NO. 13

CITIZENS OF WATERVILLE PURCHASE NEW SITE FOR COLBY COLLEGE

Tract of 518 Acres on Slopes of Mayflower Hill Will be Presented

The first definite step towards the new location for Colby College was taken Tuesday afternoon when the committee of one hundred of the citizens of Waterville announced that they had purchased a tract of 518 acres on the slopes of Mayflower Hill which they will present to the college.

This generous gift on the part of the Waterville citizens aroused much enthusiasm among the officials and friends of the college. President Franklin W. Johnson expressed himself as extremely gratified at this action.

While the first payments have been made on this tract by the committee, the next step is to raise a sum of $100,000 with which to complete the purchase. This amount will be raised among the citizens of Waterville and vicinity. It is understood that Waterville, as a municipality, will undertake to provide the water and sewer connections as well as roads leading to the new campus.

President Johnson estimates that five million dollars will have to be raised by the college before it will be advisable to start construction. Although this sum is several times any amount ever donated to the college, he is confident that it will eventually be accomplished. "What must be done," he said, "can and will be done."

The so-called Mayflower Hill site lies on a high ridge of land about a mile west of Waterville in the direction of the town of Oakland. From the summit a broad view can be obtained over an expanse of hundreds of square miles. Towards the east one looks down onto Waterville and beyond to the Camden mountains and the Dixmont Hills. Towards the northwest can be seen Mt. Bigelow and the Rangeley mountains, while on a very clear day, Mt. Washington in New Hampshire is within the range of vision.

This was the first site to be mentioned in connection with a plan of moving Colby and more than a year ago, it was rumored that Mr. Walter S. Wyman, president of the Central Maine Power Company and a trustee of Colby, had obtained options on this property with such a purpose in mind. The tract under consideration contains some 600 acres and would extend from the heights down to the Messalonske stream, which borders the residential section of Waterville.

The scheme of development includes a new highway which would extend from Post Office Square along Center and Gilman streets, across a new Memorial Bridge straight to the new campus along what is now a country lane. The vista along this line towards the high land, which would doubtless be named "The Colby Heights" is very striking indeed and would form a most impressive approach to the new college.

The area now consists of farm land, orchards, and some wooded clumps. One of these, a group of hemlocks which stand against the skyline, is called "Beefsteak Grove" on account of its popularity as a picnic spot for expeditions of students.

The features which recommend this site as a location for the college are its natural beauty, especially the view, its accessibility to the town, the possibility of a spur line from the railroad which would facilitate construction, and the opportunity for unlimited expansion in the future.

Colby German Club Is Reorganized

In November, 1930, there was revived an organization which has lain peacefully slumbering in the archives of Colban history, since the graduation of the class of 1913. That institution is the Colby German Club. For the first time, since Dean Ernest C. Marziner, was its student president, the club, last November, was revived and reorganized, and under the presidency of Maxwell H. Foinman, '32, is forging ahead in a work demanding the notice and approbation of every Colby student.

The Colby German club, organized and directed by students of the German language, is founded and carried on in the interest of providing, to one and all, a clearer, broader, and more useful conception of the views, beliefs, customs, and characteristics of Germany and her people, culturally, religiously and politically.

The program committee is doing much commendable work in arranging future meetings of the club. Mr. Harro Wurtz, now a student at Colby, whose real home is in one of the suburbs of Berlin, is at each meeting ready to give information concerning his country. Mr. Wurtz has consented to speak at some of the meetings and an illustrated "travel-talk" will be featured as one of his addresses.

NOTICE.

The regular Freshman discussion group will meet at seven o'clock Thursday night in Hodman Hall.

COLBY REPRESENTED AT NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Delegates Bring Back Ideals of Better Student-Faculty Cooperation for College

The National Student-Faculty Conference, the first of its kind ever to be held, was called together in the Book-Cadillac Hotel, Detroit, Mich., from December 27th to the 31st. At this conference there were approximately 850 people connected with institutions of higher learning from all over the United States. Included in this group were some thirty odd college presidents. There were present men of international fame, such as Sherwood Eddy, Norman Thomas, the socialist candidate for the presidency in 1928. Stadt Wilson, a famous "war horse" and socialist. Dean Charles W. Gilkey of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Watson of the Teachers College of Columbia.

