COLBY CONCERT SERIES FOR 1931 BROUGHT TO CLOSE

Tapley Trio Ends Successful Season with Fine Concert

The 1931 season of the Colby Concert Series was brought to a successful close last evening with a concert by the Tapley Trio of Boston in the Alumnae Building. A varied program, made up of selections by the Trio, interspersed with violin and cello solos, was received by the large audience with their usual enthusiasm and appreciation. The Trio is composed of Roland Tapley, violin, Jacobus Langendoen, cello, and Howard Slayman, piano, and each one an artist. Both Mr. Tapley and Mr. Langendoen exhibited wonderful technique and tonal quality in their solos, and Mr. Slayman, although not offering a solo, did particularly fine accompaniment work. ## PHI BETA KAPPA INITIATION APRIL 9

The spring initiation of the Phi Beta Kappa society will take place this year on Thursday, April 9th, at 6 P. M., in the Elmwood Hotel. The speaker for this occasion will be President Kenneth C. M. Sills of Bowdoin College. The executive council has again decided to invite members of the chapter to bring guests with them to the banquet.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON ADDRESSES CHAPEL

Says The Aim of College Training is To Develop The Individual

President Johnson took as a text for his chapel talk on Monday the parable of the talents from Saint Matthew's Gospel. From this he showed that the aim of a college education is to develop the individual. "Only through the development of your talents may you go out as an individual into the world," said the President in opening his address.

Education has for a long time tried to develop students in the same mould. Modern education is striving to get away from this and to foster the individual and individuality. Conformity is easy and as a people we of America are outstandingly conformists. Standardized production undertakes to turn out an amazing number of machines exactly alike. So to do we strive to be all alike.

The ideal type is pictured in advertisements as a straightforward youth facing the world with a straight upper lip and a firm chin. We set up a form and strive to be like it whereas Europeans care little for this sort of thing. They follow their inclinations and are consequently more individualistic. We in America are very timid in respect to those who do not conform with us while in Europe they take the opposite viewpoint.

Conformity makes for the status quo such as we find evidence of in China which has, until the present revolution, remained in the same position for centuries. Stability, therefore, is the result of conformity. But individuality carried to the extreme makes for chaos.

Conformity to a certain degree here at Colby is desirable, but we should have individuality within this. Ideal Colby men are not posers. They are men dominated by sincerity. We find evidence of this in the sincerity of our musical organizations.

The Colby type is an individual tempered with sincerity. He has intelligence, courage, the ability to speak and to speak well and above all is a hard hitter.

COLBY COLLEGE DEBATING TEAMS HAVING VERY ACTIVE SEASON

Debate Tufts And Weber College -- To Meet University of Florida Thursday Afternoon

COMING DEBATE.

On Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock a Colby debating team will meet a team from the University of Florida in the chapel. The subject under discussion will be, "Resolved, That the Nations should adopt a policy of free trade." Colby will uphold the affirmative side of the case, and the team will be composed of

Robert J. Finch, '33, and F. Donald Poulin, '31. Both these men have shown themselves to be able debaters and should capably represent the college.

The Florida team will consist of E. Dixie Beggs and Harold B. Wahl. Both these men represented their school on a tour of the southern states in 1929, and on a tour of the mid-west in 1930 on which they lost but one decision in ten debates. Mr.

HAROLD WAHL

Beggs is president of his student body, past president of Omicron Delta Kappa, an honorary leadership fraternity, president of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary forensic fraternity, a member of Phi Delta Phi, honorary legal society, Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, Alpha Phi Epsilon, honorary literary fraternity, Senabard and Bland, honorary military society, and is president of his social fraternity, Pi Kappa Alpha.

Mr. Wahl is a member of Phi Kappa Tau, social fraternity, a past president of the Debating Council, president of Alpha Phi Epsilon, president of Pi Gamma Mu, a member of Tau Kappa Alpha, Omicron Delta Kappa, Theta Rho Society, Phi Kappa Phi, Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalist fraternity.

Colby will be the most northerly point for the Floridians and they will begin their trek homeward, meeting Bucknell on the way.

COLBY-WEBER COLLEGE.

