White Mule Contains Many New Features

Ye Mule Whythe, playing her first role as a "gay ninety" number, has been issued. With tandem bicycles, celluloid horse collars, tennis racketeers, and even with conclusions of the camera club the role is well played. In fact, the managing editors have given the best of their works in both the literary and art departments.

Leonard Hollo, writing the first instalment of his novellette, "Fraternity," introduces that typical Co-ed Dawn Colton, big-boy Biff Johnston, and the boy Nelson as they carry on at "Dear Old Brama." The editorial column lists "Old Spanish Customs of the Nineties," Professor Bners gives confidential advice, while the Disc column solves the "Vie" problem. These features coupled with the usual overflow of original jokes that have given the Mule a high standing among comic publications, are well deserving of your reading in that "moment blow."

Eunice Foye and Paul Foldman of the respective divisions are prepared to supply all students who wish copies.

BRUCE BAIRNSFATHER ENTERTAINS AUDIENCE

Large Crowd Hear "The Man Who Made The World Laugh At Its Darkest Hour"

Captain Bruce Bairnsfather known as "the man who made the world laugh at its darkest hour," entertained an audience which filled the Alumnae Building to its capacity last evening. Bairnsfather's lecture sparkling with wit and the sketches drawn by him with only a moment's work with the charcoal served to make this, the fourth of a series of lectures sponsored by the college, a great success.

After being introduced to his audience by Dean Marriner, the lecturer traced his life from his birth in India up to the outbreak of the great war. "I was born in India," said Bairnsfather, "because birth control was unheard of in that day." His father being an army man, it was only natural for him to go into the standing army of Great Britain, but this life did not appeal to young Bairnsfather and finally convinced his father to send him to art school. After his graduation he secured his first work drawing advertisements for Beecham's pills. Later on he did similar work for Sir Thomas Lipton's Tea Company. Then he left his work and went into the field of engineering. He went to Newfoundland for his first position, but he soon tired of this and took a tramp steamer back to Liverpool.

The war broke out and as Bairnsfather said, "Out of a burst of patriotic ardor and unemployment I joined up and went to the barracks where they seemed glad to see me." Soon he went to France and crawled into the first trenches of the war.

Captain Bairnsfather showed upon the screen the most famous of his many drawings and told the story which is connected with each. The dismal side of trench life is illustrated in a humorous way. Ole Bill appears in every sketch in some predicament which is hilarious in its pathos.

In a very humorous way, Captain Bairnsfather issued two warnings against war. The women of France are not like those pictured in such movies as "What Price Glory" or "The Big Parade." They are far different as was evident from his pictures upon the screen. The posters issued by the government are not true to life. The cartoonist's sketch of the real doughboy showed him to be a depressed individual in comparison to the gallant soldier depicted by the recruiting posters.

Two years ago Bairnsfather contracted to draw Ole Bill and Bert for "Judge." Since that time Ole Bill has been appearing in American periodicals. He has been in "The New Yorker," "The American Magazine," "The Mentor," "Life" and others.

At this point the lecturer turned from the screen and took up his charcoal. Before sketching, he told his audience that Ole Bill was not any particular man whom he had been associated with in the war, but that he was the representation of the state of mind of the British soldier. With marvelous dexterity he dashed off four of five sketches of Ole Bill. These showed the Ole Bill of the different periods since 1914 down to the present day.

In concluding his most entertaining lecture, Captain Bairnsfather said that he was one of the few survivors of the famous Christmas day truce of 1914. His last sketch was one of an American doughboy at Chateau Thierry.

Dual Debate Thursday Evening

Thursday evening a dual debate will be held between Colby and the University of New Hampshire. The subject of discussion will be that of unemployment insurance. The debate here will be held at 7:30 in the college chapel with Colby upholding the affirmative. This team will be composed of J. E. Poulin, '33, and T. J. Kenney, '31. The negative team that will travel to Durham will be composed of Sumner P. Mills, '34, and of Ralph Nathanson, '34.

COLBY STUDENTS ATTEND CONFERENCE OF N. E. COLLEGES

Debate On Present Day Regulation of Electric Utilities Opens the Meeting

At the sixth annual Mid-Winter Conference for men and women students from Greater Boston and Northeastern New England, which was held February 27, 28 and March 1, the Colby Y. W. C. A. was represented by Ruth Pineo, '31, Margaret G. Henderson, '34, and Gwendolyn G. Mardin, '32. The representatives of the Y. M. C. A. were John S. Davidson, '31, Willard E. Alexander, '31, Robert Allen, Jr., '31, Carleton D. Brown, '33, Harro Wurtz, '33, and Ford A. Grant, '34.

