

DEBATING TEAM TO LEAVE FOR TRIP FRIDAY MORNING

Mr. Sprague and Mr. Lemoine will Represent Colby

Friday morning a Colby debating team will leave for Connecticut and New York. On this trip the Colby negative team will meet the Conn. Agri. college and the New York University teams. The subject of debate will be that of unemployment.

The first debate will be with the Connecticut team at Storrs, Conn., on Friday evening. The debate with New York University will be broadcast from the studios of station WEVD at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. While the team is in New York it will be entertained by some of the Colby alumni in that city.

The men composing this team are Mr. George F. Sprague, '31, and Mr. Harold F. Lemoine, '32. Mr. Sprague is president of the Maine Alpha chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, an active participant in the activities of the forensic department of the college, a member of the Y. M. C. A. board and of Kappa Phi Kappa, the national honorary society. He is also one of the outstanding members of the Colby track team. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Mr. Lemoine is one of Colby's veteran debaters, having been an active participant in debating for the past three years. He was a member of the cross country debating team which last year attended the national convention of Pi Kappa Delta at Wichita, Kansas. He is manager of debate, a member of the Y. M. C. A. board, president of Powder and Wig. He is a member of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity.

Y. W. Selects Delegate For Annual Conference

At the sixth annual Mid-Winter Conference for men and women students from Greater Boston and North-eastern New England, which is to be held at Poland Springs, February 27, 28, and March 1, the Colby Y. W. C. A. will be represented by Gwendolyn G. Mardin, '32. Ruth Pineo, '31, is also planning to attend the conference.

"Political Corruption" has been chosen as the subject for discussion, while this general theme has been narrowed to the consideration of Special Privilege vs. General Welfare in the relation of business and government. This in turn is to be studied in two relations only, public utilities and municipal politics. Mr. Edward C. Moran, Jr., of Rockland, and Mr. W. Gerald Holmes, a representative of the Insull interests, will present opposing points of view on the Maine State Power issue. Mr. Damon E. Hall of Boston, who was State Attorney in the Garretts trial, will introduce the discussion on municipal politics. Dr. Harry Laidler, executive secretary for the League for Industrial Democracy, will interpret the implications of these issues. Dr. John Schroeder of Portland will discuss the ethics of Jesus in their application to these situations, while Mr. Buell Gallagher will assist in the discussion of what immediate steps student groups can take.

With such able men as leaders in the discussion of so vital a subject, the conference should certainly prove to be most interesting and valuable.

Aroostook Club Holds Banquet

The Aroostook Club held its annual initiation banquet Tuesday, Feb. 24, at Yeong's Restaurant. Following tradition, the invitations were made of Aroostook, and the place cards wrapped paper potatoes. A dinner of grape fruit, salad, chicken soup, roast chicken, chow mein, ice cream and cake was served.

Ruth Vose, '33, president of the club, introduced the following speakers: Marlin L. Clark, '33, Ruth Nadeau, '32, Hope R. Pullen, '31 and Margaret B. Raymond, '34.

Eleven new "sprouts" were initiated: Fern N. Chapman, Mary N. Dudley, Rosamond F. Barker, Dorothy Dingwall, Isabelle D. Fairbanks, Averill D. Galloway, Muriel E. Hallott, Edith M. Klockin, Ruth Pullen, Margaret B. Raymond, and Mary L. Smith.

THORNTON WILDER DELIVERS LECTURE

Relations Between Life And Literature Taken as Subject

On Monday evening Thornton Wilder, the man who a few years back was an obscure "prep" school teacher and is now one of America's leading men of letters, lectured to an audience which packed the Alumnae Building to the exits. Among those in the audience were several trustees of the college and many who had journeyed from a distance in order that they might hear the outstanding writer.

Wilder's subject was the relation between literature and life. "Literature," said the lecturer, "is not a replica of life. Life is painted in false colors. The aim of literature has never been to paint life with all of its tedium and monotony." Human beings are given eloquence when their lifelike expression would be inarticulate and dull. Comedy and tragedy are woefully mixed. These are the three charges which Mr. Wilder brought against literature.