One of the finest debates ever held in the Colby chapel was the debate between schools representing Colby and Weber College. The subject under discussion was that of compulsory unemployment insurance. Colby upheld the negative side of the case, while Weber maintained the affirmative. An audience vote awarded the decision to the affirmative.

Only one of the representatives of Weber was able to be here in Waterville due to the severe illness of his colleague while in Albany. In order to complete the affirmative team F. Donald Poulin, '31, was used as a substitute. The Weber College representative was Mr. Jay London, '31. He is a debater of experience, having represented his school in several cross country tours. The ability of the other affirmative man is well known to all of us here. Mr. Poulin was a member of the team which last year attended the Pi Kappa Delta convention at Wichita, Kansas. Besides being a veteran debater he is also an active participant in all forensic activities. He is a member of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity.

The negative team was composed of Robert J. Finch, '33. This was the first time that Mr. Finch had participated in an intercollegiate debate. He shows promise of being one of the outstanding debaters of the college for he presented his material, both in his constructive and rebuttal speeches as an experienced debater. His manner of delivery was forceful and convincing. He is an assistant editor of the ECHO, a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet board, and chairman of the Freshman Discussion Group. He is a member of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity.

The other member of the Colby team was George F. Sprague, '31. He is a veteran debator of considerable experience, being a member of the debating team which went to New York a few weeks ago. He is a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet board, an outstanding track man, and a member of Kappa Phi Kappa. He is president of Pi Kappa Delta, the national forensic fraternity. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

COLBY-TUFTS.

On Thursday evening, March 12, a Colby debating team composed of Muriel J. MacDougall, Harold F. Lemoine, and Gertrude L. Snowden met a team representing Tufts College. The proposition for debate was: "Resolved, That the United States should recognize the Soviet government of Russia." Colby upheld the affirmative side of the question. F. Donald Poulin was the presiding officer of the debate.

Miss MacDougall, after giving a brief history of the question, listed some of the requisites for diplomatic recognition, and argued that the Russian government fulfills these requirements. She emphasized the fact that the Soviet government is stable, and therefore deserves recognition.

Leo J. Doherty of Tufts admitted that Russia has a stable form of government, but pointed out that it has not the consent of the governed and has not acknowledged that it would meet its international obligations. He cited the attempts of the Third International to demoralize American capital as examples of Russia's wish to spread communism.

Mr. Lemoine argued that it is to the best interests of the United States, economically and internationally, to recognize Russia. He stated that Russia is willing to pay her debts and to make restitution for confiscated property. He also proved that the Third International is not a part of the Soviet government.

COLBY AND N. Y. U. TO MEET TONIGHT

Y. W. C. A. Elects New Officers

Professor Clarence H. White spoke at the Y. W. C. A. meeting on Tuesday evening, March 17, on the subject of "Greek Art and Civilization."

Professor White stated that Egyptian art followed convention while modern art arises from invention, neither being of great value as compared to the Greek art which followed a middle course. He gave an account of memorable Greek sculptors and showed many pictures. In conclusion, Professor White expressed the desire that the many plaster casts placed about the college may be repaired and centered in the library at the new college.

Head of Divinity School of University of Chicago To Speak June 16th.

Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago Divinity School will deliver the address at the graduating exercises in connection with the 110th Commencement of Colby College on June 15.

Dean Mathews is one of the outstanding men in the field of religion today. He has written more than twenty books and numerous magazine articles, the latest being "Religion in the New Age" which appeared in the February number of the Forum. His article on "Putting Religion to the Test," which was published in the American Magazine last June, attracted wide attention and was reprinted in part in the Literary Digest. Besides his duties as the head of the Divinity School of Chicago, Dr. Mathews has held many high offices of distinction. For four years he

PLANS FOR NEW COLBY COLLEGE SUBJECT OF TALK

Mr. Fred Larson Speaks In Men's Chapel Service

Mr. J. Fred Larson, one of the outstanding authorities of the country on college buildings, spoke in men's assembly last Wednesday on plans for the new Colby College. Mr. Larson was the designer of the new development at Dartmouth and is to be the official architect for the new Colby College.