Colby college was most ably represented by Eleanor H. Rogers, '32, of Haverhill, Mass., Ruth Pineo, '31, of Milo; Richard Cummings, '32, of Newton, Mass.; all of the student division. The faculty of Colby was represented by President Franklin W. Johnson.

The problem before the conference was to build up for intellectual decision emotional satisfactions which are more to be desired by the individual than the more elemental emotional satisfaction with which they are in conflict in the task of character education. The ideal of the meeting was character education in college as well as mental education along lines of book learning. The conference took up the questions to be considered in seven commissions. The first was, "The College and Character Education," under the supervision of Professor F. J. Kelley, Lecturer in Higher Education in the University of Chicago. Under this headline the implications for college administration was considered.

The second commission, "The Educational System," was led by Professor Charles E. Roush, of the University of California. This meeting considered the new movement of mass education for higher learning. A survey of the present college situation as it bears upon the fundamental objectives of Christian character was presented to the members and was received with general interest. A curriculum reorganization was considered along the lines of broader orientation with long intervals for reading, assimilation and integration free from all regular schedules.

"The Social and Organized Life of the Campus," was the third Commission. This was led by the Co-chairman, Dean Thynas Amos, of the University of Pittsburgh, and Mr. Thornton W. Merriam, Associate Director of the National Council on Religion in Higher Education, Ithaca, New York. This group considered the benefits derived by the students because of their participation in extra-curriculum activities as well as in their regular courses. The commission considered the values, educational, social, vocational, religious, that those participating in the extra-curriculum activities derived. The group also discussed fraternity life and system.

Professor Walter M. Horton led the fourth commission, "Morals in a Day of Relativity." As the whole life today is based on relatively this topic was most beneficial. The discussion (Continued on page 2)

Piano Recital Given In Chapel

At the regular meeting of the men's assembly last Friday morning, the students had the pleasure of listening to a short piano recital rendered by Miss Mildred Stanley. Miss Stanley is director of music in the public schools of Waterville. She is a graduate of Bates college and received her musical education at the Eastern School of Music at Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Stanley's varied program showed her remarkable technique and mastery of the piano. She played with a grace and ease which was as enjoyable to watch as her music was to hear. Her program was as follows: Country Gardens -----Grieg; Clair de Lune -----Debussy; Gollivog's Cakewalk -----Debussy; Prelude in A Minor -----Debussy.

At the conclusion of this program, Miss Stanley responded to the applause with an encore, playing Rachmaninoff's famous "Prelude in C Sharp Minor."

SERGEANT A. C. YORK TO GIVE ADDRESS

His Subject Will be "The Story of My Life"

Sergeant Alvin C. York will give an address in the Alumnae Building on Thursday evening, January 15, 1931, at eight o'clock. His subject will be "The Story of My Life."

Sergeant York, the founder and president of the Alvin C. York Agricultural Institute, was born of pioneer ancestry in the "Southern Highlands." When the war was declared he had a long struggle with himself before he could finally convince himself that the war was a fight for peace. During the course of his lecture he will tell of how he captured single handed about a hundred and thirty of the enemy.

He has had many chances to obtain personal glory but he has refused it as well as large sums of money. Instead he has devoted all his time to the organization and foundation of the Agricultural Institute bearing his name. He has had a long fight, having to overcome many obstacles with landowners and with politics yet through it all he has held to original intentions and has finally triumphed. He has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, The Legion of Honor, The Medal Militaire and many other American and Allied decorations. General Pershing calls him "the greatest civilian soldier of the war." Marshall Foch says, "What you did was the greatest thing accomplished by any private soldier of all the armies of Europe."

It will be a rare treat to hear Sergeant York. Purchasers of tickets for this lecture will have the first opportunity. Purchasers of tickets for Major Thomas Coulson address on Friday, Feb. 6.

