

CLOSING CONCERT OF COLBY SERIES TO BE GIVEN SOON

Tapley Trio From Boston
Will Entertain Audience March 17

The third concert of the Colby Concert series which by many has been anticipated even above the others will take place on Tuesday evening, March 17, in the Alumnae Building. This concert will bring to a successful close the third year in which Colby students have taken the initiative to bring to Colby and to Waterville music that they would not otherwise have.

The Tapley trio brings from Boston artists of unquestioned merit and unusual popularity. Roland Tapley, violinist, at the age of eighteen became a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, that brilliant and exacting organization which admits to its membership only men whose artistry is of proven worth. Since his affiliation with this orchestra, he has become one of the most popular concert violinists. "His graceful technique, his delicacy of detail, his simplicity of style, and his rich beauty of tone make a lasting impression on all who hear him." Critics see Mr. Tapley not only as an accomplished musician but as an artist who has one of the most pleasing and ingratiating personalities of musical art.

The cellist of the trio, Mr. Langendoen, received his first training at Cape Town, South Africa. Later he studied with Charles Van Isterdael at The Hague Royal Conservatory, followed by study in both Berlin and Amsterdam. In the years 1914-1917 he was first violoncellist at the Royal Opera, The Hague. Since 1920 he has been a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The Boston Globe says of him: "Mr. Langendoen played with a remarkable skill. He is a cellist of more than common ability, producing a clear, full tone which never becomes sticky or muddy in quality."

Howard Slayman, pianist, is by reason of temperament and training especially qualified for the role of assisting artist. He is a sensitive and highly cultivated musician with rhythmic and vigorous style. For several seasons now Mr. Slayman has had

WOMEN'S DIVISION HOLDS UNDERGRADUATE BANQUET

President and Mrs. Johnson,
Senator Wadsworth, and Mrs. Woodman Among Guests

Last Wednesday evening, March 4, was the occasion of the eighth annual Undergraduate Banquet of the Women's division. The dining room at Foss Hall was beautifully decorated with daffodils, tulips and pussy willows and lighted by candles of colors to match the flowers.

President and Mrs. Franklin W. Johnson, Senator Herbert E. Wadsworth, chairman of the Board of Trustees, and Mrs. Eleanor S. Woodman of Winthrop, Maine, were the guests of the undergraduates. Mrs. Woodman is the donor of the Woodman stadium, and particularly well known to the women for her many gifts to them.

The toastmistress was Miss Grace R. Foster, 21, who conducted the program in the form of a collegiate open road, using as her theme the final stanza of Joyce Kilmer's "Trees." Sybil L. Wolman, '34, represented the Milstones; Anna G. Hannagan, '33, the Traveler's Choir; Marjorie J. Van Horn, '32, talked on Courage to Face the Road; and Marjory H. Dearborn, '31, described the Great Highway. The program closed with an address "Our Goal," given by President Johnson, the speaker of the evening.

The members of the Executive Board of the Student Government and the President of the Y. W. C. A. were seated at the speaker's table. General singing of old favorites was enjoyed between the courses with a vocal solo "The Old Road," by Janet D. Locke, '31.

Eleanor H. Rogers, '32, was chairman of the banquet committee. Other members of the committee included Winona M. Berrie, '31, Barbara A. Shorman, '32, Ella C. Gray, '33, and S. Madolyn Higgins, '34.

STUDENTS ATTEND ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

Representatives From The Four Maine Colleges
Present

The second college Economic Conference under the auspices of the Maine Development Commission, took place in the Senate chamber of the State House at Augusta on March 6 and 7. Students and instructors from Bates, Bowdoin, University of Maine, and Colby were present and participated both in the speaking and discussion of various subjects pertaining to industry in Maine.

After an invocation by the Rev. Herbert E. P. Pressey, Governor W. Tudor Gardner delivered an address of welcome. Clarence C. Stetson, chairman of the Maine Development Commission then explained the two-fold purpose of the conference: to give the delegates a good picture of the opportunities in Maine; and to be of service because the delegates would take back to their fellow students information of Maine in its true light.

Mr. Stetson's speech ended, a committee on resolutions of two members from each college was selected.