The relations between literature and life flow in two directions. Through the one channel flow the thoughts and opinions of the writer on to the written page gradually and after sound consideration. Through the other, we find the pent up emotions and thoughts prompted by sudden inspiration coming from the writer's pen as he writes under the magic spell of midnight.

Great poets are wont to endow the creations of their fancy with qualities which are denied to us. We find in the classics of verse peasants gifted with silver tongues and honeyed words come from their rustic mouths. Irresponsible characters seem humorous.

At the close of his lecture, Mr. Wilder was received in the reception room of the building by the members of the faculty and those who had come a distance that they might be present.

Interfrat Track To Start Wednesday

Starting Wednesday, interfraternity track competition will get under way for a period of three weeks. The competition this year will be more strenuous than ever before. The first event will be for the Druid Relay Cup. In this, all fraternities will enter strong teams. Dukes and the Lambda Chis will probably be out in front. The following week, the Upsilon Beta cup will be contested for. There will be many exciting races in this meet, with competition very strong. Here again, the Lambda Chis are the favorite, but other houses will give them stiff opposition.

Miss Hubbard Speaks To Colby Group

Miss Ursula P. Hubbard of New York, official representative of the International Relations Clubs, spoke before a special meeting of the Colby organization on Monday, Feb. 16. Miss Hubbard described the activities of International Relations Clubs in the three hundred or more colleges and universities in the United States, Europe and Latin America. The International Relations Clubs in these colleges are affiliated with a central organization which has its headquarters in New York city. These clubs in turn constitute a phase of the work of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace to which Andrew Carnegie bequeathed about ten million dollars. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, is at the head of this endowment. The methods and programs adopted in various clubs were also described by Miss Hubbard. Questions and discussion followed Miss Hubbard's talk. About forty-five members of the club were present.

NOTICE

The International Relations Club will meet at the K. D. R. house at 7.15 P. M., Monday evening, March 2. Mr. Harry Wurtz will speak on the monetary problem in Europe. After the meeting there will be an informal reception at which all those that have not met Mr. Wurtz may have the opportunity to do so. All students who are interested in International relations are invited to come.

The following week on the fourteenth of February the team again went to Boston for the B. A. A. games. In the best relay race of the evening, the Colby team defeated the men from Worcester Tech, Mass. Aggies and Rhode Island State. The time of this race was one the best for the evening. Robinson again did very well in the high jump. The relay team was composed of Thomas J. Rockiewicz, '31, Francis Flaherty, '33, John Locke, '33, Harrison Williams, '33.

COLBY DEBATERS TO MEET MASS. AGRI. COLLEGE TEAM

Will Debate Upon Compulsory Unemployment Insurance

The first intercollegiate debate of the season will be held on Thursday evening in the college chapel at 7.30 o'clock, when the Colby debating team meets a team from Mass. Agri. College. The question under discussion is, "Resolved, that the several states should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance to which the employers shall contribute." Colby will uphold the affirmative side of the debate.

The Colby team will consist of F. Donald Poulin, '31. Mr. Poulin is an active participant in all activities of the forensic department and was a member of the cross country debating team which last year attended the Pi Kappa Delta convention in Wichita, Kansas. He is a member of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity. The other member of the Colby team will be Mr. Arthur W. Stetson, Jr., '34. Mr. Stetson was an active debater while in preparatory school. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Dean Runnals Attends Meeting

The fifteenth annual meeting of the National Association of Deans of Women was held in Detroit, Mich., February 18-20. Dean Ninetta M. Runnals attended the various functions and lectures and received many stimulating suggestions from the educational leaders who were present at the conference. There were four hundred deans from all parts of the country, who were divided into sections according to their positions as deans of universities, colleges, high schools, teachers' colleges and normal schools, or junior colleges.

In her personal conferences with other deans, Dean Runnals discussed almost exclusively the problem of the construction of new dormitories which becomes imminent as plans for moving Colby are matured. While no definite decisions were reached, many valuable ideas were advanced whose effects will undoubtedly be seen when direct action must be taken. Although no radical changes in the routine of Colby women are likely to result from the conference, the stimulation of such a sharing of opinion and experience will be transmitted, both in spirit and in practical application, to all the students of the women's division.