Faculty Members Attend Conventions

Six members of the college faculty represented Colby at various national conventions in their respective fields during the Christmas holidays. One man traveled to Cleveland, O., another to Toronto, Canada, two went to New York City and two journeyed to Boston. The following were attendants at the above mentioned conferences: Dr. William J. Wilkinson, Professor Thomas Griffiths, Professor Walter N. Breckinridge, Dr. Edward H. Perkins, Professor C. Harry Edwards and Coach "Bill" Millett.

At the American Economics Association convention held in Cleveland, Professor Breckinridge was Colby's representative. The gathering, which numbered about 1000, lasted through the last three days of December. Bowdoin and Bates were also represented at this meeting of the college faculty members interested in problems in the field of economics. Professor Breckinridge stated that while the present business depression formed the basis for the most outstanding subject discussed in Cleveland that one very interesting meeting, a luncheon at the Hotel Cleveland, was held with the subject "Russia."

Professor Wilkinson and Professor Griffiths both attended the national convention of the American History Association held at the Copley Plaza hotel in Boston. This conference, like all mentioned in this story, took place the last three days of December. One of the outstanding speakers at the Boston meeting was E. B. Greene, an authority on American History, and the author of a number of books on the subject. The manuscript of Mr. Greene's speech is published in complete form in the January, 1931, number of the American Historical Review, which is to be found in the Colby library.

Dr. Perkins speaks. This year the Geological Society of America met in Toronto and as a representative of the college Dr. Perkins attended the gathering which numbered about 550. The University of Toronto entertained the convention.

Tuesday afternoon, December 30, Dr. Perkins gave an illustrated lecture to the conference members, using as his subject "The Readvancement of the Wisconsin Glacier in Maine." To bring out some of his points more clearly the speaker used a number of lantern slides. It is also interesting to note that as a representative of the state of Maine, Dr. Perkins met with a committee of men, numbering about 20, composed of a representative from twenty different states to consider "batholiths," or the (Continued on page 2)

COLBY CONCERT SERIES OPENS TUESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 20

Rose Zulalian, Contralto, of New York, Is First Artist to be Presented

TO BE HELD IN ALUMNAE BUILDING

The Colby Concert Board feels fortunate in being able to present Madam Rose Zulalian, contralto, as the first artist in the concert series of 1931. Madam Zulalian, an Armenian by birth, has had an unusual and interesting career. Narrowly escaping the Turkish massacres, she came to America where she received her musical training. She did not begin a serious study of voice culture until after her marriage to Mr. Zulalian. Her husband placed her under the tutelage of Arthur J. Hubbard of Boston who soon recognized the exquisite quality and remarkable power of her voice.

During the World War she sang at meetings toward the contribution of

FOUR NEW SCHOLARSHIPS TO BE OFFERED NEXT YEAR

American Students Will be Given Chance to Study in Oxford and Cambridge

The Charles and Julia Henry Fund Scholarships, which will be offered annually to four American students for study at the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, and to four British students for study at Harvard and Yale, will be available next year for the first time, it was learned here today from an announcement issued jointly by Harvard and Yale Universities. These Scholarships, each of which will have an annual stipend of $500 sterling were established by the bequest of Lady Julia Lewisohn Henry, "in the earnest hope and desire of cementing the bonds of friendship between the British Empire and the United States."

Under the terms of the fund, four scholarships are offered to American students entering the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge as undergraduates, or for a postgraduate course, and similarly four scholarships are offered to British students entering Harvard and Yale. Normally the scholarships will be awarded for a single year, but may, in exceptional cases, be extended for a second year. Appointments of the first American scholars on the Charles and Julia Henry fund will be made not later than April 18, 1931, and in February in subsequent years.

The fund is administered by twelve trustees appointed by the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Harvard and Yale. The trustees who will select the American candidates are President A. Lawrence Lowell, Mr. Francis W. Hunnewell, and Dean Alfred C. Hartford, representing the Harvard Corporation; and President James Rowland Angell, Mr. George Parmly Day, and Mr. Carl A. Lohmann, representing the Yale Corporation.