Explanations of the layout of the new campus and the types of new buildings were accompanied by plans and drawings. Mr. Larson stated that the project offers unique possibilities, as it is seldom that a new college is built on a piece of ground entirely free from buildings. He stated further that with this in consideration, Colby ought to be one of the outstanding colleges of the country in the future.

Mr. Larson made clear that his present ideas are merely suggestions. The present plan is to have the library in the center of the campus. This and the other buildings should be of old New England architecture. "It would be out of place," said Mr. Larson, "to have modernistic buildings for a college with the traditions of Colby."

The arts and science buildings are to be on either side of the library. The men's section is behind and to the right of the library with the women's section to the left. The observatory would be situated on the highest part of the hill and the remaining buildings grouped about the library.

The city of Waterville with state aid has promised to build a road from Gilman street to Oakland. This would put the college on a main highway connecting all the large cities of New England. A tower of one hundred and eighty feet in height, on the library, will render the college visible for miles. Many other points concerning the chapel, fraternity houses, assembly hall, and dormitories, which are too numerous to mention, were also brought up.

Professor White Speaks At Y. W.

The new officers of the Y. W. C. A. were elected Saturday, March 14, by the women's division body. The officers are: Gwendolyn G. Mardin, '32, president; Marguerite deRochemont, '32, vice president; Mary L. Buss, '34, secretary; and Estelle P. Taylor, '32, treasurer. They have all displayed a cooperative and interested attitude in all Y. W. C. A.'s activities of the past year, and are well qualified for their new positions. Miss Mardin was chairman of the music committee and a delegate to the Poland Spring Conference. Miss deRochemont and Miss Buss have both attended all meetings and participated in the discussions which followed. Miss Taylor was chairman of the industrial committee and a delegate to the Camp Maquina Convention and Boston Industrial meeting.

The installation of the elected officers and Y. W. C. A. banquet will be held April 7th after the spring vacation. (Continued on page 4)

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18, 1931

Dr. Leslie B. Arey, a Colby graduate in the class of 1912, has recently published a second edition of his "Developmental Anatomy," a textbook of 563 pages and 1037 illustrations. The subject material is concerned chiefly with embryology and is for advanced study. Dr. Arey is considered an outstanding figure in the field of biology at Northwestern University where he is a faculty member holding the endowed chair of anatomy. He is the co-author of a number of reference books dealing with the nervous system, in addition to being the author of several textbooks of his own.

The fact that this text book has attained widespread attention should make Colby people quite proud to claim Dr. Arey as a Colby man. The book has already achieved a large sale abroad and plans are underway for a translation into Chinese.

Dr. Arey also saw fit to honor Professor Webster Chester, head of the Biology department, by dedicating the book to him. The dedication reads:

"To Webster Chester, Professor of Biology, Colby College, an inspiring teacher, scholarly scientist and true friend of youth, who laid my biological foundations, tendered encouragement and help in mastering early difficulties and pointed the way to greater opportunities, this volume is inscribed with a deep sense of admiration and gratitude."

GRADES OF KNOWLEDGE.

Some time during his college career, every man comes face to face with the problem of whether he will work for grades or for what he can get out of the course. A decision must be made. There is no way to avoid the issue. Often, all too often in fact, the student who is dissatisfied with his work turns to the philosophy, "Marks are nothing. I'm here to learn."

The latter is true. Students come to college to learn, but what indication is there of knowledge acquired if one fails to merit the high consideration of the instructors directing the activity? Trying to prove to irate parents that one can have a thorough mastery of a subject and yet receive poor grades is a notoriously hard task.

When a group finishes its technical preparation, what class is it that gets the call from employers seeking men to add to their organizations? The men with the satisfactory scholastic records get the first calls for they have evidenced mastery of their subjects while others are left because of lack of tangible proof of ability.

Even while one is continuing his scholastic training, a record of good marks, of measurable achievements, breeds in the minds of professors and students alike that certain respect accorded only to those who achieve some degree of success.

But beyond these reasons for making good scholastic record lies the even more important one of self satisfaction. Fortunately or not, in the present-day educational system the criterion of success is in the main the scholastic record, and try as one will to justify his actions, he cannot inwardly feel that he has made a success of his college work if he has failed in achieving a satisfactory set of grades.—"The Tech."