The conference opened Friday afternoon with an attendance of one hundred thirty-six representatives from New England colleges. The program was a debate, "Resolved: that Present Day regulations of electric utilities does not adequately safeguard the interests of the public." The affirmative was upheld by Edward C. Moran, Jr., of Rockland, introduced as an excellent optimist because of his democratic relations, and the negative by W. Gerald Holmes of Central Maine Power Company. Mr. Moran stated that one power company was receiving $16,000,000 for what it costs them $4,000,000 to furnish the power and as a result the rates were extremely high. Since the negative side was somewhat weak, no definite statement was reached. The debate was followed by a discussion.

On Saturday morning the program was resumed by Dr. Harry W. Laidler talking on the subject of public control of utilities. Mr. Laidler gave a specific example. He stated that the people of Ontario considering their rates too high, bought a power plant of their own and furnished power to six hundred municipalities at a cost of less than two cents per kilowatt hour. Mr. Damon E. Hall of Boston followed Mr. Laidler with a talk on the Garrett case which the newspapers gave prominence to two years ago. Then Mr. Dowling of Boston spoke on the connection of big business with crime. He blamed big business for the crime of today, and declared that high officials should not be elected for term, but by their good work. Thus, mayors or others in state offices should come and go according to their worth. He also stated that public service was a career open to young people. Discussions followed these talks in which all representatives participated.

Saturday afternoon everyone was free to do as he pleased, and winter sports—skiing, tobogganing and snow-shoeing were enjoyed. Saturday evening Dr. John Schroeder of Portland gave an address on "Christian Ethics and Ideals." The remaining part of the evening was spent in dancing.

Sunday morning Mr. Laidler further discussed the power issue and municipal graft and the stand which college students should take in facing these problems. In conclusion he said, "The students should learn about them first and then dare."

Sunday afternoon a church service was conducted by Mr. William Kitchen and Mr. Buell Gallagher. This witnessed the last gathering of the conference, and after dinner the meeting was adjourned.

Musical Program At Men's Chapel

An excellent musical program was provided at men's assembly last Friday by Rossiter Marcou and Theodore Perry, both of Coburn Classical Institute.

The numbers were as follows: Baritone solo, "Ave Maria"—Yon Rossiter Marcou
Baritone solo, "Give a Man a Horse Ho Can Ride"—O'Hara Rossiter Marcou
Baritone solo, "Morning"—Speaks Rossiter Marcou
Duet, "The King of God My Shepherd Is"—Shelley Theodore Perry, tenor
Rossiter Marcou, baritone
Mr. Perry also sang at women's chapel on Saturday. Accompanied by Prof. Everett F. Strong, he gave the following selections: "At Dawning," "Calm as the Night," and "In a Gondola," with the encore, "Danny Boy."

COLBY DEBATING TEAM RETURNS FROM MOST SUCCESSFUL TRIP

Defeated Debaters At Storrs Friday And Met N. Y. U. Saturday

Monday afternoon, the Colby Debating team, composed of George Freemont Sprague, '31, and Harold

HAROLD F. LEMOINE

Frank Lemoine, '32, returned from a most successful trip to Connecticut and New York City.

At Storrs, Connecticut, on Friday evening, the team won over Connecticut Agricultural College when B. R. Wealocks, expert debating judge, rendered a clean cut decision in favor of Colby. The men reported that while at Storrs they were most cordially received and entertained.

Saturday morning the team travelled to New York, where, that afternoon, the men had a unique experience:

Over the broadcasting system of station WEVD they debated the New York University team composed of Bernard I. Strauss and Herman D. Baker. The verdict, in this case, was to be decided by the radio audience, but at the time of departure complete returns had not been received. However, the announcer, John McCormack, stated that in his personal opinion the decision belonged to Colby.

In both contests Colby upheld the negative side of the proposition: "Resolved: That the states should enact Legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance."

ECONOMIC CONFERENCE TO BE HELD THIS WEEK

Banking and Development of Pulp Wood Industry Subject of Discussion

The four Maine colleges are to participate in an Economic Conference which will be held in Augusta on March 6 and 7. At the conference which is sponsored by the Maine Development Commission problems will be discussed which are both absorbing and of intense interest to the student of economics.