DEAN MARRINER SPEAKS AT CHAPEL

Addresses Men on Subjects Brought to Mind On Washington's Birthday

Dean Marriner addressed the men at chapel last Friday. His talk dealt with subjects brought to his mind on the anniversary of Washington's birthday.

Concerning Washington Dean Marriner treated the subject of truth. He spoke of the general childish conception of Washington being the truthful gentleman who cut down the cherry tree, and the fact that the very statement that Washington never told a lie is untruthful.

Dean Marriner moved to Lincoln, mentioning Master's Biography of the great man. He next mentioned that the world was again in serious need of such a political genius as Lincoln, and explained that the pendulum had swung back to such a degree that we were again arguing that old question of "state rights." He showed that the recent tendencies have been to increase the duties of the Federal Government. They are naturally rebelling against this because they are not able to take care of so much work. The states on the other hand are losing so much work that they seem almost idle.

He concluded by explaining further connections between the question of state rights, Washington and Lincoln, and our present difficulties.

Colby Weight Men Win Two Places

Coch Ryan and his weight men journeyed to Boston this week and successfully competed in the A. A. U. 35 pound weight championship meet. Colby may well be proud of the showing made by her representatives.

Brown of Bowdoin won the event with a heave of fifty feet three inches. George Sprague, '31, placed second with forty-nine feet four inches to his credit. Norman Perkins, '32, placed fifth making Colby the only college to place two men in this event.

Colby has the distinction of having had a national champion in this event. Kenneth Wentworth, '25, won first place in the 35 pound event in 1924.

Loring Elected Convention Delegate

Rupert LeRoy Loring, '31, has been elected by the honorary educational fraternity of the college, Kappa Phi Kappa, as its delegate to the national convention to be held in Syracuse, New York, March 26 to 28.

Loring is a popular and distinguished college citizen. He is secretary of the Delta chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, vice president of the Colby chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, a member of Phi Sigma Iota and of the Gamma Alpha chapter of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. Since the beginning of his college career, Loring has been one of the highest ranking students.

Sanroma Entertained By Fraternity Group

After his concert, last Tuesday evening, Jesus Maria Sanroma, the pianist, was entertained by the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity. Mr. Sanroma proved himself as versatile off the stage as before an audience. After a light luncheon he entertained the K. D. R. boys with music and excellent, humorous anecdotes.

Last Monday the Kappa Delta Rhos held open house from four to seven. Dancing was enjoyed, with music furnished by victrola and radio. Those not wishing to dance played cards. A light luncheon was served.

The patronesses were: Mrs. Euclid Helle, Mrs. T. B. Ashcraft, and Mrs. E. J. Colgan.

The committee in charge consisted of Thomas E. James, '32; W. S. Curtis, '32; P. A. Steinhilf, '32.

SHERWOOD EDDY'S BOOK.

Among the important books to come off the press in the last six months is "The Challenge of Russia" by Sherwood Eddy. This work has been highly commented upon by the New York Times Book Review Supplement. It is of interest to know that Mr. Eddy will speak on this subject while at Colby college.

COLBY GRADUATE SPEAKS HIGHLY OF SHERWOOD EDDY AS LECTURER

Former Visit To Colby Was Very Much Enjoyed By The Entire Student Body

WILL BE HERE MARCH 9 AND 10

"Are you honest?"
"Not a sound in an audience of some five hundred students, not a disconcerting movement in that mob of restless youth. Here was a dynamic personality. Here was a man whose wealth of knowledge, coupled with vast experience had produced a liberal intellectualism. Here was a man destined to be a leader. Sherwood Eddy, the great student leader, has undertaken a great mission. Realizing that to the younger generation falls the solution of the great world problems of today, he is endeavoring to influence it to a Christian decision. No man of lagged spirit and verbose expression could hope to influence or convict so skeptic an audience as a group of college students. No emotional evangelist could hope to impress these hearers. In his very earnestness, in his obvious sincerity, there is a strength of character that demands respect. In his terse diction there is unmistakable force.