Candidates must present evidence that they are seriously interested in developing the opportunities offered by the Charles and Julia Henry Fund Scholarships, and that they are persons of sufficient intellectual maturity to assure their ability to profit by the experience. Both men and women are eligible. Women may apply for appointment to any college or school which regularly admits women to departments of study in the universities mentioned.

Applications from American candidates may be sent to the office of the secretary of Harvard University or the office of the Secretary of Yale University by March 1, 1931. Those two offices will, on request, furnish the necessary memoranda and application forms.

Lady Henry, who was the widow of Sir Charles Henry, M. P., and daughter of Leonard Lowishon, of New York City, died at her London residence on May 10, 1927. She was one of the leading political hostesses of the Liberal Party, and had many charitable interests. She was deeply interested in the movement to promote a better understanding between the country of her birth and the country of her adoption. She founded the Charles and Julia Henry Fund Scholarships as another step toward the realization of this ideal.

Liberty Loans. From that time her popularity steadily increased and she has sung at many important musical events and given recitals in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and other cities. By both critics and public she is acclaimed as one of America's foremost contraltos by artistic attainment as well as by beauty of voice.

"Rose Zulalian," says the New York Morning World, "sang with a sense of song, an intangible filament of genius, so few concert musicians can snatch and hold."

From The Evening Public Ledger: "Rose Zulalian showed one of the richest and most beautiful voices of its classification that has been heard in Philadelphia for several seasons. The voice is unusually even in all registers, but is especially full and beautiful in quality in the lower ones."

The Morning Mercury, New Bedford: "Madam Rose Zulalian of Boston, a contralto, dowered with one of the great lower registers of her day which is of the younger generation of musicians. This singer of Armenian blood, splendidly effective in personality as well as vocally for dramatic presentation, has had excellent repute for some years in Boston musical circles—admirably accomplishing in every type of song she chooses, it is the glowing gold and copper and bronze that is her peculiar treasure that brings a final beauty into many a song one cannot recall having known before so completely expressed."

It is indeed a unique opportunity for Colby to secure an artist of so high calibre. The remaining two concerts promise to be of the same degree of excellence as the first. On February 17, Jesus Maria Sanroma, pianist, who only this month received an unusual ovation when he played with the Boston Symphony, will be the artist. Mr. Sanroma is a modernist unexcelled in his field. Those who heard him several years ago will need no further recommendation.

The last of the series to be held on March 17, is a trio composed of violin, cello, and piano. Roland Tapley, and Jacobus Langendoen are skilled musicians from the ranks of the Symphony, Howard Slayman, pianist of the trio, fitly complements the other artists.

The Zulalian Concert will be held Tuesday evening, January 20, at 8.15 in the Alumnae Building. There will be a limited number of single tickets for sale at the door.

Miss Stanley Plays At Women's Chapel

Those who attended women's chapel on Saturday, January 10, received with pleasure and marked enthusiasm the musical program given by Miss Mildred S. Stanley. The brilliance of her playing of the piano and the variety of her numbers provided a rare treat for her audience. Miss Stanley received her A. B. degree at Bates college and the degree of Bachelor of Music at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York. Her program was as follows: Country Gardens -----Grieg; Clair de Lune -----Debussy; Gollivog's Cakewalk -----Debussy; Prelude in A Minor -----Debussy; Prelude in C sharp Minor -----Rachmaninoff

Miss Foster made an announcement of interest to all juniors and those members of the other classes who desire vocational guidance. Miss Jackson, the vocational guidance expert who has aided many Colby students in the past to choose congenial occupations, is to be here again on Thursday and will remain a week, having conferences by appointment with all the women students who wish her advice.

Subscribers to the Colby White Mule may well look forward to the coming "Gay Ninety Issue" of this publication. The magazine will contain in addition to its usual wit and art a "History of the White Mule," Colby's own animal; "Fraternity," a complete novel, by Leonard M. Holo; and "Introducing Oswald Jugg, Professor," a contention of Professor Eliastin's theory.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 14, 1931.