Ye Gladiator Column

Letters in the Gladiator Column are expressions of opinion by individual contributors to that column and the editor assumes no responsibility for any statements, allusions, or remarks made therein. The column is a free-for-all and student contributions are solicited.

Dear Gladiator:
Colby men and women are proud of their college, or at least the atmosphere existing seems to be indicative of this. Yet time and again those who are members of Colby do things, or as it would be better to say, do not do things which would characterize a true Colby spirit.

We hear so much about this Colby spirit yet again and again it fails to show itself at a necessary and suited time.

What should the Colby spirit do for its members: It should teach them respect, appreciation and loyalty to justice and fairness.

Great artists come to our college, people who are excellent in their profession, and yet a Colby audience thinks that mere applause, which is just enough to indicate that some one is in the pit, is sufficient, this indicates a lack of appreciation.

Again at a concert the College Alma Mater was sung and yet it is necessary for all the chorus to be sung before a Colby audience stands. Where is the Colby spirit indicative of appreciation and loyal devotion?

Respectfully yours,
A. Respector.

Dear Gladiator:

We are ashamed to stoop so low as to mention the effusion which appeared in your column, signed by our dearly beloved brethren Damon and Pythias. However, in the interests of mankind we think their error should be pointed out, and the men's division put right as to the real status of the women's division.

The writers evidently come from the great open spaces where men are bull-throvers and women are the targets, but we won't go into that.

"Mental foundations!" Well, how long have you had an option on all the high I. Q.'s, my toradors? Who gets the highest batting average when the ranks come out, anyway?

"Nothing better to do," indeed! We guess the women do fully as much work as the men. We manage to get our assignments done in time for you to come around and copy them. And as for notebooks—Also you'll find, brother Damon, that just as large a percentage of girls are working part of their way through college as men.

And as for you, Pythias, what right have your sex to sneer at gossip? You keep your share of it in circulation, but you do it under cover of the fraternity house and dignify it by the appropriate name of bull-session. You see a bunch of girls talking together down street or in the library, and with the aid of your prehistoric mental faculties you conclude that they are gossiping. If you should listen in—and the degree of chivalry exhibited in your letter does not lead us to hold you above that trick—then to one you'd hear them talking about a good job for next summer, the relative merits of teaching as a profession, or some such deplorable subject. Perhaps we should apologize for not confining our conversation to the disadvantages of Prohibition, and other topics dear to male hearts!

"Silly girls!" It must be an indication of highly specialized gray matter to spend half an afternoon on a roof throwing pulls of water down on one's frat brothers, to plug snowballs through the windows of the girl's dormitories, or to loiter around a voracious da busying oneself with the intellectual pursuit of keeping time to a Victrola.

Don't under any condition mistake this for an invitation, but it might be mentioned here that there was a time when the discrimination of Colby men led them to seek the company of their social equals at Foss Hall instead of at the Plains. 'Nuff said!

My goodness gracious me, if we are so simple, silly and childish, I should think you would be ashamed to insult us, you big bullies,—to kick us when we're down so far already! You may be men, but you aren't gentlemen, so there!

Seriously, though, Damon and Pythias, you've been victimized and don't know it. You've been inoculated with the poison that is administered to every male Freshman who comes to Colby. You've been told that all the collegians on the west side of College avenue are 99 44-100% "wet," and you were gullible and unscientific enough to believe it without proof. Either that or you need a change of diet. It sure makes me feel badly to see such signs of dyspepsia in those so young!

Well, if you have any more to say, come down to Foss Hall and say it to us in person.

Carrie Co-ed.

P. S.—Hope we haven't taken away too much space from the advertisements!

Dear Gladiator:

It was in a spirit of humble gratitude that the Colby co-ords read the letter of Damon and Pythias. Only a true friend could point out, in so kindly and sympathetic a manner, faults which should have been obvious to us before. We tremble to think that we dared, even for a moment, to "assault the heights" of male intellectual superiority.