Banking and the development of the wood pulp industry are among the subjects to be discussed. Miss Muriel J. MacDougall, '31, will take an active part in the conference by speaking on "Vocational Opportunities for Women in Maine," and Mr. Ralph M. Snyder, '31, will deliver an address concerning "Power Development in Maine." Other delegates from Colby attending the conference will be: Agnes M. Ginn, '31, Doris M. Spencer, '31, J. Dorsa Rattenbury, '32, Henry C. Dubar, '31, Edson H. Cooper, '31, Roderick E. Farnham, '31, Richard D. Hall, '32, Francis W. Juggins, '31, Henry W. Rollins, '32, and George H. Stern, '31.

Colby Debaters Win Decision

Last Thursday evening in Colby chapel, before an enthusiastic audience of about one hundred and fifty, the Colby Debating team defeated the Massachusetts Agricultural College representatives in a closely argued contest.

The Colby team upheld the affirmative side of the proposition: "Resolved: That the several states should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance to which the employers shall contribute." Colby was represented by Frederick Donald Poulin, '31, and Arthur Wilson Stetson, Jr., '34. Their opponents from M. A. C. were Richard S. Folger, '32, and Looftard A. Salter, Jr., '32.

The presiding officer of the debate was George Freemont Sprague, '31, president of Pi Kappa Delta, honorary debating society. On the board of judges were Hon. Ernest E. Finnimore, Rev. Lester L. Lewis, and Mr. Hugh Travers.

For M. A. C., the second speaker, L. A. Salter, made a particularly creditable showing. A. W. Stetson, Jr., of Colby, may be expected to make notable performances in the field of debate before he graduates in '34.

SHERWOOD EDDY TO SPEAK MONDAY

Noted Lecturer Will Deliver Four Addresses While At Colby

Next week, for the third time, Mr. Sherwood Eddy will visit Colby. Our first chance to hear him will be Monday morning at 9:30 when a joint assembly will be held in the Alumnae Building. Again in the evening and at two similar meetings on Tuesday, we will have a chance to listen to Mr. Eddy. The program of his addresses is as follows:

- Monday, 9.30—"The Present World Situation."
Monday, 7.30—"The Challenge of Russia."
Tuesday, 9.30—"Can We Still Believe in Religion?"
Tuesday, 7.30—"Gandhi and India."

In other lands students have made long journeys to listen to this man. He is one of the few persons who have a genius for speaking to young men and women. He has just returned from a world tour and is brimming over with his experiences. He visited Gandhi for a time and speaks with authority about that world figure. He spent much time in China and visited Russia again.

Who Is Sherwood Eddy?
Mr. Eddy is a western man, born in Kansas. His mother went to school with Buffalo Bill in the early "Wild West" days among the first settlers of the West. As a graduate of Yale and a post-graduate student of Princeton he also knew college life in the East.

His more than thirty years experience among the students and leading men of Asia and his work among followers of all of the world's great faiths and religions, as well as among students under the spell of materialism and skepticism in Europe, has broadened his vision and sympathy for men. Although for many years in the Orient, he is a modern man in every sense of the word. In the intervals of his intense activity among students of India and his work for the depressed classes, he occasionally took a week off for big game shooting in the elephant and tiger jungles.

Mr. Eddy is a layman and a civil engineer who left his special profession to turn to human engineering as the greatest calling in life. Equally interesting, like Theodore Roosevelt, in science, philosophy, literature and big game shooting, he is most of all interested in man. His recent study of the social and industrial problem in Europe brought him into contact with the employers, labor leaders, and the young intellectuals who are seeking a practical solution to the problems that confront America today.

Although his interests cover many phases of life, it is not at the cost of superficiality, for in his life and message he strikes clearly and with no uncertain sound a deep spiritual note, as he grapples with the problems of the modern world, and calls men from the lower ambitions of a crude materialism to a high faith in God and humanity.

GRACE COBURN SMITH

As the ECHO goes to press, word is received of the death of one of Colby's most loyal alumnae, Mrs. Grace Coburn Smith, of the class of 1893.

After an illness of nearly a week, Mrs. Smith died in Washington, where her husband, George Otis Smith, has been connected with the National Geological Survey until his appointment as chairman of the federal power commission.

While at Colby she was very prominent in all college activities, and in her sorority, Sigma Kappa, of which she was grand president in 1909-1911. The sympathy of Colby men and women is expressed for Mr. Smith and the members of his family.

Third Session Of History Seminar

The third session of Dr. Wilkinson's English History Seminar took place Friday night in the Alumnae Building. The meetings are held informally; one of the group lectures on a relevant subject which interests him while the other students take notes on the new information and ask questions. Thus far Miss Janet D. Locke, Mr. James M. Lok, and Mr. Clinton F. Thurlow have spoken on Disraeli, Gladstone, and Parnell respectively.