With this issue of the ECHO we are starting a new feature in attempting to maintain a calendar of coming events. There has been a lack of this for some time and we feel that the entire student body as well as the various organizations and associations will be somewhat relieved and less confused. This is somewhat of a difficult task and the success of the project depends greatly upon the cooperation received from the heads of various organizations. The editor cannot undertake to remember all of the dates and all of the events to take place. The coming events for the month in which each issue of the ECHO is printed will be kept as near complete as possible. It will be considered the responsibility of each organization to send in to the ECHO its programs and all events connected with the organization. Rehearsals, meetings and all events of regular occurrence will be listed at the same time and place each week unless corrected by the head of that organization. Only events of college interest will be listed. All items must be made known to the editor at least two days before the ECHO goes to press.

It will be noticed elsewhere in this issue of the ECHO that the constitution is printed for the second successive issue of the paper. This is in accordance with the stipulation in Article X, section 2, which reads: "This constitution may be at any time amended by a three-fourths written vote of a majority of the members of the association, provided that said proposed amendment has been published in two successive issues of the ECHO."

This is necessary because some of the present practices of the board have become illegal through a gradual change of method. To bring the old constitution into concord with our present practices, the constitution has been revised by a board consisting of the acting editor, the faculty adviser, the business and managing editors, the women's editor and the faculty financial adviser. The suggested changes have been incorporated into the new constitution and will be brought before the men's division at an early assembly period. In the meantime each student should examine the new constitution and be prepared to vote intelligently upon the question of whether or not the constitution should be changed. It is the opinion of those responsible for the new suggestions that the changes are desirable and practical, but the entire student body must pass upon the question. Any information regarding the new constitution and its purposes may be obtained from the acting editor or the business manager.

John A. Webb, ex-'31 has written this excellent letter which is printed here in the interest of the Colby Concert Board:

Tilton, N. H.
January 8, 1931.

Editor of the Colby Echo,
Waterville, Me.

Dear Sir: I address these remarks with the hope that the Colby student body may be able to see, from an outsider's viewpoint, the vital importance the Colby Concert Series is to the college. During my two years at Colby, it was my pleasure to see a genuine interest develop in music of real depth and value. At that time it seemed only of benefit to those privileged to attend the concerts, but I would like to speak of the far-reaching effect it is having upon the world outside of the college.

It is difficult for one not connected with an institution to properly evaluate its worth. Judgments can be based only upon external things, deeds accomplished and work done. The real spirit of an institution is often hidden beneath the jumble of every-day business. It is only through acts accomplished and movements initiated that its true spirit is revealed.

Colby has left her imprint upon society through its fine leaders that she has sent into every field of human endeavor. However, the responsibility should not devolve only upon those who have left the college. Those who are still "carrying on" should feel a sense of responsibility for the name of Colby. The Colby Concert series is one movement which opens a channel through which the real depth of the college may be felt.

It is always with pride that I speak of Colby and I am glad to know that my college is continuing its policy of offering the best in cultural opportunities to those studying there. The outside world looks on and judges our college upon the basis of what it can actually see. Let us make our contribution to the development and enrichment of our college, and help it stand for the highest in cultural endeavor.

The greatest value the Colby Concert Series can bring, is to you, personally. It has not been necessary to speak of that, for I would bring to you simply the viewpoint of one who looks on and praises from a distance.

Sincerely yours,
John Allan Webb.

great granite deposits found in many parts of North America. Meeting with this group were the members of the Royal Geological Society of Canada.

Coaches C. Harry Edwards and "Bill" Millett both went to New York City to attend athletic conventions. During the last few days in December five different conventions were held and Professor Edwards was able to attend them all while Coach Millett, who was unable to be at all the convention meetings, attended a few. December 30, Professor Edwards was Colby's representative at the meeting of the "American Society of College Physical Directors," held in the Hotel Astor with about 250 men present. Professors Wallace from Maine, Cobb from Bowdoin and Cutts from Bates, were at this gathering.

On the 29th both Coach Millett and Professor Edwards were in attendance at the meeting of the American Football Coaches. Coaches "Hurricane" Yost of Michigan, and Bill Rober from Princeton were present at this meeting.

