEAKS.

implied by the word. In the lecture that President Johnson listened to the speaker mentioned about six types of elite but there are three well-defined types of what we call elite in the American college of today if that college is ideal.

There is first the straightforward, earnest individual who is known as a "doer" in the college. The student who is an outstanding man in every respect but does not have to be the best student in the class, or the best athlete, or the best dancer. He is especially a clear thinker and learns to suspend his judgment until he has found out all of the facts on both sides of a case and does not allow his momentary emotion to outweigh his common sense and his power of fairness and good judgment. Colby hopes and expects to turn out students of this type as they are of most value in outside life and make good citizens and men and women.

The second type of elite which the college should produce is the man of affairs. The man in the public eye and the man who is admired and respected by his fellow men and women. He is the man known to psychologists as the extrovert as distinguished from the introvert. He is a man who gives himself to the public and devotes his entire life to serving the public and working for the good of the community, the nation and humanity.

The third well marked type which the college wants is the class more or less crowded by the young women in the college today. This is what might be called the intellectual type. They are the believers in the higher things in life and are students of art, literature, and are cultured to a high degree. Today there is still room in the educational system for students of this type in contrast to the practical business-like student.

This all led up to what the President had to say in regard to the recent action of the Board of Trustees in making Colby restricted to 600 students next year. The policy will be to select and choose from the applicants, those who will make the best type of Colby students. Not those of more wealth necessarily but those who are more of the elite type and who will both handle affairs efficiently and learn to appreciate things of beauty.

NOTED HUMORIST.

tain O'Hay to Waterville as the last of its series of lecturers, but willingly consented to have him appear under the auspices of the debating organization. In sending the cross-country debating team to the Pi Kappa Delta Conference, it was necessary to incur a very large expense, and by means of this lecture it is hoped that part of this expense may be met.

Orchestra seats will be 75 cents, balcony seats, 50 cents. Tickets are in the hands of the members of the debating team and may be secured from them at any time.

Kappa Phi Kappa Holds Initiation

At a meeting of Kappa Phi Kappa, honorary educational fraternity, held at the Kappa Delta Rho house last Thursday evening, five men were initiated into the society.

The following men were inducted through the processes of initiation: John H. Lee, '30, of Portland; Thornton W. Cowing, '30, of West Springfield, Mass.; Thomas B. Langley, '31, of Cambridge, Mass.; Robert L. Harlow, '30, of Dover-Foxcroft; and George F. Sprague, '31, of Danforth.

At the conclusion of the initiation ceremonies the meeting was led in informal discussions by Professor Edward J. Colgan, sponsor of the group.

Miss MacDougall Attends Conference

Miss Muriel J. MacDougall, '31, of St. Albans, Long Island, president of the Colby College Y. W. C. A., left Tuesday morning for Detroit, Mich., where she will represent Colby at the bi-annual National Y. W. Convention during the week beginning April 24. Miss MacDougall has been active in the affairs of the association throughout her college course. She was elected president this year after having served as vice president for the previous year. Besides being a member of the women's varsity athletic teams and her class teams, she holds the position of girls' athletic director at Coburn Classical Institute, of which school she is a graduate. She is a member of Chi Gamma Theta, honorary society, and of the Sigma Kappa sorority, the convention of which she will attend next summer in Seattle, Wash.

Sacred Music For Men's Chapel

Good Friday was observed at the men's assembly of Colby college last Friday morning by a program of sacred music rendered by some of the students.

Arthur L. Stebbins, '30, of Colchester, Conn., gave two vocal solos, "Teach Me How to Pray," by Jewitt, and "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Knapp. Mr. Stebbins and Stephen C. Blakeslee, '30, of Troy, N. Y., sang a duet entitled "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," by Bassford. John W. Chadwick, '30, of Norwich, Conn., gave two baritone solos, "Look Down Dear Lord," by Fisher, and "Into the Woods My Master Went," by Lutkin.

Professor Weber At Conference

Professor Carl J. Weber, of the English department of Colby college, attended the Second Annual Conference of Maine Teachers of College English, held at Bowdoin college on Saturday, April 19.

A committee, of which Professor Weber has been chairman, suggested a list of ten topics which were taken up by the conference. The delegates spent the day discussing these subjects connected with problems arising in the planning of college English courses as well as those relating to class room technique.