Just what the "grave responsibilities" are, a sharing of which our friend fears would overburden the frail shoulders of the weaker sex, we have not yet discovered. Could he have meant those evening (or early morning) sessions when bits of wisdom on all subjects from women to the most modern methods of beer making, fall from the lips of these "defenders of the rights of women?" Or did he by chance refer to the intellectual pursuit of standing on the sacred precincts of the east side of College avenue and throwing snowballs through the windows of Foss Hall? Such a feat, we realize, requires a high development of muscle and nerve. The former may be developed by practice, but the latter is one of those inborn characteristics with which only the male of the species is blessed. We wonder if the "privileges" could include barging up College avenue with a load that would stagger any but a "lord of creation?"

Examination period is a time to get ready for a picnic, Dean Lord tells the students at B. U. BOXING EXHIBITION
HELD LAST NIGHT
IN COLBY GYM.Large Crowd Gathers To See Bouts

Last evening at the gym the Colby fight fans were treated to an exhibition of boxing such as would rival the professional ring. At seven-thirty Paddy Davan announced the curtain raiser between "Hambone" Hallinger and "Cornflake" alias "Primo" Skinner, the might atom. This bout gave the fans an inkling of what was to follow.

Next came "Dynamite" Dworkin and "Smiling Bill" Hains in a fast bout which was about a toss up. "Brick Bottom" Brice, the Hingham bear cat swapped punches with "Sammy" Fisher the Revere terror. Then "Baby Face" Harry Cleverly climbed through the ropes to mix it up with "Slippery" Shreiber the Portland col-lison. Cleverly went down for seven in the first round, but Shreiber took the same in the last making things about even.

Ralph Anderson the Yarmouth flash squared off against Ellis Anderson the Houlton spud picker. In this bout the latter gave one of the best exhibitions of boxing seen during the entire evening. "Lightning" Louie Conant and K. O. Nasse fought to a draw. "Portland Jonny" Ryder and "John L." Sullivan staged what was probably the best scrap of the evening. Ryder forced the fighting, but the Middleboro boy fighting out of his class slashed away at his opponent in all three rounds so that the bell found the heavier man nearly out on his feet.

"Bobby" Brann had the edge on "Al" French during the first round, but the Westminster mauler came back to take the next two in a decisive manner. "Johnny" Lewis showed some science in his scrap with "Izzy" Levine, but the Brighton boy was too hard a nut to be cracked.

The semi-final ended in an abrupt manner when "Johnny" Fletcher swung a haymaker which "Jack" Hayward fell into. It was after only twenty-five seconds that Hayward was counted out. In this K. O. the fans were deprived of a scrap which gave promise of being one of the best. The final bout also ended in disappointment when "Johnny" Daigle's head struck the edge of the ring after being knocked down by "Frankie" Stiegler. Daigle displayed a lot of grit by returning to the ring in a groggy condition only to go down again in a daze as the fight was stopped.

Heading the list of performers for the evening we have "John L." Sullivan whose foot work and defense supported by a mean left jab and a dangerous right hook marked him as a real fighter. "Johnny" Lewis showed good form in several departments especially in his defense. Ellis Anderson was one of the more scientific of the fighters. The account would not be complete without further mention of "Baby Face" Cleverly. His vicious offense and judicious retreats stamp him as one of the students of the fist game.

PHI DELTA THETA
WINS TRACK MEET

Scoring points in every event listed for the last day, Phi Delta Theta won the three day track meet held in the Field House last week. The other fraternities finished in the following order: Alpha Tau Omega, Lambda Chi Alpha, Kappa Delta Rho, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Psi and Delta Upsilon.

The meet was marked with many close races. In the fifty yard dash the finalists were so close a dime could scarcely be dropped between any two of them. The two hurdle events were as closely contested, with Wheeler following Robinson to the tape in the lows and then nosing him out in the highs.

As this was the first college meet to be held in the Field House the winners will all go down as cage record holders.