Student Council Sponsor Dance

After the basketball game last Saturday, a dance was held, sponsored by the Student Council in the gymnasium. This was the first dance in the men's gym this year and was well attended. Music was furnished by George Roger's Collegians. The patrons and patronesses were Dean Ninetta M. Runnals, Professor and Mrs. McCoy, Professor Danoff, and Professor Smith.

Congratulations to the Student Council. The program arranged Saturday evening was a success in every way and more of them in the future would be welcomed by the Colby undergraduates, both men and women.

Ye Gladiator Column

Letters in the Gladiator Column are expressions of opinion by individual contributors to that column and the editor assumes no responsibility for any statements, allusions, or assertions made in them.

Dear Gladiator:

Just off the press is the "gay ninety" issue of "Ye Mule Whythe." This magazine is the product of Colby students and is deserving of student support.

Some time ago there appeared in this column an article written by one of our co-ords who seemed to crave emancipation from the rules of this institution which pertain to the safeguarding of these frivolous girls from society, or rather the safeguarding of society from them.

Obviously enough the authorities have not been moved by the cries of this discontented female, and why should they? It is true, as she pointed out, that Colby men enjoy the same freedom that all colleges grant to men students and well they should, for they are men and women cannot be granted freedom on equal terms with them.

Our co-ords have no grounds upon which to argue for freedom while they remain in their present stage of development. Silly girls who have nothing better to occupy their time than to peddle choice morsels of gossip have not the mental foundations to assume the grave responsibilities which would beset their position were they to be accorded equal rights and privileges with men.

In the annals of Colby, we find that this generation of Colby women is no different from those which have gone before. It seems that the prattling mouth of the co-ord has been handed down from time immemorial.

Damon and Pythias.

Dear Gladiator:

If your editors will pardon the intrusion I would parley with you for a short space.

Within the past few days the information has come to me through sundry channels that Colby college has ventured to put forth a varsity relay team. It is also rumored that the track coach has seen fit to send this team afield on two different occasions to race other teams.

After I had curbed my patriotic zeal to some extent I asked "Where did you get your fantastic information?" I was informed that it was gleaned from the Boston papers.

am unable to remember any more of the incident. However, this much I think will serve to show the impossibility of some people.

Well, Gladiator, I have been rambled along with my story telling and nearly forgot what I intended to say. Be patient and hold your dinosaurs. What I was going to say was that I am inclosing a check for $200 for a life subscription to the ECHO providing the same editorial board holds office until the members meet a natural or violent death.

The orac and only fault I have to find with your paper is that a trifle too much attention is being paid to varsity sports such as hockey and track and RELAY.

Many thanks, '31.

Dear Gladiator:

I should like to ask you some questions. Here in college in some of our classes it is absolutely necessary to abide by certain specific rules in order to pass the course, isn't it?

Now, isn't it just as fair to expect the same from the professor? I happened to be down town the other day when a certain Colby faculty member deliberately broke the laws of this city.

The point I desire to make is this: Isn't it just as important for a Colby college professor to obey the traffic laws of this city as it is to obey the laws of English versification?

Yours for better law enforcement, Sid Colby.

Portland A. C. Edge Out Colby 40 to 37

The Portland Athletic Club edged out the Colby team, picked from the interfraternity league, in a closely fought battle at Portland last Friday. Colby got off to a poor start, but made things hot for the Portland five in the last period.

Goodwin Preliminaries To Be Held Saturday

The preliminaries for the annual Goodwin Prize Speaking Contest are to be held Saturday, March 7. Any man in college may try out. Special prizes aggregating one hundred dollars are to be given.

"Y" Holds Regular Discussion Group

On Thursday, Feb. 26, the Y. M. C. A. discussion group held its regular meeting in the R. R. Y. M. C. A. The discussion was based on a person's responsibility for his friend.

The question was considered from the point of what one expects a friend to be. This was taken up from three angles: intellectual appreciation, completion of a personality, and the emotional point of view.

The discussion at the next meeting will be along the line of a person's responsibility to the people with whom he comes in contact.

Camera Club Holds Meeting

A meeting of the Colby Camera Club took place Tuesday evening, Feb. 17, at the home of the Faculty Adviser, Joseph Coburn Smith.

The program consisted of two reels of motion pictures of the State Y. M. C. A. camp, most of which were taken by Carleton D. Brown, '33.

Mr. Smith answered questions concerning these pictures and pointed out some of the elements of artistic composition. Most of the prints were made by the "bromoil" process.