The first period of the conference dealt with Power as subject. Kenneth P. Twombly of the University of Maine was chosen as chairman and

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR GRACE COBURN SMITH

Members of Faculty, Alumni and Students
Present

Services for Grace Coburn Smith were held in Bethany Baptist Church in Skowhegan, Friday afternoon, March 6, conducted by the pastor, Dr. George Merriam, '79, assisted by Dr. E. C. Whittemore, '79, a trustee of Colby college. Among those present were President and F. W. Johnson and Dean Ninetta M. Runnals, representing the college; Dean and Mrs. Ernest C. Marriner, representing the Colby Alumni and Alumnae Associations; and a number of Colby alumnae and college students from the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and the Sigma Kappa and Chi Omega societies. A profusion of flowers brought their message of affection and honor from friends far and near, including the trustees of Colby, the Colby Alumni and Alumnae Associations, the Grand Chapter and Grand Council of Sigma Kappa, the local chapters of Delta Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Kappa, the girls of Mower House, and many other Colby friends.

Grace Coburn Smith, born in Skowhegan, September 10, 1871, was the daughter of Stephen Coburn, '39, and Helen Miller Coburn, and a niece of Governor Abner Coburn whose portrait hangs in the Colby Chapel and whose memorial to her father and brother was the main building of Coburn Classical Institute. In 1889 she was graduated from Skowhegan High School and in 1893 with English oration honors from Colby, later receiving her M. A. degree in German at George Washington University. In 1898 she was married to Dr. George Otis Smith, a classmate through school and college. They have sent four children to Colby, Charles, of the class of 1920, who died at the end of his freshman year, Joseph, '24, who later married Evelyn Goodale of the same class, Helen, '27, and Louise, a member of the class of 1933.

Mrs. Smith was a member of Bethany Baptist Church in Skowhegan, rendering a versatile service there, especially in the Sunday School and missionary society. The W. C. T. U., the Women's Club, the Skowhegan Town Improvement Society, D. A. R., Mayflower Descendants, and the Maine Writer's Research Club were among her interests, and in Washington she was president of Dupont Branch of the Y. W. C. A., and member of the A. A. U. W., Auxiliary of Society of Mining Engineers and other organizations.

She traveled extensively in Europe with her mother and her sister, Louise H. Coburn, '77, shortly after graduation, and with her husband in later years. She was a writer of charming verse and appreciative personal sketches and when in health was much in demand as a public speaker. As Grand President of Sigma Kappa for

COLBY STUDENTS ATTEND MODEL LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Groups Discuss World
Problems at Wellesley

Three Colby students were among the 350 delegates from thirty-five New England colleges at the Model League of Nations which assembled at Wellesley College last Friday and Saturday. Harro Wurtz, exchange student from the University of Berlin, was one of the German delegation in the League. Richard Cummings, '32, Malcolm C. Stratton, '33, and Edith F. Muther, '34, represented Roumania.

Mr. Wurtz was one of the four speakers at the meeting of the Assembly Committee No. 6, on Minorities. This commission of some fifty members met at 3.00 on Friday afternoon and conducted a thorough investigation of the condition of the 30,000 people who make up minority groups in post-war Europe. It drew up a resolution recommending sweeping changes in the existing minority treaties and in the legal procedure by which the League handles the disputes which are at the present time, the dominant factor threatening peace in Europe.

At the same time, a second commission on Mandates, a third on the Bank for International Settlements, and a fourth on the Briand Plan for a European Union drew up resolutions to present to the League Assembly.

Saturday morning, in an auditorium crowded with the delegates from 51 nations, each sitting in separate groups designated by its national flag and placards printed in French and English, the Model League of Nations met in general assembly to receive and discuss the Resolutions of the Commissions on Mandates and Minorities. Bursts of applause from the crowded galleries met fiery speeches hurled from the rostrum when feeling

SPRAGUE WINS PLACE IN I. C. A. MEET

The men representing Colby at the I. C. A. meet did remarkably well notwithstanding the fact that records were broken in two of the events in which they were entered.