"Whether or not Sherwood Eddy will, from Colby, enlist missionaries for international service, whether or not he will avert future wars, whether or not he will lead present day youth to Christian decision as to world problems remains a question; but most certainly by his personal magnetism and by his profound intellectualism, he will provoke students to think of these industrial, social, and religious questions. This thought, latent now, will be the force of later action, and future progress is dependent on each sound philosophies as his."

This quotation is by Philip G. Pearce, '25, a Colby student who heard Sherwood Eddy lecture here when the world renowned speaker and author came to Waterville several years ago.

On March 9 and 10 Sherwood Eddy will again be at Colby. During these days there will be special assembly meetings during the forenoons and afternoons and in the evenings he will give addresses.

Mr. Eddy graduated from Yale in 1891 and five years later he went to India. There he labored for fifteen years among the students of the Indian empire, after that time he was called to be Secretary for Asia for the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. Nine years of service in this capacity among the students and officials of India, China, Japan and the Near East and Russia have been characterized by the brilliance, energy, judgment and devotion so singularly combined in this statesman.

Sherwood Eddy has just returned from Europe where he has been making a study of political, social, and industrial problems. Recently he visited or worked in twenty-two of the principal countries of Europe and Asia. In Czechoslovakia he conducted the finest student conference in the new republic, five hundred years after John Huss, the rector of the University of Prague, was burned at the stake.

In Cairo two theaters were filled each night, and the attendance rose from over 2500 a night in that city to more than 6000. In Assiut, Egypt, Mr. Eddy had special opportunities for interviews with the leading men of Europe, including President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia, the King of Bulgaria, members of cabinets, employers and labor leaders as well as students and professors of the universities of Europe. On his trip to Germany he had extended interviews and conferences with President Ebert, the Minister of Reparations, the late Chancellor, and representative leaders of the Universities, of Labor and Church and State. It is out of living experience with men that he can speak upon the present world situations.

The student committee in charge of this program consists of Richard D. Hall, '32; Ralph M. Snyder, '31; Jasper M. Foster, '31; Estelle P. Taylor, '32; and Winifred E. Hammett, '32.

Mr. Eddy is a popular and distinguished college citizen. He is secretary of the Delta chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, vice president of the Colby chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, a member of Phi Sigma Iota and of the Gamma Alpha chapter of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. Since the beginning of his college career, Loring has been one of the highest ranking students.

Captain Bairnsfather To Speak At Colby

"Old Bill" is coming to Colby. Captain Bruce Bairnsfather, the creator of this lovable character, who has been given the title of "the man who made the world laugh in its darkest moment," is to present a lecture in the lecture series at Colby. It must not be supposed that Captain Bairnsfather will be entirely humorous. His experiences are so broad and his art so universal that humor will be only one phase—he tells stories of adventure, romance, and experiences wrapped up in laughs.

Captain Bairnsfather has had many of his cartoons made into slides which were drawn particularly for his lectures. He also draws cartoons while on the stage. The best recommendation we can give him, is that you can see his cartoons in "Life," "Judge" and some of the other magazines for which he contributes and that you read some of his books, preferably "The Better 'Ole."

"DEFINITION" SUBJECT OF CHAPEL TALK

Reverend Metzner Speaks to Men's Assembly

The Reverend Harold Metzner spoke to the men's assembly Wednesday last on the subject "Definitions." He stated that the most accurate method of giving a definition was by illustration. If he were asked for a definition of patriotism, he said that he would answer with the story of some great patriot. If asked for a definition of friendship, he would cite an incident, which would express his ideas far better than he could possibly do otherwise.

Reverend Metzner proceeded to carry out his theory by giving a dramatic presentation of Kenneth Goodman's play "The Dust of the Road," as a definition of conscience. The narrative tells of the conversion of a narrow minded, old lady to a sympathetic lover of mankind. The theme of the play is the power of conscience, personified by a tramp called "The Dust of the Road." It is he who, by visiting the home of Prudence and reminding her of a crime she has committed, forces her to realize that she has sinned, that she must undo the wrong, and repent.

Auguste M. Bocquel Talks To Colby Women

Auguste M. Bocquel of Waterville was the speaker at women's chapel on Thursday morning, Feb. 19, taking as his subject "Simplicity and Sincerity in Interior Decoration."