Questioned as to his impression of the conferences Professor Edwards said, "All of the meetings I attended were very stimulating due to the fact that many educational features were presented. One subject, perhaps more than other, was spoken of at practically all of the meetings. This was the recent publicity in connection with the over-emphasis of football in the colleges of this country. At a gathering of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which is purely an advisory group of men, the president of Yale in a most inspiring address said that as far as he could observe, most of the statements in regard to the over emphasis of football came from colleges lacking in gate receipts."

brought morals to a place where they could be spoken of from one's every day point of view. The speakers attempted to guide the thought of those present on the difficult and centrally important problem of how are we all to achieve, not a complete moral philosophy, but at least a wholesome moral attitude, which will enable us to see all specific problems in the right perspective.

The "Social Attitudes and Responsibilities," was the fifth commission. This group was led by Professor Harrison S. Elliott of the Union Theological Seminary. The object was to study the different successful methods that could be used to bring about changes in social groups. This was considered to discover new ways to social reconstruction on the home campuses of those present.

The sixth commission, "Student Counseling," was directed by Richard H. Edwards, Executive Director of the National Council in Religion in Higher Education. This group spoke of the attitude of the administration toward the student and of the attitude of the student toward his fellow worker. It considered the most beneficial methods of aiding the students in their problems while they are in college.

The seventh Commission was, "The Place of Religion and Religious Agencies in Student Life Today." This group was led by Dean Charles W. Gilkey, of the University of Chicago. This commission was the most forceful. President Franklin W. Johnson of Colby college spoke at this meeting on "Saints and Traditions as a Religious Influence on the College." During the discussion of this great problem those present sought most diligently after the essential elements in the religious life of a campus. They asked the questions of the contribution of religion to the living issues of our times.

Those who went from Colby under the auspices of the Colby Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. have returned filled with the ideals of the conference and ready to bring to Colby student-faculty cooperations which are best suited to Colby.

Miss Jackson To Be Here Soon

Miss Florence Jackson, Consultant to the Personnel Bureau of Wellesley College, and an expert in Vocational Guidance, will be at Colby January 15 to 22. Definite appointments are being made for all junior women, while conferences may be arranged for members of the other classes as well.

For fourteen years (1911 to 1925) Miss Jackson was the Director of the Appointment Bureau of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston, during which time she acted as lecturer and vocational consultant for women at a number of colleges and universities, and was responsible for the placement and consulting service offered by the Union. At some time during this period she was President of the National Committee of the Bureau of Occupations, National Chairman of the Vocational Committee of the American Association of University Women, and Chairman of the Vocational Committee of the Boston Branch. During the two years, 1928-30, she visited over eighty schools and colleges, many of these twice. This is the second year Colby has had the privilege of a visit from Miss Jackson.

Besides her work among the students, Miss Jackson will give a series of three lectures for teachers on the subject, "The Vocational Guidance Movement, Its History and Present Practice," touching on the following topics: Occupational Information, Its Sources and Use; Placement Technique; Record Cards; Tests; Job Analysis; Moral Guidance; Ratings; Scholarship; How Administered. Teachers will come to Colby on January 16, 19, and 21, from Cony High school, Oakland, Fairfield, Oak Grove Seminary, Maine Central Institute, Waterville Senior High school, Waterville Junior High school, Coburn Classical Institute, Winslow, and Clinton.

Alpha Delta Pi Holds Fine Dance

With a background of blue and gray decorations, enlivened by the multi-colored gowns, dim lights and toe-titrating, tantalizing music, the Alpha Delta Pi sorority sponsored a most successful dance at the Ellis hall last Saturday evening.

Against such a setting nothing but an enjoyable evening could be expected and, by the expressions of those attending, such must have been the case. Dancing was not the only attraction; tasty refreshments consisting of ice cream and Alpha Delta Pi cakes were served.