George Sprague who was entered in the thirty-five pound weight event, placed fourth with a heave that would ordinarily win this contest. Steiner of Pennsylvania, who won three events was forced to a new record to win.

Christie also was entered in a record breaking performance. As was predicted Joe McCluskey of Fordham set a new record in the two mile.

Robinson was just outside the point scorers in both the broad and high jump. His jumps in both cases were excellent and speak well for his chances in future meets.

Perkins, also entered in the weights, was just outside the money. The same is true in his case as was in Sprague's, ordinarily his heave would have placed.

The story of the meet would not be complete without giving Chapman of Bates mention. He failed by a close margin in attempting to break the record in the half mile. "Doc" Brown of Bowdoin placed second in the 35 pound weight event.

President Johnson introduced as the speaker in woman's chapel, Thursday, Muriel J. MacDougall, '31, who gave an interesting and unusual group of poetry readings.

With the exception of the last, all of the poems were by modern writers. They were carefully selected, the serious ones being lightened by those of a more humorous strain.

The poems read were as follows:

"Joe," by Louis Britton; "Caliban in the Coal Mines," by Louis Untermyer; "The Terrible Infant," by Frederick Lamson; "The Unknown," by E. O. Laughlin; "Night," by Francis Bourdillon; "The Usual Way," by Anon; "Moonlight," by John Weaver; "Out in the Fields with God," by Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

SHERWOOD EDDY, NOTED LECTURER DELIVERS SERIES OF ADDRESSES

Speaks To Appreciative Colby Audiences
On Current World Problems

Mr. Sherwood Eddy, world traveler and student speaker, gave a series of four lectures at Colby last Monday and Tuesday which brought a new world outlook to the students and stimulated thought along many serious lines.

Joint assemblies were held both mornings in the Alumnae building and evening forums to which the townspeople were also invited took place in the chapel on Monday and in the Alumnae Building on Tuesday. Monday noon he was the guest of President and Mrs. Johnson, together with several faculty members, and Tuesday evening he had supper with about 40 students and professors in the Railroad Y. M. C. A.

The Present World Situation.

Dr. Eddy's first address was upon "The Present World Situation." He stated that he had just completed a trip around the world during which time he had visited twenty countries and he proceeded to outline the major trends in international affairs which he had observed.

"Everywhere I went," said Dr. Eddy, "I found political, social and economic unrest. The peoples of the world want political freedom, economic relief, and social justice. In many places there is danger of revolution."

"We are seeing go on before our very eyes some of the greatest ex-

COMBINED GLEE CLUBS GIVE ANNUAL CONCERT

Present One of The Finest
Concerts of The Year
In Alumnae Building

The combined Colby Glee Clubs appeared last Friday evening at the Alumnae Building in their annual Waterville concert which, this year, was the finest or one of the finest that was ever presented before a Waterville audience. The concert was followed immediately by a dance, the music for which was furnished by the Midnight Sons of Colby.

The concert this year was the climax of a very successful season under the new plan, the Colby Choir. Much favorable comment has been received from the public and student body concerning this concert arrangement and the concert Friday evening certainly bore out the hopes of everyone as to a successful season. The Choir was assisted in their program by the Colby Trio and Mr. Robert MacGregor, '34, an excellent tap dancer. Miss Janet D. Locke, '31, sang two excellent solos which contributed an air of professionalism to the entire program, giving it that air of completeness that the usual college glee club program usually lacks.

Miss Locke has a very smooth voice of a most pleasing quality and the Glee Clubs were very fortunate to have her at their disposal as an added attraction of artistic quality. Miss Locke has already made her radio debut and has a very promising musical future. Colby college should indeed be proud to have in her keeping such a talented singer.

The well-known Colby Trio hardly needs an introduction as they are already widely known, not only in their connection with the Choir but as an independent organization. Francis B. Smith, '34, violinist for the trio, is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music at Boston and is indeed a young man of unusual talent.

The other musicians are no less important in their own respective lines. Miss Viola R. Rowe, ex-'32, pianist, has already begun an advanced study of music due to her excellent natural ability and Miss Edith C. Langlois, '34, cellist, plans further study in that line after completing her study here. With these artists to contribute to the success of the program there was nothing but success in store for the Choir and its affiliated musicians.