Inter-Frat Meet Next Saturday

After two years, the interfraternity track meet for the Upsilon Beta cup will be resumed next Saturday. Competition will be close in all events.

The Field House these past few days has been the scene of intense activity. Every man who ever has run or thought of running has donned track shoes and is out to show everyone how it was done at "old Squedunk High School."

The meet should give Coach Ryan a good line on his material for the out door season which is just around the corner.

Lucille Kidder Addresses Women

On Thursday, Feb. 26, Miss Lucille Kidder, a 1920 graduate of Colby introduced by Dean Ninetta M. Runnals, addressed women's chapel as speaker of the morning.

Miss Kidder told briefly the history and development of Occupational Therapy, enlivening the talk by recounting her personal experiences in this field of work.

Defining Occupational Therapy as "any activity, mental or physical, in an occupation prescribed by a physician to aid in recovery from disease or mental deficiency," Miss Kidder went on to say that to enable one to aid those unfortunates who are defective, one must possess patience, resourcefulness, mechanical ability, and mental balance.

To learn how to be an aid Miss Kidder suggested it as advisable to go to a school for Occupational Therapy and mentioned several, the Boston, Philadelphia, and St. Louis schools, which she considered particularly good.

Any co-ord at Michigan who is found wearing a fraternity pin is liable to a fine of $50 or six days in jail.

VARSITY BASEBALL SQUAD START SPRING PRACTICE

About Forty Candidates Turn Out For The Various Positions

Last week the varsity baseball squad started its practice in the new Field House. The Field House is going to be a great help in enabling the team to get well underway before the weather is satisfactory for outdoor practice.

Prospects for a championship team are very good this year. There are about forty candidates for various positions. Among these are Deetjen, Captain Heddericg, Ferguson, Mansfield, Roberts, and Davan who were letter men last year. Pearson, McNamara, and Thomas were on the squad last year, and will probably be slated for the varsity.

Out of the fifteen games to be played six will take place in Waterville. The team will go on one out of state trip, meeting New Hampshire State, Harvard, and Northeastern.

FRESHMEN WIN IN FOUR CORNERED MEET

In the first track meet to be held in the new Field House, the class of '34 rolled up 33 points, and defeated the teams representing Cony High School, Coburn and Kents Hill, Saturday afternoon. In Bevins, Coach Ryan has found an excellent middle distance runner as the Frosh captain won both the "600" and the "1000" in excellent time. ### A. T. O.'S TRIM PHI DELTS AND K. D. R.'S BEAT D. U.'S

The A. T. O. five had matters quite easy Saturday afternoon in taking over an unlucky Phi Delt team, 30 to 9. Stan Hersey played a strong game at center for the winners and counted 15 points for his afternoon's work. The passing of the Alpha Taus was smooth and most of the baskets came after a series of well planned passes. Plummer played a fine game for the losers as did Ferguson. Walker and Terry failed to count a point, time and again, their shots rolling in and out of the hoop. The summary:

In the most thrilling game that the old gym has witnessed in many a season the Kappa Delta Rho quintet upset the dope bucket by taking a 30 to 29 win from the previously undefeated D. U. five in the game played Saturday evening. The large crowd that jammed the gym was treated to a fine and spectacular exhibition of basketball from start to finish. The winners played a brilliant game and dropped in basket after basket from mid court. Irv Malsch was outstanding in this respect, his keen eye being mainly responsible for the Kappa Delt win. Fletcher played a great game under the basket and Slocum came through with a couple in the last minutes of the game when they were needed to settle the verdict.

The Delta Upsilon's played a smooth passing game and made a great bid for victory in the last quarter when they forged six points to the good, chiefly due to Fowler's passing and Fottor's timely scoring. Fowler was the best all around man on the floor and was at all times a danger. The first period was fast and found the K. D. R.'s on the long end of a 12 to 8 count. The D. U.'s came back strong in the second quarter and lacked a point of knotting the count when the game was half over with the Kappa Delt's leading, 14 to 13.

The teams played quite evenly in the third period with Malsch's long shots keeping the K. D. R.'s out in front, 22 to 20. The final period was a hectic one with the gym in a constant uproar as first one side, then the other, would score. With three minutes to play the D. U.'s were six points ahead but the undaunted K. D. R.'s kept up the pressure and a last minute basket gave them a well deserved victory. The game was clean for so strenuous a battle and was especially well handled.

It is hoped that this will not mark the end of the boxing season here at Colby, but that there will be staged later an elimination tournament to determine the championships in the various weights.