"For the student," said Mr. Bocquel, "the home is the room where the student is located around his or her books. 'My home,' said Emma Eldridge, 'is the place where my books and I are'—where you can relax and be content, where you can talk of something else beside the class room. 'Interior decorating must be restful and therefore all startling effects should be avoided. The purpose is to create useful, beautiful things. Utility and beauty are two of the great words in interior decorating. Simplicity and sincerity can be achieved by the application of certain rules of study learned through the ages. Large sums of money need not be expended. When the objective is right, the cost does not enter it."

Mr. Bocquel went on to explain what he meant by sincerity in interior decoration. Artificial flowers which represent no natural form, fireplaces which are not intended to be used for fires, and the grouping of furniture of different periods in one room were some of his examples.

"Simplicity in the treatment of the home has a lot to do with making it livable," Mr. Bocquel continued. "Sometimes it has more furniture than is needed. Simplicity will lead to the restful which is one of the most important attributes of the home."

In conclusion he said, "There is a great relation of interior decorating to the life of today. Simplicity and sincerity is the characteristic of your generation that will take you a long way."

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 25, 1931.

During the week-end just passed a college problem of long standing was brought to the attention of both divisions of the student body. That is the noticeable lack of social functions open to both the men and women of Colby. Saturday evening was free for a gym dance or any sort of an informal affair. The argument immediately raised against this is of course the fact that one fraternity and one sorority held initiation banquets. But it seems improbable that because one-tenth or so of the students were thus engaged, the remaining majority should have to forego the pleasure of a gym dance or the like.

One fraternity did hold an "Open House" Monday afternoon but this is the exception rather than the rule on a holiday. There is no reason why other fraternities could not have held similar functions if they so desired. But tea dances and dances other than the Fall informals and Spring formals, allotted by the Student Council, are sadly lacking and we do not think that the primary reason for their lack lies in the inertia of the students themselves.

Probing further into the problem we find that there are some other shortcomings in the social life of the college. In the first place there are too few formals. Our attention is called to the fact that each fraternity at the University of Maine is allowed two formal dances each year as a regular program. But here it is seldom that we see a group hold a formal affair in addition to its Spring dance. Another point of contention is in relation to the hours of college dances. There has been a tendency to restrict hours, formals especially being cut down more than is the case in most colleges. Also there has been, for the last two years at least, a total lack of class sponsored affairs. Even the "Junior Prom" and Junior week-end was missing last year. An institution so well founded and so typical of the New England college ought not to be done away with and the class of '32 will do well to put across a Junior week-end program this Spring. The "Soph Hop" which took place at Bowdoin this past week-end points out another failing in our system as there are no week-end affairs at Colby as a regular occurrence.

We realize that Colby is not a college composed of students who place social life above other things but there are faults in our present practices which should, and well might be, ironed out by faculty-student cooperation. Perhaps the trouble lies in the fact that students are too indifferent or too lazy to make real efforts towards more liberal allowances regarding their own social affairs. The Gladiator column is the student mouthpiece and constructive criticism on this subject would perhaps aid in the search for liberalism.

In accordance with the policy of spreading out the "ECHO" over as large a portion of the student body as possible the next issue will contain a department more or less new. Under the heading "With the Greeks," an attempt will be made to gather up all fraternity and sorority news of interest to the college at large and to the alumni of Colby. This column will make stronger recognition of fraternal activities than has formerly been the case.

If this column is to succeed the fraternities and sororities must regard the department as essentially their own and as a place in which to make known their activities. In addition to the usual initiations, banquets, dances and other social affairs, news regarding individuals in the organizations will be appreciated as well as news concerning alumni of the Greek-letter bodies.

The fraternities should make their reporters responsible while a similar system could be arranged in order to obtain news regarding the sororities. The makeup of the column will be determined purely on the basis of interesting news material submitted by each group. The continuance and length of the column will also depend upon the amount of interest shown by the fraternities and sororities.

Ye Gladiator Column

Letters in the Gladiator Column are expressions of opinion by individual contributors to that column and the editor assumes no responsibility for any statements, allusions, or assertions made in them. The column is a free-for-all and student contributions are solicited.