The program for the evening was as follows:
Alma Mater, S. G. Bean, '05
Pater Noster, Tschalkowsky
Combined Clubs
Trio in B Flat Allegro, Mozart

periments that the world has ever known," continued Dr. Eddy. "In Russia for example they are attempting to secure social justice under social control and compulsion. India is in the midst of a social transformation."

"Then there is another great experiment which the whole world is observing. That experiment is the experiment of Nazareth. Later on I shall discuss in more detail this last great factor in relation to the world."

The Challenge of Russia.

Dr. Eddy stated that one of the most impressive features of Russia was its great size,—one-sixth of the land area of the entire world. To quote Dr. Eddy, "For good or evil, Russia matters profoundly. Here is a people daring to believe that there are more dynamic motivations than sordid, private profit,—the lazy, casual fatalistic Slav seems to be showing signs of change in his very psychology into a titan of energy and practical achievement."

Dr. Eddy described the tremendous change in agricultural life from one of primitive means to that of the highest mechanical efficiency. He went on to point out the greatest fallacy of the Soviets, a system of social justice for all by the process of force and under the rule of a dictator! He raised the question of whether the future generations which they are educating so carefully will be satisfied to live under the simple, if indeed not rigorous, life the present peasant is satisfied with.

In summarizing his speech Dr. Eddy stated that the present system had created one great good and one great evil. The former is social justice for all at any cost—by force if necessary—under the policy it is better for a few to suffer than a whole nation. The great evil is the absence of personal liberty; no freedom of speech, religion or press.

Can We Still Believe in Religion.

During the course of his address on Tuesday morning Dr. Eddy brought out the point that man needs religion. He stated that Russia could not crush out religion and that the kind of religion a nation had was the important factor. He criticized the American system of capitalism severely and in very emphatic terms described political corruption in our country. In closing he asked his audience to accept some ideas included in religion and gave out cards on which were printed six points of importance.

The following principles formed the basis for Dr. Eddy's address: Basic economic justice, Racial brotherhood, Clean politics, International Cooperation to make peace and stop war, Right relations between man and woman, and Right relations between man and God.

Gandhi and India.

Declaring his sympathy to be equally with India and England, and acknowledging the colossal difficulties facing the one as well as the splendid policy of government of the other, the speaker presented the case impartially on Tuesday evening.

If England demands credit for her gifts to India of protection from warfare, distinguished civil service, good educational, railway, and irrigation systems, the Indian retaliates by saying that the most excellent of foreign governments is no substitute for self government. Leaders in India fear national deterioration as a result of their "slave complex." Led by Mahatma Gandhi to seek dominion status first of all, and having failed to secure it, all unite in declaring for independence.

Dr. Eddy brought Gandhi vividly before his audience, describing his religious convictions, and his manner of life and thought. Mahatma Gandhi, standing firmly for principles of non-violent resistance and love, was quoted as having said: "Resist not evil with evil, but overcome hatred by love." Dr. Eddy added: "I have seen three Christ-like people in my life. Of these three I place Gandhi first and alone. I have resolved to enact my life in the way of Jesus and Gandhi."

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11, 1931

In an age when it appears that non-adherence to old, established customs is the thing to do there are still some traditions which should be held to. One of these is the seating in men's assembly. A few years back there were definite seats assigned to each man, the classes being placed in order and each student sitting with his own class. The idea of a definite seat was abolished when compulsory chapel was introduced last year but as far as we know the idea of sitting by classes has never been officially done away with. Yet there has been this year a marked tendency on the part of many upperclassmen to sit anywhere and everywhere. Because they fill out a ticket with their name and the date marked they seem to think that this gives them the liberty to sit anywhere in the chapel.

It gives an individual little satisfaction of being a senior if a sophomore comes into the senior section and audaciously takes a place among the four-year men. It is a fact worth noting that few if any take seats in a section beneath their own class. No juniors sit in the sophomore section but quite a number of sophomores see fit to occupy seats in the junior section quite regularly. There is a certain small amount of distinction in sitting in your own class section each assembly period and we should make an effort toward maintaining the old custom of each man sitting in the section provided for his class.