ZETES TRIM A. T. O.'S
IN CLOSE GAMEK. D. R.'s Lose to Non Frats
And T. K. N.'s to
L. C. A.'s

Last Friday night the Zetes came from behind to take over the A. T. O.'s by a one point margin, 26 to 25. Again it was Bobby McNamara whose eagle eye gave the Zetes their victory. At the end of the half, when the A. T. O.'s were on the strong end of a 20 to 11 score, it looked as though they had the game sewed up. But in the third period the Zetes were out for blood, making nine points to their opponents two. The final period was hectic. A basket by "Snub" Pollard and a charity toss by Davis gave the A. T. O.'s a five point lead. Then it was that the diminutive Bobby got in action. A basket by him followed by another by Crabtree narrowed the A. T. O.'s lead to one point. Time was drawing to a close when Mac got hold of the ball in the middle of the floor and heaved it through as the whistle blow to end the game. This victory places the Zetes ahead of the last year's champions, and will probably give them the cup. Davis and Deetjen were the most brilliant players for the losers and Crabtree and McNamara were outstanding for the winners. The summary:

AMONG THE GREEKS

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON.

The annual D. K. E. Spring Formal will take place at the Elks Hall on Thursday evening, March 19th. The hall will be beautifully decorated with the fraternity colors. Joe Roman and his Greater Pennsylvanians will furnish the music. Plans are under way to make this the best D. K. E. ball ever. Dancing will be from nine to one.

The patrons and patronesses are to be: President and Mrs. Johnson, Doctor and Mrs. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Colgan, Dean Runnals, Mr. Alfred K. Chapman, and Mr. William C. Martin.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA.

Brother "Primo" Skinner has been seen at the gym every afternoon for the past few weeks hard at work pounding the bags in training for his debut in fistic circles which took place last evening at the St. Pat's day carnival.

The silence of the ram pasture, which was traditional before Pollard learned to snore, was rudely disturbed in the small hours of Saturday morning when acute indigestion nearly claimed the puny frame of a respected brother. Medical attendants were summoned and the near victim pulled through.

It is rumored about the house that the Worthy Master was no less than a sensation at the dance in Farmington which he attended over the weekend.

KAPPA DELTA RHO.

Ralph Hurlbert, '30, came up from Groton, Conn., where he teaches in the high school and spent the weekend at the house.

Everett Slocum, '32, and Phillip Stinchfield, '32, went to Bates Friday night to attend the student production of "As You Like It."

Douglas Wheeler, '32, Robert Allen, '31, Ralph Hurlbert, '30, William Casey, '34, and Joseph Perry, '34, attended the Bowdoin Interscholastics at Brunswick, Saturday.

Van Voorhis Haight, '34, spent the week-end at Bates to see the finals of the Bates Interscholastic basketball tournament.

Members of K. D. R. who went with the Glee Club on the trip to Damariscotta were Lucius Lobdell, '31, Robert Beals, '32, Ralph Anderson, '32, Dana Jordan, '33, Robert MacGregor, '34, Otis Read, '34, and George Rogers, '34.

Jay London, '31, of Weber College, Ogden, Utah, was the guest of K. D. R. while at Colby. Mr. London debated in the chapel Thursday night.

Kenneth W. Raymond, '33, and L. Beveridge Raymond, '32, entertained their parents who visited them from Fort Fairfield, Saturday and Sunday.

ROBERTS' HALL.

"Pinky" Jackson found a Ford this week and it now reposes in front of the Lambda Chi house ready for use. "Pinky" announces that this vehicle will transport his shot gun and himself back to dear old Newburyport on Friday.

COLBY DEBATING TEAMS.

refute Mr. Lemoine's argument by saying that the Soviet government has adopted a policy of repudiating its debts as a means of undermining international capital. He stated that economists say that the five year plan is unsound.

Miss Snowden argued that recognition is the only means by which good faith can be restored between Russia and the United States, to the improvement of trade and the increased possibility of world peace.

Warren E. Carley based his negative argument upon the fact that Russia has proved untrustworthy in her relations with other countries.

Brief rebuttals were then given by Mr. Thornton of the negative and Mr. Lemoine of the affirmative. After the debate, an open forum was held; and the members of both teams were questioned by the audience upon various points of the argument.

PROFESSOR WHITE SPEAKS.

Chairmen of the various committees will be appointed by the cabinet at a later time. A great deal of credit should be extended to the former officers: Muriel J. MacDougall, '31, president; Marjorie J. Van Horn, '32, vice president; Margaret L. Choate, '32, secretary; and Hope R. Pullen, '31, treasurer; for the interesting and beneficial programs and entertainments which have made the past year of the Y. W. C. A. very successful.