The natural question is who was responsible for this pleasant evening. The committees, under the president, Miss Marion White, whose onerous work and planning made the dance possible, consisted of the Misses Vivian Russell, Thelma Banford, and Myrtle Paine. The patronesses were Dean Ninetta M. Runnals, Miss Corrine B. Van Norman, Mrs. Grace M. Frost and Miss Elsie H. Lewis. The receiving line consisted of the name and Miss Marian White, Mr. M. P. Bridges and Mr. Clinton F. Thurlow. Music was furnished by Paul Barrow's Collegians.

Recent revelations in the Harvard Crimson bring out the fact that 67 per cent of the Radcliffe graduates who marry take Harvard men for husbands. This, however, is not as bad as it sounds, for 95 per cent of the Radcliffe graduates do not marry at all.

COLBY WINS FIRST STATE SERIES GAME

Bill Millett's Icemen Take Over Bowdoin Puck Chasers 3 to 0

One thing was decided in the Maine sports world during the afternoon of last Saturday and that was that Colby is after the State hockey crown. Mass Aggies left the scene of their defeat at Waterville and walloped Bates by the score of 5 to 2. While this was happening Bill Millett's crew of puck chasers were showing the Bowdoin boys some good early season hockey. On their own ice at Brunswick, the proteges of Smiling Ben Houser were unable to check the thrusts of Kenney, Pomerleau and Hilton, and thus the first State series game ended with Colby's standing at 1000. If scores could be relied upon, Colby's icemen would stand out as the best in Maine, but Bates and Bowdoin have the whole season in which to even matters with their Elm City rival. It may be a different Bowdoin team that comes from Brunswick today to play a return game with the Gray and Blue.

The first period was more or less a warm up for both teams. Neither scored and both made some good drives for the goal. The Colby forward line breaking through the Bowdoin defense in the first minutes and the Bowdoin forwards duplicating the stunt later in the period.

The White Mules drove the White Bears all over the ice in the next period. Tom Kenney took the disk at mid-ice and broke through for a short distance and then suddenly drove the pill into the Bowdoin net for score number one. On the heels of this drive came Pomerleau who sank the puck after a rough scramble in front of the cage. In this encounter nearly every forward was engaged, but it was Pomerleau who shoved in the rubber. Ben Houser yelled a protest at Pat French for allowing this score, because the puck dropped in through the top of the cage, so he thought, but Pat couldn't find a hole large enough, so the score was allowed. After this second goal, Bowdoin frantically rushed for the Colby net, but she could not pierce the defense maintained by Draper, Hilton and Pollard.

Captain Ross and George Souther led a short lived attack in the first minutes of the final period. Their shots were hard and accurate, but Rog Draper was forever in the way of them. After a rather rough melee in front of the Colby net, Snub Pollard snatched the pill and carried it to mid-ice where he passed to Myron Hilton. Hilton here executed a play by lifting the rubber for a beautiful long shot into the Bear's net. This ended the scoring, Colby easily coasting through the remaining minutes.

Although the game was decidedly rough, there was little of the skull cracking type of play to mar the contest. Pat French had some trouble at times in handling the players, but after a visit or two in the penalty box, the turbid spirit was subdued.

Captain Kid Lovett played his usual fine brand of hockey. Rog Draper, Tom Kenney and Pomerleau were also outstanding for Colby. Bowdoin's main cogs seemed to be Rosenfeld, Souther and Bilondeau.

Colby

Lovett, lw, Sloan

Score: Colby 3, Bowdoin 0. Goals: Pomerleau, Hilton (on pass from Pollard), Kenney (unassisted). Referee: Pat French. Time: three twenties.

Colby Puck Chasers Trim Mass. Aggies

On Friday of last week Colby's icemen opened their schedule by taking over the puck chasers from Massachusetts Agricultural College by the score of 3 to 2. This was a closely contested game throughout, but Colby was, as the score indicates, a shade better than the boys from the Bay State institution. Colby's defense led by Pollard was especially superior to that of their opponents.

During the first period it looked like an easy Colby victory and it was only the stellar performance of Myrick, the Aggies goalie, that kept the Colby forwards from scoring many times. The one goal of this period came when Captain Lovett pushed the puck in after a hard struggle in front of the cage in which five or six men were involved.