A great part of the Colby student body followed with genuine interest the attempt of Russell Chapman, Bates champion half-miler, to break the world's record last Saturday at New York. The Bates flyer came within a scant tenth of a second of setting a new world's mark and might have accomplished his purpose with someone to "push" him in the last couple of hundred yards. The nation wide reputation established by Chapman should make Colby students quite proud of the fact that in a neighboring college we have a man so nationally recognized as the Bates flash. Chapman is a genuine sportsman and well-liked wherever he goes. We join Bates in sincerely hoping that Chapman will set a new world's record in the near future.

Attendance at women's chapel during the past month has not shown the interest which should thrive in a group which is not restricted by a compulsory chapel ruling and whose programs are planned through student representatives.

Before the Detroit Convention, the general complaint that programs were not what the women wanted was an alibi for absence. The present system of student-faculty cooperation in planning of chapel programs, an outgrowth of the convention, offers an opportunity which more should realize, that suggestions from students are desired. It considers the wishes of the student. When such consideration is manifest, it seems that students should support what is sponsored for their own benefit, even though the support isn't required.

Carolynness seems to be the real cause of this disinterest. If not this, whatever it may be, reparations must be made or the inevitable will follow—compulsory chapel for women.

STUDENTS ATTEND.

George S. Williams, vice president and general manager of the Central Maine Power Company was called upon to speak on the Electric Light and Power Industry. He said that the industry was in its infancy and that opportunity in invention, research, and revision was offered to the energetic young man. Melvin W. Adams of the University of Maine contended that opportunities for college graduates in the power field were slight. He considered the passing of the export power bill which he said would create more opportunity for employment as the salvation for the college man in this line. An interesting talk by Ralph M. Snyder, one of Colby's speakers, disclosed his opinion that large scale development in Maine of her water power was unwarranted, and that the industrial growth of Maine with increased opportunity for the college graduate would be promoted by removal of restrictions on power exportation.

Francis W. Juggins was chairman of the second period of the conference which had to do with Vocational Opportunities for Women. Miss Emily R. Kneubuhl, executive secretary of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs maintained that "Women trained in college should be daring." She emphasized that higher salaries were paid to women in Maine for manufacturing, sales, and welfare work than in teaching and clerical professions. In conclusion, Miss Kneubuhl said "The woman who has courage, initiative, and ambition; the woman to strike out for herself, is the woman who will make the real achievement in business. I believe that there are no occupations today in which woman cannot succeed." Muriel J. MacDougall, Colby delegate, advanced the idea that women should be creative, not imitative. She mentioned dentistry, banking, clinic-technician work, and social work as spheres where women could hold their own. The speaker from Bates, Dorothy E. Christopher, emphasized personnel work and store managing as occupations for women, and queried, "What may be done to prejudice against conducting business with women?" Margaret E. Burrill held that there were too few occupations in Maine open for women.

In the third period, "Banking," Howard E. Thomas of Bates took the chair. P. B. Smith, president of the National Shoe and Leather Bank, told the delegates that a banker is a constant student. He believed small Maine banks were ideal institutions in which to learn banking. In stressing the versatility of bankers, he said that they had to build businesses, suggest business policies for concerns, and assist city, county, and state in financial problems. Lewis W. Hayes, Bates senior, said that banking conditions in Maine were good, since there have been no failures in three years, but he insisted that the personnel of the banks does not increase rapidly enough to warrant much opportunity for college graduates. Francis A. Wingate of Bowdoin pointed out that the small unit bank was quickly disappearing. He outlined "Branch" and "Group" banking and the opportunities of specialization in them.