Dear Gladiator:

On the surface it appears that the ECHO of two weeks ago, the first to be published under the "new" staff, was late. The facts are not as quoted in the editorial however but these. The ECHO came off the press after 6.00 p. m., not sometime in the afternoon. Now, at six o'clock most freshmen are eating and after eating it appears that several freshmen, whose duty it was to distribute the ECHO, were required for fraternity initiations. Truly this is the fault of the Circulation Manager! If the editorial staff had functioned as it did in bygone years the ECHO would have been off the press by five o'clock at the latest and then could have been distributed earlier. Now suppose the editor explains why the ECHO has been consistently late all year, not just an hour but a day. In looking over the staff I see but very few new faces, the higher officers are exactly the same, so please don't pass the buck, editor. We are not blind! We voted for a new constitution because we believed that the paper would become more representative of Colby, not "Elm Street." This has not come about as twelve of the twenty men on the staff are centered in one fraternity. Truly this cannot be called representative of Colby. Come on ye editors, for the sake of some 600 undergraduates and the 250 Alumni readers, make your write-ups more representative of Colby college.

Joe Colby.

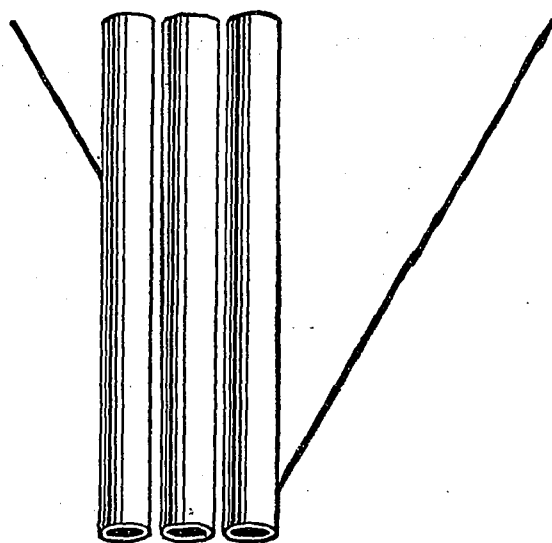

P. S.—If this does not appear in the ECHO, copies will be posted on all College bulletin boards.

Last Thursday the Theta Kappa Nu five met the Non-frats in a very one-sided game as far as the score was concerned. The game was exciting enough all during the four fast periods, due to the fighting spirit of both teams. Davidson of the Non-frats was the star, scoring from all angles.

Last Saturday afternoon at the gym the K. D. R.'s met the Zetes and lost to them by a very narrow margin. This game was by far the best this year. Neither team was sure of a win until the end of the game. Both teams played a good game of basketball and kept the game going every minute. Malsch of the K. D. R.'s was the high scorer of the day, dropping them into the hoop from all positions on the floor. Crabtree of the Zetes was their high scorer. All the men on both teams played a sterling game.

The Phi Deltas were taken over in a fast game last Saturday afternoon by the D. U. five. The D. U.'s had the edge on the Phi Deltas all of the way through the game and were never hard pressed at any time during the game. The Phi Deltas played a fast game but could not seem to make use of their speed. Fowler and Mansfield of the D. U.'s did the high scoring of the day.

"Y" Holds Regular Discussion Group

At the R. R. Y. M. C. A. last Thursday evening a discussion under the leadership of the Rev. Harold Metzner was held on the Educational System of Colby. The seminar system and the cut system came in for particular emphasis. "If the cut system is to be changed," one of the group stated, "the examination system will have to be changed. If the examination system is changed, the attitude of the professors and the students will have to be changed towards each other and towards the new system."

The paramount question, which faced the group and upon which all realized the success or failure of the change would depend was whether or not there would be a sufficient number of students with mature enough minds to use this new system to their best advantage.

This Thursday the subject of discussion is "Do we owe any responsibility to our friends or to those with whom we come in close and intimate contact?"

This group meets every Thursday at the R. R. Y. M. C. A. at 5:45 P. M. and all who are interested in attending the supper and discussion should get in touch with the chairman of the Discussion Committee, Harold F. Lemoine, by Thursday noon at the latest.