The Amherst boys came back strong in the second period. The play of both teams was on a par throughout. The teams had been on the ice hardly a minute when Frost and Hammond broke through Colby's defense and Frost taking the puck on Hammond's pass drove it into the net making the count one all. The play was hard and somewhat rough for the remainder of the period. Pollard, with two minutes left before the end of the period, took possession of the rubber and made his way up the ice until he was directly in front of the cage. Here he was met by three or four of the Aggies intent upon stopping him, but with an excellent rebound shot he landed the disk in the cage. This was the outstanding individual performance of the game.

After two minutes of play in the last period, the Massachusetts boys again evened up the count when Hammond got by the defense and dropped the rubber into Colby's net. From then on the play was terrific. Each team striving to break the tie. It was Kid Lovett who finally settled it when he took a pass from Snub Pollard and drove the disk home to make it 3 to 2 for Colby.

Colby Frosh Tie Coburn Outfit

In spite of the fact that they played two five minute overtime periods, the Colby youngsters and the Coburn ice-birds ended their hectic battle last Saturday with score three all.

Zeke Cleverley opened up the scoring in the first period by dodging past Coburn's defense and driving the rubber into the net. Things didn't look so rosey for '34 when at the middle of the second period the Coburnites had them on the small end of a 3 to 1 score. But Bruiser Bill Huckle put the puck in twice by the Coburn goalie and thus evened things up.

The third period was a fierce battle, but neither aggregation weakened enough to let the other score and the whistle blew when Cleverley of '34 about to take a shot at the Coburn net. The two extra periods were equally hard fought, but again neither team scored and the game ended with the count at 3 to 3.

Westberg of Coburn stood out in the prep school's line-up while the performances of Cleverley and Roberts were outstanding features of the frosh playing.

Class of '34 Trims Cony High 5 to 1

The freshman hockey team journeyed to Augusta last Friday and took over the Cony High aggregation by the decisive score of five to one. The frosh outfit, in spite of the score, did not have everything their own way. It was only in the last period that the yearlings took the game in hand.

Cony took the lead early in the game by shoving the puck into the frosh draperies. For a period and a half Cony held the Colby youngsters under their thumb, but their terrific assault could not be turned back and the score was soon one all. Tom Hickey, playing against his alma mater, turned in a highly creditable performance, Zeke Cleverley, and Bill Huckle working with Tom Hickey proved to be a combination which Cony could not stop. Washue and R. Hickey were outstanding on the Cony team.

If the last period could be struck from the record, it would have been a different story, but the barrage of the frosh during the last few minutes was too much for the Cony defense and it ended five to one in favor of Colby, '34.

Basketball League To Open Next Week

Next week the lid will be pried off the inter-fraternity basketball league for the 1931 season. This year the race for the championship is sure to be hotter than in any of the recent years.

A. T. O.'s 1930 championship team is intact and has several new stars to bolster the line-up. The D. U.'s who were the runners up last year have a very strong aggregation again this year. The loss of Andy Klusick will be keenly felt, but there are several freshmen of no mean ability to work into the machine. The Zeta Psi's should have a fast organization with the ex-Waterville High stars Alden and Johnson ready to see action. The Phi Delt's will be out there after blood. The K. D. R.'s team is the dark horse of the league. A good brand of ball is sure to spring up around the work of Johnny Fletcher. Lambda Chi is sure to have a hard fighting aggregation. The Deke's will have the best outfit in years working around the two Peabody boys who were big stars up in the spud country. Theta Kappa Nu featuring Given and French promises to be an outfit that will be hard to beat. The Non-frats with Glazier as a leader, should also have a formidable machine.

As in the past, Coach Roundy will have charge of the league.

Boxing Class Begins Training

The first meeting of those men interested in boxing instruction was held Monday afternoon under the tutelage of Mr. Joseph Edward Yuknis, '31. This class, originated for the teaching of fundamentals in boxing, to meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 8.30 and 4.30, will be limited to a maximum of thirty. This quota is expected to be filled this week.

Mr. Yuknis is well qualified to teach boxing, having received considerable experience in amateur bouts in Massachusetts. A public exhibition will be held in April.