Chief speaker of the fourth period was Dana York, manager, Woodlands Department, Oxford Paper Company, Rumford. He mentioned business administration, forestry, civil, and mechanical engineering, as well as hydrology, chemical, electrical, safety, and fire protection engineering as chances for the college graduate. He admonished, "The new graduate must not expect to run things at the start; he must not have more wishbone than backbone; he must not expect more pay than he can earn." In his speech Mr. York said that courage, patience, and decision were qualities required for this type of work. Albert E. Jenkins, Bowdoin student, spoke of the competition to Maine offered by Canada and Russia. He said that although there was no way to expand in the next few years, there would be opportunities for men in the engineering, producing, and sales departments. Elliot R. Barker, University of Maine delegate, showed that there was broad opportunity in the wood and paper industry for those who could invent, develop new processes, or improve old ones. Discrimination and aggressive leadership, he thought, were requisites for the worker.

Some of the resolutions adopted by the conference were: To hold the Economic Conference annually over two whole days, during which there would be contact between industrial leaders and prospective employees; to have a social science group to represent the organization of the Senior Economic Conference to bring before it as one of its problems the question of coordinating the members of out college graduate groups with opportunities in Maine industries.

two years and as contributing editor of the Sigma Kappa Triangle, for many years up to the present, she endeared herself to members of her sorority all over the United States. Mrs. Smith was deeply interested in all Colby women and projects of the Alumnae association. She composed the beautiful responsive service which was used at the laying of the corner stone and at the dedication of the Alumnae Building. After many years of illness, she had gradually regained a portion of her former health when a critical operation before Christmas kept her for two months in a Baltimore hospital. After a few encouraging days in her Washington home her earthly life was brought to a close. The entire college extends deepest sympathy to Dr. Smith and his family.

became heated over German-Polish Minority problems.

The resolution presented by the Minorities Commission recommended: (1) a change in the existing Minority Treaties, (2) the establishment of a resident representative of the League in the troubled area to gather unbiased facts to submit to the League, and (3) the establishment of a permanent Commission to investigate all complaints submitted either by minority or majority, and pass judgment on the question. Since this resolution would necessitate a change of the covenant, which now provides an extremely clumsy and inadequate machinery to settle these delicate problems, the vote had to be unanimous. Six countries were opposed to the change. Likewise the resolution presented by the Commission on Mandates was lost.

After the delegates had been served luncheon in the dining halls of several dormitories, the League reassembled. The Commission on the Briand Plan for a Proposed European Union made the following recommendation:

Since Economic cooperation of the European Countries is imperative to successful competition for World markets, a Convention should be called together by the League which would discuss (1) an Economic union; (2) the problem of wheat surpluses; (3) agricultural credits; (4) terms of the treaties by which all the European countries should agree to the Union. No political union was recommended as either possible or expedient at the present time.

The seriousness of the occasion was alleviated by a formal dance on Friday evening to which all the delegates and those students working on committees at Wellesley were invited. Foreign to the formal League procedure, too, were the critiques given by exchange professors from Oxford and Cambridge. Their comments were that the student discussion covered more material in a single day than the real League covered in a week, but that the delegates would stagger the Geneva assembly in their lack of diplomacy. They observed that the discussion was on a high intellectual plane that evidenced intensive preliminary study, and that the delegates did well to proclaim the typical opinions of their countries rather than their own unbiased judgments.

ZETE'S AND A. T. O.'S NOW
IN TIE FOR FIRST PLACETrim D. U.'s and K. D. R.'s
To Break Quadruple Tie

Two baskets by the diminutive Bobby McNamara won a 29 to 26 verdict for the Zetes from the D. U.'s in a fast game Saturday afternoon before a large crowd. The Zetes played exceptionally well all through the game and deserved their victory. All five men functioned as a team and were superior in all departments of the game. Fowler continued his good work and five Fowlers would have given his team a walk over. Fouls hurt the chances of the D. U.'s, three men being lost this way. The defensive work of the Zete guards was outstanding while Crabtree played a strong all-around game. Hank Pearson played a sterling guard game for the losers in addition to the brilliant work of Fowler. The summary:

Referee, Ferguson. Umpire, Terry. The A. T. O.'s made their chances for a second successive college championship quite secure Saturday afternoon by trimming a slow K. D. R. team, 44 to 26. The game was expected to be a close one but the losers failed to live up to their performance of last week and were lost before the fast passing and accurate shooting of the A. T. O.'s. "Shorty" Davis, in spite of, or aided by a bruised eye found the basket for 20 points. Tom Langley and Woppe Deetjen were also in rare form while Malsch did well for the losers. The summary:

INTERFRATERNITY MEET
UNDER WAY TODAY

Starting today, the interfraternity track meet will get underway at the Field House. Competition will be especially keen and an attempt at prophecying the outcome would undoubtedly be mere conjecture. There are, however, four outstanding teams, the Lambda Chi's, A. T. O.'s, Phi Delt's and K. D. R.'s. An examination of these teams shows the Lambda Chi's to be the strongest in the running events with Williams, Christie, Caddoo, and Trevorgy as the best bets. The A. T. O.'s show the most strength in the weights, especially in Pollard and Sprague. The Phi Delt's and K. D. R.'s will enter well balanced teams. The manner in which the latter two cut in with seconds and thirds will decide their chances of coping.

It is not unlikely that three or four college records might be broken in this meet. Robinson is capable of bettering both the high and broad jump marks, while Pollard, if going right will undoubtedly break the standing record in the discus. Trevorgy has gone higher than the college record several times this fall, in the pole vault and will probably repeat in this meet.

Three events that will prove interesting are the novice races. These contests give all men a chance to compete and so close will be the meet that it is very possible that these events will decide it. Furthermore they give the coach the opportunity to size up men who ordinarily would not come out.

K. D. R.'s Win
Bowling League

With the termination of the bowling league, we find the Kappa Delta Rho five firmly settled on top with a two point lead over their closest rivals, the Lambda Chi's. The Elm Streeters finished the first round in about third place and then began to make their strong bid for the top berth. They were successful in their attempt by virtue of the excellent bowling of Lord and Rushton. These two men have constituted the backbone of the winning outfit. Lord holds the high average of the league with a 97, while Rushton together with Hardy hold the high triples with 318.

The last match of the year was played Thursday between the Dekes and K. D. R.'s, in which the league leaders took four easy points. Rushton led the winners with a 313 total, and Peabody was the big gun for the Dekes, having banged off a 280 triple.

Boxing Exhibition
To Take Place Soon

The second annual St. Patrick's day carnival is shaping up as one of the big sporting events on the campus for this month. Coach Joe Yuknis is going to stage an exhibition of the art of self defense which promises to be full of socks and perhaps some good haymakers. Every afternoon this week the boys are training at the gym for this, the only public appearance which they will make.

The new Field House will be the scene of the fracas. A ring of regulation size will be erected and with the bleachers surrounding the roped square, the place should make the garden itself like Pa Korn's arena in Lowiston.

The entries are: "John L." Sullivan, "Harold Teen" Hayward, "Dapper" Dworkin, "Slippery" Shilbor, "Dynamite Dunn" Dalgle, "Laddie" Levine,

AMONG THE GREEKS

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON.

"Dick" Drummond, '28, of the Boston office of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, was a week-end visitor at the chapter house.

Edson Cooper, '31, and Richard Hall, '32, attended the Economics Conference held at the State House in Augusta.

"Wally" Donovan, '31, and "Bill" Martin, '31, were officials at the schoolboy track meet which took place at the Exposition Building in Portland last Saturday.

A. T. O.

The A. T. O. basketballers led by "Plug" Davis, who at present is wearing one of the best shiners seen at the house for years, are expending every effort to keep the interfraternity championship in the house for another year. The team emerged from the K. D. R. encounter with few scars and a lot of satisfaction.

George Sprague returned from New York on Monday copping fourth place in the thirty-five pound weight throwing championship at the I. C. A. A. A. games. Brother Sprague is showing rather nomadic tendencies of late. Three weeks ago our respected brother journeyed to Boston. He has spent the last two week-ends in the metropolis.

Rupert J. Loring, Sprague's assistant candy salesman, has secured the agency for the Boston and Maine Transportation Company which is operating three busses from Waterville to Boston, starting at twelve-thirty on Friday, March twentieth. The B. & M. Co. has agreed to cooperate so that prompt service is guaranteed. Miss Helen Ramsey of Foss Hall is working with Loring on the sale of tickets.

KAPPA DELTA RHO.

During their stay at Colby, William Stearns, '33, and J. Raymond Sawyer, '31, the University of New Hampshire debaters, were the guests of Kappa Delta Rho.

Horace B. Wescott, '33, who had to leave college last December visited the house last week-end.

Richard Cummings, '32, and Harro Wurtz, the exchange student, were with the group that visited Wellesley for the Model League of Nations Conference.

Willard E. Alexander, '31, and Francis Juggins, Jr., '31, attended the Economic Conference at Augusta last Saturday.

THETA KAPPA NU.

The cigars were passed around on Wednesday, March 4, in honor of the marriage of John J. Leno, '32, to Miss Amy Phinney, ex-'33, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard H. Phinney of Fairfield. The couple left Wednesday noon for New York where they will make their home.

Five men were taken into brotherhood in a recent installation ceremony of Maine Alpha of Theta Kappa Nu. The initiates were: Arthur A. Flewelling, '31, Monticello; Vernon L. Bolster, '33, South Sebect; Robert L. Strode, Jr., '33, Marblehead, Mass.; Francis W. Allen, '34, Waterbury, Conn.; Edward W. Cragin, '34, Waterville. The initiation was followed by a banquet. Philip S. Snow, '31, gave the address of welcome to the initiates and the reply was made by Francis Allen. The alumni were represented by Harold Clark, '28, and the main speaker was Professor C. Harry Edwards, faculty adviser of the fraternity.

DELTA DELTA DELTA.

The twenty-third annual initiation banquet of Alpha Upsilon chapter of the Delta Delta Delta sorority was held at the Elmwood Hotel on Saturday evening, March 7.

"Babe" Stiegler, Mauhasett's burley representative, is the new claimant to the wrestling championship of the dormitory, having defeated "Gabby" Fowler in a thirty minute bout on Saturday afternoon.

DEBATING ACTIVITIES

COMING DEBATE.

Thursday evening, a Colby debating team will meet a Tufts team. The subject for discussion is, "Resolved, That the United States should recognize the government of Soviet Russia." The Colby team will be composed of Miss Muriel J. MacDougall, '31, Miss Gertrude Snowden, '31, and Mr. Harold F. Lemoine, '32.

The Tufts team will consist of Mr. Leo J. Doheny, '31, Mr. Joseph M. Thornton, '31, and Mr. Warren E. Carley, '32.

The debate will be held in the college chapel at 7.30 o'clock. It will be a no decision, open form debate. Each speaker will speak for twelve minutes after which each side will have one rebuttal of five minutes length.

COLBY-NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Terminating a string of three victories, the Colby Debating team lost the decision to the representatives of the University of New Hampshire in the Colby chapel last Thursday evening.

Thomas James Kenney, '31, and Roland James Poulin, '31, representing Colby on the negative side of the proposition, "Resolved, That the Several States should enact Legislation providing for Compulsory Unemployment Insurance to which the Employers shall contribute." William Stearns, '33, and J. Raymond Sawyer, '31, successfully upheld the affirmative side. Of the four speakers, Sawyer was the most interesting and better informed.

The presiding officer was Harold Frank Lemoine, '32, manager of debate, and the judge of the debate was Mr. Gordon F. Gallert of Waterville.

Thursday evening, March 5, a Colby debating team consisting of Sumner P. Mills, '34, and of Ralph Nathanson, '34, met the debating team of the University of New Hampshire at Durham. The subject under discussion was that of unemployment. The decision was awarded by an expert judge to the New Hampshire team who upheld the affirmative side of the question.

On Friday evening, March 13, Colby will debate Weber College from Ogden, Utah. This team travels the greatest distance of any that Colby will debate this year. The subject of debate will be that of unemployment and the Colby team will uphold the negative side.

The Colby team will be composed of George F. Sprague, '31, and Robert J. Finch, '33.

COLBY-MIDDLEBURY.

On Friday evening, March 6, the Colby debating team composed of Gertrude L. Snowden, '31, and Mildred P. Nelson, '32, won by the unanimous decision of three judges, their debate at Middlebury, Vt., with Middlebury College team.

The negative side of the proposition: "Resolved, That the states should enact Legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance," was upheld.
